

ARREST ANOTHER GANG OF BOOZE RUNNERS

Chelsea Officer Is Waterloo For Two Outfits During Past Week.

Another gang of booze-runners, the second arrested here within a week, came to grief Wednesday afternoon when Deputy Sheriff Leigh G. Palmer arrested it just south of Chelsea on the Manchester road. Two men and a woman, giving their names as Leonard Salmi, Ernest Drouillard and Mary Rumahr, were gathered in by the officer and taken to Ann Arbor.

The party passed through Chelsea in three cars, and two were captured and confiscated, upwards of 100 quarts of whisky being found concealed in the upholstery.

Salmi is believed to be the ring-leader of the gang and will be given a hearing in Ann Arbor today.

Drouillard had no drivers license and plead guilty to driving a car without a license, yesterday, before Justice John D. Thomas of Ann Arbor. He was sentenced to 65 days in the Detroit house of correction. The young woman was released.

ANGLERS' LICENSE BILL

A bill now under consideration by the state legislature would make it a misdemeanor "for any resident of the State of Michigan above the age of 18 years" to fish from any of the public fishing waters of the state unless provided with a license to cost one dollar. The money so collected shall be used for propagating fry for the re-stocking of the fishing waters of the state, and would provide a fund estimated at about $300,000 yearly.

without levying a tax on the state at large. We believe the bill has merit and should be passed. Surely, no true sportsman will begrudge the dollar, and children are exempted from the provisions of the law; and the money so collected will insure adequate funds for restocking the waters of the state.

Most anglers spend each year many times the amount of the proposed license fee for tackle, but tackle without fish is quite useless, we'll say. Let's "kick in" a little old iron man each year and so insure the fish.

SOLDIER BONUS AMENDMENT

American Legion Addresses Article
To Taxpayers of Sylvan and Surrounding Townships.

This article is not addressed to the taxpayer alone, but to all voters interested in the State of Michigan, who might read this item; we emphasize the taxpayer because he is the most interested party on this important amendment.

First, your thought might be on the present condition of the State treasury. We are approximately five million dollars in debt and anyone can comprehend the cause of it. As in our own village, when the cost of materials and other expenses advanced the tax rate did not advance in proportion to the advance of expenses and therefore brought in a revenue much lower than our ratio of expense.

Now, members of our state legislature are framing a bill which will collect a corporation tax of six million dollars this coming July. If this bill passes our state will show a balance in the treasury as soon as this tax is received.

There is very little likelihood of this money to pay the bonus being raised by direct tax in a short time or period of years as it would be entirely out of the question to assume any unreasonable legislation of this sort. The common plans of the majority are to float a bond issue to cover a period of 20 or 30 years, and therefore, at the same time you are voting the ex-service men a bonus you are getting a bond issue that will make a good investment for yourself. The amount of tax that would fall on you from such a bond issue would be so small that the average taxpayer would scarcely know of its existence.

The best plan that has been suggested so far is from the Governor of the state. He states that he can raise fifty million dollars without putting a tax on real or personal property, but by assessing insurance and inheritance incomes. This tax also spread over a period of 20 or 30 years would be small on the average income from these sources.

After you have studied the above figures turn your mind to the present condition of the country. The American Soldier is not putting a price on his patriotism for he does hold, and will forever want to keep it free from any stain that would cast a reflection upon his past record. There are boys who are able to work and who are working, but their number is small as compared with the sick and idle though the state. They are trying hard to find work in the cities, but it is not to be had at any price and they would have no reason to desire this fifteen dollars per month from the state if it were not for the time and money they lost while those who remained at home and worked in the shipyards, etc., enjoyed big wages and opportunity for a savings account.

The soldier is proud of the people at home who backed them to the limit by lending a helping hand in everything, but he can never forget the cost-plus plan which poured shovels into the hands of the profiteer at his expense, while he was living on canned beef, beans, prunes, etc., say nothing of facing all kinds of weather and subjecting himself to fever at all times.

The majority of Michigan men saw service abroad and how much would you have given to get out of his job when he crossed the Atlantic on a cattle boat or scow, slept in the mud and waded in it up to your knees not knowing what the morrow would bring forth.

Thirteen states have already passed an amendment granting their ex-service men with a bonus and it is pending in 28 other states. It has not yet been rejected what will Michigan do?

No Mr. Voter, we are not begging for money or seeking alms, all we ask of you is to go to the polls and vote yes or no, but let your conscience be your guide. We know what the women will do, as they suffered most through the long strain—men it is up to you!

Legislative Committee, Herbert J. McKune Post No. 31, The American Legion.

Mr. Waite is survived by his wife and five children, Mrs. Blanche Russell of Ann Arbor, Donald, Wallace, Messner of Merced, Texas, and Mrs. Anna Barois of Chelsea; 10 grandchildren and four great grandchildren, are left to mourn their loss. Mrs. Schmidt passed away about a year ago.

The funeral was held this afternoon at 1:30 o'clock from St. Paul's church, Rev. Krause conducting the service. Interment at Oak Grove cemetery.

HAMBURG Hugh Rice died here Wednesday at the farm home where he was born in 1841. He had spent his entire life on the farm. Funeral services were held Thursday at 1:30.

ORVILLE GORTON.

Orville Gorton was born on the Gorton homestead in Waterloo, June 20, 1850, and resided on the same farm until the time of his death on March 24, 1921, aged 70 years, nine months and four days.

His parents were Aaron T. Gorton and Mary A. (Caddock) Gorton, who were among the first settlers in the township, and who lived on the same farm from the time they located until the time of their deaths.

After finishing in the district school the deceased attended the United Brothers Seminary at Leoni, returning from there to the farm where he taught school winters and worked on the farm summers.

He married Mary E. Locke on December 23, 1874, and they immediately took up their residence on the farm, taking over the management thereof from his father.

To this union were born three children; Ettie Dell, Sarah Elizabeth, and Mary Louise. He is survived by the latter, five grandchildren, one sister, Sarah E. Avery of Los Angeles, California, and two brothers, Henry of Waterloo and Lewis G. of Detroit.

His wife and dearest friend, Mary E. Gorton, departed this life August 10, 1919, from the shock of which he never fully recovered.

While yet a young man he embraced the Christian life, and was an active worker in the church until the time of his last illness.

At the time of his death he was vice president of the Stockbridge State bank and a director of the Farmers State bank of Grass Lake. While not active in politics he was always greatly interested in charitable and civic matters, and contributed liberally thereto.

For many years he was a member of Stockbridge Lodge No. 130 F. & A. M., in which he took keen interest, but was unable to attend regularly on account of being so distant from the place of meeting.

On account of his varied interests he enjoyed a wide acquaintance and was honored and esteemed by a host of friends.

Funeral services were held Monday at 12 o'clock from his late home, his pastor, Rev. E. Rhoads officiating, and the remains were laid to rest in Waterloo cemetery; the pall bearers being three members from each board of directors of the two banks in which he was interested.

JOHN G. SCHMIDT.

John G. Schmidt died Monday, March 28, 1921, at his home, 242 Adams street, aged 81 years, nine months and 14 days.

The deceased was born in Wartenberg, Germany, June 24, 1839. In 1854 he left the country of his birth and came to the United States, settling in Cleveland, Ohio. During the strenuous days of '61-'65 he answered the call of his adopted country and served as a Union soldier with the Sixth Ohio Cavalry.

In 1866 he was united in marriage with Miss Katherine Thalmier, and the following year they settled on a farm in Lyndon township, Washtenaw county, Michigan. For the past 35 years the family home had been in Chelsea. Mr. Schmidt was a member of St. Paul's church and of R. P. Carpenter Post, G. A. R.

Two sons, John G. Schmidt, Jr., of near Seattle, Washington, and Edward A. Schmidt of Cleveland, Ohio; and two daughters, Mrs. Katherine Messner of Merced, Texas, and Mrs. Anna Barois of Chelsea; 10 grandchildren and four great grandchildren, are left to mourn their loss. Mrs. Schmidt passed away about a year ago.

The funeral was held this afternoon at 1:30 o'clock from St. Paul's church, Rev. Krause conducting the service. Interment at Oak Grove cemetery.

HAMBURG Hugh Rice died here Wednesday at the farm home where he was born in 1841. He had spent his entire life on the farm. Funeral services were held Thursday at 1:30.

OUR NEIGHBORS' DOINGS

What's Happening in Neighboring Towns and Localities.

YPSILANTI—A $25,000 libel suit was started Wednesday in circuit court by Mrs. Helen Jackson against the Ypsilanti Press. It is alleged the newspaper published on March 5, 1920, a statement from the Catholic Women's club of Ypsilanti regarding Mrs. Jackson, who had been lecturing on her alleged experiences as an escaped nun. The statement claimed that Mrs. Jackson had been committed to the House of the Good Shepherd in Detroit because she was wayward. The statement was alleged to have been taken from a book entitled "Defenders of the Church." The Ypsilanti Record is defendant in a similar suit, also.

GRASS LAKE—High school students and young men about the town testifying in circuit court Monday in the case of Frank McCoy, on trial for violation of the liquor law, said that they had bought cider from McCoy which made them drunk. McCoy was arrested on the specific charge of having, on January 11th last, sold to one Wallace Klingler cider which was intoxicating, and the additional charge was made of keeping a place where intoxicating drinks were sold in violation of the statute.

MASON—Will Couch, son of Chas. Couch, a well-known Aurelius farmer, has had the misfortune to break his leg. The lad, a student in the Mason high school, was sharpening an axe on a grindstone run by the gasoline engine. Finishing the job and rising quickly he caught the belt in some way throwing the heavy grindstone over onto his leg, breaking it just below the hip.

WOMEN WHO CANNOT WORK

Read Mrs. Corley's Letter and Benefit by Her Experience

Edmund, S.C. — "I was run down with nervousness and female trouble and suffered every month. I was not able to do any work and tried a lot of medicine, but got no relief. I saw your medicine advertised in a little book that was thrown in my door, and I had not taken two bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before I could see it was helping me. I am keeping house now and am able to do all of my work. I cannot say enough for your medicine. It has done more for me than any doctor. I have not paper enough to tell you how much it has done for me and for my friends. You may print this letter if you wish." — ELIZABETH C. CORLEY, care of A. P. Corley, Edmund, S.C.

Ability to stand the strain of work is the privilege of the strong and healthy, but how our hearts ache for the weak and sickly women struggling with their daily rounds of household duties, with backaches, headaches, nervousness and almost every movement brings a new pain. Why will not the mass of letters from women all over this country, which we have been publishing, convince such women that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help them just as surely as it did Mrs. Corley?

Feel All Worn Out?

Has a cold, grip, or other infectious disease sapped your strength? Do you suffer backache, lack ambition, feel dull and depressed? Look to your kidneys! Physicians agree that kidney trouble often results from infectious disease. Too often the kidneys are neglected because the sufferer doesn't realize they have broken down under the strain of filtering disease-created poisons from the blood. If your back is bad, your kidneys act irregularly, and you feel all run down, use Doan's Kidney Pills. Doan's have helped thousands. Ask your neighbor!

A Michigan Case

Phil Kinath, 62, 3411 St. Albans, Mich., says: "There was dull, steady ache in my back and it was lame and sore. I felt tired and weak. When I raised up or made a chair turn I was blinded by black spots, which I made me dizzy. My kidneys were weak and irregular. I heard of Doan's Kidney Pills and bought a few boxes, which fixed me up in good shape."

SETTLING IN TERMS OF PRODUCT IS SOUND BASIS FOR FARM RENT

The Crop Yield Should Bear a Close Relation to the Rent Per Acre.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)
Thomas Kashrent greeted his landlord, John Acreowner, in the Kashrent kitchen. The visitor took the chair proffered and filled his pipe.
"Thomas," said he, when their pipes were well alight, "I want to get you thinking over an idea that I picked out the other day from a bulletin sent out to me by the United States Department of Agriculture. It's made up by the office of farm management and its subject matter is of interest to us both. The title is, 'The Farm Lease Contract.'"

"Now," he continued, "I'd be a pretty poor judge of human nature if I didn't know that you're feeling a little blue over that cash-rent contract you signed with me last fall. You realize that there are changed conditions, since we made out that lease, that will make it hard for you to pay cash—and you're one of those men whose word is as good as his bond. Neither of us knew when we signed that paper that grain and other farm produce were going to take the tumble they have taken, but it doesn't alter the fact that our contract, as it stands, is hard on you."

Farmer Hard Hit.
"Prices certainly dropped," agreed Kashrent, with a regretful sigh. "They slumped before I had a chance to haul what I intended to sell. All things considered, I'd have been better off if we'd taken the farm on shares instead of on a cash basis."

The landlord nodded understandingly.
"I'm not here to tell you that I'll reduce your rent materially, nor am I going to offer to change the present contract for a contract on the share basis, but I'm going to propose something that is the next thing to it. I'm going to try to show you that I appreciate a good, honest tenant. In case grain is up again by fall you may be able to pay the agreed cash and still make a fair profit. Besides, my own expenditures are more or less fixed and I must have cash to meet them with, but I'm going to see if I can't help you to help me by meeting you halfway."

"What do you think of adding a clause to the contract whereby you will be given the option of paying me in terms of bushels of corn, oats, or wheat? This Farmers' Bulletin I spoke of tells about similar arrangements which southern farm owners and tenants have put into practice. A good bit of cotton land is rented on a basis such that the tenant pays so many bales, or so many pounds of cotton, for the use of the land for a year. The amount of the rent is closely related, or should be, to the value of the produce which the tenant is able to raise—that's why farmers and landlords find difficulty in fixing the rent every year. They're trying to put a value on a crop that isn't out of the ground yet, you see. If you agree to pay me so many bushels of grain instead of a fixed amount in dollars and cents, I'll be taking my chance along with you and our good and bad years will run along together. What do you think of the idea?"

"I believe we can come to an agreement," Mr. Acreowner, one that will be just to both of us. If the terms are right you'll stand a chance of getting a little more than your original rent to compensate for taking a share in the risk that I must carry alone now. That's fair. How can we figure it out?"
"Let's suppose that it takes 300 bushels of grain to pay the cash rent under average conditions. Now suppose we add 10 per cent to cover my risk of a further drop in prices. We can hit an average by going over the records for a few years back and figuring from them just how many bushels had to be sold each year to bring in the amount of the rent in cash. Here are some figures I worked out last evening—they show the average portion of the corn crop that was needed to pay the cash rent over a 10-year period."

Year.	Price at which the corn sold.	Cash rent in dollars.	Number of bushels of corn to pay the rent.
1911	$1.25	$30.00	240
1912	1.10	30.00	273
1913	1.00	30.00	300
1914	.90	30.00	333
1915	.80	30.00	375
1916	.70	30.00	429
1917	.60	30.00	500
1918	.50	30.00	600
1919	.40	30.00	750
1920	.30	30.00	1000
Average			429

"What," observed Kashrent after a pause, "that puts the business in a new light, doesn't it? To collect me from a possibility of making cash payments you're willing to take the value in corn with an additional 10 per cent to cover your liabilities if the price goes away down? Is that it? Then I'd be renting the land from you for about 7 bushels of corn for each acre? I'd take you up if that's true. Why, look, man! It took nearly 11 bushels to pay the rent on an acre last year—by your own figures!"

"Let's hope that was an exceptional year," smiled Acreowner. "Anyway, I'll come out all right in the long run."

Details to Decide.

They had many questions to decide before the matter was finally settled. They had to agree whether or not the entire rent was to be settled in terms of corn, or whether other crops should have a share. They decided the matter of the quality of the corn that Mr. Kashrent was to bring his landlord, and where it was to be delivered. There was a question as to whether or not a date should be established on which the tenant must declare his option—cash or corn—and whether or not the landlord should have a similar choice. Perhaps they had to recast the whole lease to agree to the new terms of payment and without reference to the cash at all, but in the end they had a contract which gave justice and protection to both parties if crop prices should prove so unstable as some men predict they will be. In addition, Mr. Kashrent has a landlord whom he respects and Mr. Acreowner has a tenant whom he can rely upon.

Landlords and tenants who find themselves facing a similar problem can get additional information from the office of farm management and farm economics, United States Department of Agriculture, to aid them in making the adjustment.

ALMANAC IS PLENARY GUIDE TO FARM WORK

Good Bits of Advice by Department of Agriculture.

Farmers Reminded to Do Right Thing at Proper Time and Told Where Information on Many Subjects May Be Obtained.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

"Beware of false prophets. Don't plant by the moon; but get the best seed and prepare the seed bed, then plant when soil and moisture conditions are right." "Keeping farm accounts never worried Adam; but he was only a gardener." "The owner of a scrub bull should have a leather medal—made from the bull's hide." These bits of farm advice are contained in "An Agricultural Almanac for 1921," issued by the United States Department of Agriculture to remind farmers to do the right thing at the right time and to tell them where to secure information on agricultural subjects.

The almanac, which appears as Farmers' Bulletin 1202, is published, the department says, in response to a large demand from farmers for a calendar of work showing the timely use of new farm facts. Seasonal advice and suggestions are given on such topics as the weather, farm operations, marketing, wild life, and woods work. References to other publications of the department tell where detailed information on each subject can be had. A section on "Farm Hints" discusses farm laws and gives tables and directions for such things as mixing stock feed, fertilizers and spray solutions; weights of seed and grain and other information needed by farmers and their families. A limited number of copies is available for distribution by the United States Department of Agriculture and may be had upon application.

CURE DEFECTS IN TOMATOES

Black Spots May Be Prevented by Treating Seed in Solution of Corrosive Sublimite.

It is claimed that black spots in tomatoes may be prevented to a considerable extent by treating the seeds with a corrosive sublimate solution. One-twentieth of an ounce of corrosive sublimate is dissolved in a gallon of water. The tomato seed is placed in a little bag and soaked in this solution for five minutes and then washed in running water for ten minutes, and then the seed is spread out to dry. In using corrosive sublimate be sure to put the solution in a wooden or earthenware container; corrosive sublimate attacks metal.

All-Occasion Coats

IT IS a real pleasure to make a fit for spring. Manufacturers appear to have discovered that good lines, above all things, are imperative and, starting out with this advantage, spring coats follow the bookkeeping of the mode to paths of simplicity and gentility. There are diverse styles—polo coats, motor coats and coats that answer for many purposes—but grace of line and good judgment in development are revealed in all of them.

The most interesting coats are those designed to make the most of every opportunity for service, the dependable models that fit in almost any where and are smart enough to give their wearers the assurance of being well dressed. They have an accent of good judgment and appear in several types in the new displays. Black satin and black taffeta among them are distinguished and versatile affairs that answer many purposes. They vie with snappy sports and motor coats in their spirited styles, but cannot be quite so useful to their owners as cloth coats like those shown in the picture. These two spring models are graceful, voluminous and new.

The coat on the right is cleverly designed, almost without decorative help; its smartness is based on good lines and originality. Its back portion is extended at the sides and joined to the front at the waist by three very large, ornamented buttons and simulated buttonholes. The overlapping seam, rounded toward the bottom, in the skirt portion, is a novel point and three stitched-in folds across back proclaim unsurpassed expertness in tailoring. The collar is practical for all kinds of weather and very becoming.

The tan coat at the left, with lining of figured silk, is embellished with embroidery in self color and covered cording that tone it up considerably. It shows the fashionable one-button fastening at the waistline, the ample lines and roomy sleeves that are characteristic of the season. Its quiet color makes it a very adaptable garment equal to holding its own in any sort of company.

Gowns of Distinction

AFTERNOON frocks of caution and other crepes, and those of taffeta silk, occupy so much of fashion's horizon that it takes unusual qualities in others to attract attention. Crepes and tulle are the rule, proven by such handsome exceptions as are pictured above. These are gowns that employ heavy fancy weaves in silks, which manufacturers vary each year and christen with new names. They are highly lustrous with rough surfaces and most effective in two colors or tones, by which means figured, brocaded and changeable effects are achieved.

The gown at the right is almost a straight-line model with skirt arranged in alternating draped and embroidered panels and gathered in about the bottom. Its outlines are misleading; for they convey an impression of simplicity in a model that reveals adroit and somewhat intricate drapery in the skirt. The bodice fastens on the shoulder and forms its own grille after the most approved manner for blouses or bodices. Just the right hat and veil are worn with it to finish off a costume of much distinction.

The gown at the left employs a two-color silk, with plain georgette and lace to make the most formal of afternoon frocks. The skirt adheres to the mode of tulle with uneven length as an asset emphasized by wide lace trimmings, dyed to match the dominant color in the silk. The bodice opens in a long "V" at the front over a vestee of georgette and georgette also makes the soft elbow sleeves.

Among new arrivals there are a great many frocks of tulle made up in combination with cotton fabrics—as embroidered batiste, plain organdy and line gingham. These are for informal afternoon wear and strike a new note in the adaptability of this perennial favorite among silks.

A New Fad.

One of the pretty new little fads is to embroider your colored handkerchiefs with the flower of your favorite perfume. A quaint little basket, usually in black or a very bright color, is done first in solid embroidery, and then the flower suggested carried out in the new punch work. A black basket with violets on a handkerchief of tan was seen. Roses, lilies of the valley or any other flower may be done in the same way, bearing in mind that the brighter the contrasting colors the greater the effect.

High Collar Made of Lace.

Cataract Can Be Cured

Cataract is a local disease greatly influenced by constitutional conditions. It therefore requires constitutional treatment. HALL'S CATARACT MEDICINE is taken internally and acts through the blood on the mucous surfaces of the eye. HALL'S CATARACT MEDICINE destroys the foundation of the disease, gives the patient strength by improving the general health and assists nature in doing its work.

Important to all Women Readers of this Paper

Thousands upon thousands of women have kidney or bladder trouble and never suspect it. Women's complaints often prove to be nothing else but kidney trouble, or the result of kidney or bladder disease. If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition, they may cause the other organs to become diseased.

You may suffer pain in the back, headache and loss of ambition. Poor health makes you nervous, irritable and may be dependent; it makes any one so.

But hundreds of women claim that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, by restoring health to the kidneys, proved to be just the remedy needed to overcome such conditions. Many send for a sample bottle to see what Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder medicine, will do for them. By enclosing ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., you may receive sample size bottle by Parcel Post. You can purchase medium and large size bottles at all drug stores.—Adv.

Catarthral Deafness Cannot Be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear.
Catarthral Deafness requires constitutional treatment. HALL'S CATARRH
MEDICINE is a constitutional remedy.
Catarthral Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced, your hearing may be destroyed forever.
HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE acts through the blood on the mucous surface of the system, thus reducing the inflammation and restoring normal conditions.
