

MURDERED BULL
KILLS WOMAN

Body in Air, and Then Crashes
Against Stone Wall.

A terrible accident occurred in Washtenaw county Saturday afternoon about 5 o'clock when a mad bull attacked and killed Mrs. Mary Mayer.

Mayer and her daughter-in-law were ready to leave Mrs. Mayer's home to attend an Aid society meeting when the bull broke out. Fearful that he might do some damage, Mrs. Mayer ran out to drive him back into the pen.

Her daughter-in-law begged her to do it but rather to call in some one else. Mrs. Mayer said that she was afraid. Just what happened cannot be said, and before Mayer had a chance to escape the bull had thrown her against the stone wall of the barn.

She then crashed her against the wall. He then rushed her against the wall until her body was mutilated.

As the accident occurred John Mayer and daughter Ida and grand-daughter Lillian were driving by.

Schmidt was too late to prevent the accident but he tried to stop the bull from mutilating the body. While Schmidt tried to stop the bull the bull drove to the neighbors for aid.

Two men with pitchforks and driving two autos to get the bull from Mrs. Mayer and into the pen. There he did not quiet down so he could be tied or any one go him until Sunday afternoon.

C. Brogan of Stockbridge was but death evidently came quick and the woman was dead when the bull reached her.

Mayer's son Lewis was in Detroit business at the time of the accident. The authorities of that city were informed and located him by train to Chelsea.

Mayer was a widow 65 years of age. She is survived by her son, Mayer who lived on the farm, and mother and daughter, Minnie. All services will be held Tuesday morning at 2 o'clock from the home.

CHELSEA FALLS BEFORE
DETROIT TEAM

A game, which many conceded the best of the season, was Sunday between the Chelsea Knights and the Knights of Detroit. The game ended with a score of 8 to 0.

In the opening inning the visitors made a run on an error. In fact all runs made were by breaks in the defense. The Detroit team played good and had the good luck to be able to break to advantage.

Chelsea had three chances to score but they were shut out. In the seventh inning nine men in the seven outs he was in the box. Then he took the mound for the remainder of the game holding the team.

The Detroit boys played well and gave their pitcher the support.

In the fourth defeat of the season, Chelsea, but the boys put up a game. One of the star plays of the game occurred when the shortstop of the K. of M. team, while running backwards, grabbed a fly with his hand. It was a pretty catch, and received a good hand from the crowd.

BOAR TURNS OVER.

After the storm yesterday afternoon the car in which Dr. H. H. and wife and baby were driven in Chelsea in turned turtle. Dr. had just turned off from the road onto M 92. They were not hit by the wet road caused the car to turn over. No one was injured except for a cut upon Betty's arm.

RESIGN.

Official records have been received and will be held in the heart meeting.

DOLLAR DAY
PROMISES TO BE A BIG ONE

Thursday promises to be a busy day in the Village of Chelsea. Dollar day is going to be a grand success from the trend of conversation on the streets.

Dollar day for Chelsea is a new thing. Throughout the country though these bargain days have been proving a wonderful success. People can obtain on that day bargains that open their eyes. Merchants are happy because they can prepare their stocks for fall supplies then.

The merchants in Chelsea have all gone in for a big day and in almost every store the bargain hunters will find dollar day specials that will make one wonder. The merchants have been eager for this day and the people are more eager.

It will pay everyone to read carefully every advertisement in this issue and note the big offers. On Thursday the early shopper will get the cream. Make a list of your wants as you glance through the Tribune and be sure to bring it along with you Thursday.

Don't Forget to Tell Your Friends. Come early and get the bargains, which you will find in almost every store in the village.

ILLINOIS-MICHIGAN PICNIC.

A party of about fifty, composed of the Illinois-Michigan people of Chelsea and vicinity and a number of visitors, enjoyed a day's outing at the beautiful Eisenbeiser grove at North Lake Sunday.

At noon a most bountiful picnic dinner, for which these Illinois ladies are especially noted, was spread beneath the wide spreading branches of the beautiful forest trees, and to say that every one present did ample justice to the dinner is expressing it mildly. In the afternoon a number of young people enjoyed the sandy beach and the splendid bathing facilities, others found enjoyment in boating, but the main recreation was in social intercourse, talking over old days, commenting on present events and planning for the future.

As the shadows lengthened and the day drew to its close, all present again surrounded the tables and regaled themselves on the remains of the noonday feast, departing for their various homes, hoping that at some future time they might all meet again. Those present were: Wm. Pritchard and family, G. A. Kimball and family, Ed. Grabbill and family, B. A. White and family, J. L. Damon and family, Hugh Barclay and family, E. S. Kennedy and wife and Bert Gray and Ray McDaid, all of Chelsea; M. J. Jones, wife and son Marion and Carl Jones and family of Dexter, R. J. Stevenson and wife, three sons and daughter Glyda of Britton, Mrs. Agnes Barrett of Detroit, Miss Jeanne Michand, Ann Arbor, Miss Lela Rich of Sarnemin, Ill., and F. E. POMONA GRANGE BOYS AND GIRLS CAMP.

The Washtenaw Pomona Grange are planning an extra good program for the two weeks' camp for boys and girls in connection with the 4th annual assembly to be held at Pleasant Lake.

The camp and assembly will be held in the orchard and grove of Theodore Kuhl, on the northeast shore of the lake, where the committee are putting up a building 18x24 for a kitchen and refreshment stand.

The grange have tents for the boys and girls which were purchased last year. The grounds are in fine shape for such a meeting and there is plenty of room to park autos.

There will be services at 3 o'clock in the afternoon each Sunday of camp. In the evening community singing and moving pictures.

RAIN COMES AT LAST

Small Fire caused by Lightning.

Many a person got a good soaking yesterday but everyone that did was more than willing to take it. Rain was all that had been asked for during the past weeks.

Every time it looked like rain we were disappointed, and it seemed as though this region was doomed to go dry. But yesterday afternoon it rained and then it rained some more. Just how much water fell is hard to say but there was a plenty. The good that it did is only appreciated by those who needed it the worst.

Some damage no doubt accompanied the storm because of the way the water came down. Oats that were not cut suffered a great deal.

During the worst part of the storm the fire whistle sounded for the first time. But after a futile search no fire could be found and the best thing that could be done was come back and see how much water one could wring out of their clothes.

Later in the afternoon it was learned that lightning came in the street at the home of Mrs. James L. Gilbert, East Middle and McKinley streets. Miss Isabella Bartel who was alone in the house at the time, heard a sputtering noise and on investigating discovered that the electric lamp on the newel post in the hall was on fire. Miss Bartel quickly extinguished the fire with a dipper of water. But evidently the small blaze was seen by a neighbor who gave the alarm.

STEPS ON NEEDLE.

Mrs. Herbert Young of Lyndon received a painful injury Sunday morning when she stepped on a needle. In trying to remove the needle the point was broken off. Mrs. Young was brought to a local physician and after some difficulty the needle was removed. No further trouble is anticipated.

ANNUAL OUTING OF HOLSTEIN
BREEDERS OF WASHTENAW COUNTY PROVES A DELIGHTFUL EVENT.

Members of the Holstein Breeders Club of Washtenaw County, their families and friends enjoyed a delightful trip and picnic Saturday, July 29th. The breeders of the south western part of the county gathered at the farm of Taylor Cage, south of Manchester at nine o'clock and from there they motored to Friesland Farm and visited the fine herd of R. B. Waltrous. At 10:30 eight automobile loads left Friesland farm and drove to Fair Acres farm, owned by Braun Bros. of Ann Arbor on the Whitmore Lake road where the Eastern group of breeders were met. A fine herd of 25 Holsteins, among them two 80 lb. cows, were seen at this farm.

Both the groups left Fair Acres for the W. L. Rundell farm near Saline, where without a doubt one of the finest herds in Washtenaw County was seen. Mr. Rundell has 35 head of fine registered Holsteins, descendants of Old King Segis and Pontiac Korn-dyke. His two Senior Sires are sired by King Pieter Segis Lyons and King Ona Champion, respectively. His Junior Sire is by a son of King Pieter Segis Lyons. Several snapshots were taken of Mr. Rundell's herd. The tour was continued from there to the William Austin farm east of Saline, where also a fine herd of 25 Holsteins were inspected. At 1:30 250 people were seated at two large tables on the spacious lawn of this farm and enjoyed a picnic dinner. At three o'clock a fine program was rendered as follows: Mr. Austin acting as toastmaster in a very capable manner. Cornet solo, Lilacs, George Austin; male quartette, Soldiers Home, Prof. Dennison of the Dairy Department of the Michigan Agricultural College gave an interesting talk on Holsteins. Vocal solo, Sing Sing Birds on the Wing, by Mildred Hoop; E. W. Martin, secretary and treasurer of Washtenaw County Fair, gave a talk in regard to the fair which will be held in Ann Arbor September 19-25. Piano solo, J. Austin; vocal solo, Give a man a horse he can ride, by John Fish; recitation, Kittens and Babies, Myrtle Rogers; Eugene Betz, ex-mayor of Monroe, talk on Better Stock and better crops. Solo, Dream in June, Mrs. William Austin. One interesting feature of the day was a judging demonstration and contest of several cows conducted by Prof. Dennison of M. A. C. Mr. Alkton of Flint and Mr. Boardman of Jackson, who were also to be on the program were unable to be present. At 5:30 they all departed for their respective homes after spending a very enjoyable day and voting that Mr. and Mrs. Austin were royal entertainers.

Breeders from Manchester, Chelsea, Ann Arbor, Saline, Northville, Bellville, Bridgewater, Whitmore Lake, Milan, Pittsfield and York were present. The tour covered nearly 90 miles and all arrangements for the Washtenaw County Tour were nicely taken care of by County Agricultural Agent H. O. Osler, John Bazley, and L. A. Seaman, president and secretary respectively of the Washtenaw County Holstein-Friesian Association.

LONG LINES TO BE FALL STYLE

Straightness of Frocks Eminent-ly Suitable to American Women, Writer Says.

SIMPLICITY WILL NOT DOWN

Present Favorite Mode Never Seems to Grow Old, and Promises to Continue, With Additions, Subtractions and Revisions.

Every season, when fashion news seems duldest, a few high lights of style develop which prove to be the keynotes of the coming season, surviving the fire of criticism and wear and exposure. It is easy, notes a fashion writer in the New York Times, to look back then and see the fashion extravaganzas that have died by the wayside and those which have won the honors of the day.

We have kept a few essentials, added them to worthy survivals from the past, and now we stand ready to Coat With Sweeping Lines and Contrasting Lining, Survival of a Successful Fashion Season.

Into a new season for the accumulation of other and perhaps more important features of dress. This, then, is what is called the evolution of style. It is by this process that our clothes develop. We cannot long retain a trimming or a gown that is not useful, but if the fashion survives the test, it is bound to be a thing which will be generally satisfactory for many seasons to come, not just for the short span of months called a season.

The Long Coat.

No one with an aptitude for observing style as it develops can fail to see that the long coat with loose, graceful lines is one thing which has come out of this season as a surety. It has superseded the cape and, by that same process of evolution, has become a thing with all of the valuable points of the cape retained and graceful lines added.

The cape had gone a little too far. It had become too extremely popular for any claim to ultra-smartness. It was necessary that some new idea be thought of and it happened to be the coat of longer, more flowing lines.

So many of these new coats, seen at the races, the country, clubs and all outdoor gatherings, are made of the heavier silks in dark or neutral colors, with rather more startling tones used for the linings. Some coming along the road, it is puzzling to know whether some garments are a coat or a cape, after all, so closely do the two types resemble each other. When the coat swings open, it has those cape lines to which we have clung so long because of their womanly charm. But when the coat is closed it is more of an adequate street garment than the cape could ever hope to be. It has a bit of style all by itself, needing no other garment to make it successful.

The long coat is a Parisian interpretation of this newer of the outer garments. It is simple enough in its line and general makeup, but it has that attention to detail of style which places it in the class of the more important creations of the season. The stuff from which it is made is the heaviest of Moroccan crepes—a fabric with the heaviness of a serge or a velours, although woven entirely from silk threads. The coat is stitched around the rounded trimmings and is lined with a soft, warm shade of gray crepe that gives it a becoming quality. The way that the collar buttons around the throat is one of the newer features of the coats of this season, for it is a collar that looks graceful at all times, as well when the coat is opened as when it is closed.

Beads for Trimming.

Once in a while we make up our minds that beads for trimming have passed out of the category of fashion. Then they return in some new and surprising manner. This season beads have been larger and they have been put on with more attention to the decorative note supplied by each bead rather than with reference to masses of smaller ones.

An evening dress shows admirably the use of these larger beads. Each one has been used to tell a story of its own and there has been no attempt to have them run into each other. They are heavy beads, so that there could be no attempt to make them disappear for fear of the heaviness that they would impart to a gown which must necessarily be light in weight and appearance to carry out the function for which it is designed.

Peels Spuds and Asks for Senate Vote

From spuds to Senate is quite some hurdle, but the confident Mrs. Annie D. Olson, of Minnesota, is not afraid to pose in kitchen frock in asking the voters of the state to send her to the U. S. Senate in place of Frank B. Kellogg, the present Republican Senator. Mrs. Olson does not let her campaign interfere with housework, as one wide awake photographer found when he called at the home. Political wisecracks say Mrs. Olson is piling up hundreds of votes in her campaign.

This dress is one of the loveliest of the white dresses of the season and the heads are made of cut jet, showing up strongly against the purity of the background of rough white crepe. Of course there are many girdles and cabochon trimmings made of these larger and more effective beads, and each time the trimming appears the fact is made more apparent that the heaviness and the largeness of them is one of the season's developments in dress decoration which is bound to carry on.

Straight Versus Bouffant Lines.

The survival of the straight line through another season's struggle serves to show that in this style the American woman has found something to which her personality is eminently fitted. She may experiment with all of the innovations in the way of more generous widths, but back she comes to the straight lines, which have proved their satisfaction.

Down go the skirts to a far lower level, but the straightness of the line of the frock remains intact. We have innovations, to be sure, but none of them are met with any enthusiasm. At the end of a very smart and successful season of dress the straight line is the one which has won the day—that is, for general favor and popularity.

There seems no chance, either, that the straight line will cease to be original, for with each new creation there seems to be some brand-new development in the way of applying this simplicity of cut. It is a line which never seems to grow old, and because it is so well suited to the American woman's figure plus the life she leads, it bids fair to go on, with additions, subtractions and revisions, for a long while to come.

Draping in Long Lines.

The sleeves that are draped, the skirts that are draped, the waistlines that are draped and so on show trend toward using materials in this prescribed manner. We are becoming so accustomed to gracefulness in our everyday attire that we are really quite classic and after a while we will find ourselves unable to do without this general stimulus of beauty.

Artists in dress have been working for this end a long while. They have insisted that, once the American woman came to know her own powers of displaying the beautiful, she would develop that art with an avidity never before known in the history of woman. And this summer as one walks along the street it is impossible not to be struck by the fact that there is a larger element of beauty in our clothes than there has been in all the years of our recollection.

The draping, so much a part of the accepted gown, is in a large measure responsible for this state of affairs. There is hardly a gown where some bit of it is not to be seen, and everywhere that the loose, long folds appear there is that certain sense of perfectness which is bound to make its appeal and to give satisfaction.

The sleeves, made of long pieces of the material of the gown, are particularly beautiful. Especially are those sleeves lovely which glide on, to fasten their ends to other portions of the gown, making a line that is flowing and beautiful and graceful in the extreme. Once this method has been employed in the making of a dress, there is not much room nor need for trimming.

Something to Think About

FORWARD, BACKWARD

EVERYTHING in nature is moving toward a great purpose. There is no inactivity in the atoms or in the spheres; no turning backward, no indecision, but a constant movement in a forward direction, carrying us away from the yesterdays to new dawnings and new days.

The winds, the tides, the spinning of the earth in its prescribed orbit, the rising and the setting of the sun, the coming and the going of the seasons, the blooming and the fading of verdure and flowers, all bear evidence of progress and eternal life.

Being a minute part of nature, performing your little role in the great scheme of creation, reciting your lines, do you ever pause to ask yourself whether you are moving forward or backward?

In spite of any thought you may entertain in the matter, you are going ahead or drifting behind, just as surely as the roses bloom in summer and the snows blanket the ground in winter.

You are better equipped for your life-work today than you were yesterday, or less efficient.

Your mental and physical forces have undergone an imperceptible change and you have changed with them.

You are a trifle more dexterous in your work or slightly more clumsy.

In the last 24 hours you have not remained in a quiescent state, for the laws of motion have been silently at work, carrying you a step or two forward or backward, setting you down at the threshold of a new day a slightly changed being for better or worse, which you may or may not observe as you take hold of today's duties.

Before night, however, you may become conscious of a new-born power, or a lack of it, and wonder what the transformation means.

Its significance is clear. You are going forward or backward, keeping in accord with the eternal motion of things of which you are a part.

If you would move forward, keep step with the men and women who are laboring and achieving in the great purpose, you must watch your every thought, impulse and act, and ask yourself at the beginning of each day whether you are pressing toward victory or turning toward defeat.

"Forward or backward?" ought to be your initial question at dawn, and your final query at night. Let this self-examination become a habit, and in a little while you will be glad that you acquired it.

THE REASON

I OFTEN get a piece of pie, or bread, or even cake. That's equal to the very best. That mother used to bake. And mother was a famous cook. Known all the country through. For putting up the best of meals. That hungry children knew.

I used to think that modern cooks Had lost the noble art. But after long reflection I Espouse their cause and part. So when some grouchy man complains And calls their art in question, I know just what the matter is— It's simply indigestion.

Second offenders convicted of speeding, reckless driving, driving while drunk or other serious infractions of the traffic ordinances will draw straight jail terms while Judge John Faust presides in Detroit traffic court, he announced.

Lack of a pulmotor at Island Lake, near Howell, is blamed for the death of Martin Hull, 17 years old, son of Alva Hull, of Greenfield Township whose body was taken out of the lake eight minutes after he went down. Hull was swimming behind a rowboat in which Fred Ward, also of Greenfield Township, was rowing alone. They were only a short distance from shore and when Hull went down shouts went up from the shore to Ward, who turned around and succeeded in getting Hull into the rowboat in a few minutes.

Hummer Bushaw, of Millington, is dead, following an accident near Clarkston, when a motorbus went into loose gravel and upset. N. E. Walker, driver of the machine, told officers he was going about 35 miles an hour, and tried to pass another machine when the accident happened. The car turned over, breaking Bushaw's neck and crushing his chest.

Fully 35,000 persons assembled last week at the greatest celebration ever staged in Flint, following the announcement made by W. C. Durant that the main manufacturing plant of his new "Flint" six cylinder motor would be located in this city. Mr. Durant's former home, "Flint," will be ready for public inspection about September 15, and for deliveries January 1, 1923, the announcement said. The manufacturing company, the Flint Motor company, will have a capitalization of $5,000,000. A factory site contains 100 acres of land.

Postmaster John W. Smith of Detroit has been notified that the department has issued a new special delivery stamp which will replace the present stamp known as the issue of 1902. The new special delivery stamps will not be issued to postmasters until the present supply of the 1902 issue is exhausted.

HENRY H. FENN

Baby Wants Name, Not Gold, says mother.

MISS EVAN BURROWS FONTAINE

The son of multi-millionaire Harry Payne Whitney, has been asked to give his name to the 18-month-old baby of Miss Evan Burrows Fontaine, noted Oriental dancer of New York.

The action was started when the engagement of young Whitney to Miss Marie Norton, society girl of New York, was announced.

The dancer claims young Whitney wanted to marry her while he was student at Yale, but she refused as there was a true love-match and she didn't want to hurt his career. He grew cold, she says, when she told him of the baby, which she now calls Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney, Jr.

It's a name not gold that my baby wants, she says. Miss Norton says her friendship for young Whitney is unchanged.

THE ROMANCE OF WORDS

"ELECTRICITY"

IN SEEKING the derivation of this word, one might be pardoned for supposing that it had something to do with the ancient word for lightning or even, for steel or iron, because these substances have become connected in our minds with the substance itself. But "electricity" is one of those words which might be termed "natural errors," for it has its origin in the Greek word for amber—electron. In fact, a literal translation of it would be "the quality of being like amber."

The connection is far from apparent until we dig back into Greek history and find that the scientists of ancient Athens discovered that, by rubbing a piece of amber vigorously they were able to attract light objects with it. We now know that the force which we call "electricity" was generated by the rubbing of the amber, by the friction applied to its surface, but the Greeks were of the opinion that this was a quality inherent in the amber itself. While the existence of this force has been apparent in the form of lightning, magnets and the like, for countless centuries, it was only in very recent times that it was recognized as a distinct power, to be studied and catalogued and used for the benefit of mankind. The name applied to it, however, was the name given by the Greeks to the substance which manifested it. (Copyright.)

A Doo for a Dime.

An Indianapolis physician—on his way downtown one evening recently—was approached by a man who asked for a lift.

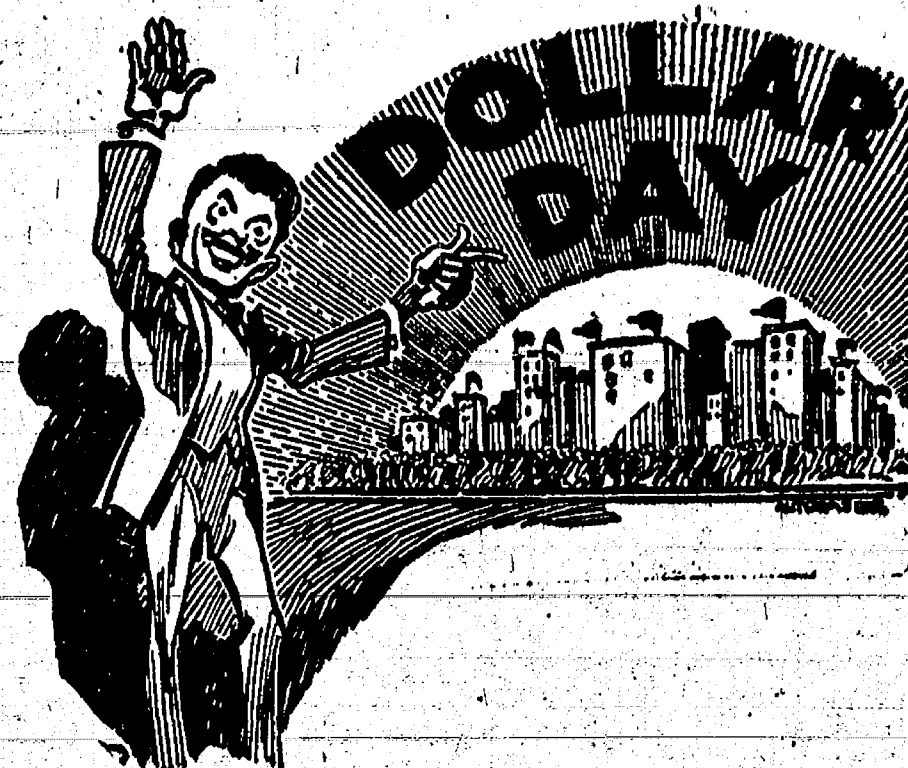

"Sure, Doc, can you let me have a dime?" asked the man. "Why, certainly," said the physician, "but where have I known you?" "You don't know me," said the man. "Then how did you know I was a doctor?"

"Oh, I call everybody 'Doc,'" Indianapolis News.

IN GREEN AND BLACK.

A stunning gown seen on a girl dancing at a New York roof-garden was of black satin slashed about the bottom and lined with green crepe. This was worn over a narrow under-tunic of silver cloth. The girl wore a jade bracelet above her elbow and jade earrings.

There is plenty of room at the top and the rent is cheaper.

THE FLAT WHEEL.

Do you remember, back in childhood when you played with a hoop, how the hoop bent into an egg shape when you leaned your weight on it?

The same thing happens to wheels—including those on autos—despite the air cushion in the tires.

Common or garden variety of wheels are not round, as is generally supposed, according to engineers' recent discoveries. Wheels may start out round, but they increasingly develop slightly elliptical shape, faintly resembling an egg viewed lengthwise.

You have noticed this on street cars cursed with flat wheels in their old age.

More vividly you have noticed it when riding in an old auto that bump bumps in defiance of tires and shock absorbers.

As the auto wheel carries you along, slightly flattened by the weight it supports, it naturally strikes "hammer blows" on the pavement as it revolves.

This is tough on the passenger.

But it is tougher on the pavement.

The effect is about the same as if an army of men were pounding the roadbed constantly with sledgehammers.

This, along with heavy trucks, is usually why our pavements go to pieces so rapidly.

The obvious solution, or at least meditation, is getting pavement with sufficient elasticity. Sand under the concrete bed works that way. So does asphalt on top.

British engineers are experimenting with a rubber pavement. That, however, probably would be too expensive. And there is not enough rubber.

The greatest American waste is in road making. The waste used to be mostly in the form of graft. Now it's largely in paving unscientifically.

Taxpayers put up fabulous fortunes for pavements that often begin going to pieces as soon as they are laid.

The problem of good roads is not so much mileage of pavement as quality of pavement. It's a tremendous field for engineers and inventors. Young man, this may be your big opportunity.

COAL PROFITS AND WAGES.

Thomas Kennedy the chairman of the hard coal miners' scale committee said the other day that "it seems that interest lies in only one direction and that is to arbitrate wages and permit the profits of operators to go unchallenged." If this were true, Chairman Kennedy would have just cause to complain.

But rereading of the president's declaration for a strike settlement commission does not support Kennedy's interpretation. By the president's plan all matters would be enquired into and would affect the judgment, profits, wages, working conditions. It would be unfair and illogical to consider a wage scale without considering profits—and to be fair and logical is the president's desire.

The people are not in love with the coal operators. They suspect that many of them are out to smash collective bargaining or to so hedge it around with restrictions, it will become a lost right.

Moreover the people have a notion that the same operators who would take away the right of wage bargaining would squeeze all the profits they could out of the public. The people are eager to hear something about the profits and there is no doubt the president shares their interest.

But the miners give the operators full chance to avoid the issue by laying their own cards on the table face up. They don't offer publicly in plain United States to submit their case to an arbitration board which would investigate both wages and profits. This failure to use the elemental strategy of putting the other fellow in the hole tends to make the public believe that the miners are not much keener for arbitration than those operators against whom they complain.

This doesn't hurt the hard boiled operators much as they are used to public distrust and they would just as soon the men would be in the same boat.

It does hurt the miners however as they have no chance to win if they don't first win public sympathy.

TWILIGHT.

A condemned prisoner in the Charles street jail of Boston is working like a beaver, in the shadow of the electric chair, to build a radiophone for his fellow prisoners.

While the supreme court reviews his case, he gives people outside prison walls an excellent example—making the most out of life while it lasts, striving to lighten the burdens of others. There is something worth while saving in a man like that.

WAGE STANDARD.

Americans own eight times as many autos as Canada, United Kingdom, France, Germany, Italy, Russia, Japan, China and Argentina combined. Yet these countries have nearly eight times as many people as America.

This shows something about standards of living here compared with abroad. It is one illustration of why some foreign countries can undersell us with cheap labor.

Labor's real wage is its standard of living.

My Bishop is any man who is living a better life than I am living.—Ed. Howe.

Would the spiral staircase run down if it were not wound up?

Let's not demand too much from progress.

The art of selling is one part talk and four parts judgment.

Over-severe criticism is as distasteful as undeserved praise.

MANY ADVANTAGES OF SHEEP

Animals Are Quite Useful in Keeping Farm Free From Weeds—Good Meat Producers.

While many farmers hop from one line of farming to another, according as prices have been high or low the season previous, the successful farmer usually sticks to some well-tried program whether conditions appear to be favorable or otherwise. The great majority of these successful men recommend the keeping of at least a few sheep upon the farm.

They emphasize that sheep are helpful in keeping the farm clean of weeds. They also consume much material that would otherwise go to waste. These farmers point out, too, that these animals can be comfortably kept in comparatively inexpensive buildings. The two main requirements in housing are protection from winds and freedom from moisture.

These animals enable the farmer to better distribute his labor because Mutton May Be Sold at All Seasons.

They require the most attention in the winter time when help is most plentiful and cheap. As meat producers sheep require about as little food as any other animal for the production of a pound of gain.

Finally, the income from the flock is fairly well distributed over the year. Wool is sold in the early summer when money is much needed, lambs are disposed of in the fall and winter, while breeding stock and mutton may be sold at practically all seasons.

BANKS AID PUREBRED SIRE

Virginia Farmers Given Opportunity to Improve Live Stock by Local Bankers.

The banks of Charlottesville, Va., are co-operating with farmers of the surrounding county in obtaining purebred sires. According to reports received by the United States Department of Agriculture, if a farmer will sell his grade or scrub sires and purchase purebred animals, the banks supply the necessary funds to cover the purchase of the purebred sire over the amount received for the inferior animal. The loan is made on the basis of a year's time.

Sentiment among bankers regarding the use of purebred live stock in practical farming operations appears to be growing more favorable, and the attitude of the Charlottesville banks is evidence of this point. Purebred sires of good quality, as shown by information obtained by the bureau of animal industry, increase the earning power of herds and flocks in which they are used.

CYLINDER OIL HELPS SWINE

Ames Specialists Declare It Is Safe for Hogs, Except Those With Delicate Skin.

Old oil from automobile crank cases can be used for oiling hogs, say the Ames husbandrymen at Iowa State college. Although some people are skeptical about using this sort of oil, the Ames men declare that it is safe, except possibly in the case of white hogs, which have a delicate skin that sometimes blisters through the use of the oil.

The oil should be allowed to stand for a while in order to allow the fine particles of metal to settle out. The surface oil may then be poured off and used in the hog oilers. The sediment should be discarded.

Alfalfa for Horses. Alfalfa hay can be successfully fed to work horses provided some other hay such as timothy is fed once a day. If alfalfa hay is fed the grain ration can be reduced very materially when these horses are not at work.

Start Young Pig Right. The life and future value of the young pig is absolutely in its owner's hands. Stunt it at the start and it goes through life a runt. Start it right and it will be a big, healthy hog.

CRAZY IN AIR?

The British air ministry is investigating stories that Dr. Ley, one of those killed when a plane plunged into the channel, had acted peculiarly on previous flights. One pilot said that Ley fired a pistol when his plane had reached a high altitude, and another said the physician had tried to wrest the controls from him.

VII. AERIALS AND HOW TO INSTALL THEM

One of the greatest advantages of wireless telephone receivers is that an elaborate or expensive aerial is not required. Although good sets with vacuum bulb detectors may be used with an indoor aerial, or even with a bedstead or wire springs as an aerial, yet an outside aerial will always give better results. As I have already mentioned, a single wire will do as well as several, the main thing being to get the aerial long and high in order to catch waves which are not interrupted or interfered with by surrounding buildings, steel bridges, electric wires and similar objects. Next, or rather most important, is to have the aerial and lead-in thoroughly insulated from all surrounding objects, for even wood, when damp, is an excellent conductor. The best material for an amateur aerial for receiving is a stranded phosphor bronze or copper wire, about No. 14, although solid copper wire, copper-covered steel wire or even insulated copper wire will serve every purpose. For insulators, use porcelain cleats. These may be used both where the lead-in is attached to walls or other objects, and where the aerial wire is attached to the supports or guys. The accompanying figures, No. 9 and No. 10, illustrate aerials installed, the first showing the wire attached to a chimney or similar structure and to a wall; the other, an aerial which is designed for a tin or slate roof and which obviates making holes for attachment. Where the with "spaghetti" tubing. For the best results, be sure to run your lead-in from the end of aerials towards the station which you most frequently wish to hear or towards the most distant station which you desire to pick up. Very often, this will make a vast difference in results, especially with a small receiving set. Care in following directions will insure good results.

FUR COATS BELTLESS, LOOSE AND UNFITTED.

Fur garments are shown in short and in full length styles. The full length fur garment is featured in two distinct styles. One has the upper section blousing over a wide, snug fitting girdle of fur shaped to the figure at the hips, and with straight, scant skirt. The second type has straight, flat, one piece back, with full circular skirt from the sides across the front. These coats are beltless, have straight, under arm seam, and are loose and unfitted in effect. They have wide collars and cuffs of the same fur.

The fashionable pelts for fur garments are flat black caracul, brown caracul, mole and squirrel. For short fur coats, mole skin, Persian lamb, and broadtail. White rabbit coats are very smart for sport wear, as also is white suede.

Velvet evening capes in black or in color lined with white rabbit or with grey squirrel, and having deep pendant cape collars of the fur such as were launched during last winter season, are well spoken of for the coming season, the Dry Goods Economist says.

STATE FAIR CUTS ADMISSION RATE

ONE-THIRD REDUCTION IN PRICE
TO EXPOSITION ANNOUNCED
BY FAIR MANAGER.

DROP IN WAGES BRINGS SLASH, SAYS G. W. DICKINSON

A slash of one-third in the admission prices to the Seventy-third annual Michigan State Fair, September 3 to 10, was announced by G. W. Dickinson, secretary-manager of the exposition in Detroit this week.

The reduction means general admission to the exposition, now under the jurisdiction of the state of Michigan, will be fifty cents this year, compared to seventy-five cents a year ago.

The board of managers of the fair made the cut on the recommendation of the fair manager.

"Believing the gradual drop of wages everywhere must be made up in a reduction in living and entertainment expenses, the fair management has slashed the admission prices one-third," Mr. Dickinson announced.

"This reduction, however, does not mean the exposition will suffer in quality. It will not. It will be better. I feel we are going to make up the reductions in the attendance. Last year nearly 400,000 persons attended the fair. Since, there has been a new understanding of what the Michigan State Fair represents and than a half million people at the exposition."

The premium list for the 1922 fair is nearing completion and will be published sometime in July. It contains complete instructions concerning entries and carries full information about premiums and other features of the fair.

FASHION IN FAVOR OF THE SLIPON GLOVE.

The entire fashion still is for the loose wristed slip on glove with elastic band or with wrist straps, the Dry Goods Economist says.

The black glaze kid glove attached in white remains the prime favorite, although latterly mastic colored gloves in suede again are being worn with tailored suits and dresses.

Gauntlet gloves with very fancy and much trimmed cuffs, embroidered or inserted with motifs of leather in contrasting color, are featured; but the popular wearing type of glove is the simple, slip on black glaze kid with white embroidery on the back of the hand, or the mastic colored slip on glove in suede, embroidered in self tone or in darker tone on the back. No gloves are worn for evening.

Compliments don't last long unless you return them.

WOULDN'T LEARN

A negro lad had been brought into a police court for the fifth time, charged with stealing chickens. The magistrate determined to appeal to the boy's father.

"See here," said his honor. "this boy of yours has been in this court so many times charged with chicken stealing that I am sick of seeing him here."

"I don't blame you, judge," said the parent, "an' I'm tired of seein' him here as you is."

"Then why don't you teach him how to act? Show him the right way and he won't be coming here."

"I has showed him de right way," said the father, but he just don't seem to have no talent for learning how judge; he always gets caught."

BARNES NAMED TO HEAD STATE FAIR DOG SHOW

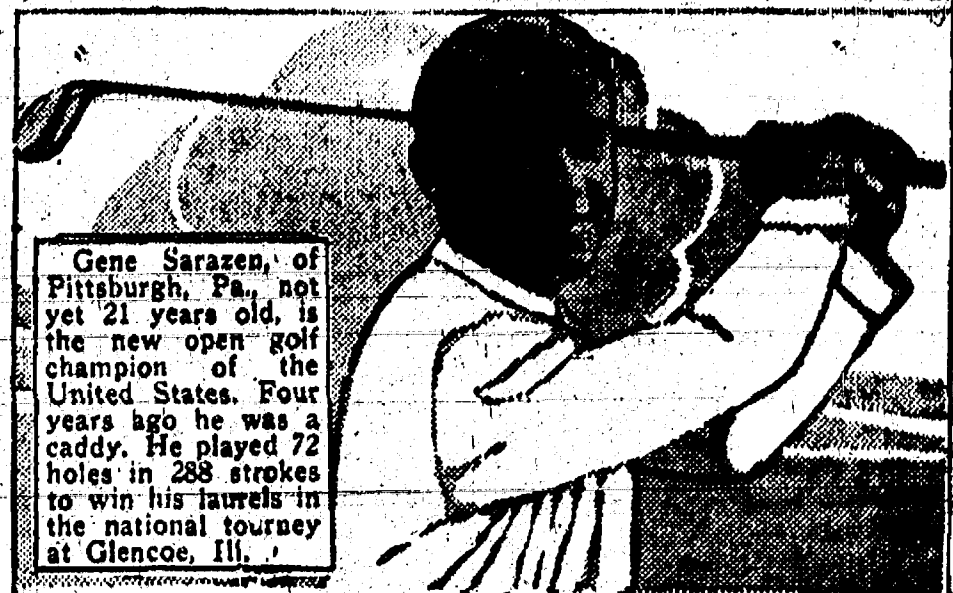

Frank W. Barnes, of New York City, has been named secretary and superintendent of the all-breed dog show to be given by the Michigan State Fair dog club at the seventy-third annual exposition, Detroit, September 1 to 10.

A plan to have specialty dog clubs co-operate with the fair organization in presenting a specialty show Sunday, September 3, preceding the regular three-day dog show of September 4, 5 and 6, is now under way.

Cash prizes will be given to winners this year instead of the percentage prize awarded at the last fair. Prizes for handlers also will be offered, announcement of which will be made at a later date.

Some try to do those about them good and others to "do" them good.

With Grotto Spectacle

Early acres of ground, seats for 15,000 spectators and a cast of 2,000 entertainers, are required for "The Awakening," the mammoth spectacle which Shadukian Grotto will stage at Dexter boulevard and Davison avenue, Detroit, for two weeks starting July 24th. "The most mammoth entertainment ever shown in the Mid-West" is the verdict of Director George Hoskyns, internationally known as a director and producer of large spectacles.

In the circus are 13 headline acts, the Jordan sisters being the premier wire walkers of the great entertainment. There will also be an army of clowns fast running horses ridden by daring men and beautiful ladies in tight, acrobats, equilibrists, trap-eze performers and performing animals.

The Detroit Street Railway is installing special loops and spur tracks for the use of the Trumbull and Hamilton cars, the two lines which reach the Grotto stadium, and the Detroit Edison Co. is setting 40 poles to carry high tension wires for the illumination of the great arena.

"The Last Days of Pompeii" and Pain's "Manhattan Beach" fireworks will both be presented under the personal direction of Henry J. Pain, their originator, and Mr. Pain states that this Detroit spectacle is the most mammoth he has ever undertaken.

8,000 HIKING CLUBS IN GREATER NEW YORK

They Swing Along Highways and Through Woods in Groups of Varying Size.

New York.—One must walk nowadays to be in the swim. Statistics gleaned from the out-door departments of the newspapers, from the Boy Scout and Campfire Girls' organizations, from the Y. M. C. A. branches and kindred bodies, from scores of amateur athletic clubs, and from the leading dealers in sporting goods, indicate that today there are no less than 8,000 hiking clubs in Greater New York, with a total membership of more than a quarter of a million men and women, who are keeping themselves in the pink of condition and experiencing the real joy of living by getting regularly out into the open country with no other means of locomotion than their God-given legs.

The city of New York has taken official notice of the movement. On three occasions recently Mayor Hylan has congratulated the boys and girls of the public schools upon their enthusiasm in taking up the new sport of hiking. In his dedication of the great new public playground in the Bronx the other day Mayor Hylan extolled the athletic tendencies of the boys and girls and impressed upon them that there was no better or more profitable way in which they could pass their vacations and utilize their holidays than by the excursions into field and forest of their walking clubs. He gave the same message to the Amateur Athletic Union of Brooklyn a few days later, and when a club of East Side boys and girls visited him at city hall preparatory to a hike to the tomb of Roosevelt at Oyster Bay he assured them that the best walkers among them would make the best citizens.

Walk and Be Well

No less enthusiastic a champion of the walking game is Dr. Royal S. Copeland, city health commissioner. "The benefit to health and the safeguard to morals to be found in long walks," said Dr. Copeland in an interview, "are too apparent to speak of them. If one takes long walks alone it is well for he walks the road of health, but if he takes long walks in company it is better for he adds the tonic of companionship to his exercise. Walking is the one form of exercise in which there is the minimum risk of overdoing it. In short, I consider walking the most beneficial of all exercises and it is never out of season."

"Never in my lifetime," said Edward R. Wilbur, manager of a nationally known sporting goods store, "have I known such a demand as now for outdoor garments and shoes and stockings and appliances for the tourist's luggage box. The rapid spread and tremendous popularity of the walking-club idea has no parallel in our experience."

"The hiker can make his requisite just what he feels like spending. Really, there are only two or three articles indispensable to hiking—thick walking shoes that allow lots of room, thick woolen socks and clothing that will give freedom of limb. He should have a canvas or leather musette bag, such as the soldiers used in France."

The Cow in the Knapsack
"To get the real benefit and joy out of hiking-luncheon should be carried and prepared and eaten in the open. Bread and cheese, a few slices of bacon, some coffee, a can of condensed milk, and a cake of chocolate furnish high-powered fuel for the hiker and are readily and happily assimilated even by those who in their pre-hiking days were afflicted with digestive apparatus so feeble as to balk at crackers and milk. Fortunately for the hiker, he can replenish his simple larder at any cross-roads store and provide himself with the most nutritious and appetizing food in a form that can be conveniently carried."

No single development in the problem of food transportation for the hunter, fisherman, hiker and all lovers of the out-of-doors can compare with the gift bestowed by the man who first found the way to make condensed milk, thereby putting a dairy in every man's knapsack. Before long there will be a national association of hikers, and Gull Boxes will be his patron saint. Such an association could do much to encourage the spread of the most beneficial and universal of all outdoor pastimes, map out interesting routes, secure the establishment of shelters, rest-stations, and camp sites at suitable locations, and insure the rights of pedestrians on country roads."

Moons of the Planets.

A moon is an attendant that circles about the planet of a sun. It is the satellite of a planet. The distinction between moon and planet is not one of size. Two moons in the solar system—Titan of Saturn and Ganymede of Jupiter—are larger than the planet Mercury, and rival the planet Mars. Many moons exceed the asteroids, or tiny planets. A satellite is held in sway by both sun and planet. It is ruled by two masters, and of these the sun is always the stronger partner.

Mother's Cook Book

MORE GOOD THINGS

AS STALE bread will accumulate, a little care is needed to keep ahead of the growth. If dry bread is put through the meat chopper it may then be used for croquettes, meat balls and any number of dishes. Keep the crumbs in a glass jar, sealed from the air.

Tip-Top Omelet.

Boil one-half cupful of milk, add one tablespoonful of butter and one cupful of bread crumbs, seasoning to taste. Beat the yolks of three eggs and add them; then stir in the stiffly beaten whites. Pour into a buttered omelet pan and cook until well browned.

Ham Patties.

Take two cupfuls of ham chopped fine, three cupfuls of bread crumbs three eggs and enough sweet milk to make a soft batter. Mix well; drop into gem pans, drop a piece of butter in each and bake until brown.

Brown Bread.

Take two cupfuls of stale bread crumbs, one and one-half pints of cold water, mix and soak over night, then rub through a sieve one and one-fourth cupfuls of molasses, one and one-half cupfuls each of Graham flour, cornmeal and rye meal, two teaspoonfuls of salt, three and one-half teaspoonfuls of soda and one and three-fourths cupfuls of cold water. Mix well and steam three hours.

Stuffed Apples for Tea.

Take fine large apples, core and fill with one-half cupful each of bread crumbs and chopped roast beef, one tablespoonful of melted butter, one teaspoonful of onion juice, one-quarter teaspoonful of celery salt, half teaspoonful of salt, one tablespoonful of parsley chopped and a dash of red pepper. Mix well and press into the apples. Bake in a little hot water from half to three-quarters of an hour.

Fruit Betty.

Put a layer of crumbs in a well buttered baking dish, cover with blueberries, canned or fresh, then add another layer of bread with a bit of butter and sugar if needed. Bake until well heated through. Serve with cream and sugar.

CHAPTER XX
The Fate of the Miwaka.

"No, this isn't your house, Judah?"

"No, Alan; this is an Indian's house, but it is not mine. It is Adam Knox's house. He and his wife went some-where else when you needed this."

"He helped to bring me here, then?"

"No, Alan. They were alone, here—she and Adam's wife. When she found she had brought you here—more than a mile along the beach. Two women!"

Alan choked as he put down the little porcupine quill box which had been the first of inquiry. Whatever questions he had asked Judah or Sher-rill these last few days had brought him very quickly back to her. Moved by some intuitive certainty regarding her, she had come north; she had had the thought of peril to herself; she had struggled alone across danger-ous ice in storm—a girl brought up as she had been! She had found him—Alan—with life almost extinct—upon the beach; she and the Indian woman, Wassaquim, had just said—had brought him along the shore. How had they managed that, he wondered. His throat closed up, and his eyes filled as he thought of this.

In the week during which he had been cared for, Alan had not seen Constance; but there had been a pecu-liar and exciting alteration in Sher-rill's manner toward him, he had felt; it was something more than merely the fact that Sher-rill had showed him for him that Sher-rill had showed him. Alan had spoken of her to him, and Sher-rill had spoken of her to him, as Constance, not as he had called her always before. "Miss Sher-rill," or "my daughter." Alan had had dreams which had seemed impossible of ful-filment of dedicating his life and all that he could make of it to her; now Sher-rill's manner had brought to him something like awe, as of something quite incredible.

He turned to the Indian.

"Has anything more been heard of Spearman, Judah?"

"Only this, Alan; he crossed the straits the next day upon the ferry there. In Mackinaw City he bought liquor at a bar and took it with him; he asked there about trains into the northwest. He has gone, leaving all he had. What else could he do?"

Alan crossed the little cabin and looked out the window over the snow-covered slope, where the bright sun was shining. Snow had covered any tracks that there had been upon the beach where those who had been in the boat with him had been found dead. He had known that this must be; he had believed them beyond aid when he had tried for the shore to scamp help for them and for him-self. The other boat, which had car-ried survivors of the wreck, blown further to the south, had been able to sail the shore of North Fox island; and as these men had not been so long exposed before they were brought to shelter, four men lived. Sher-rill had told him their names; they were the mate, the assistant engineer, a deck-hand and Father Perron; the priest who had been a passenger but who had stayed with the crew till the last. Ben-jamin Corvet had perished in the wreckage of the cars.

As Alan went back to his chair, the Indian watched him and seemed not displeased.

"You feel good, now, Alan?" Wass-a-quim asked.

"Almost like myself, Judah."

"That is right, then. It was thought you would be like that today. A sled is coming soon, now."

"We're going to leave here, Judah?"

"Yes, Alan."

Was he going to see her, then? Ex-citement stirred him, and he turned to Wassaquim to ask that; but suddenly he desisted and did not inquire.

Wassaquim brought the mackinaw and cap which Alan had worn on Num-ber 25; he took from the bed the new blankets which had been furnished by Sher-rill. They waited until a farmer appeared driving a team hitched to a new, white-trimmed sled. The Indian helped Alan on the sled, and they drove off.

They traveled south along the shore, rounded into Little Traverse bay, and the houses of Harbor Point appeared among their pines. The sled proceeded across the edge of the bay to the little city; even before leaving the bay the sled saw Constance and her fa-ther; they were walking at the water front near the railway station, and they came out on the ice as they recog-nized the occupants of the sled.

Alan felt himself alternately weak and roused to strength as he saw her. Their eyes encountered, and hers looked away; a sudden shyness, which went his heart leaping, had come over her. He wanted to speak to her, to make some recognition to her of what she had done, but he did not dare to break his voice; and she seemed to un-derstand that. He turned to Sher-rill instead. An engine and tender coupled to a single car stood at the railway station.

"We're going to Chicago?" he in-quired of Sher-rill.

"Not yet, Alan—to St. Ignace. Fa-ther Perron—the priest, you know—went to St. Ignace as soon as he recov-ered from his exposure. He sent word to me that he wished to see me at my convenience; I told him that we would go to him as soon as you were able."

"He sent no other word than that?"

"Only that he had a very grave com-munication to make to us."

Alan did not ask more; at mention of Father Perron he had seemed to feel

Editor's Note: Rev. Matthews is a Pres-byterian Minister in the First Church at Seattle, Wash.

The Presbyterian Church has been one of the greatest forces for liberty, education, and evangelism America has ever had. I think it was the author of modern repre-sentative, Republican government.

TO PRESBYTERIANS

I think Amer-ica owes much of her government to the Presbyterian Church. She has been one of this government's greatest examples and most power-ful defenders. In the old days the Presbyterian church's adherence to the strictest character, and integ-ity of American citizenship. In the latter days, it seems to me, she has come upon perilous times.

THIRD—The Presbyterian Church commits a folly and sin when she permits infamous here-tics who deny the deity of Christ and the infallibility of the Bible to occupy her pulpits. I insist she has no right to allow such enemies of God, of home, and of government to carry her name. I think a Presbyterian minister who denies the deity of Christ or the infallible Word of God and continues to occupy a Presbyterian pulpit is drawing his money under false pretenses. We have all taken oath to teach the deity of Christ and the infalli-bility of God's Word, and for that we receive position and compensa-tion.

SECOND—The Presbyterian Church commits a folly when she becomes a meal ticket for faddists

poem by UNCLE JOHN

There's many a puzzlin' problem that attacks a feller's mind, when discoursin' to a Public, of a mighty various kind. There's some will differ with ye, and there's others that applaud—some, that won't believe ye on yer oath, so help ye God! Which brings the solemn query into this here humble song:—Can anything be honest—yet re-main, dead wrong?

I've allers heard that Honesty was fust among the things, that took a man to Heaven, on the shiniest of wings; that a man that wuzent honest, had mighty nigh as well, consult the ticky agent fer the slowest train to hell— So, a little sober thinkin' will arouse the question strong,—Can any man be honest—yet, remain dead wrong?

I try to foller reason in the ideas I evolve—and I some-times pray for guidance, when I've got a thing to solve. I've catered more to judgement, than to tolerance or taste, in these days of much palaver where the sinners goes to waste.

Let me cast this here little publication, philosophic, to ye, and hope it may be of use.

Now that a coal miners' strike of national proportions has been in progress for some time, the coal-miners of that country are coming into their own, and the strike situation is not looked upon by the people of that section with the same seriousness as other parts of the coun-try.

To provide undernourished school children with milk, the women's edu-cational and civic council of Flint will raise funds by placing milk bot-tle contributors in 50 Flint stores. The milk will be distributed daily, during the next school year to chil-dren needing the nourishment.

Creditors of the Farmers' Exchange bank, Chesaning, to whom $85,000 was owed, are being paid off at the rate of 6 1/2 cents on a dollar. Byron G. Cor-veit, manager of the bank, is serving five years in Jackson prison for em-bezzlement.

A reunion of the Kaercher family was held at Island Park, Ann Arbor, Sunday, July 30, with eighty-five members present. Guests were present from Grand Rapids, Lansing, St. Johns, Jackson, Saline, Clinton, Dexter, Ann Arbor and Chelsea. A picnic dinner was served at noon after which a program was given by the children. At the business meeting George Kaercher of Jackson was elected president; J. A. Kaercher of Chelsea, vice-president; and Miss Lettie Kaercher of Chelsea, secretary and treasurer. The 1923 reunion will be held at Ella Sharp Park, Jackson, on the last Sunday of July.

James Kline motored to St. Louis, Sunday. Mrs. Kline and children who have been spending the past three weeks there returned home with Mr. Kline.

FAIRBANKS SPENT A MILLION DOLLARS.

In Producing "The Three Musketeers" "Doug" Has Made the Most Lavish Picture of His Career.

For the first time since he became a screen actor, Douglas Fairbanks spent a cold million dollars in order to make "The Three Musketeers," which has proven to be the film sensation of the picture world, and which was adapted by Edward Knoblock from Alexander Dumas' famous novel, and directed by Fred Niblo.

Never before in the history of the motion picture industry was a photograph produced on so lavish a scale as was this forthcoming Fairbanks offering. Nearly a hundred thousand dollars was spent on costumes alone, and more than half that amount was expended in the building of exterior sets, not counting the ship and the pier which cost a small fortune besides.

The payroll for the stars and players was more than three times as heavy for this picture as it was on any previous Fairbanks' film, owing to the fact that it was the aim of the star-producer to get the best talent available, regardless of cost.

More women play with Doug in important roles in "The Three Musketeers" than ever before appeared with him in any feature. Marguerite De La Motte, Mary MacLaren and Barbara La Marr, all stars in their own right, who are among the highest paid photoplayers on the screen, take the leading parts.

All told, there are one hundred and sixteen persons in the cast not counting the extras, and the weekly payroll for "The Three Musketeers" reached the staggering figure of over $50,000 a week.

This picture will be shown at the Princess Theater Wednesday and Thursday evenings, only one show will be given each night starting at 7:30 o'clock.

LYNDON

Eureka Grange No. 2 held a picnic at Long Lake Wednesday, July 26. At noon a company of ninety partook of a bountiful dinner. The afternoon was devoted to games and sports, including a ball game between North Lyndon and Waterloo, the winning score being in favor of Lyndon. After which all departed for their homes, having spent a most enjoyable day.

Mr. Gerald Madden of Detroit spent Sunday with friends here.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Stanley and family of Detroit are the guests of Miss Nellie Young.

One Dollar Saved Represents Ten Dollars Earned.

The average man does not save to exceed ten per cent of his earnings. He must spend nine dollars in living expenses for every dollar saved. That being the case he can not be too careful about unnecessary expenses. Very often a few cents properly invested, like buying seeds for his garden, will save several dollars outlay later on. When this rule is followed Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy. It costs but a few cents, and a bottle of it in the house often saves a doctor's bill of several dollars.—Adv.

Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey Freeman and children were in Pontiac Sunday. Albert Heim and son of Rochester, New York, is visiting his mother, Mrs. D. Heim.

Henry Schanz of Ann Arbor spent the weekend at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Schanz.

Mrs. Thomas Harger of Kalamazoo visited relatives and friends in Chelsea over the weekend.

Several of the Holstein breeders of this vicinity attended the tour and field day held Saturday, July 29th.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Stoll and family of Ann Arbor and Jacob Stoll of Dexter were Sunday guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Eder.
