

GUY MOTORS STILL WANTS TO COME

Securities Passed and They Will Come As Soon as an Agreement is Reached.

Just how matters stood was explained to the people who had subscribed to help bring the Guy Disc Valve Motor Co. to Chelsea, last evening when a meeting was called.

Fred Lewis was unable to be present because of the death of his father-in-law, Dr. DeMay, yesterday morning.

The main point difference seems to be to bring the Guy Motors and Mr. Lewis to an agreement.

It seems that after a few minor difficulties are straightened out the industry will come here.

CEMENT COMPANIES ASK FOR FUEL

Asked to be changed from 5th class to first or second.

The kilns of the cement company have been shut down and unless coal can be supplied within a short time the entire plant will have to be shut down.

The facts of the case were plainly stated in the letter, in the first place showing that cement is an essential material of today.

It is a crisis in industry and coal can be supplied within the next 10 days the plants will have to stop operations entirely.

Business has been good. The amount of cement on hand at the beginning of the year 1922 was in excess of 12,000,000 barrels.

According to the report of the United States Geological Survey there was in the United States 10 and one-half million barrels of cement.

In order for the plants to keep running they need 20,000 tons of coal daily.

IF HE HAD A MILLION

Joe Brown was the colored porter at a little bank in southern Kansas. One spring day he rested on his broom and looked outdoors when nature beckoned him down to the river, where he might doze and wait for a catfish nibble on his line.

"Go, boys," he declared fervently, "I surely do wish Ah had a million dollars!"

"A million dollars, Joe?" the cashier said, smiling. "What would you do with a million dollars?"

"Ah'd buy me some pigs and make me some money," Judge.

Gold! Gold!

Back in the '40's it took months for the thrilling news of California's gold strike to cross the continent. Today, a few hours after so important a discovery, the entire story would be known to newspaper readers throughout the country.

In the early days, news spread by word or mouth. Today, the telegraph and telephone speeds the message into the newspaper office, it is rushed into type, the paper is printed and shortly the news becomes public property.

There are two kinds of news in the paper. One consists of the affairs of other people; their sayings, doings and what they're going to do; things that have happened, may happen and didn't happen.

The other kind of news is about your affairs. That's the part you'll find in Tribune advertisements. There's a lot of valuable news there about things you want or will want; things that have to do with your own personal comfort, convenience and every-day efficiency.

Every Tribune advertisement carries a personal message to some one. Many of them carry messages of vital interest or value to you.

That's why you can't afford to miss Tribune advertisements.

BE FRANK.

IT ALWAYS pays to be frank. But it is just as important that one be frank with himself as with others. Too many are unappreciative of the privilege of having their self hear their burdens. If they recognized the privilege and honor which is certain to come through a frank statement of the true conditions which cause them worry, a great many would gladly face the world openly and find it always anxious to help them through rough patches.

Stevenson, doubtless, had this in mind when he declared: "If we find but one to whom we can speak our hearts freely, with whom we can walk in love and simplicity, without dissimulation, we have in ground fact a quarrel with the world or with God. It is doubtful if anyone received less of their position socially and financially, is without one sincere friend or more in whom he can place absolute confidence. To such friends there is certain to come a feeling of sympathy for those they love in every case they are familiar with the problems causing unhappiness and pain. If anyone is in trouble, would go to such friends and frankly state their position, and the difficulties with which they are faced. It is more than probable that the response would be immediate and sure. But, by extension, indifference and doubt, no one is likely to gain the sympathy and aid of those who can do most to make their burdens light.

EDUCATION

COMFORTABLE houses, good food, automobiles, all cost a great deal of money. Education, which enables a man to come by these things, costs very little.

The man who complains that he has never had any education deserves his sympathy.

Education today is one of the cheapest of commodities.

It costs money, of course, to take a college's course in college, although there are thousands of students who work their way through colleges all the year.

As a matter of fact, about all a college can do is to teach a man how to get an education. The real education he gains by applying the rules that he learns in the class room and the laboratory.

Some of the most brilliant men in America and in England have been self-educated.

Such men were Mark Twain, (Such another was Charles Dickens, Mark Twain, and the late schooling Dickens had had.) Both, however, read all the books they could lay their hands on. Both asked questions in questions of everybody they thought could answer them.

Both became very great men, very great writers, and of vast use in the world.

Your education will cost you practically nothing if you really want it. Go to a library. Talk to the librarian about what you ought to read. Then read it, and keep on reading, and thinking about what you read.

The only price you will have to pay is the time you spend, and the education you will receive will be worth many times the price.

STATE FAIR TRIP INTERESTS BOYS

YOUNGSTERS EAGERLY AWAIT JOURNEY TO DETROIT FOR 30-DAY DEMONSTRATION.

HUNDREDS OF CHILDREN WILL ATTEND SCHOOLS

Everywhere in Michigan boys who were in the county competitions for first trip to the Michigan State Fair, Detroit, September 1 to 10, are preparing for their participation in the boys' state fair school of the section at third annual exposition.

Back of the boys' state fair school is the hope of building permanently in the minds of Michigan's future soil tillers what the Michigan State Fair is and, hopes to accomplish.

The county 30-day trips remaining included questions concerning state trunk line railroads, facts about Michigan which cannot be found in textbooks, knowledge of crop rotations, warfare against weeds, insects and various other questions. Twenty questions made up the examinations. Boys who win scholarships at the state fair, all are from the rural districts.

Back of the school, the Michigan State Fair also sponsors a course in conjunction with the Michigan Agricultural college, in which 150 boys and 150 girls participate. The youngsters are brought to the fair in relays of every two days. When facilities permit, the entire group will be allowed to remain throughout the fair. All expenses of these children are defrayed by the fair.

STATE FAIR RADIO SHOW PROMISES WIDE INTEREST

Considerable attention will be directed this year at the Michigan State Fair, Detroit, September 1 to 10, to the new marvel of man—radio. Says George W. Dickinson, secretary-manager of the exposition, "We believe radio has a great future on the farms and we intend to present to the farmer visitors at the Michigan State Fair, this year, an extensive exhibition of this invention," says Mr. Dickinson. "Big receiving sets will be placed in actual operation and practical demonstrations given for guests showing how the farmer in the upper peninsula can keep in constant communication with the cities by means of radio telephony."

Much space in the main building will be given over to radio exhibits, believes Mr. Dickinson. A definition of the radio division of the State Fair will be announced by the secretary-manager later.

In 75 years, from 1783 to 1857, the kingdom of Naples lost nearly 112,000 inhabitants by earthquakes, or more than 1,200 a day.

MISS LULU BETT

by Zona Gale

"Here, most certainly, is a work of genius and it is going to last a long time. Real American stuff, naked and unshamed."—Meredith Nicholson.

"Of all American novels read in the last six months, Zona Gale's 'Miss Lulu Bett' seems to me the cap of the list."—Heywood Brown, in New York Tribune.

"A story that is certain to appeal to every reader who enjoys real human beings in the pages of a novel. Throughout the tale runs a shining line of humor, warming the whole book."—Hildegard Hawthorne, in Chicago Daily News.

A portrayal and an arraignment of a certain type of married life; a thrilling presentation of the problem of the poor relation; the most talked about and successful story depicting small town life. Read it, and afterward we shall be pleased to have your views concerning the problems.

TWO AND ONE.

Little Pat started at school yesterday, entering the first grade. After he had come home his mother listened to many strange tales of the day's doings. But Pat's reports were confined to his domain alone, for it was the evening he was walking along the street near his home, when a troupe of friends stopped him.

"Right away things started. No questions were asked. Pat was wound up like an angry day clock.

"Say, I went to school today and gee whilkins, what a time we had. De teacher giv us a piece of paper that was about a yard long and about a foot wide and she made us put numbers all over de place."

"What a yard long and a foot wide?" asked Pat's friend.

"Yes," was the reply, and when the youngster measured a distance of about 40 inches long and about 3 inches wide, that was Pat's idea of a yard and a foot.

"De teacher asked me if I cud count and I told her yes and I can add, too."

"What is one and one, Pat?"

"Two, and two are four and three and three is six," kept on Pat without a letup. He continued this until he reached seven and seven. He could not answer this.

"The little fellow's friend then tried him on a lower number.

"What is two and one, Pat?"

"Shoe polish."

"What is two an' one?"

"Shoe polish, I said."

"No, two and one makes three."

"Ya can't tell me, mister, cuz knows, two an' one is shoe polish."

Nothing could make Pat believe that two an' one was anything else.

Weber—Eisele. A pretty wedding took place Wednesday morning, August 9th, at St. Mary's church at nine o'clock when Miss Mary Magdalene Eisele, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Eisele, became the bride of William Weber, son of Mrs. Mary Weber of Jackson. Rev. Father VanDyke, performed the ceremony. They were attended by Miss Emma Hoffman and Leo Eisele, cousin brother of the bride. The bridesmaids were Miss Hoffman and Perry McDonald. The bride was beautifully gowned in white Romania crepe and wore a crown of Orchid and carnation blossoms and carried a bouquet of Ophelia roses. The groom wore a crown of Orchid and carnation blossoms and carried a picture hat to match and a pair of pink roses. Following the ceremony they all went to the new farm home north of town where the groom recently purchased 600 acres. Relatives and friends gathered for a sumptuous wedding breakfast. The house was tastefully decorated with yellow and white and the decorations were carried out in the afternoon through the east, the bride and groom were navy blue with a tan felt hat and a white and blue dress. The bride is a graduate of Mercy hospital of Jackson, Michigan, and present from Jackson, Michigan, and Ann Arbor, Cavanaugh and Chelsea.

UNADILLA MEXICO HAS TREE 800 YEARS OF AGE. Mexico City.—The "great tree of Tule" in the state of Oaxaca, after some 800 years of recorded existence, is beginning to show signs of wear and tear. This giant express, with a trunk so huge that 30 persons with outstretched arms can scarcely span it, is shown to have been a fair sized tree when Columbus discovered America, and history recounts that Cortes and his Spanish soldier slept beneath its branches four centuries ago when en route to Honduras following their conquest of Mexico. But altho time has dealt kindly with the monarch, the correspondent during a recent visit to the tiny village of Santa Maria del Tule, Oaxaca, noticed that the wrinkles of age are beginning to show. There is no immediate cause for worry, however, that Tule, as the Indians affectionately call the tree, will wither away before the present generation has passed on. And even if it should, Tule has a son some 50 yards away from the parental boughs that is showing healthy signs of maintaining the family honor in the matter of robustness. Hijo (son) as the Indians have named it, already is so large that 12 persons are needed to span it and Hijo is only a couple of hundred years old. The great tree of Tule rises about 175 feet, and is said to be one of the largest specimens in the world. The spread of its branches is almost 150 feet. It stands in the court yard of a tiny church and is the only bid for popular interest made by the village of Santa Maria del Tule, whose population reverts the tree almost as much as one of its saints.

HAIRPINS. Beweaved hairpins are seen very frequently. Often they match the high polish comb the debutante is so fond of wearing. Those studded with sapphires or rubies seem to be most popular.

Cause of Appendicitis. When the bowels are constipated, the lower bowels or large intestines become packed with refuse matter, that is made up largely of germs. These germs enter the vermiform appendix and set up inflammation, which is commonly known as appendicitis. Take Chamberlain's Tablets when needed and keep your bowels regular and you have little to fear from appendicitis.—Advt.

Only thing some people save for a rainy day is rheumatism.

An elaborate tombstone and a contested will are about all that wealth brings to some men.

Hall's Catarrh Medicine. Those who are in a "run down" condition will notice that Catarrh bothers them much more than when they are in good health. This medicine that will cure Catarrh is a local disease. It is greatly influenced by constitutional conditions. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE is a tonic and acts through the blood upon the mucous surfaces of the body, thus reducing the inflammation and assisting Nature in restoring normal conditions. All Druggists, Chemists, and E. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio.
