ATHANASAKOU-JOHNSON

The marriage of Miss Sofia Athanasakou and Mr. Charles P. Johnson will take place in Maccabee hall this afternoon in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends of the young couple.

The impressive ceremony of the Greek Orthodox church will be performed by Rev. Father George Patrides, of Detroit. Margaret Johnson, a little niece of the bridegroom, will act as flower girl, John Batsakis, of Chelsea, will be the attendant for the bridegroom.

The music will be furnished by a Greek orchestra from Detroit, the members of which were from the native town of Mr. Johnson in Greece.

Following the ceremony, a wedding dinner will be served to about one hundred guests. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson will leave after the dinner for Toledo, where they will visit relatives.

Mr. Johnson is one of the proprietors of the Chelsea Candy Works, and has been a resident of Chelsea for the last two and one-half years. Upon the return of the couple they will make their home in apartments at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. M. Brooks on West Middle Street.

Michigan Honey Bees Busy.

Michigan honey bees are about the busiest bees in the United States. This year, according to a joint estimate by Verne H. Church of the federal bureau of crop estimates, and R. F. Kindig, state inspector of apiculture, the bees of this state will produce approximately 13 pounds of honey per colony more than the average for the United States.

Up to July 1, according to the report, honey production in Michigan has been far above average. The estimated yield of surplus honey—meaning that in excess of the needs of the colony—is 38 pounds per colony. Last year the average was 22 pounds and in 1919 it was 33 pounds, while for the United States the average last year was 23.7 pounds and 25.5 pounds in 1919. The proportion of the annual crop usually produced before July 1 is 44 per cent, but on account of the hot weather, drought in the northern districts and the advanced season it is probable that a smaller percentage than usual will be produced after this month.

On July 1 the condition of the colonies in the state was 96 per cent, while last year it was only 70. For the United States it was 88 last year as compared with 89.8 this season. The condition of plants for the state this year was 73 as compared with 78 last year and for the United States it was 78.6 this year against 86.2 last year.

According to reports received from honey growers throughout the state about 43 per cent of the entire crop this year will be marketed in the comb. An inquiry made earlier in the season developed that there are about 35 per cent more working colonies of bees in Michigan this year than last, and in the United States about 7.4 per cent more.

Canning Notes.

Save all surplus from your garden for use next winter.

Now is the time to think of canning, drying and salting.

Beets, carrots, peas, beans and corn may be canned by the cold-pack process which insures a product which will keep perfectly and closely resemble the fresh product.

Vegetables are most essential in the winter diet. They supply iron, lime and other necessary minerals for maintenance of health, and add variety to the daily menu.

The more vegetables members of the family eat during winter, the fewer will be the doctor bills in the spring.

Birthday Anniversary.

A very pleasant birthday gathering in honor of M. A. Shaver was held at North Lake, Sunday. A picnic dinner was served and a royal time was enjoyed by all who were present.

The following were in attendance: M. A. Shaver, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Shaver and son, of Ann Arbor; Mr. and Mrs. LaRue Shaver, son and daughter, and Meryl Shaver, of Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. Mason Whipple and their guests from Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Seitz and daughter, of Lima; Mr. and Mrs. Herman Hushley, of Sharon; and Mr. and Mrs. J. Whipple and family, of Chelsea.

Standard is Fifty Years Old.

With this issue of The Standard, it enters upon Volume 51, Number 1. For 50 years this paper has been a regular weekly visitor to many of the homes in this vicinity. During the existence of the Standard many events in past years have become history and many changes have taken place in Chelsea and vicinity. We thank our many friends for their generous patronage in the past and hope to be favored with a continuance of the same in the future.

FIVE MEN BEING HELD FOR MURDER OF FARMERS

Peter Orlando, Tony Speno, and Sam Mocerri were arraigned in the police court at Ann Arbor, Friday afternoon, charged with the murder of George Burg and his helper, Henry Fulmer, in a barn on the Burg farm in Saline township, Friday, July 15.

Additional evidence of a material nature, which was uncovered during the week by county authorities co-operating with the Detroit detectives, has fastened the guilt for the slaying on these men beyond all reasonable doubt. Jacob F. Fahrner, prosecuting attorney, stated Friday morning.

Two other suspects were arrested in Detroit by the police force, Friday morning, and one of them was brought to the jail in Ann Arbor and the other one was detained in Detroit by police.

Tony Speno, one of the alleged murderers, has admitted that he was in the barn when Burg and Fulmer were killed, and while it has been determined that Speno carried a gun belonging to Peter Orlando, it has not been proven that Speno fired the shot which killed the farmers. Speno denies that he fired the shot that killed either Burg or Fulmer.

It has been ascertained, authorities state, that Orlando and Mocerri remained in the car while the four other members of the bandit party went to the barn.

After reading the warrants by the police judge to the accused men, all three demanded an examination, which was set for 10 o'clock Friday forenoon, July 29.

All of the trio were quiet during the ordeal and after the reading of the warrants John Kirk, of Ypsilanti, who represents Orlando, requested bail for his client, while Attorney Colombo, of Detroit, representing Mocerri, also requested bail. Speno was not represented by counsel.

Upon recommendation of Jacob Fahrner, prosecuting attorney, the men were committed to jail without bail. The mother of Mocerri became hysterical when she learned that her boy could not have bail.

"He is nothing but a baby. He didn't know what he was doing. Why don't you officers catch the men who really did the shooting," wailed the mother.

"Dinty" at the Princess.

One of the best attractions of a decade will be the entertainment offering at this theatre next week, Wednesday and Thursday, August 3 and 4. It is "Dinty," in which Marshall Neilan presents Wesley Barry, the freckle-faced boy actor, in the first starring vehicle of his youthful career. Neilan wrote the story and directed the production, which is his latest release through Associated First National Pictures, Inc. It is the tale of a fighting newsboy, who has an old Irish mother to support. San Francisco's picturesque Chinatown is the locale for some of the scenes, and the photoplay is replete with dramatic as well as amusing incidents. Among the unique characters who will appear in support of Wesley Barry as "Dinty" O'Sullivan are a Chinese youngster and a jolly little pickaninny. In the chief supporting roles are charming Colleen Moore, J. Barney Sherry, Pat O'Malley, Marjorie Daw and Noah Beery. Romance, pathos, humor and thrilling adventure makes this one of the most extraordinary cinema productions ever filmed. Wesley Barry's smile, freckles and inimitable acting made him famous in "Daddy Long Legs" with Mary Pickford, and "Don't Ever Marry" and "Go and Get It," but his crowning achievement has undoubtedly been made in "Dinty," under the masterful direction of Marshall Neilan. It is a motion picture triumph for both Barry and Neilan, and cannot fail to delight every man, woman and child who come to the Princess Theatre to see it. "Dinty" has received the enthusiastic endorsement of critics throughout the country. "Nuf said."

Report of Chelsea Co-ops.

The following is the report of the auditors and secretary-treasurer of the Chelsea Co-operative Association for the six months ending July 12: Total membership July 12, 342; total carloads of stock shipped, 111; pounds of stock shipped, 1,497,673; amount received for stock, $125,087.44; amount paid to owners of stock, $115,302.24; expense, $9,755.20; average cost per cwt., 65c. Balance on hand July 12, $1,169.90.

New Auto Licenses.

The 1922 motor licenses will be red and white, and are being manufactured in the state prison at Jackson, for the first time. The plates will have a brilliant red background with white numerals and letters. They are costing the state six cents a set less to manufacture than when purchased from private manufacturers. It is said. This saving will amount to $30,000 on the 500,000 sets being made.

PLEASANT LAKE BOYS' CAMP

The following is an outline of the program to be followed by the boys during their outing at the Farm Boys' Camp at Pleasant Lake, August 15-20:

Day's Program.

6:30—Reveille and Setting Up Exercises.
7:00—Breakfast.
7:45—Camp Duties.
8:15—Animal Study.
10:00—Swimming and Boating.
12:00—Dinner.
1:00—Rest Period.
2:00—Plant Study.
4:00—Games and Swimming.
5:30—Camp Inspection.
6:00—Supper.
6:45—Play and Amusements.
9:00—Warning Bell.
9:30—Lights Out.

Boy's Outfit.

Two blankets or quilts, extra stockings and underwear, comb and brush, tooth brush and tooth paste, quart tin cup, spoon, knife and fork, pie pan, towels, soap.

Any boy owning a Scout suit should plan to wear these clothes. Any khaki or brown trousers and light weight shirt for day wear and sweaters or heavier garments for evening, should be brought to Camp.

State Park Project.

The Wampiers Lake park project which seemed to have been stalled, is again going forward. The plan of forming a state park at Cedar Hill on the southeast shore of the lake, and taking in Round Lake to the east was formulated months ago by the state park commission aided by residents of the three counties, Lenawee, Jackson and Washtenaw on which the park corners. The land contains no cottages or buildings and is located in rugged beauty in the heart of the beautiful Irish Hill country. It is close to the Chicago turnpike and easily accessible from every direction.

All but one of the landowners were glad to co-operate with the committee Henry Lentz, Mr. Ives, Chas. Ayers, and H. H. Hoffman, all either donated such an amount of their land as was required or sold at very reasonable terms. Mr. Hane, owner of Cedar Hill and an area of about 100 acres would not make settlement at a price regarded as fair by the committee. Proceedings have therefore been started in the circuit court at Adrian by the State Department of Conservation.

The plan of "improvement" of the park site consists of only such items as better roadways or trails through the thickly wooded portion, and probably a roadway at the edge of Wampiers Lake around Cedar Hill where a courageous motorist may now take to the water and get around the hill with difficulty. Campers and visitors will be provided with allotted grounds, running water and other facilities, but the whole area will be left in its wild state and its scenic beauty preserved for the enjoyment of this and future generations. The site includes Round Lake, most of the land lying to the south and only a short distance from Iron Lake and the Chicago turnpike. The tract will total about 220 acres.—Brooklyn Exponent.

Warning Signs at Crossings.

The county board of road commissioners has received a notice from the Michigan Public Utilities commission in regard to the signs to be placed at railroad crossings in the county. At the last session of the legislature, a law was enacted whereby the railroads would have to furnish warning signs at places where their tracks intersected other highways.

The signs will be furnished by the railroads but the highway commission must assume the responsibility of erecting them 500 feet from the crossing and maintaining them after they are put up.

In Washtenaw county there are 130 crossings, all of which have to be equipped with signs at the end of five years. This means that the number of crossings to have signs for the coming year will be 25. At the end of the five year period, the railroads will have furnished in all 255 signs for their crossings in this county.

E. D. Kinne Dead.

Former Judge Edward D. Kinne, 78 years old, who for more than 30 years presided over the Washtenaw circuit court, and who at the time of his retirement was the oldest judge in the state in point of continuous service, died in Ann Arbor Monday afternoon after a long illness. He had lived in Ann Arbor 61 years.

Judge Kinne, during his long career on the bench, was recognized as one of the foremost legal authorities in Michigan.

Besides his widow, Winifred Morse Kinne, one daughter, Mrs. LeClair Martin, of Cedar Falls, Ia., survives.

BREVITIES

Dexter—Prof. Drouyer, of Brooklyn, Michigan, has been engaged by the school board as superintendent of the Dexter public schools for the coming year.

Stockbridge—The 19th annual reunion of the Hull and Parks families will be held at the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Grimes in Stockbridge, Thursday, August 11.—Brief-Sun.

Ann Arbor—Someone in Ann Arbor is evidently planning on going into the contracting business on a large scale and not having enough capital to buy tools is evidently doing the next best thing, picking them up.

Ypsilanti—Members of the state tax commission are in the city making an estimate of the assessed valuation of the property. They desire to obtain this information to get the total valuation of property in the state.—Record.

Brighton—The old VanLeuvan farm near Island Lake is now the lively scene of one hundred fifty rollicking little girls. All of these little girls are orphans from the St. Vincent's Orphan Asylum of Detroit, out for a summer vacation.—Argus.

Jackson—Plans are now being made for the largest picnic in the history of Jackson. The various committees are making arrangements to care for 2,000 members of the fraternity and their families at the annual outing at Pleasant Lake, Thursday, August 18.

Adrian—A Lenawee county circuit court judgment of $6,000 in favor of Philip Gee, Jr., and against Albert Brunt, both of Deerfield, is affirmed in a decision of the state supreme court. Gee, aged 17, sued to recover damages said to have been sustained when one of his legs was cut off and an arm injured in a sawmill accident.

Howell—The dog owned by Harry Howe, which attacked and bit Laverne Wenk a week ago, during the holding of a picnic at Long Lake, has since been killed. The head of the animal was taken to Ann Arbor for examination, where it was finally decided the dog had hydrophobia.—Democrat.

Ypsilanti—Dr. John Stephenson, pathological inspector of the United States government horticultural board at Washington, was at the residence of Justice D. Z. Curtis Friday and inspected 4,000 gladioli bulbs imported from Holland under bonds requiring bulbs to be painted and not sold. Dr. Stephenson gave Mr. Curtis a clean bill of health and complimented him upon his fine collection of plants.

Stockbridge—Gerald White, the fourteen-year-old boy who was taken from the Ingham County Detention Home by Mr. and Mrs. Francis Jesse, of Stockbridge, was captured by Sheriff Silsby southeast of Howell Tuesday, and taken to Mason. White had stolen one of Mr. Jesse's horses, and was making his way through the country on horseback. The horse was sore footed when overtaken by the sheriff.—Brief-Sun.

Ann Arbor—According to a letter from Maj. Willis Shippam of the coast artillery, detailed as assistant professor of military tactics in the University of Michigan, the Michigan R. O. T. C. students with him at Fort Monroe, Va., are doing exceptional work there, in all phases of camp work. "The rifle team we organized from students at Michigan won the small arms rifle contest here and will therefore have the honor of representing this camp and the University of Michigan at the national rifle matches to be held at Camp Perry, Ohio, during August and September," he wrote.—Times News.

Pinckney—At the annual school meeting of District No. 1, Howell and Marion fractional, the affirmative vote authorizing the establishment of a Normal Training School at Howell for Livingston county was perhaps the most important transaction of the evening. This school is supported by the state, by the county, and by the district where held and is for the whole county as there can be but one in the county. The students are not charged tuition for their training in this school. This brings a year's training to the door of the pupils in the schools of the county and saves them the expense of going away to the state Normal College.—Dispatch.

Manchester—Driving along the highways of this section one can hardly help noticing the large number of rabbits, ground squirrels and quail frightened from cover as the car approaches. Seems as though there are more than ever before. The young rabbits are now about old enough to put on quite a burst of speed for a few rods. Quail in many instances seem so tame that they often stick to the road until almost run over, or fly along just ahead of the windshield. The past mild winter was doubtless easy on all such wild life and fewer than the usual number perished. It is well known that the average Michigan winter takes its toll of quail, as frequently whole flocks are found frozen to death, but few persons, perhaps, have thought that many small furbearing animals succumb to the cold or want of food.—Enterprise.

Jackson—As a result of injuries received when she was struck by an automobile, Mrs. Michael Czerwiecki, 121 Johnson street, died at the W. A. Poole hospital Saturday forenoon, at 11:30 o'clock. Mrs. Czerwiecki was 32 years of age and the mother of seven children, the oldest of these being but 16 years of age. The accident happened about 11:15 o'clock on Cortland street, a few feet east of Mechanic street. Witnesses say that Mrs. Czerwiecki stepped from between two parked automobiles directly into the path of a Ford car driven by Fred Roberts, 1202 East Ganson street. The driver of the car was unable to avoid the accident, it is said, because the woman was so close to his machine when she stepped in front of it.—News.

Here's why CAMELS are the quality cigarette

BECAUSE we put the utmost quality into this one brand. Camels are as good as it's possible for skill, money and lifelong knowledge of fine tobaccos to make a cigarette.

Nothing is too good for Camels. And bear this in mind! Everything is done to make Camels the best cigarette it's possible to buy. Nothing is done simply for show.

Take the Camel package for instance. It's the most perfect packing science can devise to protect cigarettes and keep them fresh. Heavy paper—secure foil wrapping—revenue stamp to seal the fold and make the package air-tight. But there's nothing flashy about it. You'll find no extra wrappers. No frills or furbelows.

Such things do not improve the smoke any more than premiums or coupons. And remember—you must pay their extra cost or get lowered quality.

If you want the smoothest, mellowest, mildest cigarette you can imagine—and one entirely free from cigarettey aftertaste,

It's Camels for you.

Northville—Dates for the Wayne county fair at Northville have been set for September 28, 29, 30 and October 1. The fair will be run day and night with fireworks as an added evening attraction.

Vicksburg—Going to the rescue of his drowning wife at Pickering lake, Clyde McCauley, 17, Pavillion township boy, succeeded in saving the girl's life just before he sank back into the water exhausted.

Denton Harbor—Denton Harbor has adopted the commission-manager form of city government, electing five prominent business men commissioners. The commissioners named J. N. Klock, a manufacturer, as mayor.

Bad Axe—James Baldwin has been unanimously elected to succeed himself for his thirty-fourth year as a member of the board of education. His years of continuous service on an educational board is believed to be a state record.

Grand Rapids—Declaring some taxicabs are rolling barrooms, Superintendent of Police A. A. Carroll has urged the city commission to adopt a proposed ordinance to bring the taxicab business under closer supervision of city officials.

Ann Arbor—The Rev. Lloyd C. Douglas, for 11 years pastor of the First Congregational Church here, has resigned to take up religious work in industry at Akron, O. He also will take charge of the First Congregational Church at Akron next fall.

Battle Creek—John H. Patterson, whose resignation as president of the National Cash Register company, was announced Monday, is in the city, where he came for rest and recuperation at a local sanitarium. He is accompanied by his personal physician.

Sault Ste. Marie—The Chippewa County Historical society has erected an 18-ton granite boulder marking the spot where Governor Lewis Cass, 101 years ago, concluded a treaty with the Chippewa Indians, giving this government a tract of 16 square miles within what is now Sault Ste. Marie.

Adrian—Mrs. Calvin Meyers, aged 55, drowned herself in the river Raisin at Deerfield, 14 miles east of here. She left a note in her home advising survivors to "look in the river." Men searched the streams for four hours before recovering the body. Mrs. Meyers is survived by her husband and one son.

Lansing—Another warning against the spread of diphtheria has been sent out by the State Department of Health in connection with the release of figures on the number of cases in Michigan in the first six months of 1921. "There are 1,000 child deaths from diphtheria every year in Michigan," the board says.

Ira—M. C. Thomas will retain his job as county agent of Monroe county, despite action by the extension department of Michigan Agricultural College calling for his resignation. The county organization, the farm bureau, at a meeting here voted to continue Thomas in office, by indorsing action to this effect previously taken by the county executive committee, 32 votes to 10.

Sault Ste. Marie—Alpena was chosen as the 1922 convention city of the Michigan Firemen's association after two ballots were taken. State officers elected were: Frank Trounley, Sault Ste. Marie, president; Dennis C. Rivet, Bay City, first vice-president; Fred W. Griswold, Albion, second vice-president; H. L. Williams, Ludington, secretary-treasurer; Captain William Brockles, Saginaw, state leader.

Howell—Livingston County officers have indicated that Willard A. Lawson, of Detroit, arrested a few weeks ago on a charge of killing his wife while on a hunting trip at Island Lake two years ago, will not be brought to trial at the special session of Circuit Court which will open July 26. An investigation of the case is being made and will not be completed in time for this term, it was said. Lawson is out on $5,000 bail.

Port Huron—Who says bathing suits are too immodest to be worn on the streets and from the bathing beaches? This question has stirred whole sections of Port Huron, with the bathing suit contenders in the lead. Wasn't Eve attired in something just a little less than a bathing costume when Adam met her? "Yes," replies the stern matron. "And Adam wasn't shocked." And, didn't she "get away with it, too?" Is the blunder to the question. So, Port Huron reformers have compromised.

Pontiac—The D. U. R. has replied to requests of the Pontiac City Planning commission for complete rebuilding of main trolley lines in Pontiac, removal of the third track from Saginaw street and double tracking of the northwestern division in the city. The answer is that the expense would approximate $300,000 and prospects are not favorable for earning reasonable return on the investment. General Manager Burdick wrote that adequate repairs are being contemplated. He suggested a meeting with the city commission.

Alma—The Michigan National Guard cavalry unit here has leased the Wright house burns for three years for the headquarters of the troop.

Pontiac—Mrs. Ray Colser, 43, was probably fatally burned when she attempted to light a kitchen range with kerosene. She was covered with burning oil.

Bay City—Captain Harold Davidson, 38, died at Mercy hospital from cerebral meningitis due to ptomaine poisoning which he contracted at Buffalo a week ago.

Pontiac—August Roberts, proprietor of The Cottage, a resort hotel at Cass lake, and John Rostan, a waiter in the place, are under arrest charged with violating prohibition laws.

Port Huron—Although Charles Jack, Detroit Edison employee, had 2,500 volts of electricity pass through his body, he will recover. He took hold of a live wire while working on a pole.

Adrian—Roscoe Swift, of Adrian, announced that he had accepted an appointment tendered him through Congressman Earl Michener of this district, as postmaster of the house of representatives.

Grand Rapids—Because the force in the internal revenue office here is inadequate, the Government is losing a vast amount of taxes, according to Frank W. Hine, deputy collector. He says the work of checking up accounts two or three years old has not been completed.

Lansing—The D. U. R. won the Birmingham spillage suit through an opinion handed down by the supreme court declaring Judge Frank L. Cover, of the Oakland circuit had no authority to issue an injunction setting aside the straight two-cent rate established by the company May 4, 1920.

Potoskey—Henry Kaimin and Joseph Burns, who escaped from the Emmet county jail recently, being recaptured in a swamp, were sentenced to serve from 1 to 15 years in the Lonia reformatory. Mrs. Austin, who aided in the escape, was given 5 to 12 months in the Detroit house of correction.

Kalamazoo—Officials of three states are looking for James Jaisek, Kalamazoo man, who left Chicago on his return trip to this city with $1,300 and has not been seen since. Jaisek formerly lived at Chicago and went to the Windy City a week ago to withdraw the $1,300, which he had on deposit in a bank there.

Kalamazoo—Men are about 30 times as bad as women, according to the annual report made to the board of supervisors by Sheriff Fred Putnam. During the fiscal year ending June 30, according to the report, $27 prisoners were lodged in the Kalamazoo county jail. Of the $27, only 27 were women, the proportion of men prisoners being about 30 to one.

Saginaw—Returns here showed a 2 to 1 vote against the granting of a new 30-year franchise to the Saginaw-Bay City Railway company. The charter provided for a joint control of the lines by company officials and the city through a commissioner of utilities. It is thought a receiver will be asked for the company, which, officials claim, has been operating at a loss for some time.

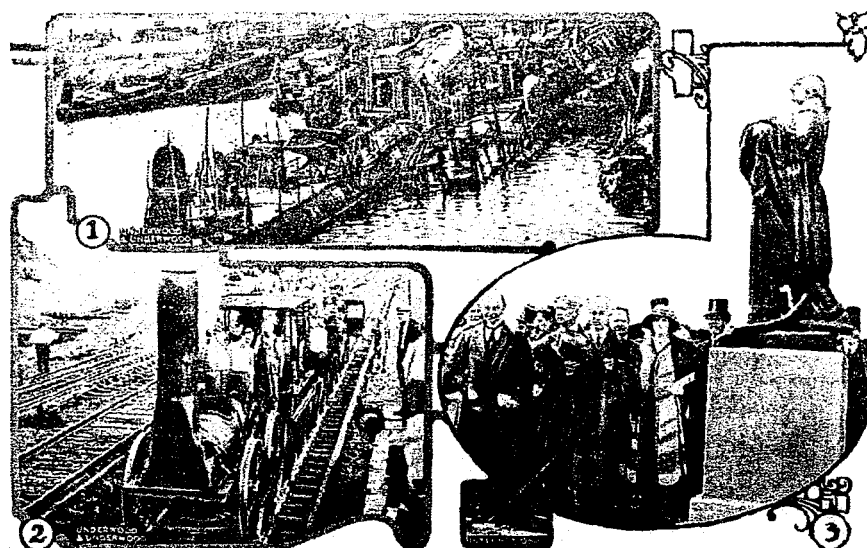

Pontiac—The C. R. Ferguson private bank at Almont, Lapeer county, has closed its doors. No statement has been made public as to the bank's situation and depositors have not undertaken any action with regard to it. The bank was founded in 1872, by Charles Ferguson, and had an extensive business, somewhat curtailed, however, since foundation of a state bank there a few years ago.

Pontiac—On the ground that the affidavits accompanying petitions for a special election on the revision of Pontiac's new commission-manager charter so as to return to the aldermanic government were insufficient under the state law, the city attorney has recommended to the commission that the petition be denied. The commissioners decided, however, to ask the attorney-general to rule on the matter.

Cadillac—Mayor Perry F. Powers, who was auditor general 20 years ago, says during his term in office the supreme court made a decision denying the right of the legislature to increase the salaries of state officials, even though they are given extra duties. Mr. Powers cites that decision in support of Auditor General Fuller's refusal to pay extra compensation to members of the state administrative board.

Grand Rapids—Pretty mermaids who frequent the city swimming pools and who refuse to leave at 9 p. m., the closing hour, are causing the guards considerable embarrassment, Robert M. Teller, superintendent of municipal recreation, says. The girls, it is charged, absolutely decline to leave the pools and since the guards are not permitted to use force to eject them, the guards are required to wait until the swimmers leave.

Saginaw—John Bukenske, for nine years a member of the Saginaw police force; Cyril H. Chilton, former deputy register of deeds, and Rock Wood, were arrested by Deputy United States Marshal Schindler on charges of attempting to buy off a witness in a Volstead act case against Oliver C. Hardy, proprietor of the Hardy hotel and former assistant clerk of the city police court. Hardy is now awaiting indictment by the United States grand jury at the next term of federal court at Bay City. Chief of Police McCoy made the complaint.

1—Former German submarines being converted into scrap metal at Cherbourg, France. 2—New York's first locomotive, the DeWitt Clinton, starting under its own steam for Chicago's Pageant of Progress exposition. 3—Civil war veterans and others at the unveiling in London of a statue of George Washington given the British nation by the state of Virginia.

NEWS REVIEW OF CURRENT EVENTS

Japan, Reassured, Is Expected to Enter the Conference at Washington.

MAY BAR SOME QUESTIONS

Britain Offers Southern Ireland Dominion Rule Within Empire—New Crisis Over Upper Silesia—Governor of Illinois Indicted for Alleged Embezzlement.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD.

Japan, self-conscious, rather suspicious and knowing both the strength and the weakness of her position in the Orient, has been withholding her acceptance of President Harding's invitation to the Washington conference in so far as the discussion of Pacific problems is concerned. But repeated conversations between Secretary Hughes and Ambassador Shidehara are serving to dissipate her vague objections and it is believed her complete acceptance will not be much longer delayed. Mr. Hughes made it clear to the ambassador that the sovereignty of Japan can assert itself at the conference as freely as that of any other power, that the United States has no disposition to draw hard and fast lines with regard to the subjects that shall be discussed and that it would be most unfortunate if a hostile or suspicious attitude should develop before the conference begins. It is understood, at this writing, that the mikedo's cabinet has virtually agreed that Japan shall enter the conference without restrictions, having faith in the good intentions of the other participants.

The Japanese people, however, and their prominent leaders, are not unanimous in approval of that course, many fearing the conference will be dominated by the Anglo-Saxons and will result in the strangling of Japan's economic and political development in Asia. There is also a tendency, to insist that the matter of race equality be made an issue at Washington and that the emigration rights of the Japanese be definitely fixed. It is reported, too, that the cabinet has decided the Japanese representatives shall not enter into discussion of questions affecting the sovereign rights of participating nations or of the Shanghai and Yape questions, which it holds were settled by the Paris peace conference. So far as Yape is concerned, it is believed the negotiations between the United States and Japan will have been concluded and a friendly settlement of the dispute reached long before the conference assembles.

The invitation to China to participate in the discussions of Pacific questions has brought on some complications. In the first place it is responsible for much of Japan's suspicion. Then, too, it was directed of course to the Peking government and now Dr. Sun Yat Sen's constitutional government of South China protests, through its representative in Washington, that the Peking government is not qualified to represent the whole of China and the Canton government also should be asked to participate. Premier Lloyd George. It is announced in London, will attend the conference unless the unforeseen happens. With him, presumably, will be Foreign Secretary Curzon; and it is likely the dominion premiers will be there too, though the British empire will be represented as a unit. Great Britain has abandoned its tentative plan to have a preliminary conference in London on Far Eastern matters.

"President" Eamon de Valera had another meeting with Premier Lloyd George Thursday, and soon thereafter departed for Ireland carrying the government's final offer of home rule for the island within the empire, practically like that enjoyed by South Africa.

This he will submit to the Irish "republicans" whose decision, he has asserted, he will abide by. The plan was first given in detail to the British cabinet and received its almost unanimous approval. Premier Smuts of South Africa again had taken a hand in the settlement and had suggested fiscal alterations which were adopted.

Thus the prospects for Irish peace are fairly good, despite the fact that Ulster and the extreme Unionists remain to be satisfied. Sir James Craig, the Ulster premier, after meeting Lloyd George in London, returned to Belfast to consult his government. He declared Ulster would not yield its right of self-determination, that its separation from southern Ireland was an accomplished fact, and that "it now only remains for Mr. de Valera and the British people to come to terms regarding the area outside of that of which I am prime minister." He emphatically repudiated the Sinn Fein argument that Ulster is in the minority and must bow to the majority in Ireland, admitting the unity of the island and accepting self government, if it gets it, from Ireland as a whole. Up to date De Valera and his colleagues have not abandoned this Sinn Fein position. It remains to be seen which side will yield. For the moment, at least, the attitude of the people of southern Ireland is more peaceful and conciliatory than that of the northern Irish.

Upper Silesia comes to the front again, with prospects of renewed trouble which may result in another outbreak of hostilities and even in a break among the entente allies. Convinced that the situation there was extremely critical, France asked Great Britain and Italy to join her in sending reinforcements to the region. The British foreign office replied belittling the danger and proposing that a meeting of the supreme council be held on July 27. To this Premier Brand responded with a note announcing that France intended to reinforce the Upper Silesian contingent and again asking Great Britain and Italy to follow suit, insisting on the necessity of a committee of experts to hold a meeting immediately to investigate Upper Silesia and to draft a frontier, and announcing that France was not prepared for a supreme council meeting until the experts have reached a decision, and the allies are in a position to enforce the decision as to the Upper Silesian boundary by adequate forces in the disputed territory. Dispatches from Paris said 10,000 troops were to be sent at once to Upper Silesia, with artillery, tanks and planes.

There was a chance that America would be called on to mediate. Our position in rejoining the supreme council was that we would take no part in questions affecting territorial and frontier adjustments unless general peace were threatened. Some diplomats believe that point has been reached. Naturally there is intense satisfaction in German official circles over the prospects of a split among members of the entente.

The advance of the Greeks in Asia Minor has been continuous, the Turk Nationalists retreating before it without putting up many serious fights. Last week King Constantine's forces reached and occupied the important railway junction of Eskishehr. This cuts the rail route to Angora, the capital of the Kemalists, but the railways already have been destroyed. Military experts in Constantinople believe the Turks plan to draw on the Greeks until their lines are badly extended and then try to exhaust them by a series of irregular attacks.

In Albania the Mitroes, a Christian tribe, have proclaimed an independent republic and elected a president. The Albanian government has ordered a general mobilization to repress the rebellion of the Mitroes.

The United States has been sounding the German government on the proposal to negotiate a separate peace in accordance with President Harding's program. The pact, it is understood, will embody such features of the Versailles treaty as are not of settlement of war accounts to be virtually identical with those imposed by the allies. It is believed Berlin will see the wisdom of signing such a treaty without great delay.

Meanwhile a movement for the recall of the American troops in Germany has started in the senate. Mr. Borah introduced a resolution calling on the secretary of war for all data as to the size of the army of occupation, the cost of maintaining it and the payments of the German government for its expenses. The senate promptly adopted the resolution without a roll call or a dissenting voice.

The tariff bill, having been passed by the house, is now before the senate but if present plans are followed that body will not act on it finally until legislation to revive taxes has been enacted. This is in accord with the understood wish of the administration. The prospect for considerably lower taxes, however, was dimmed somewhat by the rather startling statements made by A. D. Lasker, new chairman of the shipping board. He asserted that his investigations have revealed the fact that the board operated last fiscal year at a net loss of $380,000,000, and predicted that during the present fiscal year the loss from operations alone will be $150,000,000. Mr. Lasker said the records of the board were in deplorable condition and that if it had been a private business concern the corporation would have been in receiver's hands long ago. He indicated that appropriations of $300,000,000 would be needed for this year, but later he asked congress for only $125,000,000 for the next six months. The formal request for this sum was made through Director of Budget Dawes and with the approval of President Harding.

Prodded to quick action by a preliminary report of the special commission on soldiers' relief, which urged the government to neglect of disabled veterans, the senate on Wednesday passed the Sweet bill without a dissenting vote. An amendment was adopted designed to transfer from the ex-service men to the government the burden of proof in establishing the origin of disabilities. In some other respects the bill as passed by the house was altered. As passed by the senate the measure provides: For the creation of a veterans' bureau, responsible directly to the president, consolidating all soldier relief agencies; for the decentralization of the compensation and insurance machinery now operated by the war risk bureau, and for the liberalization of compensation awards so as to relieve any former soldier suffering from ailments for which the war service was responsible.

Director of the Budget Dawes has informed President Harding that it will be possible to save about $112,512,628 in the government expenditures for the current year. This will be done mainly through curtailing departmental forces and equipment, and the work toward this end already is well under way. The largest estimated saving—$30,842,119—will be in the Treasury department. In the interior department it will be $19,527,101; war risk bureau, $16,534,523; War department, $15,000,000; Navy department, $10,047,891; postal service, $14,929,421, and so on through the list.

Illinois provides a sensation of considerable magnitude through the indictment of her governor, Len Small, and Lieutenant governor, Fred E. Steing. These officials, together with Verne Curtis, a banker, are accused of fraud, conspiracy and embezzlement of state funds, the alleged crimes being committed, according to the charges, when Small and Sterling held the position of state treasurer. Briefly, it is charged that Small and Sterling made loans of millions of dollars of state funds to Curtis' so-called bank, which had not functioned as a bank since 1908; that Curtis purchased with the money short-time notes of the Chicago packers which netted him about 8 per cent interest; that the state received only 2 per cent on the loans made to Curtis, and that the accused men shared the rest of the profits. Of course, both Small and Sterling protest their entire innocence, the governor denying the whole affair to be the schemes of his political enemies, whose fight on him, both before and since his election, has been bitter.

FAMOUS FLYER TO PUT OUT NEW CAR

CAPTAIN EDDIE RICKENBACKER JOINS IN $5,000,000 CONCERN RECENTLY FORMED.

DETROIT WILL GET FACTORY

Old Associates in "E. M. F." Group of Early Days Reunited in New Combination.

Detroit.—In an application filed at Lansing for a charter for the Rickenbacker Motor company, is disclosed the formation of a new five million dollar automobile manufacturing enterprise that will unite a group of automobile brains and resources that has loomed large in Detroit factory history.

The new organization gets its name from Captain Eddie V. Rickenbacker, American Ace of Aces, who reached Detroit July 25 to complete the final details of incorporation and make the first announcement of the new venture.

The official roster of the Rickenbacker Motor company was given out as follows: D. F. Everitt, president and general manager; Edward V. Rickenbacker, vice-president; Harry L. Cunningham, secretary and treasurer. Directors: Walter E. Flanders, Carl Tichenor, Roy Hood, and E. R. Evans.

The Rickenbacker car is to be made in Detroit, Captain Rickenbacker states, and the closing of a big deal for a factory site is to be announced soon.

By a singular coincidence, the new combination in the persons of D. F. Everitt and Walter E. Flanders reunites two members of the old "E. M. F." group which later became the Studebaker corporation.

The only name that is missing is that of William E. Metzger, who was the "M." in the combination. "E. M. F." it will be remembered, at the time it passed into other hands, was one of the biggest achievements in the automobile manufacturing activity of the early days, because it was one of the first to manufacture a popular priced car in quantities.

SEEK TO REDUCE ACCIDENTS.

State Officials Seek Aid of Insurance Companies.

Lansing.—In an effort to reduce industrial accidents to a minimum, the department of labor and industry has sent letters to each of the 45 insurance companies which sell compensation insurance in this state, requesting and urging their co-operation.

The letter sent out by Chairman Kennedy and his commissioners requests the companies to offer to the department any suggestions that might "better conditions, lessen hazards and reduce to a minimum the responsibilities of employers who are called upon to pay compensation."

FORD PURCHASE TERMS VETOED

Weeks Finds Offer for Muscle Shoals Plant Unsatisfactory.

Washington.—Despite pressure exerted by a most formidable lobby, Henry Ford's proposal to lease and purchase the government's $100,000,000 dam and war plants at Muscle Shoals, Ala., will not be accepted by the administration on the terms submitted.

Secretary of War Weeks made this disclosure in issuing the text of the Ford offer and citing some of the conditions stipulated by Mr. Ford which are deemed contrary to the public interest.

LAWSON DENIES MURDER GUILT

Judge Collins Sets Bail at $5,000; Trial Up in September.

Howell, Mich.—Willard A. Lawson, of Detroit, declared his innocence of the shooting of his wife in September, 1919, when arraigned July 25 on a charge of murder at a special session of circuit court here. A plea of not guilty was entered.

Judge Joseph H. Collins, of Corunna, who presided at the trial of Forrest Higgins for the murder of his sweetheart, Lucy Whitum, set Lawson's bonds at $5,000. Lawson will go on trial at the September term of circuit court.

WASHTENAW JURIST IS DEAD

Edward D. Kinne Presided Over Circuit for 30 Years.

Ann Arbor, Mich.—Former Judge Edward D. Kinne, 78 years old, who for more than 30 years presided over the Washtenaw circuit court, and who at the time of his retirement was the oldest judge in the state in point of continuous service, died here July 25 after a long illness. He had lived in Ann Arbor 51 years.

Judge Kinne, during his long career on the bench, was recognized as one of the foremost legal authorities in Michigan.

Mr. Kinne is survived by his widow and one daughter.

DRESSMAKER MADE WELL

Followed a Neighbor's Advice and Took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Vernon, Tex.—"For three years I suffered untold agony each month with pains in my sides. I found only temporary relief in doctor's medicine or anything else I took until my husband saw a verticement of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I mentioned it to a neighbor and she told me she had taken it with good results and advised me to try it. I was then in bed part of the time and my doctor said I would have to be operated on, but we decided to try the Vegetable Compound and I also used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash. I am a dressmaker and am now able to go about my work and do my housework besides. You are welcome to use this letter as a testimonial as I am always glad to speak a word for your medicine."—Mrs. W. BULL-DOG DRUMMOND

The Adventures of a
Demobilized Officer
Who Found Peace Dull
By CYRIL MCNEILE
"SAPPER"

Copyright by Geo. H. Doran Co.

"YOU DARLING!"

Synopsis.—In December, 1918, four men gathered in a hotel in Berlin and heard one of the quartet, Carl Peterson, outline a plan to paralyze Great Britain and at the same time seize world power. The other three, Hacking, American, and Steinman, and Von Graff, German, all military engineers, agreed to the scheme, providing another man, Hiram Potts, an American, is taken in. Capt. Hugh (Bull-Dog) Drummond, a retired officer, advertised for work that will give him excitement, signing "X." As a result he meets Phyllis Benton, a young woman who answered his ad. She tells him of strange murders and robberies by a band headed by Carl Peterson and Henry Larkington. She fears her father is involved. Drummond goes to The Larches, Miss Benton's home, next door to The Elms, Peterson's place. During the night Drummond leaves The Larches and explores The Elms. He discovers Larkington and Peterson, who are planning to kidnap Phyllis, who signs a paper. Drummond rescues Potts and takes him to his own home. He also gets half of the paper torn in the fight. Peterson visits Drummond, departing with a threat to return and recover Potts and the torn paper. Hugh substitutes Mullins for Potts. The band carry off Mullins and Hugh to The Elms. When Peterson discovers the hoax Drummond is made to stay all night. Irma, Peterson's handsome daughter, warns Hugh he will be killed. He goes exploring during the night, runs into a cobra, escapes mysterious death and returns from breaking Peterson's neck. Drummond enlists the aid of Algy Longworth, Toby Sinclair, Ted Jerrold and Jerry Seymour, the latter an aviator. Drummond discovers a man impersonating Potts and beats him up. The band get Hugh and his friends and carry off Potts. Hugh plans to invade The Elms.

THREE.

Hugh stopped his car at Guildford station and, lighting a cigarette, strolled restlessly up and down. He looked at his watch a dozen times in two minutes; he threw away his smoke before it was half finished. In short he manifested every symptom usually displayed by the male of the species when awaiting the arrival of the opposite sex. Over the telephone he had arranged that she should come by train from Fiddlingham to confer with him on a matter of great importance; she had said she would but what was it? He, having no suitable answer ready, had made a loud buzzing noise indicative of a telephone exchange in pain, and then rung off. And now he was waiting in that peculiar condition of mind, which reveals itself outwardly in hands that are rather too warm, and feet that are rather too cold.

"When is this bully train likely to arrive?" He accosted a phlegmatic official, who regarded him coldly, and doubted the likelihood of his being more than a quarter of an hour early. At length it was signalled, and Hugh got back into his car. Feverishly he scanned the faces of the passengers as they came out into the street, until, with a sudden quick jump of his heart, he saw her, cool and fresh, coming toward him with a faint smile on her lips.

"What is this very important matter you want to talk to me about?" she demanded, as he assisted her into his car.

"I'll tell you when we get out on the Hog's Back," he said slipping in his clutch. "It's absolutely vital."

He stole a glance at her, but she was looking straight in front of her, and her face seemed expressionless.

"You must stand a long way off when you do," she said demurely. "At least if it's the same thing as you told me over the 'phone."

Hugh grinned sheepishly.

"The exchange went wrong," he remarked at length. "Astounding how rotten the telephones are in town these days."

"Quite remarkable," she returned. "I thought you weren't feeling very well or something. Of course, if it was the exchange . . ."

"They sort of buzz and blow, don't you know," he explained helpfully.

"That must be most fearfully jolly for them," she agreed. And there was silence for the next two miles. Once or twice he looked at her out of the corner of his eye, taking in every detail of the sweet profile so near to him. Except for their first meeting at the Carlton, it was the only time he had ever had her completely to himself, and Hugh was determined to make the most of it. He felt as if he could go on driving for ever, just he and she alone. It was then that the girl turned and looked at him. The car swerved dangerously.

"Let's stop," she said, with the suggestion of a smile. "Then you can tell me."

her, and his right arm lay along the seat just behind her shoulders.

"Tell me about this important thing," she said a little nervously.

He smiled, and no woman yet born could see Hugh Drummond smile without smiling too.

"You darling!" he whispered, under his breath—"you adorable darling!"

His arm closed around her, and, almost before she realized it, she felt his lips on hers. For a moment she sat motionless, while the wonder of it surged over her, and the sky seemed more gloriously blue, and the woods a richer green. Then, with a little gasp, she pushed him away.

"You mustn't . . . oh! you mustn't, Hugh," she whispered.

"And why not, little girl?" he said exultantly. "Don't you know I love you?" His face was still very close to hers. "Well?"

"Well, what?" she murmured.

"It's your turn," he whispered. "I love you, Phyllis—just love you."

"But it's only two or three days since we met," she said feebly.

"And what the devil has that got to do with it, at all?" he demanded. "Would I be waiting longer to de-thoughtfully. "Do you think he's at The Elms now?"

"That is what I propose to find out tonight," answered Hugh. "We have staged a little comedy for Peterson's especial benefit, and we are hoping for the best."

"Oh, boy, do be careful!" She looked at him anxiously. "I'd never forgive myself if anything happened to you. I'd feel it all due to me, and I just couldn't bear it."

"Dear little girl," he whispered tenderly, "you're simply adorable when you look like that. But not even for you would I back out of this show now." His mouth set in a grim line.

"It's gone altogether too far, and they've shown themselves to be so completely beyond the pale that it's got to be fought out. And when it has been," he caught both her hands in his . . . and we're won . . . why then, girl or mine, we'll get Peter Darrell to be best man."

Which was the cue for the commencement of the last and longest interlude, terminated only by the sudden and unwelcome appearance of a motor-bus covered within and without by unromantic sightseers, and paper-bags containing bananas.

They drove slowly back to Guildford, and on the way he told her briefly of the murder of the American's secretary in Belfast, and his interview the preceding afternoon with the impostor at the Carlton.

"It's a tough proposition," he remarked quietly. "They're absolutely without scruple, and their power seems unlimited. I know they are after the duchess of Lanchester's pearls: I found the beautiful Irma consuming tea with young Laidley yesterday—you know, the duke's eldest son. But there's something more in the wind than that, Phyllis—something which, unless I'm a mug of the first water, is an infinitely larger proposition than that."

The car drew up at the station, and he stroled with her to the platform. Then the train came in, and he put her into a carriage. And two minutes later, with the touch of her lips warm on his, and her anxious little cry, "Take care, my darling!"—take care!" still ringing in his ears, he got into his car and drove off to an hotel to get an early dinner.

FOUR.

At a quarter to ten he backed his car into the shadow of some trees not far from the gate of The Elms. Save for a light in the sitting-room and one in a bedroom upstairs, the front of the house was in darkness, and, creeping noiselessly on the turf, he explored all round it. There was one bedroom light at the back of the house, and thrown on the blind he could see the shadow of a man. As he watched, the man got up and moved away, only to return in a moment or two and take up his old position.

"It's one of those two bedrooms," he muttered to himself, "if he's here at all."

Then he crouched in the shadow of some shrubs and waited. Through the trees to his right he could see The Larches, and once, with a sudden quickening of his heart, he thought he saw the outline of the girl show up in the light from the drawing-room. But it was only for a second, and then it was gone.

He peered at his watch: it was just ten o'clock. The trees were creaking gently in the faint wind; all around him the strange night noises—noises which play pranks with a man's nerves—were whispering and muttering. Bushes seemed suddenly to come to life, and move; eerie shapes crawled over the ground toward him—figures which existed only in his imagination. And once again the thrill of the night stalker gripped him.

He remembered the German who had lain motionless for an hour in a little gully by Hebrumne, while he from behind a stunted bush had tried to locate him. And then that one creak as the Roche had moved his leg. And then . . . the end. On that night, too, the little hummocks had moved and taken to themselves strange shapes: fifty times he had imagined he saw him; fifty times he knew he was wrong—in time. He was used to it; the night held no terrors for him, only a fierce excitement. And thus it was that as he crouched in the bushes, waiting for the game to start, his pulse was as normal, and his nerves as steady as if he had been sitting down to supper.

The only difference was that in his hand he held something tight-gripped.

At last faintly in the distance he heard the hum of a car. Rapidly it grew louder, and he smiled gently at himself as the sound of five magnificent voices singing lustily struck his ear. They passed along the road by front of the house. There was a sudden crash—then silence; but only for a moment.

Peter's voice came first: "You powerless old ass, you've rammed the blinking gate."

It was Jerry Seymour who then took up the bawl. His voice was intensely solemn—also extremely loud. "Preposterous. Perfectly preposterous. We must go and apologize to the owner. . . . I . . . I . . . I . . . absolutely . . . must apologize. . . . Quite unpardonable. . . . You can't go about country . . . knocking down gates. . . . Out of question."

Half-consciously Hugh listened, but now that the moment for action had come, every faculty was concentrated on his own job. He saw half a dozen men go rushing out into the garden through a side door, and then two more ran out and came straight toward him. They crashed past him and went on into the darkness, and for an instant he wondered what they were doing. A little later he was destined to find out.

Then came a peal at the front-door bell, and he determined to wait no longer. He darted through the garden door, to find a flight of stairs in front of him, and in another moment he was on the first floor. He walked rapidly along the landing, trying to find his bearings, and, turning a corner, he found himself at the top of the main staircase—the spot where he had fought Peterson two nights previously.

He walked quickly on to the room which he calculated was the one where he had seen the shadow on the blind. Without a second's hesitation he flung the door open and walked in. There lying in the bed, was the American, while crouched beside him, with a revolver in his hand, was a man.

For a few seconds they watched one another in silence, and then the man straightened up.

"The soldier!" he snarled. "You young pup!"

Deliberately, almost casually, he raised his revolver, and then the unexpected happened. A jet of liquid ammonia struck him full in the face, and with a short laugh Hugh dropped his water-pistol in his pocket, and turned his attention to the bed. Wrapping the millionaire in a blanket, he picked him up, and, paying no more attention to the man gasping and choking in a corner, he raced for the back stairs.

Below he could hear Jerry hiccoughing gently, and explaining to the pro-prio that he personally would repair . . . insisted on repairing . . . any and every gate post he possessed. . . . And then he reached the garden.

Everything had fallen out exactly as he had hoped, but had hardly dared to expect. He heard Peterson's voice, calm and suave as usual, answering Jerry. From the garden in front came the dreadful sound of a duel by Algy and Peter. Not a soul was in sight; the back of the house was clear. All that he had to do was to walk quietly through the wicket-gate to The Larches with his semi-conscious burden, get to his car, and drive off. It all seemed so easy that he laughed. . . .

But there were one or two factors that he had forgotten, and the first and most important one was the man upstairs. The window was thrown up

DEMAND FOR TANLAC BREAKS ALL RECORDS

Amazing Success Achieved by Celebrated Medicine Not Only Phenomenal, But Unprecedented—Over 20,000,000 Bottles Sold in Six Years—Foreign Countries Clamor for It.

Never before, perhaps, in the history of the drug trade has the demand for a proprietary medicine ever approached the wonderful record that is now being made by Tanlac, the celebrated medicine which has been accomplishing such remarkable results throughout this country and Canada. As a matter of fact, the marvelous success achieved by this medicine is not only phenomenal, but unprecedented.

The first bottle of Tanlac to reach the public was sold just a little over six years ago. Its success was immediate, and people everywhere were quick to recognize it as a medicine of extraordinary merit. Since that time there have been sold throughout this country and Canada something over Twenty Million (20,000,000) bottles, establishing a record which has probably never been equaled in the history of the drug trade in America.

Fame is International.

The instant and phenomenal success which Tanlac won when it was first introduced has been extended to practically every large city, small town, village and hamlet in North America. Its fame has become international in its scope and England, Japan, Mexico, Cuba, Hawaii, Alaska, Porto Rico and many European countries are clamoring for it.

From coast to coast and from Great Lakes to the Gulf, Tanlac is known and honored. Millions have taken it with the most gratifying and astonishing results and have pronounced it the greatest medicine of all time. Tens of thousands of men and women of all ages in all walks of life, afflicted with stomach, liver and kidney disorders, some of them of long standing, as well as thousands of weak, thin, nervous men and women apparently on the verge of collapse, have testified that they have been fully restored to their normal weight, health and strength by its use.

Restored to Health.

Still others, who seemed fairly well, yet who suffered with indigestion, headaches, shortness of breath, dizzy spells, sour, gassy stomachs, coated tongues, foulness of breath, constipation, bad complexion, loss of appetite, sleeplessness at night and of terribly dejected, depressed feelings, state that they have been entirely relieved of these distressing symptoms and restored to health and happiness by the use of Tanlac.

The Man Who Borrows

The man who borrows gets the habit. And it's a bad habit. The chronic borrower is shunned by his friends, and soon becomes his own worst enemy.

The best way to keep from borrowing is to have a savings account at the bank. Then, if you need money, draw it and you are under obligations to no one.

Most men and women make a fizzle of saving, because they put a great deal of thought into carping of money and none at all into the saving of it.

Be prepared for rainy weather,
Start a Bank Account.
Get your dollars all together
Though but small the first amount.
You will thus have formed a nucleus
Round which others will collect
And some day you'll have a surplus
That today you'd scarce expect.
And life's rainy days you may discount

You've heard it said that money talks,
Now that is not a jest,
For when you spend a dollar here
It really shows some "cents."
For pure Groceries, Drugs and Crockery-ware
And Fruits and Vegetables you buy,
When trading here your money talks,
But it does not say "Good-bye."

WHY I TRADE AT HOME
I trade at home and never roam
Seeking "bargains" elsewhere.
I love the town in which I live,
For all my interests are there.
And then, again, I buy from friends,
We all need one another.
When I run short I can approach
My dealer as a brother.
When buying here with conscience clear,
I put my money down,
I know it stays right here and works
For the welfare of my town.
Another thing, right here I bring
The produce that I raise
And always get an honest deal—
I've found that it pays.
And then, I know when buying here
It helps things to relax,
And also helps the man who pays
His portion of the tax.
And when I'm sick or in hard luck
The man I buy from's here
With the pocket book, if need be,
And kindly words of cheer.
So that is why I trade at home:
I'm a booster through and through,
For a town that's good to live in
Is good to buy in, too.

Do not dread wash day, the toil and fuss,
The Chelsea Steam Laundry saves all the muss,
It's the cleanest and whitest for miles around,
An expert inspects every piece and pound,
Our motto is promptness, efficiency, too,
And you'll find your things perfect when sent to you.
The water we use is soft and clear,
So stop running chances and send your work here.
