The Boys' Camp.

The dates for Camp Birkett, the County Y. M. C. A. camp for boys, have been set for July 1 to July 15. There will be one section of camp and the attendance will necessarily be limited to about seventy-five boys and leaders.

Those boys who register first will be accommodated. Last year the attendance at camp was eighty-eight boys and leaders, so an overflow of applications is expected.

Camp Birkett is a camp of ideals. It is not merely a place to send a boy to get rid of him. Any boy who goes to this summer camp must conform to rules and no lad can go through such a camp as the one at Big Silver and not come home a better, healthier and more alert boy than went up. The White Swastika program used in Camp Birkett gives a boy instruction in swimming, boating, life saving, first aid, nature study and elemental astronomy, service to "the other fellow" and camp-fire talks that no boy can forget.

The camp cost will be $12 for the two weeks. This pays for board, transportation and all necessities.

Auto Races at Jackson.

With a field of entrants that includes the greatest drivers on the dirt tracks of America the success of the championship automobile races at the Jackson fair grounds Saturday, June 7, is practically assured. Prize money amounting to over $2,000 has been hung up by the Jackson Driving Club, and this sum has been sufficient to lure the noted pilots from Indianapolis and Detroit courses.

Such luminaries of the speed world as Fred Horey, holder of twelve official records; "Wild Bill" Endicott of Indianapolis, the dean of race drivers; George "Texas" Clark, the greatest racer ever developed below the Mason and Dixon line; Sig Huggdahl, the Scandinavian speed star and Leon Duray, a French pilot are nominated. Additional starters include Floyd Willard, the champion light car driver of the United States; Bob Kline the sensational young Texas speedster, and Joe Foster a Texas boy. Dave Koetzka, recently returned from France, will also participate in the race, handling one of the Maxwells that brought fame and fortune to Eddie Rickenbacker.

Over 75 per cent of the official dirt track records of the world are held by the drivers entered in the Jackson races, so it is evident there is going to be plenty of speed. During the past few weeks a squad of workmen have been busy on the oval at the fair grounds and the track today is said to be as fast as any short-distance course in the country.

The races will start at 2:30 o'clock and the program will consist of long and short distance events.

Arkansas to Visit Washburn.

Arrangements have been made by the Ann Arbor Chamber of Commerce and the Washburn County Farm Bureau to entertain a delegation of sixty-four men from Arkansas. This delegation will be headed by the governor of the state and will include a number of educators, prominent business men and farmers. The delegation is making a tour of some of the central states with the idea of visiting a number of the different state universities and to secure suggestions for the improvement of their own state institutions. They also want to see the nature of the agriculture in the different communities.

The delegation will arrive in Ann Arbor early in the morning of June 9. Arrangements have been made for them to receive their breakfast at the Michigan Union. Automobiles will be provided to convey them to a number of points of interest in the county.

Luncheon will be served to the delegation at the Michigan Union, and at this luncheon there will be present a number of prominent educators, business men and farmers of the county, who will assist in entertaining the guests.

IDEAL WEATHER FOR DECORATION DAY

A Large Crowd was Out and Everything was as Announced.

Decoration Day was an ideal one, although it proved to be an extremely hot one.

In the forenoon the members of R. P. Carpenter Post, G. A. R., and the W. R. C. decorated the graves of all the departed soldiers and sailors in the cemeteries in this vicinity with flags and a profusion of flowers.

At 2:15 a procession was formed in front of Odd Fellow hall, headed by the Hollier band, and a platoon of world war soldiers under command of Lieut. A. A. Palmer escorted the G. A. R. and W. R. C. and their honorary members to the town hall, which was filled to capacity, where the program as printed in last week's issue of the Standard was given.

The address by Prof. W. D. Henderson, of Ann Arbor, was a masterly patriotic one, and the musical numbers by the Hollier band and the pupils of the public schools and St. Mary school were well executed, as also was the presentation of Lincoln's Gettysburg address by Miss Doris Foster.

At the close of the exercises in the hall a line of march was formed, headed by the Hollier band, the world war veterans, the G. A. R. and W. R. C. in automobiles, school children and citizens marched to Oak Grove cemetery, where a circle was formed around the soldiers' and sailors' monument where the G. A. R. exercises were given.

Not a single accident occurred to mar a perfect day.

A Commutation.

Hastings, Mich., May 15, 1919.

My Dear Mr. Hoover: I shall not be content until I have written to every editor in Michigan who has so loyally supported the constitutional amendment, to the end that we shall all have a better Michigan to live in and better roads to ride upon. The Michigan State Good Roads Association, who has had charge of the campaign, as well as the writer, feels under lasting obligation to you for your splendid support. To know that it passed both branches of the legislature without opposition, and that it has been ratified by the voters at the polls by the largest vote ever given for any measure, is certainly most gratifying to me and to the Association I have so long served. To the co-operation and support of the press we owe much for the splendid results, and I assure you we are most profoundly grateful. The whole people of Michigan are grateful to you.

Very sincerely yours,
Michigan State Good Roads Ass'n.

Have You a Little Brewery at Home?

Ann Arbor Times News: When the Michigan Union brewery of this city was turned into a factory for the manufacture of ice cream it was naturally supposed that the brewing of beer in Ann Arbor was ended. It hasn't, according to men about town who are popularly supposed to have a pretty good idea of what is happening from day to day.

According to them, beer is being brewed in many homes in this city, and while it is not always as palatable as the brand which used to be popular here, there is never any question about its having the necessary kick, the absence of which seems to prevent the many temperance drinks calculated to replace beer, from becoming universally popular. It seems that almost anybody of inquiring turn of mind may secure information which will allow him to brew beer at home if he wants to take the chance of running afoul of the revenue laws. All kinds of recipes are to be had for the asking. Men exchange them much as they used to pass the time of day when all the breweries were working overtime to supply the demand.

Apparently the practice of distilling whisky has not reached such proportions in this city as to attract attention, though doubtless there may be private stills located here. But the opinion seems to be widespread that the brewing of beer is an every day occurrence. It is even said that one may buy packages of powder which, when dissolved in a glass of water, will produce the foaming beverage instantly, but apparently Ann Arbor devotees find more satisfaction in brewing their own.

Captured Rum Runners.

Clayton Placeway, of Detroit, a former resident of Pinckney, was arrested in Ann Arbor Sunday morning after a chase across the city at breakneck speed. There were three automobiles in the party and they were supposed to be rum runners. The tip regarding the cars was from Chelsea. Deputy Gillespie was informed that three cars loaded with liquor had passed near this place. The informant was B. F. Browne, of Ann Arbor, deputy food and drug commissioner, who was driving to Jackson and saw the three automobiles, two of which were being filled with gasoline from the pilot car, which carried all the supplies necessary for the trip so that the train would not have to stop at any towns on the way to its destination. The pilot car was stopped on west Huron street, Ann Arbor, and the other cars whizzed by at a rapid rate, nearly running over one of the officers. The pilot car contained nothing but a few empty gasoline cans. One of the other cars was captured at the intersection of Huron and State streets, the third escaping. There were 180 quarts of whisky and 108 quarts of gin in the captured car.

At first it was thought by the sheriff's force the liquor was brought through from Chicago, but the cars all bore Ohio licenses and Chief O'Brien says that Placeway told him the liquor was loaded in the cars at a small town in Lenawee county, in which there is a plant, the name of which is withheld until the situation is investigated.

According to police, Placeway was to face Judge Tuttle in the Detroit federal court Monday morning on a white slavery charge. He gave his occupation as a meat salesman, but was formerly a patrolman on the Detroit police force and received considerable notoriety in a scandal in police circles several years ago in connection with holding up men on his beat.

American Legion Boys.

An effort is being made by the returned soldiers of the world war in this vicinity to form a post of the American Legion Boys in Chelsea. About thirty of the young men from this vicinity have signed a petition for a charter of the Legion, and Chas. Fenn has the petition, and all of the boys who wish to enroll can do so by calling on him. If a charter is granted it is proposed to call the local organization The Herbert McKone Post of the American Legion Boys, in honor of a marine from this vicinity who made the supreme sacrifice in order that the world might be made a better one.

"SHE CAN DO NO WRONG"

Synopsis.—Thomas K. Barnes, a wealthy young New Yorker, on a walking trip in New England near the Canadian border, is given a lift in an automobile by a mysterious and attractive girl bound for a house called Green Fancy. At Hart's tavern Barnes finds a stranded troupe of "barn-storming" actors, of which Lyndon Kitchcraft is the star and "Miss Thackeray" the leading lady. He learns Green Fancy is a house of mystery. That night Andrew Roon and his servant, guests at the tavern, are shot near Green Fancy. Barnes comes under suspicion and stays to help clear up the double murder. He gets into the Green Fancy grounds; meets the mysterious girl, who gives him the cut direct, and is politely ejected by O'Dowd, an interesting adventurer. Enter at the tavern another man of mystery, Sprouse, "book agent." Barnes visits Green Fancy with the sheriff and stays to dinner. Later still another mysterious personage, "Loeb," secretary to Curtis, owner of Green Fancy, who does not appear because of illness. Barnes again meets "Miss Cameron," the mysterious girl, who is a ravishing beauty in evening dress. She is a prisoner and secretly appeals to him for help. Sprouse reveals himself as a secret service man.

CHAPTER XI—Continued.

"The dence you say!" cried Barnes. "You will get right down to facts," said Sprouse. "My government— which isn't yours, by the way—sent me up here five weeks ago on a certain undertaking. I am supposed to find out what is hatching up at Green Fancy. Having satisfied myself that you are not connected with the game up there I cheerfully place myself in your hands, Mr. Barnes. You were at Green Fancy last night. So was I. You had an advantage over me, however, for you were on the inside and I was not."

"Confound your impudence! I—"

"One of my purposes in revealing myself to you, Mr. Barnes, is to warn you to steer clear of that crowd. You may find yourself in exceedingly hot water later on if you don't. Another purpose, and the real one, is to secure, if possible, your co-operation in beating the game up there. You can help me, and in helping me you may be instrumental in righting one of the gravest wrongs the world has ever known."

"Will you be good enough, Mr. Sprouse, to tell me just what you are trying to get at? I know nothing whatever against Mr. Curtis and his friends. You assume a great deal—"

"Excuse me, Mr. Barnes. I'll admit that you don't know anything against them, but you suspect a whole lot. To begin with, you suspect that two men were shot to death because they were wrong with someone at Green Fancy. Now I could tell you who these two men really were and why they were shot. But I shan't do anything of the sort—at least not at present."

Barnes was impressed. "Perhaps you will condescend to tell me who you are, Mr. Sprouse. I am very much in the dark."

"I am a special agent—but not a spy, sir—of a government that is friendly to yours. I am known in Washington. My credentials are not to be questioned. At present it would be unwise for me to reveal the name of my government. I dare say if I can afford to trust you, Mr. Barnes, you can afford to trust me. There is too much at stake for me to take the slightest chance with any man. I am ready to chance you, sir, if you will do the same by me."

"Well," began Barnes deliberately, "guess you will have to take a chance with me, Mr. Sprouse, for I refuse to commit myself until I know exactly what you are up to."

"In the first place, Mr. Barnes," said Sprouse, salting his eyes, "you have been thinking that I was sent down from Green Fancy to spy on you. Isn't that so?"

"I am answering no questions, Mr. Sprouse."

"You were wrong," said Sprouse, as if Barnes had answered in the affirmative. "I am working on my own. You may have observed that I did not accompany the sheriff's posse today. I was up in Hornville getting the final word from New York that you were on the level. I telephoned to New York. Seven dollars and sixty cents. You of the war. She was visiting friends in the States and has been unable to return to her own land, for reasons that must be obvious. I may as well confess that her father was, by marriage, an uncle of the late ruler.

"Since the invasion and overthrow of her country by the Teutonic allies she has been endeavoring to raise money here for the purpose of equipping and supporting the remnants of the small army that fought so valiantly in defense of the crown. These men, a few thousand only, are at present interned in a neutral country. I leave you to guess what will happen if she succeeds in supplying them with arms and ammunition. Her work is being carried on with the greatest secrecy. To bring the story to a close, I was instructed to keep close watch on the man O'Dowd. I traced him to this place. I was on the point of reporting to my superiors that he was in no way associated with the much-sought-after crown-claimant, and that Green Fancy was as free from taint as the village chapel, when out of a clear sky and almost under my very nose two men were mysteriously done away with at the very gates of the place. The killing of those two men changed the aspect completely. You will certainly agree with me after I have explained to you that the one known as Andrew Roon was no other than the equerry who had undertaken to find the—young woman."

Barnes drew a long breath. His mind was made up. He had decided to pool issues with the secret agent, but not until he was convinced that the result of their co-operation would in no way inflict a hardship upon the young woman who had appealed to him for help. He was certain that she was the fair propagandist described by Sprouse.

"And the young woman, what of her? She would, in any case, be held for examination and—"

"My dear sir, I may as well tell you now that she is a loyal subject, and far from being in bad grace at all, is an object of extreme solicitude to the ambassador. From what I can gather she has disappeared completely. Roon was sent over here for the sole purpose of finding her and inducing her to return with him to Paris."

"And to take the treasure with her, I suppose," said Barnes dryly.

"Naturally."

"Well," began Barnes, introducing a harsh note into his voice, "I should

"Six Months Ago a Royal House Was Despoiled of Its Crown Jewels, Seal and Charter."

say that if she is guilty of receiving this stolen property she ought to be punished. But is the place for her, Mr. Sprouse?"

Sprouse put down his coffee cup rather suddenly. A queer pallor came into his face.

"You do not understand the situation. Haven't I made it plain to you that she is innocent of any intent to do wrong?"

"You have said so, Mr. Sprouse, but your idea of wrong and mine may not be the same."

"There cannot be two ways of looking at it, sir," said Sprouse, after a moment. "She could do no wrong."

Whereupon Barnes reached his hand across the table and laid it on Sprouse's. His eyes were dancing.

"That's just what I want to be sure about," he said. "It was my way of finding out your intentions concerning her."

"What do you mean?"

"Come with me to my room," said Barnes, suppressing his excitement. "I think I can tell you where she is—and a great deal more that you ought to know."

In the little room upstairs he told the whole story. The little man listened without so much as a single word of interruption or interjection. Somewhat breathlessly Barnes came to the end.

"And now, Mr. Sprouse, what do you make of it all?" he inquired.

Sprouse leaned back in his chair, suddenly relaxing. "I am completely at sea," he said, and Barnes looked at him in surprise.

"By Jove, I thought it would all be as clear as day to you. Here is your man and also your woman, and the travelling bag full of—"

"Right you are," interrupted Sprouse. "That is all simple enough. But, my dear Barnes, can you tell me what Mr. Secretary Loeb's real name is? Why has he established himself so close to the Canadian line, and why the mobilization? I refer to his army of hussies."

"Heirs apparent usually have some sort of a bodyguard, don't they?" Sprouse was staring thoughtfully at the ceiling. When he finally lowered his eyes it was to favor Barnes with a deep, inscrutable smile.

"I dare say the first thing for me to do is to advise the Canadian authorities to keep a sharp lookout along the border."

CHAPTER XII.

The First Wayfarer Accepts an Invitation.

Barnes insisted that the first thing to be considered was the release of Miss Cameron.

"If we can't think of any other way to get her out of this devilish predicament, Sprouse, I shall apply to Washington for help."

"And he laughed at my friend," said the secret agent. "It is not a matter for the government to meddle in at all."

"Well, something has to be done at once," said Barnes doggedly. "She is depending on me. If you could have seen the light that leaped into her glorious eyes when I—"

"Yes, I know. I've heard she is quite a pretty girl. You needn't—"

"Quite a pretty girl!" exclaimed Barnes. "Why, she is the loveliest thing that God ever created. She has the face of—"

"I am beginning to understand O'Dowd's interest in her, Mr. Barnes. He has probably fallen in love with her with as little difficulty as you have experienced, and almost as expeditiously. He has seen a little more of her than you, but—"

"Don't talk nonsense. I'm not in love with her."

"Can you speak with equal authority for Mr. O'Dowd? He is a very susceptible Irishman, I am told."

"I don't believe he will get much encouragement from her, Mr. Sprouse," said Barnes stiffly.

"If she is as clever as I think she is, she will encourage him tremendously. I would if I were in her place. Mr. O'Dowd is only human. He isn't immune."

"I catch the point, Mr. Sprouse," said Barnes, rather gloomily. He did not like to think of the methods that might have to be employed in the subjugation of Mr. O'Dowd. "There is a rather important question I'd like to ask. Is she even remotely eligible to her country's throne?"

"Naturally, yes," said Sprouse. "So remotely that she could marry a chap like O'Dowd without giving much thought to future complications?" he ventured.

"She'd be just as safe in marrying O'Dowd as she would in marrying you," was Sprouse's unsatisfactory response. The man's brow was wrinkled in thought. "See here, Mr. Barnes, I am planning a visit to Green Fancy tonight. How would you like to accompany me?"

"I'd like nothing better," said Barnes, with enthusiasm.

"Will you agree to obey instructions? I can't have you muddling things up, you know."

"The grounds are carefully guarded," said Barnes, after they had discussed the project for some time. "Miss Cameron is constantly under the watchful eye of one or more of the crowd."

"I know. I passed a couple of them last night," said Sprouse calmly. "By the way, don't you think it would be very polite of you to invite the Green Fancy party over here to have an old-fashioned country dinner with you tonight?"

"It would be useless, Mr. Sprouse. They will not come."

"I am perfectly aware of that, but it won't do any harm to ask them, will it?"

Barnes chuckled. "See. Establishing myself as an innocent bystander, eh?"

"Got O'Dowd on the telephone and ask him if they can come," said Sprouse.

"But there is Jones to consider. The telephone is in his office. What will he think?"

"Jones is all right," said Sprouse briefly. "Come along. You can call up from my room." He grinned slyly. "Such a thing as tapping the wire, you know."

Sprouse had installed a telephone in his room, carrying a wire upstairs from an attachment made in the cellar of the Tavern. He closed the door to his little room on the top floor.

Barnes and Sprouse make an exciting midnight visit to Green Fancy.

The Great Test.
Self-control is an easy matter when we are alone, says New Success Magazine. But the moment our lives are thrown in with others, then comes the struggle. To maintain our equanimity, to restrain the sharp retort, the impatient exclamation, to get along smoothly with disagreeable people, without friction or jarring—this is the great life test. This is what builds character, what tests manhood or womanhood, what makes the ideal employee.

Burning Truth.
Said the facetious fellow: "These golf fanatics get a lot of satisfaction out of reducing their strokes from last season, but the real joy of life comes from being able to reduce the number of tons of coal from the winter before."

Germans Hand in Their Counter-Proposals for Peace to Council of Four.

WANT TO RETAIN COLONIES

Make Many Other Demands to Which Allies Will Not Yield—Adriatic Question Settled, Fiume Becoming Independent City—Western Canada Strike Spreads.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD.

The Germans have handed in their counter-proposals—108 printed pages of them—with the evident and presumably justified feeling that they won't do Germany any particular good. If the replies of the allies to Brockdorff-Rantzau's preliminary notes furnish any basis for prediction, it is safe to say that this bunch of counter-proposals will in the main be turned down flat by the council of four.

As was easily foreseen, the Germans predicate their propositions largely on the fourteen points and on various idealistic utterances of President Wilson and others, and quotations from these are used liberally. The ideas of territorial self-determination and opportunities for economic development are played upon strongly, and the peace terms prepared by the allies are declared to be in contradiction to a just peace and dominated by the "might greater than right" principle.

Germany refuses absolutely to cede Upper Silesia, and declines to give up the Saar basin, Posen and other territory unless a plebiscite is held. Danzig, she says, must be a free port and must not be in any way controlled by the Poles, but it is agreed that the Vistula river may be neutralized as far as the Polish border. She agrees to surrender her warships and to dissolve the rest of her navy, but demands merchant shipping in exchange, saying this is necessary to her commercial life. She accepts the limitation of the army to 100,000 men, but wants more than that for the present to maintain order. She offers to pay an indemnity of $5,000,000,000 in gold by 1920 and to make annual payments thereafter up to a total of $25,000,000,000, but puts in a counter-claim of about $3,500,000,000 for damages from the allied blockade.

The Germans refuse to admit that Germany is alone to blame for the war and its damage, and take a slap at Italy and Roumania, which, they assert, entered the conflict for territorial conquest. As for personal responsibility, they declare they will not surrender the former kaiser and others for trial by the allies, asserting they can be tried only by Germans or neutrals.

Return of Germany's colonies is demanded, though it is agreed that Germany might be willing to act as mandatory for them under the league of nations, and the right of Germany to enter the league at once on an equality with other nations is asserted. All occupied territories, says the counter-proposal, must be evacuated within six months. In claiming the return of the colonies the Germans call attention to the fact that an impartial settlement of all colonial claims was promised in number five of the fourteen points. This reads:

"Free, open-minded, and absolutely impartial adjustment of all colonial claims, based upon a strict observance of the principle that in determining all such questions of sovereignty the interests of the population concerned must have equal weight with the equitable claims of the government whose title it is to be determined."

Since Germany's administration of her colonial possessions, especially those in Africa, was notoriously oppressive to the natives, it is hard to see how she can gain much by an appeal to an agreement that the interests of the people concerned shall be given full weight.

Germany's claim for damages due to the blockade is based on the alleged loss of thousands of lives from hunger and malnutrition. But the allied council is ready for them on this point with statistics that prove the infant mortality in German cities would have been kept at near normal if the distribution of the country's milk supply had been efficient, since the milk production never was below 45 per cent of the pre-war figures. Mortality in hospitals, due to lack of rubber and cotton, also was cited by the Germans. To this the allies reply that the imports of rubber and cotton were much in excess of hospital requirements, and the authorities chose to devote these supplies to military purposes, and for this choice the allies cannot be held responsible.

These are the outstanding points in the counter-proposals made by the Germans. They object, of course, to innumerable other clauses in the treaty, especially the economic provisions, and offer many substitutions and modifications. It is not likely that the council of four will require many days to digest the document and reply to it. Then the Germans will be required to sign the treaty within a given time, presumably before June 15. If, unexpectedly, they refuse to sign, they will be given 72 hours' notice of the termination of the armistice and then the blockade will be restored with all its former rigidity and the allied armies of occupation will advance further into German territory.

No one pretends that the Germans could offer serious armed resistance to such a movement. An indication of the unyielding spirit of the allies was given last week when American and British troops were landed at Danzig and their warships began to gather there.

At home in Germany the counter-proposals seemed to please no one. The conservative papers denounced them as too yielding and the radical press said they did not yield enough. None had much hope of their success.

According to correspondents in Germany, the Germans intend to sign the treaty, but also intend to evade its terms in every way possible. This would mean that the allies would be compelled to keep under arms a large force of "collectors." The German people, as a whole, say these correspondents, have adopted the position that they will pay for the war only what is forced out of them. They are more united in spirit than at any time before for several years, and cannot be brought to see that they are a defeated, not a conquering people. In other words, say these observers, Germany has not had enough whipping.

The terms of peace with Austria, though not wholly completed, were handed to the Austrian delegates. All the territorial questions were included, but certain economic arrangements and the matter of reparation were left for further consideration. It was known, however, that Austria would be required to pay about 2,500,000,000 kroner indemnity, and that the payment of a like sum would be apportioned among Hungary, Czech-Slovakia, Jugoslavia, Roumania, Poland and Italy.

The countries that formerly formed parts of the Austro-Hungarian empire have agreed to share in the payment of indemnity, not as enemies of the allies, but in recognition of their liberation. They also will redeem proportionately their share of the Austrian paper currency in circulation within their boundaries. Italy is included because of her acquisition of the Trentino, Trieste and other territory that was Austrian.

It was announced in Paris that the Adriatic muddle had been cleared up at last. Fiume is to be an independent city and Italy is to get Sebenico and Zara, together with sovereignty over certain strategic islands.

News from Russia is frequently delayed and often confusing, but the latest advices from that wretched country show that Admiral Kolchak is unrelentingly driving the bolshevik forces inward. Some days ago he was attacking Orenburg, an important railway junction and a bolshevik stronghold in southeastern Russia. Dispatches from Omsk told of a revolt against the soviet rule in the Ukraine, Trotsky's forces thus being attacked from the rear. The Estonians continued their advance on Petrograd while declaring they meant to occupy that city only to relieve its suffering inhabitants, and if recent reports from there are reliable the relief is sadly needed, for the people are said to be starving to death by the thousands. New units of the British volunteer army arrived at Archangel and the transports that took them were expected to bring away the American troops that have been serving there, and whose return has been so loudly demanded. According to Maxim Gorky, who was interviewed by Frazier Hunt, the outside world cannot aid Russia; bolshevism must run its course, bringing gradual starvation and paralysis of industries; a great revolt will follow, with a reign of terror, and then there will be a constituent assembly in which the peasants will assert their power and form a democracy.

The Budapest communists claimed to have defeated the forces of the "enemy" that were advancing on the city, and assert that one Roumanian regiment was almost wiped out. Bela Kun, however, is not satisfying Lenin, who, announces that Moscow, not Budapest, is the revolutionary center of the world and its orders must be obeyed, and that the Hungarian revolution is not proceeding well.

In the United States senate the battle over the league of nations is proceeding merrily, and on Wednesday the Democratic national committee took a hand. It unanimously adopted resolutions demanding that the league covenant be ratified by the senate, which is controlled by the Republicans, and that its members indicated that the rejection of the covenant would not be unbecome to them, because it would force the political issue.

Reed of Missouri delivered in the senate a fierce denunciation of the league, in the course of which he said the covenant meant the domination of the white races by the black, yellow and brown races, his appeal being chiefly to the southern and far western senators. Senator Robinson of Arkansas, also a Democrat, replied to Reed and challenged him to join him in resigning and seeking re-election as a test of the sentiment of their states on the league question.

Secretary Daniels, appearing before the house committee on naval affairs, formally withdrew his recommendation for a second three-year program of battleship building which, as he formerly said, was designed to make the American navy the biggest in the world. Last winter he told the congressmen that even with a league of nations the United States should have a navy as large as Great Britain's. Now he says we must show our confidence in the efficacy of the league by at least postponing any plans for such a naval increase.

The great general strike which has tied up and almost isolated Winnipeg has not yet been brought to an end, and, despite the efforts of the government representatives, is spreading to other cities of western Canada. The authorities declare the agitators are trying to overthrow the dominion and provincial governments and to establish bolshevism. This the strike leaders deny, but their course lends credence to the accusation. Ostensibly the strike is to enforce the workers' demand for the right of collective bargaining, but the plan to form the "one big union," fostered by the I. W. O., is apparently at the bottom of the trouble.

Lieutenant Commander Read and his crew of the American navy plane NC-4 completed their great achievement of crossing the Atlantic by airplane by flying from the Azores to Lisbon, Portugal. The last leg of the epoch-making flight was without special incident. The bold aviators were received in Lisbon with plaudits and given decorations.

Hawker and Griever, given up for dead, were picked up in mid-Atlantic by a small steamer which took them to Great Britain. There they were welcomed as the heroes they undoubtedly are, though their attempt failed. It was regrettable that Hawker should show himself to be a poor sport by belittling and sneering at the feat of the Americans.

THE SETTLEMENT

By JOSEPHINE MURPHY.

(Copyright, McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

In her youth Janet H— had known every luxury. Her father had been a wealthy merchant. Many woeers had sought her hand, but only one had made a favorable impression on the girl's mind. His name was Ralph B—, and he earned his bread as a reporter on the staff of a daily newspaper.

On such a person Mr. H— was not disposed to bestow his daughter. His success in business had turned his head and he looked forward to Janet marrying one of higher social standing.

Ralph met with only cold glances from Mr. and Mrs. H— when he encountered them. Gradually his visits ceased, and before the collapse of Mr. H—'s business the young man had gone, no one knew where or whether; few cared.

Neither Mr. H— or his wife long survived their change in fortune. The former had invested all the money he could raise in a new, and as it turned out, bogus company. Thus Janet was entirely unprovided for.

She entered the Mayten hospital, from which she later graduated as a private nurse.

Her first case was with Norbman W—, an old man of very comfortable means. Here she remained as his nurse and faithful servant until death called him.

His entire property was bequeathed to her at his death. The antiques and curious old statuary of the mansion held a strange charm for her.

About a week after Mr. W—'s death she was sitting in the library reading when the sound of an auto brushing the curb came to her ears. Laying aside the book, she arose from her chair and started to walk toward the window, but was interrupted by a knock on the library door. To her answer the maid announced that a young man wished to see her.

Glancing at the card the maid had handed her, Janet recognized the lawyer's name.

"Very well," said Janet. "Show him in."

"Good evening, Miss H—. I have rather strange news for you," he remarked, as he sat down.

"Proceed," said Janet.

"Well," began the lawyer, "it appears in some valuable papers of Mr. W— that he did have a married daughter, who, through some family disagreement, had left her father's home. The girl has since died, but her only child, now a young man, still survives, and he has put in a claim for his mother's share of the property. I have come to inform you beforehand. I shall bring this young man to see you tomorrow and we shall decide what further proceedings shall take place."

"Certainly," said Janet. "I shall be very glad to give up that which belongs to another."

After he left she sighed gently. She wondered if she would now have to face the cold world again. She had, however, managed to save a neat sum; thus she would not be utterly penniless and after a short rest she would start out once more.

The next morning found the lawyer and Mr. W—'s grandson on their way to the mansion. As the young man entered his eyes opened in wonderment, as did Janet's, at the antiques, etc.

"Say," he gasped, "this is something worth while looking for."

"They had finally reached the library and had been seated but a few minutes when Janet entered."

"Janet! Miss H—! I never thought, never imagined I should see you!"

"And you, Ralph B—, are Mr. W—'s grandson?"

"So it seems," said Ralph.

"I am so glad, so glad!" cried Janet.

"Did I not mention Miss H—'s name?" the lawyer questioned. "I must have been unusually stupid."

Ralph did not answer. He still held Janet's hand, and at length the lawyer so far recovered his wits as to quit the room.

When he next saw the two no mention was made of Janet's desire to relinquish the estate, and the lawyer put forth a tentative query.

"Settlement?"

"Oh, yes, we have arrived at a settlement," Ralph said, with a joyous laugh, "since Janet has consented to marry me."

Writer's Cramp.

Writer's cramp does not interfere with other manipulations of the affected hand. A prominent surgeon now totally unable to write uses the affected hand easily to perform all the delicate and varied manipulations incident to abdominal surgery.

Complete rest of the hand, massage and electrical treatment may afford relief, but the trouble is likely to recur. Some victims learn to write with the left hand, but the disease is prone to extend into the newly trained member.

The method of writing from the elbow or shoulder instead of from the knuckle prevents writer's cramp. Affected persons can use the typewriting machine perfectly.

Hard to Suit.

Ella—He found my gloves in his pocket and he returned them by special delivery.

Stella—That was very thoughtful of him.

Ella—Thoughtful? It was an insult to rush them back, as it indicated that he thought I had only one pair.

Several persons have reported seeing pheasants in the country. They are undoubtedly some of those "planted" by the game department of the state.

Michigan has ordered 225,000 automobile license plates for 1920, with the option of ordering as many more as may be needed. The number reached this year was 265,000. Under the DePoe bill, passed by the present legislature, the plates will not become the property of the automobile owner. They are merely loaned by the state as evidence of the payment of the tax.

Rev. Harvey Glenn Pierce has been appointed to fill the unexpired term of Rev. Dr. Palmer as pastor of the M. E. church in Chelsea. Mr. Pierce was assistant pastor of the North Woodward M. E. church in Detroit before going overseas with the Y. M. C. A. He spent seventeen months in France and has just returned from there. He will take charge of affairs here on Sunday, June 15.

The scientists of the Detroit dailies have explained the cause of the red glow that was visible in the northern sky Monday evening. One paper said that it was caused by a big bonfire out North Woodward avenue, and another said that it was caused by a burning barn about forty miles north of the city. Both explanations are good as far as they go, but the same glow was plainly seen here, so they must have been "some" fires.

Rev. Dr. Seth Reed, dean of Methodist clergymen of Michigan, celebrated his 95th birthday Monday, at his home in Flint. He was born in New York state in 1823, became a circuit rider in Michigan in 1844 and took an active part in affairs of Michigan Methodism for 50 years. Despite advanced years, Dr. Reed is very active and takes a keen interest in local affairs. Dr. Reed was a former resident of Chelsea, being the first manager of the Methodist Old People's Home.

Schure is president. A lot has been purchased and plans for a building have been drawn.

Michigan grown alfalfa seed is on the market for the first time, says Prof. Cox, of the farm crops department of the M. A. C. Heretofore all seed has been imported from other states and the winter-hardy Michigan seed is expected to produce marked results here. Prof. Cox says that Michigan growers must be careful not to plant seed grown in the south and he recommends only northern grown seed like the Grimm, Baltic and Cossack. It has been demonstrated that alfalfa seed can be grown profitably in Michigan.

THIS WEAK, NERVOUS MOTHER

Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Her Health.

Philadelphia, Pa.—"I was very weak, always tired, my back ached, and I felt sickly most of the time. I went to a doctor and he said I had nervous indigestion, which added to my weak condition kept me worrying most of the time—and he said if I could not stop that, I could not get well. I heard so much about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound my husband wanted me to try it. I took it for a week and felt a little better. I kept it up for three months, and I feel fine and can eat anything now without distress or nervousness. Mrs. J. WORTHINE, 2342 North Taylor St., Philadelphia, Pa.

The majority of mothers nowadays, overdo, there are so many demands upon their time and strength; the result is invariably a weakened, run-down, nervous condition with headaches, backache, irritability and depression—and soon more serious ailments develop. It is at such periods in life that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will restore a normal healthy condition, as it did to Mrs. Worthine.

Some Practitioner.

Sam Brown, with an overgrown cap and two bars on his arm, was back in town.

"Hello, Sam, haven't you seen for a long time. Where have you been?" asked an old acquaintance.

"Ah's been over in France with the United States Voluntary Forces."

"Veterinary? I guess you mean veterinary, don't you, Sam?"

"No, Ah reckons Ah means just what Ah says—voluntarily. Ah got naturally born a voluntarily—feedin' them German dogs gunpowder for their distemper."

Important to Mothers

Weak From Pain

Mrs. Gibbet Was in Misery, But Doan's Brought Her Splendid Health.

"About 15 years ago my kidneys were in bad condition," says Mrs. Gibbet, 1333 Columbia Ave., Denver, Ill. "There was a constant dull, bearing-down pain in the small of my back. I couldn't turn over in bed without a pain I could hardly breathe. Mornings I was stiff, sore and lame all over; my back was like a rusty hinge."

"Inflammation of the bladder nearly drove me mad. The kidney secretion passed every little while, day and night, a little at a time, and burned like fire. Great spots of water formed under my eyes."

"I was in such misery I would become weak and so nervous I would scream. I had nerve-aching headaches and the back of my neck pained me. I was so tired I didn't dare bend over for fear of falling on my face. My sight became blurred. I was sick all over."

"Five boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills cured me of kidney trouble. Since then I have enjoyed splendid health and I owe it all to Doan's."

WITHOUT LIGHTS OR WALKS

Very Large Portion of the Population Can Qualify on $50,000 Bond—Make Wealth in Sheep and Wool.

Pueco Springs, Colo.—While there is no frontier left in the West, now and then one may come across something interesting in the way of the primitive. In the northernmost and central part of New Mexico, just across the Colorado line, is the small town of Tierra Amarilla. There are about 500 people living there, mostly of Spanish birth, and among them a very, very large portion who can legitimately qualify on a $50,000 bond.

They have made, and are still making, a great deal of money in sheep and wool, and are quite happy without electric lights, autos or sidewalks.

If you are ever fortunate enough to be invited to visit one of these families, no doubt you will go in a kindly, tolerant spirit and come away pleasantly amazed.

They are the very heart and soul of hospitality and welcome a stranger with a sincere enthusiasm that makes one ashamed of the cold-blooded, haughty politeness of an American.

They are Americans.

And that calls to mind the dignified rejoinder of one of these citizens upon being questioned as to where his sympathies were in our trouble with Mexico—with the Americans or the Mexicans.

His terse reply, "I am an American," was sufficient. Considering that scarcely any of the inhabitants are educated, according to the average standard, that was a remarkable reply.

The houses are nearly all built of sun-dried bricks of mud called adobe. Set down, more than likely, in a sea of mud or dust, according to the sea-

Western Canada's "Horn of Plenty"

Offers You Health & Wealth

Western Canada has helped to feed the world—the same responsibility of production rests upon her. While high prices for Grain, Cattle and Sheep are sure to remain, price of land is much below its value. Land capable of yielding 20 to 45 bushels of wheat to the acre can be had on easy terms at from $15 to $30 per acre—good grazing land at much less.

Many farms paid for from a single year's crop. Raising cattle, sheep and hogs brings equal success. The Government encourages farming and stock raising. Railway and Land Companies offer unusual inducements to Home Seekers. Farms may be stocked by home at moderate interest. Western Canada offers low taxation, good markets and abundant free schools, churches and beautiful climate.

DAIRY FACTS

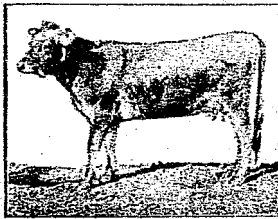

NEW PURE-BRED CALF CLUBS

Distinction of Having Largest Organization in United States Claimed by Wisconsin.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Wisconsin claims the distinction of having the largest boys and girls' calf club in the United States. The Winnebago County Calf club, organized by the county agent, already has 100 members.

It is being backed by the banks, the county superintendent of schools, the county agent, the secretaries of the breeders' associations, the officials of the County Fair association and the state leaders of young people's clubs. Any boy or girl can become a member of the club by owning and caring for a pure-bred or high-grade heifer calf or a pure-bred bull calf. The banks are furnishing credit to any of the juniors who need funds with which to purchase their calves.

The new calf club project is being promoted in conjunction with the pure-bred sire campaign. The 100 calves now being fed by the boys and girls were secured from Winnebago county breeders.

DEMAND FOR DAIRY PRODUCE

Bureau of Markets Will Furnish Plans for Stimulating Greater Consumption.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The bureau of markets of the department of agriculture announces that it is prepared to furnish local organizations complete plans for campaigns to stimulate the consumption of dairy products in cities. A campaign at Sedalia, Mo., was conducted in February through the co-operation of the chamber of commerce, the women's division of the council of national defense, the state college of agriculture and other local organizations. Last year campaigns conducted by the department to encourage the use of dairy products were held in Boston, Detroit, Des Moines, Minneapolis and St. Paul. At Des Moines after a week's campaign the demand for milk became greater than dealers were able to meet. At another city a dealer who was marketing about $50 pounds of cottage cheese each week increased his sales to $50 a day, and in other cases much skimmed milk that had been going to waste was converted into cottage cheese and found a ready market.

INDIGESTION CAUSES SCOURS

Calf Affected Has Been Overfed, Been Given Milk That Was Sour, or Pails Were Dirty.

When the calf gets scours it is an indication that something is wrong with the feeding. It has either been overfed, been given milk that is sour or cold, been fed sweet milk one meal and sour the next, or the pails or troughs are dirty. Indigestion is the cause of scours, so in treating the trouble the first thing to do is to correct the conditions that brought on indigestion. Then give a dose of castor oil in milk and follow with the formalin treatment. This consists in giving one tablespoonful of formalin solution, made by adding one-half ounce of formalin to 15½ ounces of water, in each pint of milk fed. Only half the usual amount of milk should be given at a feed for a few days, when the amount can be increased to normal again. There are other remedies but this has been highly recommended.

TEST COW FOR TUBERCULOSIS

Law Makes It Compulsory in District of Columbia—Big Decrease of Disease Noted.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

In the District of Columbia it is compulsory to test dairy cattle for tuberculosis. The law was passed in 1909. During the year which followed 1,701 cattle in the District were tested, and 10 per cent were found to have tuberculosis. In 1918, 1,200 cattle were tested and less than 1 per cent was found to have the disease. Since 1914 not more than 2 per cent of the dairy cattle in the District have been found to be diseased. This illustrates what systematic effort will do in the tuberculosis fight.

Date Soufflé.—Beat the whites of four eggs very stiff, add gradually one-half cupful of sugar, then stir in a pound of dates that have been stoned and rubbed to a paste. Bake in a well-buttered baking dish until firm. Serve with whipped cream.

Peas and Walnut Salad.—Take equal quantities of cold cooked peas and walnut meats broken in bits, season well with French dressing and let stand one hour, then serve in lemon cups with mayonnaise dressing.

Potato and Nut Salad.—Take three boiled potatoes, three hard-cooked eggs, one-half cupful of walnut meats and a dozen olives. Cut all fine and mix with French dressing. Just before serving add a little mayonnaise.

Spanish Chicken Soup.—Heat three cupsful of chicken stock and the same of veal. Add a grated onion, a finely minced carrot and two stalks of celery chopped fine. Add one cup of barley and simmer until the barley is done. Season to taste and rub through a sieve before serving.

A half cupful of tapioca put into chicken broth and cooked slowly for half an hour makes a most delicate soup. Season to taste and add beaten egg just before serving.

By friendship I mean the greatest love, and the greatest usefulness and the most open communication and the highest self-sufficiency and the most exacting play, faithfulness and the severest truth and the heartiest counsel and the greatest union of mind, of which brave men and women are capable.

HOUSEHOLD CONVENIENCES.

The skillful worker in any business always keeps up-to-date tools, for he knows he will thus increase his efficiency. The efficient housewife also knows that time, strength and temper are lost by using old, worn-out and cumbersome utensils.

Why use dull paring and carving knives when a small sharpener can be bought which will keep all cutting tools in good order? If there is any one thing which will cause one to use strong language it is a dull carving knife.

A tray to remove food and dishes from the dining table or to carry it to the table is a great saving of steps. If one cannot afford to buy a wheeled tray or tea wagon get the handy man to make you one, using the small wheels from an old go-cart. A wire dish drainer is light and can be used as a tray if no other is at hand, for it is easy to carry.

Paper or wooden trays or plates make fine dishes to use in the tea box, for they do not break and may be renewed often at little expense.

Paper of all kinds saves dish washing. Wipe out the greasy dishes with a piece of soft paper before putting them into the dish water. Keep the table wiped up with paper, saving the dishcloth for stains and grease.

A kitchen table covered with zinc or some hard surface that does not need scouring to keep clean is a most necessary kitchen convenience. Some good scales, a good clock, a kitchen cabinet with everything at hand to use in cooking, are all necessary equipment.

Keep a bottle of kerosene near the sink, and when it is dry wipe out with a cloth dampened with kerosene; it will keep clean without scouring. Repeated scourings with various cleaning powders will ruin the surface, so that it becomes rough and stains easily.

Have a stool that will slip under the table when not needed and use it to sit on while preparing vegetables or doing many kinds of work. It will be found a great saving on tired feet. One can learn to wash and wipe dishes and iron sitting on a stool. Have a rung on which to rest the feet to change one's position.

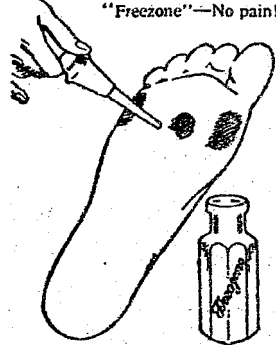

A small, simple old rocking chair in the kitchen will save many a breakdown. Drop into it while doing various things and relax when possible.

Keep a card index of recipes in the kitchen in a convenient place to use in planning the meals.

"CALLUS CORNS" LIFT RIGHT OFF

Apply a few drops of "Freezone"—No pain!

Don't suffer! A tiny bottle of Freezone costs but a few cents at any drug store. Apply a few drops on the corns, calluses and "hard skin" on bottom of feet, then lift them off.

When Freezone removes corns from the toes or calluses from the bottom of feet, the skin beneath is left pink and healthy and never sore, tender or irritated.

British in German Graves.

Viscount Curzon, in the house of commons, was asked if the secretary for war would give an assurance that he would permit the remains of British soldiers buried in Germany to be exhumed and brought home for reinterment, should the relatives desire, as soon as the transport facilities permit.

Captain Guest (Joint parliamentary secretary to the treasury) replied that this matter would receive sympathetic consideration as soon as the condition of affairs permitted.

PHYSICALLY FIT AT ANY AGE

It isn't age, it's careless living that puts men "down and out." Keep your internal organs in good condition and you will always be physically fit.

The kidneys are the most over-worked organs in the human body. When they break down under the strain and the deadly uric acid accumulates and crystallizes look out! These sharp crystals tear and scratch the delicate urinary channels causing excruciating pain and set up irritations which may cause premature degeneration and often do turn into "Gravel" or "Bright's Disease."

One of the first warnings of sluggish kidney action is pain or stiffness in the small of the back, loss of appetite, indigestion or rheumatism.

Do not wait until the danger is upon you. At the first indication of trouble go after the cause at once. Get a trial box of GOLD MEDAL Marmalade Capsules, imported direct from the laboratories in Holland. They will give almost immediate relief. If for any cause they should not, your money will be refunded. But be sure to get GOLD MEDAL. None other is genuine. In sealed boxes, three sizes.—Adv.

The Situation.

"Your husband is hitting up a fast pace at the punch bowl."

"Well?"

"If I were you I'd call him down immediately."

"That will have to wait until tomorrow. If I quarrel with him now, he won't unhook my dress for me and I can't sleep in a ball gown."

Unprotected.

Non—She's a cold-hearted sort of girl.

Belle—I guess your heart would get cold, too, if you wore it on your sleeve, like she does.

"FAKE" ASPIRIN WAS TALCUM

Therefore Insist Upon Genuine "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin"

Millions of fraudulent Aspirin Tablets were sold by a Brooklyn manufacturer which later proved to be composed mainly of Talcum Powder. "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" the true, genuine, American made and American owned Tablets are marked with the safety "Bayer Cross."

Ask for and then insist upon "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" and always buy them in the original Bayer package which contains proper directions and dosage.

Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid.

Theoretical philosophers are sometimes practical fools.

POWDER IN SHOES AS WELL AS GUNS

Foot-Ease to be Added to Equipment of Hospital Corps at Fort Wayne.

Under the above heading the Detroit Free Press, among other things says: "The theory is that soldiers whose feet are in good condition can walk farther and faster than soldiers who have corns and bunions increased in rawhide."

The Flatbush Camp Manual advises men in training to shake Foot-Ease in their shoes each morning.

There is no foot comforter equal to Allen's Foot-Ease, the antiseptic, healing powder to be shaken into the shoes and sprinkled in the foot-bath, for hot, tired, aching, perspiring, smarting, swollen, tender feet, corns, bunions, blisters or callouses. What wouldn't you give to be relieved of one day's pain of your corns and bunions? Here is relief for every day. You won't realize this until you have tried Allen's Foot-Ease yourself. You simply forget all about your feet they are made so comfortable. Ask your druggist today for a package of ALLEN'S FOOT-EASE.

Rare Specimen.

"Are you going to have a garden this year?" asked Mr. Gadspar.

"I really believe I am," said Mr. Dabwarte.

"You seem more hopeful than you were a few days ago."

"Yes. I've just discovered an old-fashioned colored gentleman who is not above doing odd jobs for a cast-off suit of clothes."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Why to Tell.

Young Husband—Dearie, is this at fair on my plate a chicken croquet or a rice poodle?

Winning Bride—Did you find any bones in it?

Young Husband—No, love.

Winning Bride—Then it's a rice poodle.

Oh, Fudge.

"That man is developing all the time."

"Improving himself, eh?"

"Works for a photographer."

THIN PEOPLE SHOULD TAKE PHOSPHATE

Nothing Like Plain Bitro-Phosphate to Put on Firm, Healthy Flesh and to Increase Strength, Vigor and Nerve Force.

Judging from the countless preparations and treatments which are continually being advertised for the purpose of making thin people fleshy, developing arms, neck and bust, and replacing waxy hollows and angles by the soft curved lines of health and beauty, there are evidently thousands of men and women who keenly feel their excessive thinness.

Thinness and weakness are often due to starved nerves. Our bodies need more phosphate than is contained in modern foods. Physicians claim there is nothing that will supply this deficiency so well as the organic phosphate known among druggists as bitro-phosphate, which is inexpensive and is sold by most all druggists under a guarantee of satisfaction or money back. By feeding the nerves directly and by supplying the body cells with the necessary phosphoric food elements, bitro-phosphate should produce a welcome transformation in the appearance, the increase in weight frequently being astonishing.

Increase in weight also carries with it a general improvement in the health. Nervousness, sleeplessness and lack of energy, which nearly always accompany excessive thinness, should disappear, dull eyes become bright, and pale cheeks glow with the bloom of perfect health.

CUTION: Although bitro-phosphate is unsurpassed for relieving nervousness, sleeplessness and general weakness, it should not, owing to its tendency to increase weight, be used by those who do not desire to put on flesh.

BILIOUSNESS Caused by Acid-Stomach

If people who are bilious are treated according to local symptoms they seldom get very much better. Whatever relief is obtained is usually temporary. True biliousness is usually caused by an acid stomach, and the chances are that the patient will remain strong and healthy.

Doctors say that more than 75 per cent of all biliousness is due to an acid stomach. Biliousness is one of the most distressing, debilitating, sour stomach, heartburn, belching, sour eructations, flatulence, and other ailments which lead to a long train of ailments that make life miserable if not cured.

EATONIC literally absorbs and carries away the excess acid. Makes the stomach cool and comfortable. Improves the digestion; improves the appetite and you then get full strength from your food. Thousands say that EATONIC is the most effective stomach remedy in the world. It is the help you need. Try it on one of your most distressed ailments. It will cure it. At all druggists. Only 50 cents for a big box.

Heard Him, All Right.

Germany's stiff-necked denseness in sensing the necessity for her strict compliance with the first armistice terms, and her brazen indignation at the harder ones imposed as a penalty for nonfulfillment of the first, make one think of the banker at Weeping Water, Neb., who was asked by an inquisitive farmer for a loan. The banker was one of those people who are deaf for commercial purposes. The farmer was chronically wanting to borrow, and his security was getting shaky.

"I'd like to borrow $5,000," pleaded the farmer.

The banker cupped his hand behind his lame ear and said: "Speak a little louder and cut down the amount."

He Got His.

GOLD IN NEARLY ALL LANDS

Yet It Is Today, to a Very Large Extent, the "Mainpring" of a Nation.

Gold has been much talked about during these years of war, and every one-paged and ten-shilling note is a monument to the power and value of gold. It is to a great extent the main-spring of a nation, says a writer in London Answers.

And yet in spite of its being counted among the rare and precious metals it is surprising how universally it is found. Almost every country in the world can boast of a gold mine.

Gold is found in the ground in rock formation when its presence is often discovered on the surface. The fine particles of gold are extracted by crushing the rock and amalgamating with mercury. Another place where gold is found is in river beds and ditches, when the gravel is collected and the gold separated by washing.

In the British Isles gold is found in small quantities. There are a few mines in North Wales, where it is won from rock of poor quality.

The greatest mines in the world are in Africa, the Rand mines, which are worked by large limited companies.
Up country, in Rhodesia, and also in West Africa, there is plenty of gold.

America is the next largest gold-producing country. Extensive operations are carried on in Alaska and California, and the metal is obtained in many other American states.

Australia is one of our colonies whose reputation as a gold producer is known to many. Gold was first discovered in 1851 in New South Wales and Victoria, and there are possibilities in gold mining in Queensland and Western Australia.
