A Chance for Ten Boys.

Here is a chance for ten boys from this community to attend the Citizens' Military Training camp, at Camp Custer, during August. There will be three courses, known as the Red, White and Blue.

The minimum age limit for entrance to the Red course is from 17 to 19.

The age limit for the White course is 18 to 25, except that no man who successfully completed the Red course in 1921 will be barred from the White course this year on account of age.

The age limit for the Blue course is from 19 to 27. Applicants who have had prior military training in any of the three components of the army of the U. S., and especially the veterans of the world war, will be accepted for any one of the three courses.

The young men who are accepted for the training camp will give their time but the government will pay all traveling expenses, furnish camp outfits, clothing, meals, and medical attendance. They will be required to devote five hours daily to physical training, athletics and drills. Five days of the week they will be required to study one hour each evening.

The local chairman, E. P. Steiner, has a liberal supply of blank applications, which must be filled out and filed with him, before Decoration Day. It is hoped that ten boys or young men from this vicinity will apply for the training.

Recreation for Chelsea People.

Through the kindness of a few of the business men of Chelsea (and only a few have been asked) it has been made possible to offer the community an opportunity for a lot of fun and very wholesome recreation for the coming summer.

The different members of the school board have very kindly given their O. K. to putting a Volley Ball court on the school grounds thus offering a splendid location for community recreation.

The court has been made and everybody is invited to come out Thursday evening at seven o'clock and see the game played and much better still, play it yourself. The only way to learn to swim is to swim. The only way to learn to play Volley Ball or any other game is to play. Here is your chance.

We hope that a good number of teams will be organized among the different groups of men and women, boys and girls, young and old, for every one can play this game whether you have ever seen it or not. Come out Thursday evening and be young with the rest of the youngsters.

Prominent Waterloo Man Dead.

Clement A. Barber was born in Lyndon township, June 4, 1856, and died in Waterloo village, Saturday, May 6, 1922.

Mr. Barber had been a resident of Waterloo for several years and at various times had filled some of the township offices. He was a member of Chelsea Tent, No. 281, The Maccabees.

He was united in marriage with Miss Mary Huttenlocher, February 15, 1882.

The surviving members of the family are his wife, one son, Wm. Barber, two daughters, Mrs. E. J. Moeckel of Grass Lake township and Mrs. E. R. Walz of Bunker Hill, two grandchildren, two brothers, four sisters, and several nephews and nieces.

The funeral was held from the home at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, Rev. H. E. Beatty, pastor of the Chelsea Methodist church, conducting the services. The Maccabees conducted their services at the grave. Burial in Mt. Hope cemetery, Waterloo.

Why Change The Law?

One of the numerous amendments to be voted upon at the election next November will be a proposal to make the office of State Superintendent of Public Instruction appointive instead of elective as at present. As the law now stands the electors have a voice in saying who they desire to direct the destinies of our public schools. If the office should be made an appointive one the governor of the state could appoint who he pleased, regardless of the choice of the patrons of our schools. Why make a change?

ASPHALT SURFACING WILL ### SOON BE COMPLETED

The portion of the territorial trunk line road, M17, between Chelsea and the Washtenaw-Jackson County line was closed Friday to allow for surfacing the concrete bed with asphalt.

A detour is provided for passenger cars and other light vehicles through Chelsea and west to the Jackson county line, where the pavement can be reached again. This road is said by the county highway commission to be absolutely impassable for heavy trucks, which may reach Jackson by traveling trunk line No. M23 from Ypsilanti.

The Municipal Contracting & Supply Co. have their large asphalt plant at Four Mile Lake ready to start up but a delay in receiving a shipment of asphalt has held them up for several days past. When the company starts the work, they will begin at the Chas. Young farm and work eastward.

The Brooks Construction Co., of Fort Wayne, Indiana, started work Friday at the Chas. Young residence and are working toward the county line.

The road is open to light vehicles in the evening from 8 o'clock in the evening to 7 o'clock in the morning. During the day all travel over the road is stopped except the vehicles used in the construction work.

Chelsea Boys Victorious.

The baseball game Sunday afternoon at Wilkinson field between the Chelsea Independents and the Grass Lake Independents was a hotly contested one and an exciting one from start to finish and resulted in a victory for the Chelsea team by a score of 2 to 1.

From the start it was a pitching duel between Miller of Chelsea and Klingler of Grass Lake with the Chelsea hurler having the best of the battle. He allowed but five hits while Chelsea batters collected eight of the Grass Lake hurlers.

The first run came in the third inning when A. Hoffman of Chelsea was passed, stole second and third and scored on a single by E. Eder. Grass Lake tied the score in the seventh inning when Walker reached first on an error, stole second and scored on W. Klingler's single.

Chelsea came back and took the lead in their half of the same inning, scoring the run which won the game. Rowe started the inning with a single, went to second on Eiseman's sacrifice, reached third on an error and came home on a hit by R. Cannon.

The Chelsea fans were on hand as usual and their loud cheering was fully appreciated by the Chelsea team.

School Notes.

One of the finest Junior Receptions ever given is to be held June 2.

The Senior bake sale last Saturday brought $6.00 for the Senior Annual fund.

The last of the series of baseball games between Chelsea high and St. Mary's high ended in a score of 7 to 6 in favor of St. Mary's.

The seventh and eighth grade rural pupils are going to have examinations Thursday and Friday at the Chelsea high school.

Norma Messner, Gladys Forner and Blanche Wirkner passed the teachers' examination at Ann Arbor and are now qualified for teachers next year. Miss Forner has been hired to teach the Lima Center school for the ensuing year.

Problem of Millions in Alien Property

WASHINGTON.—The complicated problem of passing legislation for the $350,000,000 worth of property held by the alien property which will not be confiscated to protect American interests against Germany is being debated in congress.

The prevailing statutes, notwithstanding the German property seizure, to liquidate it and turn it into the treasury.

The procedure is being frowned on by administration leaders, who contend that the sequestered property should be returned intact to alien nationals, if possible. If it were not for the German claims against Germany, a decision which is now being made between the State department and the German foreign office, the seized property would be returned immediately.

These claims include damages for loss by fire and loss of property at sea, due to the ruthless submarine warfare, and American property seized by the German alien property custodian. Sixty millions' worth of American property was seized.

The German custodian is now offering a return of the American property at the depreciated value of the mark or a reduction of approximately 86 per cent from the pre-war value. This offer would mean practical confiscation of American property by Germany and will not be accepted.

There is a German tax against all capital brought into the country, including property returns. Under this tax, the returned property would be confiscated and no provision made to compensate Americans for their losses.

The general feeling in congress seems to be that before the property is returned the United States should arrange to have the German tax retained in this country as a fund to satisfy the claims of American citizens when their cases against Germany are adjudicated.

DAIRY FACTS

SAFE MILK SUPPLY INSURED

Suggested That Two or More Small Towns Hire Inspector and Maintain Laboratory.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Milk inspection is of prime necessity. In most of the larger cities laboratories are maintained where bacteria counts and chemical analyses are frequently made on samples collected from retail delivery wagons, stores, and restaurants. But the small cities and towns that cannot afford the expense of a tester and laboratory find it hard to give proper supervision to their milk supplies.

The United States Department of Agriculture suggests that a practical way for such cities and towns to insure a safe milk supply is through the co-operation of two or more adjacent towns in hiring a milk inspector and maintaining a laboratory. The cost of supervising such a plan may be prorated among the different towns on the basis of population without the expense being burdensome to any one of them. State and federal authorities are always willing to co-operate in work of this sort.

This plan of town co-operation in milk and dairy inspection has been carried out in different parts of the country, probably the most conspicuous example being the group of towns in northern New Jersey known as "The Oranges." In these towns the plan has been in use for a number of years with results that have been very satisfactory to all concerned.

MARKS OF GOOD DAIRY COW

Angularity and Leanness Should Be Apparent When in Milk—Mammary System Important.

A good dairy cow should show angularity and leanness in appearance when in milk. A feminine head; a bright, full eye; a wide muzzle and large open nostrils indicate dairy temperament. The chest should be full and deep, giving ample room for large heart and lung development. A long, deep, wide body with well-arched ribs gives room for handling large amounts of feed. And of extreme importance is a well-developed mammary system made up of long, branching milk veins entering large milk wells; teats of convenient and uniform size, good shape and well placed in the udder and an udder that is large, well shaped and has a mellow, flexible handling quality.

In endorsing the Edge resolution, Secretary of Commerce Hoover wrote Senator Jones, chairman of the senate committee on commerce that his department was in a position to assist in the consideration and development of legislation that will make for the advancement of public interest through these trade associations and at the same time eliminate from their organization those destructive practices that have crept into a minority of them.

DAIRY COWS WORK HARDEST

Animals Give From Five to Ten Times Their Weight in Milk—Need Best of Feed.

People seldom think of the dairy cow as a hard working animal, yet it is a fact that she works harder than other domestic animals. Every year she gives from five to ten times her weight in milk, containing as much actual dry matter as do the bodies of two or three steers. It requires approximately the same amount of energy to produce 20 pounds of milk as it does to plow an acre of land. This gives us some conception of the enormous amount of work the cow does and indicates why she should be well fed and cared for.—Utah Farmer.

Best Roughage for Cows.
Clover hay is one of the best of all roughages for the cow. It furnishes large amounts of crude protein so essential to milk production and is palatable and much relished. Clover hay is unusually rich in lime and lime is also needed.

Plant Food Removed.
A ton of butter removes only seventy cents worth of plant food from the farm, while the milk of the feeds that produce it is worth away over $400 in gold.

"BILLY SUNDAY OF LEGION"

Dan Hollenga, Lecturer, Former Stretcher Bearer, in Demand in All Parts of Country.

Sixteen months' service as a stretcher-bearer in France should be excellent preparation for a battle in behalf of disabled fighters of the World War.

Dan S. Hollenga, a special representative of the American Legion's service division at Washington, D. C., is now carrying the sick and wounded over the shell holes of red tape.

In an effort to obtain compensation and hospitalization for ex-service men. Although he was born in Holland, Mr. Hollenga had little difficulty in mastering the "American" language. As a speaker for the Legion in all parts of the country, his oratorical ability has become so well known that he is called "Billy Sunday of the American Legion."

A citizen of the United States for a number of years, Mr. Hollenga volunteered as a private shortly after war was declared. He was soon made a drill sergeant, but found no joy in this "squad right" career because of his desire to get to France. He obtained a transfer to Base Hospital 85 and served with this unit overseas.

When the war ended Mr. Hollenga spent more than a year organizing chambers of commerce in the South, and then served as a field representative for the Legion. He was later appointed director of organization at Legion national headquarters and served in that position until National Commander Hanford MacNider sent him to Washington as a personal representative to aid disabled ex-service men in obtaining justice from the government.

CITIZEN OF TWO COUNTRIES

Frank Sinclair, Historian of Janesville (Wis.) Post, Honored by Bourges, France.

The average American newspaper sporting editor considers himself lucky to preserve a mere semblance of citizenship, but Frank Sinclair, who holds that position on a Janesville (Wis.) newspaper, bears the distinction of being a citizen of two countries—at least of two cities.

Sinclair, who is historian of the Janesville post of the American Legion, was honored with citizenship in the city of Bourges, France, while a regimental sergeant major with the Central Records office, G. H. Q., stationed in the French town.

The honor, usually conferred only upon high governmental representatives, was given to Sinclair for promoting closer relations between the Yanks and citizens of Bourges through the medium of "The Cro," largest post newspaper in the A. E. F., of which Sinclair was managing editor and co-organizer. The common council of Bourges awarded the honor, Lawrence J. Weidman, Boston, and William F. Wragg, Brooklyn, were also made citizens for co-operating in Sinclair's diplomatic work. Sinclair and Weidman also won renown as the authors of "The Battle of Bourges," which a Paris English language newspaper said should be in every American home.

For Pity's Sake.

The U. S. S. —no matter, it was the U. S. S. something—was on its way to France. It was a rough night, and the only persons visible on that part of the deck were Gubbins, the worst goby in the navy, who was doing deck guard, and Lieutenant Commander Gible, the gruffest and most generally unpopular commander in any navy. Suddenly there was a splash, as the ship gave a lurch, and no more lieutenant commander was to be seen.

Gubbins wrestled with his conscience for a moment, then gave up the struggle, dove in, and grabbed his superior by the neck as he was going down for the third time.

"Gubbins," gasped the latter, "I thank you. If we are rescued I shall do anything I possibly can for you."

"Sir," answered Gubbins, "it isn't asking too much, would you mind not telling the gang who it was that saved you? They'd half kill me."—American Legion Weekly.

Carrying On With the American Legion

Tombstones, and even war memorials, are being bought from Germany by English and American cities, because Germany is able to underbid other markets.

Breezy letters from home-town buddies are being sent wounded Kansas soldiers in a hospital at Fort Bayard, N. M. The barrage was set up by Kansas posts of the Legion.

A pilotless plane is becoming the sensation of the Villacoublay airrome, France. Controlled by wireless from the ground, the plane circles far and wide over the countryside.

HAS FIRST WELL DAY IN 6 YEARS

Huntington Citizen Could Neither Sleep Nor Eat With Any Satisfaction Before He Got Tanlac.

"Before taking Tanlac I had not seen a well day in six years," said W. H. Peoples, 328 22nd St., Huntington, W. Va.

"It seemed like I had lost my health for good. I could neither sleep nor eat with satisfaction. I was badly run down, nervous, had no appetite and had to force down every mouthful I ate. Even then my food soured. I would fill up with gas until I had intense pains in my stomach and chest. Headache almost drove me mad, rheumatism in my arms, shoulder and hips kept me in pain all the time, and I had to force myself to work."

"Tanalac went right after my troubles. On four bottles I gained ten pounds and the rheumatism and stomach trouble soon left me. My wife has given a statement about the good Tanlac did her, and I am glad to add my endorsement of this wonderful medicine."

Tanalac is sold by all good druggists.

A REWARD OF $5,000.00

Would be a small amount to pay for saving a man's life. If you could save your life for a dollar bill would you hesitate to spend it? You risk your life every time you drive your car, in the rain because you can't see through your windshield. A dollar bill sent to the Baltimore See-Thru Corporation, Baltimore, Maryland, will ensure you having a clear windshield for the next three years, as their preparation is guaranteed to keep your glass as clear as a summer's day. ## NEVER EVEN TOUCHED HER Reader Must Figure Out for Himself Just What Caused Negress to Jump Over Railing.

A negress was charged with assaulting another negress.

"Luella Washington," said the judge, "what have you to say for yourself?" "Your honor," replied Luella, "Ah nevah struck that woman. Ah nevah touched her. Ah had repimanded her foh throwin' garbage out back, an' she kept on doin' it, an' this mawvin' Ah repimanded her again. Ah come downstairs from mah flat up above, an' was holding up mah right hand jes' like the Statue of Liberty. Jes' like Ah'm holdin' up mah right hand now, repimanding that woman, an' as Ah come close to her, that woman jes' jumped head first ovah the railing. Ah nevah touched her."

"What did you have in the hand which you were holding up like the Statue of Liberty?"

"A hatchet."

Reversed.
With very realistic sob the weary tramp told the tale to the farmer's wife and she nearly believed him.

"But, surely, if you have an aged mother to support," she said sympathetically, "you could find some better way of doing it than begging? You know 'necessity is the mother of invention.'"

"Not in my case, I assure you," said the tramp, earnestly. "With me, lady, mother is the invention of necessity."—Pentons.

That's what builds up the sanitation business, and puts the tired "all-done" feeling into the mid-afternoon of a business day.

Served with cream or good milk, Grape-Nuts is a complete food, always ready, always a delight to the taste—and always a safe selection for the man who thinks his stomach is entitled to some of the same protection he gives to his pocket.

BIBLE ASCRIBED TO SATAN

Evil One Declared to Have Assisted Monk to Perform Work, for a Fearful Price.

One of the most famous copies of the Scriptures in existence is the one which bears the curious title, "The Devil's Bible." It is an exquisite piece of workmanship, inscribed on 300 asses' skins, and was taken to Stockholm at the conclusion of the Thirty Years' war.

According to tradition this Bible was the work of a poor monk who was condemned to death for some defection, but was told that the sentence would be commuted if he would copy out on asses' skins the entire Bible in a single night. He agreed to try to do it but, finding the task too great, made a compact with the devil to exchange his soul for the required transcript. The devil kept his part of the bargain, and the work was finished on time. The monk's life was spared by his marvelous judges, but tradition is silent as to how he kept his end of the agreement.

"Luciferous," illuminated.
Lloyd George is said to have used the word "luciferous." An unusual adjective, but not, we think, an invention of his. An Englishman asked an acquaintance what he would understand by "a luciferous story." The other replied: "Like one of yours; a devilish bad one."—Boston Transcript.

"Washington," called the planter, "why don't you protect your head from the rain instead of protecting that worthless old hat?"

"Boss, man," he called back, "hit's like dish-yere. Mah haid belong ter you, but de ole hat's mah own."—Detroit Free Press.

One of life's peculiarities is that the world is seldom watching a man when he is doing good.

The Thrifty Citizen Who Caught the Plugged Nickel

MR. BROWN had swallowed his lunch and had paid his bill. Cautiously he counted his change. "Here!" he said, sharply, "Take back this plugged nickel and give me a good one!"

Mr. Brown walked proudly out. They couldn't fool old Brown.

But old Brown had fooled himself.

Brown's day was heavy and dull. He lacked "pep." There was a mid-afternoon drowsy spell when he needed to be awake—the direct and natural result of heavy, starchy breakfasts and lunches, taken on faith and without question as to value—just because the food looked and tasted like food.

Thousands of shrewd business men who count their change, take their food for granted.

That's what builds up the sanitation business, and puts the tired "all-done" feeling into the mid-afternoon of a business day.

Grape-Nuts is a scientific food whose delicious, appetizing flavor and crispness are an introduction to well-balanced nourishment—a nourishment easily and quickly assimilated, so that body, brain and nerves are well fed and kept free of the stored up poisons left by so many ill-selected foods.

Served with cream or good milk, Grape-Nuts is a complete food, always ready, always a delight to the taste—and always a safe selection for the man who thinks his stomach is entitled to some of the same protection he gives to his pocket.

Anti-Trust Laws Throttling Business?

Anti-trust laws, as now enacted, throttling American business men generally an affirmative, and the Harbison has become so much an assertion that it has investigation to determine restrictions on business enrolling.

Introduced by Senator Jones, which has been the administration and is of passage soon by congress for the appointment of committees of three senators representatives to conduct committee is to "investigate conditions of industry and commerce in the United States and the markets of foreign countries, in so far as the same directly affect industry and commerce of the United States, including questions as to production, distribution, labor and business methods, and to report to congress and to suggest such legislation, if any, as it may deem best upon these subjects, with a special reference to the most effective ways and means to revive industry and to stimulate foreign and domestic trade, to stabilize business conditions as to the future, to minimize the danger and distress of recurring periods of business depression, with their resultant cycles of general unemployment, and to define the rights and limitations of co-operative organizations as distinguished from illicit combinations in restraint of trade."

In endorsing the Edge resolution, Secretary of Commerce Hoover wrote Senator Jones, chairman of the senate committee on commerce that his department was in a position to assist in the consideration and development of legislation that will make for the advancement of public interest through these trade associations and at the same time eliminate from their organization those destructive practices that have crept into a minority of them.

Discussing the effect of the first eight months of the operation of the existing law, Senator Colt of Rhode Island, chairman of the immigration committee, said:

"The number of alien immigrants from southern and eastern Europe admitted to the United States is only about 6,000 more than the number who have departed, and the number of alien immigrants from northern and western Europe admitted to the United States during this time is only about 30,000 in excess of those who have departed."

Senator Harbison introduced a bill to extend the anti-trust law for a period of five years. It also requires that any company shall be permitted to admit to aliens re-

RAMSEY!

Synopsis.—With his grandfather, small Ramsey Milholland is watching the "Decorations Day Parade" in the home town. The old gentleman, a veteran of the Civil war, endeavors to impress the youngster with the significance of the great conflict, and many years afterward the boy was to remember his words with startling vividness. In the schoolroom, a few years afterward, Ramsey is not distinguished for remarkable ability, though his pronounced dislikes are arithmetic, "Recitations" and German. In sharp contrast to Ramsey's backwardness is the precocity of little Dora Yocum, a young lady whom in his bitterness he denominates "Teacher's Pet." In high school, where he and Dora are classmates, Ramsey continues to feel that the girl delights to manifest her superiority, and the vindictiveness he generates becomes alarming, culminating in the resolution that some day he will "show" her. At a class picnic Ramsey is captured bag and baggage by Milla Rust, the class beauty, and endures the agonies of his first love. Ramsey's parents object to Milla and wish he'd taken up with Dora Yocum. Ramsey kisses Milla. She marries. Ramsey enters the state university and there is Dora Yocum again. Ramsey meets Dora in a World War debate and is ingloriously vanquished. Ramsey gives Linski "a peach of a punch on the snoot"—Why?

CHAPTER VIII.—Continued.

"Well, I'm glad you gave that Linski a fine little punch, Brother Milholland," he said at the door. "It won't do you any harm in the 'frat,' or with the Lumen, either. And don't be discouraged about your debating. You'll learn. Anybody might have got rattled by having to argue against as clever and good-looking a girl as that!"

The roommates gave each other a look of serious puzzlement as the door closed. "Well, Brother Colburn is a mighty nice fellow," Fred said. "He's kind of funny, though."

Ramsey assented, and then, as the two prepared for bed, they entered into a further discussion of their senior friend. "They liked him 'all right,'" they said, but he certainly must be kind of queer, and they couldn't just see how he had "ever managed to get where he was" in the "frat" and the Lumen and the university.

Ramsey passed the slightly disfigured Linski on the campus next day without betraying any embarrassment or making a sign of recognition. Fred Mitchell told his roommate, chuckling, that Linski had sworn to "get" him, and, not knowing Fred's affiliations, had made him the confidant of his oath. Fred had given his blessing, he said, upon the enterprise, and advised Linski to use a brick. "He'll hit you on the head with it," said the light-hearted Fred, falling back upon this old joke. "Then you can catch it as it bounces off and throw it back at him."

However, Linski proved to be merely an episode, not only so far as Ramsey was concerned but in the Lumen and in the university as well. His suspension from the Lumen was for a year, and so cruel a punishment it proved for this born debater that he nobly declared he would found a debating society himself, and had a poster printed and distributed announcing the first meeting of "The Free Speech and Masses' Rights Council." Several town loafers attended the meeting, but the only person connected with the university who came was an oriental student, a Chinese youth of almost intrusive amiability. Linski made a fiery address, the townsmen loudly applauding his advocacy of an embargo on munitions and the distribution of everybody's "property," but the Chinaman, accustomed to see students so madly in earnest only when they were hurling, took the whole affair to be intended humor, and tittered politely without cessation—except at such times as he thought it proper to appear quite wrong with laughter. Then he would rock himself, clasp his mouth with both hands and splutter through his fingers, Linski accused him of being in the pay of "capital."

Next day the orator was unable to show himself upon the campus without causing demonstrations; whenever he was seen a file of quickly gathering students marched behind him chanting repeatedly and deafeningly in chorus: "Down with Wall Street! Hoch der Kaiser! Who loves Linski? Who loves Linski? Who, who, who? Hoo Lun!" Linski was disgusted, resigned from the university, and disappeared.

"Well, here it isn't mid-year Exams yet, and the good ole class of Nineteen-Eighteen's already lost a member," said Fred Mitchell. "I guess we can bear the break-up!"

"I guess so," Ramsey assented. "That Linski might just as well stayed here, though."

"Why?"

"He couldn't do any harm here. He'll be around some time to listen to don't know anything, comp' in all the time."

"Oh, well," said Fred. "What do we care what happens to Chicago? Come on, let's behave real wild, and go on over to the 'Teria and get us a couple of egg sandwiches and sassprilly."

Ramsey was willing. After the strain of the "mid-year Exams" in February, the chums lived a free-hearted life. They had settled into the ways of their world; they had grown used to it, and it had grown used to them; there was no longer any ignominy in being a freshman. They romped upon the campus and sometimes rioted harmlessly about the streets of the town. In the evenings they visited their fellows and brethren and were visited in turn; horseplay prevailed, but collegiate gossip had its turn, and sometimes they looked so far ahead as to talk vaguely of their plans for professions or business—though to a freshman this concerned an almost unthinkable distant prospect. "I guess I'll go in with my father, in the wholesale drug business," said Fred. "My married brother already is in the firm, and I suppose they'll give me a show—send me out on the road a year or two first, maybe, to try me. Then I'm going to marry some little cutie and settle down. What you goin' to do, Ramsey? Go to law school, and then come back and go in your father's office?"

"I don't know. Guess so."

It was always Fred who did most of the talking; Ramsey was quiet. Fred told the "frat seniors" that Ramsey was "developing a whole lot these days," and he told Ramsey himself that he could see a "big change" in him; adding that the improvement was probably due to Ramsey's having passed through "terrible trials like that debate."

Ramsey kept to their rooms more than his comrade did, one reason for this domesticity being that he "had to study longer than Fred did, to keep up;" and another reason may have been a greater shyness than Fred possessed—if, indeed, Fred possessed any shyness at all. For Fred was a cheery spirit difficult to abash, and by the coming of spring knew all of the best-looking girl students in the place—knew them well enough, it appeared, to speak of them not merely by their first names but by abbreviations of these. He had become fashion's sprig, a "russer" and, butterfly, and he reproached his roommate for shunning the ladies.

"Well, the truth is, Fred," said Ramsey one day, responding darkly—"well, you see the truth is, Fred, I've had a—A—I've had an experience—"

"So, only, did he refer to Milla."

Fred said no more; and it was comprehended between them that the past need never be definitely referred to again, but that it stood between Ramsey and any entertainment to be obtained of the gentler but less trust-worthy sex. And when other brethren of the "frat" would have pressed Ramsey to join them in various frivolous enterprises concerning "co-eds" or to be shared by "co-eds," Fred thought it better to explain to them privately (all being sacred among brethren) how Ramsey's life, so far as girls went, had been taken with by one now a Married Woman.

This created a great deal of respect for Ramsey. It became understood everywhere that he was a woman-hater.

CHAPTER IX.

That early spring of 1916 the two boys and their friends and brethren talked more of the war than they had in the autumn, though the subject was not at all an absorbing one; for, the trenches of Flanders and France were still of the immense, remote distance. By no stretch of imagination could these war trenches be thought greatly to concern the "frat" or the Lumen, or the university. Really important matters were the doings of the "Track Team," now training in the "Gym" and on the "Varsity field," and, more vital still, the prospects of the Nine. But in May there came a shock which changed things for a time.

The Lusitania brought to every American a revelation of what had lain so deep in his own heart that often he had not realized it was there. When the Germans hid in the sea and sent down the great merchant ship, with American babies and their mothers, and gallantly dying American gentlemen, there came a change even to girls and boys and professors, until then so preoccupied with their own little aloof world thousands of miles from the murder.

Fred Mitchell, ever volatile and generous, was one of those who went quite wild. No orator, he nevertheless made a frantic speech at the week's "frat meetings," cursing the Germans in the simple old English words that their performance had demonstrated to be applicable, and going on to demand that the fraternity prepare for its share in the action of the country. "I don't care how insignificant we few fellows here tonight may seem," he cried; "we can do our little, and if everybody in this country's ready to do their own little, why, that'll be plenty! Brothers, don't you realize that all over the United States tonight the people are feeling just the way we are here? Millions and millions and millions of them! Wherever there's an American he's with us—and you bet your bottom dollar there are just a few more Americans in this country of ours than there are big-mouthed lobsters like that fellow Linski! I tell you, if congress only gives the word, there could be an army of five million men in this country tomorrow, and those dirty baby-killin' dachshunds would hear a word or two from your Uncle Samuel! Brothers, I demand that something be done right here and now, and by us! I move we telegraph the secretary of war tonight and offer him a regiment from this university to go over and help hang their d—n kaiser."

The motion was hotly seconded and instantly carried. Then followed a much flustered discussion of the form and phrasing of the proposed telegram, but, after everything seemed to have been settled, some one perceived by telephone that the telegraph company would not accept messages containing words customarily defined as profane; so the telegram had to be rewritten. This led to further amendment, and it was finally decided to address the senators from that state, instead of the secretary of war, and this in a somewhat modified form the message was finally dispatched.

Next day, news of what the "frat" had done made a great stir in the university. Other "frats" sent telegrams, so did the "Barbarians," haters of the "frats" but joining them in this; while a small band of "German-American" students found it their duty to go before the faculty and report these "breaches of neutrality." They protested heavily, demanding the expulsion of the "breachers" as disloyal citizens, therefore unfit students, but suffered a disappointment, for the faculty had been sending telegrams of similar spirit, addressing not only the senators and congressmen of the state, but the President of the United States. Flabbergasted, the "German-Americans" retired; they were confused and disgusted by this higher-up outbreak of unneutrality—it overwhelmed them that citizens of the United States should not remain neutral in the dispute between the United States and Germany. All day the campus was in ferment.

At twilight, Ramsey was walking meditatively on his way to dinner at the "frat house," across the campus from his apartment at Mrs. Melg's. Everything was quiet now, both town and gown; the students were at their dinners and so were the burghers. Ramsey was late, but did not quicken his thoughtful steps, which were those of one lost in reverie. He had forgotten that springtime was all about him and, with his head down, walked unregarded of the new gayeties flung forth upon the air by great clusters of flowering shrubs, just come into white blossom and lavender.

He was unconscious that somebody behind him, going the same way, came hastening to overtake him and called his name, "Ramsey! Ramsey Milholland!" Not until he had been called three times did he realize that he was being hailed—and in a girl's voice! By that time the girl herself was beside him, and Ramsey halted, quite taken aback. The girl was Dora Yocum.

She was pale, a little breathless, and her eyes were bright and severe. "I want to speak to you," she said, quickly. "I want to ask you about something. Mr. Colburn and Fred Mitchell are the only people I know in your 'frat' except you, and I haven't seen either of them today, or I haven't asked one of them."

Why Castoria?

YEARS ago Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups were the remedies in common use for Infants and Children; Castor Oil so nauseating as to be almost impossible and the others all containing Opium in one form or another, but so disguised as to make them pleasant to the taste, yet really to stupefy the child and give the appearance of relief from pain.

It required years of research to find a purely vegetable combination that would take the place of these disagreeable, unpleasant and vicious remedies that from habit had become almost universal. This was the inception of, and the reason for, the introduction of Fletcher's Castoria, and for over 30 years it has proven its worth, received the praise of Physicians everywhere and become a household word among mothers.

A remedy ESPECIALLY prepared for Infants and Children and no mother would think of giving to her baby a remedy that she would use for herself, without consulting a physician.

Separator Wound Her Up.

When I first went to live in the country the cream separator was a novelty to me, and I insisted on playing with it. One evening after the milk had been run through I tried to stop the wheel that still kept turning. I couldn't succeed, so I took the end of my dress and to my surprise the wheel caught my dress and kept winding it up and up. The folks had to run and get the scissors and they had to cut the whole front of my dress out to release me. Believe me, I never go near the cream separator now.—Exchange.

Money Bee Always Favored.

The honey bee is supposed to have played a role in the lives of all the more important Egyptian, Greek and Roman divinities. Among Latins it even had a divinity of its own, the goddess Mellona. Medieval Christians seem to have been quite as eager to show their appreciation of the insect. While the house-fly had to be satisfied with the patronage of Beelzebub, and the ant was given so obscure a patron as St. Saturnus, the honey bee enjoyed the special favor of the Virgin or was even made the "anella domini," the maid-servant of the Lord.

More than 8,000 aftershocks were registered by seismographs during the two years following the great Mino-Owari earthquake, in Japan, which occurred Oct. 28, 1893.

Honey and Wax in Church Ritual.

Honey and wax were early believed to have medicinal and magical properties, and were, of course, used for sacrificial purposes. Their ritual value is apparent also in the Christian cult, for honey was formerly given to babies during baptism, and the tapers in churches today are supposed to be of pure bees' wax.

W. S. McLaren, of Jackson, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. C. McLaren, of Chelsea, is in Washington, D. C., this week, attending the national convention of motion picture theatres.

The first of this week, the Michigan Central reduced their force of men at the Four Mile Lake track pan by laying off three of the six men who have been employed there for the last three years.

Ex-Supervisor Henry Landwehr died at his home in Manchester, Saturday, following an illness of a few days. Mr. Landwehr was a brother of Mrs. Jacob Hinderer of Chelsea, and Mrs. Frank Feldkamp of Lima.

The fourth panel of jurors were called to Ann Arbor Tuesday to serve in the trial of Peter Orlando, who is charged with the murder of John Burg, of Saline, last July. The first three panels were exhausted Monday. E. R. Dancer, of Chelsea, was drawn as one of the jurors.

The C. G. Spring Co. will probably complete the work of giving the Lewis Shop a thorough overhauling this week and will be ready to begin operations next week. The forms for various kinds of springs are being prepared and the furnaces for the heat treating of the springs are being relined with fire brick, and a quantity of steel is on hand to be manufactured.

A state quarantine on corn in the townships of Wayne and Monroe counties, bordering on the Detroit river, effective June 1, has been announced by the State Department of Agriculture. The quarantine had previously been established against the shipment of corn from the province of Ontario, Canada, from where it is believed the insect reached the border townships.

CHIEF EXECUTIVES AT PLAY

Occupants of the White House Have Sought Recreation in All Forms of Strenuousness.

It is said that President Harding is the best golfer who ever lived in the White House. Though he only took up the game three years ago, he can get round the Chevy Chase course at Washington in 95, bogey being 71.

Mr. Wilson, though at one time a very good walker, was never keen on games, with the one exception of lawn tennis. He played a sound game of lawn tennis. He is a good mechanic and has on occasion shown that he could drive a locomotive.

The late Mr. Roosevelt was by far the most athletic man who ever sat in the presidential chair of the United States. Some of his feats were extraordinary. So lately as 1900 he rode 98 miles in 17 hours over slushy Virginia roads. He never stopped anywhere for more than ten minutes, except once, at midday, for lunch and to rest his horse.

He was a skillful boxer and a fine fencer. Some eighteen years ago he received a bad wound over the eye in a fencing bout. The button of his opponent's foil broke off.

"Big Bill" Taft, who was one of the heaviest of United States Presidents, took up boxing in order to get his weight down, and was successful in reducing himself.

Fishing is a sport which many Presidents have enjoyed, among them Benjamin Harrison and Mr. Cleveland. The latter was a really keen angler and used to visit Florida in winter in order to enjoy the delights of capturing the great "silver king," as the tarpon is generally called.

POWER FROM VOLCANIC HEAT

Italian Industry Has Probably the Cheapest Motive Force in the Universe Today.

In central Tuscany is a large electric powerhouse that obtains its initial driving power from volcanic heat. In the neighborhood are many cracks in the ground, from which powerful jets of very hot steam spout high into the air. Early experiments in using the steam for driving engines failed commercially, for the borax salts, sulphurated hydrogen and sulphuric acid in the steam, on account of the corrosive action, made necessary frequent repairs. The difficulty has been overcome by applying the steam, not directly, but to a boiler in place of fuel. So applied it produces steam in the boiler at a pressure of two atmospheres, which is then passed through a superheater and on to the steam turbine used for driving electric generators.

Prince Ginori-Conti, who financed the undertaking, has made three large installations on that system. One of 3,000-kilowatt units has been at work since January, 1916; the second since April of that year, and the third started not long ago. So far these groups have worked very well and have been a great boon to the industries of Tuscany, which have been under a great disadvantage owing to the scarcity and high price of coal. Since the volcanic region extends for many square miles around Darderele there is nothing to prevent the installations from being increased until they produce thousands of horsepower.

Oil Burned by Ocean Liner.

It costs approximately $102,000 to fill the oil tanks of the White Star liner Olympic for a round trip. The tanks hold 7,500 tons, and about 700 tons remain at the end of a normal round voyage. The oil is taken out at New York at a saving of nearly one-half. The Olympic has only recently been equipped to take on oil enough for the return voyage.—Wall Street Journal

County Fair Notes.

The grading work on the race track is nearly one half completed, and we expect the track will be finished about June 1st.

The first row of horse stalls, 300 feet long, is about two-thirds done.

The final arrangements will be made to complete the program of the entertainment at this year's fair. The management feels satisfied that no fair in southern Michigan will offer a stronger program than the Washtenaw County Fair, which has the distinct advantage of being the only Fair within driving distance of Ann Arbor or Washtenaw County offering fire works as an attraction.

It is planned to start operation this week on construction of the first cattle building. The first building will be used as a storage building for a large amount of the equipment which the Fair has on hand.

After this building is completed it is hoped to complete the membership campaign before other construction work is started, as considerable saving results in buying large quantities. The membership campaign is progressing favorably. As high as six farmers in succession have bought memberships. Practically all progressive farmers visited are unanimous in the belief that Washtenaw County can and should have one of the best fairs in the state.

As soon as the membership campaign is completed the work on $20,000 worth of exhibit buildings will be started.

A big booster banquet was given by the Fair board at the Chamber of Commerce Monday evening, May 8th. About one hundred people from different parts of the county were invited. Mr. H. H. Halliday of East Lansing, who is the state commissioner of fairs, was the principle speaker.

The Young Ladies' Chapter of the Congregational church will hold a bake sale, Saturday, at 3 p. m., at Hinderer Bros. store.

Still Powerful Ruler.

With an area of 245,000 square miles, Afghanistan is, next to Tibet, the largest country in the world that is virtually closed to the citizens of other nations. But political life at waxy, alert Kabul is in sharp contrast to the meditative seclusion and classic aloofness of the pious lamas at Lhasa. Amir Amanullah Khan, through his agents in India and elsewhere, is in close touch with the world's current events; and, as the last remaining independent ruler of a Moslem country, now that the power of the caliph at Stamboul is broken, he wields a far-reaching influence throughout the Mohammedan world; also, because his land happens to lie just as it does on the map of the world, it is plain that for a long time to come he will be an active force in the political destinies of middle Asia. Like Menelik of Abyssinia, Queen Lil of the Hawaiian Islands, or the last of the Fiji kings, this Amir, remote and obscure as his kingdom is, stands out in his time as a picturesque world figure.

Scots "Fish" With Swimmers.

Over in canny Scotland they "fish" with swimmers, that is with students who are learning to swim.

Swimming instructors have various methods for teaching their pupils, but none is more novel than that used by some of the Scots. These instructors have a rope and pulley arrangement by which the pupil is suspended at the end of the rope in the water. The instructor holds the other end of the rope and can raise or lower the pupil in the water.

In his other hand the instructor has a long pole with which he prods the pupil at various times to correct the movements of the arms and legs. Should the instructor lose his grip on the rope what would happen to the pupil can be imagined. But supposing, with that pole in his hand, the instructor loses his temper? The field of conjecture is open.—Cleveland News-Leader.

Improbable Story Beginnings.

Heckvenicker had been in the dance place for over three hours, but still, he had not tired of the jazz music.

When Landeck presented his check at the paying teller's window, the man in the cage did not count the money more than once.

Svenska objected to her boy friends spending money on her.

Itocquet had just returned from the dentist, who refused to accept the regular fee because he had inflicted so much pain upon his patient.

"No," said the insurance agent, "I was not 'just' in the neighborhood, but I came uptown especially to see you."

—Melvin Lane in the New York Sun.

Home-Coming Week.

Word has been received from twenty-four alumni classes of the University of Michigan to the effect that they are planning reunions during the home-coming week-end to be held in Ann Arbor from June 6 to 19. The new week-end reunion and Commencement plan is evidently proving popular among the alumni, in whose interests it was adopted, and all indications point to a record breaking number of class reunions.

Wilfred Shaw, Alumni secretary, expects that at least ten more notices of reunions will be forthcoming within the next few weeks.

Everett's Corners.

Unadilla News.

Too late for last week.
Miss Ruth Watson is working in Durand.

Miss Agnes Watson is confined to her home this week with mumps.

Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Ellis entertained a daughter from Alma over the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Cobb and family called on Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Teachout, Sunday.

The Unadilla school will give a box social at the school house Friday evening, May 5.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bowersox and family, of Jonesville, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Pyper.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Marshall and Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Seastrum spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. James Barton.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Livermore, of Pennville, spent several days of last week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Titus.

Secret Gold Field.

There is no doubt that there is gold in the Soudan, and the French government is taking steps to get it out. Concessions are being given to companies which will endeavor to operate gold mines in that country, and the natives will be rewarded for revealing the places where nuggets have been found. Twenty years ago some natives brought in a 60-pound rock, which was found to be 90 per cent gold, and recently there have been found a number of smaller nuggets which were almost as rich. The Soudanese fields are at present very difficult to reach, but the announced fact that a colonial railroad project is to be completed in a few years makes the outlook very hopeful, and the prediction is made by some that the Soudan will some day outrival the Klondike. Hitherto the natives have been clever enough to guard as a secret the source of their gold findings.

The Newspaper Guide.

The newspaper that carries a good line of advertisements, like The Chelsea Standard, is to the shopper what the time table is to the traveler and the published guide to the tourist. Busy people will study advertisements in the home or in the office as they do a time table, and before they start out shopping they have determined where they are going.

The newcomer or the visitor to Chelsea finds the advertising columns of The Standard a reliable guide to follow, just as he finds the printed guide for tourists to points of interest a matter of interest and time saving. In fact, the stores, the garages and the theatres are points of interest to all our readers, and the non-advertiser puts himself outside the pale of interest.

Don't Overload Your Truck.

Because of the recent breakup in the state trunk lines, the state highway department has issued orders to all counties in the state calling attention to the law regulating the loads trucks may carry and insisting that steps be taken to enforce this provision of the law.

While the greatest damage to the roads from trucks resulted during the spring breakup, a program is now being outlined which will result in a systematic inspection of truck loads in all counties during every month in the year.

Already more than 20 southern Michigan counties have purchased loadmeters and the highway department is endeavoring to have each county purchase similar equipment.

DOES YOUR BACK ACHE?

It's usually a sign of sick kidneys, especially if the kidney action is disordered, passages scanty or too frequent. Don't wait for more serious troubles. Begin using Doan's Kidney Pills. Read this Chelsea testimony.

Chas. Hyzer, Madison St., says: "I was a sufferer from kidney trouble and backache. Sharp, shooting pains through my kidneys made work a burden and if I stooped I could hardly straighten again. Finally a friend who had used Doan's Kidney Pills with good results told me to try them and after using them I was soon relieved. Three boxes cured me so I am glad to say Doan's are a fine remedy."

Mr. Hyzer gave the above statement March 1, 1913 and on April 27, 1920 he added: "I am glad to again recommend Doan's Kidney Pills and confirm my former statement. The cure Doan's made for me has remained permanent."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Hyzer had. Potter-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

you winter." He went to Antigo, Wisconsin, to take charge of a stock in Detroit.—Enterprise.Milan—Life is full of strange and surprising occurrences and an amusing but very annoying one happened to one of the visiting members at the conference held in Monroe recently. On retiring this lady placed her false teeth on a dresser and in the morning no trace of them could be found. It was suggested that perhaps a rat had carried them away

as no other solution could be made.
She returned home with the teeth
still missing, but in a few days received a letter from her hostess telling her they were on their way. After a diligent search the teeth were found in the attic of the house.
They had been carried through a number of rooms and up stairs, but were uninjured in any way. Be careful where you leave your teeth.—

Washtenaw Boys Have a Chance.

County School Commissioner Evan Essery has received information from G. W. Dickinson, secretary-manager, that the Michigan State fair, which will be held September 1 to 10, will conduct its annual boys' state fair school upon a larger basis than ever before.In every county of the state, competitive examinations will be held, and the boys who show the greatest proficiency in agricultural studies will be given a trip to the fair at Detroit at the expense of the fair association.At the fair they will be given instruction by the state's foremost agricultural experts on the best and most modern methods of agriculture.
The Michigan State fair has conducted this school for years as a contribution toward agricultural education.The rules under which the free trip may be won are, in part, as follows:
Boys must be between the ages of 14
and 18 years; effective date, September 1, 1922; they must write both in the regular eighth grade examination and the special fair's examination; the winner will be selected by the county school commissioner, board of examiners or a special committee. An alternate also will be selected.Every effort is being made to have the fair examination questions entirely practical. It will go into the actual problems of the farm from every angle. Theoretical and practical phases will be jointly studied.
A boy who can successfully answer
the questions, it is said, must show a pretty thorough knowledge of all phases of farm life.At the fair, the management will see that the boys have a good time
as well as instruction in agriculture.

Treat Seed Potatoes.

That heavy losses in the Michigan potato crop, suffered annually by the inroads of disease, can be almost entirely eliminated by proper seed treatment, is the statement of Dr.
G. H. Coons, plant pathologist at the Michigan Agricultural college.Scab, Black Scurf, and Black Leg are the three diseases which levy heavy toll annually on the state crop. The diseases are carried to the field on potato seed which has not been treated."This loss is almost entirely preventable," says Dr. Coons. "Given a high grade sack of seed stock, properly carried through the winter and properly treated, a perfect stand should result with normal weather.
The method of treatment is simple, cheap, and easy, and it insures not only stand but also good quality."Potatoes are treated by soaking them for from one-half to one and one-half hours in a solution of four ounces of corrosive sublimate, dissolved in thirty gallons of water.
The solution must be strengthened from time to time during the treatment.Corrosive sublimate (mercury bi-chloride) is deadly poison, and the solution used for dipping is poison.
Every care must be used to prevent accident.Detailed information on potato treatment may be had from county agricultural agents or from the Botany Department, Michigan Agricultural College, East Lansing.

A Big Sermon.

Luther Burbank, plant wizard, was seventy-three years old a few weeks ago, and he took the occasion to preach a splendid little sermon that every reader will do well to remember. "I am convinced," said the creator of new plants and trees,
"that the same treatment and care necessary to the highest development of plant life is also essential to the highest development of human life.
I am speaking of the boy or girl who is reared in the only place that is truly fit to bring up a child or plant
—the country, the small town—for the nearer to nature they are brought up the better it will be for them and for the great world of which they are to become a part. In the successful cultivation of plants there must be absolute honesty. You cannot deceive nature or thwart her without the consequences falling back on your own head. So be honest with your child."

Intercollegiate Meet.

Four hundred invitations have been mailed to high schools in Michigan,
Illinois, Ohio, Indiana, Pennsylvania,
New York and Iowa, to compete in the twenty-second annual interscholastic track and field meet to be held at the University of Michigan, May 26 and 27. This meet has been one of the largest of its kind in the country. Trial heats will be held on Friday afternoon, with the meet proper at 1:30 Saturday afternoon, and closing in time for the visiting athletes to witness the Michigan-Chicago baseball game. The visitors will be the guests of the athletic association while in the city, and the program of events which has been partially arranged includes automobile trips, visits to various buildings and places of interest, and a banquet at the Michigan Union, at which Coach Fielding H. Yost will present the winners with their medals and

ARNOLD BENNETT ON WORDS

Repetition Better Than the Use of Bad English, is the Contention of Noted Writer.Arnold Bennett hates half-meanings, and especially he hates inexact words.
He quotes from a London daily and holds up to ridicule "The King and queen were present at a first night in a London theater last evening for the initial time in their reign." His comments are instructive, Malcolm Cowley writes in the Literary Review:"It is quite a first-rate example of bad English. The culprit, whose name is well known to myself and other members of the London literary police force, evidently thought that it would be inelegant to use the same word twice in two lines; so he substituted 'initial' for 'first' in the second line. * * * Perhaps he had never reflected that words express ideas, and that therefore if a precise idea recurs, the precise word for that idea ought to recur. The idea expressed by the word 'first' is precise enough, and no other English word means what 'first' means. Certainly 'initial' does not mean 'first.' Still, the man meant well. His misfortune was that, having picked up a good notion without examining it, he imagined that repetition was inelegant in itself. Repetition is only wrong when it is unintentional, and when, being horrid to the ear, it is reasonably and honestly avoidable. On the other hand, repetition, used with tact and courage, may achieve not merely elegance but positive brilliance."Here is Bennett's style both in theory and practice, and the practice agrees with the theory. The passage is not merely clear, but it is brilliantly repetitive. The trouble is that Bennett often goes out of his way to repeat himself.

HEARTS AFFECTED BY FEAR

Armenian Children Slow in Recovering From Terrors to Which They Were Long Subjected.According to Dr. Mabel Elliott, head of the American Woman's Hospitals, who is now serving with the Near East Relief at Ismid, Turkey, a large number of the Armenian children under her care are suffering from enlarged hearts or other forms of heart disease, due to the constant fear to which they have been prey during the past few years.Relief workers in the Near East have long been familiar with the mental petrification due to the terrible experience through which these children have passed, most of them having forgotten everything of their past, their names, their homes and their language included, but this is the first instance that has been recorded of the effect of fear on their hearts.The cure which Dr. Elliott is practicing with these children is a combination of mental and medical. First of all, they are made to realize that they are entirely out of danger and among friends. Then they are put on a special diet of nourishing foods and certain exercises are prescribed. The results so far have been remarkably successful.

Roses for Every Section.

The Department of Agriculture in a rose zone map shows how frosts limit rose culture in certain sections. Tea roses by this map can be grown throughout the South and in California, or wherever the frosts are over in March. Hybrid tea roses are safe farther north to southern Pennsylvania, Ohio, Illinois, Iowa, Nebraska, New Mexico and Arizona, where the frosts are over in April. Hybrid perpetuals and some hardy specimens can be grown in the northern states where the last frost is in May, but where frosts occur during the summer, as in parts of the northwest, success with outdoor roses is difficult.This schedule is based on the supposition that roses in the districts assigned to them as safe will need no special care in the winter. With winter coverings of earth, straw and burlap, many roses will resist frost and cold. Some hybrid tea roses, for example, can be grown in Minnesota and Massachusetts.There are thousands of varieties of roses, and several hundred new ones are produced each year, so that there are roses adaptable to practically every part of the country.

All True.

The guest was a smiling, sly sort of man. He hoped to make good with his host by winning the affection of his children. But for some reason seven-year-old Mary did not like him.
Still he persisted and one evening when he entered the house and saw her all bedecked in a new dress, he said meaningly, "Fine feathers make fine birds, I see," and smiled at her father.Mary turned and looked at him and noticed the fur collar on his overcoat.
And then a little giggle escaped her.
"Oh, fine fur makes foxes, too," she returned.But she didn't know why the guest colored.

Paraguay's Advanced Ideas.

Students in the Paraguayan Institute are to be taught wrestling and fencing.
Gymnastics will be given by a corps of professors in the schools and colleges of the republic of Paraguay. The instruction of the greatest number of inhabitants possible in physical exercises will be encouraged by local championships, national and international games, and by propaganda in favor of physical development through lectures and sporting publications.

Listen—Worth Health and Money to You

There are more bottles used each year of Foley's Honey and Tar than of any other cough medicine.
Why? Because each year more and more people find it the best medicine they can take for coughs, colds, croup, "flu" and bronchial coughs, tickling throat, hoarseness, etc. It is safe and reliable and contains no opiates.Mrs. F. A. Gibson, 1547 College Ave., Racine, Wis., writes: "I have used Foley's Honey and Tar for coughs and colds and it has never failed in giving immediate relief. I am never without it."As all colds have dangerous possibilities, why trifle with your health and waste your money, when Foley's Honey and Tar is so easily had? Sold everywhere.We make small plumbing repairs or complete installations of new fixtures—correctly and at

Mr. and Mrs. Ahnemiller had left their home a short time before the alarm was turned in. The flames appeared to have started from defective wiring. The flames were subdued by the use of a garden hose and a chemical tank. The interior of the home was badly water soaked and damaged by smoke. But for the timely discovery by the neighbors, the blaze might have done a large amount of damage. The loss is partially covered by insurance.

Nervous Women Destroy Happiness

Thursday Health Talk No. 17,
by H. H. Beatty, Chiropractor

Women apparently are more given to "nerves" than men, though women have no monopoly of the trouble. The woman who has suffered a nervous breakdown is irritable, lacking in strength or reserve, and apparently always about to give out. The condition is often the cause of much family discord for which disease rather than the woman should be blamed.

A nervous breakdown often is directly due to irritating pressure on spinal nerves to the stomach and the solar plexus region. Other points of irritation are usually found. The chiropractor adjusts the joints of the backbone that are causing this irritating pressure back to their normal position and the relief that is experienced enables the victim to relax and sleep. Often this sleep is the first really restful sleep since the inception of the disease. Recovery is always slow, but with the irritating pressure removed, there is a chance.

Suffered With "Nerves" for Eleven Years.

"About fifteen years ago my health broke down completely. I gave up school, in fact everything. Every doctor of medicine within twenty miles was consulted and treated me. But I remained a nervous wreck. Four years ago I tried chiropractic. There was a change from the start. Today I am enjoying work and health. I want to commend chiropractic."—Miss Emma Johnson, Chiropractic Research Bureau, Statement No. 1312H.

Rustless Steel.

Rustless steel seems to be a completely established fact and it should be looked into for employment in various industries, according to the Compressed Air Magazine (New York).

Says this publication: "It is reported on German authority that the Krupp works are paying special attention to the production of such steel. The metal contains a large amount of chrome and is said to be remarkable for its hardness and strength. Its resistance to chemical action is such that it is not affected by boiling in nitric acid. It is used as a substitute for nickel-plated metal in the manufacture of instruments. The firm is also studying the question of using rustless steel in the manufacture of plates for artificial teeth in place of the gold or vulcanite now generally employed."

Her Conclusion.

"Mamma," said Elsie when the family and visitors from the country had sat down to breakfast, "is it true that people who snore have bad consciences? I read in one of my books that they do."

"I don't know, dear. Perhaps they have. What makes you ask such a funny question?"

"I was just thinking, if it's true, Aunt Susan must at least have killed somebody once."—Boston Transcript.
