ORIN ALBERT BURGESS DIED SATURDAY AFTERNOON

Orin Albert Burgess was born near Kalamazoo, December 12, 1861, and was suddenly taken from our midst October 14, 1920, at the age of 58 years, 10 months and two days.

Through the death of his mother when he was three years of age he was early thrown on his own resources, but being of an exceptionally cheery disposition he soon made a host of friends when as a young man he came into this community.

On December 1, 1890, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Tyndall, of Sylvan, he was united in marriage to their only daughter, Carrie B., and to them were born two children, George S., of Detroit, and Mrs. Ruth A. Haffley, of Sylvan, who with their mother and four grandchildren fifteen nephews and nieces and one sister, Mrs. Wm. Howell of Detroit, live to mourn their loss.

He was a member of the Modern Woodmen and Cavanaugh Lake Grange.

The funeral was held at his late home Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock, conducted by Rev. H. R. Beatty. Interment in Maple Grove cemetery, Sylvan Center.

Those from out-of-town who attended the funeral were: Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Howell, Mr. and Mrs. Ethan Howell, Mrs. Louisa Young, of Detroit; Mrs. Ruth A. Bennett, Mrs. Carrie Owens and daughter, of Crystal; C. G. Tyndall and sister, of Cedar Springs; Myron Tyndall, Mrs. Geo. Tyndall and daughter, of Oak Grove; Mr. and Mrs. M. T. FATAL ACCIDENT LAST SATURDAY

Mrs. Anna Tobelmann Fell Down Stairs at Home of Mrs. G. Eisen.

Mrs. Anna Tobelmann died at the home of her sister, Mrs. G. Eisen, on Washington street at 8:15 Saturday evening as the result of an accident when she fell down the cellar stairs.

Just how the accident occurred is not known. Mrs. Eisen returned home about 4:30 o'clock from down town and her sister was about the house as usual, and Mrs. Eisen went up-stairs to her room for a rest. About a half hour later she returned to the lower floor, and missed Mrs. Tobelmann. Thinking she might be in the back yard she started for the rear door and discovering the cellar door open she looked down. She heard groans and upon going down cellar she found her sister lying face downward near the furnace, and when she turned her over discovered that she was bleeding from the mouth, nose and ears.

L. T. Freeman, who was nearby, responded to the call for assistance and carried the injured lady upstairs, and later brought Dr. H. W. Schmidt to the Eisen home.

The injuries were a fracture at the base of the brain, both elbows and her right hip were bruised. From all appearances Mrs. Tobelmann appears to have fallen from the side of the stairs when she was about half way down them.

Mrs. Tobelmann was born in Switzerland January 6, 1839. She was twice married, the first time in Switzerland, and came to America where her husband died about a year and a half later. She returned to Switzerland and later returned to this country. Her second husband died April 1, 1918, and since June of that year she has made her home in Chelsea.

She is survived by one son, who is in the government employ at Ago, Arizona, and who with his family returned to their home about six weeks ago from an extended visit here; one sister, and several nephews and nieces.

The funeral will be held this afternoon, Rev. A. A. Schoen conducting a prayer service at the home, and Rev. G. W. Krause and Rev. G. A. Neuman conducting the services in St. Paul's church. The remains will be taken to her former home at Basking Ridge, N. J., for burial.

Last Friday, three hunters with nothing much to occupy their time, were discovered playfully shooting at some horses out at pasture on a farm in Lyndon. It is small wonder the farmers object to having their farms run over with such reckless and unscrupulous people.

Campaign of Assassination Is Making the Irish Problem More Difficult.

ASQUITH ASSAILS PREMIER

Large Part of the Island Faces Blockade—Poles and Russians Sign "Peace Without Victory"—American Agricultural Producers Object to Lower Prices.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD.

The Irish problem, instead of approaching a solution, seems to have taken a new lease of troubled life, and the work of the Emerald Isle are increasing instead of diminishing. This deplorable fact is due directly to the campaign of murder, arson and intimidation that is being carried on by what Sir Hamar Greenwood, chief secretary for Ireland, calls the inner circle of assassins. The daily and nightly assaults on the police and other officials of the British government provoke the latter to bloody reprisals which are to a considerable extent condoned and excused by the government. Premier Lloyd George made a speech at Carnarvon which was interpreted by his opponents as a justification of the reprisals. He said that 238 policemen had been shot, of whom 109 had been shot dead, and the patience of the police had given way, with the result that they hit back. Lloyd George declared that if, as was contended, there was war in Ireland, then the war must be waged on both sides. But when policemen were shot in the back by Sinn Féin's premier said, it was not war but murder. He asked whether, under the system of terrorism which made it impossible to obtain evidence, it was any wonder the police shot the murderers.

Herbert H. Asquith, former premier, who sees a chance to return to power, declared Lloyd George's speech was a "condonation of the British policy of reprisals," and another part of it he construed as "repudiation, road and branch, of dominion home rule." He is rallying all anti-government forces for a fight, as soon as parliament opens, over British government in Ireland. Before that time the delegation from the Irish peace conference is to be received by the premier, and it is believed he will then make a new offer to Ireland. Meanwhile the government, says Sir Hamar Greenwood, is determined to crush the campaign of assassination, and if necessary will increase the police force in the island to many thousands.

One threatened result of the campaign of assassination is the virtual blockade of a large part of Ireland through a withdrawal of the mail and telegraph service and the entire closing down of Irish railways. This would mean widespread distress and heavy loss to farmers and traders. Whenever parties of troops present themselves for conveyance the rail workers refuse to operate the trains, and the railway directors now have agreed on the instant dismissal of these men. The carrying out of this policy probably will result in the cessation of railway traffic within a month.

The British secret service believes it has proof that the Irish "republic" is being aided, financially and by the distribution of arms and the organization of an espionage system, by the Red organization headed by Victor Kopp, Soviet envoy in Berlin. Kopp handles funds from Russia and organizes propaganda through newspapers and agents, and the secret service says it has established the connection of this intrigue with revolutionary movements in Ireland and other parts of the British empire. A dispatch from Paris says Sinn Féin agents have been trying to purchase submarines from Italy and France, but were told that Great Britain would consider the selling of submarines to them an act of war.

The signing of a peace treaty and armistice by the Polish and Soviet Russian delegates at Riga, reported a little prematurely last week, took place on October 12. The armistice was to become effective at midnight October 18. Joffe, head of the Soviet delegation, described the peace as "a peace without victory and without vanquished," and disinterested observers at Riga agreed that that described it. Hence it was predicted that the pact would not be very pleasing to either the Poles or the Russians.

A peculiar complication in the affairs of that part of Europe arose through the seizure of Vilna, the capital of Lithuania, by troops under the command of General Zeligowski, who resigned from the Polish army before the occupation. His force is made up of both Poles and Lithuanians. He established a council of six in the city, and that body is planning a provisional government for central Lithuania pending the question of the self-determination of the inhabitants of that district. The Polish government disavowed the occupation of Vilna by Zeligowski, the Lithuanians were said to be mobilizing for the recapture of the city, and it was reported that representatives of the League of Nations might be asked to straighten out the situation.

As has been said before, the Russian Soviet government is now free to devote all its strength to the crushing of Baron Wrangel in south Russia. But the baron is wasting no time, and late dispatches from Constantinople say his Dnieper river campaign is making excellent progress. He had just captured two Bolshevik battalions, occupied two important towns and destroyed a large munitions plant. The report that Makno, the guerrilla leader, had deserted Wrangel is confirmed, but several of his bands have been routed. Semenov, the Siberian anti-Bolshevik leader, has given his adherence to Wrangel and asked orders from him.

Every day brings its batch of reports of mutinies and revolts against the Soviet rule, and in London it was believed the downfall of the League and Trotsky regime was near. Serious fighting was said to be taking place in Moscow, the troops storming barricades in the streets. Bolshevik efforts elsewhere were collapsing. The Armenian and Georgian armies were preparing to unite to defend the two republics against the Bolshevik Turks, Tartars and Azerbaijanians. France and Turkey have made an agreement by which the French will police Adana, Tarsus and Mersone for the protection of Armenia.

Carl Curzon, British foreign secretary has told the Russian Bolshevik foreign minister that the British naval forces have been ordered to attack on sight any Russian submarines encountered on the high seas—this because leading members of the Soviet have declared that government considers itself in a state of war with Great Britain.

The various factions of the Italian Socialist party, assembled in convention, have been having a struggle for control. The moderates appear to have the whip hand and have refused to let the party commit itself in favor of Soviet rule for Italy. The conference voted solidarity with Russia but the majority stood fast against the Communists and made it plain they wanted no repetition in Italy of what has happened to Russia. Their leaders declared the Russian difficulties came from the rottenness of the present regime and that the Bolshevik government would be unable to transport products to other countries even after the blockade is lifted. Later in the week Socialist leaders and those of the General Confederation of Labor published a joint manifesto ordering demonstrations in every town in Italy to force the government to recognize Soviet Russia. They said a general strike of rail workers had been arranged.

England's labor anxieties were centered on the action of the coal miners whose delegates, after rejecting the wage proposals of the mine owners, decided that notice of a strike, given some time ago, should expire on Saturday. This was taken to mean that the strike would go into effect on Monday. The operators offered a wage increase of one shilling a day to start with and later two shillings, the miners to guarantee a certain minimum of production. The men had a suspicion that they were to be tricked into doing more work, and rejected the offer by a vote of about five to one.

The miners' strike, it was admitted, would throw hundreds of thousands of workers in other industries out of employment and bring about a serious crisis in the country's economic life. The iron and steel manufacturers in the Yorkshire districts at once began preparations to shut down their plants. The government for weeks has been getting ready to handle the situation. There was a chance that the other members of the triple alliance—the railway men and transport workers—would be able to set up machinery for mediation and at least delay the strike.

King Alexander of Greece, who was bitten by a monkey some two weeks ago, has been near death from blood poisoning, and at this writing is not out of danger. A noted French specialist was hurried to Athens and expressed the opinion that the king's case was of the most critical sort but not hopeless.

That the price reduction movement which appeared to be really started recently would not please everyone was a certainty. The trend "back toward normal" made a bit with the consumer, but not with the producer. Now the latter is protesting vigorously, the lead being taken by the growers of wheat, cotton and tobacco and the live stock men. The wheat men want $3 a bushel and the cotton men 40 cents a pound. Leading agricultural producers met in Washington, voiced their griefs, talked of a farmers' strike and adopted resolutions severely criticizing government financial authorities and calling on them for aid in bringing about higher prices. Senator E. D. Smith of South Carolina urged that the farmers curtail production and withhold their crops from the market until prices were satisfactory. For this he was criticized by Benjamin C. Marsh, secretary of the Farmers' National council, who said:

"We must guard against some of the wild statements made here. There is no panic. Let's get away from Bolshevik statements."

"I was astounded when Senator Smith suggested that the farmers strike, for that's what it amounts to. If I am not mistaken, he voted for the bill to make strikes by labor a felony. When senators get up and say they don't understand the federal reserve act, I think it is time we should get a few farmers in the senate. The farmers are not going to stop producing, but the farmers can call the bluff of the federal reserve board."

Dr. W. J. Spillman, former chief of the board of farm management of the Department of Agriculture, said: "It is quite clear that the federal reserve board and the secretary of the treasury are using the authority placed in their hands for the purpose of manipulating the market."

Next day W. P. G. Harding, governor of the federal reserve board, conferred with the producers and undertook to pacify them. He urged them to keep cool, and expressed the belief there will be a reaction from present low prices. He told them he favored putting their crops on the market gradually. He warned against any attempt to withhold commodities, and pointed to the recent financial panic in Japan and the present Cuban sugar situation as examples of what might follow efforts to boost prices to artificial heights.

Through Senator Pat Harrison, chairman of the Democratic speakers' bureau, Governor Cox has challenged Senator Harding to a joint debate on the issue of the League of Nations at any time and place convenient to Mr. Harding and the Republican campaign management. The Democratic managers pointed out that both candidates would be in Ohio during the closing weeks of the campaign, and thought the debate might be easily arranged.

In a statement reciting at length the splendid properties of many of the elements composing Earle's Hypo-Cod the eminent J. Henry Scruggs, Ph. G., P. D., confirms the conclusions arrived at and given in Professor Earle's statement that was published in this paper last week.

"After carefully examining the preparation known to the public as Earle's Hypo-Cod and carefully watching the results of several cases in which it was used, it is in my opinion absolutely the best Cod Liver Oil preparation made."

"Its great merit explains its great popularity. The formula is one that is indorsed by many of the leading physicians in the United States today. Yours very truly, J. Henry Scruggs, Ph. G., P. D. (Graduate Atlanta College of Physicians and Surgeons.)"

Fordson

TRADE MARK

There are many Tractors clamoring for the patronage of the farmer. The very air is charged with the noise of claims. One would think that all the farmer had to do was to buy a Tractor and he would enter into the Millennium.

Well, consider this fact—there are a great many different makes of Tractors. Tractors have been on the American market for twenty years. In that time some three hundred thousand Tractors have been sold to farmers in the United States. The Fordson Tractor has only been on the market two years and in that time more than one hundred thousand Fordson Tractors have been sold to the farmers in the United States.

Two and two make four. Two and two will always make four. If the Fordson Tractor had not delivered more good work, more satisfactory work, more economical work, than any other farm Tractor, it would not have sold in the ratio of anywhere from five and more to one. "The proof of the pudding is in the eating." The proof of the superior merits of the Fordson Tractor is in its larger sale and use.

The Fordson Tractor then asks you to buy it because of what it has done for your neighbors. It asks you to buy it on its merits. It asks you to buy it, Mr. Farmer, because you have use for it every day in the year. All the uses for the Fordson Tractor have not yet been uncovered because new places where machine power can take the place of human power, where machine power can supplant horse and mule-power, are being found every week, and wherever such discovery occurs, the Fordson Tractor will fill the bill more satisfactorily than any other form of power.

The Fordson is simple in design, and it is very strongly made of the highest quality of iron and steel. It is the product of the greatest mechanical genius the world has ever known, and it is most economical in first cost and after expense. The Fordson Tractor on your farm will increase the value of every foot of ground in that farm. It will put more dollars and cents into every hour you put into the farm.

Now why not have a Fordson right away? Take up the subject with us. Come in and get the details, and all the particulars. It is only a matter of time until you buy a farm Tractor—that is sure. So don't put it off when it means money to you to act promptly.

TESTIMONIAL

I have owned a Fordson Tractor for three years and was so well pleased with it I bought another one this fall. I consider it the most economical Tractor on the market today and the best belt power for all around farm work. It would have been impossible for me to have put in my crops without it. By the use of these two Tractors, this fall, it was possible for me to plow and seed 140 acres in 18 days. I intend to use my Tractor for generating lights for my dance hall and all other buildings on my farm. I will gladly recommend the Fordson Tractor to anybody as the most economical tractor on the market today. It uses 20 gallons of kerosene and 1½ gallons of oil to plow 8 acres a day.

BREVITIES

Manchester—We learn that those beautiful pheasants now growing in this section are so tame that they are coming to the chicken houses to roost. Protect them until they become numerous, also protect the quail and by and by we can have some good potpies, without sacrificing our domestic poultry.—Manchester Enterprise.

Brooklyn—According to information received in Brooklyn Henry Ford has his eye on the River Raisin. Options have been taken, it is claimed, on land surrounding Vinyard lake and the water may be raised some two feet. The Blanchard waterpower at Brooklyn is also said to be bargained for and some of the citizens see visions of an immense manufacturing plant built there.

Jackson—Police were kept busy Saturday afternoon answering complaints of motorists that children were running out into the street and laying down in front of their cars while they were moving. The children of course were only playing a joke on the drivers but Captain Van de Bogart said that any boys or girls found doing this sort of thing in the future would be prosecuted.—Jackson News.

Jackson—Completion of preliminary plans and specifications for new Michigan state prison buildings to house executive offices, industries and new cell houses on the site of the North farm, and the abandonment of the present property at the north end of Mechanic street, is announced as the probable first step in the contemplated expansion and rebuilding plan under discussion since the legislature passed an appropriation for the preliminary survey.

Manchester—A divorcee has been granted Louise Knickerbocker of this village from Ben. Knickerbocker, on grounds of no-support. This ends a wartime romance, Mr. and Mrs. Knickerbocker being united in marriage at Liverpool, England, while the young man was stationed there on war duty. At the close of war activities Mrs. Knickerbocker preceded her husband to this country and came to the home of his parents here, but on the young man's return he failed to fulfill his vows and she went to the family of Fred Belmont to live. She has of late been employed in the chair factory, and enjoys Manchester and the American spirit and ways, in spite of her unfortunate experience. Knickerbocker is said to be living at some point in Ohio.—Manchester Enterprise.

Ann Arbor—George A. Cadwell, of New Britain, Conn., senior law student in the University of Michigan, died Friday afternoon of injuries received an hour before when the automobile in which he was riding turned turtle. Miss Elizabeth Carted, a freshman in the literary department, from Huntington, W. Va., is in a serious condition, and Anderson Meadows special law student from Henton, W. Va., who was driving the car, was slightly injured. Cadwell suffered a fractured skull and his spine was injured. He died without regaining consciousness. Miss Carter was injured about the spine and is in a serious condition. Both were prominent on the campus and Cadwell was business manager of the Chimes, the campus literary magazine.

Ann Arbor—The Presbyterian church here has announced plans for the erection of a $350,000 church facing the University of Michigan campus between Haven and East University avenues. An endowment of $200,000 also will be sought for the same. An active campaign will be begun at once. The church recently purchased the campus site for $12,500. The new edifice will be built large enough to take care of the large number of Presbyterian students at the university. Special rooms and equipment will be provided. National and state Presbyterian leaders have pledged their support to aid in the work, and have given their approval of the proposal to accommodate the students.

It Proves that There's a Way Out for Many Suffering Chelsea Folks.

Just another report of a case in Chelsea. Another typical case. Kidney ailments relieved in Chelsea with Doan's Kidney Pills.

Charles Schmidt, W. Middle st., Chelsea, says: "I used to have lumbago and severe backaches. When I would stoop over it was hard to straighten again. I blamed the backache and lumbago for my kidneys being out of condition. I used Doan's Kidney Pills and a few boxes gave me complete relief in every way and I am glad to recommend them to others."

The above statement was given March 1, 1913, and on April 23, 1920, Mr. Schmidt added: "I am glad to say my kidneys have given me no trouble at all since using Doan's Kidney Pills several years ago. The statement I gave recommending them still holds good as my faith in this remedy remains firm."

DEAR OLD PETE:

Winston-Salem, N. C.
Friday p. m.

Just wound up the one swellest day of my life! Since early this morning, when I got an invitation to visit R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co. factories, I've been in the midst of millions of Camel cigarettes.

Man—the happiest idea you or I ever had as to the size of this Reynolds enterprise, or the number of Camels manufactured daily, is simply piker-stuff! Wipe off the slate and start fresh! Why—Pete, it seemed to me like a couple of those cigarette-making machines could keep half the nation smoking Camels steadily—BUT—honest to goodness, there are hundreds of these machines bating out Camels at the rate of 27,000 an hour—EACH!

Pete, you wouldn't have to consult a guide book to know you were in the Camel factories! The atmosphere is charged with that wonderful aroma you get when you open up a deck of Camels! And, you know, old elephant—you've had a trunk full!

As the Camels dropped into the containers I figured the delight each one would supply! And, how Camels mellow, mild body would hit the right spot and how Camels refreshing flavor would cheer up some smoker's jaded appetite! And, each Camel free from any unpleasant cigarettey aftertaste or unpleasant cigarettey odor! And—

Pete—I'll have to lay off and light another Camel! Write you some more soon.

Yours joyously

Vote "NO" on the School Amendment

Because

Michigan's Educators Denounce It

University Regent James O. Murfin, says:

I am again-t the proposed amendment for a number of reasons:—first and foremost—it appears to me it is dishonest.

University Regent Frank B. Leland, says:

I think it is Un-American and in my opinion its incorporation into the basic laws of the commonwealth would be unwise.

Former Regent Chase S. Osborne, says:

The movement against the Parochial Schools is unwarranted, unwise, mis-directed effort and, in so far as it destroys something of good and supplants it with nothing, is unjust.

Prof. H. C. Vaughn, Dean of the School of Medicine, University of Michigan, says:

I do not believe the amendment is wise,—I do not believe that the State should interfere with parents in selecting the school to which their children shall go.

President Stringham of the Detroit Board of Education, says:

The enactment of such a law would be a mistake and a calamity.

President Frank Kedzie, of the Michigan Agricultural College, says:

I am not favorable to the Anti-parochial Amendment.

University Regent Benjamin S. Hanchett, says:

I am earnestly opposed to any proposition that would result in the closing of Parochial or any private schools that maintain a proper standard of instruction.

President Charles McKenny, of the Michigan State Normal School, says:

This amendment, if carried, would shut out thousands of children because of no public schools to accommodate them.

Superintendent of Public Instruction, Thomas E. Johnson, says:

There is a very grave question whether the proposed amendment would not put up a legal barrier to prevent the use of the State Institution for the Feeble Minded, the State Institution for the Epileptic, the State School for the Deaf and State Schools for the Blind.

Superintendent Frank Cody, of the Detroit Public Schools, says:

The public school men of Michigan are unanimous against the proposition. The influx of the parochial and private school children into the public schools would swamp our schools.

Dr. Delos Fall of Albion College, formerly Superintendent of Public Instruction, says:

Pinekey—Pinekey was visited by a fire about 9:30 o'clock Saturday night which threatened for a time to destroy the entire business section, and which burned a hotel, hotel barns and sheds, a meat market, and an implement storehouse before the flames were brought under control. The fire broke out in the hotel barn and had a big start before it was discovered, and as all of the buildings were wooden frame structures the fire spread rapidly. A wind which blew the flames away from the business block, aided the firemen and made it possible for the flames to be stopped before further damage was done.

The Finest Christmas Present in the World

If there's a live little, wise little youngster in your family—a youngster say about five years old—why not give him a regular plutocrat's present this year? Can't you just hear him calling to the boy 'round the corner, "Hi, there, Tom, I'm a stockholder now!"

Fives shares of Consumers Power Company Preferred Stock, costing now only $475 (which you may pay in easy installments) will have earned, by the time five year old Buddie or Jennie is eighteen, about $500 in dividends and bank interest on dividends. This, together with the original shares of stock, at a par value of $500, will mean about $1,000 to start off a college career. Could you think of a better gift?

Consumers Power Company Preferred Stock Will Yield in Dividends 7.37% Interest on Your Investment

Consider that:

This is Preferred Stock—meaning that all dividends must be paid in full, before any dividends may be paid on the common stock.

Gas and electricity are staples. The demand for them increases each day. This means that your investment will be secure. Dividends are paid four times a year, by check mailed to you.

You can buy the stock $10 per share down and the balance monthly, and receive 7% interest on each installment until you own the stock.

Terms of Offering

Plan No. 1 (Cash payment.) Under this plan we offer the 7% Cumulative Preferred Stock of Consumers Power Company at $95 per share and accrued dividends to date of payment for stock.

—OR—

Plan No. 2 (Time payment.) Under this plan we offer the 7% Cumulative Preferred Stock of Consumers Power Company at $95 per share on a time payment plan; $10 per share payable at the time of purchase; $10 per share each month for seven months and $15 for the final payment. We agree to pay interest at the rate of 7% per annum on the monthly installments paid to us, this interest to be credited to the purchaser on the books of the Company. Dividends from the last dividend date prior to the final payment will be charged to the purchaser and an adjustment made. No more than 25 shares may be purchased by any person under this time offering.

Purchasers under this plan have the option of withdrawing all partial payments at any time prior to the date of final payment for the stock, on 10 days' notice, and in the event of such withdrawal the Company agrees to pay 3% interest on the amounts paid in up to date of notice of withdrawal.

Webster—Man's Man

By PETER B. KYNE

Author of "Cappy Ricks," "The Valley of the Giants," Etc.

Copyright by Peter B. Kyne.

DON JUAN.

John Stuart Webster, mining engineer, boards a train in Death Valley, California, on his way back to civilization after clearing up business. He looks like a man. Then he rescues a distressed lady, who makes his heart flop over. He eliminates the offending man. She is Dolores Rues. In Denver he is offered a five-year job by a capitalist friend, Edward J. Jerome. He receives a delayed letter from his own particular pal, Billy Geary, asking him to finance a gold-mining proposition in Central America and go fifty-fifty with him on the profits. So he starts for Sobranie. Jerome goes with John to the depot. They meet the distressed lady on her way to the same train. John tells Jerome the whole story. Jerome secretly sees the girl, offering her $10,000 if she agrees to take his job inside of ninety days. The girl accepts. The scene now shifts to Buenaventura, Sobranie, where Geary has existed for two months on credit extended by Mother Jenks, keeper of a hotel and dramshop. Dolores cables Henrietta Wilkins (Mother Jenks) that she is on her way to visit her. Mother Jenks has been educating Dolores, who is the daughter of former President Ruey of Sobranie, deposed and executed by President Barros. Mother Jenks doesn't want Dolores to find out she is no longer respectable. Billy meets the steamer and tries to turn the girl back. But Dolores sends and salutes Mother Jenks as "Mother." Billy promptly falls in love with Dolores. In New Orleans Webster secures a steamer on La Estrella by paying a ticket for a mythical valet. "Andrew Bowers." In New Orleans Webster saves a young man from assassination. On the steamer he finds the mythical valet in his stateroom. He accepts "Bowers" on trust, without learning his identity. At Buenaventura he meets the "valet" to land. He finds Billy in love with Dolores, and like the good scout he bids farewell to his romance. Dolores admonishes him. He makes his will.

"Quite right. Few women have a sense of sportsmanship. You stand a very good chance of becoming a millionaire in Sobranie, but you must beware of a dark man who has crossed your path—"

"Which one?" Webster queried intelligently. "All coons look alike to me—Grouches also."

"Here putter of our profession, Mr. Webster," she admitted, "tossed in to build up the mystery element and stimulate wisdom. Fortune awaited you in the United States, but you put it behind you, at the call of friendship, for a fortune in Sobranie. Now you have reconsidered that foolish action and at this moment you are contemplating sending a cablegram to a fat old man who waddles when he walks, recalling your decision not to accept a certain proposition of a business nature. However, you are too late. The fat old man with the waddle has made other arrangements, and if you want to make money, you'll remain in Sobranie. I think that is all, Mr. Webster."

He was gazing at her with an expression composed of equal parts of awe, amazement, consternation, adoration, and blank stupidity.

"Well," she queried innocently, "to quote Billy's colloquial style: did I put it over?"

"You did very well for an amateur, but I'm a doubting Thomas. About this fat old man who waddles when he walks; a really topnotch palmit could tell me his name."

"Did I Put It Over?"

"Well, I'm only an amateur, but still I think I might, to quote Billy again, make a stab at it. Do you care to bet me about ten dollars I cannot give you the fat party's initials—all three of them?"

He gazed at her owlishly. She was the most perfectly amazing girl he had ever met; he was certain she would win the ten dollars from him, but then it was worth ten dollars to know for a certainty whether she was perfect or possessed of a slight flaw; so he silently drew forth a wallet that would have choked a cow and skinned off a ten-dollar gold certificate of the United States of America.

"I'm game," he murmured.

"The fat gentleman's initials are E. J."

"By the twelve apostles, Peter, Simon—"

"Don't blaspheme, Mr. Webster."

He stood up and shook himself.

"When you order the tea," he said very distinctly, "please have mine cold. I need a bracer after that. Take the ten. You've won it."

"Thanks, ever so much," she answered in a matter-of-fact tone, and tucked the bill inside her shirtwaist.

"I am a very poor woman, and—"

"Every little bit added to what you've got makes just a little bit more," she caroled, swaying her lithe, beautiful body and snapping her fingers like a cabaret dancer.

He could have groined with the futility of his overwhelming desire for her; it even occurred to him what a shame it was to waste a marvel like her on a callow young pup like Billy,

who had fought so many deadly skirmishes

with Dan Cupid that a postimpressionistic painting of the Geary heart must resemble a pincushion.

Then he remembered that this was an ungenerous, a traitorous thought, and that he had not paid the lady her fee.

"Well, what's the tariff?" he asked.

"You really feel that I have earned a professional's fee?"

"Beyond a doubt."

"Since you have taken Billy away from me this evening, I shall take you take Billy's place this evening.

After dinner you shall hire an open vicioria with two little white horses and drive me around the Malicon.

There is a band concert to-night."

"If it's the last act of my wicked life," he promised fervently. Strange to relate, in that ecstatic moment no thought of Billy Geary marred the perfect serenity of what promised to be the most perfectly serene night in history.

They were seated at the tiny tea

table when the sound of feet crunching the little shell-paved path through the patio caused Webster and Dolores to turn their heads simultaneously.

Coming toward them was an individual who wore upon a head of flaming red a disreputable, conical-crowned straw sombrero; a soiled cotton caulica with the tails flowing free of his equally soiled khaki trousers, and sandals of the kind known as alprag-

as—made from the tough fibre of a plant of the cactus family and worn

only by the very lowliest peons—completed his singular attire.

"One of Billy's friends and another reason why he has no social standing,"

Dolores whispered. "I believe he's going to speak to us."

Such evidently appeared to be the man's intention. He came to the edge of the veranda, swept his rump

of a bat from his red head and bowed with Castilian expansiveness.

"Yer pardon, Miss, for appearin' before you."

She smiled her forgiveness to what

Webster now perceived to be an alcoholic wreck. He was about to dismiss the fellow with scant ceremony, when Dolores, with that rich

sense of almost masculine humor—

—said sweetly:

"Mr. Webster, shake hands with Don

Juan Cafetero, bon vivant and man about town. Don Juan, permit me to present Mr. Webster, from somewhere in the United States. Mr. Webster is a mining partner of our mutual friend

Mr. William Geary."

A long, sad descent into the pit had,

however, imbued Don Juan with a sense of his degradation; he was in the presence of a superior, and he nevertheless introduced with a respectful inclination of his head.

"This you I've called to see, Mister

Webster, sir," he explained.

"Very well, old-timer. In what way can I be of service to you?"

"This the other way around, sir, if ye please, an' for that same there's no chance, seed'n' ye're the partner, an'

that fine, kind gentleman, Mister

Geary, did ye, whilst in New Orleans,

have dallies wit' a short, stout spigoty wit' a puckered rear under his right eye?"

John Stuart Webster suddenly sat up straight and gazed upon the big son of Erin with grave interest. "Yes,"

he replied, "I seem to recall such a man."

"This none av me business, sir, but would ye mind tellin' me just what ye did to that spigoty?"

"Why, to begin, last Sunday morning I interrupted this pucker-eyed fellow and a pop-eyed friend of his while engaged in an attempt to assassinate

a white, luffensive stranger. The following day, at the gangplank of the steamer, we met again; he poked his nose into my business, so I squeezed his nose until he cried; right before everybody I did it, Don Juan, and to add insult to injury, I plucked a few hairs from his ruc's moustache—one hair per each pluck."

"I'd a notion ye did somethin' to him, sir. Now, thin, listen to me:

I'm not much to look at, but I'm white,

I'm an attashay, as ye might say, an'

Ignatz Leher—him that do have the import an' export house at the end of the Calle San Rosaria, forinst the bar. Also he do have charge av the cable office, an' whilst I'm sober enough,

I deliver cablegrams for Leher. Now,

then, ye'll recall we had a bit av a shower to-day at noon?"

Dolores and Webster nodded. Don

Juan, after glancing cautiously around, lowered his voice and continued: "I was deliverin' a cablegram for Leher,

an' me course took me past the palace gate—which, be the same token, has slinty-boxes both inside an' out, wan

on each side av the gate. The slinty box was not visible as I came along, an'

what wit' the shower comin' as sud-dent as that, an' me wit' a wardrobe

that's not so extensive I can afford to get it wet, I stepped into wan av the outside slinty-boxes till the rain

should be over, an' what wit' a drink

av aguardiente I'd took to brace me

for the trip, an' the memory av auld times, I fell asleep."

"Dear knows how long I sat there napping; all I know is that I was awakened by the sound av three men talkin', at the gate, an' devil a word did they say but what I heard. They were talkin' in Spanish, but I understood them well enough. 'He's at the Hotel Mateo,' says wan voice, 'an'

his name is Webster—Jawn Webster.

He's an American, an' a big, savage-lookin' lad at that, so take me advice an' be careful. Do ye two keep an eye on him wherever he goes, an' if he should step out at night an' wandher through a dark street, do ye two see to it that he's put where he'll not interfere again in Don Felipe's affairs.

No damn' gringo—beggin' yer pardon, Miss—can interfere in the work av the intelligence bureau at a time like this, in addition to insultin'

our honored chief, wit'out the necessity av bein' measured for a coffin.

'Si, mi general,' says another lad, an'

'To be sure, mi general,' says a third;

an' wit' that the general, bad cess to him, went back to the palace an' the other two walked on up the calle an'

away from the slinty-box."

"Did you come out and follow them?" Webster demanded briskly.

"Faith, I did. Wan av them is Francisco Arredondo, a young cavalry

lieutenant, an' the other wan is Captain

Jose Beneyides, him that do be the best pistol-shot an' swordsmen in the spigoty army."

"What kind of looking man is this Beneyides, my friend?"

"A tall, thin young man, wit' a dude's moustache an' a diamond ring on his right hand. He do be whiter nor most. Have a care would ye meet him around the city an' let him pick a fight wit' ye. An' have a care, sir, would ye go out av a night."

"Thank you, Don Juan. You're the soul of kindness. What else do you know?"

"Well, Don Juan replied with a naive grin. "I did know somethin' else,

but shure, Mister Geary advised me to forget it. I was wit' him in the launch last night."

Webster stepped out of the veranda

and laid a friendly hand on Don Juan

Cafetero's shoulder. "Don Juan," he said gently, "I'm going back to the United States very soon. Would you like to come with me?"

Don Juan's watery eyes grew a shade mistier, if possible. He shook his head. "Whin I'm shruok here,

sir," he replied, "no wan pays any attention to me, but in America they'd give me ten days in the housegw wanst a week. Thank you, sir, but I'll shure here till the finish."

He knew the strength of the Demon and had long since ceased to fight

even a rear-guard action. Webster put a hand under the stubby chin and tilted Don Juan's head sharply. "Hold up your head," he commanded.

"You're the first of your breed I ever saw who would admit he was whipped.

Here's five dollars for you—five dollars gold. Take it and return with the piece intact to-morrow morning, Don

Juan Cafetero."

Don Juan Cafetero's wondering

glance met Webster's directly, wavered, sought the ground, but at a jerk on his chin came back and—stayed.

Vote YES for School Amendment

- 1—Because the Constitution of the U. S. is not founded upon faith or creeds, and the school systems of our states should be so conducted as to carry out the principles of our government.
- 2—Because the public school is the melting pot of America, and the very cradle of Democracy.
- 3—Because the school amendment will not affect the present compulsory school law, except for the elimination of three words, "Private or Parochial."
- 4—Because parochial schools were formed and are being used only to perpetuate some foreign language, custom or creed.
- 5—Because we must make our Americans in our American public schools.
- 6—Because the Amendment says not a word, either by direct statement or by implication, against the rights of parents to maintain private or parochial schools outside of the five hours a day, 160 to 180 days a year, required for attendance at public schools. Surely this leaves sufficient time for the inculcation of religious doctrine.
- 7—Because Bishop Schrembs, of Toledo, in an address at Chicago recently, said "If this amendment carries in Michigan, it will sweep the entire land." If the principles involved in this issue are not sound why this splendid endorsement?
- 8—Because the world war showed that 800,000 of our men were ignorant of our language—this amendment will cure that defect.
- 9—Because parochial schools create groups of voters, deliverable at election to the candidates who will accept their terms.
- 10—Because private schools of all kinds promote class distinction.
- 11—Because schools for physical and mental defectives are not affected by this amendment—see Article XI, Section 15 of our State Constitution.
- 12—Because the present district law gives each district the broadest power to change or amend itself to suit its own constituents. The legislature creates the district and is at liberty to alter them.
- 13—Because the State does not control teachers in private schools.
- 14—Because in the Supreme Court, it was admitted by the opposition that there was no religious question involved in the amendment.
- 15—Because the opposition has unjustly stirred up religious hatred by throwing the question of religion into a question of public policy and politics.
- 16—Because the Amendment will leave all churches free to devote their energies to the Christian Field, and will leave religions free to function in the spiritual realm.
- 17—Because if we recognize private and parochial schools as performing a public function, we should allow citizens to pay taxes to support private or parochial schools of their own choosing.
- 18—Because parochial schools have furnished 65% of the criminals of the country, public schools 5% and foreigners and illiterates 30%. The amendment will mean therefore, a considerable saving to the State.
- 19—Because if the City of Detroit were to adopt the same housing space for pupils as the parochial schools have now, every child in the parochial schools could be put into a public school without an additional school room.
- 20—Because the opposition can demonstrate their patriotism by loaning some of their buildings to the state, until the state has sufficient schools of its own.
- 21—Because there is not a valid reason why there should be anything but an elementary public school in a democracy.
- 22—Because the amendment assures complete separation of church and state.
- 23—Because the amendment will not destroy a single teacher. Teachers who are qualified to teach may be retained as public school teachers; those not qualified should not be teaching now.
