DESCRIPTION OF WORK BEING DONE ON TERRITORIAL ROAD

Between Ann Arbor and Jackson the road commissioners of Washtenaw and Jackson counties are engaged on the biggest road building project ever undertaken in Michigan, the construction of a 25 mile stretch of asphalt surfaced highway, laid on a foundation of concrete, says the Ann Arbor Times News. When completed, this thoroughfare will form a link of the proposed Detroit to Chicago paved way, and will revolutionize the traffic situation in Washtenaw county.

Some idea of the magnitude of the undertaking may be obtained when it is remembered that the cost of the highway will be in the neighborhood of a million and a quarter dollars; that the estimated cost of construction is $45,000 per mile, not including bridges; that the equipment of the most modern type, representing an investment of $350,000, is being used in the two counties; and that 175 men and 41 teams are employed in Washtenaw county alone. Work on the thoroughfare was started in April, and the road is expected to be finished in the fall of 1921.

The grading operations on this highway, which involves the removal of nearly 180,000 cubic yards of earth, are 98 per cent completed. Three steam shovels and two more are employed in the gravel pits. The roadway is being leveled to such an extent that the maximum grade will be four per cent. To accomplish this hills have been cut through and hollows filled. One cut on the route of the road has a maximum depth of 18 feet.

The road will be remarkably free from blind curves, and will cross the railroad but once between Ann Arbor and Jackson. The solitary crossing, which is at Leoni, will be in the form of an underpass, the grade separation being constructed jointly by the Jackson county highway commissioners and the Michigan Central railroad.

The route lies through a rolling country, with wooded knolls on every hand and attractive views may be obtained at many points. In order to preserve the scenic beauty of the thoroughfare, as many trees as practicable will be left standing. For the same purpose brush, rubbish and stones at the side of the road are being cleaned away.

Up to the present time about two miles of concrete foundation have been laid. In this work the most modern machinery is being used. Two of the three concrete mixers on the road are of the latest pattern, and involve no man handling of the cement, sand, gravel and water, of the finished concrete. Each of these two machines is capable of laying some 500 lineal feet of foundation in the course of a day.

Six miles of light railway have been built to keep one of these mixers supplied with cement, sand and gravel. The rolling stock of this railway comprises 86 flat cars, one steam locomotive which is used for switching cars about at the gravel pit, and three armored locomotives, gasoline propelled, which were built for use in taking ammunition and supplies to the American troops in the trenches, but which have been acquired from the government and converted to the uses of peace.

On the flat cars are placed six boxes of 25 cubic yards capacity. Preparatory to its run to the mixer, each car is backed under the bin at the pit, where the proper amount of sand and gravel is put in each box by gravity. The train then starts towards the place where the mixer is operating. On the way it stops at a storage bin where cement, which has been hauled to this point on trucks from the plant of the Michigan Portland Cement Company at Four Mile lake, is stored. Here the cement is accurately measured and automatically dumped into the 25 foot boxes on the car, so that each of them contains the proper proportion of sand, gravel and cement to make concrete of the desired quality when it is mixed with water in the mixer.

Resuming its journey, the train proceeds to the spot where the mixer for which its cargo is intended is operating. Here it stops, with one of the cars alongside the mixing machine. Here a crane which forms a part of the mixer, lifts the boxes, one at a time, from the flat car, empties their contents into the hopper of the machine, and returns them to their position on the car. Every box contains enough materials to make enough concrete base for two lineal feet of road.

In the drum of the machine the sand, cement and gravel are mixed together with water which has been pumped by a gasoline engine from a lake several miles away. At the lake incidentally, there are two engines, both connected with the pipe line, so that if one of them gives way the other can be started, and the supply of water kept up while repairs are being made.

After being thoroughly mixed the concrete is conveyed, by means of a crane which forms an integral part of the mixer, to the part of the roadway on which it is to be spread, and there it is to be dumped. In the

FORMER CHELSEA BOY WAS MARRIED IN ANN ARBOR

A very pretty and attractive wedding was solemnized at 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon, November 25, 1920 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Dietzel, 524, South Fourth avenue, Ann Arbor, when their daughter, Helen F. Dietzel, was united in marriage to Kenneth Millspaugh, son of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Millspaugh. Rev. G. A. Neumann performed the ceremony.

The bride, who looked charming in a gown of white satin and a tulle veil with a bouquet of rich bridal roses was given in marriage by her father. Decorations were in pink and white throughout, white chrysanthemums being used in profusion. The ceremony was performed beneath an arch decorated with white roses, ferns and palms. The bride was attended by her sister, Gertrude, and Miss Lucille Henne, her cousin, while the bridegroom was accompanied by George Braun of Ann Arbor and M. M. Shaver of Detroit. The flower girls were Miss Ruth Millspaugh, a sister of the bridegroom, and Llewellyn Laubengayer, white Master Robert Shaver officiated as ring bearer.

Miss Marjorie Schlacht sang "I Love You Truly" and Miss Gertrude Neumann played the wedding march.

A three course wedding supper was served to about 85 guests. After December 1 Mr. and Mrs. Millspaugh will be at home to their friends at 528 South Fourth street, Ann Arbor.

Among the out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Cummings, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Shaver, Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Dancer, M. A. Shaver and Mrs. Rose Gregg.

meantime two steel forms, one on the roadway, have been placed to prevent it from running off into the gutters. After it has been spread, it is, for the first time, subjected to treatment by manual labor, when a template worked by half a dozen men, is dragged over it to smooth off the surface, give it the proper crown and form the curb.

Of course the grading which preceded the laying of the cement foundation course is by no means the easiest part of the task. On this part of the work the county of Washtenaw expended somewhere around $100,000 during the construction season which is drawing to a close.

The old roads which are being superceded are, for the most part, simple dirt highways on which it is difficult for two cars or teams to pass each other. The new road when it is completed will be 28 feet wide with 18 feet of pavement in the center. This will permit two cars or teams to pass in perfect safety and with plenty of room to spare.

This road is a federal aid road, which means that the nited States government pays 50 per cent of the cost of construction. The remaining half of the cost is divided evenly between the state of Michigan and the counties of Jackson and Washtenaw.

The grade separation at Leoni, which is to be built in conjunction with the Michigan Central railroad, will cost about $130,000. The two most important bridges will cost $8,000 and $12,000 respectively. Ten bridges ranging in cost from $1,000 to $2,000 each will be built, as well as numerous culverts. The bridge and culvert work is 90 per cent completed at this time.

The entire project is under the control of Road Engineer John J. Cox, as are all state and county road construction projects in the county. R. A. Loveland is the engineer in charge of work on this road, while Fred L. Hanson has charge of construction work.

The Harvest of 50 Years

Your Grandfather and your Father faced ruin. War then had just ended. Consumers then clamored for cheaper food. Prices fell—farm prices most of all. Farmers sought aid in cooperation, in organization. They founded the National Grange—the first national farmers' organization to survive fifty years.

The Grange began the fight for better conditions for farmers; for better marketing; better homes; better schools and better government. Today you have agricultural colleges, experiment stations, extension, rural delivery, parcel post, postal savings and a lot of other things your Grandfather did not have, but needed, following the Civil War.

The Grange is fighting your fight the same today as it did fifty years ago. Another war has ended. Again the farmer is expected to stand the first shrinkage of prices.

You need the Grange and the Grange needs you. You need its experience in cooperation, in checking radical tendencies and in stabilizing the nation. You need its voice at Washington. It needs your prompt support.

For this advertisement we are indebted to THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN, which is even older than the Grange and which reflects the wisdom of years as well as the news of progress in farming. For farmers it believes in active, practical organization such as the Grange affords. It presents a weekly review of the sweeping progress of farm cooperation in organization which is the hope of the future. By subscribing for a full year of 52 issues you receive for only one dollar a farm-news service that will repay you many times over. Our secretary will forward your order.

PETE, HERE'S WORD FROM THE WOODS!

Certainly slipped on not tipping you that Mr. Bacon invited me to join his shooting party up here. Arrived at his Northeast Carry camp at sunset yesterday. And a riot started before we squared up to the venison steak! Listen, old bull pup—my tale's short!

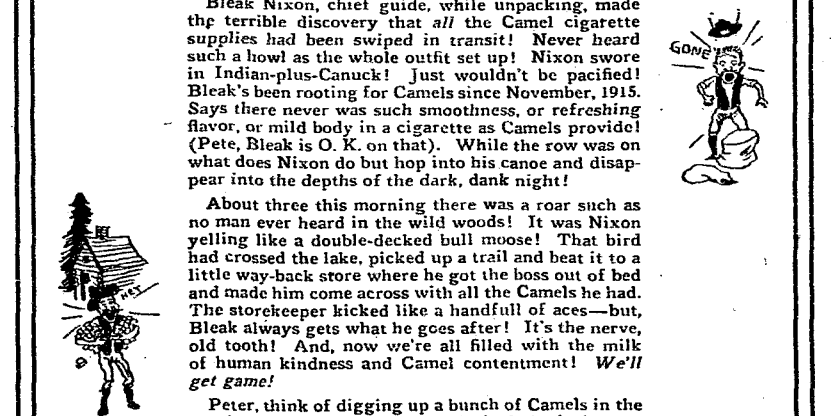

Bleak Nixon, chief guide, while unpacking, made the terrible discovery that all the Camel cigarette supplies had been swiped in transit! Never heard such a howl as the whole outfit set up! Nixon swore in Indian-plus-Canuck! Just wouldn't be pacified! Bleak's been rooting for Camels since November, 1915. Says there never was such smoothness, or refreshing flavor, or mild body in a cigarette as Camels provide! (Pete, Bleak is O. K. on that). While the row was on what does Nixon do but hop into his canoe and disappear into the depths of the dark, dank night!

About three this morning there was a roar such as no man ever heard in the wild woods! It was Nixon yelling like a double-decked bull moose! That bird had crossed the lake, picked up a trail and beat it to a little way-back store where he got the boss out of bed and made him come across with all the Camels he had. The storekeeper kicked like a handful of aces—but, Bleak always gets what he goes after! It's the nerve, old tooth! And, now we're all filled with the milk of human kindness and Camel contentment! We'll get game!

Peter, think of digging up a bunch of Camels in the depth of Maine's densest woods! And, that's the way it is all over the U. S. A.! You're never out of luck when you smoke Camels! Peter, old hub, I've spoke—as the cook puts it!

Back in New York—well,—soon!

This institution, officered by men who have spent long years in the service of customers, is capable of aiding you. Keep in mind that it is better to profit by the experience of others than to learn by the slow and expensive process of elimination—by "finding out that won't work."

IT HAPPENED IN CHELSEA

And is happening to Chelsea People Every Week.
The case told below is not an uncommon thing. The same occurs frequently and will continue to happen as long as folks have kidneys and overtax the kidneys.
Lewis Eschelbach, farmer, R. F. D. No. 2, Chelsea, says: "Two years ago I was in pretty bad shape with kidney trouble. I wasn't fit for any kind of work as my back was so painful. There was a constant weakness and soreness just over my kidneys. My head ached and I was very nervous, too. I didn't get any relief until I started taking Doan's Kidney Pills from Freeman's Drug Store. Three boxes cured me up sound and well. I am glad to recommend them."
Price One at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills the same that Mr. Eschelbach had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.—Adv.

BREVITIES.

Manchester—Mrs. Raynor Haussler, who has been in the Homeopathic hospital in Ann Arbor for several weeks recovering from a gunshot wound, came home for Thanksgiving.

Jackson—James Cross, convicted 13 years ago of the murder of Blanche Phillips in a Jackson saloon, and pardoned in 1919 after serving 11 years in the state prison here, that he might go west to fight tuberculosis, was arraigned last Thursday for alleged violation of the liquor law by the sale of whisky at a hotel.

Saline—The title to the old Baptist church site on the corner of Ann Arbor and Henry streets which was executed on July 11, 1836, has never been changed until this week Tuesday, when the property was sold to Alphonse Schmid, who will have the church building made over into a modern dwelling.—Saline Observer.

Norvell—Supervisor W. J. Anteliff of Norvell gives the Exponent the tax rates for 1920 applying to that township. State $3.34, county $7.03, county road $1.73, interest and sinking fund $1.52, or a total of $13.02 for state and county. The school tax rate varies in the different districts from $3.28 to $13.60 per thousand. The total tax rate in Norvell varies from $20.61 to $30.57 per thousand.—Brooklyn Exponent.

Milan—These are the days when much watchfulness is necessary if one is to enjoy the fowls so carefully fattened. Hearing a disturbance the other evening, Andrew Minzey started out to investigate and found his chicken coop was being visited. The intruders ran and later Andrew found a number of his choicest chickens in a bag where it had been dropped when he started in pursuit of the night callers. He notified his neighbors and now all are on the watch for a return trip.—Milan Leader.

Ann Arbor—Prof. Francis W. Kelsey, who returned to this country from Europe three weeks ago, sailed yesterday for London, where he will spend a part of the winter. Prof. Kelsey is head of a university expedition to Europe and the Near East. He secured some rare and valuable papyri in Egypt a short time ago, when the university authorized its purchase he brought it to this country personally, not daring, because it is so fragile, to trust it to the usual manner of transportation.—Ann Arbor Times News.

Manchester—It is nearly a year since the village undertook to increase its supply of electricity to enable it to have continuous service. There have been innumerable mistakes made, it is alleged, and delays by concerns that were to furnish material for the system and there is no telling when the plant will be completed. Some of our business men have made preparations for taking extra juice by ordering motors and there seem to be delays in supplying them, but when it is all finished we trust it will be so satisfactory that we shall forget the annoying disappointments.—Manchester Enterprise.
