SOUTH-SIDERS WANT VILLAGE PAY THIRD

South Main Street Delegation Appears Before Village Council Monday Evening.

Quite a good sized delegation of South Main street property owners along the proposed new pavement appeared before the village council Monday evening for the purpose of learning if possible what percentage of the total cost of the curbing and extra width pavement the village would assume.

Spokesmen for the delegation presented to the council a petition requesting the improvement containing the signature of over 60 percent of the property owners. In fact, it was explained, when all who have expressed their willingness have signed the document will contain the names of 34 out of 39 land holders.

Attention of the council was called to the importance of the improvement. As the proposed pavement will connect with the Jackson-Ann Arbor paved way, the improvement will be a valuable asset and benefit to the village at large and for this reason the delegation asked the council to be as liberal as possible.

It was pointed out that the village assumed one-third of the cost of improvements of other streets, and the petitioners would like at least as good treatment, and as the state pays 75 per cent of the 20 feet pavement this would not be burdensome. The delegation wanted an expression from the council so their activity in the matter could proceed.

The matter was thoroughly discussed and there was no real opposition when a motion was presented by Trustee Heselshwerdt that it is the sense of the council to pay the cost of street intersections and one-third of the curbing and extra width pavement. The motion carried, with two trustees remaining neutral on the question at present.

The council conducted the usual routine of business, President D. H. Wurster presiding. Among some of the questions brought up was the practice of some residents of dumping in the gutters of the street the grass when mowing lawns. As this practice interferes with the efficiency of sewers an ordinance may be passed to penalize the offense. Attention was called to the danger in some sections where branches of trees obstructed the view of auto drivers, thus endangering the safety of children.

After the enthusiastic departure of South Main street delegation and a vote was taken upon the percentage to be assumed by the village, council adjourned.

Mrs. Joseph Mayer.

Miss Caroline Wacker was born in Freedom, May 30, 1862, and died at her home on South Main street at 2:30 o'clock Wednesday morning, June 7, 1922, after an illness of over one year's duration.

She was united in marriage with Joseph Mayer in May, 1887, and for twenty-five years they resided on their farm on the Chelsea-Manchester road, in Sharon, moving from there to Chelsea about seven years ago.

Mrs. Mayer is survived by her husband, five sons, Otto and Elmer Mayer, of Sharon, Carl J., Edgar and Alfred, who reside at the family home, two daughters, Mrs. Elmer Lehman, of Lima, and Miss Anna, at home, four grandchildren, two brothers, Daniel Wacker, of Lansing, and Emanuel Wacker, of Lima, two sisters, Mrs. Daniel Stricker, of Ann Arbor, and Mrs. Chas. Mohrlock, of Chelsea.

The funeral will be held in St. Paul's church at 1:30 o'clock Friday afternoon, Rev. G. W. Krause conducting the services. Interment in Oak Grove cemetery, Chelsea.

Custer Brigade Reunion.

Detroit will be invaded June 13 and 14 by the best foragers of the Civil war—survivors of Custer's Michigan Cavalry brigade.

The First, Fifth, Sixth and Seventh Michigan cavalry companies composing the brigade, served in 57 engagements of the war and suffered greater losses than any other cavalry brigade.

The reunion will be held in G. A. R. hall and headquarters of the brigade will be maintained in the Brunswick hotel nearby.

R. S. Whallan, of North Lake, was a member of the Fifth and "Dick" always makes it a point to meet at every reunion of his former comrades. Mr. Whallan is the only survivor in the Custer Cavalry brigade in this part of the county.

North Sylvan Grange.

The next regular meeting of the North Sylvan Grange will be held at the I. O. O. F. hall Friday evening, June 9. Mr. and Mrs. J. Weiss entertaining. Work in the first and second degrees. Program:

CHOICE PROGRAM OF SACRED MUSIC

Given by Choir of 25 Voices Enjoyed by Large Congregation Sunday Evening.

The program of sacred music rendered by a choir of 25 voices at the union service at the Methodist Episcopal church Sunday evening provided a delightful entertainment for a large congregation that practically filled the auditorium of that beautiful edifice.

The prelude as rendered by Howard Tews, organist of Bethlehem Evangelical church, Ann Arbor, was a fore-runner of the good things to follow. The service was opened with appropriate scripture reading and prayer by Rev. H. R. Beatty, when the musical program, under the capable direction of Rev. G. W. Krause of St. Paul's church, was opened with the anthem, "There is a Green Hill Far Away," by J. J. Bell, which was followed by a charming duet by the Misses Yake and Israel. The choir then celerly rendered another anthem by Ashford entitled, "The Living Among the Dead," followed with a vocal solo by Paul Niehaus, "The Living God," by Johnstone O'Hara.

After two more anthems by the choir, "Forever With the Lord," by Wilson, and "Lift Up Your Heads Oh Ye Gates," Rev. Krause cleverly introduced the time for offering by introducing a story. While the offering was taken, the congregation was treated to a charming selection on the organ by Mr. Tews.

"La Auguante" by Gabriel-Marie was the title of a cornet solo by Kenneth Broesamle, which was well rendered. Rev. Krause here took occasion to express his regret because of the absence of Mrs. A. A. Palmer, who was on the program for a solo, and Mesdames M. J. Baxter and G. W. Krause, necessitating the omission of two numbers, the latter a duet.

A serenade by Mr. Tews on the organ kept the undivided attention of the large congregation, the manner of the interpretation of the selection proving the organist a musician of more than average scope. "Shadows Lengthen," an anthem by Spence, was the closing number on the program and after the week's announcements by Rev. Beatty, the large congregation was dismissed with benediction and the singing of the Doxology.

The program gave evidence of excellent local musical talent, the large chorus containing members of the chorus of Methodist, Congregational and St. Paul's Evangelical churches as follows: Sopranos, Mrs. G. W. Krause, Misses Rhea Yake, Alice Baldwin, Eleanor Lambert, Milda Nicolai, Emily Weinman; altos, Mrs. James Kline, Misses Ella Barber, Cora Feldkamp, Milda Faust, Doris Foster, Doris Schmidt, Marguerite Israel, Maria Schmidt; tenors, J. G. Webster, S. P. Foster, Kenneth Broesamle; bass, Rev. H. R. Beatty, J. H. Boyd, J. I. DeLong, George Atkinson, Wilber Hinderer, Paul Niehaus.

Porter Brower.

Porter Brower, a life long resident of Washtenaw County, died at his home on Park street on Friday, June 2, 1922. He was born in Manchester township, March 8, 1837, and resided on the farm where he was born until about four years ago, when Mr. and Mrs. Brower became residents of Chelsea.

The farm that he was born on has been in the possession of the family since it was taken up from the U. S. government. He was united in marriage about forty-five years ago with Mrs. Malinda Berger. He is survived by Mrs. Brower, one son, Harry Brower, of Detroit, five grandchildren, Mrs. John W. Haselshwerdt of Chelsea is a granddaughter and Leroy Brower of this place is a cousin.

The funeral was held from the home at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon, Rev. H. R. Beatty conducting the services. Burial at Manchester.

Alber-Reiser Wedding.

About 120 guests gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Alber of Freedom, Thursday, to witness the marriage of their daughter, Milda Emma, to Willard E. Reiser, of Albion. Mrs. Fred Reiser, jr., sang "Oh, Promise Me," accompanied by Miss Charlotte Powell of Ann Arbor.

Then, to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march, the bridal couple descended the stairs and took their places before an arch of roses and ferns, attended by Miss Emma Schlicht, as maid of honor, and Nathan Alber, brother of the bride, as best man. Meredith Reiser, niece of the groom, carried the ring in a lily. Rev. W. H. Alber of Jackson, uncle of the bride, performed the ring ceremony. The couple will make their home in Albion.

Eschebach-Bahnmueller Wedding.

The marriage of Mrs. Martha Eschebach, of Freedom, and Mr. William H. Bahnmueller, of Chelsea, took place Saturday, June 3, 1922, at Zion church parsonage, Rogers Corners. Rev. E. Thieme conducting the services. The couple were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Godfrey Eisenman, of Bridgewater.

The couple will make their home in Chelsea, on Jefferson street, where Mr. Bahnmueller has resided for the last four years.

The Michigan Central lawn on the east and west side of the Chelsea passenger station have, during the past week, been put in shape and flower beds made and planted.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Introductory Greeting.

It is with pleasurable anticipations that the new owner of The Standard takes up his residence and work in Chelsea, thus fulfilling a desire that had its origin some years ago while publisher in a nearby town. Thus far we have been pleased with the general friendliness and good spirit greeting manifested by the people of Chelsea toward strangers coming into their beautiful little city. It is a spirit that speaks well for a community—that helps drive away the ordinary cares and makes life worth the living. We trust that this spirit will remain with the people of Chelsea always and continue to grow and become known abroad to such an extent as to give our city a reputation for an ideal home community.

And an ideal city we truly believe it is—a city full of beautiful homes, well kept lawns, nicely shaded streets, prosperous, up-to-date business places, its modern schools and churches and above all a generally friendly lot of citizens. In these respects Chelsea seems to be above the average by a long way judging from a careful survey of a few days' residence here.

In regard to the Standard, we expect to make no radical changes in its policy. It is our aim to sustain the past reputation of The Standard, for every one speaks in high praise of its work in the past. It has had the loyal support of a wide circle of readers and the patronage of Chelsea's foremost business men for years. It is our earnest desire to merit the continuance of this splendid support and win new friends if possible. Improvements are under consideration, for it is our desire that Chelsea shall have the best weekly home paper in the state of Michigan. Toward that aim our labors shall be directed.

We wish to state, however, that a publisher cannot accomplish this alone. He must depend in a great measure upon the readers and friends. We want you to make it your paper; we want it alive with the local happenings that are interesting not only to home folks but to those who have gone out into the world and still look faithfully every week through the columns of The Standard to find the names of former friends—your name. You will assist greatly if you give us news items, especially the small items that may seem unimportant to you, but are just the lines your friends are looking for.

All correspondents are requested, yes urged, to continue to send their letters regularly—every week.

Just a word to the business men. To you it is important that your town is kept before the public as a live trading center. From all indications it is a live shopping place, but it does no harm to keep the fact constantly before the public through the columns of the home paper. Do not think of advertising as an expense—it is an investment. Remember, advertising creates desire.

Successful, or better, community life depends not alone upon individual effort, although that plays an important part, but also upon the combined effort of the individuals. It is a healthy community spirit that makes life the pleasanter and it is important that such a spirit should be carefully fostered and strengthened until it can withstand any unexpected emergency that may be encountered.

With the thought of joining the good people of Chelsea and vicinity in contributing our portion to the wholesome community life now existing here, we respectfully greet the many friends and readers of The Standard.

In severing my connection with the Standard, I desire to thank all of its patrons and correspondents who have so heartily co-operated with me during the year and one-half that I have published the paper. My successor, Mr. E. H. Ahrens, is a thorough newspaper man and a practical printer of many years' experience, and I ask all who have so generously aided me in making the paper what it has been, to continue their liberal support to Mr. Ahrens. All back accounts, with the exception of the subscription accounts, are payable to me.

M. W. McClure.

Band Concert Draws Big Crowd.
Auto loads of people came to town last night to listen to the open air concert given by the Chelsea band, and many were the words of praise given the organization.

The band, under the leadership of W. C. Smith, gave an excellent program of overtures, selections and marches, all played in fine style, proving that Chelsea has a musical organization to be proud of.

It is hoped that arrangements will be made with the band for regular weekly concerts, for they certainly are drawing cards.

All halls in which meetings are held are to be inspected as to their safety from fire. Col. Vandercook is of the opinion that many halls throughout Michigan may be dangerous and an inspection of them will be taken with a view to prevent assemblages in places which might become firetraps. The Standard believes that every hall in Chelsea used for lodges or public assemblies complies with the statutes of the state.

Scrapping the Navy.

The county road commissioners have had the railroad crossing signs set to comply with the law passed by the last legislature. The act requires that the signs be placed 500 feet from all railway crossings on the public highways on either side. The signs on South Main street have been placed on the inside of the curbing and they certainly do not improve the appearance of the park in front of the residences where they have been set.

NATIONAL CAPITAL AFFAIRS

Centralizing Internal Revenue Work

WASHINGTON—The experiment of centralizing the work of the revenue headquarters is to be carried out in the four Pacific coast cities of Los Angeles, Tacoma and Seattle. It will probably be completed within a month, according to a department official.

Mr. Mellon, in discussing the plan, said the treasury never has had that 95 per cent or any other amount of taxpayers' returns audited and closed in district offices.

The district offices due study and action, said Mr. Mellon, has been given to the matter and rapid progress could be made to the convenience of taxpayers.

ers better accommodated by having more matters thrashed out with taxpayers in the local districts than has heretofore been had.

"The matter is now under consideration by the tax simplification board and a recommendation is expected from it very soon.

"To whatever extent improvements can be made in this respect the department is just as desirous as the public that they be made, and if so, then as quickly as possible. However, there must always be some central point to which all of the work ultimately comes in order that the interpretation of the law and its application may be uniform in all parts of the country, and as applied to all taxpayers.

"Assistant Secretary Dover's trip to the Pacific coast and other points is not in connection with any question of decentralization, but relates wholly to a general inspection of the customs service."

Mr. Mellon, it was said, was of the opinion that smaller claims might be handled more advantageously in the districts, but that the larger matters would ultimately have to come to Washington for final adjustment.

Newberry Case Still Excites Congress

WASHINGTON—The Newberry case continues to excite the members of congress. The senate was thrown into confusion as a result of an angry wrangle over the case of which Senator McKellar, of Tennessee, and Senator Robinson, of Michigan, indulged in personal attacks in the end became so heated that the case was dropped.

Senator Robinson of Arkansas, who was presiding, called McKellar to order and directed him to take his seat.

Senator McKellar had characterized the utterances of Senator Townsend, of Illinois, as untrue and absolutely untrue. Senator Townsend had called McKellar a politician so intent on trying to strengthen his own political position that he was willing to indict a great state, in this case, the state of Michigan.

Newberry case was at the bottom of the trouble. The senate had passed a senate rule, of which McKellar is the author, the purpose of which was the regulation of the expenditures of candidates for senate.

Senator McKellar, of Utah, one of the senate leaders, had suggested that the people of the state control their own affairs. To this Senator McKellar retorted that he wondered if the senators trust the people of Michigan to be honest and fair in the matter of the election of United States senators?"

Representative Frear (Rep., Wis.) introduced a bill in the house to require congressmen and senators to file statements of their election expenses. The measure is designed to meet the situation created by Attorney General Daugherty's recent decision that the ruling of the Supreme court in the Newberry case makes it unnecessary for senators and congressmen to file expense statements.

Senator Pomerene (Dem., O.) introduced a new corrupt practices act to take the place of the one declared unconstitutional by the Supreme court.

In substance, the new bill provides the same restrictions contained in the scrapped law, but Senator Pomerene is hopeful that the court will change its mind.

Airplanes for Navy's Fighting Fleet

WASHINGTON—For complete equipment of the fighting fleet with aircraft during the coming fiscal year have been approved by the senate naval committee. Rear Admiral Moffatt, chief of the bureau of aeronautics, has projected plans contemplating placing 213 planes of various essential types on the fleet, including cruisers, scouts and other vessels. The plan is designed to furnish the fleet with its own aerial defense and to include the air force as a permanent part of the fleet's defense. The planes to be used for this purpose are to be developed for fighting in air, and are completely developed and ready for control since the close of the war. They are designed to meet in air and repel raids against the ships of the fleet by enemy bombers.

In addition, the active ships will carry 46 observation and spotting planes, 27 small spotters, 36 torpedo or bombing planes, 18 scouts and four kite balloons for observation purposes. Each battleship of the 18 comprising the fleet under the naval limitation treaty will carry four planes, two V-F, or single fighters; one big spotter and one torpedo or bombing plane.

The torpedo plane will permit attack on enemy surface craft with 1,000-pound torpedoes, or with an equal weight in bombs.

Catapult launching devices recently developed and tried out successfully are to be installed on all ships, enabling them to send away their aerial defense squadrons, even in a heavy seaway. Then ten new scout cruisers will carry two catapults each and fighting and scouting planes to add to the range of observation of enemy movements.

This airplane equipment, sought by the navy as an immediate answer, it was explained at the department, to assertions that surface craft were defenseless against enemy air bomb attacks, is regarded as essentially defensive.

Prosecution of War Contract Frauds

WASHINGTON—APPROPRIATION of $500,000 to enable Attorney General Cummings to conduct a vigorous campaign of prosecution of war contract frauds is to be used by the department for the employment of expert accountants to investigate justice contractors who have defrauded the government. The committee has recommended a proviso on the bill limiting salaries of law enforcement officers to $10,000 a year, except that the chief director of the department, Mr. Daugherty, and the chief of the bureau of investigation, Mr. L. S. Simpson, and the chief of the bureau of war contracts, Mr. J. E. Quinn, will be exempted from the provision.

Mr. Daugherty told the committee that it would cost probably $50,000 to $60,000 to push the case against the Lincoln Motor company of Detroit. The government's claim against the company for alleged overpayment is more than $9,000,000.

"I want to say this," he added, "Investigation by the department of wartime transactions has been going on as rapidly as possible with the funds congress has provided and the use of other funds where that could not be used for the purpose."

ANTI-TRUST LAW INCLUDES UNIONS

LABOR ORGANIZATIONS LIABLE SAME AS CORPORATIONS, SAYS SUPREME COURT.

DECISION COMES IN COAL TRADE

Decision Against United Mine Workers Growing Out of Strikes in 1914 Upheld by High Court.

WASHINGTON—Deciding the Colorado coal case the supreme court Monday held labor organizations although unincorporated, are amenable to the Sherman Anti-Trust act and that under its provisions such organizations may be prosecuted for restraint of interstate commerce. The court also held that labor unions are sueable. Chief Justice Taft, in announcing the decision, did not indicate any dissent.

The case which presented the questions passed upon by the court was an appeal by the United Mine Workers of America from a decision of the United States district court of Arkansas, approved by the circuit court of appeals, holding them guilty of violating the Sherman anti-trust act during coal mine strikes in Arkansas in 1914, and imposing damages of $200,000 which were trebled under the anti-trust law.

The effect of the decision will be to set aside the damages because of the finding that the acts which caused the destruction of property were not incited for the purpose of restraining interstate commerce.

During the strike lawlessness prevailed and property damage was done the Colorado and eight other mines controlled by The Bache-Dennan Coal company. The United Mine Workers of America contested the jurisdiction of the federal courts on the ground that being an unincorporated association of mine workers it was not subject to prosecution under the Sherman anti-trust law.

LILLIAN RUSSELL MOORE IS DEAD

Famous Stage Beauty of Years Ago Passes Suddenly.

Pittsburgh—Mrs. Lillian Russell Moore, wife of Alexander P. Moore, publisher of the Pittsburgh Leader, and noted stage beauty of a score and more years past, died at her home Tuesday morning after an illness of several days.

Following a crisis in Mrs. Moore's condition Saturday night, her physicians had expressed belief that she would rally, but late Monday night it became evident that she had suffered a relapse. While it was recognized that the situation was grave, members of the household nevertheless made known late in the evening that no alarm was felt.

It was said that her illness was caused by a fall on board ship while she was returning from Europe a short time ago, where she went to make a personal study of the immigration problem for the United States. Complications did not set in until a few days ago when she was taken ill.

Lillian Russell, "The Queen of American Opera," in private life Mrs. Alexander P. Moore, for more than 30 years starred in various operatic roles in the United States and England. She was 61 years old.

VALENTINO IS FREED BY COURT

Bigamy Charge Against Screen Star Not Substantiated.

Los Angeles—Rodolph Valentino, screen actor whose principal roles have been of love heroes, was liberated of a charge of bigamy here Monday when the felony complaint was dismissed after a preliminary hearing before Justice of the Peace Hanby.

The justice ruled that the evidence presented was insufficient to support the complaint.

The dismissal of the case followed three days of testimony concerning the marriage in Mexico, May 13, of Valentino and Miss Winifred de Wolf-Shaughnessy-Hudnut.

The bigamy charge was filed against Valentino by the district attorney here because the Mexican marriage occurred before a final decree of divorce was granted Valentino by Jean Acker, screen actress, in whose case he was awarded an interlocutory decree last January.

OFFICERS MAY DISPLAY LIQUOR

Supreme Court Says It Is Legal If Done to Secure Evidence.

Lansing—Prohibition officers may display liquor while attempting to secure evidence against liquor law violators, the Michigan Supreme Court held Monday in affirming the decision of the lower courts in the case of William McIntyre, a hotel proprietor of Grass Lake, Jackson County.

McIntyre was convicted of violating the liquor law. He asked a new trial, on the ground that the two officers arresting him came to his hotel and displayed liquor. When they had disposed of it, they asked if McIntyre would sell them a bottle. He did and was arrested.

RADIO

INSTRUCTIONS FOR TROUBLE SHOOTING

How to Detect and Remedy the Open Circuit, Short Circuit and Leakage.

Radio circuits are subject to the same ills that the ordinary power circuits are subject to. However, to cure them is not such a difficult task as might be supposed, especially if some logical procedure is used.

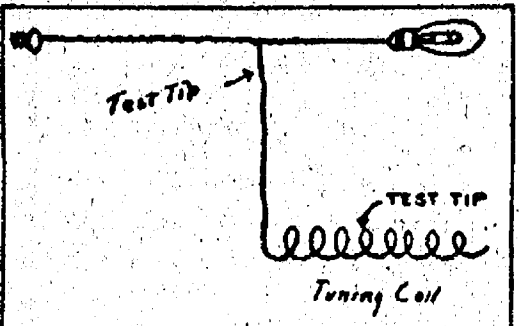

If a receiver is well put together in the first place and all contacts and other parts gone over once in a while, there is no reason why there should be any trouble. But the human being is prone to err, so that for the "once in a while" that is liable to happen, this article will be devoted to the explanation of what might happen to a simple receiver and the best way to fix it.

The usual troubles of the receiver fall under one of the following three headings:

- 1—An open circuit.
- 2—A short circuit.
- 3—Leakage.

An open circuit can most easily be detected by means of a series lamp. Nearly every one has available the ordinary 110 volt lighting circuit. Take an ordinary extension cord and cut one wire at any convenient place and use these two ends as test clips or tips. The extension cord is plugged into the house lighting circuit at any convenient outlet and when the two cut ends are held together the lamp will light as the circuit is closed. When the tips are held open the circuit is "open" and the light will go out.

Suppose it is desired to test for an open circuit in a tuning coil. Connect one tip to one end of the winding and the other test clip to the slider. As the slide is moved back and forth the light should remain lighted. If the light goes out at times there is an open circuit in the coil. If the light goes out when the coil is jarred the slider does not make good contact with the winding.

If a buzzer and battery are available they can be used in testing for an open circuit in the same way that the lamp can be used. Connect the battery and buzzer in series with the test clips, or tips and any low resistance circuit can be tested.

The ground connections can be tested with a buzzer and battery, but do not use the house-lighting circuit to test for grounds because one side of the lighting circuit is already grounded and if the other side were connected to the ground a short circuit would exist and an excessive current flow.

If the ground wire is connected to the water pipe, connect one test tip to the ground and the other to the gas pipe, which is also grounded. The buzzer should buzz if one has a good low resistance ground.

Leakage usually exists between the antenna and the ground. An antenna should be well insulated from its support. The lead-in should be brought down to the point where it enters the wall of the station in such a manner that when the wind causes it to swing, it cannot touch any grounded material, and that rain and snow cannot cause a path along which the current can ground. In bringing the lead-

To Test Telephone Cords.

In through the wall, insulate it well and inside the station use as short a piece of well-insulated wire as is possible to make good connection with the set.

To test the continuity of the circuit of a pair of telephone receivers, touch the tips of the cord phone to the tongue. If the receivers are in reasonably good condition a slight click will be heard. If the response in one receiver seems to be weaker than that in the other, examine the diaphragm of the receiver giving the weaker response and see if it is bent toward the pole piece. Try tuning the diaphragm over if such is the case. Be careful when the diaphragm of a receiver is removed that the leads of fine wire from the magnet spoils to the connection blocks do not become broken in handling.

If the continuity of the circuit of a pair of telephone receivers is checked and no response is heard when the cord tips are touched to the tongue, try checking each receiver of a double head set separately.

The two receivers are connected in

TIPS TO THE RADIOIST

The higher the aerial the stronger the signals. An increase of five to ten feet in the height of the flat top aerial will increase signals.

Addition of a variable condenser to the secondary or to the primary of a loose coupler often helps to tune out the undesired signals.

The sliders on tuning coils often make poor contacts with the slide rod. Thus much of the signal strength is lost. You can overcome this by soldering a flexible wire to the slider.

Increase length of spreaders of two, three or four-wire aerials from six to ten feet for best results. Each wire should be from four to six feet from its neighbor. Two wires one or two feet apart are no better than one wire. Likewise four wires on short spreaders are no better than one wire.

series and to check either one separately, short circuit the tips of the cord leading to the other receiver just outside of the case. Should it appear that there is an open circuit in the cord, short circuit both receivers where the cord enters the case and with a buzzer, or lamp connected to the tips on the end of the cord test for an open circuit.

Care should be exercised by the operator when adjusting a crystal detector to see that his fingers do not touch the surface of the crystal or the contact point of the little spring. The oil secretion that exists in the skin together with the dust that it collects will render a crystal detector inoperative by the insulating film that it will cause to form on the portion of the crystal surface that is touched. Should the surface of the crystal get dirty as evidenced by the received signals becoming weaker and weaker, try cleaning the crystal with alcohol and a little brush. Or if this does not seem to remedy the trouble, chip off old surface so that an entirely new surface is presented to the spring.

AMATEURS SHOULD PLAY FAIR

Radio Inspector Schmidt Urges That They Learn the Laws and Regulations.

Nine out of every ten radio fans are good sports, but the tenth is either a fan with poor judgment or a "rotter." It is up to the amateurs to see that restrictions are not imposed upon them, by playing fair, says Radio Inspector L. R. Schmidt of the Ninth district.

This can be done by observing certain cautions and by becoming posted on the radio laws and regulations. A copy of these regulations may be obtained from the superintendent of documents, government printing office, Washington, D. C., for 15 cents. It is worth while to spend 15 cents in order to be a "square shooter" in the radio game.

The great trouble with amateurs is that when they want to send a message around a corner they put on all the power they have with the hope that some one in Texas might pick up their message. The object should be to use the minimum amount of power to get the message to its destination.

"In all circumstances, except in case of signals or radiograms relating to vessels in distress, all stations shall use the minimum amount of energy necessary to carry out any communication desired."

Amateurs should keep their wave length to 200 meters.

"They should use a 'pure wave' or, as the regulations state, 'if the sending apparatus is of such a character that the energy is radiated in two or more wave lengths, more or less sharply defined, as indicated by a sensitive wave meter, the energy in no one of the lesser waves shall exceed 10 per centum of that in the greater.'"

"The wave must be 'sharp.' As to this the regulations state: 'At all stations the logarithmic decrement per complete oscillation in the wave trains emitted by the transmitter shall not exceed two-tenths when sending distress signals or signals and messages relating thereto.'"

Amateurs frequently are at fault in calling stations too often. The law states that they can call three times, send "d e" once and sign their station call three times; but often the amateurs will send the calls a dozen or more times.

HOW TO GROUND AN AERIAL

If Properly Done It Really Protects the Property From Lightning.

Generally speaking, aerials do not attract lightning, but they do store up atmospheric electricity, and, of course, this condition does create a hazard. However, when the aerial is properly grounded it then acts as a lightning rod and really protects the property from this electrical hazard.

Briefly, the fire underwriters require that the aerial be grounded when not in use by a copper wire no smaller than B. S. Gauge No. 4 or larger, and run said wire as directly as possible to the outside ground.

This means that water, gas or steam pipes inside the property cannot be used for a lightning ground, because if ever this ground was called into service there is a possibility that fire and loss of life may result. So do not use inside grounds for lightning protection.

POWER IN THIS FLASHLIGHT

From the pocket flashlight operated by two or three dry cells of minute size the battery searchlight has been steadily improved until remarkable results are obtained.

Some time ago, there was devised a searchlight of 500 feet range operating on six or eight volts. More recently a battery searchlight has been introduced with a range of 2,000 feet up to half a mile, operating on six volts. Equipped with a seven and one-half inch adjustable focus, single shell reflector, on a recent photometer test one of these searchlights gave 453 candlepower.

The combination of a nitrogen-filled tungsten lamp and a correctly designed reflector has worked wonders for the battery-operated searchlight. —New York Herald.

For Falling Hair.

"My hair is falling out," admitted the timid man to the chemist's assistant. "Can you recommend something to keep it in?"

"Certainly," replied the obliging young man, who had only recently left school. "Here is a nice cardboard box." —Pearson's Weekly.

The Better 'Ole.

A bad fire broke out in a garage on the main automobile route between New York and Boston and apparatus from half a dozen nearby small towns were rushed to the scene. When the chief of the first apparatus to arrive dashed in, he was amazed to see the proprietor sitting on a chair in the middle of the flaming structure.

"For Pete's sake, get out quick!" bellowed the chief. "This place is full of gasoline and it'll be blown sky-high any second."

"Can't leave," calmly retorted the proprietor. "A guy said he'd drop around in ten minutes and pay me five dollars he's been owing me for a month."

Euphony.

In an English class in an evening school in Boston the teacher asked for a definition of "euphony." An acceptable definition was given, and an example asked for. Here is the example:

"The man is a prevaricator." "Do you think that statement illustrates the meaning of euphony?" asked the teacher.

"Yes, indeed. It has a much more pleasing sound than to say, 'The man is a liar.' —Judge.

Have something to say. Say it. Stop talking.

Keep Wireless Equipment Away From Power Lines

The Consumers Power Company is anxious to co-operate wholeheartedly in stimulating interest and enthusiasm in wireless communication. It is experimenting with radio to supplement its present load dispatching system. It aims to foster the safe and rapid development of the wireless in Michigan.

Serious accidents in other states, due to fouling of radio aerials with power lines have demonstrated that there may be a very real hazard to life, limb and property unless the antennae for sending and receiving is so installed as to obviate any possibility of the wireless equipment coming in contact with energized power lines.

With this thought in mind and with the idea of stabilizing and safe-guarding the development of radio in Michigan, the Consumers Power company requests all persons interested in radio installations to be warned against:

Attaching wireless aerials to any pole carrying wire.
Stringing radio antennae over or under any other wire.
Anchoring aerials to any but substantial supports.
Climbing poles on which wires are strung.

The Company desires to take this opportunity to renew its warning to the public in general against:

Touching any wires found dangling from poles or trees or lying on the ground.
Flying kites with metal kite-strings.

This Company respectfully requests the co-operation of the people and the authorities and especially the parents, purely in the interests of public safety.
