TWO TICKETS NOMINATED FOR VILLAGE ELECTION

Two caucuses were held in the town hall Monday evening to place in nomination officers for the village offices for the coming year. A third caucus had been called, but it was not held.

The Independent Party was the first one called and with the exception of the last named trustee and assessor, the rules were suspended and the secretary cast the ballot for the nominees.

The caucus was called to order by C. Lehman, who on motion was made the permanent chairman. On motion the chairman appointed John Kaimbach secretary and A. G. Hindelang and F. E. Storms as tellers, and the oath of office was administered by P. G. Schaible. The ticket as nominated is as follows:

President—D. H. Wurster.
Clerk—Geo. W. Walworth.
Treasurer—D. L. Rogers.
Trustees—Edwin Koebbe, J. Nelson Dancer, G. W. Palmer.
Assessor—J. W. VanRiper.

Party Committee—P. G. Schaible, A. G. Hindelang, J. S. Cummings. The People's Party was called to order by J. Bacon, who on motion was made the permanent presiding officer. On motion the chairman appointed C. H. Penn secretary, Dr. H. W. Schmidt and H. H. Penn tellers, and the oath of office was administered by H. D. Witherell.

There was not a single contest for any of the offices and on the proper motion the rules were suspended and the secretary cast the ballot for the various nominees. The ticket as nominated is as follows:

President—D. H. Wurster.
Clerk—Geo. W. Walworth.
Treasurer—D. L. Rogers.
Trustees—John W. Heselschwerdt, John W. Schenk, Jacob Hummel.

Assessor—J. W. VanRiper. The Party Committee for the coming year was appointed by the chairman and is composed of J. Hummel, H. D. Witherell, Geo. P. Staffan.

Jacob F. Hinderer.

Jacob F. Hinderer was born in Freedom, September 16, 1856, and died at his home on South Main street, Chelsea, Wednesday evening, February 22, 1922.

He was united in marriage with Miss Caroline Landwehr, of Freedom, on March 31, 1881. The couple, soon after marriage, settled on a farm at Lima Center, where they resided until eight years ago, when they became residents of Chelsea.

He is survived by his wife, seven children, Otto and Wilbur Hinderer, Mrs. Martha Weinmann and Mrs. Samuel Bohnet, of Chelsea, Mrs. Clara Grau of Freedom, Mrs. H. Laros of Flint, Mrs. Anna Schairer of Scio, ten grandchildren, one brother, and three sisters.

Arrangements had not been completed for the funeral this morning, but it will probably be held Saturday. Burial at Oak Grove cemetery.

Expensive Suit for County.

It cost Washtenaw county and litigants about $250 to settle up an $18 lawsuit which ended in circuit court Friday morning when the jury awarded George Katrafaras of Ypsilanti a judgment of $18 against Gidopolous, his partner in business. Katrafaras was suing for $30, alleging that Gidopolous owed him that amount for room rent.

A peculiar thing about the case was that George and Nick are the best of friends. In fact they are partners in a shoe shining business in Ypsilanti and work together and live together. They simply couldn't agree over a settlement of room rent and therefore brought the matter into court.

During the recesses the two partners would talk together and seemed perfectly satisfied with the verdict of the jury which was empaneled Thursday and which served until shortly before noon Friday.

Regulars and Reserves Win.

The fast Comet Quint of Detroit, was defeated by the St. Mary Reserves in a game of basket ball at St. Mary hall Sunday, by a score of 29 to 13. The fleet footed Madden of the Reserves was the individual star, caging the ball nine times.

The Regulars defeated the fast Hustons five of Ann Arbor, 22 to 17. This game proved to be more exciting than the preliminary, as both teams put a scrappy game from start to finish. The lead kept changing from one side to the other, the Hustons leading at half time period, 14 to 13. In the third period Chelsea was in the lead, 16 to 15, but in the fourth period Brooks caged the ball three times, sewing up the game.

The Regulars were defeated at Jackson last Thursday evening by the McGraw's Invincibles, 20 to 13.

CHELSEA HIGH SCHOOL

TEAMS HELD THEIR OWN

Two of the most thrilling basket ball games of the season were played in the town hall last evening by four strictly local teams, in the presence of a large audience.

The first game was between the C. H. S. Girls' team and the School Faculty team. It was a rough struggle from the start and amid the yells of the audience both teams took fresh courage throughout the game. The Faculty girls did good work but showed signs of fatigue after some playing. One of the High School team's stars was absent, thus weakening their team somewhat. The Faculty team took a big lead in the first half but were set back in the second half, the score at the end of the game being 29 to 29.

The second game was between the Carnes Professionals and the C. H. S. Boys' team. The Carnes Professionals are a team of older players, more experienced, and took a big lead all through the game until the last quarter, when C. H. S. went into the fight in dead earnest and brought the score even with the Carnes Professionals, 26 to 26.

Lafayette Grange.

Lafayette Grange will meet in Macabee hall, Thursday, March 2. Business meeting at 10:30 a. m., open meeting beginning at 1 o'clock, at which time Mr. Geo. McCalla will speak on the County Road System and the Farm Bureau. Everyone interested is invited to attend. Program as follows:

Opening song.
Roll call—Which games are best for winter evenings at home?

Reading—Mrs. George Gage.
Topic for discussion—How can the farmer secure and keep good people when other branches of labor pay more than the farmer can afford to pay?

Reading—Mrs. Mason Whipple.
Music.

Circuit Court Jurors.

Jurors for the March term of the Washtenaw county circuit court were drawn Saturday. The jurors will report to the circuit court at 10 o'clock on Tuesday, March 7. The list is as follows:

Henry M. Beach, first ward; Thomas Rogers, second ward; Hiram A. Sweet, third ward; William Seavey, fourth ward; John Kranie, fifth ward; Dr. E. B. Gibson, sixth ward; C. W. Gill and Archie D. Miles, seventh ward, Ann Arbor City; Albert Keedle, Ann Arbor township.

The other jurors include: W. W. Dell, Augusta township; Whitney Feldkamp, Freedom township; Adolph Gross, Lima township; William F. Weber, Lodi township; Theodore Mohrlock, Lyndon township; George Ingraham, Manchester township; H. P. Dodge, Northfield township; A. W. Sumner, Pittsfield township; Ira Soker, Salem township; Albert Graff, Saline township; Clyde Gieske, Sharon township; Arthur Schairer, Scio township; Earl Pettibone, Superior township; Herman Fahrner, Sylvan township; Frank Nixon, Webster township; Reuben Rogers, York township; Norman Ballard, Ypsilanti township; Hugh Van de Walker, Ypsilanti, first district; Matthew Max, Ypsilanti, second district.

Grange Favors Eradication.

The Cavanaugh Lake Grange at a meeting went on record as favoring the testing of all cattle of tuberculosis. This is the first petition from an organized group in the county asking for a tuberculosis eradication campaign. Letters are being received by the County Farm Bureau relative to this work. Many individual farmers are interested in testing their herds and some of the prominent breeders are interested in a county wide campaign in order that the quality of Washtenaw cattle will equal that of adjoining counties. Many of the counties in southern and south-eastern Michigan have put on or are conducting tuberculosis campaigns. In some counties there were objections to the movement at first, but as it became understood by the cattle raisers practically all cattle in the county were tested. After such a campaign has been carried on the breeders are apt to be particular regarding where they purchase their breeding stock and are not likely to purchase of anyone who cannot guarantee their animals to be free from tuberculosis.

Washtenaw farmers should begin to think about the outlet for their surplus cattle and appreciate the situation they will find themselves in if they cannot guarantee their animals to be free from tuberculosis. No doubt most of the Grangers and Farmers' Clubs, and other community organizations will give this subject careful consideration on some of their programs during the coming season. The Cavanaugh Lake Grange is to be congratulated on its stand in regard to the matter. No doubt other organizations and individual breeders will be heard from on an important subject.

BREVITIES

Stockbridge—The last issue of the Stockbridge Brief-Sun announced that the subscription price of that paper had been reduced from $2.00 to $1.50 per year.

Grass Lake—The annual report of the Lakeside Elgin Butter Co. of this place is as follows: milk received, 4,501,166 pounds; cream received, 27,845 pounds; butterfat received, 201,475.95 pounds; butter made, 229,393 pounds; paid to patrons, $90,342.99; average price, 49c.

Manchester—It is hoped that all our citizens will be interested in not only extending a hearty welcome to all the boys and girls and grown-ups who once lived in Manchester to be here on Homecoming Day, August 16, 1922, but will join with committees in providing suitable entertainment.

Milan—The people of Milan will again turn their clocks ahead this spring and fall into line with most of the cities and towns in this part of the state. March 5th has been set as the date when the village will resume the Eastern Standard time, which will be one hour faster than railroad time.

Jackson—Harry Draper, aged 14, is in jail here charged with stealing an automobile, which he found Saturday night on the streets in the town of Grass Lake. As the car, which was owned by Samuel Washburn, bore last year's license plate, the police state Washburn will be brought in to explain the absence of this year's license plate.

Brighton—Michael Barron, proprietor of the Western Hotel, was arrested Saturday and arraigned in Howell for having a thermos bottle of liquor and a glass which is said to have given evidence of being used for liquor in his possession. An examination was asked for, and was fixed for February 24. Bail of $500 was furnished.

Ypsilanti—Maurice Kaminsky, accused of burglarizing the store of Charles Horn, February 9, waived examination Thursday afternoon before Justice M. B. Stadtmiller, who bound Kaminsky over to the March term of circuit court. His bail was fixed at $5,000, which he was not able to give and he was committed to the county jail to await trial.

Manchester—Our townsman and merchant J. Fred Schaible is now owner of the Manchester hotel property. A sheriff's deed was given him Wednesday and he has full title and is in shape to either sell or lease the house, and we trust he will soon find a competent hotel man who will be able to take the house and run it in a way that will be a benefit to the village and a profit to himself.

Milan—As a result of a visit by Sheriff Pack of Washtenaw county last Thursday, the candy cards and punch board and other petty gambling devices have disappeared from the scenery in several of the stores in Milan. These have been a source of temptation for the younger generation of Milan for some time and have been now removed from the permanent decorations in the local business places and have been relegated to the ash pit.

Ann Arbor—Clarence Heisinger, Belleville youth, was found guilty of a serious crime by the jury sitting in his case in circuit court Wednesday afternoon. The charge was made by Miss Tillie Reynolds of Ypsilanti. Only one ballot was taken by the jurors. Frank Jones and John Kirk, attorneys for the defense, moved a stay of judgment for 60 days, which was granted. Judge Sample insisted that a bond of $2,500 be put up before Heisinger should be released from custody.

Pineckney—Last Friday Sheriff Teeple visited the farm formerly owned by Supervisor M. J. Reason, between Pineckney and Anderson, and on his return through town accompanied Joe Pweski, John Bezek and Joe Pusta to the county bastille. He also captured paraphernalia and material said to have been used for the manufacture of "white mule." The men were examined and placed under $500 bail bonds. They have lived on the place for some time and had gained a good reputation for industry, and made many friends.

RENEWED TESTIMONY

No one in Chelsea who suffers backache, headaches, or distressing urinary ills can afford to ignore this Chelsea man's twice-told story. It is confirmed testimony that no Chelsea resident can doubt.

John Kelly, W. Middle street, says: "My work started my kidney trouble. The secretions which were highly colored and contained sediment passed irregularly and were painful in passage. I suffered from rheumatic pains in my back and got sore and stiff. Mornings I felt tired and it took an hour or so to get limbered up. I was often nervous and dizzy, especially when I stooped. I used different remedies but received no relief until I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised and tried some. Doan's completely relieved me of all the trouble with my kidneys and back." (Statement given March 1, 1913.)

On April 27, 1920 Mr. Kelly said: "Doan's Kidney Pills are all right and I gladly confirm the statement I gave some years ago." 60c, at all dealers. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

Grand Rapids—The city commission will be asked by City Manager Fred H. Locke to limit the number of pool rooms in this city to 50.

Ann Arbor—Questioned regarding smoking by women, Governor Groesbeck stated that his advice to both men and women would be not to smoke at all. The governor is a non-smoker.

Kalamazoo—Two sleepers of Michigan Central passenger train No. 18, leaving Detroit at 12:30 a. m. and due here at 4:02, went into a ditch two miles east of this city at 4 a. m. Feb. 13. None of the 12 passengers was injured.

Grand Rapids—Postoffice Inspector Ray Lorge took into custody, near Belding, Charles Stanton, 20, of Ravenna, and Vernon Winer, a youth residing at Decker, on charges of breaking into a mail receptacle on a railroad train.

Grand Rapids—Furniture shipments during the last four weeks have been 50 per cent greater than for the same period in 1921, according to C. P. Thomson, manager of the carloading department of the Furniture Manufacturers' association.

Lansing—The state administrative board placed a ban on the practice of permitting institutions to spend money in lump sums. Detailed account of the uses to which money is to be put must be submitted before expenditures will be allowed.

Flint—Fire caused by the explosion of a gas engine destroyed several buildings in London, near here. The loss was $17,000. The fire department saved the town from total destruction. Volunteer firemen were slightly injured by falling timbers.

Monmouth—Andrew Gram, 51 years old, wealthy and pioneer lumberman, died at his home here following a three days illness with pneumonia. Mr. Gram had lived here 60 years and was identified with the building of the lumber industry in Northern Michigan.

Big Rapids—Representative A. W. Miles is organizing "moleity clause" clubs throughout the county for the purpose of co-operating with other clubs in opposition to plans formulated by Detroit leaders to change the type of representation in the legislature.

MacKinnon City—The ferry Wawatam was trapped Feb. 12, a third time this winter, in heavy ice two miles from this shore. Crews are preparing to blast a channel to release her. The ferry was on her way to St. Ignace with passengers and freight.

Alma—A resolution requesting the appointment of Circuit Judge Edward J. Moineau, of St. Johns, to the new federal judgeship in Michigan, was adopted unanimously at a meeting of the Gratiot and Clinton County Bar associations at Ithaca. Judge Moineau presides over the Gratiot-Clinton circuit.

Flint—Herman Corrington, local real estate dealer, who was arrested recently on a charge of embezzlement on complaint of Mary E. Horn, of Highland, was discharged by Justice Elwyn Tanner because of insufficient evidence. Corrington has brought suit to collect $10,000 damages from Mrs. Horn for alleged malicious prosecution.

Owosso—The owner of a dog on which the license has not been paid, cannot recover damages from anyone who injures the dog, according to a ruling by Judge Collins in directing a verdict of no cause for action in the case of Arthur Brown, of Owosso, against George Aiken, Caledonia farmer. Brown was suing for $100, claiming that Aiken shot a leg off his dog.

East Lansing—That the agricultural outlook for Michigan is one that should not discourage farmers, despite current talk of depression, was the statement made by Professor J. F. Cox of the farm crops department of the Michigan Agricultural college. Recent farm product prices, he said, although low, compare favorably with the average prices in the last 10 years.

Grand Rapids—Because, he says, a "blank" piece of paper, on which he was induced to sign his name, that the signature might be compared with the signatures on other documents, proved to be assignment of a claim for $100 against the George E. Ellis bank, Edward Kuyten, a carpenter, has caused the arrest of Henry Stegower. Kuyten says the paper was folded in such a manner as to hide the text of the assignment.

Lansing—Value of Michigan State Telephone Co. properties in the 187 Michigan exchanges, including Detroit, is approximately $10,000,000. This was the testimony of President Parker, state accountant, before the Michigan public utilities commission. The commission, with W. W. Potter presiding, is conducting hearings with a view to fixing permanent rates for all state telephone users. Mr. Potter testified the property outside Detroit is valued at $10,533,334, while the Detroit holdings were valued at $10,000,000.

Frankfort—Oliver Doane, 34, was shot accidentally by his father, Lewis Doane, while the two men were hunting rabbits near Platte lake.

Grand Rapids—Ellis bank depositors have received 50 per cent of their claims. It is shown by the report of Joseph Ranihan, administrator of the estate of George E. Ellis.

Cheboygan—Frank Allen, aged man living near Tower, was found frozen to death in his home. He lived alone. His body was found by friends who called at his home.

Kalamazoo—Melvin O'Donnell, 52 years old, manager of a Kalamazoo grocery, committed suicide by shooting himself through the right temple, as he lay on his bed in his room at the Park-American hotel.

Grand Rapids—The special committee of the Western Michigan Development bureau continued Hugh H. Gray as assistant secretary and authorized him to engage an assistant and handle the bureau work for the year.

Lansing—Unanimous approval of the $14,000,000 highway construction program for 1922 outlined by Frank F. Rogers, highway commissioner, was voiced by the state association of supervisors at their meeting here Feb. 15.

Grand Rapids—The Grand Rapids Century club has adopted resolutions opposing any form of federal soldier bonus, but has declared itself in favor of all possible relief to ex-service men in need of medical and financial assistance.

Muskegon—Alfred Sanders, 95, of Whitehall, who died in the Muskegon county home was one of the few remaining ex-slaves. He was transferred as a chattel several times, escaping from the south by the "underground" route.

Ironwood—An endeavor to have one of the proposed state fish hatcheries located in Iron, Dickinson or Gogebic counties will be made as a result of a meeting of representatives of those three counties here. A representative of each county has been appointed on a committee to lay the matter before state authorities.

Houghton—Only 20 per cent of the former service men of Calumet, the metropolis of the copper country, favor a cash bonus from the federal government. The remaining 80 per cent would accept some one of the other four options proposed. This was decided by a vote taken by the American Legion post.

Fenton—Dreaming the "house was afire, Leslie Lockwood, son of Mr. and Mrs. Burt Lockwood, jumped from his bed through the upstairs window, 12 feet, carrying the window frame with him. The shock of striking the ground dispelled his dream. He was uninjured except for slight bruises to the bottom of his feet.

Iron Mountain—Announcement that the Aragon mine at Norway and the Chapin mine at Iron Mountain would be re-opened as soon as possible was made here by the Oliver Mining Co., which operates the mines. Approximately 900 miners who have been idle since the mines were closed more than eight months ago will be employed.

Iron Mountain—Doctors stand the best chance of getting into heaven, in the opinion of Dr. George W. Moll, former county physician. In a talk before Delta county supervisors at Escanaba, he declared that "when the roll of those seated next to the Almighty at the throne of heaven is called, nine out of 10 of those responding will be doctors."

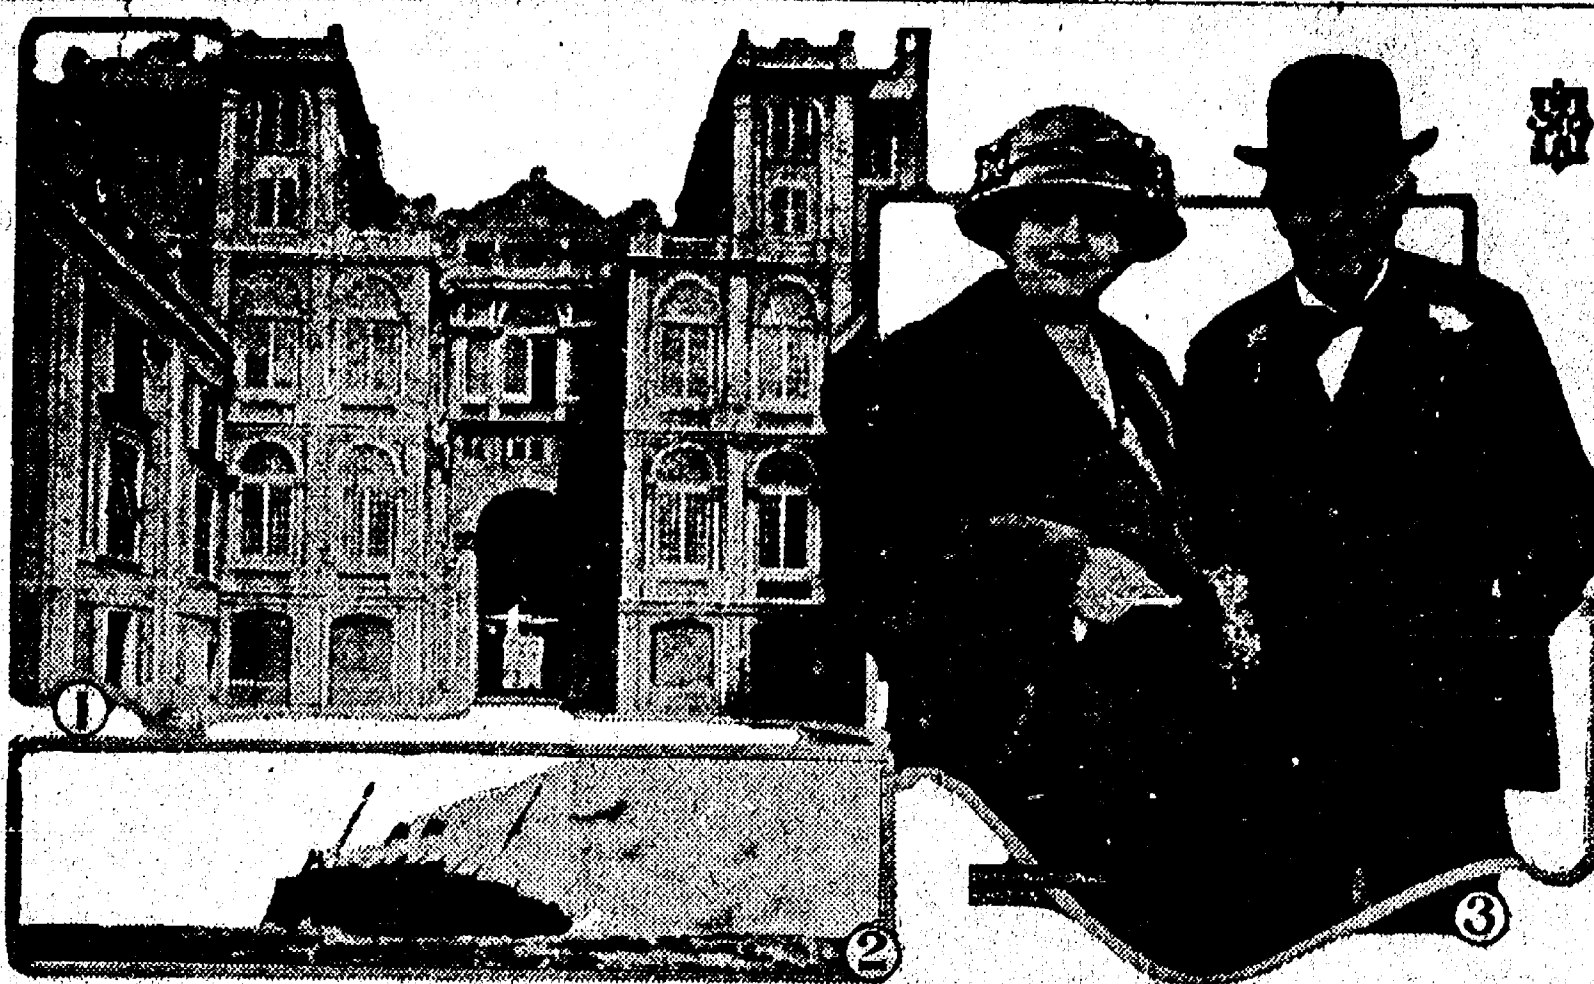

Ionia—After one year of public health work, Ionia county chapter Red Cross is convinced that it pays and will continue it, although many communities have discontinued home service chapters. Two nurses are kept busy here, 2,925 nursing calls having been made during the year. Most of the work of the chapter is among rural school children.

Pontiac—Robert Garner, former highway commissioner of Oakland county, must serve his term of two and a half years in state prison on charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor girl, following refusal of the state supreme court to grant a hearing of his case. Twice convicted in circuit court here on the charge, Garner again appealed.

Cheboygan—John and Joseph LaPrairie, and Charles Wilson, crossing on the ice from Bois Blanc island to this city, in a blizzard, for a time lost their way and came near freezing to death. Only by the aid of their compass were they able to make shore here after several hours of perilous wandering on the windswept frozen humps which impeded their walking.

Ann Arbor—Professor C. P. Wagner of the romance languages department of the University of Michigan received notification from Madrid, Spain, that he had been made a "commander of the Royal Order of Isabelle, the Catholic." Later he will receive his title, with the signature of the king of Spain. Professor Wagner has been thus honored because of his work here in Spanish literature.

Detroit—All possibilities of the recent sale of the assets of the Lincoln Motor Co. to Henry Ford being held up by the action of the Delaware federal court has been removed. Ralph Stone, president of the Detroit Trust Co., receivers of the automobile company, announced that differences of opinion had been ironed out. The appraised value of the patents, trademarks, accounts and other assets held by the Delaware receiver is placed at not more than $50,000. These assets will be sold Feb. 23 and it is believed Mr. Ford will be the only bidder.

Republicans Struggling With Problem of Financing the Soldiers' Bonus.

DENBY TRIES TO SAVE NAVY

Asks Personnel of 90,000 and Appropriation of $350,000,000—General Strike of Coal Miners Impends—Collins and Craig Coming to Agreement.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

NEARLY everyone is in favor of giving the ex-service man a bonus, but no one is willing to help pay for it. Every plan so far proposed for raising the necessary revenue—estimated at $350,000,000 annually for the next three years—has aroused determined opposition. Members of the house ways and means committee thought eight special taxes would turn the trick, but every element of the population that would be directly affected by them raised an immediate wail.

Republican leaders appealed to President Harding to suggest something feasible, and he undertook to do so on Thursday. But what should his plan be but the same old general sales tax proposition which it has been admitted by nearly everyone cannot possibly get through congress? Because this was his only plan, and because he also criticized the plan of providing for the payments of cash bonuses in installments over a period of two and a half years, it was assumed by many in Washington that the President really wished the bonus legislation again postponed, though he hesitated to say so flatly. The situation was plainly uncomfortable for the Republicans, and the Democrats were joyously taking every advantage of the discomfiture of their adversaries. The leaders of the agricultural bloc in both the house and the senate reiterated their unqualified opposition to any kind of a general sales tax.

Some of the Republican leaders strongly favored the passage of a house bill without any plan of financing. They thought the necessary money might be made available by further reduction of appropriations for certain departments, especially the army and navy. Mr. Mondell prepared a statement to show how nearly $300,000,000 could be saved this way. But even that would not be sufficient, and many congressmen urged again the issuance of bonds. Of course the deficit, after the problematical saving of $300,000,000 in appropriations, could be made up by issuing short term certificates of indebtedness, which it was asserted the market would readily absorb. Both the President and Secretary Mellon declare that a big bond issue would seriously embarrass the extensive refunding operations that must be undertaken during the coming year, causing an increase in interest rates and disturbing the Liberty bond market. Some other government officials do not agree with them.

Senator BORAH is consistently opposing the bonus because, he says, it will interfere with the care of the soldiers now undertaken by the government through the veterans' bureau. He predicts that within ten years the annual expenditure for disabled soldiers will have reached $1,500,000,000, of which no one will complain "so long as the appropriations are based on the necessities and requirements of the disabled soldiers."

Director Forbes of the veterans' bureau calls attention to the fact that the total government expenditure required for disabled soldiers for 1922 is $510,000,000, and thus sets forth the ways in which the bureau is using the money. Paying out $1,000,000 cash every day, including Sunday, directly into the hands of the ex-service man or his dependents in compensation allotments. Providing, without cost, hospital care and treatment to 80,000 veterans.

This care includes board and lodging and represents an expenditure by the government of $60,000,000 a year.

Giving vocational training, without cost to over 100,000 disabled ex-service men at an annual expenditure for tuition and supervision of $30,000,000.

Mailing out 650,000 checks every month, representing $42,000,000.

Conducting an insurance business for over 600,000 ex-service men, without cost of administration to them, at premium rates below that of private companies for like policies. Insurance in force $3,500,000,000.

Conducting over 50,000 medical examinations every month.

Giving outside treatment in cases where hospitalization is not required to 20,000 ex-service men every month. Receiving 1,000 new claims a day in addition to the 1,200,000 already on file; employing 4,000 ex-service men and woman in carrying out the work.

SECRETARY DENBY began last week a strenuous fight to save the United States navy from congressional action which, he believes, would destroy its efficiency and at the same time destroy the international naval relativity provided for in the pending treaty for naval limitation. He is ably seconded by Assistant Secretary Theodore Roosevelt and Admiral Robert A. Coontz, chief of naval operations. All three of them appeared before the house naval affairs committee and argued for a minimum personnel of 90,000 men and 6,000 apprentices, and for an appropriation of $350,000,000 for the fiscal year 1923.

At the outset Chairman Thomas Butler, voicing also the opinion of other members of the committee, declared the amount asked by Mr. Denby was altogether too large, that the people would never support a vote by congress for three times what the navy cost in 1916 exclusive of construction.

Admiral Coontz in his argument declared: "The secretary of the navy has called your attention to the expenditures of the naval establishment for this year as amounting to $478,000,000. If we add to this various other transactions and moneys returned to the treasury, we will have practically a half billion dollar business. Its ramifications extend all over the world."

"The navy maintains communications in the interior of Europe as far east as Constantinople and Warsaw for the benefit of our country, its commercial interests and the American relief work. Our radio communications handle Pacific matters, and, at the present time, due to the breaking of the mid-way cable, are handling practically the entire trans-Pacific traffic. The naval appropriation also provides the funds for the administration of our island possessions, among which are the Virgin Islands, Haiti, San Domingo, Guam, and Samoa."

ONE of the outcomes of the unemployment conference was up for discussion in the senate Wednesday and received some hard knocks. It was the bill introduced by Senator Kenyon by which the President would be authorized to postpone federal construction and improvements in prosperous times when jobs are plentiful and then order the work carried on at full speed when business stagnation appears.

Senator New of Indiana based his opposition to the measure on the rather ridiculous reason that the Pharaohs were unable to discover a formula to solve the problem of recurring periods of plenty and famine in Egypt. He did not think congress could succeed where the Pharaohs had failed.

WHILE the senate foreign relations committee was discussing the four-power Pacific treaty, the same pact obtained place on the floor of the upper house. Senator Littlebeck offered a resolution asking President Harding to transmit to the senate additional information and documents relating to its negotiation, asserting that little of this was contained in the report of the American delegates. Administration leaders said this was because practically all the negotiations were oral and few minutes or notes of the conversations were kept. The resolution, however, was adopted.

SECRETARY OF COMMERCE HOOVER wants to publish the trade statistics gathered by trade associations, so he asked Attorney General Daugherty as to the legal limits within which such associations could operate. Mr. Daugherty in reply holds that their activities do not contravene the provisions of the anti-trust act unless in actual practice they suppress competition, curtail production or enhance prices. They may standardize grades, quality and processes; furnish information as to financial responsibility; handle insurance and engage in co-operative advertising; gather statistics of production, distribution and wages for the information of the secretary of commerce; and they may provide a standard system of cost accounting, but should be warned to guard against uniform cost as to any item of expense.

IT APPEARS likely there will be a general strike of coal miners on April 1 unless it is prevented by government intervention. The United Mine Workers of America are in convention in Indianapolis and have received the report of the scale committee positively declaring against the wage reductions which have been demanded by the operators. Indeed, some increases are asked by the men, though they do not demand the six-hour day and five-day week. The report says:

"In event no agreement is reached by April 1, we declare in favor of a general suspension of mining operations, such action being subject to a referendum vote of the membership of the United Mine Workers of America, such referendum to be held prior to March 31."

RELIGIOUS factions in Belfast fought bitterly throughout the week and about two score persons were killed and many wounded. The British troops there took a hand in the melee, making bayonet charges on both sides impartially, but were unable to stop the sniping and bomb throwing.

Michael Collins, head of the Irish Free State, went to London and after a conference with Sir James Craig announced that they had agreed upon the appointment of liaison commissions from the Free State and Ulster that will patrol the frontier and prevent bloodshed. He also said he had secured the release of the kidnapped Ulsterites. The evacuation of the Free State by British troops had been halted, but on Mr. Collins' representations it was resumed.

FROM Paris comes the prediction that the conference on the economic rehabilitation of Europe will be postponed until May, and shifted probably from Genoa to Rome, Milan or Verona. The reasons advanced are the delay in forming a new Italian government, the insistence of France on a preliminary meeting to decide on the agenda, and the alleged fact that the United States will not determine the extent of its participation until the senate has acted on the Washington conference treaties.

The German delegation to the conference, which will be headed by Dr. Walther Rathenau, foreign minister, will be armed with elaborate arguments to prove that the reparations clauses in the treaty of Versailles must be abandoned or radically altered if the financial salvation of Europe is to be accomplished. Rathenau's idea is that the interests of all will be best served if there is almost a complete cessation of payments during 1922 and if Germany is permitted to pay in goods and work instead of cash.

HUGO STINNES, industrial magnate, learned on Wednesday that he is not so much the master of Germany as he thought. After a debate in the reichstag in which he and his Peoples' party were bitterly assailed the government was given a vote of confidence. This was a victory not only for Chancellor Wirth but also for Doctor Rathenau and the industrial group that is opposed to Stinnes.

PROPOSAL NOT FAVORED BY COMMON PEOPLE.

CAPTURED ERIN SOLDIERS FREE

Collins Requests Release of Prisoners; British Set March 17 for Creation of New State.

Belfast—The members of the football team of the Irish republican army, recently captured at Dromore, have been ordered released by the vicerey. The announcement adds that Michael Collins, head of the provisional government, has given assurance of the release of additional kidnapped loyalists.

Cork—A striking feature of the meeting held in Cork Sunday under the auspices of Eamon de Valera was the presence of large numbers of the Irish republican army for the city of Cork and from various parts of the country, who were assembled by companies under their officers.

Donald O'Callaghan, lord mayor of Cork, presided at the principal platform from which the speeches were delivered. Mr. de Valera proposed the same resolutions as were adopted at his meeting in Dublin last Sunday, and repeated virtually the same arguments as were then put forward, declaring that Ireland was in greater danger than it had been at any time in 750 years. The Countess Markievicz and Charles Burgess and other followers of De Valera supported the resolutions.

Arriving in Cork, Mr. De Valera was greeted by Lord Mayor O'Callaghan and other prominent republicans. De Valera apologized for not speaking in Gaelic, declaring that he desired every Irish citizen fully to understand the seriousness of the situation and to fully appreciate what they were doing. He declared that they were being asked to say that when four years ago they pronounced for a republic they were fools and did not realize what they were doing. If an election were forced upon them, he added, he was sure that the citizens of Cork would do their part in proving to the world that they still stood for an Irish republic.

London—Formal creation of the Irish Free State, as provided by the free state act, which passed the house of commons on second reading, will be accomplished on March 17 (St. Patrick's Day), according to plans of parliamentary leaders.

It is the plan of government supporters in commons to pass the bill on its third and final reading on that Irish holiday.

JUDGE LANDIS GIVES UP BENCH

Noted Jurist to Devote Entire Time to Baseball.

Chicago—Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis will end his 17 years of service on the Federal bench March 1, to devote his entire time to his duties as national commissioner of base ball, he announced Feb. 18, when he forwarded his resignation to President Harding.

For 15 months he has held both positions, drawing $42,500 a year from organized base ball and the $7,500 salary of a United States judge. Before he became base ball's dictator he was offered $50,000 a year, but insisted that as long as he remained on the bench the amount of his salary as judge he deducted from that figure. The contract was for seven years.

LIQUOR WORTH $50,000 ROBBED

Six Robbers Tie Watchman and Skip With 20 Barrels Booze.

Detroit—Twenty barrels of bootleg whiskey, at bottle rates worth $50,000, were stolen late Sunday from a government warehouse on Beaubien street and the railroad. Six armed robbers, one of them in uniform of a policeman, who were armed and bound Samuel, a night watchman. Thousands of dollars of liquor were left behind.

LENGTHY BATTLE FOR TR

Fight for Reservations Expected in Senate Committee.

Washington—Despite pressure from both Republican and Democratic leaders for prompt action, the senate is developing a long and arduous battle for a long communique of the Arms Conference, before any reaches the Senate ratification.

"Uncle Joe" Cannon—Washington—Having than any man ever elected to the american congress, Representative G. Cannon, of Indiana, is expected to lead the opposition to the Arms Conference.

MARKET REPORT

PUBLISHED BY U. S. BUREAU OF MARKET REPORTS, WASHINGTON, D. C.

May
The hay market is generally weak because of a light demand and widespread reports of poor quality hay. Only best grades are bringing fair quotations. Prices have fluctuated over a narrow range during the week and are barely steady in most markets.

Quoted Feb. 15: No. 1 Timothy—New York $22.00, Philadelphia $24.00, Pittsburgh $22.00, Cincinnati $23.50, Chicago $23.50, No. 1 Alfalfa—Kansas City $18.75, Minneapolis $25.00, Atlanta $20.00, Chicago $22.50, No. 1 Prairie—Kansas City $18.25, Chicago $18.00.

Feed
Market generally firm. Wheat feeds higher but jobbers are not inclined to buy at the advanced prices. Corn is in better request, price advanced 10c; production good. Hogging feed firm on moderate offerings. White hominy quoted on same basis as yellow hominy in many markets. Alfalfa meal and beet pulp unchanged, sales light. Stocks of meat feeds good with offerings ample to supply requirements.

Quoted Feb. 15—Bran $25.00, middlings $24.00, flour middlings $37.00, Minneapolis: gluten feed $22.15, Chicago $22.00, white hominy feed $21.50, Chicago $21.50, No. 1 Louisiana $21.00, No. 1 Kansas City $21.00.

Fruits and Vegetables
Chicago potato market steady; other markets slow and dull. Glaxo 100 lb. round white held at $1.60@1.65 per 100 lbs. in Chicago and ruled steady at $1.60 in other markets. White hominy in many markets. Alfalfa meal and beet pulp unchanged, sales light. Stocks of meat feeds good with offerings ample to supply requirements.

Quoted Feb. 15—Bran $25.00, middlings $24.00, flour middlings $37.00, Minneapolis: gluten feed $22.15, Chicago $22.00, white hominy feed $21.50, Chicago $21.50, No. 1 Louisiana $21.00, No. 1 Kansas City $21.00.

Cattle Thrive on Silage

SILAGE is the ideal feed for livestock—most nutritious and cheapest. Silage-fed steers make heaviest gains—silage-fed cattle attain the highest finish during the feeding period. There is every reason for a farmer to own a silo.

A few reasons why the Ladder Hinge-Door wood stave silo is a perfect silo are:
it is air-tight, doors will not bind, stick or sag; it is built of high grade, seasoned lumber; the Ladder Hinge-Door is always dependable and always workable.

You can climb the Ladder
Hinge-Door with perfect ease and safety. One operation of the lever opens and closes the door which is always in place.

Remember—we make the only silo in the world with the famous Ladder Hinge-Door.

Stiff? Sore?

A lame back, a sore muscle or a stiff joint often is considered too lightly by the sufferer. It should be remembered that backache, rheumatic pains, stiffness, soreness, swollen skin and puffiness under the eyes are symptoms of kidney and bladder trouble—and these certainly should not be neglected.

Foley Kidney Pills

Help the kidneys eliminate from the system the poisonous waste and acids that cause these aches and pains. They act promptly and effectively to restore weak, overworked or diseased kidneys and bladder to healthy, normal condition.

J. E. Simmons, 400 E. 50th St., Portland, Ore., writes: "I was troubled with backache and urinary trouble. I tried Foley Kidney Pills and will say that I highly recommend them to anyone troubled in that way, as they are excellent."

W. P. Schenk & Company

Not so long ago a household investigator talked to housekeepers in New York's famous Park Avenue residential district. She found that many of the most exclusive families had adopted spreads for bread like Brednut.

The Spread of a New Idea

—and a new idea in bread spreads

ONE of the chief reasons for the rapid spread of new ideas in America is that American women are quick to pass well-come news to their friends and neighbors. For example, when a progressive American housekeeper discovers a delicious new food she doesn't lock up her knowledge. She becomes a missionary.

Largely because of this sensible custom, Brednut—the new spread for bread—has become known quickly to most of your clever housekeepers.

If by some odd chance you have not tried Brednut, ask your neighbors about it. See if they don't say that Bred-nut is just as delicious a bread spread as they have ever tasted. See if they don't remark on its welcome.

Then try Brednut yourself and notice how its fresh, delicate flavor pleases your husband and children.

It's made from pasteurized milk and rich tropical nuts

There shouldn't be a bit of mystery about so important a food as bread spread. There is none about Brednut.
From distant tropical islands we bring rich nuts—a gift of Providence. Healthy cows furnish milk which we pasteurize. Under careful supervision immaculate equipment blends these pure ingredients to make Brednut—the new wholesome bread spread.
When your grocer delivers your first pound of Brednut, notice whiteness. You can actually see Brednut purity. With healthful table material which your grocer gives you, Brednut is a golden yellow.

WASHINGTON SIDELIGHTS

Palmer as Alien Property Custodian

WASHINGTON.—A subpoena has been served on Col. Thomas W. Miller, the alien property custodian, ordering him to appear before the federal grand jury in Boston, with all records bearing on the sale by his predecessor, A. Mitchell Palmer, of the vast properties of the Bosch Magneto company, which were seized by the government during the war.

The Bosch Magneto company, now the American Bosch Magneto company, was taken over by the United States as enemy-owned property in May, 1918, and was sold by Palmer to Martin E. Kern of Allentown, Pa., on December 7, 1918, for $4,150,000.

Although it had been generally understood that the investigation of the Bosch company, ordered by the Department of Justice, was to be confined solely to its war contracts, it was revealed that the federal grand jury in Boston will inquire into the transfer of the former German properties to Howard D. Griffith, acting agent for Martin E. Kern.

Incidentally, there has been repetition of charges made against former Attorney General Palmer when he appeared before the senate judiciary committee in 1918, in connection with hearings on his confirmation. At that time efforts were made to block his confirmation because of the position which he held when the properties were sold. It was alleged then that the Bosch stock was worth approximately $7,000,000.

Chaplains of the U. S. War Department

THE first annual report from the office of chief of chaplains of the War Department, Washington, D. C., written by John T. Axton, colonel, United States army, chief of chaplains, covering the fiscal year 1921, has been made public. This report shows a corps of 185 chaplains, including one colonel, nine lieutenant colonels, eight majors, 42 captains and 125 first lieutenants. These chaplains are classified as follows: Baptist, 26; Protestant, 1; Presbyterian, 15; Protestant Episcopal, 17; Cumberland Presbyterian, 1; Reformed, 2; Roman Catholic, 42; Universalist, 2; Unitarian, 2; United Evangelical, 1.

Ninety-eight of these chaplains were appointed during the war. They were selected from among 600 applicants who had seen service during the World war and who had indicated a desire to enter the regular army. "These men had the unqualified commendation of their military commanders and were highly indorsed by their respective denominations. They were chosen because they were found to possess that fidelity, poise of mind, breadth and tolerance of view, serenity of spirit, large outlook, patience and good temper, energy and enthusiasm, and that overmastering love of service for men which are essential to success."

The report tells of the work that has been undertaken by army chaplains, who in many cases with very few facilities have built up worth-while centers of religious and moral inspiration.

"There have been exigencies of the service that have necessitated the detail of chaplains to various duties that are 'extraprofessional,'" Colonel Axton states. "They have served in the cemetery section of the quartermaster department, as post exchange officers, directors of education and recreation, as morale officers, managers of Liberty theaters and of boxing exhibitions, school teachers and as counsel for the defense."

Water Power Development in America

FORTY per cent of the developed water power of the world is in the United States, where water wheels having a capacity of 9,243,000 horse power have been installed, according to a recent statement of the United States geological survey, Department of the Interior. The leading states in developed water power are New York, with 1,800,000 horse power and California with 1,111,000. These state totals compare favorably with those for some of the most progressive countries in water-power developments in Europe, where France leads with 1,400,000 horse power, Norway has 1,350,000 horse power, Sweden, 1,200,000 horse power and Switzerland 1,070,000 horse power.

The largest percentage of power has been developed in the New England states, where the capacity of the water wheels installed is 1,381,000 horse power, and the estimated potential power at low water without storage is 893,000 horse power. In the Pacific coast states—Washington, Oregon, and California—the capacity of those water wheels installed is 1,893,000 horse power and the potential power at low water without storage is 11,500,000 horse power.

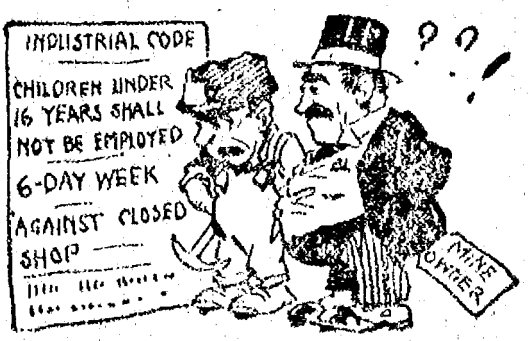

The largest water power development in the world is at Niagara Falls, where the plants in operation have a capacity of 870,000 horse power, of which 385,000 horse power is on the United States side. The capacity of the plants at Niagara is being increased by 114,500 horse power in the United States and 300,000 horse power in Canada. Other large plants are one of 170,000 horse power on the Mississippi at Keokuk, Iowa, from which power is transmitted to St. Louis, and two plants aggregating 288,500 horse power on St. Maurice river in Canada, from which power is transmitted to Montreal, Quebec and other cities. Canada ranks next to the United States in water-power development, with 2,418,000 horse power, or over 10 per cent of the world's total.

Industrial Code to Govern Coal Mining

SENATOR KENYON'S last act before accepting the President's nomination as United States circuit judge in the eighth district, was to recommend the senate a federal mediation bill. The recommendations are the result of the investigation by a committee on education and labor between operators and miners in West Virginia, which resulted in outbreaks and bloodshed and resulted in the calling of federal troops.

The mediation board proposed by the bill would be composed of three representatives of the employees, three of the employers and three of the public to be appointed by the president. The board would be operated like the States railroad labor board, and would be provided for by the bill.

The basic principles which would be established as an industrial code to govern coal mining ers to bargain collectively through representatives of their own choosing is recognized and affirmed. The miners who are not members of a union have the right to work without interference by fellow workers who may belong to the union. The men who belong to a union have the right to work without being harassed by operators who do not believe in unionism.

Six days shall be the standard work week with one day's rest in seven. The standard work day shall not exceed eight hours a day.

When a dispute or controversy arises between operators and mine workers, there shall be no strike or lockout. The facts and circumstances of the case shall be determined by a board of arbitration.

LEGION POST PICKS BEAUTY

Miss Edith Patterson Crowned by Arkansas Body as Most Beautiful Girl in America.

Arkansas comes forth with Miss Edith Patterson to prove that, as a state, its products are unsurpassed anywhere in the world. Miss Patterson won a mid-western beauty contest, and has subsequently been crowned the most beautiful girl in America by critical members of the Roy Kinnard post of the American Legion.

Arkansas stands ready to stake her against all comers.

Digging around in oyster flats in the Arkansas river, assiduous citizens produced a beautiful pearl which they bestowed on Marshal Foch during his visit. And picking around in the Arkansas diamond mines other citizens uncovered an Arkansas diamond, which was presented to Hanford MacNider, commander of the Legion. Persistently refusing to be "misunderstood," this hearty state is manifesting surprising fertility of soil, with its diamonds and pearls and women.

PLANS GREAT MOUNTAIN CAMP

American Legion in New York to Provide Hunting Lodge for the Tubercular Ex-Soldiers.

Curing tubercular ex-soldiers by giving them a hunting lodge in the Adirondacks is the most recent plan of the American Legion in New York state. A mammoth mountain camp, 30 miles from Saranac lake, has been secured, its doors to be opened to the 10,000 service men who cannot now find a bed. In the adjoining forest, comprising 12,000 acres of state preserve, will soon be scattered lean-to and shelters, where disabled men will bunk in solid comfort, breathing the air which can restore them to health.

Permission to use the preserve as a hunting ground has been granted by the state; and at the main camp on Big Tupper lake there will be bowling alleys, motor boats and athletic fields at the disposal of the patients. Each Legion post in the state has been given the chance to put up its own lean-to, men of that post to be given precedence in occupancy. Twenty thousand dollars has already been subscribed to the fund.

CHIEF FUN-MAKER BUSY MAN

President Elvers of "40 Hommes et 3 Chevaux," Forced to Resign as State Adjutant.

Edward J. Elvers, national president of "40 Hommes et 3 Chevaux"—fun-making society of the American Legion, finds that the duties as head of a "funny" organization are more pressing than any serious work. Making fun took so much of his time that he was forced to resign his former position as state adjutant of the Legion in the state of Oregon.

One of the proud moments in Elvers' life was when, before a crowd of 7,000 people, he presented Marshal Foch the little gold badge of the order—boxcar, horse and all.

Elvers began his military career in 1910 in the National Guard. During the war he served 15 months overseas as captain of the machine-gun company of the One Hundred and Sixty-second Infantry, which was not, as he says, a fun-making society.

A Footless Hunt. "Whoof!" panted Dottie Dimpleknees as she sank into a chair in the theatrical agency office. "I've simply run my legs off trying to see the manager of this show about a job in the chorus."

"Lady," said Otis, the office boy, "I ain't seen the manager, but if that's the case you might as well go back home."—American Legion Weekly.

Carrying On With the American Legion

Twenty hospitals in three years is the record of one disabled fighter discovered by the American Legion.

Ex-soldiers who have lost their discharge papers will be able to obtain duplicates under a bill now before congress.

A sum of $50,000,000 has been raised by Australia for the use of her unemployed former soldiers. Another great sum has been raised to buy land for farms to be cultivated by them.

Frederick P. Peters, Fort Worth, Tex., was unconscious when he was handed over to the American Legion post in that city. Diagnosis revealed that what he needed most was ham and eggs.

Marshal Foch was made an honorary member of the Cambridge (Mass.) Post of the Grand Army of the Republic. A delegation of Civil war veterans planned a broué medal on his chest.

MORE GOOD THINGS

A cupful of cooked oatmeal left from the breakfast food may be prepared into:

Oatmeal Muffins.—Mix one-half cupful of milk with one cupful of oatmeal. Add one beaten egg and two tablespoonsful of melted fat. Add one and one-half cupsful of flour, four teaspoonsful of baking powder and one-half teaspoonful of salt, all sifted together. Bake twenty-five or thirty minutes in a moderate oven.

Peanut Loaf.—Take two cupsful of breadcrumbs, three-fourths of a cupful of peanut butter, one cupful of cooked rice, one teaspoonful of salt, pepper to taste, one teaspoonful of poultry dressing, one teaspoonful of parsley and one teaspoonful of minced onion. Combine and form into a loaf. Bake one-half hour and serve with a tomato sauce.

Stuffed Figs.—Take one pound of the pulled figs, steam them until tender, open each carefully and scrape out the pulp. Mix the pulp with one cupful of meats, one-fourth of a cupful of grated orange rind. Re-fill the figs with the mixture. Cook one and one-half cupsful each of honey and water to a sirup and simmer the figs in this for fifteen minutes. Turn into a jar and pour the hot sirup over them.

Transparent Lemon Pie.—Beat one whole egg and the yolks of two more, add three-fourths of a cup of water and the strained juice of one lemon. Mix one cup of sugar with two tablespoonsful of flour, then add the eggs, water and lemon juice. Cook until it begins to thicken, pour into a crust and bake. Beat up the whites of two eggs to a stiff froth, beat in one tablespoonful of sugar and place on the top of the pie. Brown lightly in the oven.

Apple Melons.—Take some small oval melons, melon-shaped. Grease and dust with granulated sugar, then cover with pie crust pastry, dust with cinnamon, fill with finely chopped apples mixed with a little sugar, cinnamon and currants. Place a cover of the pie pastry on top and bake in a hot oven so that the sugar in the tin will melt. Take out of the tin while hot.

Peanut Butter Fudge.—Take two and one-half cupsful of sugar, one-third of a cupful of corn syrup, one-half cupful of milk and one-half cupful of peanut butter. Boil to the soft ball stage and set away to cool. Stir until creamy, drop by spoonfuls on waxed paper.

Don't fret and fume and worry. And make things worse, I say. Since we can't help what's happened; So laugh away the sigh. And trust that on the morrow The clouds will all take wing. Believing God knows what is best; So just keep sweet and sing! —Eben Rexford.

IN GRAPEFRUIT SEASON

There is no manner of serving grapefruit better than in the usual breakfast way, cut in halves and sprinkled with sugar. For some the acid of the fruit is a little sharp and one may modify it by serving the fruit in other ways.

Grapefruit Custard.—Mix one cupful of grapefruit pulp with one cupful of milk, two tablespoonsful of melted butter, one-half cupful of sugar; then add the yolks of two eggs and the white of one egg beaten together. Pour the mixture into greased fireproof individual dishes and bake until the mixture is set—about twenty minutes. Whip the remaining white of the egg stiff, mix with two tablespoonsful of sugar and pile on top of each. Dredge with sugar; return to the oven a few minutes.

Grapefruit and Tomato Salad.—Remove the tops from firm ripe tomatoes and scoop out the pulp. Mix the tomato pulp with the pulp of two grapefruits, one small bunch of celery, one chopped pimiento. Fill the tomato shells with this mixture to which enough mayonnaise has been added to season; garnish the top with a spoonful of the mayonnaise.

Grapefruit Dessert.—Remove the pulp from three large grapefruits, divide the sections removing all the connecting tissue. Put into a bowl with one can of pineapple cut in dice, the juice of an orange, one cupful of sugar, and the juice of two lemons and one-half cupful of preserved cherries. Serve decorated with crystallized rose leaves.

Cranberry Conserva.—Take one quart of cranberries, juice and pulp of two oranges, one cupful each of raisins and water; cook together until the cranberries burst and the mixture becomes soft. Add one cupful each of sugar and corn sirup and simmer until thick.

PISOS

SPANISH DOUBLOONS

By CAMILLA KENTON

"I suggest," said Dugald, "that, our numbers having most fortunately diminished and there being, on the basis of Peter's calculations, enough to enrich us all, we should share and share alike." And this proposal was received with acclamations, as was a second from the same source, devoting a certain percentage of each share to Cookie, to whom the news of his good fortune was to come later as a great surprise.

Shortly before sundown Cuthbert and Cookie were dispatched by Dugald Shaw to the cliff above the cave with supplies for the imprisoned pirates. These were let down by rope. A note was brought up on the rope, signed by Mr. Tubbs, and containing strangely jumbled exhortations, prayers, and threats. A second descent of the rope elicited another missive, neatly folded and addressed in the same hand to Miss Jane Harding. Cuthbert gave this privately to me, but its contents must forever be unknown, for it went, unread, into Cookie's fire. I had no mind to find Aunt Jane, with her umbrella as a parachute, vanishing over the cliffs to seek the arms of a repentant Tubbs.

The fly in the ointment of our satisfaction, and the one remaining obstacle, to our possession of the treasure, was the presence of the two pirates in our midst. They were not nice people.

The Remarkable Program Was Triumphantly Carried Out.

rates. They were quite the least choice of the collection. Chris, when he was not swearing, wept moistly, and so touched the heart of Aunt Jane that we lived in fear of her letting him go if she got the opportunity.

What to do with the pirates continued for a day and a night a knotty problem.

It was Cuthbert Vane who solved it, and with the simplicity of genius.

"Why not send 'em down to their chums the way we do the cats?" he asked.

Dire outcries greeted the decision. Aunt Jane wept, and Chris wept. Oaths flowed from Captain Magnus in a turbulent stream. Nevertheless the twins were led away, firmly bound, and guarded by Dugald, Cuthbert and the negro. And the remarkable program proposed by Cuthbert Vane was triumphantly carried out. Six prisoners now occupied the old cave of the buccaners.

With the camp freed from the presence of the pirates all need of watchfulness was over. The prisoners in the cave were provided with no implements but spades, whereas dynamite and crowbars would be necessary to force a way through the debris which choked the mouth of the tunnel. A looking over of the ground at the daily feeding time would be enough.

Tomorrow's sun would see our hopes crowned and all our toil rewarded by the recovery of the treasure from the Island Queen.

CHAPTER XIX.

'Twixt Cup and Lip.

Next morning an event occurred sufficiently astonishing to divert our thoughts from even the all-important topic of the Island Queen. Cookie, who had been on the high land of the point gathering firewood, came rushing back to announce that a steamer had appeared in the offing. All the party dropped their occupations and ran to look. That the Rufus Smith had returned at an unexpectedly early date was of course the natural explanation of the appearance of a vessel in these lonely seas. But signed for speed rather than carrying capacity.

A mile offshore she lay to, and a boat left her side. Wondering and disquieted, we returned to the beach to await her coming. Was it another pirate? What possible errand could bring a steamer to this remote, uninhabited, all but forgotten little island?

As the oarsmen drove the boat upon the beach the man in the stern sprang agilely ashore. Dugald Shaw stepped forward, and the stranger approached, doffing his helmet courteously.

"You are the American and English party who landed here some weeks ago from the Rufus Smith?"

His English was easy and correct, though spoken with a pronounced Spanish accent. His dark high-featured face was the face of a Spaniard. And his grace was the grace of a Spaniard, as he bowed sweepingly and handed Mr. Shaw a card.

"Senor Don Enrique Gonzales," said Dugald, bowing in his stiff-necked fashion, "I am happy to see you. But as you represent his excellency the president of the republic of Santa Marina I suppose you come on business, Senor Gonzales?"

"Precisely. I am enchanted that you apprehend the fact without the tiresomeness of explanations. For business is a cold, usually a disagreeable affair, is it not so? That being the case, let us get it over."

"First do us the honor to be seated, Senor Gonzales."

Comfortably bestowed in a camp-chair in the shade, the Spaniard resumed:

"My friend, this island belongs, as of course you are aware, to the republic, of which I have the honor to be a citizen. All rights and privileges, such as harvesting the copra crop, are strictly conserved by the republic. All persons desiring such are required to negotiate with the minister of state of the republic. And how much more, when it is a question of treasure—of a very large treasure, senor?"

The Scotchman's face was dark. "I had understood," he replied, without looking in the direction of Miss Higgleby-Browne, who seemed in the last few moments to have undergone some mysterious shrinking process, "that negotiations in the proper quarter had been undertaken and brought to a successful conclusion—that in short we were here with the express permission of the government of Santa Marina."

This was a challenge which Miss Browne could not but meet.

"I had," she said hoarsely, "I had the assurance of a person high in the financial circles of the United States, that through his influence with the government of Santa Marina it would not be necessary—in short, that he could fix the president—I employ his own term—for a considerable sum, which I—which my friend Miss Harding gave him."

"And the name of this influential person?" inquired the Santa Marinese, suavely.

"Hamilton H. Tubbs," croaked Miss Browne.

Senor Gonzales smiled. "I remember the name well, madam. It is that of the pretended holder of a concession from our government, who a few years ago induced a number of American school teachers and clergymen and other financially innocent persons to invest in imaginary coffee plantations. He had in some doubtful fashion become possessed of a little entirely worthless land, which formed the basis of his transactions. His frauds were discovered while he was in our country, and he was obliged to leave between two days, according to your so picturesque idiom. Needless to say his application for permission to visit Leeward Island for any purpose would instantly have been refused, but as a matter of fact it was never made."

In a benumbed silence we met the blow. The riches that had seemed within our grasp would never be ours. We had no claim upon them for all our toil and peril; no right even to be here upon the island. Suddenly I began to laugh; faces wearing various shades of shocked surprise were turned on me. Still I laughed.

"Don't you see," I cried, "how ridiculous it all is? All the time it is we who have been pirates!"

The Spaniard gave me a smile, made brilliant by the gleam of smoldering black eyes and the shine of white teeth.

"Senorita, with all regret, I must agree."

"What's in a name?" remarked Dugald Shaw, shrugging. "We were after other people's property, anyway. I am very sorry about it, Senor Gonzales, but I would like to ask, if you don't mind telling, how you happened to learn of our being here, so long as it was not through the authentic channels. On general principles, I tried to keep the matter quiet."

"We learned in a manner somewhat—what do you say?—curious," returned the Spaniard, who, having presented the men with cigars and by permission lighted one himself, was making himself extremely at home and appeared to have no immediate intention of hiding us away to captivity in Santa Marinese dungeons. "But before I go further, kindly tell me whether you have had any—visitors during your stay on the island?"

"We have," Mr. Shaw replied, "very troublesome ones."

The Spaniard smiled.

"Then answer your own question. These men, while unloading a contraband cargo in a port of Mexico, near the southern border, grew too merry in a winchshop, and let it be known where they were bound when again they put to sea. The news, after some delay, found its way to our capital. As soon as the navy of the republic was alerted to investigate the matter, where certain ships were met and factually answered. There were those in that port who had made a shrewd guess at the destination of the party which had shipped on the Rufus Smith. I then pursued my course to Leeward. But admit, my friends, that I have not by my arrival, caused you any material loss. Except that I have, unfortunately been compelled to present you to yourselves in the character of—as says the young lady—pirates—madam, I speak under correction—I have done you no injury, eh? And that for the simple reason that you have not discovered what you sought, hence cannot be required to surrender it."

We looked at one another doubtfully. The ambiguous words of the Spaniard, the something humorous and mocking which lay behind his courtly manner, put us quite in the dark.

"Senor Gonzales," replied the Scotchman, after a moment's hesitation, "it is true that so far only a negligible amount of what we came to find has rewarded us. But I cannot in honesty conceal from you that we know where to look for the rest of it, and that we had certainly expected to leave the island with it in our possession."

"The dark indolent eyes of our visitor grew suddenly keen. Half-veiled by the heavy lashes, they searched the face of Dugald Shaw. It seemed that what they found in that bold and open countenance satisfied them. His own face cleared again.

"I think we speak at cross-purposes, Mr. Shaw," he said courteously, "and that we may better understand each other, I am going to tell you a little story. At about this season, two years ago, the navy of Santa Marina, the same which now lies off the island, was making a voyage of inspection along the coast of the republic. It was decided to include Leeward in the cruise, as it had been unvisited for a considerable time. I hold no naval rank—indeed, we are not a seafaring people, and the captain of La Golondrina is a person from Massachusetts, Jeremiah Bowles by name, but as the representative of his excellency I accompanied La Golondrina. On our arrival at Leeward I came ashore in the boat, and found to my surprise a small sloop at anchor in the cove. About the clearing were the signs of recent habitation, yet I knew that the old German who had had the copra concession here had been gone for some time. No one responded to our shouts and calls."

"I turned my attention to the sloop. In the cabin, besides a few clothes, I found something that interested me very much—a large brass-bound chest, of an antique type such as is common enough in my own country. "Of course I had heard of the many legends of treasure buried on Leeward Island. Consequently I was somewhat prepared to find in the chest, what in fact I did find there, over a million dollars in old Spanish coins."

"These coins, which were packed in strong canvas bags, were, as you may fancy, very quickly transferred to the cutter. We did not trouble ourselves with the unwieldy chest, and it remains, I suppose, in the cabin of the sloop, which I observed as we crossed the cove to have been washed up upon the rocks."

"This is a very interesting story, Senor Gonzales," said Dugald Shaw, quietly, "and as you say, your visit here deprives us of nothing, but merely saves us further unprofitable labor. We are grateful to you."

The Spaniard bowed.

"You do me too much honor. But, as you remark, the story is interesting. It has also the element of mystery. For there remains the question of what became of the owner of the sloop. His final preparations for leaving the island had evidently been made, his possessions removed from the hut, provisions for the voyage brought on board the sloop—and then he had vanished. What had befallen him? Did the gold carry with it some deadly influence? One plays, as it were, with this idea, imagining the so melancholy and bloody history of these old doubloons. How, in the first place, had he found them? Through chance—by following some authentic clue? And then, in the moment of success, he disappears—puff! And Senor Gonzales disposed of the unknown by blowing him airily from the tips of his fingers."

"However, we have the treasure—the main point, is it not? But I have often wondered—"

"If you would like to hear the rest of the story," said Mr. Shaw, "we are in a position to enlighten you. That we are so, is due entirely to this young lady, Miss Virginia Harding."

The Spaniard rose and made obeisance profoundly. He resumed his seat, prepared to listen—no longer the government official, but the cordial and interested guest and friend.

The story, of course, was a long one. Everybody took a hand in the telling, even Cookie, who was summoned from his retirement in the kitchen to receive the glory due him as a successful strategist. The journal of Peter was produced, and the bags of doubloons handed over to the representative of the little republic. I even offered to resign the silver shoe-buckle which I had found in the secret locker on the Island Queen, but this excess of honesty received its due reward.

"The doubloons being now in the possession of the Santa Marinese nation, I think that you will consider as your own, the Island Queen and all it may contain," said Don Enrique to me with as magnificent an air as though the sand-filled bulk of a wrecked sloop were really a choice gift to bestow on a young woman."

Probably Some Readers Would Like to Know Just What the Lieutenant Colonel Said.

Private Washington Lee Johnson had just come up with the replacements and, not never having had no luck at all, went on sentry duty the first night in the new camp. In the wee, sma' hours along blew the lieutenant colonel who had a reputation for being one hard-bolled guy.

"Hant! Who goes dar?" bellowed Private Johnson.

"Officer of the post."

There was a long and painful silence while the sentry racked his brain for the proper thing to say. Then the officer snarled:

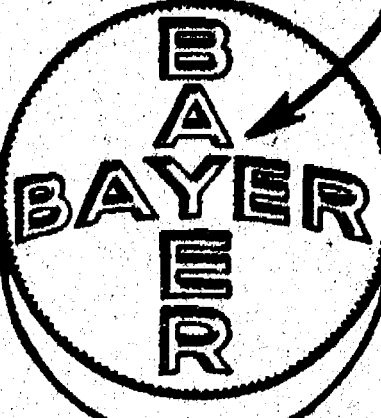

"Well, why don't you say something? Are you going to leave me standing here like this all night?"

"Nossuh," answered Private Johnson in relief as a flash of inspiration came. "No, indeedly, suh. At ease!"

Couldn't Control Sneeze.

Margaret, age three and one-half years and a confirmed early riser, had repeatedly been warned to keep very quiet when getting up in the morning, in order not to disturb her older sister, who was convalescing from a recent tonsil operation. About the third morning, under the new regime of quietness, as she was tip-toeing across the bedroom to her mother, who was waiting in the hall, she succumbed to a violent and uncontrollable spell of sneezing. As soon as the paroxysm was over, she raised troubled blue eyes to her mother's face and whispered, sorrowfully: "Muzzar, I was still, but I just couldn't make my sneezer be still."

ED. HOWE'S FAVORITE STORY

Well-Known Kansas Editor Takes Pride in Effective Way He Squeezed Bore.

E. W. Howe of Kansas has been something of a traveler. He made a number of trips abroad and went twice around the world. It was on his first trip abroad that he encountered one of the sea hounds whose chief boast is concerned in the number of times they have crossed the Atlantic. Mr. Howe tells the incident as his favorite story.

"Is this your first trip?" the sea hound asked Mr. Howe on the occasion of their first meeting. Mr. Howe admitted that it was. "Well," said the sea hound, "I've crossed the Atlantic 40 times." On the second day the sea hound again put the question to Mr. Howe and again vouchsafed the same observation. He repeated it at frequent intervals during the trip.

It was on the sixth day, after the sea hound had again spoken of the number of his crossings, that Mr. Howe said to him: "By the way, have you ever been to Omaha?" The sea hound said he never had. "Well," retorted Mr. Howe, "I go there every week."—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Sunburned Steel.

A marine outfit was undergoing inspection in a tropical region. The inspecting officer was "hard-bolled." Sizing Private Murphy's rifle like a lion going after a round of raw beef, he bellowed:

"What's this, rust?"

"Oh, no," said Murphy. "That's sunburn."—From the Bulletin, organ of the D. C. Branch of the Second Division Association.

Analyze what is called "the yellow streak" and it will be found to be selfishness.

Save the bird in hand The others may be lost

With enough money, enough time and enough luck, a man may get better than the health he has lost—or part of it.

It takes patience, too. And then there may be no success, or only a little.

It's better to save what you have than hunt for what you've lost—as the most successful health-restorers will tell you.

Much of the loss of health is due to faulty, careless diet. Many times load the loss.

Chiropractic For Children

Thursday Health Talk No. 5
By H. H. Beatty, Chiropractor

Children of all ages respond very quickly to spinal adjustments, and every child's spine should be examined by a competent chiropractor.

Thousands of children are needlessly suffering from some form of spinal trouble, and while they are young is the time to have their spinal defects adjusted.

If your child is sick, weak or puny, or not properly developed in any part of the body, there is CAUSE, and invariably it is found in the spine. Do not wait to see if the child will outgrow it; have the spine examined, and, if necessary, adjusted.

It is an acknowledged fact that if a spinal analysis of all children were made, the percentage of defects and curvatures would be in the majority.

The SPINAL COLUMN is the most important frame work of the body; clinging to this wonderful and flexible chain of 24 irregular bones are many of the vital organs.

It is so strong that it can bear a heavy burden, and yet so flexible that it will respond to nearly any movement of the body. If it remains normal, having only the curves given it by nature, it is the source of strength and grace, but when it is out of alignment, curvatures exist, it causes disease.

The Chiropractor does not treat the trouble, if there is trouble, but looks for its CAUSE. He finds it and fixes it; and then Nature effects the "Cure."

Chiropractic seldom fails to bring results in nearly all kinds of diseases, and when given by a competent Chiropractor you are assured of the best there is in the science.

REMEMBER—I will not accept your case unless I think there is help for you. A spinal analysis will reveal this.

Consultation is FREE.

This Town Needs a Hupmobile Dealer

This is a "Hupmobile town," and it needs, and will soon have, a Hupmobile dealer.

It is the kind of community that most appreciates this fine car.

The Hupmobile, while ranking with cars that cost much more, sells at the remarkably low price of $1,250 f. o. b. factory.

This brings it within the reach of persons of ordinary means, and makes it a wonderful proposition for the dealer.

The man we are looking for to represent the Hupmobile here, is a hustler and a good business man.

To such a man, we can practically assure many prospects, sales and exceptional profits.

This is the first year we have been able to supply the great potential demand for Hupmobiles outside of the metropolitan centers.

Now the Hupmobile factory has greatly increased its production to supply this demand.

This creates a money-making opportunity. You may be the man we want.

Remember that we have no back-breaking requirements—nothing but what will enhance your bank standing. And our discount rate is much more liberal than is ordinarily offered.

It is unmistakably to your advantage to talk this over, absolutely without obligation. Let us hear from you. Write at once to

"lie"—Judge Rutherford

THE EVENT OF EARTH'S HISTORY is the Kingdom of God among men; but, strange to say, the theme of the Bible has been almost entirely forgotten by those who profess the Christian religion. The writers testified concerning a time of restoration for the human race—"times of restoration" when Jesus and his Apostles preached the vast majority; not a message of the Kingdom of God.

It is the same as foretold in the Bible, and positive language. Not a word of it has been lost. It will bring such practical results, health, beautiful homes, and righteous laws, and—earth.
