Caught Carrying Whisky.

John Galpon, of Detroit, came galloping into Chelsea Saturday with an electrician's kit with a brace and bit attached to the outside and innocent little piece of wire hanging where it had become caught when the cover had been closed.

John had been seen here before with the same disguise, and on this occasion an officer from the sheriff's office decided that he needed the assistance of an electrician and asked John to help him. John was busy on another job and refused to assist him. The deputy was insistent, and soon discovered that all that the case contained besides the short piece of wire was two gallons of whisky.

The pseudo electrician is now languishing in the county jail.

The deputy sheriff says that he has always heard of the "electric fluid," but never saw it in this disguise before.

Relics of the Past.

Manchester Enterprise: Some of the readers of the Enterprise may find pleasure in having attention called to social events of "ye olden time," in the form of an invitation issued for a social dance in Manchester, September 15, 1852.

"Come where sportive jest and harmless glee

Bespoke a spirit pure and free."

The managers were A. Conklin, H. Case, Wm. H. Carr, Wm. Baxter of Manchester; A. Reed of Sharon; Dr. Bancroft of Chelsea; M. Longyear of Grass Lake; G. Larzabere of Jackson; A. Piper of Clinton and S. Arnold of Dexter. Whitlark & Co. furnished the music. The invitation was printed on fine paper with embossed border.

Another invitation for a New Year ball, evidently at Clinton, says: "The managers in presenting their compliments, would respectfully solicit your company at H. Nimock's hall on Friday, Dec. 31, at 6 o'clock p. m." You see they started early and stayed late. A couplet reads:

"Dance gives joy, while cares invade,
And music cheers the evening shade."

The managers were A. Myrdoe, Clinton; H. Case, Wm. Freeman, W. H. Carr of Manchester; A. Reed, Sharon; Dr. Bancroft, Chelsea; J. Draper, Saline; W. Sherman, Brooklyn; with A. Piper and A. Conklin of Manchester as floor managers. Music by Whitlark.

It will be noticed that people went considerable distances even in these days to enjoy a social function, and roads were sometimes almost impassable for old Dobbin.

County Agent Inspects Orchards.

H. S. Oster, county farm agent, and E. B. Manwaring inspected a number of orchards in the county Thursday investigating the ravages of the canker worm.

From reports received Mr. Oster had been led to believe that the canker worm was especially destructive this year, but worms were to be found in no orchard that had been sprayed. Orchards on sod ground that had not been sprayed or cared for thoroughly were liable to be infested with the worm which eats away the leaves of the trees.

Co-operating with the Farm Bureau the farmers of Chelsea and Manchester have made arrangements to bring in loads of children to attend all day to be held at Huron Farms, June 30. Prominent breeders and authorities on agriculture from all over the state will be present and give talks and lectures.

The next meeting of the Grange will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Bahnmiller.

Mrs. Ella Beutler, of Chelsea, is spending the week at the home of her sister, Mrs. Fred Lehman.

George Walf and wife, of Jackson, have been the guests of his parents and other friends the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Dorr and children, of Detroit, spent part of last week at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Dorr.

Miss Jennie Rhoades, of Ann Arbor, has been spending the past week with her sister, Mrs. Frank Ellis, who has been seriously ill.

Miss Mildred Hayes, of Sylvan, and Misses Ruth and Marion Breitenweiser have been spending the past few days with their grandmother, Mrs. H. J. Reno.

COUNTY FARMS IN NEED OF 2000 MEN

Big Shortage of Help is Cutting Down Production.

Ann Arbor Times News: If you should see next Sunday, as you tour some of the Washtenaw county roads, farmers breaking the Stbath hoeing gardens or cultivating corn, keep in mind the fact that it may be a case of helping the oxen out of the ditch. The farmers of Washtenaw county today are short 2,000 men.

From reports gathered from twenty townships it is evident, if Washtenaw county may be taken as a criterion, that the number of people engaged in farming is far too few to feed the world.

Not only are the farmers short of men but a great majority of them desire to sell their farms, or if they are tenants, leave them, for the reason that with the present high prices farming is not a paying occupation. Foodstuffs would have to advance materially in price to enable the farmer to bid for labor in competition with plumbers or tool makers.

With a few farms in every locality where not a furrow has been turned in more than a year it is not surprising to find numerous vacant houses. On the average there are ten vacant houses in every township, or 200 in the county. High wages offered in the city and the shorter hours of labor have attracted tenants, owners and farm youth to all of the industrial centers, where houses are so short that people are living in tents and garages.

In chickens, sheep, cows, pigs and other live stock there has been a decrease in the number grown. Many of the farmers have fed their pigs and cattle at a distinct loss owing to the high cost of feeds, and much of the live stock is in poor condition, due to the high cost of grain, and lateness of pastures this spring.

CHURCH CIRCLES.

Remember the Sabbath.

By Rev. H. R. Beatty.

"The world is slowly learning that God makes no mistakes in His utterances. The law that commands a holy use of the Sabbath has back of it the wish and wisdom of God. We keep anything holy, whether it be money, time or talent, when we use it as God teaches us we should. One purpose of the Sabbath is that it should be used as a day of rest. Rest means recuperation. We should use the Sabbath to rest our bodies and thereby recover physical strength and energy. A good test question for each Sabbath evening would be, Am I physically rested or depleted in energy by what I have done this day? God's further purpose is that it should be used as a day of spiritual recuperation and He teaches us how we can best do that by private and public study of His word and by private devotion and public worship in His house with His people. A test question for each Sabbath evening is, Am I spiritually stronger tonight because of what I have done this day? Keep the Sabbath holy!"

METHODIST EPISCOPAL.

Blames D. J. & C. Railway.

By attaching a recommendation that the D. J. & C. Railway take some action to safeguard the Church street crossing in Grass Lake, the corner's jury Tuesday night in the verdict returned at the inquest over the death of Miss Marion McClenahan, virtually placed the responsibility on the railroad for the automobile-interurban car accident of June 13 in which Miss McClenahan received fatal injuries and her five companions in the motor car were also injured. The jury expressed in the verdict the opinion that the railroad company had been negligent in failing to adequately protect the crossing with warning signals.

Question.

When the workmen own the workshop
And the railroad men the rails,
And the grocery clerks the groceries
And the mail clerks own the mail.

When the preachers own the pulpits
And the pressmen own the shops,
And the drillers own the oil wells,
And the jails are owned by cops.

When the conductors own the street cars
And each driver own his bus,
Will someone tell us other folks
Whotwill become of us?

- FAITH -

The greatest word in any language is—
Faith. It is the fundamental principle of all religion—the foundation of all business.

Without faith all would be chaos. Governments, courts, banks and the institution of the family would go down in ruin.

Washington had faith at Valley Forge
—Lincoln at Gettysburg—Roosevelt had boundless faith in the American people.

To believe in something with all your heart—to be absolutely without fear of obstacle, courageous in the face of envy and smiling at defeat until it turns to victory. That is faith.

To every man and woman in the world whose confidence and good will we enjoy, we owe an obligation—to safeguard their faith.

To every person whose good fortune depends upon our good faith we are gravely responsible.

INTERNATIONAL HARVESTER COMPANY

REPAIRS made for International implements and other farm equipment by the Harvester Company are the only repairs made from the original patterns. All others are copied from copies, and in this roundabout reproduction they may lose in correctness of shape, sharpness of detail, closeness in fitting, and quality of material. These repairs are made for Deering, McCormick, Milwaukee, Titan and other International-made machines.

Genuine Repairs

Are Better in Quality
Fit Better and Wear Longer

The Harvester Company stands back of its machines. Be fair in the matter. Do not substitute imitation repairs for the genuine and expect best service. Repairs made by other concerns and marked "Made for" or "Will fit," are not genuine IHC repairs. They often lack weight, are not always correct in shape, are imperfectly finished, do not fit properly, or are made of inferior material. BREVITIES

Saline—The Saline Observer announces that, beginning July 1, the subscription price of the paper will be $2 the year instead of $1.50, which has been the price for some time.

Manchester—The brewery building burned Thursday evening, the fire originating in a room filled with sawdust, probably from spontaneous combustion. Considerable damage was done to the roof, floor, doors and windows. There was no insurance.

Hawell—Sheriff Win C. Miller raided a farm house near here and found two stills and 50 gallons of whisky. He arrested Nicholas Opre and Theodore Tritan, occupants. The defendants are bound over to the circuit court.

Stockbridge—A letter has been received from the Jackson Corset Co. with regards to locating a branch factory here, to employ from 50 to 100 ladies. This would be a nice addition to our village and we hope the deal will materialize.—Stockbridge Brief-Sun.

Tremont—Automobiles, garage machinery and garage valued at $21,000 burned early Tuesday morning when a vulcanizer exploded in a big motor sales and repair establishment owned by Floyd and Leon Williamson. Nineteen cars, including some of the village's choicest pleasure craft, were ruined.

Dexter—The many friends of Will Stoffer, who lost a limb below the knee as the result of a wound received in action overseas, will regret to learn that he has again been obliged to go to the hospital for treatment for the injured limb. He is at St. Joseph's hospital at Ann Arbor, having been there since June 8.—Dexter Leader.

Jackson—According to reports of several local motorists whose bank-rolls have been depleted by small town justices of the peace, officers in surrounding hamlets are waging a much more intensive campaign against unlicensed drivers than city authorities. One Jackson man was recently fined $10 with $5 costs attached when he was unable to produce a driver's license.—Jackson News.

Jackson—Clarence Hardigan, Jack Norris, Bernard Reiser and Stanley Bielski, all of Jackson, were arrested by deputies Saturday, charged with bringing eight quarts of whisky into Jackson in an automobile. The arrests were made four miles from the city, on the Springport road. Hardigan, asleep, held a loaded revolver in his hand. Beside the seat of Norris, the driver, was found another revolver, loaded and cocked.

Brighton—It is now almost an assured fact that an order of the Veterans of Foreign Wars will be organized in Brighton. This organization is composed of soldiers and sailors of any war who have seen service in foreign lands or on foreign waters. Quite a number of the boys in this vicinity who are eligible have signified their willingness to join, and as it requires but ten to secure a charter, it will be an easy matter to get started.—Brighton Argus.

Ypsilanti—Tuesday afternoon two airplanes were forced to make landing in J. E. Warner's clover field, just west of the city. Mr. Warner claims that considerable damage was done to his clover crop by the crowd which rushed over the field to view the airplanes. The machine that was forced to land was driven by Harry F. Slater, secretary of the Gailbird Air Line, Inc. H. B. Woodcutter, pilot of the second machine, went to the assistance of Slater. The matter was taken before Judge Stadtmiller, but it is rumored that it will be settled out of court.—Ypsilanti Record.

Manchester—The editor of the Enterprise wrote Congressman Michener last winter, asking that he use his influence in securing for Manchester one of the captured German cannon which might be mounted in a conspicuous place in the village, perhaps in the public park. A bill was introduced by Mr. Michener and in due time we hope to be able to inform our readers when the prize may be shipped. However, for certain reasons there has been delay in such matters which may continue for several months. It was our thought that the cannon should be erected in honor of the boys from this section who served in the late war. Senator Charles E. Townsend also writes us that he would use his influence in securing something worth while.—Manchester Enterprise.

Brooklyn—Riding over the good roads for week-end trips is not an un-mixed pleasure. The mixture consists of two parts of hot air and one part road dirt. The Brooklyn-Jackson highway last Saturday and Sunday was a solid procession of cars. Dust was so thick that drivers could scarcely see. A thousand wheels sucked the silt into the air, to be flavored with dead gas fumes, there to be inhaled and eaten by people who were out in the country after "fresh air." While everybody likes good roads, this mandatory manner of eating them is not entirely popular, and to the county road commission is added this problem of holding this valuable dirt where it belongs, on the road. The only present alternative is for the motorist to take "jack rabbit" trips at a slower pace over the byways.—Brooklyn Exponent.

Throttling Governor Gives Steady Speed

Every "Z" Engine is equipped with a sensitive throttling governor. Regulates the amount of fuel and air admitted to cylinder—maintains uniform speed—summer or winter, regardless of work being done.

Throttling governor enables the "Z" to use kerosene as well as gasoline—saves you money.

Governor is a complete, high grade assembly unit—not a makeshift device. Its case-hardened contact-parts resist wear. Has mighty important duties: Helps maintain uniform cylinder temperature—insures better lubrication—gives smooth, steady flow of power that saves wear and tear on driven machinery.

Other "Z" features are: Built-in Bosch high tension oscillating magneto; more than rated power; every part interchangeable; clean-cut, efficient design; long-lived endurance:

Stiff? Sore?

A lame back, a sore muscle or a stiff joint often is considered too lightly by the sufferer. It should be remembered that backache, rheumatic pains, stiffness, soreness, swollen skin and puffiness under the eyes are symptoms of kidney and bladder trouble—and these certainly should not be neglected.

Foley Kidney Pills

help the kidneys eliminate from the system the poisonous waste and acids that cause these aches and pains. They act promptly and effectively to restore weak, overworked or diseased kidneys and bladder to healthy, normal condition.

J. E. Simmons, 400 W. 50th St., Portland, Ore., writes: "I was troubled with backache and urinary trouble. I tried Foley Kidney Pills and will say that I highly recommend them to anyone troubled in that way, as they are excellent."

Michigan News Tersely Told

Marcellus—Frank Crego, 50, a farmer near Marcellus, was killed to death by a colt he was attempting to halt.

Big Rapids—The farms of Mecosta County are overrun by grasshoppers. It is feared that many crops will be ruined.

Rochester—Parke Slippery, 63 years old, well known farmer, was found in a ditch beside the road near his home. He had laid there four hours, from a stroke.

Pontiac—Dr. Eben Mumford, head of the Michigan Farm Bureau, says Oakland County leads the state in the number of its farm organizations. It has 40 community organizations.

Grand Rapids—The Gleasons Clearing House Association and the Gleasons Corporation will take over the elevator interests of the Armour Packing Co. and the Llewellyn Bean Co. July 1.

Grand Rapids—Bert Walker, Barry County farmer, fell dead at a garage, where he had placed his automobile, after driving here from Hastings, to visit his wife, who was ill at a local hospital.

Olivet—Two trucks of chloride of lime have been received here to be placed on two of the main streets. The product is considered better than oil for keeping down dust and preserving the roads.

Three thousand recruits is the newest mark set for the Michigan National Guard. Recruiting campaigns will be made in every Michigan city and town in which national guard units are stationed.

Big Rapids—William Higgins, a student in the college preparatory department of Ferris Institute, and catcher on the Institute's base ball nine, was drowned while swimming in the Muskegon River.

Hillsdale—L. P. Reynolds, who came here from Erie, Ill., for the college commencement, is 90 years old. Mr. Reynolds is the only person living whose name appeared in the first Hillsdale catalogue.

Detroit—The Lutheran Laymen's League turned over to the synd $2,000,000, invested in government securities "of this country only, mostly Liberty bonds," as an endowment to provide for "veterans of the cross" and their dependants.

Grand Rapids—The Gleason interests at a meeting here subscribed $300,000 towards the sugar beet division of the Gleasons, to be capitalized at $1,250,000. It is proposed to buy a going factory. If possible, and if none is to be had, to build one.

East Tawas—Active work of the first state park has begun on East Tawas on the shore of Tawas bay. The plans call for the construction of two bathhouses, a boat dock for launches, yachts, canoes and rowboats, open fireplaces and picnic tables.

Iron Mountain—Three men, who posed as federal agents, visited Joe Decorcins' place at Florence, Wis., near here and made a search for liquor. Not finding any they then forced Mr. Decorcins to take them to his home, where they seized a quantity of whisky valued at $5,000, making their getaway in an auto.

Detroit—Relief from inadequate sewer facilities, which result in the flooding of streets and basements in the east Jefferson avenue district after heavy rainstorms, cannot be had until Mayor Couen's $25,000,000 sewer improvement bond issue is passed and made available, according to J. R. Hendry, engineer of sewer design in the department of public works.

Kalamazoo—Clarence Stoops, aged 25, was fatally injured at the close of a day's work as elevator boy at the Peck Building, he and his 17-year-old brother, who assisted him, having been ordered by the tenant officer to give up the work. Clarence tried to jump from the car while it was descending. His head was caught between the car and the door.

Detroit—That two boys, one nine years old, the other eight, might have the pleasure of seeing the fire engines come, 11 horses were burned to death in two barn fires, according to statements made by the lads when arrested after the last blaze. According to Patrolman Bruce Phillips, who arrested the boys, the elder originated the idea by throwing lighted matches into the hay.

Owosso—Arthur Mills, 35 years of age, a fireman at a local plant, was fatally killed when a boiler exploded, hurling his body 600 feet across the Chippewa river. The boiler, weighing several tons, crashed through the roof of a house 100 feet from the factory, and moved the building a foot from its foundation. None of the occupants of the house was hurt. Mills's body was found an hour after the explosion, stripped of all the clothing, except the shoes.

Grand Rapids—District Attorney Byron H. Walker has announced that all local firms, which have been allowed to accumulate reserve stocks of sugar for sale during the canning season, must release the commodity soon so that they will be compelled to do so. With the arrival of the canning season, the local sugar situation is becoming much easier and there appears no danger of an immediate shortage, states Colonel Robert J. Bates, chief of the bureau of investigation, department of justice, in Cadillac—Mrs. R. B. Jennings, 59 years old, died of burns suffered when she fainted and pulled a scalding pot of coffee on her.

Jackson—The re-opening of old coal mines just west of the city is arousing considerable interest among owners of adjacent property.

Negaunee—John Kushisto, 28, met almost instant death in Maas mine, Negaunee, when he was hit on the back of his neck by a chunk of ore.

Traverse City—Despite combative efforts, the grasshopper pest in northern counties is spreading rapidly. Hundreds of thousands of dollars damage has been done by the pests.

Marcellus—Warren Maxam, a Marcellus farmer, 60 years old, died of lockjaw caused by a scratch caused when he accidentally rubbed his arm over the jagged jaws of a mole trap.

Flint—A special committee sent to Washington, by the city, to investigate the fuel and shipping situation, has submitted a report advising citizens to lay in their next winter's fuel supply immediately.

Flint—As a charm against cramps, Walter Perry, a Negro, aged 35, tied strings around his wrists and ankles while bathing in a river near Flint. The charm failed to work and Perry was drowned. The body was recovered.

Pontiac—Mayor F. G. Ely, of Pontiac, says he will not raise the ban on pyrotechnics for July 4. The city will have to observe a "safe and sane" Independence Day, he says. The mayor will not permit local dealers to handle fireworks.

Flint—Through an agreement ratified by the common council, the gas rate in Flint, for the next five years, will be fixed by the State Public Utilities Commission. All other regulatory powers will remain in the hands of the city officials.

Sault Ste. Marie—Devil's Island, Eagle Harbor, Marquette and White Fish Point are four places where radio compass stations and wireless stations will be established on Lake Superior for the assistance of lake navigation and to aid in life saving service.

Bay City—Nicholas Harting, court stenographer, who was removed by Judge Widdis, of the Iosco Circuit, won his appeal to the State Supreme Court. He was ousted after 23 years' service in the courts, and brought mandamus proceedings to hold his position.

Grand Rapids—Levi Moore, 8-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred J. Moore, was drowned in Muskrat Lake three miles northwest of Grattan Center, when the canvas boat in which the boy, with his father and Charles F. Feaback were fishing, suddenly was swamped.

Pontiac—Announcement has been made by the Oakland Motor Car company of authorization of an addition to its engine plant which will cost about $3,000,000. The work is to be started at once and rushed through, so that the plant will be working with double capacity by the first of the coming year.

Bay City—The Common Council has referred the demand of the gas and the traction companies for increased rates to the Public Utilities Commission. The decision follows an agreement between the city and the two companies to submit the question to the commission and to abide by its decisions for five years.

Grand Rapids—After a three-day canvass of the situation, the joint conference of the executive boards of the National Association of Retail Clothiers and the National Association of Manufacturing Clothiers at Atlantic City arrived at the conclusion that clothing prices for fall will not show any recession, says Meyer S. May, who was present.

Detroit—Detroit has been asked to open trade relations with the soviet government of Russia. Lieut. Col. R. Rowland Bek, military critic and accredited representative of the soviet Russian government, is in Detroit to obtain contracts from Detroit industries to ship commercial products to Russia, and in other ways aid in the construction of Russian industries along American lines.

Port Huron—By appropriating $2,500 to be paid to F. F. Rogers, state highway commissioner, to help pay the premium for marketing highway bonds, Port Huron is assured of a concrete road one mile long in city limits. The state highway law will not permit bonds to be sold for less than par and will not allow a premium to be paid for marketing them. Port Huron will pay premium on bonds to get road work under way.

Muskegon—A state park located on the shores of Lake Michigan within eight miles from the heart of the business section of this city is being planned for Muskegon. The old Bronson Farm, located on a low hill, with a long level beach running down to the lake is the site for the new park, and it is understood that the state will immediately start the expenditure of at least $15,000 on improvements in making the place one of the most beautiful in Michigan.

Detroit—A saving to American industry of 100,000,000 tons of coal annually is assured, it is claimed, by the invention of Elbridge C. Collins, Detroit refrigerating engineer. Discovery of a new system of power production by which boiler capacity can be increased more than 500 per cent and the efficiency of the ordinary steam plant increased 400 per cent was announced by him under the Collins method, in which sulphur dioxide is used as the gas, 50 per cent of fuel efficiency is utilized, under present

NEWS REVIEW OF CURRENT EVENTS

No Startling Features in Aftermath of the Republican Convention.

BUTLER INCIDENT SURPRISES

National Interest Soon to Center in San Francisco—Leading Candidates and Their Strength—Bolshevism in Crisis—League of Nations Weakening.

By E. F. CLIPSON.

The aftermath of the Republican national convention has been somewhat routine as aftermaths of that sort go. The usual congratulations have been extended to the winners with evidences of good sportsmanship and pledges of party fealty on the part of the near winners. Inasmuch as victory fell to the right or conservative wing of the party some disgruntlement was to be expected from the left or progressive wing, but so far, this has not been manifested in an unusual degree. Progressive candidates and leaders prominent in the convention, have with a few exceptions, maintained silence, and the assumption is that they are in seclusion, receiving first aid treatment for their wounds. Talk of a bolt is not nearly so voluminous as it was following the convention of 1916, and is not receiving serious consideration. This is not merely opinion, but a fact gleaned from the news of the day. Several eminent Progressives, notably Senator Kenyon of Iowa and Senator Lenroot of Wisconsin, climbed into the band wagon within 24 hours after the convention.

As a rule losers are treated sympathetically and charitably, but this fight has developed the unusual spectacle of one of the minor contenders venting his spleen upon the campaign and supporters of one of the big figures among the defeated. Nicholas Murray Butler, head of Columbia university, who evidently assumed that because the New York delegation supported him in the convention he was the boss of that state, has attacked the forces of Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood as hoodlums and stock gamblers who attempted to buy the presidency. He refrains from any attack on General Wood personally and indeed adopts a patronizing attitude toward that gentleman. General Wood and his principal campaign contributor, Col. William Cooper Procter, a man not associated in the public mind with stock gamblers, but rather as an affluent and somewhat prosaic manufacturer of a soap that floats, have come back characteristically and vitriolically. The burden of their reply is to the effect that Mr. Butler is a fakir who would not be able to recognize the truth if he had it under a magnifying glass. In the use of force, full and scathing words must be acknowledged that they have the better of the argument. The incident is the only discordant note that has so far developed in the band wagon and the only thing out of the ordinary in convention aftermaths. The bulk of opinion as expressed in dispatches and editorials is that college presidents may be men of much book "learning" and high ideals, but frequently very short on political wisdom.

Palpant national interest now shifts to the Democratic conclave at San Francisco. All indications are that while there will be less external heat than at Chicago, internal forces, fires and ambitions will provide quite as much combustion. Among those reasonably certain to be placed in nomination are William G. McAdoo of New York, James M. Cox, governor of Ohio; A. Mitchell Palmer, attorney general of the United States, Pennsylvania; Robert L. Owen, senator from Oklahoma; Edward I. Edwards, governor of New Jersey; Gilbert M. Hitchcock, senator from Nebraska; Hoke Smith, senator from Georgia; and John W. Davis, Virginia, ambassador to Great Britain. Vice President

Marshall, may in spite of his repeated refusals to go before the convention as a candidate for the presidency, be put in nomination by his friends. William J. Bryan is also a possibility although he has not made any positive statement as to his attitude toward the nomination.

A theory which has considerable support is that McAdoo, Palmer and Cox will deadlock the San Francisco convention much as did Wood, Lowden and Johnson the one at Chicago, and that Marshall will loom as "the Harding of democracy." He has the good will of both pro and anti-administration forces in the party and his own state—Indiana—is expected to support him in the convention just as Ohio supported Harding.

Many who believe that the election will hinge on industrial and economic problems, regard Cox as the logical man. They also believe that the fact of his coming from the same "pivotal" state as Harding will be an advantage. Their chief claim for his strength is his record while governor of Ohio as an advanced proponent of labor and social legislation. McAdoo's supporters rely upon his record as administrator of the treasury department and the railroads and his other varied activities during the war, and minimize the effects of the title "Crown Prince" which detractors have placed upon him as the son-in-law and political heir of the president. Palmer, while not so strong with labor as some of the other candidates and who is also looked upon with suspicion by some of the prohibitionists, is probably, next to McAdoo, regarded most favorably by the administration. He relies considerably upon his record as custodian during the war of alien property and later as attorney general.

That it will be an interesting convention is certain. And they do say that an effort will be made to get a wet, or at least moist, plank into the platform, which assures that Mr. Bryan will be heard from.

Most of the talk of a third party in the campaign is centered in the announcement of the "Committee of Forty-eight" of an intention to meet in Chicago July 10 to nominate candidates for president and vice president and formulate a platform. Inasmuch as this committee is made up of individuals who must be classed as the extreme left wing of all parties, fervent radicals so to speak, it must rely for its support upon the discontented elements of other parties. It remains to be seen whether this would draw more largely from one of the old parties than the other. In a questionnaire sent out by the committee which netted 21,000 replies, it is stated that Senator Robert M. La Follette of Wisconsin far ahead as a choice for the presidential nomination.

Bolshevism in Russia appears to be marshaling its forces for one grand smash to prevent going to smash under the disintegrating forces at home. The military machine organized by Trotsky, the erstwhile reporter on a Jewish newspaper in New York, is said to number 1,500,000 men. It has swept Kotechak, Semenov and Denikin, god fighters and strategists, from its path. Poland alone is its only barrier against western Europe and the Poles are at death grips with it in the Pripiet district and along the Dniester river. Trotsky's success has been due to the imprisonment of the military brains of the czaristic regime into his cause. They were offered the alternative of giving their aid or suffering extinction.

The Poles have withdrawn from the Kiev region under the pressure of 33 red divisions. In the Caucasus bolshevik agents are organizing resistance to the influence of England and France. An expert in assassination has been sent to counsel and intrigue with the Persians. In India the bolshevik poison has been working for many months. In London Krasin, the bolshevik emissary, is negotiating for peace and trade. Poland's peace terms, offered weeks ago, have not borne fruit. Russia appears to be the key of the world situation but the nations do not know how to use it.

On the other side of the picture comes the news that anti-bolshevik forces under General Wrangel have achieved important successes on the Crimean front and are moving northward from the Crimea and Sea of Azov

In three strong parallel columns. But more important is the information that all Russia is ready to revolt against the tyranny of the bolsheviks, their rotten government and the breaking of promises by Lenin. The ignorant peasantry and workmen, easy to fool and slow to awake, are coming to a realization that the idealistic principles of their present rulers, which promised them a heaven on earth, are taking them to the opposite destination and that they are oppressed by militarism and dictatorship worse than the despotism against which they revolted. These conditions will inevitably create an explosion. It seems probable that the world's use of the Russian key will be determined by the Russian people themselves.

Japan proclaims sincerity in being willing to negotiate with China for the return to that nation of the Shantung peninsula. The peace treaty gave the German rights in Shantung to Japan. A note to China from Japan says she is willing to accomplish restoration and is anxious to enter negotiations to that end. China is requested to expedite the organization of a police force for the Shantung railroad to permit the withdrawal of Japanese troops. This attitude of Japan in view of all that has been said about the Shantung question is surprising and international circles are wondering if some hitch will not appear in the direct negotiations.

Inability of the council of the League of Nations which recently closed a session in London to afford relief to the Persian situation causes grave fears in certain English circles that the league will suffer an early demise. The council was convened on the request of Persia to deal with bolshevik aggression at Enxell. After a session of three days the council was forced to admit that it could do nothing. It was the first case under article X by which the powers are pledged to united action in defending the territory of league members against aggression. In effect the council's advice to Persia was to open direct negotiations for settlement with the soviet government. In the house of commons Andrew Bonar Law, government spokesman, stated that Great Britain would not increase its military commitments in Mesopotamia and Persia but would on the contrary reduce them to decrease expenditures.

The recent resignation of four European cabinets—the Italian, Polish, Hungarian and Austrian—is significant of the difficulty being experienced in adapting policies and economic conditions to the peace terms. The reichstag elections in Germany have produced a cabinet snarl which will be hard to unravel. Indications are that these crises will continue as the political situation in none of the countries has crystallized to a sufficient extent to furnish effective working majorities behind the cabinets.

According to predictions by leaders among ex-servicemen, the convention of the American Legion scheduled to take place in Cleveland, O., September 27, 28 and 29, while nonpolitical in character, will rival in national interest the Republican and Democratic conventions. It is to be a grand rally of war veterans in which issues vital to the United States and all its people are to be considered. The assertion is made that there will be no "pussy-footing" on critical problems by the direct representatives of more than 2,000,000 fighting men and other millions who share their views.

No news of important disorders in Mexico has come to hand of late and observers of that situation express the view that the revolution has produced a real period of quiet. This no doubt is largely due to the fact that the Mexican people are tired out for the time being and if they do not propose to have permanently settled conditions are satisfied to let matters rest until the various factions can gain a second wind. But there is more optimism in reports than at any time during the past seven years. People are said to be returning to work and only in Chihuahua where Villa is operating is there any great amount of unrest. The present government is pledged to get Villa dead or alive.

THE MISERY OF BACKACHE

Removed by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Muskegon, Mich.—"For six years I was so weak in my back at times that I could hardly walk. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was recommended to me and it made me good and strong again so that I am able to do all my work. I highly recommend your medicine and tell everyone I meet what it did for me."
—Mrs. G. SCROONFIELD, 240 Wood Ave., Muskegon, Mich.

Woman's Precious Gift

The one which she should most zealously guard is her health, but she often neglects to do so in season until some ailment peculiar to her sex has fastened itself upon her. When so affected women may rely upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a remedy that has been wonderfully successful in restoring health to suffering women.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

ECZEMA!

THIS isn't one of those fake free treatment offers you have seen so many times. We don't offer to give you something for nothing—but we do guarantee that you can try this wonderful treatment, entirely at our risk, and this guarantee is backed by your local druggist.

This makes the offer one which you can absolutely depend upon, because the druggist with whom you have been trading would not stand behind the guarantee if he did not know it to be an honest and legitimate one.

Hunt's Salve, formerly called Hunt's Cure, has been sold under absolute money back guarantee for more than thirty years. It is especially compounded for the treatment of Eczema, Itch, Ring Worm, Tetter, and other itching skin diseases.

Thousands of letters testify to its curative properties. M. Tinnerlin, a reputable drug goods dealer in Durant, Oklahoma, says: "I suffered with Eczema for ten years, and spent $1,000.00 for doctors' treatments, without result. One box of Hunt's Cure entirely cured me."

Don't fail to give Hunt's Salve a trial—price 75 cents, from your local druggist, or direct by mail if he does not handle it.

HOW SHIPS GET LATE MAIL JUST ACTING LIKE A MAN

Airplanes Used to Overtake Liners and Drop Bags While the Vessel is Traveling.

Simple Explanation of Wife's Action When She Suspected Burglar Was Downstairs.

Experiments have proved it entirely practicable to deliver belated transatlantic mail steamers at sea by air-planes.

The ship may have taken its departure several hours previously, yet the flying machine, with a speed of 100 miles or more an hour, can easily catch up with it and put the mail aboard.

A plane of the "flying boat" type is used for this purpose, and the waterproof mail bag is held in a chute on the side of the hull. The aviator flies over the ship and the rigging entangles a long line dropped from the plane that has grapple talls on its end. This line is attached to the mail bag, which, when the grapple talls catch, is jerked out of its chute, falling into the sea.

It is then an easy matter to haul the mail bag aboard, while the steamer continues its uninterrupted voyage.

A Big Drive.

"I wonder this rotten club doesn't drive you to matrimony."

"My dear sir, matrimony drove me to this club."—Pan.

That expression, "giving around," probably started from the ordinary behavior of the cave man.

This time of year it's a good idea to combine fresh fruit or berries with your morning dish of Grape-Nuts. The blend of flavor proves delightful and is in tune with June. "There's a Reason"

STATE FAIR COSTS GOING UP; MINN. CHARGES MORE

Hamline, Minn.—With the cost of operating a fair having increased 50 per cent, the Minnesota State Fair has been forced to announce a new schedule of admission prices. General admission to the grounds has been advanced from 50 to 75 cents, but the management is endeavoring to keep prices down for all attractions with in the gate.

Detroit, Mich.—George W. Dickinson, Secretary-Manager of the Michigan State Fair, when told of the advance in the admittance fee of the Minnesota State Fair, said that he had no comment to make as yet. He declared he is doing his best to keep costs down, but he said it is obvious that good management dictates that a fair should pay its own way, and that he meant to increase rather than cut down the quality of the features of the Michigan Fair.

Monroe—Alleged pollution of the River Raisin is blamed by residents of Dundee and the Monroe district for the destruction during the past week or ten days of thousands of fish, including many black bass and other game species. Because of the stench along the river, farmers are gathering the dead fish and either burning them or using them for fertilizer. Specimens of the fish are being preserved on ice and experts of the game and fish department will be asked to determine what is killing the fish.

Jackson—The left leg of Robert Crowley, 8 years old, was nearly severed between the knee and the ankle Friday when he fell in front of mowing machine on the farm of his aunt, Mrs. Ella Fisher, one mile west of Jackson. He may die.

The parties who found the Pythian Sister's letter on the street Wednesday, are requested to leave it at the Standard office.—Adv.

The Product of Experience

THE value of Chevrolet Light Delivery Cars to merchants is as certain as simple arithmetic.

By vastly increasing the territory and the number of customers that can be served the Chevrolet increases the volume and profits of business.

They save time and labor in the general handling of merchandise.

Their dependability and economy of operation can be proven by figures on record.

James Lingane is reported as being very ill at the home of his brother Patrick Lingane, of Sydon.

Smith's band, of Chelsea, will furnish music for the celebration at Stockbridge Monday, July 5.

Joseph Schnebelt has installed a power flour sifting machine to the equipment of his Chelsea bakery.

The business men of Brighton have completed arrangements for a celebration in that village on Monday, July 5.

A number of Chelsea motorists and drivers of horse-drawn vehicles were taught the rules of the road by a motorcycle cop Tuesday.

Erwin J. Otis, son of W. D. Otis, underwent the operation of having his tonsils removed at St. Joseph's sanitarium at Ann Arbor, Wednesday. Dexter Leader.

Mr. and Mrs. George Seitz, who have been living in Jackson for some time, have moved into the residence on East Summit street which they recently purchased.

Miss Lena Schwickerath, who has been in the hospital in Ann Arbor since the first of the year, returned to her home in Chelsea last week very much improved in health.

A number of the relatives and former neighbors of Mrs. George Miller met with her Sunday at her farm home in Lyndon, and spent a very enjoyable day. A bounteous dinner was served.

J. N. Dancer has sold the farm just west of Chelsea, formerly owned by Ives Bros., to Tracy Babcock of Jackson. Mr. Babcock expects to move to the farm the coming fall.

St. Mary academy closed its school year last Friday. In the evening the pupils gave an entertainment in St. Mary's hall entitled "The Gypsy Queen," which was well presented, and the auditorium was filled to capacity.

As the government of Poland is floating a loan in this country, the proceeds to be used for the rehabilitation of Poland, Governor Sleeper has issued a proclamation designating Sunday, June 27, as Polish day in Michigan.

The Chelsea Fishing Club on Wednesday received twenty-three cans of black bass fry from the state fish commission, which were planted in the nearby lakes. It was estimated that there were about 40,000 of the fry in the shipment.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Dues and Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Obermiller, of Dover, Ohio, spent several days of the past week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Burg. The young people were here on an automobile wedding trip. The young men are nephews of Mrs. Burg.

Rev. G. W. Krause delivered the baccalaureate sermon to the class of 1920 of the Chelsea high school at the M. E. church Sunday evening. The large auditorium was filled with the friends of the class, and all were highly pleased with the address. The choir of St. Paul's church furnished excellent music.

The postoffice department has issued an order that all rural mail boxes must be placed on the right hand side of the road, as regards the direction the carrier is driving, in order that he may not cross the road in front of the traffic to reach the box. Nearly all of the boxes in this vicinity have been correctly placed, and the owners of those which have not been changed will receive a notice ordering the change to be made.

Notwithstanding the fact that notices have been posted all over the village forbidding bicycle riding on the sidewalks, riders continue to monopolize them, and it is dangerous for pedestrians to keep to the walks. Saturday forenoon a boy riding at a fast pace struck a young lady and bruised her badly. The rider also received some painful bruises, and will undoubtedly be a little more careful in the future.

Youths between the ages of 16 and 20 may have their vacation expenses paid by the United States government and at the same time sample life in the navy. Boys between these ages who pass the physical requirements may with their parents' consent enter the navy for a three-months training term at the Great Lakes station during the summer. They must apply before July 14. They will receive $33 per month compensation and clothing allowance, but will be required to pay their own expenses enroute to Great Lakes.

The last date for filing petitions of nomination for county officers will be July 31. The minimum number of signers for republicans is 110 and the maximum is 220, while the minimum for democrats is 60 and the maximum 120.

Miss Sylvia Runciman has completed her duties as teacher in the Brighton schools, and is visiting her mother, Mrs. G. A. Runciman. Miss Runciman will leave Sunday for Birmingham, Alabama, where she will teach for several months in the industrial school for girls.

An automobile driven by Jackson parties at 3 o'clock Wednesday morning went through the fence at the intersection of Main street and the Territorial road and the machine was overturned, but the occupants escaped unhurt. The machine was being driven at a high rate of speed and the driver did not see the turn until it was too late to make it.

About 8:30 o'clock Friday night the locomotive of a Michigan Central freight train broke down at the track pan at Four Mile Lake, and the train was brought to a stop near the home of A. D. Baldwin. While the conductor was at the local telegraph office making a report, someone entered the caboose on the train and stole a suit of clothes belonging to him.

Men enlisted in the army between April 1, 1917, and February 28, 1919, will not be subject to the new regulations which prohibit re-enlistments in the army for terms of less than three years. Under the new requirements, recruits who have seen no previous service may enlist for one-year periods if they choose, but men with previous records, with the exceptions above noted, must enlist for the full three years.

Distribution of 4,765,000 Victory medals to members of the army, navy and marine corps who were in service between April 6, 1917, and November 11, 1918, began Monday. In addition to the medal itself, the war department has authorized the issuance of thirteen "combat or major clasps" and a "defensive sector clasp," to be worn on the ribbon with the medal, and five overseas clasps for troops not entitled to the battle insignia.

The marriage of Miss Irene Howley of Adrian, and Mr. Reuben G. Foster of Ann Arbor, took place in the Catholic church at Adrian at 8:30 o'clock Tuesday morning. The bridegroom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Foster and was a former resident of Chelsea. He served overseas in the World war. Mr. and Mrs. Foster will make their home in Ann Arbor. Those from Chelsea who attended the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Wm. R. Wheeler and Mrs. Edward Beissel.

CHAPTER XII.

When Bryce Cardigan walked down the gangplank at the steamship dock in San Francisco, the first face he saw among the waiting crowd was Buck Ogilvy's. Ogilvy thrust forth a great speckled paw for Bryce to shake. Bryce ignored it.

"Why, don't you remember me?" Ogilvy demanded. "I'm Buck Ogilvy."

Bryce looked him fairly in the eye and favored him with a lightning wink. "I have never heard of you, Mr. Ogilvy. You are mistaking me for some one else."

"Sorry," Ogilvy murmured. "My mistake. Thought you were Bill Kerrick, who used to be a partner of mine."

Bryce nodded and passed on, halted a taxicab, and was driven to the San Francisco office of his company. Five minutes later the door opened and Buck Ogilvy entered.

"I was a bit puzzled at the dock, Bryce," he explained as they shook hands, "but decided to play safe and then follow you to your office. What's up? Have you killed somebody, and are the detectives on your trail? If so, fess up and I'll assume the responsibility for your crime, just to show you how grateful I am for that hundred."

"No I wasn't being shadowed, Buck, but my principal enemy was coming down the gangplank right behind me, and—"

"So was my principal enemy," Ogilvy interrupted. "What does our enemy look like?"

"Like ready money. And if he had seen me shaking hands with you, he'd have suspected a connection between us later on. Buck, you have a good job—about five hundred a month."

"Thanks, old man. I'd work for you for nothing. What are we going to do?"

"Build twelve miles of logging railroad and parallel the line of the old wolf I spoke of a moment ago."

"Good news! We'll do it. How soon do you want it done?"

"As soon as possible. You're the vice president and general manager."

"I accept the nomination. What do I do first?"

"Listen carefully to my story, analyze my plan for possible weak spots, and then get busy, because after I have provided the funds and given the word 'Go!' the rest is up to you. I must not be known in the transaction at all, because that would be fatal."

Three hours later Ogilvy was in possession of the most minute details of the situation in Sequoia, had tabulated, indexed and cross-indexed them in his ingenious brain and was ready for business—and so announced himself. Always an enthusiast in all things, in his mind's eye Mr. Ogilvy could already see a long trainload of logs coming down the Northern California & Oregon railroad, as he and Bryce had decided to christen the venture.

When Bryce Cardigan returned to Sequoia, his labors, in so far as the building of the road were concerned, had been completed. His agreement with Gregory of the Trinidad Redwood Timber company had been signed, sealed and delivered; the money to build the road had been deposited in bank; and Buck Ogilvy was already spending it like a drunken sailor.

From now on, Bryce could only watch, wait and pray.

On the next steamer a surveying party with complete camping equipment arrived in Sequoia, purchased a wagon and two horses, piled their dunnage into the wagon, and disappeared up-country. Hard on their heels came Mr. Buck Ogilvy, and occupied the bridal suite in the Hotel Sequoia, arrangements for which had previously been made by wire. In the sitting room of the suite Mr. Ogilvy installed a new desk, a filing cabinet, and a brisk young male secretary.

He had been in town less than an hour when the editor of the Sequoia Sentinel sent up his card. The announcement of the incorporation of the California Outrage (for so had Mr. Ogilvy, in large enjoyment of the irony he was about to create, dubbed the road) had previously been flashed to the Sentinel by the United Press association, as a local feature story, and already speculation was rife in Sequoia as to the identity of the hare-brained individuals who dared to back an enterprise as nebulous as the millennium. Mr. Ogilvy was expecting the visit—in fact, impatiently awaiting it; and since the easiest thing he did was to speak for publication, naturally the editor of the Sentinel got a story which, to that individual's simple soul, seemed to warrant a seven-column head—which it received.

In glowing terms he spoke of the billions of tons of timber-products to be hauled out of this wonderfully fertile and little-known country, and confidently predicted for the county a future commercial supremacy that would be simply staggering to contemplate.

When Colonel Seth Pennington read this outburst he smiled. "That's a bright scheme on the part of that Trinidad Redwood Timber company gang to start a railroad excitement and unload their white elephant," he declared.

When Bryce Cardigan read it, he laughed. The interview was so like Buck Ogilvy! In the morning the latter's automobile was brought up from the steamship dock, and accompanied by his secretary, Mr. Ogilvy disappeared into the north following the bright new stakes of his surveying gang, and for three weeks was seen no more.

On a day when Bryce's mind happened to be occupied with thoughts of Shirley Sumner, he bumped into her on the main street of Sequoia, and to her great relief but profound surprise, he pressed in his tracks, lifted his hat, smiled, and opened his mouth to say something—thought better of it, changed his mind, and continued on about his business. As Shirley passed him, she looked him squarely in the face, and in her glance there was neither coldness nor malice.

Bryce felt himself able from feeds to hair one instant, and cold and clammy the next, for Shirley spoke to him. "Good morning, Mr. Cardigan."

He paused, turned, and approached her. "Good morning, Shirley," he replied. "How have you been?"

"I might have been dead, for all the interest you took in me," she replied sharply. "As matters stand, I'm exceedingly well—thank you. By the way, are you still belligerent?"

He nodded. "I have to be."

"I think you're a great big grouch, Bryce Cardigan," she flared at him. "You make me unutterably weary."

"I'm sorry," he answered, "but just at present I am forced to subject you to the strain. Say a year from now, when things are different with me, I'll strive not to offend."

"I'll not be here a year from now," she warned him.

He bowed. "Then I'll go wherever you are—and bring you back." And with a mocking little grin, he lifted his hat and passed on.

Col. Seth Pennington was among those who, skeptical at first and inclined to ridicule the project into an early grave, eventually found himself swayed by the publicity and gradually coerced into serious consideration of the results attendant upon the building of the road. The Colonel was naturally as suspicious as a rattlesnake in August; hence he had no sooner emerged from the ranks of the frank scoffers than his alert mind framed the question:

"How is this new road—improbable as I know it to be—going to affect the interests of the Laguna Grande Lumber company, if the unexpected should happen and those huncos-steers should actually build a road from Sequoia to Grant's Pass, Ore., and thus construct a feeder to a trans-continental line?"

Five minutes of serious reflection sufficed to bring the Colonel to the verge of panic, notwithstanding the fact that he was ashamed of himself for yielding to fright despite his firm belief that there was no reason why he should be frightened. Similar considerations occur to a small boy who is walking home in the dark past a cemetery.

The vital aspects of his problem dawned on the Colonel one night at dinner, midway between the soup and the fish. So forcibly did they occur to him, in fact, that for the nonce he forgot that his niece was seated opposite him.

"Confound them," the Colonel murmured distinctly, "I must look into this immediately."

"Look into what, uncle dear?" Shirley asked innocently.

"This new railroad that man Ogilvy talks of building—which means, Shirley, that with Sequoia as his starting point, he is going to build a hundred and fifty miles north to connect with the main line of the Southern Pacific in Oregon."

"But couldn't that be the finest thing that could possibly happen to Humboldt county?" she demanded of him.

"Undoubtedly it would—to Humboldt county; but to the Laguna Grande Lumber company, in which you have something more than a sentimental interest, my dear, it would be a blow. A large part of the estate left by your father is invested in Laguna

"I'll Not Be Here a Year From Now," She Warned Him.

Grande stock, and as you know, all of my efforts are devoted to appreciating that stock and to fighting against anything that has a tendency to depreciate it."

Carefully he dissected a sand-dab and removed the backbone. "I'd give a ripe peach to learn the identity of the scheming butinsky who bought old Cardigan's Valley of the Giants," he said presently. "I'll be hanged if that doesn't complicate matters a little."

"You should have bought it when the opportunity offered," she reminded him.

"I dare say," he admitted lightly. "However, I didn't and now I'm going to be punished for it, my dear; so don't roast me any more. By the way, that speckled hot-air fellow Ogilvy, who is promoting the Northern California & Oregon railroad, is back in town again. I think I'll wire the San Francisco office to look him up in Dun's and Bradstreet's. I'll sleep a whole lot more soundly to-night if I knew the answer to two very important questions."

"What are they, Uncle Seth?"

"Well, I'd like to know whether the N. C. O. is genuine or a screen to hide the operations of the Trinidad Redwood Timber company."

"It might," said Shirley, with one of those sudden flashes of intuition peculiar to women, "be a screen to hide the operations of Bryce Cardigan. Now that he knows you aren't going to renew his lusting contract, he may have decided to build his own logging railroad."

After a pause the Colonel made answer: "No, I have no fear of that. It would cost five hundred thousand dollars to build that twelve-mile line and bridge Mad river, and the Cardigans haven't got that amount of money. What's more, they can't get it."

"But suppose," she persisted, "that the real builder of the road should prove to be Bryce Cardigan, after all. What would you do?"

Colonel Pennington's eyes twinkled. "I greatly fear, my dear, I should make a noise like something doing. And as for Bryce Cardigan—well, that young man would certainly know he'd been through a fight."

"I wonder if he'll fight to the last, Uncle Seth."

"Why, I believe he will," Pennington replied soberly.

"I'd love to see you heat him."

"Shirley! Why my dear, you're growing ferocious." Her uncle's tones were laden with humor, but his countenance could not conceal the pleasure her last remark had given him.

Shirley thrust out her adorable chin aggressively. "Slek 'em, Tige!" she answered. "Shake 'em up, boy!"

"You bet I'll shake 'em up," the Colonel declared joyously. He paused with a morsel of food on his fork and waved the fork at her aggressively. "You stimulate me into activity, Shirley. My mind has been singularly dull of late; I have worried unnecessarily, but now that I know that you are with me, I am inspired. I'll tell you how we'll fix this new railroad, if it exhibits signs of being dangerous." Again he smote the table. "We'll sew 'em up tighter than a new buttonhole."

"Do tell me how," she pleaded eagerly.

"I'll block them on their franchise to run over the city streets of Sequoia."

"How?"

"By making the mayor and the city council see things my way," he answered dryly. "Furthermore, in order to enter Sequoia, the N. C. O. will have to cross the tracks of the Laguna Grande Lumber company's line on Water street—make a jump-crossing—and I'll enjoin them and hold them up in the courts till the cows come home."

"Uncle Seth, you're a wizard."

"Well, at least I'm no slouch at looking after my own interests—and yours, Shirley. In the midst of peace we should be prepared for war. You've met Mayor Poundstone and his lady, haven't you?"

"I had tea at her house last week."

"Good news. Suppose you invite her and Poundstone here for dinner some night this week. Just a quiet little family dinner, Shirley, and after dinner you can take Mrs. Poundstone upstairs, on some pretext or other while I sound Poundstone out on his attitude toward the N. C. O."

She nodded. "I shall attend to the matter, Uncle Seth."

Five minutes after dinner was over, Shirley joined her uncle in the library and announced that His Honor the Mayor, and Mrs. Poundstone, would be delighted to dine with them on the following Thursday night.

CHAPTER XIII

To return to Bryce Cardigan:

Having completed his preliminary plans to build the N. C. O., Bryce had returned to Sequoia, prepared to sit quietly on the side lines and watch his peppery henchman Ogilvy go into action.

Ogilvy's return to Sequoia following his three-weeks tour in search of rights of way for the N. C. O. was heralded by a visit from him to Bryce Cardigan at the latter's office. As he breasted the counter in the general office, Mollie McTavish left her desk and came over to see what the visitor desired.

"I should like to see Mr. Bryce Cardigan," Buck began in crisp businesslike accents. He was fumbling in his card-case and did not look up until about to hand his card to Mollie, when his mouth flew half open, the while he stared at her with consummate frankness. The girl's glance met his momentarily, then was lowered modestly; she took the card and carried it to Bryce.

"Hum-n-hum!" Bryce granted. "That nifty fellow Ogilvy, eh?"

"His clothes are simply wonderful—and so is his voice. He's very refined. But he's carrot red and has freckled hands," Mr. Bryce.

Bryce rose and sauntered into the general office.

"Mr. Bryce Cardigan?" Buck queried.

"At your service, Mr. Ogilvy. Please come in."

"Thank you so much, sir." He followed Bryce to the latter's private office, closed the door carefully behind him, and stood with his broad back against it.

"Buck, are you losing your mind?" Bryce demanded.

"Losing it? I should say not. I've just lost it."

"I believe you. If you were quite sane, you wouldn't run the risk of being seen entering my office."

"Tut-tut, old dear! None of that! Am I not the mainspring of the Northern California Oregon railroad and privileged to run the destinies of that soulless corporation as I see fit?" He sat down, crossed his long legs, and jerked a speckled thumb toward the outer office. "I was same when I came in here, but the eyes of the girl outside—oh, you, them eyes! I must be introduced to her."

"Love at first sight, eh, Buck?"

"I don't know what it is, but it's nice. Who is she?"

"She's Mollie McTavish, and you're not to make love to her. Understand? I can't have you swooning around this office after tea."

Mr. Ogilvy's eyes popped with interest. "Oh," he breathed. "You have an eye to the main chance yourself, have you? Have you proposed to the lady as yet?"

"No, you idiot."

"Then I'll natch you for her—or rather for the chance to propose first."

"Nothing doing, Buck. Spare yourself these agonizing suspicions. The fact of the matter is that you give me a wonderful inspiration. I've always been afraid Mollie would fall in love with some ordinary fellow around Sequoia—propinquity, you know."

"You bet. Propinquity's the stuff. I'll stick around."

"—and I've been on the lookout for a fine man to marry her off to. She's too wonderful for you, Buck, but in time you might learn to live up to her."

"Duck! I'm liable to kiss you."

"Don't be too precipitate. Her father used to be our woods-boss. I fired him for boozing."

"I wouldn't care two hoots if her dad was old Nick himself. I'm going to marry her—if she'll have me. Ah, the glorious creature!" He waved his long arms despairingly. "O Lord, send me a cure for freckles. Bryce, you'll speak a kind word for me, won't you—sort of boom my stock, eh? Be a good fellow."

"Certainly. Now come down to earth and render a report on your stewardship."

"I'll try. To begin, I've secured rights of way, at a total cost of twelve thousand, one hundred and three dollars and nine cents, from the city limits of Sequoia to the southern boundary of your timber in Township nine. I've got my blue surveyed, and so far as the building of the road is concerned, I know exactly what I'm going to do, and how and when I'm going to do it, once I get my material on the ground."

"I have an option of a rattling good second-hand locomotive down at the Santa Fe shops, and the Hawkins & Barnes Construction company has offered me a steam shovel, half a dozen flat-cars, and a lot of fresnos and scrapers at ruinous prices. We can buy or rent teams from local citizens and get half of our labor locally. And as soon as you tell me how I'm to get my material ashore and out on the job, I'll order it and get busy."

"That's exactly where the shoe begins to pinch. Pennington's main-line tracks enter the city along Water street, with one spur into his log-dump and another out on his mill-dock. From the main-line tracks we also have built a spur through our dry-dock yard out to our log-dump and a switch-line out to our mill-dock. We can unload our locomotive, steam shovel, and flat-cars on our own wharf, but unless Pennington gives us permission to use his main-line tracks out to a point beyond the city limits—where a Y will lead off to where the point of construction begins—we're up a stump."

"Suppose he refuses, Bryce. What then?"

"Why, we'll simply have to enter the city down Front street, paralleling Pennington's tracks on Water street, turning down B street, making a jump-crossing of Pennington's line on Water street, and connecting with the spur into our yard."

"See here, my son," Buck said solemnly. "Is this your first adventure in railroad building?"

Bryce nodded.

"I thought so; otherwise you wouldn't talk so confidently of running your line over city streets and making jump-crossings on your competitor's road. If your competitor regards you as a menace to his pocket-book, he can give you a nice little run for your money and delay you indefinitely."

"I realize that, Buck. That's why I'm not appearing in this railroad deal at all. If Pennington suspected I was back of it, he'd fight me before the city council and move heaven and earth to keep me out of a franchise to use the city streets and cross his line. Of course, since his main line runs on city property, under a franchise granted by the city, the city has a perfect right to grant me the privilege of making a jump-crossing of his line."

"Will they do it? That's the problem. If they will not, you're licked, my son, and I'm out of a job."

Bryce hung his head thoughtfully. "I've been too cocksure," he muttered presently. "I shouldn't have spent that twelve thousand for rights of way until I had settled the matter of the franchise."

"Oh, I didn't buy any rights of way yet," Ogilvy hastened to assure him. "I've only signed the land-owners up on an agreement to give or sell me a right of way at the stipulated figures any time within one year from date. Will the city council grant you a franchise to enter the city and jump Pennington's tracks?"

"I'm sure I don't know, Buck. You'll have to ask them—sound them out. The council meets Saturday morning."

"They'll meet this evening—in the private dining room of the Hotel Sequoia, if I can arrange it." Buck Ogilvy declared emphatically. "I'm going to have them all up for dinner and talk the matter over. I know the breed from cover to cover. Following a preliminary conference, I'll let you know whether you're going to get that franchise without difficulty or whether somebody's telly palm will have to be crossed with silver first. By the way, what do you know about your lighted old city council, say way?"

Arbor Day.

Arbor day was originated by J. Sterling Morton in Nebraska, January 4, 1872. The day was first observed in Missouri in 1889 when the legislature passed a law fixing the first Friday after the first Tuesday in April as a day when trees should be planted. In many of the schools in the country the day is observed.

In Case of Fainting.

One day in school the teacher asked us what we would do in case of fainting. A pupil quickly answered: "Throw water on yourself!"

One Friend Less.

One of my most embarrassing moments came soon after I was married, when I met an old acquaintance and begged to know why she had never yet been to call upon me. Rather coldly she replied: "I did not know that you wished me to, as I received no announcement of your marriage." Rather horrified and embarrassed to think she had been forgotten when the lists were made up, I lost my head and blurted out: "Oh, but you know we only sent those to our friends." Naturally after that I had one friend less.

Accommodating.

"Stop—hey, stop," yelled an excited looking farmer, running toward the road as we passed in our car. My friend put on the brakes and ran back to give first aid, when the farmer turned and beckoned frantically to a little boy who came from the house to the road and then close to the car. "Look it over," said his father as the boy walked all around us. "This running machine is called an auto."

"All right," said the boy at last. "I saw enough of it," and we were allowed to proceed.—Exchange.

Here's Something Worth Knowing.

Listen to this, fishermen. There's a man residing in New York state who has discovered a reliable way to learn when the fish are biting, without going to a stream and trying his luck. Here is the formula: Catch and keep alive a catfish. When you wish to go fishing, dig some worms and throw them to the catfish. If he eats them, the fish will bite; but if he doesn't, you might as well stay at home.—Exchange.

LABOR DECIDES TO FIGHT LIVING COST

A. F. OF L. PLANS TO ESTABLISH AND CONDUCT STORES ON CO-OPERATIVE PLAN.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS INDORSED

Fact Resolution Passed After Fight—U. S. Rail Ownership Also Approved.

Montreal.—The American Federation of Labor, before adjournment of its annual convention here, decided it would fight "criminal profiteering" and the high cost of living by the co-operative movement. It pledged its assistance to local and central bodies by establishing and operating co-operative stores.

A levy was approved of $1 on every local union to establish a bureau of co-operation for "promoting and advancing the cause of true co-operation in the United States and Canada."

"The workers recognize clearly," said the report approved by the Federation, "that if they establish and operate their own retail and wholesale stores honestly and efficiently, patronizing them loyally, they will reduce the cost of living at least to the degree that the private retail merchant and middleman have been profiteering upon them."

After a stormy session, the federation indorsed the League of Nations without reservations. The league was bitterly opposed by Irish sympathizers, who were supported by the progressive wing of the Federation.

The executive council also was instructed to consider a plan which ultimately would result in labor procuring control of a number of daily newspapers for the purpose of giving "fair representation in matters in which labor is concerned."

Labor's program as outlined by the convention demands:

Ratification of the Peace Treaty.

Government ownership with democratic operation of railroads.

Curbing profiteers and high cost of living.

Jailing of food and clothing profiteers.

Right to strike and abolition of compulsory arbitration and anti-strike legislation.

Hands off to Mexico by the United States government.

Indorsement of the Irish republic.

Right of collective bargaining.

Advances in wages wherever necessary to maintain the American standard of living.

Shorter work day, if necessary to prevent unemployment.

CHICAGO NEGROES BURN FLAG

Race Riots Flare Anew—Two White Men Killed.

Chicago.—Two white men were killed and several Negroes, including a Negro policeman, were wounded Sunday night in a riot in the heart of the south side "black belt" following the burning of an American flag by a band of Negroes who were said to have paraded in the interests of a "back to Africa" movement.

R. L. Rose, white, sailor and Joseph Hoyt, white, cigar dealer, were killed. Joseph P. Owens, Negro policeman was wounded.

Rose was 23 years old and a member of the Fifteenth regiment, J company, stationed at Great Lakes. He won the distinguished service medal overseas.

According to the police, the Negro organization known as "The Abyssinians" had been holding meetings in the Chicago Negro quarter for some time, to persuade members of their race to go to Liberia.

The trouble took place at Thirty fifth street and Indiana avenue, near the scene of last year's race riot in which more than 30 whites and Negroes were killed and hundreds injured.

FARE CASE TO SUPREME COURT

Highest Tribunal to Decide Whether Legislature Can Set Fare Rate.

Lansing.—The action of the Michigan Supreme Court Friday in announcing that it would allow a writ of error, opening the way for Alex J. Groesbeck, attorney-general, to appeal the D. U. R. interurban fare case to the United States Supreme Court, clears the way for the nation's highest court to decide whether a state legislature may abrogate franchises of street railway companies and replace them with laws regulating rates of fare. The decision will be of great importance to all street and interurban railway companies and to public utility corporations in general.

Another German Ship To Be Sold

Washington.—One of the famous German commerce raiders, the Prince Eitel Frederick, which took refuge in Hampton roads during the early months of the war, is to be offered for sale by the shipping board on June 20. This vessel is now named the De Kalb and is in the Hudson river, where in January, a fire of mysterious origin destroyed her superstructure and damaged her hull. The glacial liner Leythian is also to be sold the same day.

FABRIC HATS DEFY THE SUN

AS THE gorgeous peacock feathers and the royal purple iris have dainty sisters that are pure white, so the colorful hats of early summer are followed by replicas in white or in the palest tints, when July and August bring their burning skies. These with other cool looking millinery, do not replace their predecessors, but are added to midsummer headwear to be used when anything that is cool, and looks cool, is a refreshing sight. There is nothing like white, and especially pure, sheer white fabrics, for accomplishing this purpose. Next to white, combinations of white and navy blue, white and black, white and beige, or tan, are depended upon for these crisp hats that defy the hottest day that comes. Most of these simple fabric hats are made of organdie, flowered voile, honey-comb batiste, tulle and georgette in combination with very pleated and light straw braids. They are not beyond the ability of the average needle woman who likes to undertake hat making at home, as a glance at the group of four hats pictured above will show. Three of them are made on wire frames and one has a light straw braid foundation. The wire frames are first covered with organdie or net or other thin, sheer fabric, but to fit the brim and crown, and it may not be necessary to cover the upper brim with this foundation material. Hemstitching is used where the top and side crown pieces are joined and edges have a pleated finish or very narrow silk or straw braids may be stitched to them. Sashes of narrow ribbon or of organdie or of the same fabric as the hat, provide the trimming. One of the hats pictured is made of white tulle and has a brim facing of navy blue braid. There is a little outline embroidery on the crown of this hat, done with navy blue embroidery silk. Two hats of honey-comb batiste, have soft edges extending beyond the edges of the frames, one with a collar and bow of satin ribbon and one with a little silk embroidery on a scarf end used for its decoration. They are all white.

Three-Year-Olds in Play Togs

HERE are two outfits for busy little persons who are three, going on four—or more years—up to six, that will make an instant appeal to mothers. They are every-day togs—a little dress with bloomers and attractive rompers, both made with sun bonnets to match and fashioned of more or less sturdy materials, according to the kind of wear demanded of them. The popular gingham, in very small checks, plain chambrays, or any of the medium or lighter weight cottons used for children's play clothes—not omitting unbleached domestic—might be used for making them. As shown above, they are intended for the less strenuous frolics of the bench, for the lawn or veranda, but the models are good in heavier and darker cottons.

The little frock as pictured is made of white and blue printed lawn. The pretty, old-fashioned dress has a straight yoke with body and skirt in one, gathered to it, the joining decorated with feather stitching. It has a round neck and short sleeves all finished with a plaited frill of white lawn. The dress has four rows of shirings at the back and front with slashes at each side. A sash of lawn slips under these slashes and this arrangement takes care of the waist line. An adorably quaint sun bonnet is edged with a crochet lace and has ties of the material. A little ribbon bow is added when thin goods are used, but Again Leghorn Hats. Leghorn hats are again in rather high favor for summer; but the tendency is to have a leghorn and silk combination rather than a hat entirely of the leghorn. The crown may be slit to let in bits of silk, or an entire silk crown may be used to top a drooping leghorn brim.

New Style in Skirts. The camisole skirt is the latest addition to a smart woman's wardrobe. It is a plaited model hung from a loose waistline of a camisole. Over it is worn a loose-waisted blouse which matches the skirt.

"You are wrong," said Doctor No. 1. "I'm right," retorted Doctor No. 2. "You're wrong," repeated Doctor No. 1. Here the patient gave a groan and brought the medical men to a realization of the needs of the moment. But Doctor No. 2 couldn't resist a last swipe. Acid Stomach

Makes the Body Sour

Nine Out of Ten People Suffer From It

It sends its harmful acids and gases all over the body, instead of health and strength. Day and night this ceaseless damage goes on. No matter how strong, its victim cannot long withstand the health-destroying effects of an acid stomach.

Good news for millions of sufferers. Chemists have found a sure remedy—one that takes the acid up and carries it out of the body; of course, when the cause is removed, the sufferer gets well.

Bloating, indigestion, sour, acid, gassy stomach miseries all removed. This is proven by over half a million ailing folks who have taken EATON'S with wonderful results. It can be obtained from any druggist, who will cheerfully refund its trifling cost if not entirely satisfactory. Everyone should enjoy its benefits. Frequently the first tablet gives relief.

"Soiled Again! By Those Auto Cushions"

Unseen spots of oil and grime upon the auto seat. And a stained and spotted frock! It's the same old story of uncovered auto cushions—cushions with dust and soil embedded in the creases and crevices—dirt that cannot be washed off or dusted out.

Gordon Jiffy Cushion Slips
$3.40 to $8.15 Per Seat

Gordon Jiffy Cushion Slips, for open and enclosed cars, cover the cushions you sit on and lean against—and put an end to the trouble and annoyance of dirty auto cushions.

They are removable. They are washable. They button-hole on like any simple garment. Made of durable pre-shrunk tub materials, you can put them right in with the family wash—or send them to the laundry.

Stock sizes ready to go on your car without fussing or fitting. No bother. No worry for you.

Many attractive light and dark patterns for either open or enclosed cars.

"THE ADMIRABLE CRICHTON"

Adapted for the screen by JEANIE MACPHERSON

Imagine! A group of men and women, suddenly flung on a desert isle. Master and maid, mistress and maid—now only males and females. Birth, wealth, trappings, vanish. A new life, calling to a test of worth, where those who are strong, lead, and those who are weak, follow.

Such is this great story. Ranging from the splendid home of an English earl to savage scenes in a tropical jungle, from nice conventions of the cultured elite to uncontrolled passions of ancient Babylon. An epic of love and struggle, vital theme, stupendous in conception, amazingly dramatic, beautiful beyond words.
