CHELSEA FISHING CLUB

MET FRIDAY EVENING

The Chelsea Fishing and Fish Propagation Club held their annual meeting in Fireman hall last Friday evening and it was well attended by members of the organization.

The club was organized in March, 1919, and since that time over 200 cans of fry have been received by members of the club and planted in near-by lakes. The organization has received a letter from the State Fish Commission, in which they state that they will duplicate the amount of fry that was sent here during 1920,
and more if they possibly can.

The members of the club discussed the proposed angler's license bill that is pending before the legislature and passed resolutions endorsing the measure. A copy of the resolutions will be forwarded to Lansing. If the bill should become a law, the State Fish Commission, it is estimated, would receive $300,000 from resident fishermen and a like amount from non-residents. The present members of the legislature are not in favor of making an appropriation to continue the fish hatcheries of the state and if the proposed bill is carried, it is estimated that the fishermen would furnish the means for continuing the propagation of fish.

The following officers were re-elected for the coming year: President, H. F. Brooks; secretary-treasurer, A. K. Collins; executive committee, L. P. Vogel, D. H. Wurster and H. D. Witherell. It was voted to levy an assessment of 50 cents per member for the upkeep of the organization.

Parent-Teachers' Club Meets.

The Parent-Teachers' Club, of District No. 7, Lima, met Wednesday evening, April 20, at the school, with a good attendance, sixty-two being present, and the following program was given:

Opening song.
Roll call—Current events.
Minutes of the last meeting.
Song and drill by the little folks.
Dialogue—"Clubs are Trump," Esther, Frieda and William Bahumiller, Roland, Loren and Esther Guenther and Lorena Seitz.

Mr. Essery, County School Commissioner, gave a short talk on "Education and Taxation," followed by Mr.
B. O. Hagerman, County Club Agent, who is endeavoring to form a sheep
club in this school.

The program closed with the singing of America, after which a delicious lunch was served.

The next meeting will be held May 19.

Ex-Attorney General is Dead.

Adolphus E. Ellis, former attorney general of Michigan and senior member of the firm of Ellis & Ellis, died Monday at his home in Grand Rapids after a brief illness. Mr. Ellis suffered a stroke of apoplexy Friday.
He was 72 years old. Funeral services were held Wednesday. Burial was in Ionia. Mr. Ellis was elected attorney-general of Michigan in 1890 and re-elected in 1892. He was elected mayor of Ionia five times.
Previously he had served as prosecuting attorney of Ionia county. He was a Royal Arch Mason, a member of the Knights of Pythias, the Macebees, the Odd Fellows and the Elks.
His widow and one son, Howard Ellis, survive.

Howard A. Ellis is the husband of Elna, only daughter of H. S. Holmes, of Chelsea. Mr. and Mrs. Howard S.
Holmes left Tuesday to attend the funeral services.

Circuit Court Proceedings.

Ralph Hadley and Milburn Embury who recently pleaded guilty to larceny over $25, were placed on probation for a period of five years by Judge George Sample Monday morning. Both of the men reside in Lyndon township and recently stole a large number of chickens from a widow. Hadley was told to pay for the chickens he had stolen and also was made to pay $25 costs.

The Embury lad, who is 16 years old, must pay $25 costs and was told to stay away from Hadley during the period of his probation. Embury stole twice from the same coop, in the first crime he and Hadley were connected. Hadley and Embury were both lectured by Judge Sample when they stood before the bar Monday morning. Ann Arbor Times News.

BURNED TUESDAY NIGHT

The two barns, one 32x66 and the other, 32x40, on the farm of Gottlieb Heller, on the Manchester road, known as the Kempf place, were burned between ten and eleven o'clock Tuesday night.

The buildings were struck by lightning and almost instantly they were one solid mass of flames. The neighbors were called by telephone but the fire had gained such headway that they were unable to save much of the contents.

The contents of the buildings were:
6 head of horses, 7 or 8 head of cattle, about 90 sheep and lambs, all of the harness, hay and grain, and a quantity of farm tools.

The loss is placed at $10,000 and was insured for about one-quarter of the loss. The loss is a hard blow to Mr. and Mrs. Heller and particularly so at this time of the year when they had just begun their work for the coming year.

Summer Project Being Organized.

Summer project clubs are beginning to materialize among the boys and girls of Washtenaw county.
Three hundred and fifty baby chicks were delivered this week by B. O.
Hagerman, club agent, to the poultry clubs of the Sutton and Wagner townships.

These two clubs aggregate a membership of 14 and the downy, peeping, motherless little strangers were welcomed by them as real babies might have been. Brooders were in waiting to serve as "step-mothers," and each young club member agreed to be as attentive and watchful as any hen mother could possibly be.

Two other children of the Wagner neighborhood intend to come into this club, and when they do will increase the number of chicks owned by the club by 300.

With each child was left a "menu card," containing exact food formulas for every day of the first period
six weeks of the baby chick's life, along with careful directions about shelter, ventilation and the like.

A corn club in Plintoff school, also in Northfield township, has elected officers as follows: President, Theo.
Gerstler; vice president, Raymond Schmitz; secretary, Francis O'Brien;
treasurer, Richard Schmitz.

These boys are going to raise Pickett's Yellow Dent corn, and the seed they are buying has a history of its own. It was raised by Clare and Lynn Wortley, two Washtenaw county club boys who enlisted in club work two years ago and made such a success of it that the following year their father bought all his seed corn of them. They raised a second crop of pedigreed corn, which they are selling this spring at a fine profit. Ypsilanti Record.

Lady Macabees Meeting.

A meeting of the County Association of the Lady Macabees was held in the Chelsea Macabees hall, Wednesday, and nearly every hive in the county was represented. A class of about twenty were initiated.

The forenoon session was opened by the Ypsilanti Hive. The afternoon session was an open one and the Chelsea Hive opened the meeting.
The Ann Arbor Hive put on a very fine exhibition drill.

Mrs. A. E. Johnson, Commander of the local Hive, delivered the address of welcome. At the afternoon session the following local organizations were represented: W. R. C., Miss Cora Crowell; Eastern Star, Mrs.
John Hauke; Royal Neighbors, Mrs.
John Hauke; Benchah, Miss Lehman;
I. C. B. A., Mrs. Geo. Nordman;
Pythian Sisters, Miss Lillian Foster;
each of whom delivered a short talk.
Mrs. J. V. Burg sang two solos and Mrs. M. J. Baxter, one. One of the Grand Hive officers was present. In the evening a dancing party was given.

Agricultural Statistics.

The state agricultural statistician reports that the condition of the wheat crop is 90 per cent of normal or 6 per cent better than the ten year average; rye is 92 per cent, or 4 per cent better than the ten-year average. There are 7 per cent less breeding sows on farms than one year ago, and 10 per cent less than normally kept, although the larger breeders are generally holding their herds up to normal size. Farm labor has become much more plentiful, but the prevailing low prices on farm products is cutting down the demand.

Will Open Welding Shop.

F. R. Belcher and D. J. Berry, of Jackson, will open an Oxy-Acetylene Welding and Cutting Plant in Chelsea, next Monday.

The men are both thoroughly experienced in the business, having worked at it for several years, and come to Chelsea with the intention of making this their permanent place of business.

They have rented the building at the rear of the Chelsea Hardware Co. The business will be known as the Chelsea Welding Co. An announcement of their opening will be found in another column.

ROOZE RUNNER CAPTURED

HERE SUNDAY AFTERNOON

Louis Drinkhahn, of Jackson, was arrested here, Sunday afternoon, by Deputy Sheriff L. C. Palmer, charged with violating the prohibition law.
A search of Drinkhahn's auto revealed that it was loaded with two cases containing 48 pint bottles each, and 12 quart bottles of whisky. The car and contents were held by the officer and Drinkhahn was taken to the county jail at Ann Arbor.

While the officer was searching the car, Mr. and Mrs. Jasper Lusk, of Jackson, drove up and Drinkhahn claimed that Mr. Lusk had hired him to transport the liquor from Detroit to Jackson. Mr. Lusk was taken to Ann Arbor with Drinkhahn, but was soon released by the sheriff as there was no evidence that connected him with the liquor transaction, and he returned to his home in Jackson.

The officers locked the Lusk car but as Mrs. Lusk had a key she unlocked the machine and drove it home. She was accompanied by the woman who was in the Drinkhahn car. Mr. and Mrs. Lusk were returning to their home, from Detroit, where they had spent the week-end with friends.

Sex Hygiene Lectures.

Chelsea school children will have an opportunity Friday, May 6, to hear the special hygiene lectures of the Michigan department of health speak on the national "Keeping Fit" campaign, and to see film showings of the biological moving picture, "How Life Begins." An evening meeting with lectures and educational movies will be held in the high school for the general public.

"How Life Begins," the film upon which the speakers, Capt. George W.
Plews and Miss Melita Hutzel, base
the lectures deals with the process of reproduction in the simplest forms of animal life, the protozoan, following it through the sweet pea, the butterfly, the frog, the chicken and the white rat. The film will be shown to all pupils down through the fifth grade, no lecture accompanying
it. In the high school the picture will be followed by lectures, Capt.
Plews talking to the boys and Miss Hutzel to the girls.

The Washtenaw county lecturing schedule, arranged by the county Red Cross, which will close with the meeting in Chelsea, includes lectures and film showings in Dexter on May 2, Saline May 3, Ypsilanti May 4 and Milan May 5.

Following the lectures by one week
the traveling health clinic of the state department of health will hold children's, adults' and ex-service men's clinics in the Wilkinsonian building in Chelsea, Tuesday, May 10.
Physical examinations will be made without charge for all who apply.
Additional physical examination clinics will be held in Ann Arbor, May 9, Manchester May 11, Saline May 12,
Milan May 13 and Ypsilanti May 14.

Amounts to a Large Sum.

The motor vehicle license tax and all other licenses and fees in connection with it, for the first three months of this year, totaled almost $5,000,000, according to the apportionment account just made to the auditor general by the state department.

The entire amount of all the tax and license fees for 1920 was $5,644,- 583, while for 1919 it amounted to $2,719,433. At this rate of increase shown in this tax for the first three months of this year the total for 1921 should at least strike somewhere between $7,000,000 and $8,000,000.

Of this revenue one-half is paid back to each county in proportion to the amount it has paid in the state department.

The state's one-half share of this money is used in payment of state rewards on roads and for maintenance and the share of the counties is also used by them for highway purposes.

Variety Show Will Return.

Franklin's Variety Show, which was at the Sylvan town hall all of last week, will return to Chelsea some time this summer, under canvas.

The show was very well patronized and all who attended report it as being a good, clean, up-to-date show.
They carry a good cast and their vaudeville features were very entertaining.

Amurion Skinner.

Amurion Skinner, aged 3 years, 11 months and 13 days, only son of Mr.
and Mrs. A. B. Skinner, of Sylvan, died at the University hospital, in Ann Arbor, Monday night, April 25, 1921. The young boy was taken to the hospital about two weeks ago for treatment of spine trouble. The funeral was held at 2 o'clock this afternoon in the M. E. church, Rev.
H. R. Beatty officiating. Interment in Oak Grove cemetery.

Dexter Lyman Bros. farm in Dexter township has been sold to Slosses Bros., good roads contractors, of Detroit. Leader.

Manchester—Boys are getting bird houses ready to erect in trees, on buildings or on poles in the gardens for the accommodation of the coming songsters.—Enterprise.

Howell—The G. A. R., at a recent meeting, appointed a committee to carry out the proper observance of Memorial Day. The American Legion will also take an active part. The Howell band has been secured to furnish the music.—Democrat.

Manchester—The G. A. R. has asked the American Legion to take charge of the Decoration Day arrangements. The school will be asked to assist in the program and in furnishing flowers, which we know they will willingly do, as they have cheerfully contributed heretofore.—Enterprise.

Ann Arbor—Because he believes that a man born in the United States should possess a good American name, despite the fact of Polish extraction, John A. Droski, a freshman in the university from Bad Axe, has had his name changed to Draper. His parents have retained the name of Droski.—Times News.

Manchester—One of our grocery concerns shipped a carload of eggs to Detroit on Wednesday. There were 350 cases with 30 dozen in each case. This is perhaps the first carload of eggs shipped from here at one time in several years, as trucks have been carrying most of the eggs the past two years.—Enterprise.

Manchester—On Thursday evening the members of Arbeiter Verein and their families celebrated the 50th anniversary of their organization at their hall. There was a potluck supper at 6:30 o'clock, followed by speeches by Nathaniel Schmid of Ann Arbor, Rev. Schoen and others. The festivities closed with a dance.

Ann Arbor—Dr. Warren P. Lombard, who had charge of the recent collection of funds in Washtenaw county for the European Relief fund, has received word from the headquarters of the fund that Washtenaw county has contributed $18,000 to the fund. The quota of the county was $12,000, and the money was collected without a drive being made.

Stockbridge—Married, April 11th, Howard M. Foster, of Gregory, and Miss Marie Armstrong, of Jackson, by Rev. G. S. Northrup of St. Johns. They took an auto trip and spent a week visiting and calling on friends at St. Johns, Lansing, Grand Rapids, Williamston, Stockbridge, Gregory, Waterloo and Jackson. They will reside at Chelsea, where Mr. Foster has a position as salesman with the Federal Oil Co.—Brief-Sun.

Ann Arbor—Permission was granted the Graf-O'Hara post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, to build a flower bed of poppies on the court house lawn in honor of the soldier and sailor heroes who died during the World War, at a meeting of the building committee county held Friday afternoon. The committee also accepted a bid on coal for the court house and county jail. The contract was awarded to P. D. Cornwell. His bid was $6.35 a ton for West Virginia mine run.

Saline—Ten cases of whisky were said to have been found by Deputy Sheriff George Cook in the car which Patrick Duffey, of Detroit, was attempting to drive through Saline Sunday afternoon and Duffey and his wife, Della Duffey, together with the car and whisky, were taken to the county jail shortly before noon Monday. Both Mr. and Mrs. Duffey waived examination when arraigned before Justice A. J. Warren, of Saline, Monday morning and were bound over to the circuit court under $2,000 bail.

Ypsilanti—Tuesday, a west bound Michigan Central train which leaves Detroit at 6 o'clock p. m. was robbed of several hundred dollars. It is thought that the thieves entered the express car at this station and threw off the packages between this station and Ann Arbor and that confederates with trucks picked up the packages and in their haste overlooked several of the packages, which were picked up by railroad police Wednesday morning. It is believed that the thieves left the train at Ann Arbor.

Record.
Ann Arbor—Roy Carnes of Grand Ledge and Claude Gidney of Niles were brought to the county jail Thursday morning by Deputy Sheriff George Cook of Saline, who alleges that he stopped a car in which the two men were riding, Thursday, and found 200 quarts of Canadian liquor concealed in the back seat of the automobile. When Carnes and Gidney were arraigned before Justice Warren, of Saline, early Thursday, they demanded an examination which was set for May 3, and bail was set at $2,000 for each.

Minn Misfortune has certainly come to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Gooding in the past week. Their little six year old son was skating with roller skates last Wednesday when a playmate bumped him and he fell, fracturing the bone of his right leg. It has proved quite a serious accident and the little fellow is having a bad time. On Wednesday, Mr. Gooding was working in the woods east of Dundee when a spile fell and broke both bones in his right leg. He was a mile and a half in the woods and by the time he reached home he was in very bad condition.—Leader.

Wealth and Happiness.
Much of the anxiety and care of these days is needless and springs from an over-emphasis of the amount of property needed for happiness. Everything in our country tends to stimulate men toward excessive ambition. Our climate is rich in oxygen, and is an irritant to work. The undeveloped resources of our land appeal to cupidity—even at a time when we begin to realize that these treasures should be conserved for our descendants. The stories of successful men are exploited with endless variations in magazines that teach the art of getting on instead of getting up. Little by little young men feel that it is a disgrace to live modestly. Avarice is a virus in the blood. Undue ambition is pulsing the springs of contentment. Youth has forgotten Cervantes' warnings not "to fly too high toward the sun lest the flame consume the wings."—Newell Dwight Hills.

How Many Presidents?
Percentages intrigue our fancy. So when we read that "50 per cent of our presidents have been college men" we wonder how many that was. Twenty-seven men have held the office, and on that basis 14.5 were college men. But Mr. Harding may be included and that would indicate that 15.4 were college men. The fractions grow worse; it looks as though someone were being insulted. There is a further possibility; some folks reckon Grover Cleveland as the twenty-second and the twenty-fourth president. This duality of Mr. Cleveland would make Mr. Harding the twenty-ninth President. It's a strange thing that in so important a matter, men cannot agree on how many presidents the country has had. And when one comes to fractional Presidents, the task of the percentage gatherer proves hopeless.—Milwaukee Journal.

Power in Palm Oil
We have thought of palm oil in such peaceful connections as soap stock and massage creams, but had never associated it with those devilish stuffs, gasoline, benzol and the joyride. But oil is oil and chemistry plays strange tricks, and the time may be near when not only the fatty juice of the palm kernel, but even the oil of the succulent peanut may speed the flivver in the place of petrol.
"May be near?" What do we say? That time is actually here, and today off in darkest Africa automobiles are being operated successfully and cheaply with their tanks filled with palm oil. And also in Belgium the same fluid is being used, in an experimental way, and is proving even more successful than its first advocates imagined.—New Orleans Times-Picayune.

Germany wants a bigger army than the treaty allows her, and pleads necessity. Her plea was antedated some time ago by the shivering camel which begged to be allowed to put its nose only under the man's warm tent and ended by casting the man.

There has been virtually no bloodshed in the Mexican revolution, says a dispatch from Mexico City. As a rule the Latin-American revolutions are composed chiefly of poetry, oratory, highway robbery, applause and a rush to the refreshment counter.

This reported depletion of the gasoline supply in twenty years should be a warning to the station managers who insist on giving the purchaser, always, a half gallon or so the better of the bargain.

It is said Europe regards the United States as holding the purse strings of the world. Even so, that is no sign that the purse is inexhaustible. We can't give up everything.

Lone sharks are sent to jail occasionally, but we don't know that they are any worse than some other kinds of sharks.

Another way to make kissing unpopular is for pretty girls to grow mustaches and eat hamburger cheese.

A very pleasant party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Liebeck, of Sylvan, Tuesday evening. The occasion was the anniversary of the birth of Mr. Liebeck. Mr. and Mrs. Howard Gilbert and family, of Chelsea, were among the guests.

The traveling clinic of the Department of Health will be in Chelsea on May 10 and request that all ex-service men from this community who are tubercular or who think that they may be tubercular, appear before the board for examination.

The County Good Roads Commission on Monday had a quantity of gravel spread on Wilkinson street from the territorial road to the D. W. R. track. There were a number of bad spots on that piece of road that caused many auto drivers all kinds of trouble when traveling along that street.

Garden Notes.

Early cabbage plants should be in the garden now. If necessary to purchase plants, Early Jersey Wakefield is a good variety.

A small tarred felt disk placed on the ground around the stem of each plant will help control the cabbage maggot.

Early potatoes are now being planted on warm sandy soils. Irish Cobbler and Early Ohio are excellent varieties to grow in Michigan.

For potato scab, soak the tubers 30 minutes in a solution of Formalin (1 pint to 30 gallons of water). This should be done before the potatoes are cut.

This is a good time to divide and reset perennial flowering plants such as larkspurs and phlox. These often do better if the clumps are divided every three or four years.

"Strawberry Shortcake in October." You can have it if you set overbearing plants now. We have found the Superb one of the best varieties of this type.

Better tomato plants are secured by giving them plenty of space in which to grow. Remove the plants from the seed boxes and transplant them at least two inches apart in flats or shallow boxes.—By M. A. C. Horticultural Department.

Not Easily Discouraged.

The prize-winner, so far as hopefulness is concerned, has been discovered down on Broad street, New York, where a large office is maintained by a company which quite openly admits that they have not done a single bit of business in three years.

The firm is an importing and exporting one, whose sole commerce before 1917 was with Russia, and since the defection of that country the office has been maintained, and the wages paid to the force in hopes of some arrangement being made so that trade relations can be reopened. So far nothing has happened, and the head of the firm has gone to Russia to try and help things along. Meanwhile the office is opened each day and the force sits around reading the papers and, like Dickens' famous Mr. Micawber, "waiting for something to turn up."

Prospects of Medical Study in China.

Recent reports state that in all China there are found to be fewer than 2,000 physicians. What a small proportion of the population of 400,000,000 Chinese people can receive scientific treatment in case of illness or injury. In an effort to ascertain the exact number of students looking toward medicine, a survey has recently been made of the middle schools of China. In 153 of the institutions reporting, there are 33,025 students, and of these 1,153 stated that they were planning to study medicine. Since this is only about 20 per cent of all middle schools, the total number who may enter on the study of medicine will be considerably larger.

New Rembrandt Found.

An early Rembrandt, the authenticity of which is vouched for by several well-known experts, has been discovered in a little town in the Harz. The picture, which is said to have been painted in the year 1630 or 1631, is executed upon an octagonal oak panel measuring twenty-two inches in height by sixteen inches in width. The subject is an old man of distinguished appearance. The picture is still in its original pine-wood frame overlaid with horn, which is declared by one expert to have been specially made according to Rembrandt's instructions.—Berlin Correspondence of London Times.

Gymnastic Dancing Passing.

The waltz of our grandmother's days—but with a fascinating touch of "modernization"—has come back to our jazz-weary ballrooms. It became all the rage—after much opposition—when the Czar Alexander danced it at Almack's in 1814; and since the Prince of Wales likes it and dances it today a new vogue for the waltz is assured. Dancing evidently is to be less gymnastic and more sentimental. Anxious mothers will not reprove. The dreamy waltz was a match maker in their day and perhaps it will be in ours.—London Daily Mail.

Burbank Native of Massachusetts.

Luther Burbank, the originator of flowers, fruits and vegetables, was born at Lancaster, Mass., March 7, 1849, and began his first experiments on a farm of twenty acres near Lancaster, Mass., when he was 22 years old. A warmer climate than that of New England being necessary for continuous research, Mr. Burbank moved in 1878 to Santa Rosa, Cal., where he now lives.

Inheritance taxes to the amount of $28,812.77 were paid by 60 estates in Washtenaw county during the period from May 1, 1920, to the present time according to R. E. Hughes of the auditor general's office in Lansing who is checking up the taxes at the probate office.

The "squirtless" grapefruit may appear soon on the breakfast table. The new product, designed to spare the eye from a citrus shower, is known as the tangelo. It is a hybrid, the offspring of the tangerine and the grapefruit, but is more tender than either parent. "There is little or no tendency for the juice of the tangelo to squirt when the spoon is inserted," the government agricultural bulletin said.

TAKES CARE OF 5 CHILDREN

Mrs. Taylor's Sickness Ended by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Roxbury, Mass.—"I suffered continually with backache and was often despondent, had dizzy spells and at my monthly periods it was almost impossible to keep around at my work. Since my last baby came two years ago my back has been worse and no position I could get in would relieve it, and doctor's medicine did not help me. A friend recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I have found great relief since using it. My back is much better and I can sleep well. I keep house and have the care of five children so my work is very trying and I am very thankful I have found the Compound such a help. I recommend it to my friends and if you wish to use this I am very glad to help any woman suffering as I was until I used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

Mrs. MAUDE E. TAYLOR, 5 St. James Place, Roxbury, Mass.

Backache is one of the most common symptoms of a disordered or deranged condition of the female system. No woman should make the mistake of trying to overcome it by heroic endurance, but profit by Mrs. Taylor's experience and try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Hygienic Sleeping Rooms.
A sun-bath, at frequent intervals, is effective in keeping the bedding healthy, sweet and wholesome. To this is added, of course, daily airing of the bed-clothes for not less than two hours. Elderdown quilts, though tempting to the eye of the housewife, are not as hygienic a covering as the more easily washed woven blankets. At least a third of our lives is spent in the bedroom it behooves us to see that it is clean, airy and hygienic, otherwise refreshing sleep will be impossible, and health will suffer.

Condensed Accommodations.
"Have you any housing problems in Crimmon Gulch?"
"No," answered Cactus Joe. "We don't need many houses. Most of the population uses the same room most of every night playin' poker."

The Non-Reader.
"Does that salesman read all the books he gets people to subscribe for?"
"Certainly not. A hook agent is too smart ever to allow himself to become a book worm."

Priscilla began to get her bearings, finding herself in that sordid room where she had witnessed the meeting of Leonora and Inez, beside the insistent body of the drug fiend, on the night of the storm. She reviewed face after face known to her through the associations of her dreams: English Eddie, heavy, florid and flashy; Charlie the Coko, ghastly of face, shifty-eyed, with his frail, racked body and spasmodic gestures; Inez with elbows planted on the table, a sullen face clamped between two fists; at her side, the Nut, to whose presence nothing of his untoward elegance adhered but the handiwork of his excellent tailor, inhering under the burden of a new mart, self-assured, his bottle neck shoulders wearing with poor grace the mantle of Red Carmichael, master of guile; three or four others, remembered as lesser limbs of Red's gang.

The company sat in silence, staring at Nora with unfriendly, inquisitive eyes. Precisely so had Leonora on that occasion faced a prejudiced jury of her kind. Only the setting was slightly different, the company decked, its presiding spirit gone beyond recall.

The pause lasted longer than the patience of Inez. She sat up suddenly and waved an extravagant arm, unlimbering the manner of hully-hoo before a circus side show.

"Ladeez and gempmum!" she proclaimed in a flat professional bawl: "I have the honor to present to you tonight the only certified Two-in-One in captivity—Miss Priscilla Maine, the latest fashion hint from Fifth avenue, and plain Nora O'More of this club. Take a good look, ladeez and gempmum, at this peerless freak, the only livin' Two of a Kind. A single price of admission pays for both—one dime, the tenth part of a dollar—and your money back if y'aint satisfied!"

IV. RESURRECTION.
Somebody chuckled hoarsely. Chairs were shifted. Asides were exchanged in audible murmurs. A contemptuous voice declared loudly: "It's Nora, all right, all right!" The Nut bent his mouth to murmur into the ear of Inez something apparently in the nature of a remonstrance. She heard him with a surly face, growled a response which seemed to irritate him exceedingly, and turned scornfully away. English Eddie alone changed neither her pose nor the moderately dubious expression with which she was regarding Priscilla.

The latter, drawing upon an unexpected store of latent spirit, moved forward to the edge of the table. "My name is Priscilla Maine," she uttered with difficulty. "I—I—" "My Gawd!" Inez commented dramatically—"She admits it!" "Yes!" Priscilla pleaded—"I can hardly speak—give me something to drink—water."

English Eddie sat forward sharply and squirmed siphon water into a glass. "A drop of brandy, dearie!"

"Ladeez and gempmum!" She proclaimed in a Flat, Professional Bawl.

she suggested in a tone not unkind. Priscilla shook her head. "You'd better," the woman insisted: "you need it." She tilted a bottle over the glass, coloring the water with the liquor. Despairing of getting what she wanted, too thirsty to permit of long hesitation, Priscilla put the glass to her lips and drank.

Everybody sat tight. Inez warned: "the big bunk act is about to commence."

Priscilla lowered the glass, nodded her thanks to the English woman, and with something remotely resembling defiance again confronted her captors. "I am Priscilla Maine," she stated for the second time. "What do you want with me?"

The Nut tipped his chair back and eyed her quizzically. "An even break," he replied.

"And no more showmaning," Inez supplemented.

Priscilla looked blank. "I don't understand."

"Ah—out on the stallion!" Inez flared. "I'm gettin' sick of your airs and everything!"

"I don't understand," Priscilla repeated patiently, ignoring the interruption. "I'm not the woman you believe me to be." She addressed herself directly to Harry: "I told you that this afternoon, if you had made the inquiries I asked you to, you could have satisfied yourself I was telling the truth. As it is, you have done this thing—kidnaped me—laid yourself out to the law."

"We'll take our chances with the law," Inez put in, sardonically. "But don't mind me; you intrust us strangely. Go on, go on."

"But even if I were Leonora—assume that I am—what do you want with me?"

"An even break," Harry iterated—"fair play and no more stalling."

"Please explain what you mean—and let me go."

"Fair chance," Inez commented.

"I am ill, sick to stand on my feet or talk to you—but if you will only let me go, I promise to keep this outrage to myself. The police need never know it."

"You can go, maybe," Harry responded—"when you've come to an understanding and you've satisfied us you'll act in good faith and not try any more foolishness."

"Won't you please explain?"

"Ah! You know perfectly well—" Inez began.

With a sharp explosion of temper Harry silenced her. "Be quiet! If you want us to get anywhere with this talk—keep quiet. If you go on like this, you'll only make her stubborn."

"That's right," English Eddie advised. "Give Nora a chance, dearie."

Inez meditated mutely, thought better of it, subsided into a fit of sulk.

"I'm sure it's simple enough," Harry proceeded loftily, with something of the condescension of one humoring a wilful child. "I'm sure you understand what we want, Nora; but if you insist I'll try to put it in words of one syllable."

"We're all old pals of yours, and we feel we've got a right to be let in on the ground floor when you've struck it rich like you have. We want a chance to work in with you and cop out something for ourselves. You've got the inside track now—God knows how you worked it, but you did—now you've got it, you can go where you want and do about as you please with the Ritz mob. And that makes it simple for you to open things up for us. You know what we can do, each one of us; you can ease easy up a tip now and then and leave the rest to us. All I ask for myself, for instance, is a few introductions. I'll take care of the rest."

"I think you must be mad!" Priscilla's head was swimming again. "Was it to tell me this that you—"

"Precisely," Harry assented with an amiable nod.

For an instant she was dumb before. Then the vertigo beginning to pass, and with it the fear of fainting again; she found fresh confidence and was visited by an inspiration of cunning.

"If I refuse?"

"You'll get twenty-four hours to think it over," the Nut replied. "If by that time you're still stubborn..."

"And if I agree?"

"We'll put our heads together and scheme out a working arrangement."

"But, I'm too ill tonight..."

A gleam dawned in the ugly little eyes of the Nut.

"That sounds like you mean to come down to earth."

Priscilla inclined her head: "I will do what you wish."

"Sensible young woman!"

"But I'm unable to discuss details tonight."

"You can go back and lie down till you feel stronger."

"No, I can't stay here. You must let me go home."

was enough to refrain from throwing a look of gratitude to this new-found ally.

"Ah, for Gawd's sake!" Inez protested in disgust. "You make me weary. If you think you can trust that double-faced cat any further, you can see her—"

"I don't ask you to trust me," Priscilla explained—"only to give me time to rest in quiet and comfort—not here—before we go into our plans. And you need not trust me. I'm willing that one of you shall come with me and see that I play fair. You can trust Addie..."

"That's perfectly fair," the English woman insisted. "I'll go with Nora, and you know me well enough to know she won't let 'er and without me seein' it."

"All right," the Nut conceded. "Take Addie home with you and give me your word you'll be ready to see me at eleven tomorrow—"

Inez flounced to her feet in a rage. "You pack of poor books!" she shrieked. "Can't you see she's only fram'in' to slip you the double cross—and you all helpin' her!"

"Only one thing more," Priscilla insisted, as if she had not heard. "I must have my things back—my suit, my blouse, my jewelry."

"Holla!" Harry sat forward, eyeing her sharply. "Thought you looked different. What's become of your clothes?"

Priscilla's nod indicated Inez. "She stole them from me. Make her give them back."

The Nut turned to Inez, scowling blackly. "Give them back—"

"Yes, I will—not. I got a blonde enlargement of me here," such a snip. "You'll do as I say," Harry insisted darkly. "Ta runnin' this show—"

"You are—like h—"

The girl's defiance found an echo in a new voice at the back of the room. "Like h—l is right!"

"There was a concerted turning of startled heads."

The door had opened noiselessly. It framed the figure of a man wearing a grey red sweater hiked up at either hip to permit his hands to remain in the pockets of a pair of tattered, frayed and stained khaki trousers. His pose was rudely nonchalant. A cap of gray cloth pulled forward shadowed his eyes; but the face stamped with an evil, mirthless grin, was unmistakable.

After a moment's relish of the dramatic sensation effected by his unheralded resurrection, Red Carmichael slouched in, closed the door with a kick of his heel, and put his shoulders to it.

"It'll take a smarter guy'n you are or ever will be, Harry," he asserted in a blurred voice of arrogance, "to boss this bunch as long's I'm on top of the map."

V. THE HAUNTED MAN.

Stupped silence held till shattered by a laugh of uncouth joy.

"Red!" Inez cried, jumping up and overturning her chair. "Red Carmichael! My Gawd, Red, you've come back!"

"I'll say I have."

Grinning, the gunman slouched toward the table.

They crowded about Carmichael, shaking his hands, snipping his back, screaming and bellowing a hundred phrases of congratulation, delight, and amazement, together with questions innumerable. He suffered the ovation, laughing, greeting each by name, yielding his hands to one after another.

Then, without warning he began to strike down the fawning hands and thrust his way through the group toward the table.

"Lay off me!" he snarled. "Lay off—gimme air! I'll bean the next guy that puts his hands onto me! Lay off!"

"But Red!" Addie protested—"we thought you was dead!"

"You wasn't far wrong, at that," Carmichael seized the brandy bottle and chattered its neck against a glass into which he spilled the raw spirit lavishly.

The drink at his lips, his gaze, roving above the brim, discovered and was transfixed by the pale, set face of Priscilla. He started violently. As if an invisible but mighty hand had struck him a crushing blow, he staggered back, lost his footing, brought up heavily against the table. Bottle and glass, escaping his palsied grasp, crashed to the floor. In a fluttering breath the blood drained from his face, and left it livid, leaden and blue. His widened eyes were fixed in horror.

"What's 'at?" Broken words brushed his stiff lips. "What's 'at?" He lifted a shaking arm and slung out Priscilla. His voice became a scream: "Name of Gawd! somebody tell me—what's 'at there?"

The Nut dropped a soothing hand upon his shoulder.

"Why, ited—it's Nora!"

"Nora?" the gunman clattered. "I know it's Nora! But what's it doin' here?"

"But, Red!"—in alarm English Eddie ranged up on his other side and laid hold of his arm—"why shouldn't Nora be here?"

"Why?" He glared madly at the woman. "Why, 'cause she's dead."

"But, Red—" "Dead, I tell you! I guess I oughta know. I didn't crank her myself, y' there in the woods, yest'day afternoon? He seemed to realize what he had said and tried to cover it with hysterical protest. "No; that's a lie! Who said I cranked her? I never, she done it her self. It was all a accident! I tell you I didn't have nothin' to do with it—her foot slipped and she went over the edge before I could catch her, and I seen her down! I couldn't help her, I didn't know how to swim, I'd 'a pulled her out if I had! It wasn't no fault—I swear to Gawd it was all a accident!"

"But, Red—you're off your nut!" Addie reasoned. "Nora couldn't be dead and here at the same time—"

"She is dead! Didn't I see her drown myself? Gawd! I ain't seen nothin' since but her face when she went under. I ain't heard nothin' but her beggin' me not to..."

He staggered into incoherence, his chin sunk upon his breast, he glared at Priscilla with the look of a lunatic. Abruptly he roused, wild of eye, features working insanely, and threw off the hands of Addie and the Nut.

"Lemme loose!" he screamed. "Lemme loose! I cranked her once, but if once ain't enough, I'll crank her again and make it sure, the—"

Epithets unspeakably vile fell like floods from his shivering mouth. He tugged at a pocket of his trousers—and suddenly an automatic pistol was wavering in his hand. With a choking cry, Priscilla cowered, throwing both hands out to shield her face. The Nut and Addie fell upon Carmichael bodily. For a moment it seemed that they might be able to hold him. But he fought with the strength of a maniac.

"Lemme Loose!" He screamed. "Lemme Loose!"

The hold of the English woman was broken first, she was thrown off shrieking for help. The Nut clung desperately to Carmichael's pistol hand, striving to wrest the weapon from him. Then others closed in. Carmichael became the core of a swaying, writhing tangle of bodies.

It was, Priscilla thought, like looking through a peep-hole into hell. They fought like wild beasts in a pit, like beasts they growled, yelped, snarled, snapped, howled, roared. A haze of dust, beaten up from the unswept floor by scuffling, shifting, stamping feet, hung in the gas light.

The pistol exploded with a detonation ear-splitting in that confined space.

Priscilla, witless with fright, felt herself seized and urged toward the door.

"Beat it, child—get out of this as quick's you can! I seen from the very first you wasn't Nora!"

She recognized the accent of English Addie.

In one lithe bound, a crouching shape of malice with a pale face of evil and blazing eyes planted itself before them and blocked the way. "Keep away from that door!" Inez screamed. "She shan't get away, she shan't! I'll tip her eyes out first!"

She darted clawing hands at Priscilla's face. The bulk of the English woman came between them. In panic Priscilla pawed frantically at the door, swung it wide, stumbled out, blundered blindly into the wall where the hallway turned cannoned off, and somehow found herself before a second door.

An aged Chinaman was guarding it. Dully she remembered having seen him before and wondered would he seek to hinder her. But he seemed unaware of her. He was cycling impassively the door, which she discovered, was quivering under a rain of blows on the other side.

Grasping instinctively at the truth, she thrust the guardian unceremoniously aside and began to fumble with the bolts.

Without protest, the Chinaman turned and shuffled off.

The storm of blows continued. The bolts were reluctant to her shaking, unobstructed fingers. At length, however, the last slid back, she lifted the stout iron latch, the door slammed open.

Three uniformed policemen, armed with pistols and nightsticks, charged in. Seeing the girl, one seized and threw her roughly back against the wall. She gave a cry of pain. A voice she knew protested sharply: "Let that lady go, officer. She is my wife."

Priscilla turned. Mario was offering her the haven of his arm. She went into them sobbing his name aloud, other police officers passed their running.

As easily as though she had been a child, Mario gathered her up and strode down the stairs. Arms round his neck, she clung closely to him. His breath was on her cheek, she was aware of his strength and gentleness. Nestling against his bosom, she was sensible of the unburied, powerful pulsations of his heart.

MRS. REIFENSTEIN, AGED 67, GAINS 25 POUNDS

Declares She Would Like To Put a Bottle Of Tanlac In The Hands Of Every Sick Man, Woman and Child In This Country—Never Saw Its Equal.

MRS. EMMA REIFENSTEIN, 337 Webster Ave., Syracuse, N. Y.

"I am sixty-seven years of age, but in all my experience I have never known a medicine like Tanlac. Think of it! At my age to gain twenty-five pounds in weight, but that is just what I have done," said Mrs. Emma Reifenstein, of No. 337 Webster avenue, Syracuse, N. Y.

"If I had it in my power," she continued, "I would put a bottle of Tanlac in the home of every sick man, woman and child in this country, for I know what this wonderful medicine would do for them. For almost two years I was almost a nervous wreck. I did not dare to leave the house or even go up town unless my husband went with me. I was afraid to even cross the street and had a feeling of dread all of the time."

"My stomach was weak and easily upset. For days at a time I would go without solid food, and felt tired and worn out all of the time. Some days I could hardly drag myself across the room and was so weak and miserable I was ready to give up."

"My health is fine now and I eat anything I want and never have a touch of indigestion. I have never slept better than I do now. My recovery is the talk of our neighborhood, as it was generally believed I could not last but a few weeks longer. This grand medicine has brought me health and happiness and I just can't say enough in its praise."

Mr. J. Reifenstein, in commenting on his wife's statement, said: "Yes, her recovery has been a happy surprise to us all. A few weeks ago I had no idea she would be able to pull through, but now she is in better health than I have ever seen her and the credit is due to Tanlac. We have been married fifty-two years today and I don't believe I have ever seen her looking any better."

Tanlac is sold by leading druggists everywhere.—Adv.

NOT TO BE MADE TO ORDER

Songs and Emblems That Live in the Heart of a People Must Have Foundation.

To wait for a state flower or a state song to discover itself and make itself appropriate might be an interminable and disappointing vigil. Centuries could intervene. It is not mere restlessness that asks for a flower to be chosen or a song to be written ready to hand, declares the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. Posterity may find substitutes that are better, the fruit of happy circumstances, but we in our day may have at least our ready-made symbols to feed the romance in our souls.

Ancient people acquired these spiritual emblems and patriotic lyrics through a long and at times painful history. Something stirring has to happen to give them birth. Then our soldiers who were in the great war find the poppy the all-sufficient floral insignia of their heroic days and have adopted it as the visible reminder of them. Ten million silken poppies are to be worn in America on Decoration day.

An Airplane Brake.
The newest idea for airplane wheels is to mount upon the periphery of each wheel a number of little wheels.

This arrangement, says the Popular Science Monthly, helps to retard the forward motion of the flying machine on making a landing. The little wheels, brought successively into position by the force of impact, tend to check the plane and bring it to a quick and smooth stop.

LATINS FAVOR THE AIRPLANE

South America Wild Over Flying, According to Opera Singer Just Returned From Tour.

South America has caught the aerial fever hard, according to Madam Grace Florio, just returned from a grand opera circuit of the Latin-American republics.

"In Lima, where I sang in the palace at a concert arranged by President Leguia, I learned the rich young men of Peru all own airplanes in which they daily fly out and back from the capital city to their haciendas," she said. "The President's son told me he shortly intended to make a flight to the United States, crossing Ecuador, the Panama canal, the Central American republics and Mexico. Events like the opera and bull fights, and even offerings of the shops, are advertised by dodgers dropped from flying machines."

Madam Florio is the first woman to fly over Lima. She went up with Captain Moore, an American, who is the head of the Curtiss Flying school there.
The sister continent Brazil comes naturally to the art of flying and is the home of Santos Dumont, the pioneer aviator. In a few weeks Fred Lewisohn, New York banker, who owns extensive platinum properties in the upper mountain ranges beyond Benetventura, in the republic of Colombia, expects to lead an expedition in a several thousand mile flight over the Andes. This aerial excursion will start from Panama and use a plane equipped for nine passengers. Engineers, photographers and writers will be in the party.

PART OF BUILDING STANDING

Famous Colonnade Row, in New York, Erected in 1838, Has Not Entirely Disappeared.

On the menu card of a restaurant in New York this is printed: "With these historic walls were sheltered Dickens, Bryant, Washington Irving, a President of the United States (John Tyler) and many other distinguished patrons." The statement is not exaggerated. Part of Colonnade row, a beautiful structure erected nearly a century ago, still stands, and Joseph Conte's restaurant occupies the greater part of it.

Colonnade row and the building occupied for years by the Author's League of America, at Seventeenth street and Irving place, are all that remain of Washington Irving's residence in Manhattan, for long ago passed the house on William street where he was born, and the house near the Battery, where he lived immediately after his return in 1822 from seventeen years of wandering in Europe.

Colonnade row, originally known as La Grange terrace, was built in 1828. The buildings earned their sobriquet on account of the facade pillars, architecturally most attractive, that adorn the structures.
Pauline, Hallock, Cooper and other writers of the period frequented the place. Poe was too poor to be in the then fashionable neighborhood. John Tyler lived at 430 Lafayette street, in "the row," and events attending his wedding took place there.—New York Sun.
