MEMORIAL DAY PROCLAMATION
By the Governor.

Memorial Day is peculiarly an American institution. It is a festival unique in the annals of the nations.
It is the day we set apart in memory of the dead and in honor of the living.
The ranks of those in whose behalf it was first observed grew thinner year by year. The time will not be long until these honored veterans of the Civil War will be but a memory, but not, let us hope, a fading memory.

Let this generation and the generations yet to come never forget what they owe to the men who left their peaceful pursuits and went forth in the name of liberty and justice to do battle for the Union cause. They achieved their purpose. They saved the Union. They established liberty and justice, and we today are enjoying the fruits of their labors and devotion and sacrifices.

In the Spanish-American War and in the Great War our soldiers and sailors and marines, by their valor
and their devotion to the cause of humanity, amply demonstrated that the spirit of America still lives. Their heroic achievements nobly upheld the best traditions of the American Army and Navy.

Therefore, in order that we may pay a tribute of respect and affection to the surviving veterans of the Civil War, the Spanish-American War and the recent World War and do honor to the memory of those who gave up their lives in all these wars, I hereby sincerely urge that Monday, May 30, 1921, be fittingly observed as Memorial Day.

And I earnestly appeal to the people of Michigan for hearty co-operation in plans for the observance of the day in their respective communities. I am sure that everything will be done for the comfort and convenience of old soldiers.

On Memorial Day flags should be displayed at half-staff until noon and then hoisted to the top of the staff.
Given under my hand and the Great

INDEPENDENTS DEFEAT
SHARON CENTRALS

Chelsea Ball Team Takes Another
Game From Sharon: Haynes Pitched Fine Game.

The Chelsea Independents defeated
the Sharon Centrals, Sunday on Wilkinson field, 13 to 7. After one bad inning, Haynes for Chelsea settled down and pitched an excellent game,
no less than 15 of the Sharon bats
striking out.

Strahle of Sharon was the fielding star of the day. "Dad" McKune of the Chelsea team made three hits and stole bases twice.

TO AND FRO.

The Tribune office being located within a stone's throw of the Michigan Central tracks, the editor frequently notes passing trains, and incidentally that nearly every passing freight train now carries its quota of a half-dozen or more men who are "beating their way," or hobnobbing it. Some are going west, others east, probably as many east as west—just drifting to and fro.

When a train stops the "passengers" usually scatter and rustle for something to eat, but few make long stops here, catching the same train out of town that brought them in as a rule.

One day last week we saw a one-legged man hop a train—literally hop it! The train was moving perhaps six miles an hour and the fellow's leg was off between the hip and knee,
but he made the catch nearly as handicapped as his more fortunate pals who are not handicapped by the loss of a limb. He took an awful chance of falling beneath the wheels and we held our breath for an instant until he was safely aboard the side-door
Pullman, and on his way West.

And for a day or two we watched the Jackson, Battle Creek, and Kalamazoo papers expecting to read that our one-legged friend had met his fate beneath the iron wheels, but evidently his flirt with death is still successful; and by this time he is probably hundreds of miles away hobnobbing it.

OUR NEIGHBORS' DOINGS

What's Happening In Neighboring Towns and Localities.

YPSHLANTI—John T. McGowan, a Negro, aged 38, had his left arm cut off at the shoulder, lost a part of his right hand and also part of his foot while trying to catch a freight train going east Thursday morning. He died that evening in Ann Arbor.

HOWLERSVILLE—The Edison
Light and Power Co., a New York corporation, also operating in Michigan, is seeking to do business in Howlerville and Williamston and the councils at each place has granted permission, which will be sanctioned or rejected by the voters on Monday and Tuesday of next week in the respective villages. This company is already operating at Howell and just why they passed up Howlerville is something of a mystery.—Review.

ANN ARBOR—Walter Luckhardt,
Emanuel Haak, and John Schaefer
of Freedom township were each fined $25 and costs in police court here Thursday morning after the trio had pleaded guilty to fishing in Pleasant lake with set lines and night lines.
The men were apprehended late Wednesday afternoon by Game Warden Otto Rohm. In passing sentence on the men Justice John D. Thomas indicated that the next violations of the game law on Pleasant lake would be met with straight jail sentences.—

IMPLEMENTS

Everyone expects that Implements will be some lower in price for 1922. In fact some of the large manufacturers have already announced their intention to cut prices for next year's business. With this situation in mind we have concluded to make our price decline now, on stock on hand, and give our trade an opportunity to have the use of such tools as they need this season without taking any loss.

We have Plows, Harrows, Cultivators, Mowers, Binders, Side Rakes, Dump Rakes, Combination Racks—in fact a full line that the cut prices apply to.

The prices being quoted apply only to the stock on hand, which in some items is limited, and on many priced below today's wholesale costs. Every item priced to clean up the stock and get the loss behind us.

If you are in need of anything in the line, NOW, while the stock lasts, is the time to buy.

No taxation clause was attached to the deficiency bill passed by the legislature, so that the treasury might find itself embarrassed even in paying the claims allowed in the bill. This will be taken up at the extra session.

PROMOTE TRADE IN NEAR EAST

Aims of the American Chamber of Commerce for the Levant Are Set Forth.

TO OPEN UP IMMENSE FIELD

Constantinople Destined to Become the "Chicago of Europe," Says New President of Organization—Opportunity for American Capital.

New York—Constantinople is destined to become the "Chicago of Europe," according to an interview authorized by Mr. Lucien Irving Thomas, a director of the Standard Oil company of New York, which company has extensive interests throughout Asia and the Balkan states.

Mr. Thomas lately returned from a visit to Europe. "I learned, while in London, that I had been elected president of the American chamber of commerce for the Levant," said Mr. Thomas. "I refer to the newly organized American section of the chamber, now maintaining headquarters in New York. It will cooperate with the long-established chamber of the same name which has its seat in Constantinople. The organization of this chamber is a timely movement to promote reciprocal trade relations between America and that great area—extending from Egypt to Russia, and from Persia to Italy—of which Constantinople is the center.

Gateway to Vast Empires.

"Very few people appreciate that Europe and Asia meet at the feet of Constantinople," continued Mr. Thomas. "The chain of waters, the Dardanelles, the Sea of Marmora and the Bosphorus, made available for free commerce, open the gateway to vast empires of populous and fertile territories beyond. When we realize that Russia, a country considerably more than twice as large as the United States, has few seaports that are not ice-bound for the greater part of the year, except those situated on the Black sea, we may imagine what enormous traffic will flow through Constantinople when Russia, with a hundred million of her people nearby, gets into her commercial stride."

"Then consider Roumania, now with twice her former area—a country of great natural resources, with a present population of 15,000,000. Bulgaria too, noted for a sturdy and industrious population, has her commercial outlet on the Black sea. And even on the farther side of the Black sea is a group of states which eventually must occupy an important place in over-seas trade."

"Jugo-Slavia, now vast in area by comparison with Old Serbia, with substantial natural resources and a population of over 14,000,000 has, of course, one trade outlet via the Adriatic, and another via the Danube to the Black sea. Without any doubt the Danube is soon to play a much more important part in the trade of the Balkan states than it has ever done in the past."

Has Natural Wealth.

"Both Jugo-Slavia and Greater Greece will hold a more important position than now in the Levantine trade of the future. Egypt is growing into a land of commercial significance. While certain territories have been detached from Turkey since the war, there remains much fertile and valuable land. Turkey is rich in minerals of all kinds."

"The war and its aftermath upset exchange throughout the Near East, and this has made commercial transactions difficult for the present. But the natural wealth is there; and a population for the most part industrious. Trade must surely grow."

"A high official of an international bank, one who is recognized as having unusually broad and accurate knowledge of Ottoman financial matters, stated to me at Constantinople that in Turkey fully 65,000,000 in gold is hoarded by the people in 'stocking-leg banks,' and not deposited at all with the public bankers. In this connection it should be remembered that the oriental mind is accustomed to think, financially, in terms of 'hard money,' and that prior to the European war only gold and silver were in circulation, to any extent, in Turkey. There is evidence that great private wealth exists there today, in gold, silver and jewels, not to mention other valuables, and this wealth will come into the current market as trade returns to normal."

"The Levant offers a splendid opportunity for the investment of American capital, in a wide range of enterprises. One of the great openings of the present is for the construction of dwellings, warehouses, harbor improvements, and so forth. Constantinople alone has lost 25,000 to 30,000 houses by fire since the war began, and affords a magnificent opportunity for housebuilding activity. I know for a fact that the Turkish authorities would welcome anyone coming there for the purpose and that they would even be glad to offer concessions. The prevailing spirit is progressive. Modern industrial equipment, too, is now sought where formerly it was shunned. I recall that a long time ago, prior to the coming into power of the Young Turk party, a business cablegram was intercepted by the Turkish authorities because it contained an offer to import some electric dynamos capable of 1,600 revolutions per minute. The wily adviser of Abdul Hamid is said to have thrown up his hands at the suggestion and remarked with some heat that Turkey had enough revolutions on her hands at the moment without encouraging these new-fangled trouble-makers."

Opportunities Are Great.

"Constantinople now has an inadequate system to provide substantial harbor craft for use in the waters around Constantinople. People living on the other side of the Bosphorus lack sufficient facilities for commuting to Constantinople."

"The development of roadways on the European side of the Bosphorus is another matter for business enterprise. If the Bosphorus is not the most beautiful body of water in the world, I should like to know where it is to be found. A proper driveway along the shores of the Bosphorus would rather tax the memory of a world-traveler to recall anything more charming."

"Opportunities for housebuilding and other forms of construction are open in the other cities of the Levant as well as in Constantinople. There is widespread need for railroad construction and rehabilitation; while at the seaports modern docks and wharves and up-to-date freight handling equipment must be provided."

"The Levant should become a growing market for American machinery and manufactures of all kinds. Imports from the Levant must be stimulated, too, in order to improve the exchange and credit situation so that the Near East can buy more from America. Tobacco, flour, cotton, dates, figs, goatskins, hides, furs, olive oil, long-staple cotton, rugs, carpets, and oriental objects d'art are among the imports coming into the United States from the Levant. It will be the aim of the American chamber of commerce for the Levant to help establish trade connections between responsible merchants on either side of the ocean, and to furnish all possible information and assistance to those engaging in trade in this field."

Those in Movement.

Officers of the American chamber of commerce for the Levant include, in addition to Mr. Thomas, president, the following: Chairman of the board, Mr. J. M. Dixon of the Tobacco Products corporation; vice president, Captain J. F. ## GAINED AND LOST FORTUNES

English Dandies Played for High Stakes in the Latter Part of Eighteenth Century.

Almuck's was one of the famous old gambling clubs of London. It was at its height in the latter part of the eighteenth century, and the play there was enormous. It was not uncommon for the losses in a single night to amount to upwards of $100,000.

The young men, dandies all, who tended to play set about the matter with a great deal of ceremony. They wore straw hats with wide brims, flower and ribbon trimmed; the brims intended to keep the light from their eyes, and that the spectators might not see their emotions they often wore masks. They also often took off their ruffles and silk or satin coats and wore in their place a rough great-coat or else wound leather bands about their arms to protect the delicate face and hues of their coats from the soil of the table.

At each player's side was a small table that held their tea, wine, cakes and rolls of rouscous or chips. Most of the players wore long curls, eye-glasses mounted on long sticks, were perfumed, powdered and painted like court ladies, and some of them even affected a mincing ladylike walk. But those who made the error of thinking them ladylike in their fighting, ability made a mistake that often cost a life, for the many young sparks would draw swords at the drop of a hat and meet death with a laugh.

Confusing Incident.

"How was your after-dinner speech received, dear?"

"Not so well. While I was talking one of the guests actually snored."

"You should not have stopped for a little thing like that."

"I had to stop. The other guests woke him up and wanted to know where he got it!"—Birmingham Age-Herald.

JUSTICE WHITE IS TAKEN BY DEATH

OPERATION FOR BLADDER TROUBLE FAILS TO SAVE LIFE OF HEAD OF U. S. COURT.

WAS APPOINTED BY TAFT IN 1920

National Capital Mourns Loss of One of Her Best-Loved Men in Public Affairs.

Washington.—Edward Douglas White, chief justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, died here early in the morning of May 19. The chief justice did not arouse from the coma into which he sank a two days previous, following an operation for bladder trouble.

Mrs. White and two nieces, Miss Anne Montgomery and Miss Mary Broussard, were at his bedside when the end came. A Catholic priest also was present, the Rev. Fr. S. J. Creedon, of Georgetown University.

Funeral services were conducted Saturday morning at St. Matthew's Church and interment took place in Oakwood cemetery. The death of the veteran chief justice cast a shadow of sorrow over the capital and officials of the nation turned out to pay their last respects to one who during his long years of service on the supreme bench, had grown in the admiration and esteem of the entire community.

The chief justice, who was 76 years old, had enjoyed rugged health up to the time he was forced to submit to the recent operation for bladder trouble, and his record of attendance on the supreme bench was traditional. Born in Louisiana and serving the Confederate Army in the campaign of the Civil War, he became a national figure in 1891 on his election to the United States Senate. He served there only three years, however, President Cleveland appointing him to the supreme court in 1894.

He was made chief justice in 1910 by President Taft, who disregarded the custom regarding the selection of justice from his own party, and it was Justice White who administered the oath of office to Woodrow Wilson and President Harding.

Mr. White's first opinions on the bench indicated that he was a strong adherent of the school of Chief Justice Marshall.

The hope of the republic, he insisted at every opportunity, lay in the supreme power of the Federal Government to control its affairs, and his dissenting opinions to any decision which seemed to him to have the least tendency toward undermining that power are cited by lawyers and court attendants as masterpieces of logic and eloquence.

Lack of Funds Necessitates Cut in Size of Prohibition Force.

Jordan, national prohibition enforcement agent, were served with notices of dismissal in compliance with the order for a two-thirds reduction in the forces of the bureau, issued by Commissioner Kramer.

Dispatches from Washington indicate that 760 of the 1,200 enforcement agents employed by the prohibition bureau have been laid off as a result of the order. The reason for the reduction, which will be in force until the end of the fiscal year, June 30, is given as lack of funds with which to pay the salaries of field men.

KEDZIE RESIGNS M. A. C. POST

Farmers Win in Two Year Fight Against College Management.

East Lansing, Mich.—President Frank S. Kedzie of the Michigan Agricultural college has resigned.

He filed his written notice of quitting with the board at his last meeting. He has served over five years. Secretary Addison Brown, it is said, will also resign at the June meeting, when President Kedzie steps out.

This is the culmination of a two-year fight by farmers against the management of the state's college. This fight came to a head during the legislative session, when Representative Arlie Hopkins of Manistee, in a report, severely criticized the college management. He declared it was inefficient.

To Pass Disarmament Amendment.

Washington.—The administration unexpectedly abandoned its fight against the Borch disarmament amendment pending in the senate in connection with the $50,000,000 naval bill. ## SUCIDES IN JAIL

Charles Allenberger, aged 48, killed himself with a pen knife in the county jail in Ann Arbor, Friday night after a previous attempt with strychnine had failed. Earlier in the evening Allenberger went to the home of his brother, G. H. Allenberger, 302 Packard street, and after talking with him for a few minutes, exclaimed, "I've taken strychnine." Dr. Fred Arner was summoned and the man was rushed to Mapihurst hospital where a stomach pump was used to save his life.

He was then taken to the county jail, after being chained by his brother. The weapon with which he ended his life had evidently been concealed in his underclothing or in some inside pocket. He had inserted the knife in his throat. The body was found Saturday morning about seven o'clock by Carl Arnold, deputy sheriff.

WHAT KILLED THE COW.

In a damage case against a railroad company, being heard in a rural justice court, the country lawyer made the following argument: "Your honor," he declared, "the train had been running as it should have run if the bell had rung as it should have been rung; if the whistle had been blown as it should have been blown; both of which the cow did not hear, the cow would not have been injured when she was killed."

Treatment of Common Colds.

"If all who catch cold could be persuaded to remain in bed for the first twenty-four hours of such an attack," says a well known physician, "there would be fewer cases dragging on with distressing symptoms for weeks and often ending in more serious disease."

To make sure of a prompt recovery you should also take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Whether sick or well the bowels should move each day.
