ADDED ATTRACTIONS FOR VICTORY DAY

Six Morales Will Give Three Exhibi tions Tumbling, Trapeze, Horizontal Bar, Wire Walking; Turns 100 Somersaults.

Only the weather is the unknown factor in the success of tomorrow's Victory Day celebration. With good weather the day should be one of the big days in the history of Chelsea. The program is all ready to be given as advertised and in addition another big feature attraction has been secured.

HER SHARE WEALTH WILLIAM SHIPS AS That Country, will give three performaces during the day, two in the afternoon and one in the evening, all different acts and of about an hour's duration. These people are expert tumblers, trapeze and horizontal bar artists, and also include astounding stack and tight wire cats in their repertoire. They were leading attractions at the Washtenaw County fair in Ann Arbor last week, and only a mistake on the part of the booking agent left them without an engagement Wednesday. But their misfortune is Chelsea's gain as they will appear here without fall to-morrow. Those who saw them in And Arbor will be sure to want to witness this big act again; and those who did not see the Morales at the fair will surely want to see them here.

Each of the Morales is a specialist in his or her line; one turns 100 or more somersaults without stopping; ply your needs.

another slides down a tight wire on his head; others slide down the wire hanging by teeth or hair; a young woman walks up a gay rope at an angle of about 30 degrees.

And the Balloon is Here!
The big halloon is here ready to make two ascensions during the day.
One will be with a double parachute drop and another with a triple drop.
Other features will be the automobile parade, baseball games, races and contests, band concert and dancing as announced elsewhere in this issue.

UNITED STATES HAS HER SHARE WEALTH

Just where the United States stands in financial relationship to the rest of the world is pointed out by the New York Curb News which presents these facts that America has—

ADVOCATES SMALLER FARMS.

A reporter for a large city newspaper recently asked five persons picked at random. How can we keep the boys on the farm? One man who was asked this question, a stationary engineer, replied: "Give cach of them a farm. Cot the size of farms down, and let each man work his own farm. Then he will never leave the farm."

Ask the next farmer you meet on the streets of Chelsea if he believes that would solve the problem, and he will tell you that the city man's idea is all right in theory but that it would be poor when put into practice. But it is typical of solutions of our agricultural problems offered by editors of city newspapers and people not in touch with farming conditions.

At a time when labor is extremely scarce, being almost unobtainable at any price in many sections, this city man suggests that we cut up our farms and give each man a small arrange to work for himself. It would be just as sensible to suggest that the labor troubles in our big industries could be settled by cutting up the large factories and splitting them into numerous small shops, each one owned and operated by a single individual. This is utterly preposterous of course, but it is only slightly more so than to suggest that our large and in small-sized machines and insufficient farms should be split into small ones to be operated as units and with the small-sized machines and insufficient equipment which the small farmer would be forced to buy. It's a poor solution, but it is serves to show how far the city man is from solving the problem he knows nothing about.

COURTESY SERVICE STABILITY

We all Learn by Experience

When a thing happens once, we logically infer that under the same conditions, it will be the same the second time it happens. Were it not for this, nothing would be learned and little progress would be made. We all learn by experience.

So it is in business. When a stranger comes into this bank and receives prompt, courteous service, he naturally concludes that should he establish his account here, he would continue to receive the high-class service first accorded him. He is never disappointed.

Its own borders.

Previous to the war legislation pertaining to intrastate travel was left to individual states, the Interstate Commerce commission dealing with Interstate travel only. Then the railroads were taken over by the government and, it is contended by the carriers, this automatically multified all state laws and left the federal commission in control. On this contention they are basing their demand for the higher rate.

Michigan representatives hold that this condition is not so, and that if it was the entire structure of state rights would be nullified. They further assert that local conditions in Michigan differ from the country-wide conditions upon which the federal commission allowed the recent 20 per cent increase to the roads.

Legal authorfiles also say that Michigan is in a particularly favorable situation to combat the railroads inasmuch as the state legislature passed a law regulating intrastate carrier rates after the roads had been acquired by the government. This in itself, it is asserted meets the arqueent that previous laws are invalid and therefore the federal commission is supreme.

the farm bureaus of the committee.

According to the bureau's announcement, speculation on grain exchanges of the country has brought about the high broad prices and the comparatively low prices paid the farmer for his wheat. It is to eliminate speculation and substitute a farmer's co-operative sales system that the committee was formed. It is too late for this year's crop to be handled for this year's crop to be handled for this year's crop to be handled.

FEDERAL ROAD BUILDING AID

Highway Construction Hampered by Transportation Difficulties and Lack of Material.

In addition to $10,000,000 for forest road construction, congress has made available to July 1, 1920, the sum of $275,000,000 for federal ald roads. Of this sum $175,000,000 was available up to and including June 30, 1820. Of this amount the states had made application covering $152,193,040 as of April 30. This federal aid is to apply on 27,790 miles of road estimated to cost $355,754,790. As of May 1st 13,340 miles of federal aid road were under construction, involving over $30,000,000 in federal aid. The total mileage of completed road built under the federal aid law since it became operative in 1916 is 4,301.15 miles, as of May 1, 1920, an average rate of construction of over 1,000 miles a year. The difficulties of transportation, the lack of materials, the insufficient number of contricting organizations, the scarcity of adequate equipment and the general shorting of engineering personnel in connection with highway construction during the past two years have reduced road building activities to about 3-7 of the full program. The bureau of public roads. United States department of agriculture is ready, the states are ready, the funds are available to push highway construction on a 100 per cent program as soon, as the national economic conditions will warrant.

MAINTENANCE OF DIRT ROAD

Essential That No Water Be Permitte to Remain on Surface—Repair Ruts Quickly.

To maintain an earth road so that it will adequately take care of heavy traffic it is essential first that no water be allowed to stand on the road surface or in the ditches, and secondly that defects occurring in the surface, be repaired immediately and in a manner that will form a crust sufficient to maintain the loads and resist the wear caused by traffic.

The first can be accomplished only the wenr caused by traffic.

The first can be accomplished only by grading and draining the road in a manner that will permit water to drain quickly from the surface after every rain, and the second by adding clay and sand in the proper proportions as required, shaping up the surface with a light grader, and keeping the traveled surface smooth and even with the road planer, after which the earth surface eventually becomes smooth and impervious to water. The result is an extremely satisfactory road at a very low cost to the public.

SAVE KANSAS MANY DOLLARS

Engineering Experiment Station Tests All Materials to Be Used in Road Building.

The road materials laboratory of the Kansas engineering experiment station is in charge of the testing of all materials for use on federal aid roads in the state of Kansas. More than 75 car loads of defective cement and bricks submitted for test in the past year have been rejected, thus saving the state many thousands of dollars.

FINANCING SYSTEM OF ROADS

Just how a county or district should proceed to finance a system of roads is a matter open for discussion. It depends upon how rapidly they need them and upon how well they are able to pay, in other words on their valuation and the cost of the work contemplated.

The Stockbridge Chebra road continues to improve as the result of continued dragging during the paix summer, and grading and gravelling in some places, in this county. Jackson county has not made any improvement in its section of the road, but a little work has been done in highan county. The best road to Stockbridge is to Lyndon Center and thenes northly across Colines plains to Williamaville, striking the gravel road between Gregory and Stockbridge at the McCleer school house. The distance is a little more but the road is much between NORTH LAKE NEWS.
