

The Chelsea Standard

THE CHELSEA HERALD, Established 1871.
THE CHELSEA STANDARD, Established 1899.

CHELSEA, MICHIGAN, THURSDAY, MAY 6, 1920.

VOL. 49, NO. 44

CANNED GOODS

All these things that help prepare a quick and tasty meal. We handle only the best brands, put up by responsible canners.

STAPLE GROCERIES

A complete stock of Staple Groceries that are always fresh. Groceries of that quality which means savory dishes.

HENRY H. FENN

ALWAYS BUSY—BUT NOT TOO BUSY.

Let Jones Repair Your Ford

Both Mechanical and Electrical Work.
He has Genuine Ford Parts and he Guarantees Satisfaction.

Between Main St.
and M. C. Depot

JONES' GARAGE

PHONE 133—CHELSEA.

HOLMES & WALKER

WIRE FENCE

FARM FIELD FENCE

POULTRY FENCE

HOG FENCE

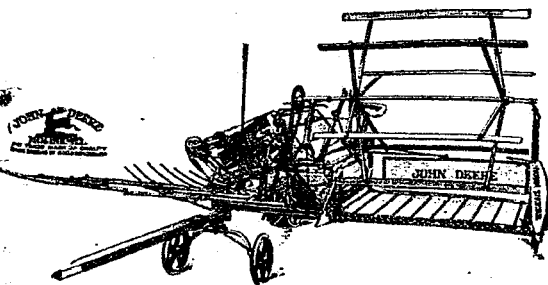

ALL NUMBER 9 FENCE

FENCE FOR EVERYBODY

Just Received

A CARLOAD OF ROYAL AMERICAN WOVEN
WIRE FENCE

Wire of All Kinds and Steel Fence Posts

WHEN YOU THINK OF BUYING A BINDER
ALWAYS THINK OF THE JOHN DEERE

FURNITURE

Furniture is scarce, but we were fortunate in securing a nice shipment. See us when in need of anything in this line.
Also a complete line of Rugs and Linoleums.

GRAIN DRILLS

See our line of Superior and John Deere Grain Drills.

HOLMES & WALKER

We Always Treat You Right.

Big K. of P. Night, Monday.

Next Monday night there will be "big doings, among the Knights of Pythias of Chelsea. On that night they will entertain the members of Progress Lodge, of Jackson, who will come to Chelsea seventy-five strong on the 7:34 car on the D. U. R. The local members will meet them, and headed by a drum corps will march to Maccabee hall, where seven candidates will be given the work in the third rank by the members of the Jackson degree team, which contains several "All State" men.

After the initiatory work they will go to K. of P. hall, where a luncheon will be served. After the luncheon the visitors will put on a few vaudeville stunts, the main features of which will be by B. F. Titus, one-string violinist, "Sunshine" Jones, banjoist, C. Weller, pianist, and A. J. Kane, monologue artist.

Few Criminal Cases on May Docket.

But seven criminal cases are listed on the circuit court docket for the May term of the circuit court, which opened Monday. All were carried over from the last term.

A total of 143 cases is listed for the May term, as against 154 listed for the March term. Forty-one of the 143 are cases in which no progress has been made for a year, and many of these will not be taken up. This will bring the number actually coming before the court to an unusually low total.

Two of the criminal cases listed for the May term have already been disposed of, so that but five remain to be considered. There are 45 issues of fact listed, 50 chancery cases, and 41 cases which have made no progress for a year.

One of the hardest fought cases of the term is expected to be the issue of fact in the case of Amariah F. Freeman versus Homer C. Millen and May Millen. The writ of attachment in this case was filed February 2, and the case was put over at the March term of court.

Libel suits brought by Miss Helen Jackson against two Ypsilanti newspapers are listed among the issues of fact. The number of suits for divorce total 25.

W. J. Terry.

Word has been received here of the death in Portland, Oregon, of W. J. Terry, for a considerable time a resident of Lima, and well known to many of the people of Chelsea and vicinity. From about 1900 he with his wife and youngest son, Robert, lived on the old Pierce farm east of Chelsea. Mrs. Terry was the youngest daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Darius Pierce, pioneer residents of Lima, and sister of Mrs. Julia P. Bowron, of Ypsilanti, died September 21, 1919, in Auburn, California, having been taken ill while en route from Florida to Portland, where they were to visit their son, Winthrop Terry, and family.

Mr. Terry was a native of Aurora, Illinois, where he was born in 1841. He served in the civil war, and after leaving the army came to Ann Arbor to attend the University of Michigan. While there he met Miss Cynthia Pierce, to whom he was married soon after, at "The Old Stone Fort," as the Pierce home in Lima was always called. They lived for many years in Illinois, being for a considerable period in Chicago. There, about twenty-five years ago, while in the employ of the Pullman Car Co., Mr. Terry suffered an accident, being struck by a street car. He apparently recovered and the results were not thought to have been at all serious, but after a time his health commenced to fail slowly, and it is now thought the injury of so many years ago was at least a contributory cause of his death. He had been failing rapidly for many weeks, and on April 1st suffered a stroke which resulted fatally seventeen days later. The funeral was at Portland.

Mr. Terry was always interested in the best movements for political and social reform, and in earlier years was very active in temperance work. He was a man of great personal charm who could talk or write of many subjects most interestingly. Readers of the Standard will recall the splendid letters he has written in the past from Florida, where he and Mrs. Terry have spent several years, and from elsewhere. To those who knew him well, he will always be remembered for his unfailing kindness of disposition and his characteristic of finding something good to say of everyone.

He leaves two sons, Winthrop, who with his wife and three daughters live in Portland, Oregon, and Robert A., who since his return from service in France, has been in the employ of some of the large oil companies, and at present is on a trip through Columbia, S. A.

Regular meeting of W. R. C. will be held Friday afternoon, May 14, at 2 o'clock.

The closing meeting of the B. V. R. C. for the year will be held at the home of Mrs. G. W. Palmer, Monday evening, May 10. Scrub lunch supper at 6 o'clock, followed by business meeting and program.

CHURCH CIRCLES.

Wake Up!

By Rev. H. R. Beatty.

"Take him back to the farm, John, and teach him to milk cows," was the advice given a father by the employer of his son a few years ago, but the son walking the streets of a great city suddenly awakened up to his own possibilities, and soon won for himself the title of the city's merchant prince, and Marshal Field's name became well known on either side of the sea.

The crying need of this hour is that people wake up. The American citizen needs to awaken up to the conditions that have developed while he has been so busy with his own personal affairs or indulging in the sleep of indifference that he did not note the bondage in which he has become ensnared. Wake up, Mr. Citizen, and help remove the recognized evils from our body politic.

The Christian Church needs to awaken up to at least three things. In America there are approximately 40,000,000 whose names are on the membership rolls of the several church organizations. This membership together with non-members who are friendly to her interests, could accomplish any task to which they might direct their efforts. Her man power is sufficiently strong in every way to furnish in abundance leaders and common laborers enough to carry out every line of work in which the church ought to be engaged. She has financial strength enough, and more, to adequately supply money enough to meet the demands of every case, and last and foremost, she has recourse to Divine strength through which she can prove herself more than conqueror over any force which may be arrayed against her. She needs to awaken up to her strength.

We believe we see the dawning of the day when the church is to awaken up to her strength, her weaknesses and her possibilities, and with a renewed courage, a greater co-operation and a closer affiliation of her organizations and membership undertake to do the whole task that God placed her in the world to do.

METHODIST EPISCOPAL.

H. R. Beatty, Preacher.

Mothers' Day will be observed at this church Sunday morning, the pastor preaching an appropriate sermon.

Bible school at 11:15 o'clock. Combined Epworth League and evening service at 7:30 o'clock. The pastor will speak on "The World's First Tragedy."

All are cordially invited to each of these services.

CONGREGATIONAL.

Rev. P. W. Dierberger, Pastor.

Mothers' Day will be observed with appropriate exercises at this church. In the morning the service will be at 10 o'clock and the minister will have for his subject, "The Mother of Your Heart."

Sunday school at 11:15 o'clock. The evening service at 7:30 o'clock. The minister will speak on "Women of Strength."

Brotherhood will meet Tuesday evening, May 11, at the church. The men will entertain the women. A fine program and refreshments.

ST. PAUL'S CHURCH.

G. W. Krause, Pastor.

Sunday morning service at 10 o'clock.

Sunday school at 11 o'clock.

ST. MARY CHURCH.

Rev. Henry VanDyke, Rector.

Low Mass at 8 a. m.
High Mass at 10 a. m.
Baptism at 11 a. m.
Mass on week days at 8 a. m.

SALEM GERMAN M. E. CHURCH.

Rev. H. Bau, Pastor.

Sunday school at 9:30 a. m.
Preaching at 10:30.
Evening service at 7.

LIMA NEWS.

F. A. Glenn spent Saturday in Ypsilanti.

Emanuel Wacker motored to Ohio Monday.

P. G. Schnable of Chelsea, called on J. F. Waltrous, Sunday.

Chas. D. Jenks spent one day of last week in Manchester.

George Gage, of Sylvan, spent Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Jenks.

Mr. and Mrs. Emanuel Sadt and children, of Ann Arbor, spent Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Schiller.

Mrs. Barbara Weber, who has been quite ill at the home of her daughter, Mrs. George Koenigster, is somewhat improved.

Craftsman Club Coming to Chelsea.

On Friday evening of this week, the Craftsman Club of the University of Michigan will come to Chelsea and exemplify the work of the third degree at Masonic Temple, as guests of Olive Lodge. In the afternoon, Olive Lodge will confer the third degree on three candidates. Supper will be served at 6:30 o'clock, after which the Craftsman Club will have charge of the work. The work of this degree team is said to be very fine, approaching perfection, and the members of Olive Lodge are looking forward to a treat.

Mrs. Elizabeth Katherine Girschbach.

Elizabeth Katherine Rohrer was born in Wurtemberg, Germany, October 8, 1836, and died at her home on Garfield street, Chelsea, Wednesday morning, May 5, 1920.

She came to America in 1854, and settled in Ann Arbor. She was united in marriage with Frederick Girschbach in 1857. They made their home in Ann Arbor until 1866 when the family moved to Chelsea.

To this union eight children were born, four of whom are living.

Mrs. Girschbach was a charter member of St. Paul's church and a member of the Ladies Aid Society.

She had been in failing health for several years, but her demise came rather suddenly, as she was not considered in a serious condition.

She is survived by four daughters, Mrs. Elizabeth Wackenhut, Mrs. O. L. Hoffman, Mrs. C. Lehman and Miss Pauline Girschbach, all of Chelsea, three grandchildren, one great grandchild, one sister, Mrs. John Seid of Francisco, and several nephews and nieces.

The funeral will be held Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the home, and 2:30 o'clock from St. Paul's church. Rev. G. W. Krause officiating. Interment in the family lot in Oak Grove cemetery.

Mothers' Day Set for May 9.

Governor Sleeper called on Michigan, Friday, to observe Sunday, May 9, as Mothers' Day, in the following proclamation:

"Although its observance dates back but a few years, Mothers' Day has already become a national institution and is fittingly and tenderly celebrated by all classes and conditions of people throughout the land.

"It is well that we should pause amid the hurry and bustle of life and let our thoughts go back to the days of long ago, as we cherish the memory of the mothers who left us. While they were with us their chief concern was our welfare and comfort and happiness, and the mothers of today are animated by the same spirit of devotion and sacrifice. Indeed, nowhere in human life is the spirit of unselfish service so well exemplified as in the devotion of mothers to their homes and families.

"That we may pay a special tribute of affection to them others who still live and honor the memory of those who have gone from us, I designate Sunday, May 9, next as Mothers' Day, and call upon our people, both old and young, to gather in their places of worship and take part in services appropriate to the day and by the wearing of a red flower for the living mother and a white for the dear departed, to symbolize their love and reverence for the mothers of the nation.

"Let me suggest, too, that absent sons and daughters take this occasion to visit the mother in the old home, or where such a visit is impossible, that they send a message of cheer and greeting. By this may mothers know that in the rush of affairs they are not forgotten.

"I further request the people of Michigan, Sunday, to display the United States flag in their homes or other suitable places, as a fitting expression of their desire to pay homage to American motherhood."

SYLVAN.

John Doyle fell a few days ago and injured his left side.

Noah West spent Saturday with relatives in Ann Arbor.

Charles West is now employed by John Dunn on the Lyons farm.

Dr. and Mrs. Lyons, of Jackson, spent Saturday with Mr. and Mrs. John Dunn.

Mrs. H. H. Boyd spent last Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Clarence Wells.

Miss Nellie Dunn, of Jackson, spent the week-end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Dunn.

Ernest Welch and son George, of Jackson, spent the week-end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles West.

LYNDON.

Born, on Sunday, May 2, 1920, to Mr. and Mrs. John W. Tucker, a son, Mrs. Catherine Sullivan, of Chelsea, has been spending some time at the home of Mrs. M. D. Sullivan, assisting in the care of Mrs. Sullivan, who has been ill for several weeks.

You Receive Full Value
FOR EVERY DOLLAR SPENT IN

Freeman's Store

Farm House Coffee, a 55c value..... 49c
Fort Dearborn Jelly Powder..... 10c
Sun Beam Pineapple, the best on the market, can..... 40c
Spaghetti, Egg Noodles and Macaroni, 3 packages..... 25c
Fresh Ginger Snaps, pound..... 20c
Farm House Soda Crackers, pound..... 15c
Extra Good Pumpkin, 2 cans..... 25c
Extra Fancy Lima Beans, pound..... 15c
BLUE RIBBON PEACHES, practically peeled, package..... 20c
PRUNES, an excellent spring tonic, small size 2 pounds..... 25c
KARO SYRUP, (you can use Karo in the place of sugar) blue label, 5 pound can, 45c. Red label, 5 pound can..... 50c
Assorted Jellies, per glass..... 15c
Pancake Flour, 2 packages..... 25c

FREEMAN'S

The Busy Store on the Corner

Nucoa Nut Margarine

The only Oleo that you can not distinguish from Real Butter. It has that sweet nutty flavor found only in the Butter substitutes made from Pure Oils as Nucoa Nut is. The only ingredients used in its manufacture are Peanut and Coconut Oil, and churned in sweet milk.

Use V. C. Plant Food

For your house plants and vegetables. A necessary fertilizer for all garden and pot plants. We have it in several sizes. Try a small can and get wonderful results.

Special

A few barrels of TEA TABLE Flour at the old price.

O. D. SCHNEIDER.

Who Wants an Imitation?

WOULD you call on your local merchant and ask him for "imitation" sugar, or raisins, or coffee? Would you ask him to sell you a pair of shoes made of something "just as good" as leather? Or a suit of clothes "made for" a man, whether or not it fits you?

Get the Genuine International Repairs

When you need repairs for your IHC Farm Equipment, buy the genuine repairs. See that this trade-mark appears on each piece.

Genuine IHC repairs are made from the original patterns—all others are copied from copies. Genuine IHC repairs are made of the same material, have the same finish, fit as accurately, and wear just as long as similar parts purchased with the original implement or machine.

We are the Authorized IHC Dealers

There is one certain and infallible way to secure genuine IHC repairs—buy them from us. And remember that International service, rendered by us, can only be 100 per cent right when International machines are equipped with genuine International repairs.

Chelsea Hardware Co.

Sure Relief

BIG ULCER ALL HEALED

"Here is another letter that makes me happy," says Peterson, of Buffalo. "One that I would rather have than a thousand dollars."

"Money isn't everything in this world. There is many a big hearted, rich man who would give all he has on earth to be able to produce a remedy with such mighty healing power as Peterson's Ointment, to sell at all druggists for 25 cents a large box."

"Dear Sirs:—I was an untold sufferer from old running sores and ulcers. I had tried most everything without any relief from pain. A friend told me of your wonderful ointment and the first box took away the pain that had not left me before in years. And after using just nine dollars' worth of the salve I am cured. The ulcer was 3 inches by 2 inches, it is healed and I can walk. Never, never will I be without Peterson's again."

"You may use this to recommend your ointment, if you wish. I cannot say enough to praise it." Yours truly, Mrs. Albert Southworth, Medina, N. Y. Mail orders filled by Peterson Ointment Co., Inc., Buffalo, N. Y.

UNCLE SAM

a SCRAP chew in PLUG form MOIST & FRESH
Liggett & Sons Tobacco Co.

Texas-Ranger Producing & Refining Company

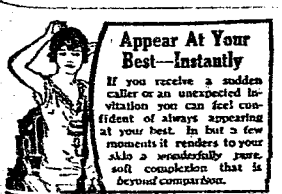

Both an investment and a speculation.

Twelfth consecutive monthly dividend of 2% paid April 1st.
Earnings of $500,000 for 1919 exceeded 55% on total outstanding capital stock.

Present drilling campaign should increase above earnings in 1920.

Officially listed on New York Curb. Write for particulars.

C. D. Knapp, Jr. & Co.
Established 1890
149 Broadway New York

Appear At Your Best—Instantly
If you receive a sudden call or an unexpected invitation you can feel confident of always appearing at your best. In but a few moments it renders your skin a wonderfully pure, soft complexion that is beyond comparison.

Gouraud's Oriental Cream
FERTI HOPKINS & SON, New York

why?

A man at sixty years of age is either a failure or a success. BEECHAM'S PILLS have been made for sixty years and have the largest sale of any medicine in the world! Millions use

BEECHAM'S PILLS

Sold everywhere. In boxes, 10c, 25c.

ABSORBINE

Reduces Bursal Enlargements, Thickened, Swollen Tendons, Sprains, Bruises or Strains, Stops Spavin Lameness, allays pain. Does not blister, remove the hair or lay up the horse. $2.50 a bottle. At druggists or delivered. Book 1 R free.

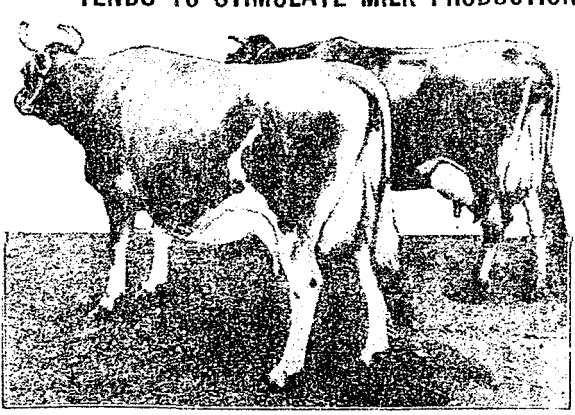

ABSORBINE, JR., for mankind—an antiseptic liniment for bruises, cuts, wounds, sprains, painful swollen veins or glands. It heals and soothes. $1.25 a bottle at druggists or postpaid. Will tell you more if you write. Made in U. S. A. by W. F. YOUNG, Inc., 218 Temple St., Springfield, Mass.

ITCH!

Money back without question if HUNT'S SALVE fails in the treatment of Itch, Ringworm, Tetter or other itching skin diseases. Price 5c at all drug stores or direct from A. B. Hunt's Salve Co., Boston, Mass.

W. N. U., DETROIT, NO. 19-1920.

FEED CONTAINING PROPER INGREDIENTS TENDS TO STIMULATE MILK PRODUCTION

Take Advantage of Their Maternal Tendencies to Make Them Profitable Producers.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

A dairy cow's yearly production depends largely upon the conditions of feed at calving time and upon the feed and care she receives during the first six weeks after freshening.

The dry period before freshening gives the cow a rest and tones her up. When a cow gives birth to her calf, it is nature's plan for her to produce enough milk to feed her offspring. Man has taken advantage of nature's plan and by scientific feeding and care has lengthened the milk-producing period, say dairy specialists from the United States department of agriculture.

Stimulate Milk Production.

The dairyman has found by experience that an abundance of feed containing the proper ingredients tends to stimulate milk production. He feeds protein, because protein is the principal constituent in the casein in milk, and a cow cannot produce a large amount of milk without a large supply of the right kind of feed. Protein also makes muscle and supplies other needs of the body. Another important reason for feeding protein feeds is that the nitrogen in protein feeds seems to stimulate the milk-secreting glands to great activity when fed liberally during the first few weeks after freshening.

Production a Guide for Feeding.

In order to take advantage of this impulse to produce more milk, the practical dairyman weighs the grain fed to each fresh cow daily, and also weighs the milk she gives. He starts the fresh cow by feeding five pounds daily of a laxative grain ration. He increases the grain ration one-half pound one day and compares it with the pounds of milk produced during the next two days. If the increased amount of grain has resulted in a corresponding increase in milk, the grain is again increased on the next day. This process is continued, and the grain increased every second or third day, as long as the cow continues to make a profitable increase in quantity of milk produced. The laxative feeds are gradually taken out of the ration after a few days and grain substituted, according to the need and economy of the ration.

This method of working the fresh cow up to give a larger quantity of milk may take from two to four weeks. The digestive system may be overtaxed if some cows respond to increased feed more slowly than others. Best results cannot be obtained by attempting to bring a cow into her full milk flow during the first week following freshening. Even though the fresh cow does not go off her feed her digestive system may be overtaxed and the keen edge worn off her appetite so her milk flow is not brought up to its maximum.

Checking Up Economy of Production.

When milking the fresh cow, the dairyman continues to milk a little longer than usual in order to stimulate the milk-secreting glands to produce more milk. This is simply an imitation of the calf's efforts to satisfy its appetite and results in maintaining the flow of milk over a relatively long period.

It is the business of every dairyman to find the maximum economical productive capacity of each cow in his herd as she freshens. This is done by the method described. If it is found the maximum economical production of a fresh cow is over 50 pounds daily, it will not be difficult to keep her producing at a 25 or 30 pound clip for the next six months or even longer. But it is practically impossible to stimulate her to maximum economical production if she is allowed to produce under her capacity during the first 30 days of the lactation period.

or from farmers indicate a widespread disposition to cut down plantings so that the work of cultivating can be attended to by the farmer himself or by members of his family. The assertion that farmers cannot pay the high wages demanded in competition with other industries and make a profit on their products is frequently made. Many farmers, also, declare it is unfair to them to be under the necessity of working ten, twelve or more hours a day when the tendency in other industries is toward a shorter working day, and a decreased output.

HOME CONSUMPTION OF PORK

Average for Each Farm Family is Over 500 Pounds—Utilize Waste From Kitchen.

Nearly two-thirds of the meat eaten on the farm is pork, the average farm consumption of pork being over 500 pounds per family. The greater portion of the pork products used by farmers is produced on the home farm. Swine specialists of the United States department of agriculture call attention to the fact that a small number of pigs can be raised cheaply. Kitchen and garden wastes, and sometimes dairy by-products, are available for feed. The farmer usually kills the hogs and dresses them on his own place. The hogs furnish a good variety of meat and also lard. The smokehouse, a common improvement on the farm, provides a convenient way for curing pork.

LIVE STOCK NOTES

Exercise is essential for swine.

Fall litters generally develop more runs than spring litters.

The low prices of horses has influenced the less progressive to stick to the old methods.

Disinfect swine lots and houses every week or so with coal-tar dips or crude oil to prevent epidemics of disease.

Extensive tests at the Wisconsin station indicate that whey is worth about half as much as skim milk for hog feeding.

Along with this "better state" movement let us keep in mind something which is almost as essential and that is better feeding.

ALTER NAMES TO AVOID RIDICULE

Washington Lawyer Says Business Has Been Humming Ever Since War.

MANY GERMAN NAMES SHED

Some Are Turned Into English Equivalents and Others Are Replaced by Plain American Names—Simple to Make Alteration.

Washington.—A young man dropped into a lawyer's office here the other day.

"I want to change my name," he said sadly. "I'm a locksmith. I have my name on the door—R. Ware—and customers are always cracking jokes and pretending to be afraid of me. People even come in just to make silly puns and take up my time."

"Why don't you write your first name out?" suggested the attorney.

"Oh, that would be worse. My name's Barry Ware—it sounds like 'bow-wow'."

The lawyer drew up a petition for the young man, to be called Barry Ward, and in three weeks the change was effected to the client's joy.

Many German Names Changed.

The lawyer who told us this story says business in changing names has been humming ever since the war. Families who had been in this country for four generations, and who prided themselves on their American qualities, woke up in 1916 and 1917 to find their German sounding patronyms were regarded with disfavor, if not with suspicion. There was just one remedy, and a great many took it. German names were legally turned into English equivalents, or were replaced by plain American Smith, Carter or Johnson.

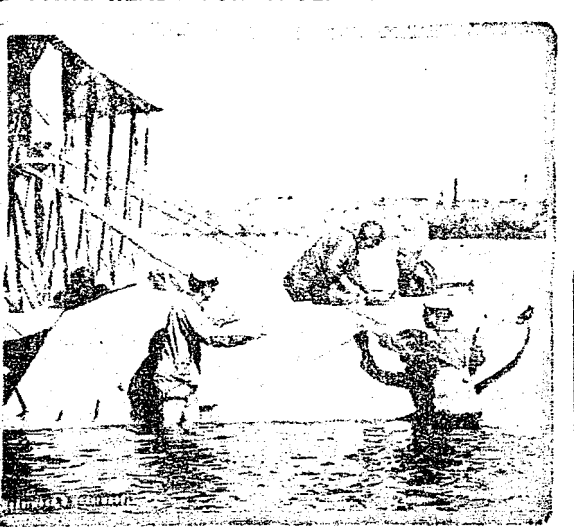

In some cases, owners of German names desired changes as a means of showing they were not hyphenated Americans. In others, it was a matter of business. Such names as Kaiser and Hindenburg, the owners stated, were injuring their trade, as Americans regarded them as German firms and were prejudiced by war associations.

Names besides those of German sound sometimes have an undesirable effect on business. Such names seem to be discarded by their owners in greater numbers than ever before. These are chiefly the masterpieces of the Russian, Greek, Italian and Slav languages. Some of these combinations contain the best part of the alphabet and defy pronunciation, let alone spelling.

Occasionally a clever man makes capital of a peculiar name, as the man named Ensom, who once advertised "Ensom's pills" all over town. But as a rule the odd name which suggests amusing comparisons is regarded as something to put up with, like awkward hands or a stiff neck.

Most names brought to court for revision are surnames. Now and again,

GETTING READY FOR A FLIGHT AT SAN DIEGO

United States naval aviators getting a plane ready for a flight at the North Island naval-air station at San Diego, Cal., the largest naval-air station on the west coast.

however, a Christian name which was worried the owner, like an old man of the sea, is happily discarded. It is hard to get the point of view of parents who give their children ridiculous names merely to gratify an overdeveloped sense of humor.

A governor of a certain state, by name Hogg, will always be remembered for the fact that he named his two daughters Ima and Ura. At least one of these girls, we are told, married early, thereby spelling the point of the father's little joke.

Still more outlandish is the record in British history of a father who desired to name his child Beelzebub. When the boy was brought to church to be christened the bishop refused to bestow the name upon him, saying it was not a fit name to be sanctioned by the church.

The process of changing an undesirable name is simple. Here in Washington all you have to do is file a petition with the Supreme court of the District of Columbia, saying it wastes too much of your friends' time to call you by your proper name, or whatever reason you may have for the change. You must swear that you are not abandoning your old name to avoid debts or any demands, against you. Then you have a notice of the change of name printed in a local newspaper once a week for three weeks. At the end of that time, if nobody comes forward to object—and nobody ever does—the court formally grants your petition and you go forth with whatever name you have picked out. Considering how easy it is, we wonder that there are so many people with names that are unimpeachable to say the least.—Frederic A. Haskin, in Chicago Daily News.

Drive On Sparrows

700,000 of the Pests Are Killed in Utah.

State-Wide Campaign Results in Saving of More Than $100,000 for the Farmers.

Washington.—Seven hundred thousand English sparrows, each eating six quarts of wheat a year, would mean a feed bill of more than $131,000. Therefore the killing of 700,000 English sparrows means that amount of money saved for the farmers concerned. And nearly 700,000 sparrows were killed in a state-wide campaign in which 753 Utah farmers joined forces to get rid of the pests during the winter months.

County agents helped in the campaign, which used 5,233 pounds of poisoned bait. In most cases, the bait was made of wheat, poisoned with strychnine in accordance with a recipe sent out by the biological survey of the United States department of agriculture. It was put up in one-quarter-pound paper bags in the county agent's office. Full instructions were printed on the bags for the use of the poison. Each co-operator receiving the bait agreed to report on the results. Usually the sparrows were enticed for a few days by putting unpoisoned bait in places not frequented by other birds and also inaccessible to the poultry of the farm. Then a few grains of poisoned wheat were put out each day. The dead sparrows were gathered up, counted, and either burned or buried every few days to prevent the sparrow population from becoming suspicious. The number of sparrows counted by each farmer was reported to the county agent or the county agent at the end of the season.

As many as 240 dead sparrows were gathered up as the result of a single package of poisoned wheat. It is believed that where cure was used in placing the poisoned bait an average of 75 sparrows were killed with each one-quarter-pound package. In each of several counties 50,000 to 100,000 sparrows were destroyed.

Income of Fake Cripple Rated at $69,000 a Year

With a perfectly good right arm, hand, and leg, Arthur Harrison, beggar, admitted in a New York city court he had received $13 in a half hour from sympathetic passersby.

Magistrate Steers estimated this income to be at the rate of $29,000 a year. He sent the beggar to the penitentiary for six months.

FOND OF ICE CREAM

was what Judge Sam Patten had told the three bailiffs the night he ordered the cowboy jury locked up for the remainder of the historic trial in which it was sitting.

Those orders were a signal for every juror to satisfy the least whim he had developed in long, dreary months of riding ranges and facing the wind, sun and sand of the desert.

With one man the chief demand had been for talcum after a shave. Another is forcing the county to furnish him with a luxurious hand-kerchief which contains olive oil, as a relief from the brand purchased at the crossroads grocery.

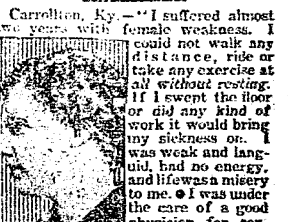

But with one juror the demand is for ice cream cones. Who the disappointing member of the jury is no one can tell, but that does not alter the fact that all Tombstone knows his failings for vanilla ice cream.

Just before court convenes in the morning a bailiff makes a hasty call at the soda fountain.

Some of the pickers were caught under street cars, but were recovered without serious damage.

LIFE WAS A MISERY TO HER

Says this Woman Until Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Carrollton, Ky.—"I suffered almost two years with female troubles. I could not walk any distance, ride or take any exercise at all without resting. If I went the floor did any kind of work it would bring my sickness on. I was weak and languid, had no energy, and life was a misery to me. I was under the care of a good physician for several months and tried other remedies. I had read of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and decided to try it. After taking twelve bottles I found myself much improved and I took six more. I have never had any more trouble in that respect since. I have done all kinds of work and at present am an attendant at a state hospital and am feeling fine. I have recommended your Vegetable Compound to dozens of my friends and shall always recommend it."—LILLIAN THARE, 224 S. 6th St., Carrollton, Ky.

If you have any symptom about which you would like to know write to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., for helpful advice given free of charge.

HIS CHANCE TO GET EVEN

Ex-Buck's Opportunity for Revenge on Former Top Sergeant Too Good to Miss.

The ex-buck was back at his old pre-war trade in which the tonic consisted of a pocket flashlight and black silk handkerchief. Inside the darkened house all was silent, save for the heavy breathing of the man who lay asleep on the bed.

The burglar gathered up his spoils—switch, money and a few odds and ends of more or less value—and turned to make his departure. Then, obeying an impulse, he turned the light on the man in the bed and let it creep up until it reached the face.

"My God!" he gasped. "My old top sergeant!"

For a moment he hesitated. Then, forming a sudden resolution, he slipped over to the bureau and—

Set the alarm for 3 a. m.—Home Sector.

Tree Surgery.

Another new and growing work akin to forestry, is tree surgery. This was originated by an Ohio man, who now maintains a school to train his workers, all of whom find employment with the company at the satisfactory completion of the course. This work is interesting, scientific, well paid and gives a boy a wholesome out-of-door life.—Hoy's Life.

One Girl and the Others.

"Are you your mother's only little girl?" asked the kindly old man.

"Yes, sir," replied the five-year-old.

"The rest of us is boys."—London Aspers.

BETTER DEAD

Life is a burden when the body is racked with pain. Everything worries and the victim becomes despondent and downhearted. To bring back the sunshine take

GOLD MEDAL HARLEM OIL CAPSULES

The national remedy of Holland for over 200 years; it is an enemy of all pains resulting from kidney, liver and uric acid troubles. All druggists, three sizes. Look for the name Gold Medal on every box and accept no imitation.

20 SONGS $1.00

To quickly introduce latest 20 dreamy songs, "In the Moonlight" and "Moonbeams" (Whispers of Love) we will send the above and 15 other songs by return mail for $1.00.

JAY LATHROP
Music Publisher
4442 South Union Ave. Chicago, Ill.

"Bismarck"—For Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Grip, Cough, Nerve, Headache, Lumbago, Migraine, Pains, Free particular: 30 days' treatment, 30. Money back guarantee. Hialeah Laboratories, Hialeah, Fla.

Eczema

MONEY BACK without question if Hunt's Salve fails in the treatment of Eczema, Itch, Ringworm, Tetter, etc. Hunt's Salve has relieved hundreds of cases of these troubles. You can't lose on our money back guarantee. Price 25c at drug stores. TODAY, Write to at drug stores. A. B. Hunt's Salve Co., Boston, Mass.

HUNT'S Salve

Let Cuticura Be Your Beauty Doctor

Box 25c, Ointment 25c and 50c, Talcum 25c.

RESERVES POSITIVELY REMOVED BY CUTICURA. CUTICURA IS THE ONLY PREPARED SKIN TREATMENT. CUTICURA IS THE ONLY PREPARED SKIN TREATMENT.

FORDSON

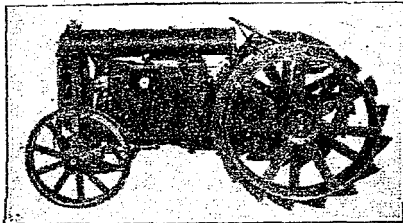

TRADE MARK

FARM TRACTOR

When Henry Ford set about building the Fordson tractor, he had a thorough understanding of just what it should be and what it should do. His early life on the farm gave him a deep insight into the daily life of the farmer; his mechanical genius saw the type of tractor needed. And for more than twelve years he experimented over more than 7,000 acres of land in different kinds of soil, with different crops.

So he built the Fordson. It is so simple that a schoolboy can operate it. It is low in first cost. It is lowest in operating cost and Fordson parts and Fordson service are always to be had promptly from the dealer.

The Fordson is a profitable investment. It can be used every working day in the year. It is an inexpensive power plant and it will lighten your work.

Don't delay ordering your Fordson tractor. The demand is greater than the supply.

Made by Henry Ford & Son and sold by

PALMER MOTOR SALES

CHELSEA, MICHIGAN
Insist on Genuine Ford Parts

TIRES!

Don't forget we have the best bargains in town.

PALMER'S GARAGE

CHELSEA, MICHIGAN

Advance Shopping For Commencement

All people know the benefits of early shopping, and this year, with the shortage of goods, and very hard to get, is one of all years for early shopping. My stock is now complete from Collar Buttons to Diamonds.

Select Your Watches, Diamonds and Jewelry Now and with a very small deposit you may have them laid aside for you until the eventful day.

W.F. KANTLEHNER

Jeweler and Optometrist
CORNER MAIN AND MIDDLE STREETS, CHELSEA, MICH.

YOUR CAREER

Is what you make it. You have the power within you to ruin it or make an honorable one with credit to yourself.

We never saw a man down and out who made it a rule of his life to build up a bank account.

Banking encourages thrift.

Farmers & Merchants Bank

MEMBER FEDERAL RESERVE SYSTEM

The Chelsea Standard

Published every Thursday.

O. T. HOOVER, Publisher.

Subscription price: $1.50 the year; six months, 75 cents; three months, 40 cents.
To foreign countries, $2.00 the year.

Entered in the postoffice at Chelsea, Mich., as second-class matter.

PERSONALS

Miss Margaret Miller spent Monday in Detroit.

Mrs. Ella Monroe is visiting relatives in Howell.

Mrs. A. B. Clark spent the first of the week in Detroit.

Mr. and Mrs. George Hendricks spent Sunday in Detroit.

Mrs. Ross Salisbury, of Milan, is visiting her sister, Mrs. R. D. Gates.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Benton, of Jackson, spent the week-end in Chelsea.

Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Hoeg, of Ann Arbor, were Chelsea visitors Tuesday.
Geo. H. Mitchell, of Chicago, spent the week-end with friends in Chelsea.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred E. Belser and daughter spent Sunday in Ann Arbor.

Henry Gazier, of Highland Park, spent the week-end at Cavanaugh Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Walker and daughters were Ann Arbor visitors Sunday.

Miss Minnie Howe is spending this week with relatives and friends in Detroit.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Burg and Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Burg spent Sunday in Ann Arbor.

G. W. Foster and son of Grass Lake, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. Hummel, Sunday.

Mrs. N. F. Prudden and daughter Miss Bernice, and J. A. Palmer spent Sunday in Howell.

Mrs. A. K. Jones attended the funeral of her grandfather in Battle Creek, Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. A. Runciman left on Saturday for a week's visit with relatives in Lansing.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Norman, of Jackson, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Snyder, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Adney G. Barnett, of Plymouth, have been visiting friends in Chelsea this week.

Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Brown, of Jackson, spent Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Eder, sr.

Miss Edna Lambert spent Sunday at the home of her sister, Mrs. Emmett Sargent, of Jackson.

Bert Steinbach, of Detroit, spent the week-end at the home of his mother, Mrs. Ada Steinbach.

Miss Leona Belser, of Highland Park, spent Friday night at the home of her brother, Fred E. Belser.

Mrs. A. K. Collins spent Friday and Saturday in Detroit, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Adam Kalmbach.

Mrs. John Walsh and son Lewis, of Webster, spent Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Farrell.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Schmidt entertained Mrs. Arthur Mitchell and sons, of Detroit, over the week-end.

Mrs. Fred Grover, of Fraser, spent the first of the week at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Kent Walworth.

Misses Leona Pratt and Ethel Taylor, of Detroit, were guests of Misses Mary and Nellie Hall over the week-end.

Miss Winifred Eder, of Detroit, spent the week-end at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Eder.

Study Use of Sulphur on Crops.

Investigation to find the value of applying sulphur to Michigan soils is being carried out by Dr. M. M. McCool, of the soils department at the Michigan Agricultural College, who is working in conjunction with a number of farmers of the state who are particularly interested in the use of this necessary element for plant growth.

Tests already carried out in Cass and VanBuren counties, where sulphur has been added to soils by Dr. McCool and G. M. Grantham, have shown results not to be of marked value in the case of several crops grown. Feeling that the question has not been solved in the humid regions the Michigan soil workers are putting out several tests in different parts of the state this spring.

Dr. McCool advises that farmers apply acid phosphate (a ton of which carries about 120 pounds of sulphur) in liberal amounts to all but a small part of the field. Then to a strip of the remainder they should add sulphur at the rate of forty pounds to the acre, as a top dressing for alfalfa or clover, and observe the results. In this way a definite check can be obtained.

"Sulphur occurs in many of Michigan's soils in somewhat smaller amounts than phosphorus," says Dr. McCool. "About eighteen pounds are washed out of an acre of soil annually. Some, but not all, of that removed from the soil is made good by rain and air that enter the soil mass, and it seems that sulphur should eventually become deficient in soils unless it is added in some form.

"There are several carriers of this element of plant food that are used; namely, manure, ammonium sulphate, potassium sulphate, calcium sulphate or land plaster, acid phosphate and pure sulphur. Pure sulphur and ammonium sulphate when used freely on soils deficient in lime or without its application, markedly increase soil acidity and thus become injurious. Where lime is abundant or is applied this is of minor importance. This has been investigated by several soil workers in this country, as well as in foreign countries, but the results from field tests are variable. Work in Oregon, Wisconsin, New Jersey, Kentucky, and Ohio has shown yields of different crops to be increased somewhat by the application of sulphur."

MARGARET METZNER

Soloist Contralto, Ann Arbor May Festival, May 19, 20, 21, 22.

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

Regular meeting of W. R. C. will be held Friday afternoon, May 14, at 2 o'clock.

The Young Ladies' Chapter of the Congregational church will meet with Miss Florence Turnbull next Wednesday afternoon.

Cloverleaf Chapter of the Congregational church will hold a bake sale at Holmes & Walker's store Saturday afternoon from 2 to 4 o'clock.

Cavanaugh Lake Grange will meet in the basement of Salem church next Tuesday evening. The following will be the program: Song; current events; song; recitation, Orta Miller; topic for discussion, "The floor, cement, board or earth, for the horse stable," opened by F. C. Menzies; song.

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS.

(Official) Council Room,
May 2, 1920.

Council met in regular session. Meeting called to order by Pres. P. C. Schulte. Roll call by the clerk. Present—Trustees Dancer, Dunkel, Bahnmiller, Vogel, Shaver, Koelbe. Minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

The following bills were read by the clerk:
General Fund.
Palmer's garage, 9 gal. gas, and garage for April, $23.63
Marshall's salary to May 1, 37.50
L. Brower, 15 hrs. @ 50¢, 7.50
Street Fund.
Geo. Simmons, drawing cin-

SEE

Miss Shirley Mason

—IN—

"The Apple Tree Girl"

—AT—

M. E. Church, Friday Evening, May 7th

EIGHT O'CLOCK

This is a five-part Comedy-Drama. Charlotte Martin, left an orphan in her early teens, works out life's problems in a way that many further along in life may well copy. A strong contrast is drawn between the leading lady and the rest of the girls in the story. This is one of Miss Mason's strong plays.

THERE WILL ALSO BE A ONE-PART
SIDE-SPLITTING COMEDY, ENTITLED

"In Love's Laboratory"

Come Out For An Evening of Laughter

Admission, 10c and 5c

Dodge, Essex and Oldsmobile Service!

Electrical Repairing a Specialty

Between Main St. and M. C. Depot JONES' GARAGE

Used Cars For Sale—All Makes. Phone 133.

First Vigorous Reduction in Price

On Every New Coat

In Our Department

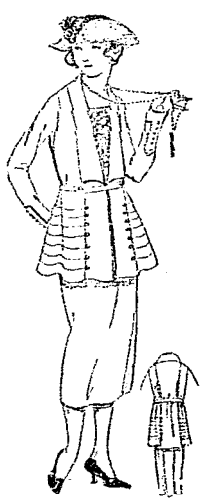

We have about seventy-five Coats left that must be sold now. These are all different styles, and all colors. Some full lined, some half lined, some are unlined. Regular prices were $20.00 to $95.00.

Prices Now Are $15.00 and Up

We have reduced quite a lot of $50.00 to $65.00 Coats, some Navy Tricotine and Serges, full satin lined, to $45.00. Other $40.00 and $50.00 Coats to $29.50 and $35.00. Quite a lot of beautiful Sport Coats, made of real Camel Hair Cloth, of full Wool materials, and of Polo Cloth, now at $15.00, $17.50 and $19.50.

Do not Wait, but see these Coats now.

Women's Suits

Every Suit in our department, including the Beady Suits, at greatly reduced prices. These will be sold quickly this week at the prices now asked.

Oxfords and Ties

We never showed such a full assortment of Women's, Misses' and Children's Shoes. All widths from AA to D, in tan, black or white.

Women's Hand-Made Waists at $4.95 to $10.00

Special Prices on big lot of Georgette Blouses

Ask to see the New Hand-Made Philippine Underwear

VOGEL & WURSTER

TO OUR FRIENDS AND MANY CUSTOMERS:

In Order to Maintain Our High Standard Quality Products we have been forced to raise our prices.

QUALITY FIRST THEN THE PRICE

CHELSEA BAKERY

PHONE 179

JOE SCHNEBELT

MORE MILES PER DOLLAR

MORE COMFORT PER HOUR

Walking in a pair of shoes bought at our store. Look at our genuine Calf Skin in the Tan, English last, a real dress shoe for the young man; only $9.50. Side leathers $5.75 to $9.00.

Work shoes that can't be beat for comfort and wear. Try a pair at only $3.65 to $7.50.

SCHMID'S

WEST MIDDLE STREET, CHELSEA, MICH.
Around the Corner Where Good Shoes are Cheap.

ICE CREAM--SPECIAL PRICE

For Parties, Socials, Churches and Lodges

Chelsea Candy Works.

LET US RE-MAGNETIZE YOUR FORD MAGNETO!

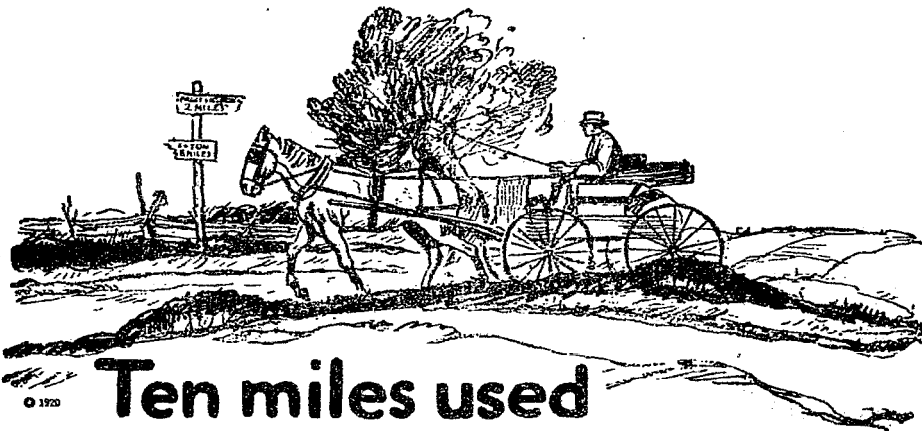

Indications of weak magnets are: Dim Lights, frequent back FIRES OR EXPLOSIONS IN THE MUFFLER when running. SPECIAL ELECTRICAL REPAIRING for all makes of cars. General Mechanical Repairing, Acetylene Welding and Radiator Repairing.

WE GUARANTEE SATISFACTION.

CHELSEA GARAGE

Corner of South Main Street and Territorial Road.
PHONE 246 MALIN & VAHER

Try Standard Want Column. You get result

Ten miles used to be a long way

WHAT a difference in these motor-car days, when every point in the county is hardly more than "just around the corner."

People's ideas are changing, too.

They're beginning to figure out how much it is costing them to keep a car. And the man who is doing the greatest amount of figuring is the man with the moderate-price car.

II

There still seems to be a notion in some quarters that any tire is good enough for a small car.

That's not what the man who owns it thinks.

In recommending and selling U. S. Tires we are trying to see his side of the proposition—finding out what he wants in a tire and giving him that.

III

Large or small, U. S. Tires are built to only one standard of quality—the standard that produced the first straight side automobile tire, the first pneumatic truck tire.

Every tire that bears the name "U. S." is built the best way its makers know how. It isn't the car, but the man who owns the car, that counts with the oldest and largest rubber concern in the world.

IV

As representatives of U. S. Tires in this town, we offer you the benefit of our experience and advice in settling your tire problem.

Select your tires according to the roads they have to travel:

In sandy or hilly country, wherever the going is apt to be heavy—The U. S. Nobby.

For ordinary country roads—The U. S. Chain or Usco.

For front wheels—The U. S. Plain.

For best results—everywhere—U. S. Royal Cords.

ROYAL CORD—NOBBY—CHAIN—USCO—PLAIN

United States Tires

PALMER'S GARAGE
CHELSEA, MICH.

WATERLOO.

Mrs. L. J. Gorton visited relatives in Howell Sunday.
Mr. and Mrs. Walter Vicary spent Thursday in Jackson.
Milton Reithmiller was home from Jackson over Sunday.
Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Durkee visited in Jackson over Sunday.
Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Bradley were Jackson visitors on Monday.
Miss Louella Gregory spent several days of this week in Detroit.
Mrs. Jessie Wahl and son Howard were guests of Mrs. Mary Runckman on Sunday.
Mr. and Mrs. Fred Durkee and Mrs. Jacob Rommel motored to Jackson Sunday.
Mr. and Mrs. George Fausser spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Reithmiller.
Rev. and Mrs. E. E. Rhoads entertained Mrs. Rhoads' brothers, Edward and Ernest, over the week-end.
The services on next Sunday morning will be for the young people's anniversary, and in the evening a Mothers' Day program will be given.

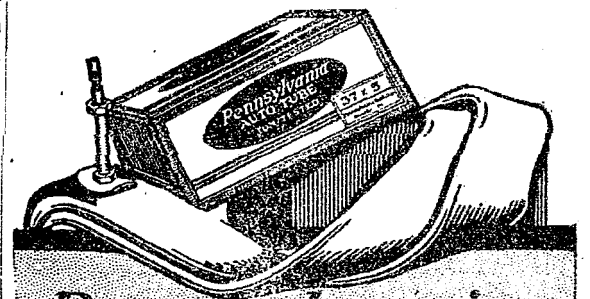

FRANCISCO.

Walter Kalmbach was home from Detroit, Sunday.
Sheldon Frey was home from Kalamazoo for the week-end.
Miss Ella Benter attended the Legion dance at Grass Lake Friday evening.
Miss Eleanor Rowe, of Grass Lake, was a guest of Miss Ella Benter, Sunday.
Gus Gochis and Wm. Bertus, of Ann Arbor, called on friends here Wednesday evening.
Mr. and Mrs. John Kilmer, of Sharon, visited Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Plowe Wednesday evening.
Miss Augusta Benter returned to Chelsea, Wednesday, after spending a few weeks with her mother, Mrs. Bertha Benter.
Orin Sager, who has been ill at Mercy hospital, Jackson, is here with his sister, Mrs. Frank G. Helle, to spend some time.
Mr. and Mrs. Fred Walz called on Mr. and Mrs. Ben Straub, of North Francisco, Sunday afternoon. Mrs. Straub is an invalid and a great sufferer.
Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Rowe and C. A. Rowe, of Waterloo, were callers at the Benter home Sunday morning, on their way to Jackson, where they spent the day with George Rowe and family.

NORTH LAKE.

Miss Lucille Brown spent the week-end with friends in Ann Arbor.
Miss Mildred Daniels, of Detroit, spent the week-end at her home here.
Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Glenn and Glenn Nisbit, of Lima, called on friends here, Sunday.
Mrs. Mary Gilbert, who has been ill for the past four weeks, is reported as on the gain.
Mrs. Williston, of Pinckney, is spending a few days with her daughter, Mrs. A. Allyn.
Mr. and Mrs. H. Cannon entertained several of their relatives from Detroit and Ypsilanti, Sunday.
Mrs. Margaret Harker and family attended the funeral of her nephew, Roy Clinton, of Pinckney, Monday.
Henry Kleinschmidt, of Ann Arbor, visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Pratt from Thursday until Saturday.
Mr. and Mrs. John Pratt and sons, James and Robert, visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Brown, of Scio, over Sunday.
Mrs. H. A. Hudson and Norman Hudson and Miss Laura Hudson visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Hopkins, of Dexter, Sunday.
Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Noah entertained at their home, Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Schultz and daughter Doris, of Ann Arbor, and Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Royce and family, of Chelsea, Sunday morning. May 9, Mothers' Day will be observed in the Sunday school, and in the evening Rev. Harris will give a sermon on Africa, telling of his experiences while in that country for three and a half years.

FREE!

Pennsylvania
AUTO TUBE
"TON TESTED"

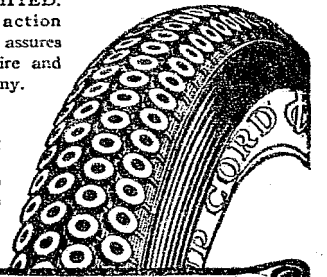

Buy your season's Vacuum Cup Tires NOW!
With each casing you get one "Ton Tested" Tube of corresponding size ABSOLUTELY FREE!

The Vacuum Cup tread is guaranteed not to skid on wet, slippery pavements. The guaranteed tensile strength of "Ton Tested" Tubes is 1½ tons per square inch. That's an unbeatable combination for the motorist who demands absolutely highest quality.

But this free tube offer is LIMITED.

It calls for prompt action—immediate ordering assures the greatest possible tire and tube equipment economy.
Order NOW!

Adjustment basis—per warranty tag attached to each casing:
Vacuum Cup Fabric Tires 6,000 Miles
Vacuum Cup Cord Tires 9,000 Miles

Chelsea Storage Battery and Vulcanizing Shop

A. A. RIEDEL, Prop., Chelsea, Mich.

Co-Operative Wool

The Chelsea Co-Operative Association has been appointed assembling agents for this vicinity, and the Wool received will be shipped to the Farm Bureau warehouse in Lansing for grading.

The only expense incurred being the cost of handling and the transportation to Lansing.

WOOL WILL BE RECEIVED IN

Chelsea Every Tuesday

At the Green Warehouse next to McLaren's hay house. For further details see

G. W. COE, Manager

WE WANT WHEAT

HIGHEST MARKET PRICE AT THE MILL

Wm. Bacon-Holmes Co.

OPENING DANCE

For the Season of 1920 at

The Farm Hotel

WAMPLER LAKE

Tuesday Evening, May 11

Dancing 9:00 to 1:00

IKE FISCHER

With his Popular Orchestra will Furnish the Music.

NEW DANCE PAVILION

Largest and Finest Dance Floor in Southern Michigan

All are invited.

Dance Bill $1.50 Including Tax

DANCING EVERY TUESDAY EVENING DURING SEASON

Say it with flowers
And do it with ours

MOTHERS' DAY Sunday, May 9

For mothers living
Blossoms bright,
For mothers memory
Blossoms white.

A nice assortment of cut

FLOWERS AND PLANTS

EARLY ORDERING assures prompt delivery

Chelsea Greenhouse
ELVIRA CLARK-VISEL

C. C. LANE
Veterinarian
Office at Chas. Martin's Livery.
Phone No. 5-W. Calls answered day or night.

H. M. ARNOUR
Veterinary Surgeon and Dentist
Fourteen years experience. Also general auctioneering. Phone 84.
Residence 143 E. Middle St., Chelsea,
Michigan.

E. W. DANIELS
General Auctioneer
Satisfaction guaranteed. For information call at the Standard office, or address Gregory, Mich., r. f. d. 2. Auction bills and tin cups furnished free.

GEORGE W. BECKWITH
Real Estate Dealer
Money to loan. Life and Fire Insurance. Office in Hatch-Durand Block, Chelsea, Michigan.

STIVERS & KALMBACH
Attorneys at Law
General law practice in all courts. Notary in office. Hatch-Durand Bldg. Chelsea, Michigan. Phone 63.

R. A. MAPES
Funeral Director and Embalmer
Fine Funeral Furnishings. Calls answered promptly day or night. Chelsea, Michigan. Phone 6.

FOR SALE and For Rent window signs for sale at the Standard office.

MR. HAPPY PARTY

ALL THEIR MEATS ARE SAFE AND SANE—AS I FREQUENTLY EXPLAIN!

SANITATION is a science and we are scientific butchers. Our market is as clean as a brand new pin. You're invited in to look over our choice meats.

Watch for Mr. Happy Party.

FRED C. KLINGLER'S MARKET
Phone 59
Chelsea, Mich.

Subscribe for the Standard.

—and what's more

you can't buy a better cigarette no matter what you're willing to pay!

GREAT thing to be cigarette contented like you'll find yourself with Camels—an expert blend of choice Turkish and choice Domestic tobaccos which you will prefer to either kind smoked straight!

Camels are a revelation in flavor, in refreshing goodness, in smooth, mellow-mildness. Yet, Camels have a delightful "body" that meets your keenest desires.

Camels are so good you will want to smoke them liberally. And, you may—for Camels never tire your taste! Camels quality and Camels blend take care of that! You will also enjoy Camels freedom from any unpleasant cigarettey aftertaste or unpleasant cigarettey odor.

If you want to get some personal information about Camels compare them with any cigarette in the world at any price!

Camels are sold everywhere in identically sealed packages of 20 cigarettes or ten packages of 100 cigarettes in a glassine paper-covered carton. We strongly recommend this carton for the home or office supply or when you travel.
R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co., Winston-Salem, N. C.

New Rates of Fare

—ON—

Detroit, Jackson &

Chicago Railway

BEGIN WEDNESDAY, MAY 5

Increased Rates of Fare provided by Smith Act No. 382 will become effective Wednesday, May 5.

Tariffs showing these rates may be found on file with all Agents on and after May 3, 1920.

BREVITIES

Adrian—James Mason, 3-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Oakley Mason of Mulberry, was accidentally hanged in a chicken coop where he was playing alone one day last week. He was missed from home and neighbors after a two hour search found his lifeless body hanging from a roost to which the back of his coat collar had been caught.

Jackson—Several tubercular cattle were slaughtered Friday morning at the Binning slaughter house under direction of Dr. Boyd of the state department of animal industry and Dr. H. F. Roberts, city food and milk inspector. These cattle are a few of the forty-three which showed a positive reaction to the tuberculin test. The others will be killed in a short time.—Jackson News.

Ypsilanti—Thousands of men, women and children, all carrying American flags, marched Saturday afternoon in the American Day parade. City officials, civic, patriotic and fraternal organizations marched. The parade moved to the postoffice, where Mayor Frank Bennett, of Jackson, spoke. He pleaded for a return to economy, declaring it was time "to put on the brakes and stop extravagant expenditures."

Ann Arbor—Prof. David Friday speaking to the sophomore engineers, said that the present day high prices, which are 213 per cent higher than those of 1913, would bring depression, firms would fail, there would be a lack of confidence on the part of business men with a consequent lowering of the price of goods, and of labor. This, he said, must happen before trade and living could hope to become normal again.

Milan—Three stills, seven men, five gallons of moonshine and fifteen barrels of mash were rounded up in a raid conducted just outside Milan Friday by Thomas Goodrich, deputy sheriff at Milan. The raid, while conducted by the Washtenaw county deputy, took place just over the line in London township, Monroe county. The seven men are being held at Monroe. One of them, William Simmons, was arrested on a similar charge in Detroit, according to Sheriff Pack.

Jackson—U. S. Senator Charles E. Townsend is reported to be in poor health, and as a result is not taking a strenuous part in the business of the senate as heretofore. Recently he has had his teeth extracted upon the advice of his physician, who believes his teeth are causing his poor health. The doctor has advised him to play golf and not to take any extra responsibility. As soon as the business of the senate will permit, the senator plans to take a vacation at his boyhood home in Concord.—Jackson Citizen Patriot.

Marshall—F. R. Moses, business manager of the Marshall Chronicle and president of the Michigan Association of Home Dailies, announced that publishers of twenty-nine papers in cities having less than 5,000 circulation have decided not to take subscriptions for more than six months in advance. It is feared that these daily papers may have to issue as tri-weekly after July 1 and weekly after October 1. Mr. Moses has been delegated to go to Washington providing he could get hearing to testify before the present investigating committee of congress with a view to placing the plight of the country publishers before congress.

UNADILLA

Frank Burney is on the sick list. Mr. and Mrs. Frank May, of Jackson, were guests of Vet Buffis, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Seamon May, of Denton, spent Sunday at the home of G. A. Pyper.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Purchase and son and Miss Ella Corser visited their parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Corser, over Sunday.

Miss Nettie Whitaker, of Gregory, and Mr. Carl Griffin, of Kalamazoo, were married by Rev. H. Harris at the Methodist parsonage, Saturday, May 1, 1920.

The missionary society of the M. E. church held a meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Goodwin on Wednesday of last week. A large crowd attended.

RENEWED TESTIMONY

No one in Chelsea who suffers backache headaches, or distressing urinary ills, can afford to ignore this Chelsea woman's twice-told story. It is confirmed testimony that no Chelsea resident can doubt.

Mrs. S. J. Trouten, McKinley st., Chelsea, says: "I suffered from backache and distressing pains across my kidneys. I had headaches and dizzy spells. My kidneys didn't act right at all and caused me a lot of annoyance. I tried several remedies without relief until I used Doan's Kidney Pills. I bought Doan's at Fenn's Drug Store. They relieved the backache, strengthened my kidneys and did me good generally."

Over three years later, Mrs. Trouten said: "Doan's Kidney Pills cured me of kidney complaint and the cure has been a lasting one. I take Doan's occasionally as a preventive, but I never suffer from kidney trouble now."

Price 60c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Trouten had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.—Adv.

FISK CORD TIRES

GOOD mileage, good looks, good traction—all to an extreme degree—are features of these tires. In their making and in their selling, the Fisk Ideal is a vital factor.

The Fisk Ideal: "To be the best concern in the world to work for, and the squarest concern in existence to do business with."

Time to Re-tire?
(Buy Fisk)

Next Time—BUY FISK
A. G. FAIST
CHELSEA

For That Cough After the "Flu"

Lingering colds and coughs that follow the grip or influenza are difficult to overcome, but many such sufferers have found relief in Foley's Honey and Tar.

Says It Is Worth $50.00 a Bottle

Wm. Barnes, San Antonio, Tex., writes: "Foley's Honey and Tar is undoubtedly the best cough remedy in the world. I know this is so because I found it to be so. Actual experience taught me. It has been worth $50.00 an ounce to me. Early in the season I had the 'flu,' which left me weak and with a persistent cough. The cough hung on and I became much worried about it. Someone advised me to try Foley's Honey and Tar and I began taking it that night. I have now completely recovered and don't cough at all."

Foley's
Honey and Tar
COMPOUND

AN OLD RELIABLE FAMILY REMEDY, recommended for coughs, colds, tickling of the throat, spasmodic croup, whooping cough, la grippe, and bronchial coughs, hoarseness, etc.

All users praise its prompt and efficient action. Absolutely safe. Contains no opiates.
SOLD EVERYWHERE.

Detroit United Lines

Between Jackson, Chelsea, Ann Arbor, Ypsilanti and Detroit.

Eastern Standard Time.

LIMITED CARS.
For Detroit 8:45 a. m. and every two hours to 8:45 p. m.

For Jackson and Kalamazoo 9:45 a. m. and every two hours to 7:30 p. m. To Jackson and Lansing 9:45 p. m.

EXPRESS CARS
East Bound—7:34 a. m. and every two hours to 7:34 p. m.

West Bound—10:20 a. m. and every two hours to 10:20 p. m. Express cars make local stops west of Ann Arbor.

LOCAL CARS.
East Bound—10:20 p. m. To Ypsilanti only, 11:50 p. m.

West Bound—5:20 a. m., 12:21 p. m. Cars connect at Ypsilanti for Sallie and at Wayne for Plymouth and Northville.

Good to Remember
N-R to-NIGHT
Paste In Your Hat

VOGEL'S CORNER DRUG STORE

Chelsea Greenhouses

CUT FLOWERS
POTTED PLANTS
FUNERAL DESIGNS

Elvira Clark-Visel

Phone 180-F21. FLORIST

Rats

Rats destroy over THREE MILLION dollars worth of corn, wheat, oats and other food products every year in the United States and we think it a great waste, as it is, but Government Reports show that losses due to people buying stocks, bonds and other speculative securities are over SEVENTY MILLION DOLLARS in one state alone. Is it not time to "sit up and take notice" that our

5 and 6 Per Cent

SAVINGS CERTIFICATES payable ON DEMAND are safer and better than any kind of speculative investment.

CAPITOL SAVINGS & LOAN ASSOCIATION

115 Atlantic W., 2nd Floor, Lansing, Mich.

Local Agents: W. D. ARNOLD, Chelsea, JAY KEITH, Dexter

NOTICE!

Just received a carload of National Pipe and Pipeless Furnaces. Our idea is to buy in quantities and buy cheap, and to sell same way. Prices from $116.00 up. Also all kinds of furnaces repaired.

UPDIKE & MURPHY

CHELSEA, MICHIGAN

THE WISE MAN KNOWS:

Experience has taught him the way to save a fortune is never to Risk and the way to increase a fortune is to always have interest coming in and the return of the principal GUARANTEED. In other words he buys and continues to buy.

United States Mortgage Bond Company's

SAFETY 6'S

Interest guaranteed
Readily convertible into cash.

SECURED by a first mortgage on Detroit improved income-bearing Real Estate.

PROTECTED by property valuation double amount of the loan.

EXAMINED and approved by experts on each and every instance.

TAX EXEMPT in Michigan. Normal Federal Income Tax paid.

Follow the "wise ones," buy a $100 bond if you can't buy more. But make a start today. Take some time paying if you want to. Acquaintance with our organization will show you that our officers, directors and executive committee measure up to the high standard of a great banking institution in every way. You are most cordially invited to call at our office, but be sure to write today for complete and valuable information.

United States Mortgage Bond Company

Phone Main 1100. 312 Majestic Building. Detroit, Mich.

REPRESENTED BY C. F. HATHAWAY, CHELSEA, MICH.

THE QUESTION OF FIT

When applied to our summer Suits means perfection as nearly as human hands are capable of producing.

Our new summer Suits are absolutely and positively free from puckers, wrinkles and creases and there is not a Custom Tailor on the face of the earth who could supply more graceful drape and fit than our new summer clothing affords.

MADE-TO-YOUR MEASURE

New line of samples just received. Come in and let us take your measure for a new Spring Suit or Overcoat. Tailoring and Fit fully guaranteed.

Furnishing Goods

In our Furnishing Goods Department we are showing a fine line of plain and fancy neckwear, jewelry, gloves, mittens, handkerchiefs, shirts, collars, hosiery, underwear, sweaters, hats and caps.

New Summer Footwear

We are showing the newest lasts in Summer Footwear for men and boys in the finest leathers for dress wear. An exceptionally good line of school shoes for boys. In work shoes we have a very substantial line that is manufactured for comfort and solid wear. A complete stock of Oxfords, and canvas shoes, rubber boots, just received. Call and inspect the new footwear.

HERMAN J. DANCER

CLOTHIER FOR MEN AND BOYS.

Saturday Specials!

Saturday, May 8, 1920

Arm & Hammer Soda, pound package.....	6c
Armour's Corn Flakes, 2 packages.....	23c
Hershey's Cocoa, 1-2 pound cans.....	20c
Cocoanut Marsh Mallows, pound.....	20c
Peanut Butter, pound.....	23c
Rice, best grade, pound.....	17c
Good Tea, 1-2 pound.....	20c

KEUSCH & FAHRNER

HOME OF OLD TAVERN COFFEE AND ROSEBUD FLOUR

THE FARMER'S OPPORTUNITY for the practice of thrift are many. In the handling of the soil, feeding of live stock, care of barns, fences and machinery, thrifty management results in successful farming.

We are interested in the welfare of the farmer; never too busy to discuss with him his problems, plans, opportunities. This is truly the farmer's bank; our officers the farmer's friends.

We issue FOOD DRAFTS payable in Germany and other European countries. Send one to your friends. We make no charge for this service.

MEMBER FEDERAL RESERVE BANK

The Kempf Commercial & Savings Bank

ESTABLISHED 1876

Capital, Surplus and Profits, $100,000.00

CHELSEA

MICHIGAN

LOCAL NOTES

Simon Hirth has purchased a new Overland 4 sedan.

The salesroom of Holmes & Walker's store is being redecorated.

Boen, on Saturday, May 1, 1920, to Mr. and Mrs. William Birch, a daughter.

Owen Murphy has sold his residence on Wilkinson street to Joseph Brown of Lima.

John E. Walz is the new village nightwatch, starting on his duties Tuesday night.

James Geddes was in Chicago for the past two weeks in the interest of the Peninsular Portland Cement Co.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles VanNatter have moved to the new home on McKinley street, which they recently purchased.

Them unicipal light and water plant received a carload of coal, and the Michigan Portland Cement Co., received three cars, Monday night.

Ray E. Bassett, community secretary of Washtenaw county, addressed the members of the American Legion at the smoker held Wednesday evening.

Mrs. George Spiegelberg has moved out of Henry Neeb's house, and has gone to make her home with her daughter, Mrs. John G. Fisher, Dexter Leader.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Bagge have moved from M. Brooks' residence on West Middle street, to apartments in the residence of L. Bagge, on South Main street.

Mrs. Frank Gramer, of Lima, was taken to the hospital in Ann Arbor last Thursday, where she underwent an operation for appendicitis. At last reports she was doing as well as could be hoped for.

The concert given by the University School of Music girls' glee club, in the M. E. church last Friday evening, for the benefit of the athletic association of the Chelsea high school, was an excellent one, and was well attended.

The S. P. I. met at the home of Mrs. G. Eisen Monday evening and gave her a surprise party in honor of the seventy-fifth anniversary of her birth. Rev. and Mrs. A. A. Schoen of Manchester, were also present to assist in the celebration.

The Washtenaw county court house clock has four faces again, the south face, which was damaged by the "big wind" of November 29, having been replaced Wednesday. The face is more than six feet across and the figures are more than a foot high.

The Thirty-first Michigan veterans of the Spanish-American war will meet in Masson Monday, May 17 for their annual reunion. The business meeting will be held in the afternoon, a fun program in the afternoon and a banquet in the evening.

The reception given by the Ladies Aid and the Young People's societies of St. Paul's church in honor of Rev. and Mrs. G. W. Krause last Thursday evening, was well attended. A program was given by the young people, and refreshments were served.

Forty of the friends of Miss Mame Corey, who leaves for Detroit Saturday, gave her a farewell surprise at St. Mary hall Wednesday evening. A sumptuous supper was served, and music, dancing and games were indulged in. Miss Cory was presented with a beautiful pin.

A general county meeting of all of the community councils for the election of members of the county community board for the ensuing year has been called for Saturday evening, May 15, at 8 o'clock, at the county board offices in the First National Bank building, Ann Arbor.

Warning comes to the W. C. T. U. members to watch out for a man who has been calling upon Flint and Detroit temperance women, with an appeal for a cash contribution. His story is said to be one that is likely to stir most any generous person to give. The man is said to be a fraud.

There will be a children's clinic at the plant of the Michigan Portland Cement Co., at Four Mile lake, Wednesday, May 12, from 1 until 4 o'clock. Specialists from the University hospital at Ann Arbor will be present. A way will be provided for anyone wishing to attend from the village, by making arrangements with the Red Cross nurse, Miss Ruth J. Howe.

The dirtiest bunch of gypsies that has been seen in Chelsea for a long time was here Tuesday. A traveling man, who thought he would have a little fun with them, during the process of having his fortune told, lost a twenty dollar bill from his roll, caused a little excitement by his efforts to get the money back. He went a hasty retreat before the bombardment of words which the "lady" in the case fired.

Charles Buss has purchased a new Overland touring car.

James Beasley has sold two lots on Buchanan street to Martin Rohrer.

George Hoffman has sold his residence on Taylor street to Detroit parties.

M. J. Dunkel is having the garage at his residence on South Main street enlarged.

The rural carriers of Washtenaw county will hold a meeting at Ann Arbor on Sunday.

Mrs. Margaret Murray spent several days of the past week at the home of her sister, Miss Kate Welch, of Ypsilanti.

The new rate of fare on the D. J. & Ry. went into effect on Wednesday of this week. No, gentle reader, they are not lower.

Miss Mary Howe, of the University School of Music, Ann Arbor, spent Tuesday at the home of her grandfather, C. Klein.

A. G. Faist accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. C. Lehman went to Toledo, Tuesday, and brought home an Overland coupelet on a touring car.

Chelsea Camp, No. 7338, M. W. A., will go to Grass Lake on Wednesday evening, May 12, where they will exemplify the work of the order.

The common council at the meeting Monday evening, passed a resolution regulating the parking of automobiles on Main and Middle streets.

Mrs. Rebecca Burkhardt and Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Burkhardt attended the funeral of the former's sister, Mrs. Emeline Grison, at Grand Lodge, Friday.

The Chelsea high school students have formed an overall brigade. Beginning next Monday, the girls will appear in aprons and the boys in overalls.

W. J. Young, who has been employed by A. G. Faist as a blacksmith for several years, has resigned and accepted a position with the Standard Oil Co. in Detroit.

Dr. R. S. Armstrong and son Ransom, who have been spending the winter in Waukesha, Wis., returned to Chelsea Monday evening, and they will spend the summer at Cavanaugh Lake.

Mrs. Mary Harper is making arrangements to move her household goods to North Lake, where she will make her home with Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Eisenbeiser. Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Leech will move into her residence on East street.

A. W. and Fred Taylor have sold to Martin Merkel nineteen acres of land on the east side of Taylor's Lane and twenty-six acres opposite the home of John Schmidt. Both pieces of land are in Lima township and adjoin Mr. Merkel's farm.

Miss Anna Jameson, aged 75 years, died at the Methodist home, Friday, April 30. She had been a member of the home since 1915. The funeral was held at the home Sunday afternoon, Rev. H. R. Beatty officiating. Interment at Oak Grove cemetery.

James Beasley, who has been compelled to give up his work with the Michigan Portland Cement Co. for several months, on account of an injury received while at work at the Four-Mile lake plant of the company, is once more able to resume his duties.

Twenty of the neighbors and friends of Mrs. W. R. Reed met at her home on Orchard street Saturday afternoon to assist her in the celebration of the eightieth anniversary of her birth. Light refreshments were served and the event was a very enjoyable one.

The Rotary Clubs of Ann Arbor and Ypsilanti will be entertained by the granges of the county at a banquet in Massonic Temple, Ypsilanti, next Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Mrs. Dora H. Stockman, state grange lecturer, will represent the granges. All members are urged to attend this meeting.

The family of Louis Kaupp, who moved from Sharon last fall to Jackson, has been severely afflicted with pneumonia in that city. Mr. Kaupp was taken to the hospital on Tuesday of last week, Mrs. Kaupp on Wednesday, and the baby on Friday. Mrs. Kaupp died Friday, and the husband is so ill that he has not been told of his wife's death, while the baby is not expected to recover. A little four-year-old son is also ill, though not so seriously.

The Chelsea Community Council will give an entertainment in the Congregational church at 8 o'clock Friday evening of this week. The entertainers will be the Cosmopolitan Club of the University of Michigan, comprising a group of young men and women of different nationalities. A program of songs, talks and stunts will be given, and will be both entertaining and educational. The entertainment is given under the auspices of the pupils of the Chelsea high school.

Pictorial Review Patterns

Are increasing in popularity all the time because of their wide variety of chic and simple frocks. In the

Fashion Book for Summer

the designers have surpassed all previous efforts in the display of adorable styles.

Priced at 15c, 20c and 25c.

W. P. Schenk & Company

Best and most stylish clothes you've ever seen

New Spring Suits For Boys

We have just received a delayed shipment of Boys' Knickerbocker Suits, made by one of the best makers of

Guaranteed Boys' Suits

Let us show you while the assortment is complete

Men's Suits

We can show you Men's Suits made in the latest models and fabrics.

Priced $35.00 to $60.00.

Men's Hats and Caps

In all the new shapes now ready for your selection.

VOGEL & WURSTER

CASH GROCERY!

Brite Mawrin Jelly Powder, none better, package 10c
Good Prunes, pound 22c Blue Ribbon Peaches, package 20c
3 bars P. & G. Soap for 25c Best Rice, package 15c
XXXX Coffee, pound 32c
Best Matches, box 5c Good Soap, cake 5c
Shoe Laces, any length 5c Best Bread, large loaf 15c
Every article the best of its kind and guaranteed.

JOHN FARRELL

Walk Around the Corner and Save a Nickel.

Margaret F. Connell

Chiropractor

Crescent Hotel, Chelsea, Mich.,

Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday afternoons from 3 to 7.

TELEPHONE 55.

OLD PAPERS for sale at this office. Large bundle for five cents.

STATE NEWS

Bay City.—The Michigan Federation of Postoffice Clerks will hold its convention here May 31.

Port Huron.—Farmers of Sanilac county have organized a farm bureau with a big membership.

Highland Park.—The council voted to increase the pay of the street cleaners from $5 a day to $6 a day.

Manistee.—Of the nine delegates chosen by the county Republican convention for the state convention, two were women.

Lansing.—Schuyler S. Olds, a power in Republican circles of the state a generation ago, is dead here, following a long illness.

Grand Rapids.—Clifford Lowell, 14, is dead of injuries received when he struck a match to light an empty gasoline tank.

Bay City.—Ground has been broken here for a $20,000 milk pasteurizing plant which will have a capacity of 4,000 pounds an hour.

Owosso.—Following appearance at high school of girls wearing gingham aprons, the boys have purchased khaki trousers and will wear them.

Albion.—Albion grocers are selling potatoes at $1.10 per peck and only in one peck lots. The local supply in the farmers' hands is gone.

Manistee.—Thomas A. Brown, 83, a pioneer resident and the oldest member of the Masonic order in this section, is dead, following a stroke of paralysis.

Allegan.—The gas supply to all industries here has been cut off as a result of the coal shortage. Domestic consumers are allowed gas only during certain hours.

Washington.—According to figures announced by the census bureau, the population of Kalamazoo is listed at 48,850, an increase of 9,421, or 24.3 per cent during ten years.

Port Huron.—A new hospital commission has been named by the city commission for the erection of emergency hospital for which a bond issue of $50,000 was approved.

Lansing.—The Public Utilities Commission has approved sale of $40,000 worth of capital stock by the Chicago & South Haven Steamship Co. to provide new working capital.

Menominee.—Mrs. Mae E. English, widow of A. E. English, former police chief of this city, has announced her candidacy for the office of registrar of deeds of Menominee County.

Omer.—The Northeast Michigan ball league has been reorganized, with West Branch, Whittemore, Tawas and Pinckney as the new towns which will be represented by teams.

Albion.—William H. Culkins, baggage-master for the Michigan Central here, has obtained a patent on an improved type of railroad crossing, suitable for steam or electric roads.

Adrian.—Superintendent C. H. Grifey of the Adrian public schools has announced that 14 vacancies on the teachers' staff for the coming year will be filled by the end of the week.

South Haven.—South Haven is to have an aviation field. A 40-acre tract has been purchased by business men as a landing field. A hangar will be erected with a capacity for 20 planes.

Lansing.—George Pierce, inmate of the Soldiers' Home at Grand Rapids, proved his claim to the Civil War bounty before the Board of State Auditors. He will receive $437-$400 bounty and the rest interest.

Adrian.—The county road commissioners have agreed to take over for improvement the portion of the Bent Oak road which enters Adrian in the northwest section of the city. The new road will be built this summer.

Saginaw.—Elections for the Union School district voted favorably on the four bonding propositions aggregating $225,000 for the purchase of a site for a new junior high school, addition to two existing schools and the construction of a new school building.

Adrian.—James Mason, 3-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Oakley Mason of Mulberry, was accidentally hanged to a chicken coop where he was playing alone. Neighbors found his lifeless body hanging from a roost to which the back of his coat collar had been caught.

Big Rapids.—After waiting 17 years for his high school diploma from Alma C. A. Watson, manager of the Four Drive Tractor Co. factory here, will receive it in June. He left school two weeks before commencement and, although he had his credits, never received his diploma.

Detroit.—Emma McGee, elevator operator in the postoffice building, was a prisoner for an hour and a half when a fuse blew out and her life jumped between the first and second floors. She was illiterate by a crowd of spectators who gathered at the main floor elevator entrance.

Grand Rapids.—F. E. Lewellyn, a director of the Michigan Bean Dealers' association, has announced that the California Bean Dealers' association seeks to join with the Michigan dealers in its big advertising campaign to popularize the use of Michigan beans as the cheapest food now available. Determination to postpone this campaign until a verdict is rendered in a case in Chicago courts to test a ruling by the department of agriculture prohibiting substitution of oriental beans for Michigan beans was made by the Michigan dealers.

Blanchard.—The Boarding house, Blanchard's first landmark, has been torn down.

Cadillac.—Westford County Supervisors have decided to erect a coal dock to put in an early supply of fuel.

Traverse City.—The 1920 tax rate in Traverse City will be $2 higher this year than last on a thousand valuation.

Marquette.—Memorial trees have been planted along the road to Presque Isle for the soldier dead of the county.

Holland.—Fifty broken noses and 150 black eyes resulted from a clash between Hope college freshmen and sophomores.

Owosso.—For the first time in several years, Durand has a village attorney. An overseas veteran, has been named for the place.

Cadillac.—The Coterie and other women's organizations here have turned down the patch club idea as well as the overalls movement.

Harbor Springs.—Eugene N. Chambers, 33 years old, is dead. He weighed 340 pounds and had been partly paralyzed for 15 years.

Pontiac.—The Oakland board of supervisors has voted to close the season on partridge and fox squirrels under the state game law.

Cadillac.—The Cadillac Gas Light Co. asked the city commission Monday evening for increased rates with a shutdown as the alternative.

Bay City.—Bay City patrolmen are deserting their jobs for higher wages and the force is considerably under its regular quota. Patrolmen are paid $120 a month.

Constantine.—The Farm Bureau drive in St. Joseph County has been concluded with nearly 1,200 members. Some districts are organized 100 per cent for the bureau.

Detroit.—Garbage wagon drivers—60 of them—were granted a new wage scale of $6.50 a day, an advance of $1 a day. The men asked $7 a day, but say they are satisfied.

Pontiac.—It is proposed to establish a traffic department in the Board of Commerce to facilitate freight handling. A traffic manager will be obtained if the plan materializes.

Albion.—Albion College students plan a political convention with speeches for the various candidates. Lee Merriman, of Chicago, editor of the college weekly, is sponsor of the plan.

Lansing.—A movement was launched here at the closing sessions of the annual convention of the Michigan Anti-Tuberculosis association for a health crusade, to be conducted in the schools of the state.

Lake City.—Jay Taylor, county clerk and register of deeds of Muskegon County, is seeking a third term. He will be opposed at the Republican primaries by his deputy, Miss W. Louise Wolcott.

Caro.—The Caro School Board has made contracts with all necessary teachers for next year. The minimum salary is $1,000 and the maximum, to be paid to the principal of the high school, is $2,000.

Saginaw.—Andrew Frost, 11 years old, played with dynamite caps. He lost four fingers and one eye and is a patient in the same hospital room with his father, whose right arm was cut off by a buzz saw.

Cadillac.—Nearly a score of local residences have been entered, return of families who wintered in Florida and California reveals. Only cellars and garages were rummaged. Liquor was sought in most cases.

Bay City.—The Junior class at Eastern High School has organized an overall and calico club. Members threaten to start a boycott on shops by going barefoot during warmer weather if footwear prices continue to soar.

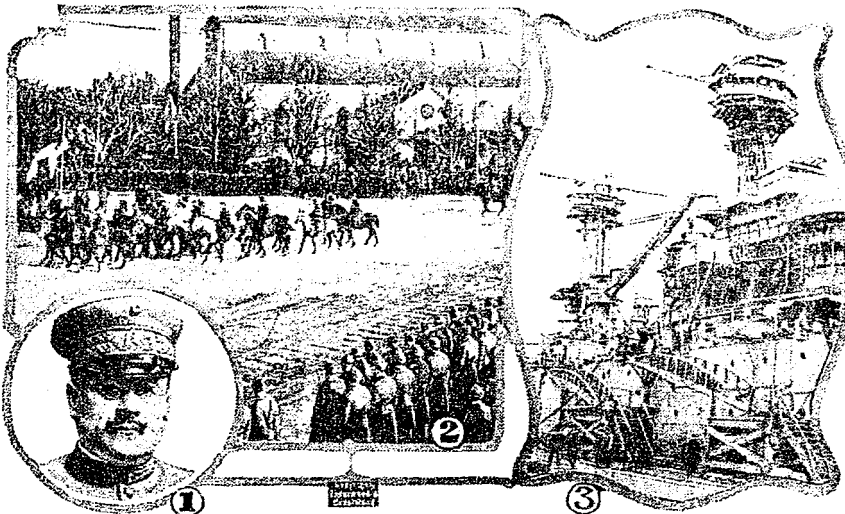

Ypsilanti.—Hundreds of residents are out of coal and unable to procure any from dealers. The city gas plant will be forced to close soon unless coal billed for the plant, and now sidetracked at Toledo, can be brought here.

Adrian.—Forty-six men from various Adrian factories have been sent into the Lemawee cyclone district to work on the erection of new buildings. All receive regular pay from the firms employing them. On Friday 150 men from this city will assist in clearing away the wreckage.

Flint.—Stricken with "sleeping sickness" several days ago after an illness due to a nervous breakdown, August La Bersque, 52, a Flint factory worker, cannot be aroused. Numerous physicians, attracted by the news of the case, have tried without success to arouse the sleeping man.

Muskegon.—Marjorie A. Vandermolen, two-year-old child of Mr. and Mrs. Garret Vandermolen, died from strangulation when a small piece of tin, a part of a toy shovel with which she was playing, lodged in her throat. A physician was unable to remove the object before the child died.

Grand Rapids.—Organization of stock companies, the grouping of farms under one management, elimination of duplication of machinery and implements, united effort for greater production and the revision of existing corporation laws to encourage and bring about this end are urged by Lyman A. Lilly, president and general manager of the West Michigan State Fair association. President corporation laws would have to be changed to facilitate organization of stock companies among farmers, Lilly points out.

1—New photograph of Gen. Ben Hill, right-hand man of General Obregon in the contest for the control of Mexico. 2—Scene in Reval during celebration of second anniversary of Estonia's independence. 3—The Tennessee, largest American warship, nearing completion in Brooklyn navy yard.

NEWS REVIEW OF CURRENT EVENTS

Turk Problem Settled So That All the Allies Are Fairly Well Satisfied.

ARMENIA LEFT FOR AMERICA

Germans Warned to Carry Out Pledges and Summoned to Conference—Peace Resolution Framed for Senate—Troops Ready to Guard Mexican Border.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD.

It was easy to predict that the allied premiers would reach an amicable settlement of their differences concerning Turkey and the pressure to be put on Germany. That was what they did, and each of the allied nations most interested seems fairly well satisfied with the results. As for the United States, it is offered the mandate for Armenia. If it declines to accept this great and expensive responsibility, President Wilson is requested to determine the boundaries of the Armenian state, and its protection is to be arranged later. Fixing the limits of Armenia will be no small job, and if Mr. Wilson undertakes it he may find his generous tendencies curbed by the strength of the Turkish nationalists. For instance, their leader, Mustapha Kemal, is in possession of Erzerum, which Mr. Wilson has considered the capital of Armenia, and no one seems inclined to try to dispossess him. The nationalists it is said, will have representatives in Paris when the treaty is considered to the Turkish delegates.

Supposing that the British have not materially modified their imperialistic desires, they appear to have profited hugely by the Turkish settlement. They are given possession or control of Mesopotamia, Palestine, the Caucasus with the ports of Baku and Batum, the Baghdad railway, and naval control of the Dardanelles. Also Turkey is compelled to recognize the British protectorate over Egypt, which insures sole rights to the Suez canal. However, there has grown up in England a strong feeling against further expansion of the empire and a recognition of the fact that some of its most important boundaries are weakened and thrown open by the acquisition of Mesopotamia and other territory in that part of the world. It is felt that the material benefits to be derived will not nearly compensate for the added burden on the British taxpayer, for certainly a strong military establishment will have to be maintained permanently in those regions.

France, Italy and Greece were granted most of their demands in the Turkish settlement, and even Turkey itself was considered, for it retains Cilicia and has a chance to keep Erzerum.

When the supreme council came to the settlement of the dispute over the enforcement of the German treaty Premier Millerand secured a decided victory. Backed to a degree by Lloyd George, he was able to convince President Wilson that the allies were ready to take all measures even to the military occupation of more German territory, to assist the carrying out of the treaty of Versailles. A stiff note was sent to Berlin saying the allies cannot even consider the German request for an army of 200,000 as long as Germany fails to meet the most important obligations imposed by the treaty, and adding the warning of forcible action. The council said, however, that it "does not seek to impose too narrow an interpretation of the treaty," and instructed Berlin to send the chiefs of the government to Spa on May 25 for an exchange of views. If the Germans then can make satisfactory explanations and propositions, the council will be willing to discuss questions that affect the internal order and economic well-being of Germany. Premier Millerand on Wednesday assured the French chamber of deputies that the treaty would not be revised at the Spa conference, though certain alterations might be made. The French have come around to the British and Italian view of the question of reparations and all now agree that the sum to be exacted from Germany must be fixed at the earliest possible moment. The general belief is that 200,000,000 marks will be decided upon as the approximate figure Germany can pay. That is the figure the Americans and British agreed upon a year ago, when the French demanded more than twice as much.

The Republican members of the senate committee on foreign relations have prepared a new peace resolution in lieu of the one passed by the house. Its principal features are:

1. It fully repeats the joint resolution passed by congress declaring war on Germany, and then adopts the language of the house resolution declaring the war ended.

2. It requests the president to open negotiations with Germany for the purpose of restoring friendly relations and commercial intercourse, although as a matter of fact trade has already been resumed.

3. It protects the claim of American nationals against Germany for damage suffered during the war, by holding up all the money accumulated by the alien property custodian or other agents of the government until such claims have been adjusted.

4. It ratifies for the United States all property or rights obtained under the terms of the armistice and the treaty of Versailles until a satisfactory settlement is made between the United States and Germany.

5. It repeals all war-time legislation. In the language of the house resolution:

"The advocates of this method of ending the war found encouragement in a statement from P. B. Hayes, American member of the Rhineland high commission, in the course of which he said:

"The big thing for the Americans with the interests of the world at heart is to ratify the treaty. It doesn't matter what sort of a peace; this is her obligation. Ratify with reservations, by treaty, by compromise or by resolution—that's immaterial now. The league and other disputes can be settled later after calm and careful deliberations. Now it is necessary—more necessary every day—that America's counsel and resources be unimpeded in the present formidable position of the world of affairs. A formal declaration of peace by the United States is the only possible cure for Europe's ills."

The Poles, partly to protect their frontier and partly to aid the Ukrainians, with whom they have formed an alliance, have been attacking the Bolsheviks on a long front west of Kiev. Their advance, which was not strongly opposed, took them some fifty miles and gave them possession of a number of cities. This territory they promise to evacuate as soon as a stable government has been established in the Ukraine.

In Siberia, though the Japanese were victorious around Vladivostok and along the Essel railway, correspondents there assert the red troops are so numerous that they could crush their foes at any time, but are satisfied to push them steadily eastward, not wishing to give the Japanese cause for an open and extensive campaign against them. According to Colonel Blunt, a railway engineer officer who has reached Harbin after being held prisoner by the Bolsheviks two months, the soviet forces are functioning in Siberia in a most efficient, business-like and orderly way. The red army, he says, is well disciplined, well officered and finely equipped, and no looting or disorders of any kind are permitted when they enter a city.

self. On the other hand the Carranza generals expressed full confidence in their ability to put down the uprising. They claimed to have defeated the rebels at Chihuahua City and driven them from that place. The administration at Washington woke up enough to send two warships down the west coast and to have the American troops at El Paso put in readiness for action in case the border were endangered by events at Juarez or elsewhere in that vicinity.

General Villa, who is in the state of Chihuahua, offered to join the rebels with his bandits provided he was permitted to execute General Escobar and any other federal officers who had to do with the execution of Felipe Angeles.

The house committee on rules has under consideration a resolution designed to lead up to impeachment proceedings against Louis F. Post, assistant secretary of labor. He is accused of causing the release of many alien anarchists taken for deportation, going over the heads of his superiors and practically nullifying the law. These accusations, which have been made on the floor of congress by both Republicans and Democrats, are not surprising to those who have been acquainted with Mr. Post and his tendencies.

Event of the just week were of utmost importance to the several candidates for the Republican presidential nomination. Primaries or state conventions were held in New Jersey, Ohio, Massachusetts, Washington, Missouri and Idaho. The most exciting of these was in New Jersey, where General Wood and Senator Johnson were contesting for the delegation. The general came out ahead by about 1,200 votes, and the senator's campaign manager announced that a recount would be asked in Essex, Gloucester, Morris and Camden counties. There were vague charges of fraud work. The delegates at large will be Senators Edge and Frelinghuysen, pledged to support the choice of the people as shown by the primary, and E. C. Stokes and W. N. Tunney, pledged to Wood, or the district delegates. It was likely Wood would have eleven and Johnson ten, with three unpledged. According to the political experts in Washington, the results in Ohio virtually eliminated Senator Warren C. Harding from the race for the nomination, for while he received the state's presidential preference endorsement he failed to capture the solid delegation, and this is usually considered fatal to the chances of a favorite son. Furthermore, Harding's campaign manager, Harry M. Dougherty, was defeated for delegate at large, according to unofficial returns. Wood, it was estimated, might have about one-fourth of the Ohio delegation.

Massachusetts' delegates will give Governor Calhoun a complimentary vote and after that they will go where they are led by the big four, Senator Lodge, Speaker Gillet, Whitcomb Murray Crane and Edward Thurston. Washington chose delegates pledged to Senator Cummins. In Idaho eight unpledged delegates were chosen, led by Senator Borah, who is for Johnson. Three of the delegates are for Wood and the others doubtful. Missouri will send two contesting sets of unpledged delegates to the convention, and so will Arkansas and North Carolina.

Not a great deal is heard just now of Herbert Hoover, but his chances as a compromise candidate are not injured by the remarkable retraction made by the Providence Journal and spread broadcast throughout the country. That paper had asserted that Hoover was really Wilson's heir and stood for the president's ideas on national and international affairs, and that he was being supported for the Republican nomination by those of the Wilsonian order who wished to see their doctrine held on even though their party was ousted from the White House. The Journal now admits its mistake, affirms its full belief in his sincerity and declares positively his opposition to the "political, economic, industrial and international policies of the president." The fight between Hoover and Senator Johnson for the Hoover delegation has been awaited with the greatest interest.

Latest Markets

LIVE STOCK—DETROIT.

Best heavy steers, $12.50@12.75; best handy weight butchers steers, $11.50@11.75; mixed steers and heifers, $9.00@11.25; handy light butchers, $9.00@9.25; light butchers, $8.00@9.25; best cows, $9.50@10.25; butcher cows, $8.25@8.50; cutters, $6; canners, $5.50@5.80; best heavy bulls, $8.50; heifer bulls, $8.50@9; stock bulls, $8.25@8.50; milk cows and springers, $10@11.

Calves.

Best, $14@15; culls and heavy, $19@22.

Sheep and Lambs.

Best lambs, $16.50@16.75; fair lambs, $12@14; light to common lambs, $8@11; fair to good sheep, $10; culls and common, $5@7.

Hogs.

Mixed hogs, $15.50; heavy, $14.50@15; pigs, $14.50.

EAST BUFFALO.

Cattle—Shipping steers, $12@13.25; butchers, $9@11.50; yearlings, $12@12.50; heifers, $6@10; cows, $4@10.50; bulls, $6.50@10; stockers and feeders, $6@10; fresh cows and springers slow, $6.50@15.00. Calves—$6@17.

Hogs—75c lower; heavy, $14.75@15; mixed yorkers, light yorkers and pigs, $15.25; few, $15.35; roughs, $12; stags, $7@9.

Sheep and lambs—Lambs 50c lower; wool lambs, $13@21; clipped lambs, $12@19.

GRAIN AND FEED.

Wheat—Cash No. 1 red, $2.90; No. 1 mixed, $2.85; No. 1 white, $2.85. No. 2 red & No. 3 red & under No. 1 red. White wheat 2c under red.

Corn—Cash No. 3, $1.73; No. 3 yellow, $1.78; No. 4 yellow, $1.73; No. 5 yellow, $1.69; No. 6 yellow, $1.65.

Oats—Cash No. 2 white, $1.17 bid; No. 3 white, $1.16; No. 4 white, $1.15. Rye—Cash No. 2, $2.20.

Beans—Immediate and prompt shipment, $7.50 per cwt.

Seeds—Prime red clover, $28.50; October, $23.50; alsike, $29.50; timothy, $5.50.

Hay—No. 1 timothy, $37.50@38; standard, $36.50@37; light mixed, $36.50@37; No. 2 timothy, $35.50@36; No. 3 timothy, $33.50@34; No. 1 mixed, $35.50@36; No. 1 clover, $35.50@36; rye straw, $12.50@13; wheat and oat straw, $12.50@13 per ton in carlots.

Flour—Fancy spring patent, $15.50@16.50; fancy winter patent, $14.75@15.25; second winter patent, $13.75@14.25; winter straight, $12.50@13.25 per bbl.

Feed—Uran, $57; standard middlings, $58@59; fine middlings, $59; coarse cornmeal, $7; cracked corn, $7.50@8; chop, $6 per ton in 190-lb sacks.

FARM AND GARDEN.

Popcorn—Shelled, 9c per lb. Cabbage—Texas, 8@9c per lb. Cauliflower—$2@3.25 per case. Mushrooms—$1.75@2.25 per basket. Sweet Potatoes—Hampers, $4.25@4.50.

New Potatoes—Bernauds, $15@20 per bbl. Onions—Indiana, $9@9.50 per 100-lb sack.

Dressed Hogs—Light, 19@21c; heavy, 17@19c per lb. Dressed Calves—Best, 22@24c; No. 1, 20@21c per lb.

Celery—Bunch, 30c@31.25; Florida, cases, $7@7.50. Tomatoes—Six-basket carrier, re-packed, $11; original cases, $5.50@6.

Lettuce—Iceberg, $7@8.50 per crate; headhouse, 25@26c per lb. Potatoes—Michigan, $11.50@12; Canadian, $10@10.50 per 150-lb sack.

Strawberries—Florida, $5@5.50 per 24-pint case; $14@15.50 per 24-quart case.

Apples—Western, boxes, $4.50@5.50; Baldwin, $4.50; Steele Reds, $4.75 per bu.

POULTRY.

Live Poultry—Spring chickens, best 26@28c; Leghorns, 34@35c; hens, 3c 3@3c; small hens, 34@35c; roosters 23@25c; geese, 30@35c; ducks, 40@45c; turkeys, 44@45c per lb.

BUTTER AND EGGS.

Butter—On the Butter and Egg board; No. 1 creamery, no bid, offered at 61c per lb.

Eggs—On the Butter and Egg board; No. 1 fresh, 45 1/2c bid; offered at 43 3/4c per doz.

Cheese—Michigan chds, 29@29 1/2c; New York chds, June make, 32 1/2c; brick, 30@30 1/2c; long horns, 31 1/2c; Michigan single daises, 30c 1/2c; Wisconsin double daises, 30c 1/2c; Wisconsin twins, 29c; Limburger, October make, 34 1/2@35 1/2c; domestic block Swiss, 34@40c per lb.

Growth Too Much for Jail—Hotel.

Ottawa, Ill.—The sheriff, C. S. Ayres announced today that the Ottawa jail will be turned into a hotel because prohibition has emptied it of prisoners.

Votes 24,000,000 in Harbors' Bill.

Washington.—The rivers and harbors bill passed the senate after it had been amended so as to make the total $24,000,000 as against the $12,000,000 in the house bill and $20,000,000 recommended by the senate commerce committee. A second effort to increase the bill's total was successful, the senate adopting 34 to 22, an amendment to make the appropriation $24,000,000. Both senate and house agreed to a lump sum appropriation rather than specific grants.

Growth Too Much for Jail—Hotel.

Ottawa, Ill.—The sheriff, C. S. Ayres announced today that the Ottawa jail will be turned into a hotel because prohibition has emptied it of prisoners.

Votes 24,000,000 in Harbors' Bill.

Washington.—The rivers and harbors bill passed the senate after it had been amended so as to make the total $24,000,000 as against the $12,000,000 in the house bill and $20,000,000 recommended by the senate commerce committee. A second effort to increase the bill's total was successful, the senate adopting 34 to 22, an amendment to make the appropriation $24,000,000. Both senate and house agreed to a lump sum appropriation rather than specific grants.

Growth Too Much for Jail—Hotel.

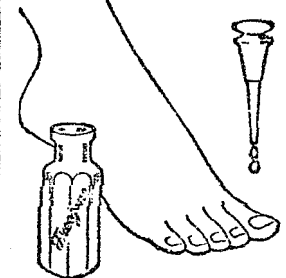

Ottawa, Ill.—The sheriff, C. S. Ayres announced today that the Ottawa jail will be turned into a hotel because prohibition has emptied it of prisoners.

Votes 24,000,000 in Harbors' Bill.

Washington.—The rivers and harbors bill passed the senate after it had been amended so as to make the total $24,000,000 as against the $12,000,000 in the house bill and $20,000,000 recommended by the senate commerce committee. A second effort to increase the bill's total was successful, the senate adopting 34 to 22, an amendment to make the appropriation $24,000,000. Both senate and house agreed to a lump sum appropriation rather than specific grants.

Lift off Corns!

Doesn't hurt a bit and Frezzone costs only a few cents.

With your fingers! You can lift off any hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the hard skin calluses from bottom of feet.

A tiny bottle of "Frezzone" costs little at any drug store; apply a few drops upon the corn or callous. Instantly it stops hurting, then shortly you lift that bothersome corn or callous right off, root and all, without one bit of pain or soreness. Truly! No humbug!—Adv.

Historical Parks Planned.

Sites of historical trails, camps and battle grounds in North Dakota will be marked by parks and monumental tablets, according to the plans of patriotic organizations.

Dr. Melvin R. Gilmore, curator of the North Dakota Historical society, recently announced the acquisition of additional tracts made famous by pioneering expeditions. The sites have been purchased by communities in which they are located and the historical society has been made trustee for them. This procedure will be followed by communities as rapidly as new sites are found to be of unusual value historically. Eventually each park will contain a plot of ground in which only the native crops, plants and grasses of the Indians will be grown. It is planned also to provide each with specimens of animals.

WHY DRUGGISTS RECOMMEND SWAMP-ROOT

For many years druggists have watched with much interest the remarkable record maintained by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder medicine.

It is a physician's prescription. Swamp-Root is a strengthening medicine. It helps the kidneys, liver and bladder do the work nature intended they should do.

Swamp-Root has stood the test of years. It is sold by 25,000 druggists on its merit and it should help you. No other kidney medicine has so many friends.

THE VALLEY of the GIANTS

By PETER B. KYNE

Author of "Cappy Ricks"

"JULES RONDEAU"

Synopsis.—Pioneer in the California redwood region, John Cardigan, at forty-seven, is the leading citizen of Sequoia, owner of mills, ships, and many acres of timber, a widower after three years of married life, and father of two-day-old Bryce Cardigan. At fourteen Bryce makes the acquaintance of Shirley Sumner, a visitor at Sequoia, and his junior by a few years. Together they visit the Valley of the Giants, sacred to John Cardigan and his son as the burial place of Bryce's mother, and part with mutual regret. While Bryce is at college John Cardigan meets with heavy business losses and for the first time views the future with uncertainty. After graduation from college, and a trip abroad, Bryce Cardigan comes home. On the train he meets Shirley Sumner, on her way to Sequoia to make her home there with her uncle, Colonel Pennington. Bryce learns that his father's eyesight has failed and that Colonel Pennington is seeking to take advantage of the old man's business misfortunes. John Cardigan is despairing, but Bryce is full of fight.

CHAPTER V.—Continued.

John Cardigan shook his head. "I'm mortgaged to the last penny," he confessed. "And Pennington has been buying Cardigan Redwood Lumber Company first-mortgage bonds until he is in control of the issue. He'll buy in the San Hedrin timber at the foreclosure sale, and in order to get it back and save something for you out of the wreckage, I'll have to make an unprofitable trade with him. I'll have to give him my timber adjoining his north of Sequoia, together with my Valley of the Giants, in return for the San Hedrin timber, to which he'll have a sheriff's deed. But the mill, all my old employees, with their numerous dependents—gone, with you left hand-poor and without a dollar to pay your taxes. Smashed—like that!" And he drove his fist into the palm of his hand.

"Perhaps—but not without a fight," Bryce answered, although he knew their plight was well-nigh hopeless. "I'll give that man Pennington a run for his money, or I'll know the reason." The telephone on the table beside him clicked, and he took down the receiver and said "Hello."

"Merry!" came the sweet voice of Shirley Sumner over the wire. "Do you feel as savage as all that, Mr. Cardigan?"

For the second time in his life the thrill that was akin to pain came to Bryce Cardigan. He laughed. "If I had known you were calling, Miss Sumner," he said, "I shouldn't have growled so."

"Well, you're forgiven—for several reasons, but principally for sending me that delicious blackberry pie. Thank you so much."

"Glad you liked it, Miss Sumner. I dare to hope that I may have the privilege of seeing you soon again."

"Of course. One good pie deserves another. Some evening next week, when that dear old daddy of yours can spare his boy, our built-redwood-banded dining room Uncle Seth is so proud of. Would Thursday night be convenient?"

"Perfectly. Thank you a thousand times."

She bid him good-night. As he turned from the telephone, his father

"Poor old Dad!" he murmured. "I'm glad now he has been unable to get up here and see this. It would have broken his heart. I'll have this tree made into fence posts and the stump dynamited and removed this summer. After he is operated on and gets back his sight, he will come up here—and he must never know. Perhaps he will have forgotten how many trees stood in this circle."

He paused. Peeping out from under a chip among the litter at his feet was the moldy corner of a white envelope. In an instant Bryce had it in his hand. The envelope was dirty and weatherbeaten, but to a certain extent the redwood clasp under which it had lain hidden had served to protect it, and the writing on the face was still legible. The envelope was empty and addressed to Jules Rondeau, care of the Laguna Grande Lumber Company, Sequoia, California.

Bryce read and reread that address. "Rondeau!" he muttered. "Jules Rondeau! I've heard that name before—ah, yes! Dad spoke of him last night. He's Pennington's woods-boss and—"

An enemy had done this thing—and in all the world John Cardigan had but one enemy—Colonel Seth Pennington. Had Pennington sent his woods-boss to do this dirty work out of sheer spite? Hardly. The question of the question of spite had been purely a matter of secondary consideration. Evidently, Bryce reasoned, someone had desired that Bryce Cardigan should be ruined.

And that someone had not been Jules Rondeau, since a woods-boss would not be likely to spend his minutes of his leisure time in consideration of the beauties of a bird table-top or punch-

and he added fiercely: "And I'll attend to the battle for Father. We may lose, but that man Pennington will know he's been in a fight before we finish."

The broke off abruptly, for he had just remembered that he was to dine at the Pennington house the following Thursday—and he was not the sort of man who snuggles breaks bread with his enemy.

All about Bryce were scenes of activity, of human endeavor, and to him in that moment came the thought: "My father brought all this to pass—and now the task of continuing it is mine! All those men who earn a living in Cardigan's mill and on Cardigan's docks—those sailors who sail the ships that carry Cardigan's lumber into the distant parts of men—are dependent upon me; and my father used to tell me not to fail them. Must my father have wrought all this in vain? And must I stand by and see all this go to satisfy the overwhelming ambition of a stranger?" His big hands clenched. "No!" he growled savagely. "Give me your last five annual statements, Mr. Senefair, please."

The old servant brought forth the documents in question. Bryce stuffed them into his pocket and left the office. Three quarters of an hour later he entered the little amphitheater in the Valley of the Giants and paused with an expression of dismay. "One of the giants had fallen and lay stretched across the little clearing. In its descent it had demolished the little white stone over his mother's grave and had driven the fragments of the stone deep into the earth.

The fact that the tree was down, however, was secondary to the fact that neither wind nor lightning had brought it low, but rather the furious stamp of man; for the great jagged stump showed all too plainly the marks of cross-cut saw and axe; a pile of chips four feet deep littered the ground.

For fully a minute Bryce stood dumbly gazing upon the sacrifice before his rage and horror found vent in words. "An enemy has done this thing," he cried aloud to the wood-problems. "And over her grave!"

It was a bird tree. At the point where Bryce paused a malignant growth had developed on the trunk of the tree, for all the world like a tremendous wart. This was the bird, so prized for table-top and punning because of the fact that the twisted, way, hetero-skeletal grain lends to the wood an extraordinary beauty when polished. Bryce noted that the work of removing this excrescence had been accomplished very neatly. With a cross-cut saw the growth, perhaps ten feet in diameter, had been neatly sliced off much as a housewife cuts slices after slices from a loaf of bread. He guessed that these slices, practically circular in shape, had been rolled out of the woods to some conveyance waiting to receive them.

What Bryce could not understand, however, was the stupid brutality of the raiders in felling the tree merely for that section of bird. By permitting the tree to stand and merely building a staging up to the bird, the latter could have been removed without vital injury to the tree—whereas by destroying the tree the wretches had evidenced all too clearly to Bryce a wanton desire to add insult to injury.

"Poor old Dad!" he murmured. "I'm glad now he has been unable to get up here and see this. It would have broken his heart. I'll have this tree made into fence posts and the stump dynamited and removed this summer. After he is operated on and gets back his sight, he will come up here—and he must never know. Perhaps he will have forgotten how many trees stood in this circle."

He paused. Peeping out from under a chip among the litter at his feet was the moldy corner of a white envelope. In an instant Bryce had it in his hand. The envelope was dirty and weatherbeaten, but to a certain extent the redwood clasp under which it had lain hidden had served to protect it, and the writing on the face was still legible. The envelope was empty and addressed to Jules Rondeau, care of the Laguna Grande Lumber Company, Sequoia, California.

Bryce read and reread that address. "Rondeau!" he muttered. "Jules Rondeau! I've heard that name before—ah, yes! Dad spoke of him last night. He's Pennington's woods-boss and—"

An enemy had done this thing—and in all the world John Cardigan had but one enemy—Colonel Seth Pennington. Had Pennington sent his woods-boss to do this dirty work out of sheer spite? Hardly. The question of the question of spite had been purely a matter of secondary consideration. Evidently, Bryce reasoned, someone had desired that Bryce Cardigan should be ruined.

And that someone had not been Jules Rondeau, since a woods-boss would not be likely to spend his minutes of his leisure time in consideration of the beauties of a bird table-top or punch-

and he added fiercely: "And I'll attend to the battle for Father. We may lose, but that man Pennington will know he's been in a fight before we finish."

The broke off abruptly, for he had just remembered that he was to dine at the Pennington house the following Thursday—and he was not the sort of man who snuggles breaks bread with his enemy.

All about Bryce were scenes of activity, of human endeavor, and to him in that moment came the thought: "My father brought all this to pass—and now the task of continuing it is mine! All those men who earn a living in Cardigan's mill and on Cardigan's docks—those sailors who sail the ships that carry Cardigan's lumber into the distant parts of men—are dependent upon me; and my father used to tell me not to fail them. Must my father have wrought all this in vain? And must I stand by and see all this go to satisfy the overwhelming ambition of a stranger?" His big hands clenched. "No!" he growled savagely. "Give me your last five annual statements, Mr. Senefair, please."

The old servant brought forth the documents in question. Bryce stuffed them into his pocket and left the office. Three quarters of an hour later he entered the little amphitheater in the Valley of the Giants and paused with an expression of dismay. "One of the giants had fallen and lay stretched across the little clearing. In its descent it had demolished the little white stone over his mother's grave and had driven the fragments of the stone deep into the earth.

The fact that the tree was down, however, was secondary to the fact that neither wind nor lightning had brought it low, but rather the furious stamp of man; for the great jagged stump showed all too plainly the marks of cross-cut saw and axe; a pile of chips four feet deep littered the ground.

For fully a minute Bryce stood dumbly gazing upon the sacrifice before his rage and horror found vent in words. "An enemy has done this thing," he cried aloud to the wood-problems. "And over her grave!"

It was a bird tree. At the point where Bryce paused a malignant growth had developed on the trunk of the tree, for all the world like a tremendous wart. This was the bird, so prized for table-top and punning because of the fact that the twisted, way, hetero-skeletal grain lends to the wood an extraordinary beauty when polished. Bryce noted that the work of removing this excrescence had been accomplished very neatly. With a cross-cut saw the growth, perhaps ten feet in diameter, had been neatly sliced off much as a housewife cuts slices after slices from a loaf of bread. He guessed that these slices, practically circular in shape, had been rolled out of the woods to some conveyance waiting to receive them.

What Bryce could not understand, however, was the stupid brutality of the raiders in felling the tree merely for that section of bird. By permitting the tree to stand and merely building a staging up to the bird, the latter could have been removed without vital injury to the tree—whereas by destroying the tree the wretches had evidenced all too clearly to Bryce a wanton desire to add insult to injury.

"Poor old Dad!" he murmured. "I'm glad now he has been unable to get up here and see this. It would have broken his heart. I'll have this tree made into fence posts and the stump dynamited and removed this summer. After he is operated on and gets back his sight, he will come up here—and he must never know. Perhaps he will have forgotten how many trees stood in this circle."

He paused. Peeping out from under a chip among the litter at his feet was the moldy corner of a white envelope. In an instant Bryce had it in his hand. The envelope was dirty and weatherbeaten, but to a certain extent the redwood clasp under which it had lain hidden had served to protect it, and the writing on the face was still legible. The envelope was empty and addressed to Jules Rondeau, care of the Laguna Grande Lumber Company, Sequoia, California.

Bryce read and reread that address. "Rondeau!" he muttered. "Jules Rondeau! I've heard that name before—ah, yes! Dad spoke of him last night. He's Pennington's woods-boss and—"

An enemy had done this thing—and in all the world John Cardigan had but one enemy—Colonel Seth Pennington. Had Pennington sent his woods-boss to do this dirty work out of sheer spite? Hardly. The question of the question of spite had been purely a matter of secondary consideration. Evidently, Bryce reasoned, someone had desired that Bryce Cardigan should be ruined.

And that someone had not been Jules Rondeau, since a woods-boss would not be likely to spend his minutes of his leisure time in consideration of the beauties of a bird table-top or punch-

and he added fiercely: "And I'll attend to the battle for Father. We may lose, but that man Pennington will know he's been in a fight before we finish."

The broke off abruptly, for he had just remembered that he was to dine at the Pennington house the following Thursday—and he was not the sort of man who snuggles breaks bread with his enemy.

All about Bryce were scenes of activity, of human endeavor, and to him in that moment came the thought: "My father brought all this to pass—and now the task of continuing it is mine! All those men who earn a living in Cardigan's mill and on Cardigan's docks—those sailors who sail the ships that carry Cardigan's lumber into the distant parts of men—are dependent upon me; and my father used to tell me not to fail them. Must my father have wrought all this in vain? And must I stand by and see all this go to satisfy the overwhelming ambition of a stranger?" His big hands clenched. "No!" he growled savagely. "Give me your last five annual statements, Mr. Senefair, please."

The old servant brought forth the documents in question. Bryce stuffed them into his pocket and left the office. Three quarters of an hour later he entered the little amphitheater in the Valley of the Giants and paused with an expression of dismay. "One of the giants had fallen and lay stretched across the little clearing. In its descent it had demolished the little white stone over his mother's grave and had driven the fragments of the stone deep into the earth.

The fact that the tree was down, however, was secondary to the fact that neither wind nor lightning had brought it low, but rather the furious stamp of man; for the great jagged stump showed all too plainly the marks of cross-cut saw and axe; a pile of chips four feet deep littered the ground.

For fully a minute Bryce stood dumbly gazing upon the sacrifice before his rage and horror found vent in words. "An enemy has done this thing," he cried aloud to the wood-problems. "And over her grave!"

It was a bird tree. At the point where Bryce paused a malignant growth had developed on the trunk of the tree, for all the world like a tremendous wart. This was the bird, so prized for table-top and punning because of the fact that the twisted, way, hetero-skeletal grain lends to the wood an extraordinary beauty when polished. Bryce noted that the work of removing this excrescence had been accomplished very neatly. With a cross-cut saw the growth, perhaps ten feet in diameter, had been neatly sliced off much as a housewife cuts slices after slices from a loaf of bread. He guessed that these slices, practically circular in shape, had been rolled out of the woods to some conveyance waiting to receive them.

What Bryce could not understand, however, was the stupid brutality of the raiders in felling the tree merely for that section of bird. By permitting the tree to stand and merely building a staging up to the bird, the latter could have been removed without vital injury to the tree—whereas by destroying the tree the wretches had evidenced all too clearly to Bryce a wanton desire to add insult to injury.

"Poor old Dad!" he murmured. "I'm glad now he has been unable to get up here and see this. It would have broken his heart. I'll have this tree made into fence posts and the stump dynamited and removed this summer. After he is operated on and gets back his sight, he will come up here—and he must never know. Perhaps he will have forgotten how many trees stood in this circle."

He paused. Peeping out from under a chip among the litter at his feet was the moldy corner of a white envelope. In an instant Bryce had it in his hand. The envelope was dirty and weatherbeaten, but to a certain extent the redwood clasp under which it had lain hidden had served to protect it, and the writing on the face was still legible. The envelope was empty and addressed to Jules Rondeau, care of the Laguna Grande Lumber Company, Sequoia, California.

Bryce read and reread that address. "Rondeau!" he muttered. "Jules Rondeau! I've heard that name before—ah, yes! Dad spoke of him last night. He's Pennington's woods-boss and—"

An enemy had done this thing—and in all the world John Cardigan had but one enemy—Colonel Seth Pennington. Had Pennington sent his woods-boss to do this dirty work out of sheer spite? Hardly. The question of the question of spite had been purely a matter of secondary consideration. Evidently, Bryce reasoned, someone had desired that Bryce Cardigan should be ruined.

And that someone had not been Jules Rondeau, since a woods-boss would not be likely to spend his minutes of his leisure time in consideration of the beauties of a bird table-top or punch-

and he added fiercely: "And I'll attend to the battle for Father. We may lose, but that man Pennington will know he's been in a fight before we finish."

The broke off abruptly, for he had just remembered that he was to dine at the Pennington house the following Thursday—and he was not the sort of man who snuggles breaks bread with his enemy.

All about Bryce were scenes of activity, of human endeavor, and to him in that moment came the thought: "My father brought all this to pass—and now the task of continuing it is mine! All those men who earn a living in Cardigan's mill and on Cardigan's docks—those sailors who sail the ships that carry Cardigan's lumber into the distant parts of men—are dependent upon me; and my father used to tell me not to fail them. Must my father have wrought all this in vain? And must I stand by and see all this go to satisfy the overwhelming ambition of a stranger?" His big hands clenched. "No!" he growled savagely. "Give me your last five annual statements, Mr. Senefair, please."

The old servant brought forth the documents in question. Bryce stuffed them into his pocket and left the office. Three quarters of an hour later he entered the little amphitheater in the Valley of the Giants and paused with an expression of dismay. "One of the giants had fallen and lay stretched across the little clearing. In its descent it had demolished the little white stone over his mother's grave and had driven the fragments of the stone deep into the earth.

The fact that the tree was down, however, was secondary to the fact that neither wind nor lightning had brought it low, but rather the furious stamp of man; for the great jagged stump showed all too plainly the marks of cross-cut saw and axe; a pile of chips four feet deep littered the ground.

For fully a minute Bryce stood dumbly gazing upon the sacrifice before his rage and horror found vent in words. "An enemy has done this thing," he cried aloud to the wood-problems. "And over her grave!"

It was a bird tree. At the point where Bryce paused a malignant growth had developed on the trunk of the tree, for all the world like a tremendous wart. This was the bird, so prized for table-top and punning because of the fact that the twisted, way, hetero-skeletal grain lends to the wood an extraordinary beauty when polished. Bryce noted that the work of removing this excrescence had been accomplished very neatly. With a cross-cut saw the growth, perhaps ten feet in diameter, had been neatly sliced off much as a housewife cuts slices after slices from a loaf of bread. He guessed that these slices, practically circular in shape, had been rolled out of the woods to some conveyance waiting to receive them.

What Bryce could not understand, however, was the stupid brutality of the raiders in felling the tree merely for that section of bird. By permitting the tree to stand and merely building a staging up to the bird, the latter could have been removed without vital injury to the tree—whereas by destroying the tree the wretches had evidenced all too clearly to Bryce a wanton desire to add insult to injury.

"Poor old Dad!" he murmured. "I'm glad now he has been unable to get up here and see this. It would have broken his heart. I'll have this tree made into fence posts and the stump dynamited and removed this summer. After he is operated on and gets back his sight, he will come up here—and he must never know. Perhaps he will have forgotten how many trees stood in this circle."

He paused. Peeping out from under a chip among the litter at his feet was the moldy corner of a white envelope. In an instant Bryce had it in his hand. The envelope was dirty and weatherbeaten, but to a certain extent the redwood clasp under which it had lain hidden had served to protect it, and the writing on the face was still legible. The envelope was empty and addressed to Jules Rondeau, care of the Laguna Grande Lumber Company, Sequoia, California.

Bryce read and reread that address. "Rondeau!" he muttered. "Jules Rondeau! I've heard that name before—ah, yes! Dad spoke of him last night. He's Pennington's woods-boss and—"

An enemy had done this thing—and in all the world John Cardigan had but one enemy—Colonel Seth Pennington. Had Pennington sent his woods-boss to do this dirty work out of sheer spite? Hardly. The question of the question of spite had been purely a matter of secondary consideration. Evidently, Bryce reasoned, someone had desired that Bryce Cardigan should be ruined.

And that someone had not been Jules Rondeau, since a woods-boss would not be likely to spend his minutes of his leisure time in consideration of the beauties of a bird table-top or punch-

and he added fiercely: "And I'll attend to the battle for Father. We may lose, but that man Pennington will know he's been in a fight before we finish."

The broke off abruptly, for he had just remembered that he was to dine at the Pennington house the following Thursday—and he was not the sort of man who snuggles breaks bread with his enemy.

All about Bryce were scenes of activity, of human endeavor, and to him in that moment came the thought: "My father brought all this to pass—and now the task of continuing it is mine! All those men who earn a living in Cardigan's mill and on Cardigan's docks—those sailors who sail the ships that carry Cardigan's lumber into the distant parts of men—are dependent upon me; and my father used to tell me not to fail them. Must my father have wrought all this in vain? And must I stand by and see all this go to satisfy the overwhelming ambition of a stranger?" His big hands clenched. "No!" he growled savagely. "Give me your last five annual statements, Mr. Senefair, please."

The old servant brought forth the documents in question. Bryce stuffed them into his pocket and left the office. Three quarters of an hour later he entered the little amphitheater in the Valley of the Giants and paused with an expression of dismay. "One of the giants had fallen and lay stretched across the little clearing. In its descent it had demolished the little white stone over his mother's grave and had driven the fragments of the stone deep into the earth.

The fact that the tree was down, however, was secondary to the fact that neither wind nor lightning had brought it low, but rather the furious stamp of man; for the great jagged stump showed all too plainly the marks of cross-cut saw and axe; a pile of chips four feet deep littered the ground.

For fully a minute Bryce stood dumbly gazing upon the sacrifice before his rage and horror found vent in words. "An enemy has done this thing," he cried aloud to the wood-problems. "And over her grave!"

It was a bird tree. At the point where Bryce paused a malignant growth had developed on the trunk of the tree, for all the world like a tremendous wart. This was the bird, so prized for table-top and punning because of the fact that the twisted, way, hetero-skeletal grain lends to the wood an extraordinary beauty when polished. Bryce noted that the work of removing this excrescence had been accomplished very neatly. With a cross-cut saw the growth, perhaps ten feet in diameter, had been neatly sliced off much as a housewife cuts slices after slices from a loaf of bread. He guessed that these slices, practically circular in shape, had been rolled out of the woods to some conveyance waiting to receive them.

What Bryce could not understand, however, was the stupid brutality of the raiders in felling the tree merely for that section of bird. By permitting the tree to stand and merely building a staging up to the bird, the latter could have been removed without vital injury to the tree—whereas by destroying the tree the wretches had evidenced all too clearly to Bryce a wanton desire to add insult to injury.

"Poor old Dad!" he murmured. "I'm glad now he has been unable to get up here and see this. It would have broken his heart. I'll have this tree made into fence posts and the stump dynamited and removed this summer. After he is operated on and gets back his sight, he will come up here—and he must never know. Perhaps he will have forgotten how many trees stood in this circle."

He paused. Peeping out from under a chip among the litter at his feet was the moldy corner of a white envelope. In an instant Bryce had it in his hand. The envelope was dirty and weatherbeaten, but to a certain extent the redwood clasp under which it had lain hidden had served to protect it, and the writing on the face was still legible. The envelope was empty and addressed to Jules Rondeau, care of the Laguna Grande Lumber Company, Sequoia, California.

Bryce read and reread that address. "Rondeau!" he muttered. "Jules Rondeau! I've heard that name before—ah, yes! Dad spoke of him last night. He's Pennington's woods-boss and—"

An enemy had done this thing—and in all the world John Cardigan had but one enemy—Colonel Seth Pennington. Had Pennington sent his woods-boss to do this dirty work out of sheer spite? Hardly. The question of the question of spite had been purely a matter of secondary consideration. Evidently, Bryce reasoned, someone had desired that Bryce Cardigan should be ruined.

And that someone had not been Jules Rondeau, since a woods-boss would not be likely to spend his minutes of his leisure time in consideration of the beauties of a bird table-top or punch-

and he added fiercely: "And I'll attend to the battle for Father. We may lose, but that man Pennington will know he's been in a fight before we finish."

The broke off abruptly, for he had just remembered that he was to dine at the Pennington house the following Thursday—and he was not the sort of man who snuggles breaks bread with his enemy.

All about Bryce were scenes of activity, of human endeavor, and to him in that moment came the thought: "My father brought all this to pass—and now the task of continuing it is mine! All those men who earn a living in Cardigan's mill and on Cardigan's docks—those sailors who sail the ships that carry Cardigan's lumber into the distant parts of men—are dependent upon me; and my father used to tell me not to fail them. Must my father have wrought all this in vain? And must I stand by and see all this go to satisfy the overwhelming ambition of a stranger?" His big hands clenched. "No!" he growled savagely. "Give me your last five annual statements, Mr. Senefair, please."

The old servant brought forth the documents in question. Bryce stuffed them into his pocket and left the office. Three quarters of an hour later he entered the little amphitheater in the Valley of the Giants and paused with an expression of dismay. "One of the giants had fallen and lay stretched across the little clearing. In its descent it had demolished the little white stone over his mother's grave and had driven the fragments of the stone deep into the earth.

The fact that the tree was down, however, was secondary to the fact that neither wind nor lightning had brought it low, but rather the furious stamp of man; for the great jagged stump showed all too plainly the marks of cross-cut saw and axe; a pile of chips four feet deep littered the ground.

For fully a minute Bryce stood dumbly gazing upon the sacrifice before his rage and horror found vent in words. "An enemy has done this thing," he cried aloud to the wood-problems. "And over her grave!"

It was a bird tree. At the point where Bryce paused a malignant growth had developed on the trunk of the tree, for all the world like a tremendous wart. This was the bird, so prized for table-top and punning because of the fact that the twisted, way, hetero-skeletal grain lends to the wood an extraordinary beauty when polished. Bryce noted that the work of removing this excrescence had been accomplished very neatly. With a cross-cut saw the growth, perhaps ten feet in diameter, had been neatly sliced off much as a housewife cuts slices after slices from a loaf of bread. He guessed that these slices, practically circular in shape, had been rolled out of the woods to some conveyance waiting to receive them.

What Bryce could not understand, however, was the stupid brutality of the raiders in felling the tree merely for that section of bird. By permitting the tree to stand and merely building a staging up to the bird, the latter could have been removed without vital injury to the tree—whereas by destroying the tree the wretches had evidenced all too clearly to Bryce a wanton desire to add insult to injury.

"Poor old Dad!" he murmured. "I'm glad now he has been unable to get up here and see this. It would have broken his heart. I'll have this tree made into fence posts and the stump dynamited and removed this summer. After he is operated on and gets back his sight, he will come up here—and he must never know. Perhaps he will have forgotten how many trees stood in this circle."

He paused. Peeping out from under a chip among the litter at his feet was the moldy corner of a white envelope. In an instant Bryce had it in his hand. The envelope was dirty and weatherbeaten, but to a certain extent the redwood clasp under which it had lain hidden had served to protect it, and the writing on the face was still legible. The envelope was empty and addressed to Jules Rondeau, care of the Laguna Grande Lumber Company, Sequoia, California.

Bryce read and reread that address. "Rondeau!" he muttered. "Jules Rondeau! I've heard that name before—ah, yes! Dad spoke of him last night. He's Pennington's woods-boss and—"

An enemy had done this thing—and in all the world John Cardigan had but one enemy—Colonel Seth Pennington. Had Pennington sent his woods-boss to do this dirty work out of sheer spite? Hardly. The question of the question of spite had been purely a matter of secondary consideration. Evidently, Bryce reasoned, someone had desired that Bryce Cardigan should be ruined.

And that someone had not been Jules Rondeau, since a woods-boss would not be likely to spend his minutes of his leisure time in consideration of the beauties of a bird table-top or punch-

and he added fiercely: "And I'll attend to the battle for Father. We may lose, but that man Pennington will know he's been in a fight before we finish."

The broke off abruptly, for he had just remembered that he was to dine at the Pennington house the following Thursday—and he was not the sort of man who snuggles breaks bread with his enemy.

All about Bryce were scenes of activity, of human endeavor, and to him in that moment came the thought: "My father brought all this to pass—and now the task of continuing it is mine! All those men who earn a living in Cardigan's mill and on Cardigan's docks—those sailors who sail the ships that carry Cardigan's lumber into the distant parts of men—are dependent upon me; and my father used to tell me not to fail them. Must my father have wrought all this in vain? And must I stand by and see all this go to satisfy the overwhelming ambition of a stranger?" His big hands clenched. "No!" he growled savagely. "Give me your last five annual statements, Mr. Senefair, please."

The old servant brought forth the documents in question. Bryce stuffed them into his pocket and left the office. Three quarters of an hour later he entered the little amphitheater in the Valley of the Giants and paused with an expression of dismay. "One of the giants had fallen and lay stretched across the little clearing. In its descent it had demolished the little white stone over his mother's grave and had driven the fragments of the stone deep into the earth.

The fact that the tree was down, however, was secondary to the fact that neither wind nor lightning had brought it low, but rather the furious stamp of man; for the great jagged stump showed all too plainly the marks of cross-cut saw and axe; a pile of chips four feet deep littered the ground.

For fully a minute Bryce stood dumbly gazing upon the sacrifice before his rage and horror found vent in words. "An enemy has done this thing," he cried aloud to the wood-problems. "And over her grave!"

It was a bird tree. At the point where Bryce paused a malignant growth had developed on the trunk of the tree, for all the world like a tremendous wart. This was the bird, so prized for table-top and punning because of the fact that the twisted, way, hetero-skeletal grain lends to the wood an extraordinary beauty when polished. Bryce noted that the work of removing this excrescence had been accomplished very neatly. With a cross-cut saw the growth, perhaps ten feet in diameter, had been neatly sliced off much as a housewife cuts slices after slices from a loaf of bread. He guessed that these slices, practically circular in shape, had been rolled out of the woods to some conveyance waiting to receive them.

What Bryce could not understand, however, was the stupid brutality of the raiders in felling the tree merely for that section of bird. By permitting the tree to stand and merely building a staging up to the bird, the latter could have been removed without vital injury to the tree—whereas by destroying the tree the wretches had evidenced all too clearly to Bryce a wanton desire to add insult to injury.

"Poor old Dad!" he murmured. "I'm glad now he has been unable to get up here and see this. It would have broken his heart. I'll have this tree made into fence posts and the stump dynamited and removed this summer. After he is operated on and gets back his sight, he will come up here—and he must never know. Perhaps he will have forgotten how many trees stood in this circle."

He paused. Peeping out from under a chip among the litter at his feet was the moldy corner of a white envelope. In an instant Bryce had it in his hand. The envelope was dirty and weatherbeaten, but to a certain extent the redwood clasp under which it had lain hidden had served to protect it, and the writing on the face was still legible. The envelope was empty and addressed to Jules Rondeau, care of the Laguna Grande Lumber Company, Sequoia, California.

Bryce read and reread that address. "Rondeau!" he muttered. "Jules Rondeau! I've heard that name before—ah, yes! Dad spoke of him last night. He's Pennington's woods-boss and—"

An enemy had done this thing—and in all the world John Cardigan had but one enemy—Colonel Seth Pennington. Had Pennington sent his woods-boss to do this dirty work out of sheer spite? Hardly. The question of the question of spite had been purely a matter of secondary consideration. Evidently, Bryce reasoned, someone had desired that Bryce Cardigan should be ruined.

Wear BECAUSE Lyons' Shoes

Grover White Rain Skin Wells, Comfort, Wear, Fit at $8.38.

LYONS SHOE MARKET

Princess Theatre

Open every night, except Mondays and Fridays, starting at 7:00 p. m. Second show at 8:30 p. m. Matinee every Wednesday afternoon at 3:30.

SATURDAY, MAY 8

Dorothy Dalton in "Quicksand"
BRAY PICTOGRAPH

SUNDAY, MAY 9

Olive Thomas in "Out Yonder"
PATHE COMEDY.
HAROLD LLOYD COMEDY

TUESDAY, MAY 11

Gladys Brockwell in "Chasing Rainbows"
GAVETY COMEDY

WEDNESDAY, MAY 12—SPECIAL
ONE DAY ONLY

Wm. Farnum

The crowned king of the drama in the mightiest success of the year

"A TALE OF TWO CITIES"

From the story written by
CHARLES DICKENS.

Superbly contrived it moves the world to sympathy and tears, delighting, astonishing and compelling the admiration of all the men and women of the earth.

Matinee at 3:30 p. m.

THURSDAY, MAY 13

"Shorty" Hamilton in a story of the west
"When Arizona Won"
PATHE ILLUSTRATED NEWS.

WATCH FOR "CHECKERS"

Interchurch World Movement.

Historically the Interchurch World Movement of North America is the logical outgrowth of a tendency of the national boards in each denomination to form working alliances among themselves, in which each board shall preserve its identity and control its own personnel and treasury.

In former times, the home mission society, the foreign mission society, the church extension society and the various philanthropic and eleemosynary agencies of any denomination conducted their affairs independently of one another. Each surveyed its own restricted territory, prepared a budget of money and workers for its own purposes and made its own appeal to its constituency for support.

This could only mean that these agencies were more or less in competition with one another, that there was waste and duplication of work and money, and that among them all some work was neglected and some denominational resources were entirely overlooked. Because of their specialized training, the leaders of each agency regarded themselves as peculiarly fitted for their tasks and jealously regarded attempts at outside interference.

After decades of such haphazard methods, the leaders of one denomination decided upon an experiment. They thought it would be possible for the agencies to get together for a common study of all opportunities and resources of their brotherhood, to make a unified budget of men and money. It was made clear that each constituent board should preserve complete autonomy.

When the board representatives met they found it possible to eliminate a great amount of organization expenses. They ultimately worked out a budget and plan of campaign that was satisfactory to all. This resulted in the famous "Men and Millions Movement" of the Disciples of Christ, which brought in what was then considered the staggering sum of $6,300,000 for a five-year program. The members of the communion were so pleased with this business-like method of conducting affairs that they contributed more generously than had been expected.

The Interchurch World Movement is simply a plan to do interdenominational work that the forward movements have done within the various communions. It means that every denominational budget will be made in the light of world needs instead of in the semi-seclusion of incomplete information. It means that one denomination will not be in wasteful competition with another, because all the fellowships will have worked out their programs together.

The movement has nothing to do with organic church union or matters of creed or doctrine. Each constituent unit preserves complete autonomy and is bound only so far as it wishes to be bound.

An illustration of one thing the movement can do is to be found in a western community of 1,600 persons, in which three denominations have been supporting separate churches with missionary funds, while an adjacent territory of 50,000 persons has only three churches. By seeing that all missionary boards are supplied with information in such cases, the movement will make possible a wiser distribution of funds.

Its first goals are to reduce unnecessary duplication and overlapping to a minimum and to bring about an intelligent division of labor in unoccupied fields. The movement is, at bottom, an attempt to put church business on the sound, rock-bottom business-like foundations upon which the great commercial institutions of America are built.

SUGAR LOAF LAKE.

Claire Rowe is now working in the postoffice at Chelsea.

Monte Davison has purchased a span of young horses.

C. A. Rowe and Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Rowe spent Sunday in Jackson.

Several from this vicinity attended the Gleaner Federation at Waterloo, Tuesday.

Miss Marie Guinan attended the teachers' examination at Ann Arbor Thursday and Friday.

Mr. Griffin has sold twelve lots on the east shore of Sugar Loaf lake, and the purchasers are building cottages on the property.

"The Apple Tree Girl."

See Miss Shirley Mason in "The Apple Tree Girl" at the M. E. church Friday night at 8 o'clock. This is a five part comedy-drama. Charlotte Martin left an orphan in her early teens works out life's problems in a way that many further along in life may well copy. A strong contrast is drawn between the leading lady and the rest of the girls in the story. This is one of Miss Mason's strong plays.

There will also be a one-part side-splitting comedy, entitled "In Love's Laboratory."

Come out for an evening of laughter. Admission, 10 cents and 5 cents.—Adv.

A Very Unusual Investment Opportunity Is Presented For a Limited Time Only

Mortgage Bonds produce 6%. They are safe; but why tie your money up in bonds at 6% when you can become a partner in a Mortgage Bond Company itself that guarantees you considerable more at once, with increasingly larger yearly earnings, and is in the safest business on earth.

We do not ask you to buy our stock; but we do ask you to give us an open mind and let us show you indisputable records of other similar corporations, and of our remarkable ten month's history.

We court the keenest investigation, such as the State Security Commission has given us, with their hearty O. K.

You owe it to yourself and to your family to give your money the largest possible earning power—

With Absolute Safety

The following records are two years old. We have many scores of other such records; and endorsements for our Corporation, from some of the leading bankers and business men in Detroit and Michigan which you ought to see.

Record of 22 Representative Trust and Mortgage Companies taken from quotations furnished by Noble & Corwin, the well known Investment Company of N. Y. City, N. Y., Feb. 14, 1918, also from statements of the various Companies.

Companies	Capital	Surplus and Profits	Par Val.	Mkt. Val.	Cash Div.
Banker's Trust Co., N. Y. City.....	$11,250,000	$12,980,100	$100	$105	20A
Brooklyn Trust Co., N. Y. City.....	1,500,000	2,155,400	100	550	20B
Central Trust Co., N. Y. City.....	5,000,000	17,478,800	100	710	21C
Equitable Trust Co., N. Y. City.....	6,000,000	13,070,700	100	315	20F
Farmer's Loan & Trust Co., N. Y. City...	5,000,000	11,077,900	100	395	18
Guarantee Trust Co., New York City...	25,000,000	26,125,400	100	338	20I
King's Trust Co., N. Y. City.....	500,000	2,743,000	100	650	21
Metropolitan Trust Co., N. Y. City.....	2,000,000	4,070,900	100	335	24
New York Life Ins. & Trust Co.....	1,000,000	4,309,900	100	900	45
New York Trust Co., N. Y. City.....	3,000,000	11,032,700	100	600	32
Title Guarantee & Trust Co., N. Y. City	5,000,000	11,706,300	100	275	20J
U. S. Mortgage & Trust Co., N. Y. City..	2,000,000	4,691,500	100	410	24M
U. S. Trust Co., N. Y. City.....	2,000,000	14,820,100	100	925	50
Union Trust Co., N. Y. City.....	3,000,000	5,211,500	100	385	16
The Bond & Guar. Trust Co., N. Y. City	5,000,000	6,112,400	100	195	16
Commercial Trust Co., Philadelphia.....	1,000,000	1,691,000	100	410	18
Fidelity Trust Co., Philadelphia.....	4,000,000	12,600,000	100	610	21
Girard Trust Co., Philadelphia.....	2,500,000	8,597,593	100	800	36
Land & Title & Trust Co., Philadelphia..	2,000,000	4,670,000	100	500	21
Northern Trust Co., Philadelphia.....	500,000	2,000,000	100	527	20
Philadelphia Trust Co., Philadelphia.....	1,000,000	5,000,000	100	725	21
Pennsylvania Co. for Ins., Etc.....	2,000,000	5,600,000	100	610	21

A. Extra Dividend paid 4-23-17, 23%	I. Extra Dividend paid 12-31-16, 12.5%
B. Extra Dividend paid 1-2-18, 5%	J. Extra Dividend paid 12-31-16, 4%
C. Extra Dividend paid 1-2-18, 16%	M. Extra Dividend paid 12-21-16, 5%
F. Extra Dividend

Average annual dividend of 22 companies, 24.75%.

When you take into consideration the enormous surplus and undivided profits of these companies as shown above, and which belongs to the stockholders, and in addition also that these same stockholders have not only received many times the amount of their original investment IN CASH DIVIDENDS, but also have received numerous Stock Dividends, one can readily see the earnings of these companies are enormous.

Tuesday of the Next Few Weeks is the day I have set aside for Chelsea. You cannot afford to ignore the present opportunity

VICTOR F. BROWN

REPRESENTING THE SECURITY MORTGAGE CORPORATION

Appointment by Mail.

Box 157, Chelsea

The Product of Experience

THE charm of the Chevrolet "FB 30" Coupe is due to its many features.

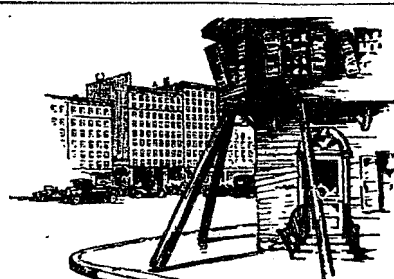

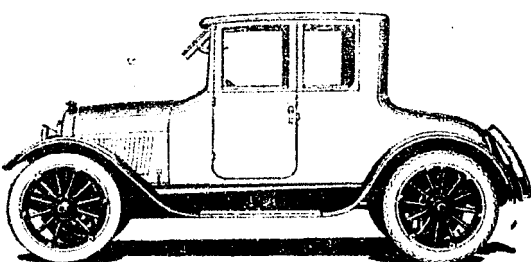

It is as convenient to handle in traffic or on the open road as a light open car. Yet it has all the protected comfort and refined luxury of the high priced limousine.

Ample capacity for four passengers and luggage, grace of line and proportion, completeness of equipment, and power that inspires confidence—these insure efficiency in the Chevrolet "FB30"

W. P. SCHENK & CO.

Buick-Chevrolet Garage

PARK ST. CHELSEA

The Cost of Upkeep

A run-down business is like a dilapidated house, the cost of putting either one back on its feet is often greater than it would be to start all over again.

To let the telephone run down, in quality of service or in mechanical equipment, would mean far more than a loss to the telephone company. It would mean a loss in business to every user of the telephone.

WE MUST HAVE YOUR SUPPORT IF YOU ARE TO HAVE THE TELEPHONE

Increased cost of living.

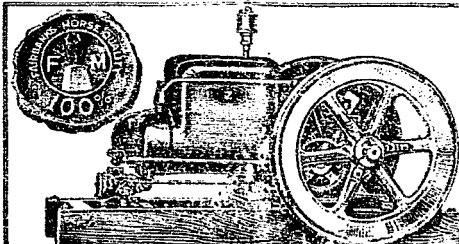

The Telephone Company is working hard to make ends meet, to keep its property in proper operating condition—and to pay wages which will secure the most intelligent and loyal service for the telephone user.

YOUR loyalty to the telephone will make it easier for us to serve you.

MICHIGAN STATE

TELEPHONE COMPANY

The "Z" Lives a Long and Useful Life

"Z" Engine endurance is proverbial—it's a lifetime engine. That's because every part liable to wear is case hardened. Push rod rollers—valve stems and cams—contact parts throughout—are made immensely hard by heat treating. They will not wear—nor will they break.

The "Z" has an extra large crankshaft. Not one has ever broken. All "Z" bearings are die-cast and removable. Every "Z" part so carefully made that it is absolutely interchangeable. Ample lubrication—positive—well-balanced, correct mechanical design—help make the "Z" the "lifetime" farm engine. On the job—dependable—powerful—always.

Other "Z" features are: Runs on kerosene; coal oil, tops, as well as gasoline; built-in Beach high tension oscillating magnet; more than rated power; every part interchangeable; clean-cut, efficient design.

Factory Prices:
1 1/2 H. P. $ 75.00
3 H. P. 125.00
6 H. P. 200.00

FREIGHT EXTRA

CHELSEA HARDWARE COMPANY
CHELSEA, MICH.

WANT COLUMN

RENTS, REAL ESTATE, FOUND, LOST, WANTED, ETC.

WANTED—A woman to do cooking for 90 persons, at State Psychopathic Hospital, Ann Arbor. A permanent position and good pay for right person.

FOR SALE—Bicycle, good as new. Cost $50, sale price $40. Hurry. Arthur Faist, Chelsea.

WANTED—Every honest, open-minded man and woman with money to invest to read my display adv. on page five in this paper, and then give me an opportunity to lay all the facts and information before you. This investment opportunity will not last long. Victor F. Brown.

LOST—Automobile license plate No. 109-366. Finder please notify Chas. Martin, Chelsea.

TRUCKING—I am prepared to do all kinds of trucking, both short and long hauls. Leave orders at the Crescent hotel, phone 75.

FOR SALE—Young sow with 7 pigs by her side. Day old chicks for sale. Phone 285.

WANTED—At once, second-hand range or cook stove. Michigan Portland Cement Co., phone 9.

WANTED—General purpose horse, weight about 1100; sound. Charles Martin.

FOR SALE—3 Shorthorn Durham bull calves, ages from 10 to 12 months. Oscar Widmayer, phone 152-F20.

FOR SALE—Two galvanized chicken coops, good as new; also small brick veneer building, material suitable for building purposes. Inquire at 118 E. Middle st. N. E. Gorman.

FOR SALE—Sow and 7 pigs. Leonard Loveland, phone 191-F5.

EGGS FOR HATCHING—S. C. Black Minorcas. Best stock. Wm. Schatz, Chelsea.

FOR RENT—7 acres upland, suitable for corn, potatoes, etc. H. H. Lyons, Chelsea.

FOR SALE—Two lots on Congdon st. Inquire of Dr. A. L. Steger.

FOR SALE—Pair young horses, also one good driving mare. A. Kaercher, phone 263, Chelsea.

FOR SALE—Two 5-panel doors, 2-6x6-6, and one 5-panel door, 2-8x6-6. Inquire at Vogel & Wursters.

FOR SALE—House and lot with garage and modern in every way. Mrs. Kate Rheinfrank, 252 Park st.

FOR SALE—House and barn with 2 acres of land; some fruit; good well. Inquire of Owen Murphy, Chelsea.

FOR SALE—New milk cows. Inquire of J. E. Dunn, phone 153-F21.

HATCHING EGGS—R. C. Rhode Island Whites and S. C. White Leghorn eggs. Fertility guaranteed. Fred Hall, 639 S. Main st.

BABY CHICKS, Barred Rocks. Orders booked now; 20 cts. each; also hatching eggs. Phone 154-F14. Sam Stadel, Chelsea, Mich.

WANTED—Hay, cornstalks, or bean pods. John Dunn, phone 153-F21.

WANTED—People who have any legal printing required in the settlement of estates, etc., to have it sent to the Standard office. The rates are universal in such matters and to have your notices appear in this paper it is only necessary to ask the probate judge to send them to the Chelsea Standard.