

CUT TO PIECES UNDER PASSENGER TRAIN

Italian Laborer Met Frightful Death
Here In Michigan Central Yards
Saturday Afternoon.

Antonio Maiuri, 20 years of age, an Italian laborer employed as a section hand in the "extra-gang" on the Michigan Central railroad, was struck and instantly killed Saturday afternoon by eastbound passenger train No. 10.

The unfortunate man's body was terribly cut and mangled beneath the train and portions scattered along the tracks for a distance of 300 yards.

Was Going After Water.

The accident occurred about five o'clock. The gang of Italian laborers live in "boarding-cars" on a siding in the west yards of the Michigan Central, just east of Hayes street, and south of the main line tracks. The men got water from a well at a house on North street, and north of the tracks. Maiuri was going after water and stopped on the main eastbound track while a westbound freight passed, evidently not noticing the approaching passenger train on the eastbound track.

The passenger train was late and was running at high speed. Ordinarily, it does not stop at Chelsea and after hitting Maiuri it was not brought to a stop until after passing the Chelsea depot, upwards of 1500 feet east of the point where the unfortunate man was struck.

The gang of foreign laborers came out from Detroit two weeks ago today, Maiuri accompanying them. His Detroit address was 3018 Biopelle street.

Colored Man Has Narrow Escape.

A colored man, who was stealing a ride on the freight train, narrowly escaped being struck by the passenger train, also. He got off from the freight, which was moving slowly, at the Main street crossing, but evidently changed his mind about stopping here, and was attempting to board the freight again when he stumbled and fell over some steel rails lying alongside the tracks, but fortunately for him he fell clear of the passenger train which passed almost on the instant. A portion of Maiuri's body, including the head, torso and right arm, was thrown from under the train at a point near where the negro fell. The colored man was a stranger and disappeared a few minutes after his narrow escape. His left hand and arm seemed to be injured and he was terribly frightened by his experience.

RUM RUNNERS CAUGHT

Had Car Loaded With 168 Quart Bottles In Cases.

Two men, Thomas Murphy of Iron Mountain and Vincent Zineaglio of Thornton, Ill., driving a Hudson car loaded with 168 quarts of intoxicating liquors, were arrested here Saturday afternoon by Deputy Sheriff L. G. Palmer, who apprehended the outfit in front of the home of Jacob Lehman, on South Main street.

In Ann Arbor yesterday, Murphy demanded an examination which was set for two o'clock Friday afternoon and Zineaglio was given the privilege of conferring with a Detroit attorney who was to arrive in Ann Arbor yesterday afternoon. Both men are being held under $3,000 bail.

REAR END COLLISION

AT D. J. & C. DEPOT

George Hamp Injured Sunday When Interurbans Crashed.

A rear-end collision between two eastbound electric interurban cars at 6:45 p. m. Sunday at the Chelsea depot of the D. J. & C. Ry. resulted in serious injuries to George Hamp of this place, and cuts and bruises to a number of other passengers, none of the latter considered seriously injured.

A D. J. & C. car was standing at the station, and passengers were boarding it. Some trouble had developed in the mechanism of the car as it was coming into Chelsea and the crew had "pulled" the fuses and were attempting to repair the break. A heavy green Michigan Railway car was following and as it neared the station the motorman found he could not stop it and began blowing the whistle to warn the passengers of the car ahead of their danger. After doing all he could to stop his car, the motorman jumped just before the crash.

The Michigan Railway car was of steel construction and showed little damage, but the rear end of the light-colored D. J. & C. car was badly smashed. It is considered miraculous that no one on the D. J. & C. car was seriously injured.

Mr. Hamp was standing on the depot platform and was probably struck by some flying portion of the wrecked car. His right leg and back were injured. It is possible that his leg is fractured, and his hip and back pain him a great deal.

The team did not go to Detroit, yesterday as they had planned, but will go Thursday, the starting being postponed on account of the committee being unable to secure the high school gymnasium for the first part of the week. The first team the Reserves meet will be the Detroit Orioles.

SOME EARLY HISTORY OF LYNDON TOWNSHIP

Collins Brothers Were First Settlers
In 1833: First Township Election
Was Held In 1837.

Following are some notes, compiled from various sources, on the pioneer history of Lyndon township:

The first settlers were Seth B. Collins, H. and Harrison W. Collins, brothers, who arrived in the township in August, 1833. They erected a forester's wigwam, cut a quantity of grass or hay, and made preparation to spend the winter. Early in November they raised the first log house ever erected within the confines of Lyndon, but it remained untenanted until the following January when the oldest brother moved in with his newly wedded wife. During the ensuing year a clearance of 40 acres was made by the brothers, joining two extensive plains, which have ever since been known as "Collins' Plains."

After the Collins brothers had established their home many others were attracted hither. During 1834 and 1835 the new settlement received substantial additions to its population, as follows: Abner Bruen, John Green, Henry G. Holmes, Michael Gutman, Samuel Boyce, Nathan Rose, Dr. John Cooper, Abraham Buggitt, John Twamiey, Alfred Bruce, Jasper Moore, William Watts, John Coleman, Hugh Wade, David Coleman, James Stryker, William Wilcox, and George Sollars.

During the summer of 1836 it is said that Josiah B. Collins set out the first orchard ever planted in the township.

Other settlers who arrived in 1836 were: Horace Lock, and family, who located on section 18; Eli Rockwell, on section 8; Grant Clark, on section 31; Jesse Rose and Owen McIntee, on section 19; John and Hugh Cassidy, on sections 32 and 33; Joseph Yocum, John and Ira Gifford, John Davidson, Joseph Webster and Stephen Dove, and families. Patrick Haggerty, William Bott, and Washington Beeman made entries of their lands in 1836, but no improvements until the following year.

The first white woman is said to have been Mrs. Pamela Collins, who was a daughter of John Green, an early settler. Mrs. Winans and Mrs. Garry Briggs were later Pamela Collins' neighbors, although they settled in Livingston county, near the county line.

The township of Lyndon was organized under the act of the Territorial government, approved in 1836, laying off that portion of Washtenaw county set forth in the United States survey, as township 1 S., of R. 3 east, into a township to be named Lyndon, and directing the first meeting of electors to be held at the house of John Green. Subsequently, in April 1837, 42 of the electors gathered as directed and Jesse Horace Lock as supervisor and Jesse Horace Lock as clerk. The first school house is said to have been located on section 18, erected in 1837. John B. Yocum was the first teacher, and Mrs. Angel Green the second.

CARDINAL GIBBONS TAKEN BY DEATH

END COMES PEACEFULLY TO ROMAN CATHOLIC LEADER AT BALTIMORE HOME.

IMPRESSIVE FUNERAL SERVICES

Cardinal's Grave to Be Close to Where He Was Baptized and Consecrated As Priest.

Baltimore, Md.—James Cardinal Gibbons, archbishop of Baltimore and senior prelate of the Roman Catholic church in the United States, died at 11:33 o'clock Thursday of last week, passing away so quietly that even his nurse could not be sure that it was the end. Cardinal Gibbons was stricken several weeks ago and the worse was feared at that time, but his condition changed for the better and great hopes had been entertained for his complete recovery.

Arrangements for the funeral have been made for Thursday of this week. At the funeral will gather the greatest company of churchmen ever assembled in the United States. The funeral procession will include the cardinals, archbishops, bishops and apostolic delegates, and virtually all the priests in the diocese of Maryland. Archbishop Glennon of the St. Louis diocese will preach the sermon.

His grave will be in the niche in the crypt under the high altar of the cathedral. Above his vault, behind whose south wall lie the six archbishops of Maryland who have preceded him, is the sanctuary of the cathedral to which the cardinal's parents brought him as a baby to be baptized, where he was consecrated as a bishop, where he was later consecrated an archbishop, and where on June 30, 1886, he was invested with the robes of the cardinalate.

Mr. Proctor says the $110,000 is separate from the sums he gave to the Wood campaign. "I don't know how much I gave," he said. "That's all in the past."

Says Women Would Elect Him

Minneapolis.—William Jennings Bryan was asked by the Young Women's Christian association of Miami to run for president in 1924. "Would Be" Name of Town

Texas.—The town of Would Be, Okla., owes its name to a dispute between a postoffice inspector and postmaster. The postmaster, finding the discrepancy for the citizens, wanted the town named Would Be. The inspector objected. "It wouldn't do at all," he said. "When the oil's gone, what would it be?" "It would be a town, that's what it would be," answered the postmaster. "Well, then it would be, it would be," the inspector retorted and became Would Be.

BATTLE ON STATE UTILITY CONTROL

LEAGUE OF MUNICIPALITIES IS FIGHTING ATTEMPT TO RESTRICT CITIES' POWER.

SENATE PASSES "DEAD" ISSUES

Votes to Submit County Home Rule to Voters and to Abolish State Constabulary.

Lansing.—State control of public utilities has come to the fore in the legislature and a determined battle is in progress over the bill introduced by Senator Don Osborn of Kalamazoo to give the public utilities commission absolute control over all public service corporations. The latter are reported to favor the Osborn bill and the league of municipalities is openly fighting the measure.

The league adherents will be satisfied with nothing except city control of utilities and declare that if the Osborn bill gets through the legislature it will only do so with a referendum clause attached and that it will be defeated at the polls when the city people get a chance to vote on it. Some members are threatening to put in bills to abolish the public utilities commission.

Senate Log-Rolling Charged.

Vote trading and log-rolling were charged to the senate after one afternoon session in which two apparently dead measures were taken up and passed along with the Bryant bill to abolish the state constabulary. The latter measure went through with scarcely any comment except that occasioned by the fact that the new department of public safety bill is to dispose of the present state police body and supplant it with another. The constabulary has many determined foes, however, and they rejoined over the senate action on the repeal bill.

In connection with the passage of this bill opposition was dropped to the proposed constitutional amendment to allow counties to establish commission form of government if they so elect. The joint resolution providing for the submission of this amendment was taken off the table where it has remained since its failure to get the needed two-thirds vote and was passed with several votes to spare. Then the senators put through the bill to reduce auto license taxes one-quarter on all licenses purchased after April 1 of each year. The house already has gone on record as opposed to this idea.

Department of Safety.

The administration bill for the department of safety would place in the hands of this department the enforcement of prohibition, the duties of the state fire marshal and of the state oil inspector. It would abolish the constabulary next June. The bill provides for a $5,000 a year commission to have charge of the department. The house was the scene of a pretty battle when the proposed state income tax plan came up for discussion. It would require an amendment to the constitution to have such a tax and it takes a two-thirds vote to submit an amendment to the voters. After much heated debate and with the Wayne delegation standing solidly against the plan the house vote showed 64 members favoring the income tax, just three less than two-thirds. The matter then was tabled temporarily while the advocates of the tax started to campaign for the necessary additional three members' support.

The house adopted the Groesbeck administration bill to substitute a new department of labor and industry for the present state labor commission. The bill is the third of the series of administration measures. It calls for a commission of three members who will be paid $1,000 a year each and who must devote their entire time to the work of the department.

Propose Welfare Commission.

The bill to establish a state welfare commission to supplant the present boards of all state institutions has been introduced in the house. It provides for a $5,000 a year welfare commission, with four commissioners serving under him. One would have charge of all prisons, another of state hospitals, a third of corrective institutions and a fourth of charitable institutions. Each commission would consist of five members to be appointed by the governor and to be paid $10 a day each for time devoted to state work.

Both houses have passed the Lenon bill to prevent aliens from owning firearms and it has gone to the governor for his consideration.

There is much interest in a bill to have the senate establish a new trunk line highway across the state from the Indiana line below Kalamazoo to Port Sanilac, via Ionia, Stanton, Ithaca and Saginaw and to the lake at the Odessa highway in the house of Phil T. Coleman, of Hastings an ardent advocate of good roads.

before the legislature except a capital punishment bill. Moving pictures men are fighting hard against a censorship bill, claiming that the Detroit police censorship is all that is necessary in Michigan.

Two bills to establish a poll tax made their appearance in the house on the same day, one being introduced by Rep. Smith and the other by Rep. Rowe. The Smith bill would levy a poll tax annually on every citizen between the ages of twenty-one and fifty and the Rowe bill would levy it on all citizens between the ages of twenty-one and sixty.

Say Council Gave Aid.

This legislature still is making a record for investigations, most of which are far from completion according to present indications. The Baker inquiry into the Michigan Community Council Commission, one of the first started at this session, hobs up weekly with a few added details but with no sign of ending. American Legion officers gave interest to a recent hearing by insisting on filing a statement they had prepared in which they declared little had been done for the returned soldiers, but giving the Community Council credit for real aid, one of the concluding paragraphs of their statement declaring:

"When the government of the United States and the government of Michigan, with all their resources, failed to bring relief at a time when it was needed most, the Community Council Commission, first with an appropriation of $25,000, for organization work and later with $50,000, has been the only organization that has risen to the occasion and made available funds whereby the veterans of Michigan could present their claims and demand the recognition to which they were entitled."

The balance of funds of the Community Council Commission are to be turned over to the Legion. It is planned, but the way the veterans came to bat on the side of the commission was a surprise to the investigators. Investigations into the delinquencies at Marquette prison, into alleged ill-treatment of boys in the industrial school and into health conditions at the Coldwater school also are proceeding.

Asks Rate Regulation.

Interurban railway rates were brought to the fore in the house when Rep. Glaspey put in a bill to allow 3-cent per mile fares on all roads earning less than $5,000 a mile; 2-1/2-cent fares on roads earning from $5,000 to $10,000 a mile and 1-1/2-cent fares on roads earning more than $10,000 a mile. These rates would prevail while the public utilities commission is making inventories and appraisals on which to base permanent rates, those to be on the basis of a "fair return" on the investment. A bill introduced some time ago by Senator Osborn turns the whole matter of interurban rates over to the utilities commission at once, but it is questioned in some quarters if the legislature can delegate its rate-making power to any other body.

The house is considering the Townsend bill for the creation of a state advisory health council and for full-time health officers in all counties, the measure having been reported out favorably. It has the backing of Dr. R. M. Olin, state health commissioner, who declares it will reduce by one-half the death rate from communicable diseases. Under the terms of the bill there would be 41 health officers at salaries of $3,000 a year; 12 at $2,500; two at $4,000 and one at $4,500. The state would pay one-half the salaries and the counties the other half. Dr. Olin says the expense would be offset largely by savings on present expenses, as the bill would abolish about 1,700 health jurisdictions which now cost about $100 each.

$600,000 For Armories.

Senator Wilcox put in a bill to allow voters of towns to utilize for road purposes money previously raised for town halls, if they so elect. The house military affairs committee has reported out a bill carrying appropriations of $360,000 for next year and $300,000 for the year after for armories. Flint and Lansing are included for $90,000 each for armories in the first year and Detroit for two armories in 1923.

Senator Wood, of Detroit, has introduced a bill to provide for a Torrens system of land transfers, a measure which has been the subject of content in several recent legislatures.

Senator Eva Hamilton has introduced a bill to amend the teachers' retirement fund act so that any teacher retiring at the age of 60 would receive $600 a year, half from the state and half from the fund maintained by contributions from teachers. A board consisting of the superintendent of public instruction and five others named by the governor, at least one of whom would have to be a woman teacher, would administer the plan, the bill provides. Another bill by Senator Hamilton provides for $100 a year payments to blind persons of the state, judges of probate being empowered to investigate all claims.

The senate has passed Senator McNaughton's bill to recuse the manure and sale of white farming. It sent back to committee, however, the Haskill bill to combine Tuscola county with Ionia in a judicial circuit, in order to get it from the counties of Ionia and Tuscola. Now it is included with Ionia and Sanilac in one circuit, while Ionia is still alone at present, having been separated from the Oakland circuit.

DISARMAMENT IS URGED AT MEET

RESOLUTION ADOPTED REQUESTING CALLING OF CONFERENCE TO DISCUSS SUBJECT.

NAVY ADVOCATES DENOUNCED

Senator Borah Brands Authors of Increased Armaments "Sedulous Patrons of Bolshevism."

Washington.—A resolution requesting President Harding, "to call a conference of the nations on the question of world disarmament" and asking that increased appropriations of congress for armaments be postponed pending such a conference was adopted here at mass meeting under the auspices of the women's disarmament committee.

Senator Borah, of Idaho, the principal speaker, again advocated an agreement between the United States, Great Britain and Japan to reduce naval armaments and charged the authors of programs for increased armaments for the world with being "sedulous patrons of bolshevism."

"I want to tell you," he said, "that the men who blind peoples to their governments are snatching every where because of the great burden of armaments. Our representatives at Versailles were pledged to such a reduction. They met in the palace of the Dourbons, talked of a better world and when the talk was over went home to lay upon the backs of the struggling millions burdens a Caesar would not have dreamed of."

Those who are in a "run down" condition will notice that Catarrh bothers them much more than when they are in good health. This fact proves that while Catarrh is a local disease, it is greatly influenced by constitutional conditions. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE is a Tonic and Blood Purifier, and acts through the blood upon the mucous surfaces of the body, thus relieving the inflammation and restoring normal conditions.
