CRUSHED BY LOG ROLLING ON HIM

Albert Wallace Instantly Killed While Working in the Woods Wednesday

Albert Wallace was instantly killed about 10:30 o'clock Wednesday morning while loading logs in the woods on James Heim's farm in Sylvan. The accident was witnessed by Lynn Kern and Conrad Hesselwerdt and his son, who were saving wood a short distance from him.

Mr. Wallace was driving a team for Charles Martin and had been in his employ since last November. Mr. Kern was skidding the logs onto the wagon, and Mr. Wallace was on the ground on the opposite side of the wagon with a handhook to place them in position, but in this instance the heavy piece of lumber went over the wagon and caught Mr. Wallace, crushing his head. His death was instant.

Mr. Wallace had spent most of his life on what is known as Collin's Plains, in Lyndon township, and was a twin of Alfred Wallace. The deceased has a daughter, who is a resident of Waterloo township. His age was about sixty-five years.

The remains were taken to Staffan's undertaking rooms.

Knights of Pythias Banquet.

One hundred and twenty-five attended the banquet given by Chelsea Lodge, No. 194, Knights of Pythias at Macomber hall, Tuesday evening to celebrate the fifty-fifth anniversary of the founding of the order.

The tables presented a beautiful appearance, and the following was the menu:

"Carrie Nation" Cocktail
"Anti-Saloon" Hardtack
Bolshevik Barbecue
A la Co-operative Association
372d Infantry Sauce
Sinn Fein Hand Grenades
Detonated
Swiss Sailors in a Life Boat
(Pois vol-au-vents)

Salade de Libertie
Sanguinetti Chokers
Cafe au lait—Salvation Army Special
Bridegroom's Delight
Depth Bonus on a Raft

The banquet was served by the Lady Macabees in their usual efficient manner.

W. C. Boyd made a happy toast.

The first on the program was invocation by T. G. Speer, prelate of the lodge.

The toastmaster called upon O. C. Burkhardt for a few reminiscences and Mr. Burkhardt responded in a pleasing manner.

George Ward was called on for a few fabrications, and he was loaded with them, as he usually is.

The Chancellor Commander, J. H. Boyd, gave a vocal solo, assisted by Miss Doris Schmidt as accompanist.

H. D. Withersall passed the "After Dinner Mins" in a pleasing manner and gave many hits on his brother Pythians.

Rev. P. W. Dierberger spoke on "Poetry Counts Pythians" and gave a pleasing talk on the order and a lot of other things.

The music for the evening was furnished by Schneider's orchestra, of Ann Arbor.

Get Ready For Income Tax Man.

He will arrive in Chelsea on Thursday, February 26, and will be located at the postoffice, where he can be consulted without charge.

"Bring in your figures, your problems, your doubts, and your questions," is his invitation contained in the announcement of his coming visit.

Collector of Internal Revenue Jas. J. Brady, of Detroit, is sending one of his deputies solely to help people in this vicinity to determine their individual liability and to comply with the laws requirements as to 1918 incomes.

His office hours will be from 8 a. m. to 4 p. m. each day, and he will remain in town until close of business on the 27th.

"This free advisory service," writes Collector Brady, "is planned for those who are required for the first time to consider their liability and to make sworn returns."

"Many thousands who were not affected by the prior Federal laws taxing incomes must this year file returns. Here are the requirements:

"Every unmarried person who had a net income of $1,000 or over during 1918; and every married person who, together with wife (or husband) and minor children, had a net income of $2,000 in 1918."

The advice and services of the deputy collector are entirely free, and he is authorized to administer the oath required on returns, free of charge. Persons who are taxable should make payment when filing their returns by attaching check or money order.

"This tax is a war burden; it is a part of the price of victory, the greatest victory that the world has known. I believe the people of this district will meet it fully; and I am offering every facility of my office to aid them in determining their individual liability."

The G. A. R. and W. R. C. are requested to meet in the C. E. room of the Congregational church at 5:30 o'clock next Sunday evening so as to attend the evening services, when Rev. P. W. Dierberger will address the orders.

NEWS OF "OUR BOYS".

The following letter was written by Sergt. Everett Tucker, of Co. C, 125th Inf., A. E. F., to his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Tucker:

Well, at last I take the typewriter in that to dash off a few lines in answer to your peace note of November 14. Yes, it certainly is a great feeling to know that no longer will the brave boys die for a great cause. And no one knows it better than I, for at the time that the armistice was signed I was in the front line and going over the top, amid machine gun bullets and all kinds of of veritable hell that the Kaiser ever knew, or the devil, either one.

We were making the attack at 9:30 on the morning of the 11th of November with the American barrage preceding us as we advanced. Heineke was doing his best to resist the advance, but all in vain. At about 9:45 a runner came up amidst the machine gun and artillery fire, waving a piece of paper. The captain received it, read it and then blew the whistle and held up his hand calling a halt. Everyone halted and dropped on the ground. Heineke took advantage of the halt and proceeded to strengthen his position and to get a more perfect range sent back to his artillery. Then we did catch some.

While waiting for the order to go to the rear we lay under a terrific bombardment. Finally, however, the order came to go to the rear and with everybody in full sight of the enemy we fell back. At exactly one minute of eleven, Heineke fired the last shot of the war in a terrific burst, and exactly as "eleven" o'clock the American guns from the North Sea to the border of Switzerland, threw out their last vengeance of death and were silent forever.

The machine guns became silent all along the front and general peace reigned over all. A shout could be heard here and there, but as a whole there was very little out of the ordinary routine of the daily life.

Here and there a company would send up a cheer, announcing that the war was at last at an end.

At 11:15 on the morning of November 11, we went forward to the front line that the Boche had held during the attack of that morning. It was pitiful to see some that had lost their lives for a useless cause in the last few hours of the fierce fight.

The enemy had, however, taken all possible with him in the matter of wounded and dead, but even his most efficient system could not cover up the fact that his losses during the attack of that morning were appalling. He had, to a certain extent, removed all traces, but in spite of his forethought there were still signs of recent occupation of that line.

He removed all of his equipment that could be removed, and had fell back to a position unknown.

At present we are now occupying Germany. We are in a small town by the name of Andernach, a town of about 30,000, situated directly on the Rhine river about ten miles from the city of Cologne. It is quite a large place and the scenery is certainly wonderful.

Perhaps you will not be able to understand the fact that the German people are a lot more pleased to see the American soldiers in their towns than the German soldiers, but it is true. The American being brought up in a country that respects the rights of humanity, and "no matter where they are at they always are here to that feeling. On the other hand, the German soldier, being brought up with the understanding that might makes right, naturally puts that made into practice wherever he goes. So, hence the difference I dare say that the German people in their country have treated us far better than did the French people when we were fighting for them.

Of course the German people have been made to understand that the right of the military authorities goes wherever or whenever it may be. They are willing to do anything for us that they can and will take no compensation.

They cannot speak enough of the American. He is clean, tidy, and extends all the courtesy possible to the people here. Although it is true that he is representing the conquering army, it is strange that he never puts that right in force. Being polite at all times certainly gains him the world with these people. They respect him.

We expect in a few days to take up our duties as the army of occupation of the German surrounding country. We have completed our march to the Rhine and are now waiting on the peace proposition before getting ready to sail for home.

Independent Party Caucus.

The caucus of the Independent party was called to be held in the town hall, Monday evening, but on account of the poetry show being held there it was adjourned to the Freeman's hall. A number of women were present, the first at a caucus in this village.

W. R. Daniels was elected chairman, J. S. Cummings, clerk, and A. B. Clark and Chauncey Freeman were appointed tellers.

The following ticket was then placed in nomination:

For President—Paul G. Schabbe.
For Clerk—Hollis W. Freeman.
For Treasurer—Albert E. Winans.
For Trustees—M. J. Dunkel, T. G. Bahnmiller, Edward Vogel.

For Assessor—C. W. Maroney.
L. P. Vogel, F. G. Broussard and O. C. Burkhardt were appointed members of the party committee.

CHANGE MADE IN VOTING PRECINCTS

Lines Changed In Order to More Evenly Divide the Township.

The Sylvan township board has changed its division of the township into two precincts to different lines than were first set. This change is imperative, as the first division made one precinct overwhelmingly larger in the number of voters than the other.

The last division is as follows: Beginning at the west township line and following the line of the Michigan Central Railroad easterly to the center of Cleveland street in the village of Chelsea, thence south to the center of Middle street, thence east to the west line of the town hall, thence north to the north line of the town hall, thence east to the center of Middle street, thence east to the center of Main street, thence south to the center of Summit street, thence east to the center of East street, thence south to the center of Washington street, thence east to the township line.

All who reside on the south of this line will vote in precinct number one, the booths for which will be on the west side of the town hall. The voters living on the north side of the line will vote in precinct number two, the booths for which will be on the east side of the hall.

It has been found that this division nearly makes the two precincts equal in the number of voters.

Poultry Show and School.

One of the finest exhibits of poultry, geese, pigeons, pheasants, ducks and turkeys ever seen in Washtenaw county took place here this week at the town hall, and an annex exhibit of rabbits and guinea pigs was held in the Maxwell store on South Main street. At Macomber hall lectures on poultry were delivered by able speakers.

The list of over 450 exhibits include entries from breeders in nearly every town in the county, and a number from Hollandville, Lansing, Mason and Jackson.

This show and school is given under the auspices of the Washtenaw Farm Bureau, and will prove of much benefit to poultry raisers.

People's Party Caucus.

The People's party caucus was held in Freeman's hall Wednesday evening.

Jacob Hummel was made chairman, Geo. W. Beckwith clerk and Dr. J. T. Woods and R. D. Walker tellers.

Mrs. Katherine McKune was named as the nominee for treasurer, but has filed a notice with the committee that she will accept the nomination. The vacancy has not yet been filled. The balance of the ticket follows:

For President—Rev. P. W. Dierberger.

For Clerk—W. C. Boyd.

For Trustees—Simon Niech, Joseph Meyer and S. J. King.

For Assessor—P. C. Klingler.

Geo. P. Staffan, H. D. Witherell and Howard Brooks constitute the party committee.

Highway Course February 21-28

The fifth annual short course in highway engineering will be given by the University of Michigan February 24 to 28, inclusive. Among prominent engineers outside Michigan who will deliver addresses are Colonel W. D. Sawyer, chairman Massachusetts commission; H. C. McArdle, assistant engineer Illinois commission; John Mallen, engineer Minnesota commission; A. D. Williams, chairman West Virginia commission; W. H. Connell, consulting engineer Philadelphia. There will be several state speakers, including J. S. Earle, F. F. Rogers, P. T. Colgrove, Captain W. S. Gilbreath and E. N. Hines.

Frederic Rowe.

Frederic Rowe was born in America, N. Y., December 9, 1829, and died at the Methodist Old People's Home Thursday evening, February 13, 1919. Mr. Rowe's parents settled in Sharon township, at what is known as Rowe's corners, when he was an infant, and his boyhood days were spent in that vicinity.

He was graduated from the University of Michigan in 1856, and for a number of years taught schools in Michigan and Illinois. He was married in Southfield, Mich., to Miss Emily Lege, January 9, 1864. Mrs. Rowe died in 1888. Mr. Rowe had been a resident of the Home since the time of his dedication.

He is survived by two sons, Carl F. and Henry L., residents of Detroit, Mich.

The funeral was held at the Home Saturday afternoon and the remains were taken to Southfield for burial.

Parent-Teachers' Club Meeting.

The Parent-Teachers' Club will meet in the high school auditorium Wednesday evening, February 26, at 7 o'clock. Supt. Walling will fully explain the marking of the ballot. Community singing, led by Miss Speer. Mrs. Marie Peck, of Ann Arbor, will talk on parents' duty to children. Fathers should be as deeply interested in this matter as the mothers. They are especially invited. A collection will be taken. Any question will be answered by Mrs. Peck.

Sunday, February 16, was the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Moeckel, who held a happy celebration at their home in Waterloo township, where they have spent all of the fifty years of their wedded life. Though Mr. Moeckel is an invalid, Mrs. Moeckel is still very active. Eleven children came to brighten the lives of Mr. and Mrs. Moeckel, eight of whom are still enjoying this life. Only members of the immediate family were present, these including Mr. and Mrs. John Har, Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Moeckel, Mr. and Mrs. William Artz, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Moeckel, Mr. and Mrs. Ottum Moeckel, Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Hannonwald and fourteen grandchildren. Mrs. Cornelia Eckard, who is spending the winter in Florida, and the oldest grandchild, Theron L. Har, who is with the A. E. F. in France, were the only members of the family who were absent. Yellow and white was the color scheme at a dinner which was served at noon, the table decorations being yellow daffodils and white carnations. Following the dinner, a short program was given, after which Mr. and Mrs. Moeckel were presented with fifty dollars in gold and several other gifts. Their daughter, Cornelia, sent a box of luscious oranges from Florida.

Do You Want Your Kidneys Experienced On?

Kidney troubles are getting more common every day. Government health bureau figures say deaths from this cause are 72% more than 20 years ago.

Anybody who suffers constant backache, who feels blue, nervous and irritable; who has dizzy spells, headache and urinary disorders should suspect kidney weakness. Overworked kidneys must have rest. Take things easier; live more carefully. Take a good kidney remedy to build the kidneys up again.

But be sure to get Doan's Kidney Pills—the oldest, the most widely used, the best recommended of all kidney pills, now in use all over the civilized world. Don't experiment with your kidneys. Thousands have already tested Doan's. You have their experience to go by. Plenty of cases right here in Chelsea. Here's one: P. A. Hamond, Madison St., says: "My back got lame from lifting and every time I caught a hard cold, it made the trouble worse. Doan's Kidney Pills helped me promptly and removed the lameness in my back."

Mr. Hamond is only one of many Chelsea people who have gratefully endorsed Doan's Kidney Pills. If your back aches, if your kidneys bother you, don't simply ask for a kidney remedy, ask distinctly for Doan's Kidney Pills, the same that Mr. Hamond had, the remedy backed by home testimony. 60 cents at all stores. Foster-Milburn Co., props. Buffalo, N. Y. "When your back is lame, remember the name."—Adv.

The Savior of Belgium
When in 1918, the world was in a state of chaos, it was Herbert C. Hoover who saved Belgium.

To Herbert C. Hoover has been given one of the most stupendous tasks ever allotted to mortal man.

Food Commissioner of the United States.

The duties of the position are almost unbelievably heavy, and still the world is sure that Hoover will accomplish his task.

For Hoover has shown that he possesses, to a remarkable extent, the quality of THRIFT.

Hoover believes that thrift will win the war—and, if it can accomplish a task so gigantic, it can certainly be depended upon to solve the little personal problems of the individual.

Protection from Dangerous Contagion

Owing to the antiseptic properties, 30 Mule Team Powdered Boric can not be too highly recommended for liberal use in the care of the person wherever and whenever exposed to any contagious disease. It may be applied as a powder or with water as a solution.

It may be used with absolute freedom and safety in all the natural cavities of the body; physicians almost always prescribe it as an eye water, mouth wash, etc., and wherever introduced the antiseptic action is certain; but there is no danger from its use as there is with some disinfectants. Insist upon having the original package of 20 Mule Team Powdered Boric, and then you know that you have the real article. Full strength. All leading druggists.

Decidedly Un-Ordinary Are These New Blouses That Are Priced at $2.50

The model here pictured is a Welworth, a worthy member of that respected family of Blouses that is well and favorably known throughout the entire Country.

There are many things that commend these Blouses. In the first place they always represent OUT-OF-THE-ORDINARY VALUES, for the efficient and saving manner in which they are brought to us insures that. Then, too, the STYLES are always NEW and AUTHENTIC and appealing for they are being constantly designed for us and the other good stores in other cities where they are sold.

The model illustrated in effectively trimmed in front and back with fine cross bar tucking. Dainty embroidery and pretty lace trims collar, and cuffs are trimmed to match. Ornamental pearl buttons for fastening. Made of Voile of superior quality.

Other equally attractive models on sale. Quantities are limited and no more of same styles are available.

The reputation which this house has enjoyed of offering superior Blouse values will be fully maintained throughout the coming year, for the same sources of supply will be open to us, and we will continue the exclusive control of those pre-eminent lines that have aided us in attaining this proud distinction.

TEXT OF WORLD LEAGUE COVENANT

President Wilson Reads Report to Representatives of the Nations.

ARMAMENTS ARE CUT DOWN

Powers Will Defend Each Other From Attack—Countries Desiring to Join Must Give Guarantees and Be Self-Ruled.

Paris, France, Feb. 28.—The executive council of the proposed league of nations, as outlined in the covenant read by President Wilson today, will consist of representatives of the United States, Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan, with representatives of four other states. The covenant reads as follows:

Covenant.

Article I.—In order to promote international co-operation and to secure international peace and security by the acceptance of obligations not to resort to war, by the prescription of open, just and honorable relations between nations, by the disarmament of armaments, by the reduction of military expenditures, by the abolition of international law as the actual rule of conduct among governments, and by the maintenance of justice and a scrupulous respect for all treaty obligations in the dealings of organized peoples with one another, the sovereign states have agreed to the following:

Article I.

The action of the high contracting parties under the terms of this covenant shall be effected through the instrumentality of a meeting of a body of delegates representing the high contracting parties, of an executive council, and of a permanent international secretariat to be established at the seat of the league.

Article II.

Meetings of the body of delegates shall be held at stated intervals and from time to time as occasion may require for the purpose of dealing with matters within the sphere of action of the league. Meetings of the body of delegates shall be held at the seat of the league or at such other places as may be found convenient, and shall consist of representatives of the high contracting parties. Each of the high contracting parties shall have one vote, but may have not more than three representatives.

Article III.

The executive council shall consist of representatives of the United States of America, the British empire, France, Italy and Japan, together with representatives of four other states, members of the league. The selection of these four states shall be made by the body of delegates on such principles and in such manner as they think fit. Pending the appointment of these representatives of the other states, representatives of (blank left for names) shall be members of the executive council.

Article IV.

All matters of procedure at meetings of the body of delegates or of the executive council, including the appointment of committees to investigate particular matters, shall be regulated by the body of delegates by the executive council and may be decided by a majority of the states represented at the meeting.

The executive council shall formulate plans for the establishment of a permanent court of international justice and this court shall, when established, be competent to hear and determine any matter which the parties recognize as suitable for the submission to it for arbitration under the foregoing article.

Article V.

The permanent secretariat of the league shall be established at (blank) which shall constitute the seat of the league. The secretariat shall comprise such secretaries and staff as may be required, under the general direction and control of a secretary general of the league, who shall be chosen by the executive council. The secretariat shall be subject to confirmation by the executive council.

The expenses of the secretariat shall be borne by the states members of the league in accordance with the apportionment of the expenses of the international bureau of the Universal Postal Union.

Article VI.

Representatives of the high contracting parties and officials of the league when engaged in the business of the league shall enjoy diplomatic privileges and immunities, and the buildings occupied by the league or its officials or by representatives attending its meetings shall enjoy the benefits of extra territoriality.

Article VII.

Addition to the league of states not mentioned in the covenant and not named in the protocol as states to be invited to adhere to the covenant, requires the assent of not less than two-thirds of the states represented in the body of delegates, and shall be subject to final self-governing countries, including dominions and colonies.

Article VIII.

The high contracting parties recognize the principle that the maintenance of peace will require the reduction of national armaments to the lowest point consistent with national safety and the enforcement by common consent of international obligations, having special regard to the geographical situation and circumstances of each state; and the executive council shall formulate plans for effecting such reduction.

The executive council shall also determine for the consideration of the several governments, what military equipment and armaments is fair and reasonable in proportion to the scale of forces held down in the program of disarmament, and these limits, when adopted, shall not be exceeded without the permission of the executive council.

The high contracting parties agree that the manufacture of private arms, of munitions and implements of war, which is itself to grave objections, and direct the executive council to advise how the evil effects attending upon such manufacture can be prevented, and regard being had to the necessities of these countries which are not able to manufacture for themselves the munitions and implements of war necessary for their safety.

Article IX.

A permanent commission shall be constituted to advise the league on the execution of the provisions of Article VIII and on military and naval questions generally.

Article X.

The high contracting parties shall undertake to respect and preserve against external aggression, the territorial integrity and existing political independence of all states, members of the league. In case of any such aggression, or in case of any threat or danger of such aggression, the executive council shall advise upon the means by which the obligation shall be fulfilled.

Article XI.

Any war or threat of war, whether immediately affecting any of the high contracting parties or not, is hereby declared a matter of concern to the league, and the high contracting parties reserve the right to take any action that may be deemed wise and effectual to safeguard the peace of nations.

Article XII.

The high contracting parties agree that should disputes arise between them which cannot be adjusted by the ordinary processes of diplomacy, they will in no case resort to war without previously submitting the questions and matters involved either to arbitration or to inquiry by the executive council, and within three months after the award by the arbitrators or a recommendation by the executive council, and that they will not even then resort to war against a member of the league which complies with the award of arbitration or the recommendation of the executive council.

Article XIII.

The high contracting parties, when ever any dispute or difficulty shall arise between them which they recognize to be suitable for arbitration, and which cannot be satisfactorily settled by diplomacy, will submit the whole matter to arbitration. For this purpose the court of arbitration to which the case is referred shall be the court agreed on by the parties or stipulated in any convention existing between them. The high contracting parties agree that they will carry out in full good faith any award that may be rendered. In the event of any failure to carry out the award, the executive council shall propose what steps can best be taken to give effect thereto.

Article XIV.

The executive council shall formulate plans for the establishment of a permanent court of international justice and this court shall, when established, be competent to hear and determine any matter which the parties recognize as suitable for the submission to it for arbitration under the foregoing article.

Article XV.

If there should arise between states members of the league any dispute likely to lead to rupture, which is not submitted to arbitration as above, the high contracting parties agree that they will refer the matter to the executive council; either party to the dispute may give notice of the existence of the dispute to the secretary general, who will make all necessary arrangements for a full investigation and consideration thereof. For this purpose the parties agree to communicate to the secretary general, as promptly as possible, statements of these cases with all the relevant facts and papers, and the executive council may forthwith direct the publication thereof.

Where the efforts of the council lead to the settlement of the dispute, a statement shall be published indicating the nature of the dispute and the terms of settlement, together with such explanation as may be appropriate. If the dispute has not been settled, a report by the council shall be published, setting forth with all necessary facts and explanations the recommendations which the council thinks just and proper for the settlement of the dispute. If the report is unanimously agreed to by the members of the council, the high contracting parties agree that they will not go to war with any party which complies with the recommendations, and that any party shall refrain from any action which may be deemed to be a violation of the terms of the recommendations, and that any party shall refrain from any action which may be deemed to be a violation of the terms of the recommendations, and that any party shall refrain from any action which may be deemed to be a violation of the terms of the recommendations.

body of delegates. The dispute shall be referred to the request of either party to the dispute, provided that such request must be made within fourteen days after the submission of the dispute. In any case referred to the body of delegates, the provisions of this article and of Article XII relating to the action and powers of the executive council shall apply to the action and powers of the body of delegates.

Article XVI.

Should any of the high contracting parties break or violate its obligations under Article XII it shall thereby ipso facto be deemed to have committed an act of war against all the other members of the league, which shall be deemed to be an act of war against the league as a whole, and the members of the league shall be bound to take such action as may be necessary to subject it to the severance of all trade and financial relations, the prohibition of all intercourse between the nations and the nationals of the covenant-breaking state, and the prevention of all financial, commercial or personal intercourse between the nations of the covenant-breaking state and the nationals of any other state, whether a member of the league or not.

It shall be the duty of the executive council, in such case, to recommend what effective military or naval force shall be employed, and the members of the league shall severally contribute to the armed forces to be used to protect the covenants of the league.

Article XVII.

In the event of disputes between one state member of the league and another state member of the league, the high contracting parties agree that the state or states not members of the league shall be invited to accept the obligations of members of the league for the purpose of such dispute, upon such conditions as the executive council may deem just, and upon acceptance of any such invitation the obligations of members of the league shall be applicable to the dispute.

In the event of a power as invited refusing to accept the obligations of membership in the league, the power of the league shall be the same as if the power had refused to accept the obligations of membership in the league, and the provisions of Article XVI shall be applicable to the dispute.

Article XVIII.

The high contracting parties agree that the league shall be empowered to take such action as may be necessary to maintain the peace of nations, and to take such action as may be necessary to maintain the peace of nations, and to take such action as may be necessary to maintain the peace of nations.

Article XIX.

To those colonies and territories which have been acquired by treaty or cession, and which are not yet able to stand by themselves under the conditions of the modern world, there should be applied the principle that the well-being and development of such peoples form a sacred trust of civilization, and that the high contracting parties, in the exercise of their responsibilities, should be guided by the principle that the well-being and development of such peoples form a sacred trust of civilization, and that the high contracting parties, in the exercise of their responsibilities, should be guided by the principle that the well-being and development of such peoples form a sacred trust of civilization.

The high contracting parties agree that the league shall be empowered to take such action as may be necessary to maintain the peace of nations, and to take such action as may be necessary to maintain the peace of nations, and to take such action as may be necessary to maintain the peace of nations.

Article XX.

The high contracting parties agree that the league shall be empowered to take such action as may be necessary to maintain the peace of nations, and to take such action as may be necessary to maintain the peace of nations, and to take such action as may be necessary to maintain the peace of nations.

Article XXI.

The high contracting parties agree that the league shall be empowered to take such action as may be necessary to maintain the peace of nations, and to take such action as may be necessary to maintain the peace of nations, and to take such action as may be necessary to maintain the peace of nations.

Article XXII.

The high contracting parties agree that the league shall be empowered to take such action as may be necessary to maintain the peace of nations, and to take such action as may be necessary to maintain the peace of nations, and to take such action as may be necessary to maintain the peace of nations.

President Wilson Bringing Back Completed Draft of League of Nations Plan.

SEVERER ARMISTICE TERMS

Arrogant Huns to Be Made to Realize They Were Whipped—Ebert Elects President of the German Republic—Revolt Against the King of Roumania.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD.

President Wilson is bringing home with him the virtually complete draft of the constitution of the League of Nations that is to lay it out to the world's eyes. Despite marked opposition in some quarters, Mr. Wilson and Mr. Lloyd George, earnestly supported by the smaller nations, were able to have presented a document that met with the approval of the commission of the league, and this was then presented to the plenary session of the peace conference, with every prospect that it would be adopted.

As it stands, the plan provides for a small body of representatives of all the nations concerned, which shall meet every few months in a place to be internationalized. Every difference between nations is to be submitted to this governing body and to be decided within three months, during which time the contending parties must refrain from acts of hostility. If the decision is not accepted, the case will be submitted to arbitrators, and if the country they place in the wrong does not accept their ruling and has recourse to arms, all other nations in a position to do so will take up arms against it. No country is obliged to go to war with the offending nation, but all must join in an economic boycott of the latter.

France, which, since the outbreak of the great war, justly considers herself an outpost nation guarding a frontier of civilization, strongly urged the creation of an immediate international army and navy to enforce the rulings of the society of nations. Leon Bourgeois argued earnestly for the constitution of such a force and for the placing of it in France until all danger of an attack by Germany was at an end. This was opposed, especially by American and British representatives, who showed that it was contrary to the constitutions of their countries. The long discussion ended in an agreement that if a country should be attacked, the attacked country would employ her military forces as "covering troops" and await aid from those other nations that could most easily give it.

It is scarcely conceivable that this solution of the question can be satisfactory to France. The great war demonstrated that in a sudden shock attack a nation can suffer immense damage before her allies can mobilize their forces and transport them to the scene of conflict. This is just what France fears will happen again with Germany again as the aggressor, and her alarm, though it may be as foolish as some correspondents think it, will not be allayed until or unless the allies render the Huns militarily impotent before the treaty of peace is signed. There is a growing feeling in Paris that the American and British delegates are disposed to be too lenient with Germany and too prone to adopt the insidious claim of the Germans that their former rulers were not the people were responsible for the war and its horrors. The French react the well-known fact that the German people as a whole ardently supported their government in the conduct of the war and gave approval in the outrages committed by officers and soldiers alike.

The prospects of the proposed meeting of Russian factions and advisers from the allied nations at Prinkipo are growing better. Seven of the governments in Russia, including the czars, the tsaritsa, and the tsar's family, are willing to participate, though the first their national assembly at Weimar became more arrogant than ever. Their attitude was accurately reflected by Ebert who, in his speech accepting the office, said: "We shall combat domination by force to the utmost, from whatever direction it may come. We wish to found our state only on the basis of right and on our freedom to shape our destinies at home and abroad."

Mathias Erzberger, before meeting the entente chiefs to negotiate an extension of the armistice, conferred with officials in Berlin, and it was said they determined that he should demand that the allies recognize the new German government.

All this, and the fact that the enemy countries were preserving enough war material to permit them to equip quickly an army of 3,000,000 men, had full effect on the supreme war council when it decided on conditions of renewal of the armistice. The military members and the newly added economic members agreed on the terms, which are designed to place Germany in such a situation that she cannot renew military operations. The German authorities were called on to furnish full information of the war material of all kinds in their possession. The council also decided, according to one correspondent, "to make Germany realize that we are the conquerors and that it is not a 'white peace' that we are seeking to impose on her."

According to reliable information, the armistice is renewed for a very brief time, the allies reserving the right to suspend it if Germany fails to carry out the new clauses, which include the cessation of hostilities against the Poles. Meanwhile a special commission is to draw up armistice terms to last until the peace treaty is signed. These terms will provide for the demobilization of the German army and the disarmament of the nation under the supervision of the allies. The German government, it was said, was given to understand that if it was recalcitrant the resumption of the war by the allies was by no means out of the question. The firm attitude of the supreme war council possibly was due in some measure to an impressive speech by Premier Clemenceau, in which he showed the council the necessity of taking all precautions against the treacherous Huns. In this he was supported by President Wilson.

If Germany submits and acts in apparent good faith, it is likely some economic measures will be adopted that would facilitate the resumption of her peace activities to a considerable extent. But if this goes too far France will have another cause of complaint, for both she and Belgium argue, with seeming justice, that their industries, destroyed by the Huns, should be restored before the Germans are permitted to resume commercial relations and capture the markets.

Among the interesting developments of the week was the dispute between China and Japan, relating to the disposition of Shantung province and Tsingtau. In general the concessions which China had been forced to grant to Germany. These, it appears, Japan is trying to obtain for herself, and China relies on the peace conference for protection. The council of the five great powers asked that all secret agreements made by Japan and China with each other and other nations with the beginning of the war be submitted to it. This was in accord with the desires of the Chinese, and the Japanese government complied with the demand.

The Japanese threw another small monkeywrench into the machinery by the flat statement that they intended to hang onto the Caroline and Marshall Islands, which they took from Germany, notwithstanding the expressed will of the peace conference that all the captured colonies should be governed by mandatories of the League of Nations. The outcome of this is uncertain.

Once more the suffragists put their cause to the test in the senate, and once more they went down to defeat, this time a margin of only one vote. Democrats to the number of 18, mostly Southerners, and 11 Republicans voted against the amendment, while 24 Democrats and 31 Republicans voted for it.

set up independent republics and are no longer parts of Russia. The admission of representatives of the soviet government is conditional on the cessation of hostilities. Up to the time of writing the anarchists had continued their operations in many regions, with varying success. In the Archangel sector they were forced to retreat by the advance of the Americans, and it was reported they had been entirely driven out of Esthonia. Against the Poles they scored some victories.

According to reports from Ghent, the government there has accepted an offer from Japan of men, arms and money to combat the soviet forces, giving in return iron and coal concessions in the Prignur district.

An attempt to put the skids under another king, which may be successful, was started last week in Roumania. Inspired by anarchist propaganda, a general insurrection broke out, with demands for a republic. King Ferdinand, while fleeing from the palace with his family, was shot at and slightly wounded. The anarchists also became very active in Vienna, planning a revolt against the present government unless all power is transferred to the communist leaders.

In the United States the anarchists, whose machinations were largely responsible for the strikes on the Pacific coast and in Montana and Arizona, sustained a hard blow from the government. It developed that the agents of the bureau of immigration had been gathering up a lot of the most undesirable aliens and was prepared to deport them, awaiting only the necessary shipping. A big bunch of these scamps were taken, under guard, to New York, where lawyers in sympathy with their doctrines undertook to obtain their release under writs of habeas corpus. The anarchists make war on organized labor as much as on capitalism, and the parliamentary committee of the British trades union congress has declared that the unauthorized strikes which they cause cannot be tolerated. Down on the Argentine-Chile border the disturbances have caused so much trouble that those two countries are preparing to take joint action against them. They are fast becoming the Ishmaels of the entire world, but they seem to glory in having the hands of all decent folk against them.

The administration's big navy bill, bolstered by a semi-secret cablegram from President Wilson to the house naval committee, had a stormy time in the house last week. The minority denounced it as a bluff measure designed to enable Mr. Wilson to force on the peace congress certain of his ideas for the league of nations, and for a day it was blocked by the point of order that it authorized the president to construct the navy without making any appropriation. The Republicans laughed with scorn at an amendment proposed by Chairman Padgett appropriating $2,000,000 with which to build battleships costing $210,000,000, and the Democrats hastily adjourned. Next day, however, the administration leaders had their way and the bill for the three-year building program, carrying $721,000,000 for the naval establishment during the next fiscal year, was adopted by the house.

Secretary Baker and Chairman Deut have drawn up an army bill, now before the house, providing for a temporary army of something over half a million, to be raised by voluntary enlistments and designed only to carry the country over the period of occupation and reorganization. After that the nation is to be left virtually without an army, as it was before the great war. The bill takes the war department organization away from the general staff and returns it to the bureau chiefs. These features of the measure have subjected it to bitter attacks by the advocates of preparedness.

Once more the suffragists put their cause to the test in the senate, and once more they went down to defeat, this time a margin of only one vote. Democrats to the number of 18, mostly Southerners, and 11 Republicans voted against the amendment, while 24 Democrats and 31 Republicans voted for it.

Washington.—Prediction that the proposed conference at Princes Islands between representatives of the victorious associated nations and the various contending Russian factions would result in an agreement for withdrawal from Russia of American and Allied troops was made in the senate by Senator Hitchcock, chairman of the foreign relations committee, during another spirited debate on the American policy toward the Russian situation.

GERMANS SIGN ARMISTICE TERMS

AFTER HOURS OF PROTESTING, GERMAN COMMISSIONERS FINALLY SIGN UNDER PROTEST.

NEW TRUCE STOPS HINDENBURG

Agreement Prolongs Armistice Indefinitely, But Gives Allies Right to Break Off Truce in Three Days.

Paris.—Germany again has bowed to Foch. The armistice renewal was signed at Treves after the German commission, headed by Dr. Matthias Erzberger, had tried to the last to bargain, quibble, protest and even threaten.

"Sign on the dotted line," was the answer of Foch to all these attempts, and finally, as the time of grace was almost up, Germans, still protesting, signed. The agreement prolongs the armistice indefinitely, but gives the Allies the right to break off the truce on three days' notice if Germany does not religiously live up both to the letter and spirit of the terms.

Dispatches from Germany show the Treves conference was the occasion for a considerable revival of the old Prussian swashbuckling spirit. Impotent as they are, the militarists had begun again to talk of the "shining sword" and the wrath of the German people "once they are stirred."

Indeed, there are rumors of a cabinet crisis due to signing of the new agreement. Count von Brockdorff-Rantzau, foreign minister, a man of proved liberal and anti-junker tendencies, had pledged to a program of "peace without humiliation," saw that program endangered by yielding to Allied demands on the armistice renewal, and is said to have threatened to resign.

One report, unconfirmed, has it he carried out his threat as soon as he heard German signatures were affixed to the document.

Hindenburg, still the commanding figure in the fatherland, from the military standpoint, is curbed by the new agreement, for it stipulates the offensive against the Poles must be discontinued forthwith.

It also contains demands for German evacuation of territories claimed by the Poles. There is much speculation about what the aged field marshal will do now that a flus again has been written upon his plans.

Under new terms for renewal of the armistice, as presented to Germans by Marshal Foch, Germany must abandon all offensive movements against the Poles and also must prohibit its troops crossing the Russian frontier at a certain line.

RAIL REVENUES BEAT RECORD

Operating Receipts of 195 Roads For Year, $4,913,319,000.

Washington.—The effect of war on railroad expenses, revenues and net earnings was shown by the interstate commerce commission's final report on earnings of 395 principal roads, whose revenues amounted to $1,000,000,000 or more in 1918.

Operating revenues amounted to $4,913,319,000, the highest in history and $863,000,000 more than the $4,050,463,000 of the previous year.

Operating expenses rose to $4,066,894,000 or $1,148,000,000 more than the $2,918,894,000 of the previous year.

Operating income, which is the difference between revenues and expenses amounted to $719,159,000, but because of other adjustments on account of car and facility rents, the net income to the railroad administration from other operations amounted to only $690,118,000.

PLAN ROUND TRIP OCEAN FLIGHT

Secret British Dirigible Can Carry 30 Tons, Builders Say.

London.—The first details of the construction of the British super-dirigible which, builders assert, is capable of a non-stop round-trip transatlantic voyage, are published in the Daily Mail. It was built secretly.

The ship's length is 670 feet and diameter 79 feet. Weight in flying trim will be more than 600 tons, including a carrying capacity of between 27 and 30 tons. For war purposes the ship was to have carried four 500-pound and eight 250-pound bombs, also machine and other guns, fore, aft and on top.
