SEARCHED LOCAL HOTEL

County Officers Made Investigation Yesterday; Find Alleged Liquor.

As the result of an investigation conducted yesterday by county officials, affidavits have been secured from four Chelsea young men setting forth that on January 1, 1921, they were supplied with an intoxicating liquid at the Crescent hotel in this village, and a later search of the hotel premises is alleged to have revealed a liberal supply of a supposedly intoxicating beverage.

After taking samples of the alleged liquor for analysis in Ann Arbor, the officials sealed up the balance of the suspected liquids until the alcoholic content is determined.

The information secured has been turned over to the prosecuting attorney for such action as he deems necessary.

FORD FACTORY FOR PINCKNEY.

Pinckney folks are on the qui vive as the result of negotiations whereby it is said that Henry Ford, Detroit motor car magnate, may secure control of the Pinckney water power and establish a branch factory in that neighboring village.

It is said that while passing through Pinckney last fall Mr. Ford stopped to watch some workmen who were wrecking a wall of one of the store buildings destroyed by fire a few weeks before, and engaged in a conversation with others watching the demolition of the wall, which led to his investigating the Pinckney water power.

With true optimism, Pinckneyites now believe that perhaps the two recent disastrous fires in that village may prove to be blessings in disguise.

BIG FIRE IN ANN ARBOR.

Fire Saturday night destroyed the plant of the Ann Arbor Metal & Stamping company for the second time within four months. The loss was more than $300,000, partially covered by insurance. The origin of the blaze is undetermined.

Last September the concern was wiped out by a blaze just after its new buildings had been completed, and were ready for occupancy. The damaged totaled $200,000. The plant was rebuilt and was the only one here running at full capacity when the fire Saturday reduced it to ruins.

An appraisal was being made of the factory preparatory to its sale to the West Virginia firm. The inventory would have been completed Monday and the plant sold during the first part of the week.

POULTRY SHOW SOON.

Grooming, manieuring and "marcelling" the poultry and pets to be exhibited at the Washtenaw County Poultry and Pet Stock show, coming off in Ann Arbor, January 10-15, is now the order of the day with all who plan exhibiting there.

The increasing interest manifested in these shows in the past two years warrants the anticipation that this is to be the best the county has known. To make it so, however, each one interested must co-operate with the management to secure the best results.

One of the most interesting features of the week will be the school of instruction for poultry raisers given by Mr. E. C. Foreman of Guelph, Ont. Many poultry raisers of Washtenaw county know Mr. Foreman through his excellent work while employed in the poultry department of the Michigan Agricultural college. The school will be in the same building as the show. Sessions will be held at 2:30 and 7:30 p. m., Thursday and Friday, January 13 and 14.

ASSISTANT CASHIER IS HELD

No Trace Found of $10,000 in Cash That Was Stolen; Taylor Identifies Bonds.

Detroit—Bonds valued at $22,700, stolen from the Clio State bank, Clio, Mich., in a holdup December 22, were recovered in a Detroit express office and Mabel Lansing, 32 years old, 461 Henry street, to whom the papers were addressed, was arrested. At the same time four men accused of being implicated in the robbery were apprehended, two in Detroit and two in Flint. Detroit and Flint officers and private detectives are now searching this city for two more alleged members of the holdup gang.

Harry Alexander, 25 years old, one of the men arrested in Flint, is the assistant cashier who was sole attendant of the bank when the robbery occurred. The other is James Driscoll, 35 years old, a printer working in Flint.

Jack Ryan, alias Lansing, 25 years old, and Owen Gleason, 29 years old, 71 Baker street, are the men apprehended here. They were taken to Flint.

The recovered bonds were identified by Charles E. Taylor, cashier of the pilfered bank. No other bonds are missing, but the police have been unable to find any of the $10,000 in cash that was stolen.

Alexander, the assistant cashier, denies assisting in planning or executing the robbery or profiting by it. He says he negotiated with Ryan for a case of whisky. As it was being delivered, according to his story, Ryan drew a revolver and forced him into a rear room, after which two other men entered and looted the vault.

Alexander claimed to have been beaten and left in a semi-conscious condition by the bandits, and gave the police only a meager description of them following the holdup.

NAME RECEIVERS FOR TOLEDO ROAD

SAID THAT HENRY FORD HAS COMPLETED NEGOTIATIONS FOR PURCHASE.

Would Serve as Connecting Link to Chicago; Could Use New Gasoline Cars.

Toledo, O.—At the request of the Henry L. Doherty company, of New York, Federal Judge Kilham appointed J. Frank Johnston and Harry A. Dunn receivers for the Toledo & Western railroad.

Johnston is now general manager of the road and Dunn is trust officer of the Ohio Savings Bank and Trust company of Toledo.

The Doherty company makes claim of approximately $300,000 against the road, the Doherty petition setting forth that last July the company defaulted in its interest on bonds. It is asserted that the stockholders have pressed claims for past due dividends until there are now close to 80 suits pending. It is to forestall this multiplicity of suits by stockholders seeking their dividends that the Doherty company asks that the road be placed in hands of receivers.

The road runs from Toledo to Adrian, Michigan, by way of Sylvania. At Sylvania, another line runs west to Pioneer, Mich.

Brief Items of Interest in Chelsea
And Vicinity, From Nearby
Towns and Localities.

JACKSON—Warren Bromley, Detroit police officer who made charges against two local bootleggers that they had held him up and robbed him of $500, is reported to have disappeared upon learning that he had been investigated and his story of the hold-up discredited.

YPSILANTI—When Mrs. Emory Garty ten weeks ago told her two grandchildren, who are motherless, that they might invite some friends to her Sunday story hour, she did not realize her group would expand so rapidly. Last Sunday there were 52 children present, and the stories now have been supplemented by music and other features.

MASON—Mason people are pretty much interested in the Hurley, Wis., liquor scandal and its outcome, inasmuch as one of the parties wanted in Wisconsin for the alleged charge of murder of a run runner was Jay P. Sweeney, a well known Mason young man. Sweeney, who has spent practically all his boyhood here and is a graduate of the Mason schools, also was one of the Mason boys who saw service in France, as a Lieutenant. He has a large circle of friends here who rejoice that Governor Shipper has not seen fit to sign the extradition papers.

ABOUT LIZZIE IN CHARLOTTE.

The story of how a well known girl was locked in a barn with two young men all one night here in Charlotte last week has just come to light. The case was reported to the officers, who have been working on it for some time, and the entire story has been uncovered.

The Tribune has been requested that the names of the parties be not published and considerable pressure has been brought to bear to have the names suppressed, but we feel that they should be printed, inasmuch as they are pretty well known anyway. The parties implicated were Lizzie Ford and Dodge brothers—Charlotte Republican.

LINER "ADS" EFFECTIVE.

One of the most effective forms of advertising is in the "liner" or classified column where a n investment of a few cents is certain to give prompt results. Tribune liner ads are always run under the heading, "Wants, For Sale, To Rent," in the same position on the front page where they are easy to find and invariably catch the eye. Only five cents the line for the first insertion, 2 1/2 cents the line for each subsequent insertion. Next time you want to buy something, or have something for sale or rent, try a Tribune liner.

DESCRIBES ARMENIAN HORRORS

"You can't realize what a sight it is to see the refugee camp at Batum," writes Officer George Porter, of Racine, Wis., writes his family, telling of the work of the Near East Relief in the ports along the Black Sea.

"The people are dying off little by little. There are workers of the relief organization here, but they don't seem to be able to take care of them all. They were the ones that made the camp. The families all live in grass huts, just high enough to sit up in, and they are covered with blankets. There is disease everywhere and the smell is terrible. I'm glad we didn't stay long, as I couldn't stand it, and you know when I can't stand anything there are few that can. I am sorry for these refugees, but we can't help any. They don't want money though they would sell their lives for some clothes and food. They don't stop praising the Americans.

"Trebizonde was another Armenian town, but it was completely wiped out by the Turks, who are now in control of it. The Turks massacred all the Armenians over fifteen years ago and kept all under that age to bring them up as Turks. The city looked as if it was shot to pieces. Samsoun is the same as Trebizonde, so you can see what kind of country we are travelling through. I am sure glad that we are leaving Russia and Armenia because I am sick of what I have seen. I think that these tourists who are trying to see ravished Armenia will be sorry they ever came over. These relief workers are nearly dead from work. They are the people who can tell the U. S. something about this country."

The Near East Relief, 1 Madison Ave., New York, is now appealing for funds to continue the work so graphically described by the young American sailor.
