DISCONTENT IN BOTH CITY AND COUNTRY

City Men Hankers For Farm Life; Country Men Covets Big Wages And Short Hours.

Two men from a nearby large city were in Chelsea one day recently. One had purchased a farm, and the other wished to rent one. They had been working in a large factory for wages—that is to say, big wages. They were leaving the city because they could accumulate nothing. Expenses were taking all they made. At the end of the year they were still figuring just a week ahead. Both were intelligent and both appeared honest, sincere and capable. Both were looking for what every man should look—something for a rainy day. They saw no chance to accumulate in the city.

On the other hand, a number of men in this vicinity have quit the farm this winter and several have gone to the city to get the big wages. They had accumulated on the farm, some a little and some considerable. All admit they were reasonably sure of their living, but the margin above a mere living uncertain. They resented the fact that they had no voice in the price they received for their products. They were unable to find help to work their farm. Here, we believe is the crux of the whole matter. Shortage of help and the entire dependence upon conditions beyond their control. The farmer feels that he will be better off where he can know, absolutely, what his return will be for a day's labor.

Yes, he will know exactly what he will receive for a day's work. But he does not know how much of that day's pay he is going to spend to live. In some cases, at least, he has no idea of how many more demands will be made upon him for that day's pay. He does not consider that there are a hundred places in the city to spend that day's pay to every one offered on the farm. He knows what the day's pay will be, but he has no idea how much he will have left at the end of the year, if any.

The city men going on the farm may, if they are good farmers, use good judgment, and have good luck, accumulate something after they have paid for their living. They will be their own bosses. They will work long hours at the hardest kind of labor and then will spend much of their evenings and Sunday planning. If they have no knowledge of farming they will soon become discouraged and probably quit.

We believe the same laws and rules that have governed successes and failures in past years hold good today. If a man is a skilled mechanic, has spent years learning a trade, and has no knowledge of a farm—he had better stick to his trade. If a farmer has his stock, tools, his health, and has lived on a farm all his life—he will probably do better there than any other place. There are exceptions to this, but not many.

RED CROSS NURSE COMMITTEE.

The Red Cross local nursing committee met yesterday afternoon at headquarters in the Wilkinson Bldg. Besides the members in the village, several from the country were present, including Mrs. Homer Stoffer of Lyndon and Dexter townships, Mrs. A. J. Easton of Lima, and Mrs. N. W. Laird of Sylvan. Miss Harvey of Ann Arbor, county supervising nurse, was present also.

TERRITORIAL ROAD PROJECT.

A joint meeting of the Jackson county and Washtenaw county boards of the road commission and members of the state highway department was held Friday to plan for the purchase of equipment for work on the road between Ann Arbor and Jackson. The work is already started, according to reports from the office of J. J. Cox, county roads engineer, and final arrangements were made for handling it. It is expected it will be completed about January 1, 1922, which date will mark the completion of the largest single road project ever undertaken in Michigan. It will be known as the federal aid project, No. 25. The work is to be done on joint account by the counties of Washtenaw and Jackson under the supervision of Mr. Cox.—Times-News.

ANNUAL TOWN MEETING

Reports and Estimates are Approved: Special Appropriation Voted For Chelsea Village Streets.

At the annual meeting of Sylvan township yesterday the usual reports and estimates were read and accepted and estimates of the funds needed for the ensuing year were read and voted as follows:

Contingent fund	$3,000
Highway improvement fund	2,000
Road repair fund	2,000
Poor fund	1,000
Town hall fund	700

A special fund of $1,000 was voted for the repair and improvement of the main highways in Chelsea village, but contrary to the custom of several years past no special appropriations were voted for roads in the township outside of Chelsea.

Last year's budget totalled $9,200, but the amounts voted yesterday total only $9,000, although there are increases in the contingent, poor and town hall funds, as compared with last year, totalling $1,400.

R. R. FARE STILL THREE CENTS.

Since the railroads reverted to private ownership the Michigan public utilities commission has received a number of inquiries concerning the legal rate of fare in this state. The legislature a year ago made the rate for passenger fare 2½ cents per mile, but the railroads continue to charge three cents. William M. Smith, the chairman of the public utilities commission, explains that provision was made by the government in turning the roads back to private ownership that no state regulations should interfere with present operating conditions for a period of six months. The state rate of 2½ cents per mile will not be effective until September 1, 1920.

BOY PAINFULLY BURNED.

William Dillon was painfully burned about his face and hands Saturday morning when he threw some old lubricating oil onto the furnace fire and the oil exploded. Although painfully injured, it is not thought that his burns will result in permanent injury.

When you get well, the doctor is someone akin to a miracle-man and when you don't, he's a dud. The human machine is far more complicated and much more abused than an automobile. Still, we often see autos standing in garages with "doctors" operating and consulting over their ill—and often they fail to make a cure.

How Diphtheria is Contracted.

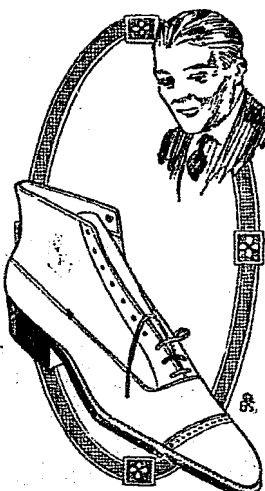

One often hears the expression, "My child caught a severe cold which One often hears the expression, developed into diphtheria," when the fact is that the cold had simply left the little one particularly susceptible to the wandering diphtheria germ. If your child has a cold when diphtheria is prevalent you should take him out of school and keep him off the street until fully recovered, as there is a hundred times more danger of his taking diphtheria when he has a cold. When Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is given it quickly cures the cold and lessens the danger of diphtheria or any other germ disease being contracted. Adv.
