

VILLAGE COUNCIL ACCEPTS FRANCHISE

A Special Election To Be Held Aug. 29th To Consider Consumers Power.

At a special meeting of the village council held last evening in the council rooms it was voted to hold a special election for the purpose of presenting to the voters an ordinance giving the Consumers Power Company the right to furnish power to Chelsea. The village council after spending a great deal of time and care in perfecting an ordinance that suited them and also getting a contract from the Consumers Power Co. that was right, now feels that the ordinance and contract accepted last evening are as near right as can be obtained.

The franchise and the contract had been prepared and yesterday they were taken over to Lansing by Mr. Turnbull. He conferred with the state utilities commission and they gave him their recommendations. The commission was very obliging in giving their reports to Mr. Turnbull and they said that the forms as drawn up were all right except in two or three minor parts.

Given 30 Year Franchise.

Attorney Withersall made the report at the meeting last evening and the corrections as suggested by the utilities commission were inserted. As the ordinance was passed it will give to the Consumers Power Company a 30 year franchise to operate in Chelsea. They will take over the lines and the distribution system not including the power plant nor the generating system, nor the boulevard lighting system. As the franchise reads the village will be able at the end of ten years to repurchase the lines if they so desire.

The matter of the rates to be charged will conform to the regular standard rates as given in the table of rates provided by the company and subject to the control of the Utilities Commission. The regulation of the power company is entirely in the hands of the Utilities Commission the way the ordinance and contract are constructed.

Consumers Offer Help.

The matter of running this plant has now become a serious problem. The coal supply on hand is sufficient to last about five weeks according to statements made last evening. The strike has made it hard to get coal and yesterday two carloads were purchased at a premium. A letter received by President Wurster from the Consumers Power Company is as follows:

"While in Chelsea yesterday I talked with Mr. Boehm. He informed me that he was having difficulty in getting coal for the municipal plant. While there has been no Government restrictions put on coal as yet, we are practically on a rationing basis and are using all of our resources to keep coal coming to our own plants. I would suggest that you keep a very close watch of your coal situation, and if the situation begins to look critical advise us as far in advance as possible so that we can prepare to fix up some kind of temporary arrangement to keep your plant going."

Yours very truly,
Howard Pett.

In another part of the paper readers will find the notice of the special election to be held August 29th. Persons who have voted before and who have registered do not have to register again. Those who have not registered may do so at the time specified with the village clerk.

H. E. Patterson and son Robert of Detroit were weekend guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George English. Robert Patterson remained for a two weeks' visit.

CEMENT PLANT MAY SHUT DOWN

R. R. Strike is Telling. Coal Supply Will Only Last a Few Days.

The effects of the railroad strike are just beginning to be felt throughout the country and the village of Chelsea is no exception. Unless a change comes within the next few days the Michigan Portland Cement Co. will have to shut down. Mr. Potter, president and general manager of the company said that the supply of fuel on hand would last but a few days and that unless some was shipped in this week, the plant would have to stop operating. "We have had no trouble in getting all the coal needed, even after the coal miners went on strike," said Mr. Potter. "But the railroad strike stopped the shipping of coal from the non-union mines." The plant east of town uses about four carloads of coal a day and the amount on hand will only last part of this week.

Products Will Last 30 Days.

The supply of materials on hand will be enough to furnish the customers for about 30 days. The plant would be able to continue the grinding operations with power received from the Consumers Power Co., but they would not be able to use their kilns.

May Stop Road Work.

Another feature of the railroad strike that will be noticed is that the switching of cars for the gravel pits has been stopped and this will mean that the loading of gravel will be discontinued. From this develops the fact that road work will stop.

The coal strike which caused so much comment and scare had apparently developed into nothing, until the railroad strike came on. It is not the shortage of coal that is stopping industry but rather the lack of transportation facilities to get the coal to the market. The railroad strike started quietly and has developed to such a contest between organized labor and capital is bound to tell somewhere.

BOYS BRING BACK TROPHIES FROM CAMP.

The boys who attended Camp Britt came back with many a happy smile and coat of tan to assure all that their two weeks stay in the woods did them a lot of good. The camp was a fine success for the boys and the boys from Chelsea came home with several of the prizes.

The loving cup awarded to the best all around boy in camp was brought to Chelsea by Paul Axtell. The cup stays here for six months and then is returned to the Y. M. C. A. in Ann Arbor for the rest of the year. Paul also made the third degree in the order of the White Swastika.

Other honors and prizes won by Chelsea boys were: Dwight Beach made the first degree in the order of the White Swastika. Robert Winans won third place in the 100 yard free style swimming race. Howard Holmes won second prize in table inspection. Frederick Steiner won one first, three seconds, and one third in the track meet.

The boys all had a fine time.

One visitor who they were all very grateful to was Howard Holmes who visited the camp several times and on each occasion brought some goodies to the boys in large enough quantities for all.

DOG FIGHTS

Dog days. One would have thought that a dog catcher's office would have to be appointed in Chelsea the way the dogs were going at it early Monday morning. An Airedale, a bull dog and a collie all got mixed up. The fight started between the bull dog and the Airedale and then the collie interfered. After it was all over the bull dog was thought dead but he soon revived and was able to crawl home. As to who won the fight the owners of the dogs will have to answer that.

UNSIGNED LETTER HAS $10 IN IT

Mystery as well as joy surround a letter received by a former business man of Chelsea. When he received his mail one morning last week he found a letter addressed to him with a post mark from Detroit on it. Upon opening the letter he found a $10 bill attached to a piece of paper upon which was written: "This is for you."

The anonymous letter is a mystery to the recipient and yet he feels that $10 isn't a bad present. No doubt some one had a guilty conscience and figured that in this way they could at least relieve their own mind if no one else's.

Whoever the kind soul was that sent the $10 could make many a friend by just addressing those letters to some others.

SCHOOL BOARD

FILLS VACANCIES. A meeting of the school board was held last evening and the regular business was transacted. The vacancy caused by the failure of W. H. Kantlehner to qualify was filled by the appointing of Emanuel J. Feldkamp to this office.

The loss of William Atkinson as janitor of the school was filled by Ed. Gentner who was engaged to fill this position for the ensuing year. The teachers are about all lined up for next year and by next week the contracts will probably all be signed and announcements will be made.

BROOKLYN DEFEATED SUNDAY 9 TO 7

Chelsea won again Sunday defeating Brooklyn by a score of 9 to 7. The Chelsea Independents are playing real ball and sticking to it. During the season so far they have lost but three games which is an admirable record.

The game Sunday was a close one, in as much as the Brooklyn boys were after Chelsea. Brooklyn had lost to Grass Lake and Chelsea had defeated Grass Lake. Chelsea ran up 5 runs during the fifth inning when the Brooklyn pitcher weakened and walked three men. With the heavy hitting end of the batting list up they were able to get a good lead.

A ninth inning rally on the part of the visitors made the score closer and for a little while it looked like another inning might have to be played. Miller pitched a good game and received good support throughout.

A GOOD FISH STORY

The following is a letter received by the Tribune from Rev. H. R. Beatty, who is spending his vacation in the north.

Sage Lake Resort,
Somewhere in Michigan.

Dear Editor of Chelsea Tribune.—After driving through rain for 100 miles friend Foster and I arrived here Monday at 11:30 o'clock and soon had our tent pitched and dinner ready. Fishing is the only worth-while pastime here, so fishing we immediately went and our Washtenaw skill soon appeared when S. P. landed a pickerel, which, though we had no scales with which to weigh, a good judge said it would tip the beam at 8 pounds. We ate on him for two days then threw the balance away as by that time we had caught many more. I'll say no more lest some people who do not know us think we were bragging.

This is certainly a delightful spot, take about four miles long and one mile wide. People here from several states and every one as one big family.

We visited the great power dam on the Au Sable river yesterday. There are five of these with two more under construction. The Commonwealth Co. get their power and light from these. So many interesting things in this country but I will take no more of your time.

Sincerely,
H. R. Beatty.

"THE GREAT MOMENT" WELL STAGED.

Elinor Glyn Indorses Setting for Gloria Swanson Picture.

"This is a most perfect English room!" exclaimed Elinor Glyn, noted British novelist, as the finishing touches were put upon a setting which had been prepared, for scenes in "The Great Moment," Gloria Swanson's first Paramount starring vehicle, which will be shown at the Princess Theatre Wednesday evening, July 26, for Miss Swanson.

The setting represents the boudoir of an English girl played by Miss Swanson, in an old ancestral home. The author, wrote the story especially for Miss Swanson.

In this story Miss Swanson is seen as the half Gypsy daughter of an English Lord, whose father rears her in strict seclusion, fearing that her mother's nomadic instincts will assert themselves over the subdued English culture. Later, however, on a trip to America, the girl falls in love with a young mining engineer, is bitten by a rattlesnake and taken by him to his mountain cabin. There, intoxicated from the whiskey which he had given her as an antidote, she feels the gypsy spell and brings about a situation which results in many dramatic and highly emotional episodes.

Milton Sills plays the leading supporting role, Sam Wood directed and the story was pictureized by Monte M. Katterjohn.

JUST AN EXAMPLE.

Sometimes, when a man refuses to advertise, the explanation is his own personal vanity.

That sounds strange, because we more often hear men accused of being self-advertisers BECAUSE of their vanity.

Yet the fact remains: Vanity keeps many a man from advertising as much as his business requires.

He regards himself as so important that everybody must know about him. Therefore, surely, he figures, he doesn't need to advertise.

The truth is that the biggest enterprise in the world could not survive a lack of the right kind of publicity.

Even the President of the United States, if his name were never mentioned in the papers, would soon become a nonentity.

Recently a very convincing argument was addressed to a man who had an exaggerated idea of the farflung fame of his own business establishment.

The selling talk was brief. It was made by the elephant-banner man attached to a circus. It was the province of the elephant banner man to induce a local merchant to pay a suitable sum of money for having a short, snappy advertisement painted on banners to be draped on one of the big elephants that marched in the parade.

He went to see the proprietor of the town's biggest dry goods store. This man was pleased over his own business success and was as sure of himself as the Angel Gabriel.

"No," declared the merchant, "we don't need any elephant to tell the people where our store is. Every man, woman, or child for miles around knows where Brown & Brown are located. It isn't necessary to advertise much any more."

"How long have you been in business?" inquired the elephant-banner salesman.

"About eighteen years," was the proud reply.

"And how long has the Methodist church been here?"

"The Methodist church?" repeated the merchant, wondering what that had to do with it, "why, I guess there's always been a Methodist church in this town. Oh, that church up on the hill has been there ever since the town was laid out—sixty years, I reckon, anyhow."

"All right," went on the circus man, "and now let me ask you one more question:

"Isn't it a fact that the Methodist church, after sixty years of successful operation here in town, still rings its bell regularly every Sunday morning?"

WIVES.

The price of wives has increased so much in Zululand, that wives are being bought on the installment plan.

This interesting economic report is brought to America by Olaf Linck, Danish explorer.

He says that a Zulu of high social standing must maintain at least eight wives. The price of a wife is two oxen down and an ox a year—like buying books on the installment plan.

The Zulu system will shock the moral standards of many. Zulus, however, inflict the death penalty for flirting with a married woman. On the average, maybe Zulu morals stack up close to the white man's.

HOLD UPS.

Wall street to protect its money bearing messengers, resorted to armed guards and all kinds of disguises. But hold ups continued.

Now the messengers will make their trips wearing bright scarlet coats, with small safes chained around their waists, the padlocks inside the safes.

It's an interesting experiment in psychology. By making the messengers conspicuous, anything that happens to them will also attract quick attention.

TRAINING.

A professor in a co-educational college boasts that his school "places great stress on training its young women to become good wives and mothers."

Mrs. Elizabeth Sears, president of the New York League of Business and Professional Women, interrupts with this: "And what method do you use to train your young men to become good husbands and fathers?"

No answer, of course.

MAN POWER.

Le Troquer, minister of public works in France, draws up plans for a tunnel under the English channel. His idea is to have Germany do the work and furnish the materials.

The completed job would strike $4,000,000,000 off the German indemnity.

The bulk of the indemnity will be paid in man power, or not at all. Germany hasn't the gold. She has the man power.

Gold, after all, is just a mortgage on human labor.

Of every 1,000 automobiles in the world, 843 are owned in the United States and 37 in Canada. This means that eighty-eight per cent of all the automobiles are found in these two countries. Great Britain has four per cent of the total number of auto vehicles, France two per cent, and in all other countries combined are found the remaining six per cent.

As soon as a man gets a good business under way he begins to milk it to make up the deficits of a lot of "cats and dogs."

It seems as though the only way for a rich man to be healthy is to live as though he were poor.

The richer the man, the more he hates to spend a half dollar for a new pair of garters.

MILICENT

THE affected young miss who changes her name from Mildred to Millicent in the fond belief that the two are interchangeable, is really rechristening herself. The two names are utterly dissimilar.

Millicent, which is translated to mean work, strength, comes from that remarkable word "amal," meaning work, which appears in some similar form in all languages. We have our word "moll" from it. Many feminine names have been evolved from amal, the first probably being Amalaswinth, the unfortunate queen of Lombardy, whom the Romans could not protect from the treachery of her favorites. Historians call her Amalaswinth, but in Burgundy she became Melisendra, Melicene and Melusine. Spanish bullfighters reveal a Melisendra as the wife of Don Gaxferos, who was taken captive by the Moors and we heard of her through Don Quixote. Melusine was the nymph, wife of Lord de Loezignan, who, according to old legend, retired from public view every Saturday and turned into a serpent.

Princess Melisende carried the crown of Jerusalem to the House of Anjou and through the Provencal connection of the English court, Lady Melisende-Stafford, who lived during the reign of Henry II, established the name in England. It soon came to be spelt Millicent and finally Millicent, prevailing as such today.

The simplest of all gems, the turquoise, is Millicent's talismanic stone. It is said to protect its wearer from all dangers, whether she walks or rides—or flies, the present day legend must add. It is an augury of good fortune if she sees the new moon reflected in the stone. Saturday is her lucky day and 1 her lucky number and holly is her flower.

"So you came to find him?" Henry went on.
"He'll be found!" she cried.
"He found?"
"Some are dead," she admitted, "but not all. Twenty are dead; but seven are not."
"Seven?" he echoed. "You say seven are not? How do you know?"
"The Drum has been beating for twenty, but not for more!" Constance said.
"The Drum you've been listening to all day upon the beach—the Indian Drum that sounded for the dead of the Miwaka?"
"But it didn't sound for him! It's been beating again, you know; but, again, it doesn't sound for him, Henry, not for him!"
"The Miwaka? What do you mean by that? What's that got to do with this?"
"This woman here was thrust forward at her; there was threat against her in her tense muscles and his bloodshot eyes."
"She did not shrink back from him, or move; and now he is not waiting for her answer. Something—a sound—had caught him about. Once it echoed, low to his reverberation but penetrating and quite distinct. It came so far as direction could be assigned to it; from the trees toward the shore; but it was like a forest sound. Distinct, too, was it from any noise of the lake. It was like a Drum! Yet, when the echo had gone, it was a sensation easy to deny—a hallucination that was all. But now, low and distinct, it came again; and, as before, Constance saw it catch Henry and hold him. His lips moved, but he did not speak; he was counting. "Twenty," she saw his lips form.

"The sound of the Drum was continuing. The beats a few seconds apart. "Twenty," Constance counted to herself. The beats had seemed to be quite measured and regular at first; but now Constance knew that this was only a false rhythm; they beat rather in rhythm than in regular intervals. "Twenty—twenty-one—twenty-two—"

Constance caught her breath and waited for the next beat; the time of the interval between the measures of the rhythm passed, and still only the whistle of the wind and the undertone of water sounded. The Drum had beaten its roll and, for the moment, was done.

Michigan Happenings

W. E. Phillips, of Deatur, was elected president of the Michigan Elevator exchange, a co-operative grain marketing institution of 100 farmers' elevators associations, by the board of delegates attending the third annual meeting of the exchange at the M. A. C. The annual report to members showed an increase in exchange membership from 25 at organization in October, 1920, to 100 member association. The exchange reported a comfortable surplus and no debt, and an average monthly business of $954,000 as against $89,000 per month October, 1920.

A temporary plan for aged state employees was adopted last week by the State Administrative Board. A resolution, offered by Frank Gorman, state treasurer, providing that employees who have worked for the state at least 15 years and are incapacitated for further duty, may be retired.

Edward Tibago, 29 years old, was fatally injured when the belt of a machine on which he was working at the Northern Engineering plant, in Detroit, snapped. The belt struck Tibago's head, fracturing his skull.

Flint's city council has raised the speed limit for automobiles to 20 miles an hour in residential districts and 15 miles in the business district, five miles an hour faster, for each section.

A posse of farmers, many of them armed with shot guns, broke up a gypsy camp near Port Huron and recovered the loot of two robberies which they charge the gypsies committed.

A. Borick, 65 years old, of Chicago, a traveling man, died of injuries suffered when the automobile, in which he was driving, ran into a culvert, two miles north of Morley.

He saw her now and started and, as though slight of her confused him, he looked from the woman and then back to Constance before he seemed certain of her.

"Hello!" he said tentatively. "Hello!"

"I'm here, Henry."

"Oh, you are! You are!" He stood drawn up, swaying a little as he stared at her; whisky was upon his breath, and it became evident in the heat of the room; but whisky could not account for this condition she witnessed in him. Neither could it conceal that condition; some turmoil and strain within him made him immune to its effects.

She had realized on her way up here what, vaguely, that strain within him must be. Guilt—guilt of some awful sort connected him, and had connected Uncle Benny, with the Miwaka—the lost ship for which the Drum had beaten the roll of the dead. Guilt was in his thought now—racking, tearing at him. But there was something more than that; what she had seen in him when he first caught sight of her was fear—fear of her, of Constance Sherill.

"You came up here about Ben Corvet?" he challenged.

"Yes—no!"

"Which do you mean?"

"No."

"I know, then. For him, then—eh? For him?"

"For Alan Conrad? Yes," she said. "I knew it!" he repeated. "He's been the trouble between you and me all the time!"

She made no denial of that; she had begun to know during the last two days that it was so.

OUTBIDS RENO

Americans accustomed to think that Reno holds the world's speed record for divorces should turn an eye to Yucatan. A new law has just been passed whereby it makes only a day's stay to establish a residence, and no particular grounds need be alleged in the complaint. Moreover, the fare is less from New York to Yucatan than to Reno, and the cost of living is far lower.

The only way to follow a business is to keep up with it.

DISTRIBUTION OF WAR EXPLOSIVES HAS SAVED MONEY FOR FARMERS.

Last fall the United States Department of Agriculture, in cooperation with the various State agricultural colleges, distributed 8,000,000 pounds of picric acid, a surplus war explosive, to farmers at a saving to them of about $800,000 over the cost of other explosives.

In Minnesota, the State agricultural college reports: "We feel that picric acid has been a great benefit to the State and has done a great deal to stimulate land clearing. All reports are to the effect that its use has been highly satisfactory. The 744,000 pounds allotted to Minnesota was distributed to 3,511 farmers, averaging 222 pounds per farmer. We estimate this will clear 35,000 acres of land, and has made a saving of over $70,000 for the farmers of the State."

There is now available some 6,000,000 pounds of picric acid, and of this amount about 1,600,000 pounds is available for each of the Lake States, Michigan, Wisconsin, and Minnesota.

Picric acid is a high explosive which was used in large quantities during the war, and is now being distributed to farmers for agricultural uses. No charge is made by the Government for the explosive itself, but as it has to be dried out and carted before it can be used for peaceful purposes the cost of this work must be paid by the farmer.

Picric acid is a comparatively safe explosive and is used in the same way that other agricultural explosives are used. It has several advantages over commercial explosives in that it keeps indefinitely without deteriorating, it is not affected by heat or cold, and it does not cause headaches or other ill effects when used in the open air. Because of its greater cost of manufacture, it will never be a competitor of commercial dynamites. It is being distributed for the purpose of increasing interest and activity in land clearing. The details of the method of distribution can be secured from the various State agricultural colleges.

Be kind to thy Father, for when thou wert young Who loved thee so fondly as he? He caught the first accents that fell from thy tongue And joined in thy innocent glee. Be kind to thy Mother, for lo! on her brow May traces of sorrow be seen; O well may'st thou cherish and comfort her now, For loving and kind hath she been.

In loving memory of my dear mother who passed away July 17, 1922. And I thank all her kind neighbors, relatives and friends, in our sad bereavement.

CATARRHAL DEAFNESS is greatly relieved by constitutional treatment. CATARRH MEDICINE is a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a humming sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced, your hearing may be destroyed forever. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE acts through the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system, thus reducing the inflammation and assisting Nature in restoring normal conditions. Circulars free. All Druggists.
