INTERESTING MEETING OF BOARD OF COMMERCE

The Board of Commerce held a meeting in The American Legion rooms last Thursday evening. The meeting was called to order by President Dancer and Secretary Axtell called the roll and read the minutes of the last meeting, which were approved.

The president announced that the board of directors had elected Ford Axtell as secretary and that the following committees had been appointed: Roads, Geo. P. Staffan, L. G. Palmer, A. G. Hindelang, O. D. Schneider; Drains and Sewerage, Jacob Hunsmeier, R. D. Walker, Ellsworth Hoppe; Manufacturing and Industries, C. Lehman, Dr. H. W. Schmidt, H. H. Fenn; Recreation and Playgrounds, P. G. Schaible, M. J. Dunkel, Rev. H. R. Beatty.

Superintendent Clark was present and brought up the matter of securing the welfare building of the Lewis Spring & Axle Co., as a community center. He stated that Mr. Lewis would donate the use of the building if arrangements could be made to heat and light it. The matter was referred to the committee on recreation and playgrounds.

One of the officials of the Municipal Contracting & Supply Co. was present and upon invitation of the presiding officer gave a talk on the subject of surfacing the paved streets here with asphalt. He stated that his company could probably do the work cheaper than any other concern as they already had their plant in running order at Four Mile Lake. Any other firm would have to construct a plant if they did the work.

The route of the proposed state trunk road, designated by the state road department as "M52" was discussed at considerable length by several members of the organization.

The route as at present laid out starts at Riemschneider's corner and goes through the lands of B. White and the T. McKune estate to Wilkinson street and follows that street to the intersection of the territorial road. All present were in favor of making a change so that at the intersection of Wilkinson and West Middle streets the route be changed, if possible, to go east on West Middle street to Main street, then south on Main street to the territorial road. The matter was finally referred to the road committee who were instructed to intercede with the state highway department to have the change made if possible.

The next meeting of the Board of Commerce will be held on Thursday evening, December 1.

Mrs. David Alber, Sr.

Miss Catherine Barreis was born in Weizheim, Wurtemberg, Germany, June 21, 1846, and died at her home on Sunday, November 13, 1921, after an illness of long standing.

Mrs. Alber came to the United States in 1867, and has been a resident of Chelsea since that date. She was united in marriage with David Alber in 1870. Mr. Alber died in March, 1918. To this union were born eleven children, one of whom, Mrs. John Cappy, died a number of years ago. Mrs. Alber was a member of the Chelsea M. E. church.

The surviving members of her family are six sons, David, Adam, Jacob, Henry, George and Herman, all of Chelsea; four daughters, Mrs. Fred Broesamle, Mrs. John Wallace and Miss Elizabeth P. Alber, of Chelsea, and Mrs. Otto Weber, of Jackson; seven grandchildren, one great grandchild, two half brothers, one of whom resides in Colorado, and the other in New Mexico.

The funeral was held at 1:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, from the family home, Rev. H. R. Beatty conducting the services. Burial at Oak Grove cemetery.

Mrs. Harriett Irwin.

Mrs. Harriett Irwin was born in Sussex, England, June 22, 1842, and died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Frank Nelson, Lansing, Michigan, on November 10, 1921, at the age of 79 years, after a long illness from a complication of diseases.

The deceased was a resident of Chelsea for 39 years. She was the mother of six children, four of whom survive her, Mrs. F. G. Nelson and Mrs. F. W. Tornblom of Lansing, and George H. Irwin and Mrs. V. G. Stover of Chicago, Illinois, five grand children, five great grandchildren. She was a member of the Congregational church of this place, also a member of the Women's Relief Corps, and Central Hive, No. 162, L. O. T. M., of Lansing, Michigan. The funeral was held Friday, November 11, at the home where she died, Rev. Guy Wallace Simon officiating and burial was made in Oak Grove cemetery at this place, Saturday, November 12.

The cartoon, "Forgotten," is considered one of the best of its kind, and was published nationally. This cartoon was responsible for the organization of the Forgotten Club of Detroit, which takes care of poor children on Christmas.

Mr. May is a very able and exceptionally witty speaker and in addition to the Legion members, any of the men of the town who care to attend are invited, as they are assured of a pleasant evening's enjoyment.

Drain Petition Approved.

The Sylvan township board held a meeting at the residence of Dr. Armstrong, at Cavanaugh Lake, last Friday afternoon, to get on a drain petition of three quarters of the property owners, which had been filed with County Drain Commissioner Denke.

The drain starts at the small lake on the Snow estate farm, going through the lands of Dr. Armstrong and Eugene Smith to Doyle Lake, and then through the Glazier farm to Mill Lake. It is said that there is a fall of 23 feet from the Snow Lake to Mill Lake.

The drain is to have a six foot bottom and will undoubtedly be a scow dredge job as it is impossible to get either a man or teams on the grounds to do the work.

Commissioner Denke attended the meeting and explained the law and with the exception of two, those present were favorable to the proposed drain and thought that it was a necessity.

After considerable discussion the board adjourned until 10 o'clock Saturday morning to meet at the store of Supervisor Dancer. At the Saturday meeting several property owners were present and their protests were heard by the township officials.

The order of necessity for the proposed drain was signed by the officials and it will probably be constructed the coming year.

County Drain Commissioner Denke began the survey for the drain the first of this week. As to the estimated cost of the improvement the Drain Commissioner was unable to give any figures. Those who object to the proposed drain will have an opportunity to appear before the commissioner on the day that he sets for the review of his assessment roll. Due notice of the date and place of meeting will be published in the local papers.

Christmas Seal Sale.

A number of communities in Michigan are looking for suggestions as to how to use to best advantage the money they will make in the Christmas seal sale that begins Thanksgiving Day and continues until Christmas. Two thirds of the funds made in that sale remain in the home community to be used for some kind of tuberculosis or general health work.

The Memorial Circle of the King's Daughters of Durand are using their money to make a general school survey, with a view of discovering hidden cases of tuberculosis and other diseases, as well as cases of children who would be likely to become victims of the disease because of undernourishment or for any other cause. They have employed a nurse for a month to conduct the survey, which is being backed by the board of education, as well as by the doctors and dentists of the community.

Such a survey is a splendid piece of public health work, and the Michigan Tuberculosis Association suggests it as a way of making good use of local seal sale money. It is but one way of many however, the association points out.

Good Roads.

The enactment into law recently of the "Good Roads Bill" carrying an appropriation of $75,000,000, and special appropriations for forest roads and trails, marks a signal victory for Senator Charles E. Townsend of Michigan, Chairman of the Senate Committee on Post Offices and Post Roads, and leader of the good roads advocates in the Senate. Confronted by the urgent need for economy, and by opposition and indifference, not only to his particular views but to Federal participation in road construction as a principle, he and his associates overcame what appeared to be insurmountable obstacles by the ultimate passage of the bill containing so many of the principles which he advocated.

In a recent interview Senator Townsend stated: "It has always been my position that the principle of Federal participation in construction of certain roads should be accepted as axiomatic. In my original bill which provided for a Federal Highway Commission to administer Federal appropriations and deal with highway problems, I provided that Federal money should be expended only upon interstate roads. With the completion of the connecting backbone system the Federal money then could have been used to construct the ribs branching out through the counties. The law recently enacted, while providing that Federal money shall be expended only upon a system consisting of seven per cent of the total road mileage within the state, nevertheless restricts 3-7 of that system to roads interstate in character, and with which must connect or correlate the remaining 4-7 of the system consisting of secondary or intercounty roads. However, sixty per cent of the Federal aid allotted to each state must be expended upon the interstate roads in the state system, but the entire allotment of Federal money to any state may be expended upon this type of road at the discretion of the particular State Highway Department.

"The fact that in the future all Federal appropriations must be expended under the direct control of the State Highway Department, with the approval of local politics entering into road problems. I have always objected to the taxing of people of one state for local or political benefits to another. It will no longer be possible in certain states for rich counties to match practically all of the Federal aid allotted, thus depriving the poorer counties of their share in road improvements. Enforced maintenance, which in the past has been such a crying need, is now provided for with respect to all roads upon which Federal money has been expended. The labor necessary in road construction and maintenance must have its present effect in alleviating to some extent the unemployment situation, and what a connected system of highways which we are hopeful will be constructed, much of the terror in the event of a railroad paralysis will have been removed.

"The new road act directs the Secretary of War, upon request of the Secretary of Agriculture, to transfer any left-over war property not needed by the military establishment but useful in road improvement for use by the state road departments, thus broadening the scope of existing legislation on this subject and opening the way for realizing the maximum benefit out of surplus army stock.

"I am confident that with the cooperation between the Bureau of Public Roads and the several State Highway Departments, which is so essential, great strides in highway construction will be made. There is ample power in the law to ultimately secure the results which the friends of good roads have so long striven for. I regard this new law as one of the most progressive steps looking toward internal improvement ever taken by the Congress."

Duke's Five will give a dance in Maccabee hall this evening.

BREVITIES

Drifter—The residence of Mr. Casement, about 1 1/2 mile west of the village, caught fire from a chimney. Sunday evening about 8 o'clock and was considerably damaged. However, the property was saved by the prompt action of neighbors and those who could be summoned from the village.—Leader.

Ypsilanti—On motion of John P. Kirk, city attorney, the case of the city vs. Harvey James, was dismissed Friday in municipal court. James was accused by the City Health officer of failing to comply with an order made by the board of health. Attorney Kirk stated that James had complied with the requirements.

Pinekey—Sunday morning fire was discovered on the roof of the Sykes house on West Main street, occupied by J. Keating and M. E. Darrow. Prompt work with the chemical fire apparatus by Fire Chief W. E. Myers soon subdued the blaze before it had a chance to spread.—Dispatch.

Jackson—Nathan Fish, a farmer, of Grass Lake, had both of his hands badly mangled in a corn shredder last Friday. He was taken to the W. A. Foote Memorial hospital in Jackson and on Monday a number of the residents of Jackson submitted to transfusion of blood and at last reports the indications were that Mr. Fish would recover. He lost both of his hands as a result of the accident.

Ann Arbor—Chief of Police Thomas O'Brien is in receipt of a letter from Miss Grace Ballard, county attorney, at Blair, Nebraska, asking that a lookout for Jesse Myers who left his home early in the summer, be kept. Myers was in Ann Arbor on October 24 and worked at Mrs. Layman's at 214 West Huron street. Police believe that the boy is still in this vicinity. He is about 14 years old.—Times News.

Jackson—The popcorn raisers of four counties, Jackson, Ingham, Lenawee and Washtenaw, held a meeting at Brooklyn last Wednesday, and formed a pool of their crop, which had originally been contracted for with the International Corn Products corporation, of Brooklyn, Michigan and Detroit. As a consequence, they placed 150,000 bushels of popcorn in the hands of E. J. Wilbur, to be sold for their benefit. The company in calling for the corn wished to pay for it with interest-bearing certificates, payable in April. This the farmers insisted was a violation of the contract, hence the formation of the pool.—News.

Manchester—Many are in favor of a Homecoming Day in Manchester next summer, and about the middle of August is the time mentioned. The Enterprise is in favor of it, and if decided upon will do what it can to make the day a successful occasion.—Enterprise.

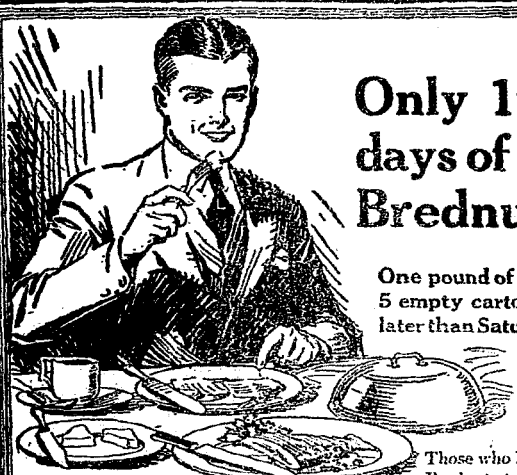

Ypsilanti—Fourteen gallons of perfectly good whiskey was confiscated last Tuesday night when deputy sheriff Tom Goodridge was notified that the booze was being sold in a shed on one of the principle streets in the village. The load of booze arrived late in the afternoon and the men started to sell it immediately after dark. Goodridge caught the men with the goods and made the arrest, taking them to Ann Arbor at once. They were arraigned before the Justice of the Peace Wednesday morning. This was the first offence.—Leader.

Ann Arbor—Prof. C. H. VanTyne, head of the department of history in the university, has accepted an invitation from the Hon. Alexander Frederick Whyte, president of the legislative assembly of India, to come to that country, study the working of that legislative body and write a small book about it. This book, it is intended, shall be given to the public in hope that it may bring to the people of every part of the world who may read it, a clearer conception and better understanding of the effort England is making to establish self government in India. Prof. VanTyne is a cousin of A. A. VanTyne, of Chelsea.

CAN'T DO THE WORK
It's too much to try to work every day against a constant, dull backache, or sudden darting pain in the small of the back. Be rid of it. Try Doan's Kidney Pills. Your neighbors recommend them. Ask your neighbor.

Jacob Houk, 211 Lincoln street, Chelsea, says: "I was in bad shape about two years ago and had lumbago and rheumatic trouble. For awhile I was compelled to lay off work as the pains across my back were so severe. The rheumatic trouble was worse in the spring and in damp and cloudy weather, especially in my lower limbs. My kidneys didn't act regularly and I knew something would have to be done. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised in the papers so I went to Fern's Drug Store and got two boxes and used them till my troubles left me entirely."

Price 60¢ at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Houk had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

NEWS REVIEW OF CURRENT EVENTS

Conference on Armaments and Far East Questions Is Formally Opened.

HUGHES IS MADE CHAIRMAN

Nations Pay Tribute to America's Unknown Soldier on Armistice Day—Senate Passes Tax Revision Bill—Elections of Week Please Democrats

By EDWARD W. PICKARD.

SATURDAY, November 12, may, and it is to be hoped will, be set apart in the history of the world as one of its most momentous dates. On that day was formally opened in Washington the conference on limitation of armaments and far east questions which, if it is successful, will go far toward curing some of the worst ills of what we are pleased to call civilization. The projectors of, and participants in, this meeting do not entertain the illusory hope that it will result immediately, or even soon, in the abolishing of warfare, but they do believe, and the world trusts, that their deliberations and agreements will settle peacefully the tangled affairs of the Pacific and the Orient, and so far cut down the naval and army programs of the great powers that the tax-burdened peoples will experience a tremendous financial relief, and the threat of another general or even important war will be far removed.

It was in the handsome auditorium of the Continental Memorial hall that the opening session of the conference was held. When Secretary of State Hughes arose to call it to order, he faced the most distinguished assemblage of men and women this country ever has seen. Great Britain, France, Italy, Japan, Belgium, Holland and China had sent each some of her most eminent statesmen, and on her own representatives are acknowledged of the first rank. After the delegates were the extensive advisory staffs, and, of course, the diplomatic corps was there in full force. The members of the senate and house, invited guests and other privileged persons filled the hall to overflowing.

Mr. Hughes, in opening the conference, welcomed formally the foreign delegates, and stated briefly the objects of the gathering. President Harding then stepped forward and, after the storm of applause had subsided, he told more at length of the hopes and purposes that had led him to invite the powers to this conference. He spoke persuasively and well; even the most pessimistic of his hearers could not help but feel that there was a fair chance that those hopes would be realized.

After the formalities, the conference organized for business, Secretary Hughes being elected chairman, and other officers being chosen. Adjournment was taken until Monday.

One great figure was absent from the opening of the conference—David Lloyd George, premier of Great Britain. Kept at home for the present by the Irish negotiations and the unemployment situation, he cabled to the conference the assurance that he would sail for Washington as soon as possible.

YET another event made last week memorable—the burial of America's unknown dead soldier on Armistice day. In this nation, through its highest representatives, paid tribute to the many thousands who, using and unnumbered individually, gave up their lives in the cause of patriotism and freedom in the World war. The unnamed hero was brought home by the Olympia, Admiral Dewey's old flagship, and on Wednesday his casket was placed under the dome of the capitol on the catafalque on which had rested the bodies of Presidents Lincoln, Garfield and McKinley. Around it stood, at parade rest, the five soldiers of the honor guard, and all about it and over it were the wreaths which had covered it on the way across the ocean. An officer pinned on the flag at the head of the coffin the badge of the Legion of Honor conferred by the French government, and then came in President and Mrs. Harding, Vice President Coolidge, Speaker Gillett and Chief Justice Taft. Mrs. Harding laid across the casket a wide white ribbon, and on it the President placed a wreath of red rosebuds. Wreaths from congress, the Supreme court and the War and Navy departments were added, and the honor guard was left alone with the dead. On the following day decorations and wreaths from foreign nations and floral designs from every state were brought in.

On Armistice day the great ceremony was carried out. The parade down Pennsylvania avenue was the most impressive ever seen in Washington. From the capitol as far as the White House, President Harding walked in the ranks with generals, admirals, practically every government official in the city, veterans of the Civil war and every war America has had since then, and large detachments from the army and navy. At the White House, President Harding and most of the other civilians dropped out of the procession, and went to Arlington in motors, but General Pershing trudged on afoot all the way with the body of his dead comrade-in-arms. The unknown was interred in front of the pavilion of the National cemetery, with every honor that could possibly be paid him. The funeral address, delivered by President Harding, was replete with passages of eloquence and faith, and with expressions of hopefulness for the future peace of the world. Much of it is worth quoting; for instance:

"On the threshold of eternity, many a soldier, I can well believe, wondered how his ebullient blood would color the stream of human life, flowing on after his sacrifice. His patriotism was none less if he craved more than triumph of country; rather, it was greater if he hoped for a victory for all human kind. Indeed, I revere that citizen whose confidence in the righteousness of his country inspired belief that its triumph is the victory of humanity."

"This American soldier went forth to battle with no hatred for any people in the war, but hating war and hating the purpose of every war for conquest. He cherished our national rights, and abhorred the threat of armed domination; and in the mad storm of destruction and suffering and death, he fired his shot for liberation of the captive conscience of the world. In advancing toward his objective was somewhere a thought of a world awakened; and we are here to testify undying gratitude and reverence for that thought of a wider freedom."

TWO governments have announced that they will not be bound by any agreements reached by the Washington conference. Neither is represented in that meeting. First came defiance from Moscow, the soviet rulers declaring they not only would not recognize the decisions of the conference, but would adopt all means to defeat them. Next in this line of action was Dr. Sun Yat Sen's southern China government. Ma So, representative of Doctor Sun in America, departed from Washington after announcing that the government of southern China would fight any plans for the settlement of China's affairs that is accepted by the official Chinese delegation to the conference. For the time being, the latter case may be the more important of the two, but the time will come when Russia's power and interests in the Orient will have to be taken into account.

Tchitcherine, soviet foreign minister, says Russia's policies are now directed only by economic interests, and not by doctrines, and Russia is welcoming vociferously every indication of the investment of foreign capital. Premier Lenin is predicting that the chase for gold will lead to war between America and Japan or America and Great Britain in 1925 or 1928. The soviet announced it had succeeded in suppressing the revolt in the Ukraine, led by General Petlura, partly because the inhabitants of that region refused to aid the revolutionaries. But this was contradicted by later advice.

ALEXANDER finally went to Belgrade to be crowned king of Jugo-Slavia, and found himself in the midst of difficulties immediately. The Serbs were pressing their invasion of Albania, in the hope of reaching Tirana before the meeting of the League of Nations council in Paris, November 18, and the council of ambassadors ordered them to get outside the boundaries it had just decided on for Albania. Premier Paichitch offered his resignation, but Alexander refused to accept it, indicating he was satisfied with the premier's foreign policy, and the Serbian army continued its advance. The Montenegrins, who never have consented to the merging of their national identity in the Jugo-Slav state, have joined forces with the Albanians, and the prospects for another Balkan war are excellent.

THE Ulster cabinet has received from Lloyd George an outline of the negotiations with the Sinn Fein representatives and of the tentative peace plan, and is considering it. Meanwhile, the Ulsterites issued this statement: "Sir James Craig (the premier) on behalf of the cabinet of northern Ireland, wishes it clearly understood that there can be no surrender of Ulster's rights."

Parliament was prorogued on Thursday, after being reassured that nothing would be finally settled with regard to Ireland without calling the house together.

AT THE close of a fifteen-hour session, the senate passed its version of the tax-revision bill, and on Thursday the conference committee began its task. The Republican "insurgents" in the lower house, who favor the senate maximum surtax rate of 50 per cent, forced an agreement that the house would be given a chance to vote on that feature before the conferees reached a final decision on it. The "insurgents" claimed to have from 80 to 85 votes, which, with the votes of the Democrats, would be enough to accept the senate rate.

The bill, as passed by the senate, is estimated by Treasury experts to yield about $3,250,000,000 for the fiscal year ending June 30 next, or $200,000,000 less than the existing law. But ultimately it would reduce the nation's tax bill by approximately $750,000,000.

ELECTIONS held last week in various parts of the country were highly pleasing to the Democrats, though the most talked-of contest, in New York city, really was not much influenced by party politics. There Mayor Hylan, Tammany candidate, was re-elected, having a tremendous plurality over Curran, the coalition candidate. Hylan stood for 5-cent street car fare and for local self-government, with which the Republican state assembly was trying to interfere. In Kentucky the Democrats regained control of the legislature; in Maryland they increased their control; in Virginia they elected E. Lee Trimble for governor and the entire state ticket.

THE next man who undertakes to rob the United States mails will probably run up against a "devil-dog," who will unhesitatingly fill him full of lead. The mail robberies were becoming so frequent and flagrant that Postmaster General Hays was driven to ask for protection. The President and cabinet decided that marines should be ordered on that duty, and 1,000 of them have been detailed to guard postal stations, railway mail cars and mail trucks, pending the organization of a permanent armed guard as a branch of the postal service. "There is no length to which the department will not go to prevent these mail robberies," says Mr. Hays.

THIS assassination of Premier Hara of Japan by a young political crank was startling, and greatly shocked the diplomats gathered in Washington, but there was swift assurance that the event would not change the nation's policies. The selection of a new cabinet was virtually in the hands of Marquis Saonji and Prince Yamagata, the elder statesmen, and it was understood the former would take the office of premier for the present.

Washington.—Peace between the United States and Germany was proclaimed formally Nov. 14 by President Harding.

The president in a proclamation signed at 5:52 p. m. declared the state of war between the United States and Germany, existing from April 6, 1917, to have terminated in fact July 2, 1921, when the joint peace resolution of congress was approved by the executive.

FATTY'S COUNSEL CHARGES COERCION

TROUBLE IN PICKING JURORS

One Says He Thinks Chaplin a Better Actor Than Arbuckle, And Is Excused.

San Francisco.—Charges that District Attorney Matthew Brady forced witnesses to testify certain things against Roscoe "Fatty" Arbuckle, under threats of throwing them into jail, were made Monday by Gavan McNabb, Arbuckle's chief counsel.

McNabb declared "on his word of honor" he would prove his charges on the testimony of seven witnesses. Brady said if such a thing were proved he would resign.

It was the opening gun in the campaign of the defense to show the manslaughter charge against the fat comedian of the films, in connection with the death of Virginia Rappe, is a "frame-up."

Another shot was McNabb's question: "If the district attorney has deprived certain witnesses of their freedom and kept them in his custody so no one could tamper with them, except himself, would that prejudice you?"

Brady was annoyed. Hat there were incidents of the day, however, that annoyed the defendant.

One prospective juror actually said he thought Charlie Chaplin was a better actor than Arbuckle. Another of the panel was excused because he had a fixed opinion—one that could not be shaken. The judge had asked him, "What if you were to return a verdict now, without hearing any evidence, what would that verdict be?"

"Not guilty," said the ventriloquist. He was excused.

Only seven of the panel were examined; one of them a woman. Two men were excused for cause. The others were "passed," which means they will remain in the box until accepted as jurors or excused on peremptory challenge. Counsel for defense and prosecution argued over proper questioning of witnesses. Assistant District Attorney Milton U'ten becoming exceedingly bitter at times. He objected to words and phrases by Attorney Gavan McNabb, chief of the counsel for defense.

"All right," McNabb would say, kindly, urbanely, "I'll restate that question, using the state's own language."

Woman Writer Defies Police and Addresses Big Crowd.

New York.—Mrs. Margaret Sanger, well known writer, and Miss Mary Winslow, of Philadelphia, were arrested Sunday after they were alleged to have defied the police by addressing a mass meeting in Town Hall in the interests of birth control. The police broke up the meeting.

The two women were taken to the West Forty-seventh street police station where technical charges of disorderly conduct were made against them. A crowd of several thousand persons followed them to the station house, many of them blessing and peevish the police, and it was necessary to call out the reserves to disperse them.

Niles, Mich.—George Paul, Richard Haybuck and Claude Blackburn, Glendola farmers, were arrested Nov. 14 on indictments returned by a South Bend Indiana, grand jury in connection with the tar and feathering of John Krieger, Glendola farmer, last August. Krieger was taken across the Indiana and Michigan state line and left in the woods near Hamilton, Indiana. The three men waived extradition and furnished bonds of $3,000 each to the Indiana authorities for appearance.

WOMAN SAVED BY LEGION MAN

Mississippi Lieutenant Awarded French Medal of Honor and Life Saving Emblem.

A woman caught in a jam of civilians fleeing a town in the war zone of France was forced over the parapet of a bridge, falling 70 feet below. Several French officers looked on in horror, but a young American officer without hesitation leaped after the submerged woman, bringing her to the surface and safely landing her on the shore.

The hero was George A. Dunnagin who at the time was a lieutenant in the liaison service of the United States army. For his bravery he was awarded the French medal of honor and the Congressional life saving medal.

Today, Dunnagin is in charge of the Shreveport (La.) sub-station of the United States Veterans' bureau in Paris and London, and was assigned by the American Legion to assist General Dawes in the investigation of needs of disabled ex-service men.

Dunnagin was born at Laurel, Miss., and was educated at the Mississippi A. & M. College. His military service, which, after an injury sustained in a machine gun accident, was in the diplomatic corps, took him to seven-teen European countries.

"LEGIONAIRE" NAME OF TOWN

Arkansas Doughboys Settle on Adjoining Tracts in Oklahoma and Form 2,500-Acre Colony.

They are beating their swords into plowshares in the biblical way of saying that veterans of the World war are going back to the farm.

In Arkansas, on a 2,500-acre tract, a "colony" of sixteen former service men descended from Tulsa, Okla., and settled on adjoining quarter-sections of land. All of them were members of the Joe Carson post of the American Legion and they plan to establish a trading center and town under the name "Legionaire."

The doughboy colony is in Scott county. Most of the settlers will be able to call the land their own in seven months as the state allows two years of war service to count on the residence requirement.

Some of the men will spend the winter on their land, clearing timber, building, hunting and trapping. It is estimated that 100 service men of Tulsa ultimately will settle on government land.

WAR WORKER AIDS JOBLESS

Entertainer During Conflict Enlists to Help Unemployed Ex-Service Men in New York.

Miss Ellerbe Wood will be remembered by many ex-service men for her work as an entertainer of the Y. M. C. A. corps in France. With her own troupe of young women she spent a year "heering" the doughboys in the overseas camps. Her service, however, did not end with the war. She has enlisted to help the unemployed ex-service men in New York.

When "The Man Without a Country," the film-version of Edward Everett Hale's historical story, was shown in New York under auspices of the American Legion, Miss Wood volunteered her services, and at each performance read the preamble to the constitution of the Legion and gave a patriotic showing. The proceeds from the show were used in the welfare work among jobless ex-service men.

MAKES CITIZENS OF ALIENS

Americanization Committee of Montana Post Successful in Preparing Applicants for Naturalization.

Training aliens for citizenship has been successfully carried out by the Americanization committee of the Great Falls (Mont.) post of the American Legion. A class of 87 aliens has just finished preparation for naturalization under direction of the Legion committee, and 37 of them were admitted to citizenship. This was an unusually high percentage, according to the naturalization officer.

Another class of 100 foreigners is now in training for the citizenship test. They receive instructions from the Legion committee twice a week. Following the course of instruction they are subjected to preliminary examinations to determine their fitness for citizenship.

Many Graves are Unmarked.

Because of a shortage of government grave-markers and the failure of congress to appropriate funds for their purchase, the graves of thousands of Americans killed overseas are unmarked in this country, according to a report of the American Legion, filed at Washington. The Legion's legislative committee will petition the congress to set aside sufficient funds to allow the purchase of a marker for each grave, as required by law.

Towns Need Eye Opener.

Said a New York state business man the other day: "There is hardly a town in the country that does not need to have its eyes opened to the kind of work its newspapers do, week in and week out, and year in and year out, with rarely if ever a word of public appreciation and backing."

MR. JOHNSON FINDS WALLET

Indianapolis Attorney Wakes Up When He Hears Gleeeful Giggles From Woods on Roadside.

Emusley W. Johnson, attorney, was taking a spin in his car on a country road southeast of Indianapolis the other evening when, approaching a little town, he saw a large, plump, leather purse lying between the wheel tracks. Mr. Johnson thrilled with the ancient pleasure of discovery. He stopped the car and climbed out, wondering silently who had dropped the wallet, and how many green or yellow crinkly ones were in it. He looked around as he alighted, and saw that the roadway was walled on either side with a pigmy forest of ironwoods, ragweeds, horseweeds and jimson, forming a jungle that crowded in as if to close the highway.

Walking back to the spot where the purse had been, the attorney rubbed his eyes. No purse was there; instead, there was a wide well in the dust as if some object had been dragged diagonally across the right-of-way. The same moment a broadside of gleeful giggles burst from the weed jungle, left and right. Mr. Johnson did not pause. He did not even speak. He smiled slightly as he clambered into his automobile. For Mr. Johnson himself was once a boy.—Indianapolis News.

Changed Father's Text.

"We will take as our text this morning," announced the absent-minded clergyman, consulting his memorandum, "the sixth and seventh verses of the 31st chapter of Proverbs."

Never suspecting that his vicious son and heir had found the memorandum in his study on the previous night and, knowing that his papa had composed a sermon celebrating the increased severity of dry law enforcement, and diabolically changed the chapter and verse numerals to indicate a very different text, the absent-minded clergyman turned to the place and read aloud these words of Solomon:

"Give strong drink unto him that is ready to perish, and wine unto those that be of heavy hearts. Let him drink and forget his past poverty, and remember his misery no more."—New York Sun.

Never Heard of Sunny Side Up.

"Well, uncle, what's the bill-of-fare?" he asked the aged colored man who came from the kitchen to look after him.

"De bill o'-fare," said the old man, "am' ham, eggs, corn bread and coffee."

"Then I'll have ham, eggs, corn bread and coffee, uncle," said Mr. Cobb.

The old waiter bowed and shuffled out. But a moment later he put his head through the doorway again.

"Boss," he said, "how ye gwine have dem eggs—blind or lookin' at ye?"—Detroit Free Press.

You Get What You Pay For

When you lay your money on a local dealer's counter and tell him what you want, you get just that. If it happens to be temporarily out of stock, he tells you so and asks your second choice.

You get nothing you do not want. And what you get is yours at the time you pay for it. He doesn't make you wait until he is ready to give you your merchandise.

These are only two of the many reasons why trading at home is better than buying by the "sight unseen" methods.

Clean-up Squads.

One of the best proofs that the newly created U. S. Veterans' Bureau is functioning efficiently and in the best interests of the disabled ex-service men, lies in the work of the Clean-up Squads. These Squads are organized through the District Office and there is, at the present time, one Squad operating in each of the forty-eight states of the Union.

The U. S. Veterans' Bureau is a government bureau which came into being upon the enactment of the Sweet Bill in July of this year and is composed of the three old government agencies, the Federal Board for Vocational Education, U. S. Public Health Service and the Bureau of War Risk Insurance, all of which were consolidated to form this new agency. This district, which is the eighth, comprises the states of Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin, the district office being at Chicago, Illinois.

In order to give service and eliminate "red tape," the Veterans' Bureau has been organized on a decentralization plan. Fourteen district offices have been established in different parts of the country, and under these, there are one hundred and forty sub-district offices in operation. The outstanding feature of this plan is that men desiring relief or training from the government can get it directly from the district office, whereas formerly it was necessary for adjustments and authorizations to be made from Washington. Through decentralization, the Bureau has established personal contact with the ex-service men who are its wards, and today every disabled man can easily find the means to talk over his case personally with a Bureau representative.

The Clean-up Squads, one of which is operating in each state, i. e. Michigan, Wisconsin and Illinois, is one of the most successful means of bringing the Bureau to the disabled ex-service man. Each Squad consists of a Compensation Expert, a Training Expert, a Physician and a Secretary, who are sent out from the Bureau; and further than this all Squads in this district are now accompanied by a representative of the American Legion and the American Red Cross. These Squads travel about in the state and establish headquarters for several days at some town which is the center of population in the district. The ex-service men living within a radius of twenty-five or fifty miles of that town can then come to the Squad for personal interviews and present their claims for hospitalization, compensation and vocational training.

In the event that any ex-service man is physically unable to come to the Squad, The American Legion and Red Cross make arrangements and some member of the Squad visits the ex-service man at his home.

During the first two months of their existence, the Clean-up Squads in this district interviewed 6463 men personally. Of this number 1246 men made their first applications for compensation, 1778 men made application for vocational training and 2167 men were given physical examinations. As a result of this two months' work, a great many men have been placed in vocational training and many more have been granted compensation, some of the awards running as high as $80.00 per month since the date of the man's discharge. As a result of these awards, many men have received checks ranging from $500 to $1500 as a first payment on their compensation claims.

In speaking of the work of the Clean-up Squads, the American Legion, the American Red Cross and the Veterans of Foreign Wars cannot be praised too highly for the co-operation that they have given in this campaign of service for disabled ex-service men by sending representatives into the field to assist the men in preparing their claims and by giving the proper advance publicity to the visits of the various Clean-up Squads so that the ex-service men might know where and when to present their various claims. Any ex-service man who is interested in presenting a claim to one of these Squads, may procure further information concerning same by communicating with his local post of The American Legion, the American Red Cross, or the district office of the Bureau at 14 E. Congress St., Chicago, Illinois.

"DAWDLERS" NOT LONG LIVED

Prominent British Manufacturer Points Out That Active Man of Business Reaches Old Age.

Lord Leverhulme, one of Great Britain's largest manufacturers, asserts that more people shorten their lives by dawdling in England than by bustling. He is a living proof that bustling promotes hale old age. He has always led the strenuous life, and at 70 is still going strong.

He presided at the annual meeting of the British Industrial Safety First association the other day. In his address he drew largely upon his American experience. Steps had been taken there, he said, to ascertain whether it was the bustling, bustling business man who was supposed to shorten his days, or the man who crawled and dawdled through life.

He declared there were men in the United States today of 80, 90 and between 90 and 100 years of age who were still in good health and actively engaged in business, whereas men who had retired early from business had shortened their lives thereby.

He thought the crawl of the dawdler was largely instrumental in shortening the lives of individuals in Great Britain—that the more a man worked, whether professionally or in other vocations, the more he would conserve his life and strength and the life and commerce of the country.

ANXIOUS MOMENT FOR DADDY

A certain physician almost invariably stutters when under the stress of excitement. Some time ago he had occasion to officiate on an important occasion, and his vocal infirmity was the cause of a funny misapprehension.

The husband and prospective father—who, by the way, had set his heart on a son and heir—was pacing the library when his doctor entered. "Well, doctor," cried the husband, forcing a smile, "is it twins?" "Triplets!" began the doctor. "Triplets! Great Caesar!" "Qu-qu-qu—" stammered the doctor. "Quadruplets! Holy smoke!" "No, no," cried the doctor. "Qu-qu-quite the contrary. Tri-try and take it philosophically. It's a girl."

Remarkable Disappearance. Perhaps the most remarkable disappearance in modern times of a prominent public man was that of James Winstanley, a brilliant Oxford scholar, who won the "Hertford" nearly seventy years ago. Winstanley, having become a postivist under the influence of Congreve—one of the founders of the new religion consisting of "three persons and no God"—left Oxford and lived in retirement on his Leicestershire estate, where he devoted himself to the welfare of his dependents, built a church, and, in the year of his disappearance, was high sheriff. Just before the assizes he went to Folkestone, started for the pier to meet his mother coming from Boulogne, and was never afterward seen by his friends. A boatman at Colnezy stated that an Englishman, resembling Winstanley, was ferried over to Ehrenbreitstein, and he was supposed to have been drowned; but those who best know his temperament thought it possible that he had incurred himself in a monastery.

China's Concrete Work.

Owing to the high cost of timber in China, it has been found economical to make railway sleepers and electric transmission line poles of reinforced concrete. The sleepers are reinforced with old mine cable, states Engineering News-Record, and are cured under water before use. New track is not supplied with concrete sleepers, but laid with ordinary wood sleepers, which are afterward replaced by concrete when the road bed is well settled. The poles are 40 feet and 50 feet high, and are cast horizontally. They are hollow for four-fifths of their length, square section, and taper, and some of the reinforcing rods are carried above and below the pole to act as lightning conductors. In both cases the concrete mix is 1:2:4, and the poles and sleepers have given complete satisfaction.—Scientific American.

Hen Drives Mother From Kittens.

Three kittens which were deserted by their mother were adopted by a hen, says a Nova Scotia reader. The hen discovered the kittens in a cow's manger and after watching them for some time sat on them. She was chased away and the mother cat was put with its young, but the old hen went back and chased the cat and claimed the kittens. How the kittens were fed is not known.

DOING FINE
"How's that pretty conductorette making out? Can she make 'em step lively?"
"Rather. They begin to step lively the minute they spy her."

Died While Chloroforming Cat.

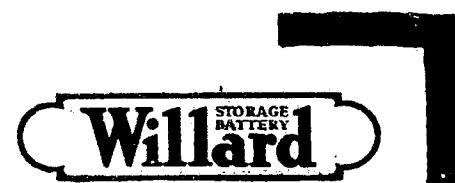

A Pennsylvania railroad engineer lost his life when he attempted to chloroform a pet cat at his home in Paoli, Pa., while his family was away. The cat scratched and struggled as he tried to hold the chloroformed rag to its nose. He fell unconscious and died from the fumes. The cat ran away.

Special Carriage for Quadruplets.

A furniture store in New Haven, Conn., announces that it is having a special quadruplet baby carriage made in Leominster that will shortly be presented to the quadruplets that have recently been born to Mr. and Mrs. Zalso of New Haven.

Prolific Ewe.

A man in Nova Scotia reports that a ewe owned by his neighbor gave birth to a lamb; two weeks later the same ewe gave birth to twins. The first lamb died shortly after birth, but the twins are still alive and progressing.

SCHUBERT CONCERT PARTY

Among the many good things which are scheduled on the program of our coming lecture course is the above company of brilliant entertainers. These young women sing remarkably well, they tell stories, give musical readings, do costume entertaining and vary a program already crowded with good things by the fine playing of that sweet-toned instrument, the Marimbanophone. There is plenty of fun, good music, light music, funny music and just real music in the Schubert program and when they are singing their good-night lullaby with the Marimbanophone accompaniment you are glad for the happiness of life and living they have left with you. The Schubert Concert Party is a trio of entertainers which has proven by a good long experience to be well adapted to Chautauqua work and to fill every demand.

Weekly Organ Recitals.

The Series of weekly organ recitals which are given in Hill Auditorium every Thursday afternoon at 4:15 o'clock are proving to be one of the most attractive features of Ann Arbor's musical life. These programs are given without charge to the general public, the only request being that patrons be seated promptly at the hour of beginning since the doors are closed during the performance of numbers and that they refrain, for obvious reasons, from bringing small children.

For the most part the programs are provided by Mr. Earl V. Moore, and his associate, Mr. Harry Russell Evans. However, from time to time as the season advances out of town guest artists will also appear.

The first guest artist to be heard will be Mr. Edward Rochlin, organist of the Immanuel Lutheran church, New York City, who has won wide recognition as America's foremost interpreter of the works of Bach. The University School of Music was able to secure the services of Mr. Rochlin for a recital on the afternoon of Thanksgiving Day by reason of the fact that he is to be in the city on that day to participate in the Thanksgiving services which are being provided by the Lutheran Student Association of the University. His organ program will be given at 4:15 o'clock. This distinguished musician has appeared in practically all of the great music centers where organs of note exist and has always won the favorable approbation of his audiences. He received his early training at the Lutheran Normal School at Addison, Illinois. His love for music was such that he gave up his ambitions to be a teacher and devoted himself entirely to music, particularly in the field of concert organist. Since 1905 he has filled the church position which he now holds in New York, his duties there being interrupted by extended study abroad under such masters as Guilminant, Widor and San Sulpice.

ALSO "PLAYING THE GAME"

Children Spotted While Their Grave and Reverend Elders Dwell on the Destiny of Nations.

Mark Sullivan writes in the World's Work:

As to at least one who observed President Harding read his message to congress from the press gallery, his most vivid recollection will be of the little son of a Republican member in the fifth row, who, across the backs of four seats, improvised an acquaintance; and then, having exchanged greetings of amity and commerce through mysterious signals imperceptible to older eyes, slipped away from the guardianship of their respective parents, and by the aid of a cautious and ingratiating diplomacy, maneuvered their way past a dozen elders preoccupied with exalted matters of state, to the ends of the rows of seats. There, in the protective obscurity provided by the cavern-like depths of the aisle, they produced a roundish gilded button not so small but what unsaturated imaginations could place it out into a marble whose defects of roundness were fortuitously and admirably corrected by the slight decline in the floor of the aisle. With this equipment they extemporized a detectable game, which they played for an hour under great handicaps and at continuous and imminent risk of awful catastrophe, in happy unconcern of the sonorous words about the destiny of nations that rolled above their little heads.

House of Historic Interest.

One of the features of the tercentenary celebration of the landing of the Pilgrims, to be held at Plymouth, will be the opening to the public of the William Harlowe house, built in 1677. This is one of the few buildings now remaining which stood within the lifetime of any of those who came on the Mayflower, and it has a particular interest owing to the fact that it was framed with oak timbers from the old fort, which, as Winslow relates, "was built in 1622 on the top of the hill under which the town was located."

After King Philip's war, when danger from Indian depredations had passed, the fort was dismantled and the timbers sold to Sergt. William Harlowe, a man of prominence in the colony, who used them in the construction of his house on the ancient highway where it still stands.

Attention!

An "Information" table has been set up in the east end of the corridor of the federal building, relates the Indianapolis News. M. P. Bonham, assistant custodian, has placed the table there with a watchman in attendance. In order that the patrons of the post office and other offices in the building may be directed with the least possible delay.

John C. Peters, watchman, was the first to take charge of the table. The first person who stopped at the table pointed to the sign "Information," and asked:

"Does that mean what it says?"

"Sure," said Peters.

"Well, then, will you please tell me where I can get a good grade of white mule?"

"Right here in this building," said Peters, "if you have the proper credentials."

REALLY CASE OF "LOCKJAW"

But Small Boy Was Not as Badly Off as His Fond Mother Had Begun to Fear.

Little Peter Peterson came home from school and never said a word. His mother watched him in astonishment. "What's the matter, Peter? Did you forget your lessons this morning?" she asked.

Peter didn't answer. Mrs. Peterson looked at him in dismay.

"Peter, darling," she exclaimed, "are you ill?"

Peter merely shook his head. "Good gracious! What is the matter? Speak to me!" screamed the anguished mother.

Peter tried to speak, but couldn't, and, with a shaking hand, pointed to his mouth.

The mother flew round to the doctor, and, by the scruff of the neck, brought him back to her hopeful.

The medical man examined the youngster, but with frantic struggles Peter broke away from his grasp.

"It's a most aggravating--I mean aggravated case of--" began the doctor.

But just at that moment, with one big gulp, the chunk of taffy which had held poor Peter's teeth together worked loose, and Peter gave a glad yell of joy as he recovered the use of his mouth.

Boy Prisoner in India.

A boy who was kidnapped, ten years ago in England, has been discovered living in a cave in northern India. He speaks very little English and does not know his real name. About three and a half years ago the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel in Nepal, India, found a lad, who had been closely confined in a cave with a priest for many years, during which he was not allowed to associate or speak with any human being. The native priest, who was very ill and about to die, requested a representative of the society to call on him so that he might confess to a grave offense. "The boy," he declared, "who is living with me is English. About ten years back I was in England and I saw him playing in a street with other children, and I took a great fancy to him. I induced him to come with me, and brought him over here." The priest then died.

Grape Juice Profitsteering.

Halley Fiske, the life insurance magnate of New York, said in a Rotary club address:

"Some young men erroneously think that up-to-date methods are always mean, sordid, crooked methods. They are like the junior partner."

"Everybody's profiteering now," said the senior partner in a grape juice firm. "Shall we raise our price, cut down the size of our bottle, or adulterate our grape juice?"

"Gee, you're a back number," the junior partner sneered. "We'll do all three, of course. 'Why can't you be up-to-date?'"

Dog Mothers Kittens.

An English collie dog is mothering four six-weeks-old kittens at the home of H. H. Crissman, Upper Lockport, Pa. The foster-parent is most solicitous for the welfare of the little fellows than the mother cat, which has practically deserted them. Members of the Crissman family say the dog carefully guards the kittens constantly, will permit no stranger to come near, and at times joins them in playful antics.

OBEYING ORDERS

"You know what I told you about coming into the parlor last night when George called?"

"Yes, you said don't let me see you in this parlor again when George is there, an' that's why I hid under the couch."

Greediness Almost Cost Life.

A resident of Sparkhill, Eng., owns a hen that is a mouse-killer. She was found one day with a mouse in her beak, and was attempting to swallow it whole. The mouse had to be forcibly removed to prevent a tragic issue, as the hen was in danger of choking.

May Have Had a Premonition.

The rector of St. Mary's, Wansstead, Eng., preached at the morning service in his church a few weeks ago a sermon on "The End of Life," and then administered the Holy Communion. Immediately after arriving home he collapsed and died.

Secret Held by Chinese.

A well-kept secret is guarded by the Chinese. India ink is made from burnt camphor. The Chinese who hold the secret of the process will not reveal it.

WHY

American Actresses Win Popularity in Europe

Those persons who believe nothing but a pretty face is necessary to make you a popular movie star should read what film producers in England and France are up against in their search for young women who can make good in motion pictures, May Stranathan writes in the Pittsburgh Dispatch.

They claim there are just as many pretty girls in England and France as there are in America--though doubtless this is an exaggeration--but they admit their pretty girls do not screen as well as those of America. They frankly acknowledge the reason is lack of brains. These producers say brains are necessary to success as a movie actress.

Rene Navarre, French actor and would-be film producer who aspires to make his film city at Nice the rival of the one at Los Angeles, after which it is modeled, says he has tried hundreds of beautiful French women and girls, but they have failed miserably before the camera because of lack of the quick intelligence necessary to catch the point of a pose. In despair, he says the only thing to do is to start an academy for the training of camera stars.

Miss Violet Hopkins, one of the few English girls who have made a success in motion pictures, attributes the success of the American girl to her ambition, thoroughness, her willingness to work hard and her study of types, not only of to-day, but in literature, including history and poetry.

So the American girl scores again.

CHEERFULNESS AS AN ASSET

Why Mirth Has Been Called "God's Medicine" by Those Capable of Appreciating It.

Mirth has been called God's medicine. There are few persons who cannot testify to the saving value of a smile. There is a story told of a man who received a wire while on a business trip that his business had been wiped out by fire. The depression which followed this news threatened for a time his mental balance, and he even gave serious thought to taking his own life.

While in this dangerous mood he received a letter from his daughter, a girl of nine, which read: "Dear Daddy--I've come down to see your store that was burned and it looked awfully pretty all covered with ice. Love and kisses from Helen."

The man laughed and the day was saved. That glint of humor was like a ray of sunshine in a dark cell. The spirit of the man was released from the prison of his gloom.

Lincoln on the day that he read to his cabinet the emancipation proclamation opened that important meeting by reading from Artemus Ward. When rebuked by one of his serious-minded cabinet officers for having called them into an important session to hear such nonsense, Lincoln replied: "Why don't you laugh, gentlemen? If I couldn't laugh I would die."

Emerson has said, "Nothing will supply the want of sunshine for penches, and to make knowledge valuable there must be cheerfulness."

Rochester Democrat and Chronicle.

Why Cattle Are "Mavericks."

Sam Maverick migrated from Massachusetts to Texas in the early days of the great West and entered upon the business of raising cattle. He purchased several herds and put them out to roam the range. Whether from ignorance or from implicit faith in the honesty of the neighbors, it never occurred to Mr. Maverick that it might be wise to put his brand upon his stock.

At round-up time, whenever a cowboy found an unbranded animal, he would cry: "There's a Maverick." And, generally being of the unregenerate type, he would use his own brand on his find. The name Maverick soon began to be generally applied and to acquire a distinct metaphorical meaning; and when men had opinions which were vague and undecided, they were declared by Westerners of the old days to hold "Maverick views."

Why Knock on Wood.

Because there was at one time a general belief that trees and humanity were allied in close bonds of union, and that certain trees had healing qualities. It was customary for a person afflicted with disease to take a wooden string of three colors, and with his right hand the his left loosely to the limb of a tree, then slip it out and listen homeward without casting a glance back, the belief being that the disease was transferred to the tree by touching it. Thus from a tree it has become common practice to touch any article of wood to ward off misfortune.

Why Peanuts Are Good Food.

More than 2,000,000 acres in this country were planted with peanuts last year. The demand for them is increasing by leaps and bounds. They are one of the most nutritious foods known to man, one pound of them (shelled) containing nearly half a pound of fat and a quarter of a pound of protein, both high-grade and readily digestible. For running the body machine they are three times as efficient as an equal weight of beef and five times as efficient as an equal weight of eggs.

Why Stars Twinkle.

Because their light passes through variously heated and moving currents of air which act as a refractor. Much twinkling foretells bad weather, because it denotes that these aerial currents are more disturbed than usual.

Postal authorities have issued a request that postcards and envelopes smaller than 2 3/4 by 4 inches be kept from the mails during the Christmas rush. Some people claim that they are unlucky and sum up their proverbial misfortunes in the expression, "If it were raining soup, I would have only a spoon." Probably, on a closer analysis of their so-called lack of "Luck," we would find that such persons lack sufficient foresight to put themselves in a position to profit from events, which in the ordinary course of things were bound to occur.

The common council is considering the advisability of having the main pavement covered with asphalt the coming year. As the Municipal Contracting & Supply Company have their plant located at Four Mile Lake, and are surfacing the territorial road with asphalt, they are in a position to do the work for considerable less money than any other contractors. If the work was let to another firm they would have to erect a plant and the expense of that work would be added to the gross price of the work.

The Catholic Fair, which was a decided success last year, will be repeated next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings at St. Mary hall. A sheep, hog and a load of wood will be given away at the door. Those who remember the good time they had at the last year's fair may expect even a better time this year.

CAPTAIN SUBDUES MUTINEERS

Hooch-Crazed Crew of Steamer Chester Kiwanis Finds His Flat Worse Than Hurricane.

Latest reports from the mutiny on the shipping board tramp steamer Chester Kiwanis while she was anchored off Staten Island early the other morning, indicate that it was not for assistance. Capt. Job Cunningham called the harbor squad of the police department. The captain and his chief engineer, although they were only two against thirty-four drunken and quarrelsome seamen, flinched the job of quelling the mutiny in such a workmanlike manner that they thought it a shame there were no witnesses to the results of their efficiency, the New York World states.

The mixup started when some of the white sailors, having smuggled aboard a quantity of bootleg hooch, renewed a quarrel with the eight negro members of the crew, who appealed to the captain for protection. There had been friction all the way over from Boulogne, from which port the Chester Kiwanis cleared and Capt. Cunningham was pretty well fed up with argument.

Therefore he went to the forecabin, where he found the crew had barricaded itself in. With one blow of his huge fist the captain shattered a panel of the door, driving his forearm clear through. At this point a sailor made a tactical error of biting the captain's wrist. After that the captain laid out every sailor within reach, and he managed to reach about all of them. Chief Engineer Michaelson joined the fray and although he got a couple of black eyes, he gave better than he received, and it was not long before all was quiet along the Staten Island shore.

That was the time that the captain and the chief decided it was too bad no one could see their handiwork. Therefore, when one of the crew below started to yell they summoned the police boat, explaining that they "feared a second outbreak."

Current opinion among the crew is that those two officers are not in fear of anything.

CARRIES STOOL TO WORSHIP

Summer resorters get accustomed to doing without the many little conveniences of home life. They philosophically accept conditions as being necessary to "camping out." So oil stoves take the place of gas ranges and they carry water for the household from the public hydrant down the bungalow-lined street, says the New York Sun.

On week-ends most of the bungalow colonies house added guests and the kitchen and porch serve as overflow bedrooms. Few of the churches in the summer towns are able to seat all the worshippers on Sunday. But that doesn't hinder the attendance. At a Jersey resort village the other Sunday one woman was carrying a camp stool to church. Her neighbors thought no more of it than had they seen her carrying a bundle of groceries from the corner store.

A Scientific Prediction.

The story is often told of the great naturalist, Cuvier, that, given a single bone he could reconstruct the animal to which it belonged. That a somewhat similar law of organization runs through the various species that form families in the animal kingdom is indicated by a curious case of scientific prediction, to which attention was called at a recent meeting of the Biological society in this country.

Uhrenberg, while studying the minute animals called diatoms, found that many species were distinguished by the number of rays they possessed. But in the series of specimens that he had he could find none having respectively 27, 29, 31, 37, 39, 41, 42, 44, 45, 46, 48 and 49 rays. Still he predicted that the missing species would some day turn up, and he was right, for ten of them were afterward discovered, although the remaining two have not yet been found.

Soda Mixer Recalls Dentist.

"I'll have a chocolate malted milk, please," said the stenographer to the soda clerk. "Please mix it with a spoon instead of the electric mixer."

"Mix it with a spoon!" exclaimed the clerk, somewhat surprised. "That will take me three times as long, and I'm busy!"

"But it must be mixed with a spoon!" the little thing at the counter exclaimed.

"Why?" asked the clerk.

"Well," she replied, "I can't stand the noise that that soda mixer makes. It sounds just like that thing that the dentist puts in my mouth when he wants to make a filling. It makes me creep all over when I hear it."—New York Sun.

Quarter to Spank Pirate.

At the junction of two roads in New Jersey Sunday motorists have halted in either indignation or amusement when a small girl, wearing a policeman's hat, halted them and demanded a fine of 10 cents for speeding.

"The men generally laugh and surrender," said the owner of a country store nearby. "And most of the time the women do, too. But the other day three girls came by. They'd been held up three times before at the same place. This time they reached out, pulled the youngster in the car and spanked her. Then they had to make it up with a quarter."

CLOCK CURED OF TOOTHACHE

Dentist Carefully Inserts Two New Teeth and Few Rods in Immense London Timepiece.

The clock that hangs eight feet over the junction of the Strand and Fleet street, London, from the east tower of the law courts, has just recovered from an attack of toothache, London Tit-Bits states.

The bells and the intricate mechanism occupy three stories at the top of the tower, and constant service year in and year out has caused the trouble.

When the dynamo which winds up the weights was put into gear recently there was a squeak from the winding apparatus, and a couple of teeth were wrenched from one of the essential cogs.

A clock dentist was immediately called in, and after careful treatment, involving two fresh teeth and the renewal of a number of steel rods, the clock once more strikes the hour with unerring punctuality and has entirely recovered from the weakness developed during recent years.

The rods which have now been renewed had not been touched since 1883, when the clock was first put up.

Few people in London, probably, know that in this clock at the courts they have a mechanism unique in the history of clock-making.

Invented by a carpenter on an entirely novel principle, it is the only one of its kind in existence, an attempt to make a duplicate for St. James' palace having proved a failure.

It is so accurate that it does not lose as much as one minute in three months.

The weight controlling the striking mechanism weighs 1½ tons, and hangs on a wire 85 feet long from the top of the tower into the foundations.

THEORY OF ORDINARY COLDS

Doctor Maxwell Expresses Opinion Trouble Is Due to Development of Bacterial Growth.

I have believed for some years that common colds are due primarily to the development of bacterial growths in the necessary nasal sinuses and that this development is caused by the obstruction of the drainage of these sinuses by the swelling of the nasal mucosa, writes Dr. G. M. Maxwell of Roanoke, Va. Swelling of the mucosa is due in turn to irritation from some foreign substance, such as dust, bacteria and pollen. The bacteria are those ordinarily found in the nasal cavity and cause trouble only when the free access of air into the field is prevented by the swollen mucosa. This opinion has been strengthened by the fact that continuous treatment or spraying with a mild nonirritant astringent will in the majority of cases arrest an acute cold. When a cold holds on for as much as a week I have nearly always found cloudiness in one or more of the sinuses, and get immediate relief by washing out these sinuses with a mild alkaline solution.

The Cold South.

From the observations made within recent years by Antarctic explorers there has been recalculated the average temperature of the southern Hemisphere as compared with the northern, and the results differ, in some respects, from those heretofore accepted. It is found that the mean temperature south of the equator, for the entire year, is about two and three-quarter degrees lower than north of the equator. But the annual variation of temperature in the northern hemisphere is twice as large as in the southern, our summer temperature being much higher and our winter temperature perceptibly lower than those of the corresponding seasons in the southern half of the globe.

Religion Defined.

The word religion is defined by the Standard dictionary as "a belief binding the spiritual nature of man to a supernatural being on whom he is conscious that he is dependent; also, the practice that springs out of the recognition of such religion, including the personal life and experience, the doctrine, the duties and the rites founded on it; any system of faith and worship, such as the Christian religion, the religions of the Orient, etc." The word catholic means "of or pertaining to the whole Christian church, in accordance with the decrees of the seven general councils; not heretical; not schismatic."

Too Bad.

An ardent angler took a friend fishing. He knew nothing about the gentle art, but was set up with all the necessary tackle and a nice, comfortable seat on the bank.

The experienced hand started fishing a few yards higher up the stream.

Presently the novice said: "How much do those red things cost?"

"I suppose you mean the float?" said the angler. "That only costs about twopenny."

"Well, I owe you twopenny," said the novice. "The one you lent me has sunk."—London Tit-Bits.

Sifting Out the Fleas.

It is known that plague is carried from one person to another by fleas and that these fleas normally live on rats, but Major F. W. Cragg of the Central Research Institute, Kasauli, India, asserts that only certain species of fleas are to blame, and he is now making a special study of all the varieties of fleas in India in an endeavor to find which is really the guilty one.
