

THE GREAT AMERICAN BELL

By RICHARD LLOYD JONES.

In practically every home on farm and in town, in every shop and store, factory and office there is a little bell behind which is a story of romance and before which it made less wide. That is the story of the American Bell.

We used to call hello across the field. This bell now carries our hello across the continent. The farmer who was ten miles away from town had to harness his horse and drive the old spring sent for better than an hour to deliver a simple business message. Now he rings the little bell and in two minutes the business is done.

With equal ease the business man in Minneapolis confers with his customer in New Orleans and the New York lawyer talks to his San Francisco client.

Imagine what it would be to be without it. How strange that scientific men of forty-six years ago viewed it with suspicion.

On the first day of this month in his Nova Scotia summer home, Alexander Graham Bell, the inventor of the telephone, died in his seventy-fifth year. His death brought back the story of the advent of the phone.

Bell was highly educated in the scientific schools of Scotland and England. As a young man he was a professor of sciences in Boston University. He married the daughter of a wealthy merchant. He joined the family in extending to her special consideration for she was deaf. He resolved to use his scientific knowledge to perfect a device that would give her an artificial ear drum that his voice might carry to her. For a year he experimented in his father-in-law's barn. He failed to find a way to carry his voice to his beloved and afflicted bride, but that romantic effort brought to him the instrument that has carried the human voice over seas and across continents. His father-in-law lost his fortune. This invention rebuilt it beyond the proportions of all former dreams.

In 1876 Mr. Bell carried his newly patented invention to the Philadelphia exposition where our nation celebrated its Centennial. But no one noticed the telephone. Popular interest seemed to center in the butter lady, crowded out of New York's famous Harkness County butter.

Scientists assembled there but even they were not attracted. At last two of the more eminent consented to look at the old little device. One spoke into the mouthpiece, another at a distance listened at the receiver. "My God, it talks!" the latter cried. And then the telephone came.

It is in your house and my house, your shop and my shop. Our life is now built to be dependent upon it. On the first of this month few took notice of the passing of this great benefactor of mankind. He shortened distance; saved time; sped up all the wheels of industry and promoted commerce. He was a great progress-maker. Mr. Bell sent our hello every-where. He brought us the little bell that we have made the Great American Bell. It is the little bell that calls us to its bidding more than any bell the world has ever known.

A JOY-KILLER. Yesterday an argument between a couple of small kids might have resulted in a fight had it not been stopped in time. Both were thinking of the fine times they were having and to what a sudden climax it was all coming.

This is a joy killer for most every school boy and girl. Only 21 more days until school starts. It is just another vacation coming to an end, and there will be more later. If some folks had their way you would be in school all the time, even Saturday afternoon, but then those people are few.

With such a short time left it behooves you all to make the best of it and get in every minute of fun you can.

Dr. H. H. Beatty will be out of town and his office closed until Monday, Aug. 28.

AMERICAN EXPRESS
FALL TO CHELSEA 7-4

Sunday's Game a Good One, The Local Team Showing Up Well.

Just the same story again. Chelsea took the game Sunday from the Detroit American Railway Express team. It was a tough game and a real contest from the start.

Both hurlers were pitching good ball but the support that the local boys gave Miller was the reason for success. Catherman pitched good ball but his teammates fell down behind him at times when it counted.

The first-inning looked bad with the visitors getting two runs in. But Chelsea came right back and evened the score in the second. In the fifth two runs put the Detroit team in the lead again but another recovery in the sixth tied the score. After that Chelsea held their opponents but brought in three more runs ending the game with a score of 7 to 4.

A decision at the end of the game came near causing a fight. Some members of the Detroit team felt that about the decision and were not good enough sports to take a defeat. The matter was quickly settled and no damage was done.

The box score is as follows:

CARS CRASH, NO ONE HURT

Two cars came together just east of town Friday evening about dusk. Fred Hall of Chelsea was driving out the good road and was going to turn north on the road by the white school house. A Marmon car driven by people from Kalamazoo were coming from behind him and were traveling so fast they could not stop before hitting him. The Ford came out with only a damaged fender and a flat tire, while the Marmon had many dents and wrinkles. No one was hurt.

He was a headline writer for a daily newspaper. She was the daughter of a prosperous bootlegger. They sat on the bench and watched the moonlight ripple off the ocean. After a silence he spoke.

"Scribe Woos Hooch King's Daughter. Meets Fate at Seashore."

"Oh, Tom," she murmured faintly, "when did you first know you really cared?"

"Journalist Smitten at Net. Tilt. Loses Heart As Heiress Wins Tourney," he answered.

"And am I the only girl you ever loved?" she asked.

"Rum Magnates Daughter Downs Rivals," he replied. "Pops Question On Beach."

"Tom," she breathed softly.

He clasped her tenderly in his arms and whispered in her ear: "Beach Party Hugo Success Says Scribe."

Once the cave man spirit flared up in Mr. Wetherbee, and only once.

"But listen, dear," he said.

Then the flame of the cave man spirit burned out.

CAN'T FOOL FARM BUREAU.

We learn through the "New York World" that "Congress resents the $16,000,000 Farm Federation Lobby," this in a special dispatch which might be even deliberately aimed at the destruction of the American Farm Bureau Federation, now found very annoying to certain members of the national legislature who speak for interests opposed to agriculture.

A great hue and cry is raised about the enormous salaries paid to personnel of the Farm Bureau Federation. J. R. Howard, the president, is quoted as receiving $15,000 a year, and the secretary, Mr. Cloverdale, receives $12,000; the treasurer and assistant secretary get $8,000; Gray Silver, the director, $12,000; and so runs the list covering the department, of marketing, the legal department, the information department and so on.

It is shown that approximately $75,000 a year is spent in salaries. These "startling figures" may frighten the farmer, who has no conception of fabulous salaries, and perhaps he may revolt, is of course the hope.

As a fact, the cost of the whole personnel does not foot up to a salary of any one of a hundred heads of the great business organizations who would like to destroy the Farm Bureau Federation, put an end to the farm bloc and yank the tiller of the soil back into the yoke.

It is said the Bureau has grafted itself upon the Federal organization; made possible the Smith Lever act; and is now the dictator of the farm bloc. If that be so, then Senators who form the bloc have operated much more efficiently in the interest of the heart of America than the independents who roll the pork barrel without dictation.

If there is anything wrong with the Farm Bureau it will be corrected, but the body will not be disintegrated.

The farmer has just felt his strength. He is merely stretching at the present time.

THE PROFITEERING SEE SAW.

Now we hail the period of prosperity. Analysis of the boom discloses that wages rise rapidly, sometimes to incredible heights, but that the cost of living rises still more rapidly, and to still more incredible heights. Soon we strike the reaction, the period of depression, and then we find that wages fall rapidly, but that food prices simply stumble. They never drop with the thud of the workers' wages.

From March to April of this year, for example, we learn that the average weekly earnings of New York State factory workers declined 42 cents. This is a reduction of $2.05 from April, 1921, and a reduction of $4.78 from October, 1920, which marked the peak of earning. As against these figures the United States Bureau of Labor Statistics show that the cost of living declined only 4 per cent between December, 1921 and March, 1922, in the country as a whole.

True, since June, 1920, there has been a drop of 23 per cent, but despite this the cost of living remained 67 per cent above 1913 in March of this year.

The retail cost of food did not change at all from March to April, either in the country as a whole or in the leading cities of the great Empire State.

Surely our political economists can find a lesson in such figures. When we poke under the public nose such evidence of outrageous profiteering, plus bungling and faulty taxation, we create a condition that is appalling, if not inflammatory. The American workman never can rise to a state of happiness and contentment if he is the continuous victim of the profiteering see-saw.

And discontent is dangerous. Out of discontent came America.

INSECT DANGER.

Sixty different kinds of mosquitoes exist in New York, says Dr. Herman M. Briggs, health commissioner of that state.

Only two kinds, however, are numerous. One carries malaria germs; the other is incapable of spreading any disease. Roughly, this probably holds true nationally.

If annoyed by mosquitoes there is stagnant water nearby. Briggs says an uncovered rain barrel or stopped up gutter will breed millions of the biters. And a few tin cans half filled with water will breed enough to make a whole neighborhood miserable. Mosquitoes are the result, stagnant water the cause. Fight the cause.

STRENGTH.

An insane woman escapes from the asylum at Poughkeepsie, N. Y. When captured, she had walked 40 miles in one day.

Such spurts of energy are common among the insane. It often requires half a dozen strong men to overpower a maniac and get him into a padded cell.

Take a sane man, a weakling, who cannot lift 100 pounds. Five minutes later, if he suddenly goes crazy, he can easily lift 500.

Strength of muscle and power to accomplish are largely matters of confidence. Weakness is lack of confidence, fear—all in the imagination. You are what you think you are, no more only occasionally less.

THE BIG THEFT.

The leading crime in America is auto stealing. Autos worth $100,000,000 were stolen in 1921. This is shown by a check up, just completed.

The motor thief has eclipsed the bank robber and the house-breaker.

This will keep on until there will be the usual reaction to extremes. You know what happened to a horse thief years ago in the west. The auto is to us what the horse was to the pioneers.

In checking up our personal budget how difficult it is to cut down the "luxuries."

Mosquito lotion is great. It fattens them so they are easy to hit.

by UNCLE JOHN

When you hear a feller grumble at the hill he has to climb, an' later, see him crumble in despair,—you wouldn't err in judgement, if you bet yer bottom dime, that he has built the cross he had to bear. This thing we call humanity, is full of human freaks, with fitful an' imaginative brains. There's very few that's brave enough to scale the highest peaks,—that knows enough to come in, when it rains! With blessin's all around us, we embrace the things that curse. We pander to the vicious appetite. We undertake the very thing that's sure to leave us worse, an' shet our eyes to everything that's right.

WELL—
ALL—

Then—is it any wonder, that we flounder in the sea, and swaller bitter waters, tempest-tossed? Too often we imagine that our trouble has to be, when we only need the rudder that we lost! We'll find it smoother sailin' if we banish every dread, and cure the imperfections of our own. The trouble's nearly allers in our little ivory head,—and trouble's hard to manage—in a bone!

Since we are all out helping to make the world better why not do it in half the time? If we put the time spent in kicking into correcting, gee, what a hole we could knock in the things we don't like! Most people who don't kick say "what's the use?" because they think they are powerless, so they waste their time grumbling. That's not it. There's no use kicking because there never can be an end to the cause for kicking. As soon as one thing's cured another bobs up. When we're shacking by wireless there'll be a kick because the static shakes the razor. Meantime suppose we all butt in! An' better things, and meantime also smile.

PLAN FOR IMPROVING STOCK

Progressive Firm of Butchers in Ohio Hit on Novel Scheme to Build Up Quality.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Recognizing that live-stock improvement is beneficial to the meat trade as well as to producers of animals, butchers are becoming interested in the betterment idea. A progressive firm of butchers in a small Ohio city seeks to better the live stock of that locality by a plan described in the following letter to the United States Department of Agriculture:

"While we have never made a business of dealing in purebred live stock," says the writer, "we have always encouraged their use. We try to keep a line on well-bred young bulls in our vicinity, and whenever we buy an animal for slaughter we use our best efforts to have him replaced with something better. We believe this plan will help to build up the quality of cattle in the neighborhood, to the advantage of both ourselves and the farmer."

"When we kill an animal that has an exceptionally good 'stess' we display the carcass in our window, giving on a card the age, live weight, dressed weight and the percentage of dressed meat. In this way we advertise to producers that they get more live weight and we get more dressed weight from well-bred stock than from inferior stock of the same age. We have demonstrated also the superiority of real calves from well-bred parents, and have shown that they mean more to the farmer in dollars and cents than the other kind."

"In commenting on the plan, live-stock specialists in the bureau of animal industry point out that small-town butchers are in a position to help

ACUTE SHORTAGE OF HORSES

Farmers Experience Difficulty in Obtaining Animals Required for Farm Work.

Difficulty is being experienced by many farmers in obtaining work horses needed. This fact has been made clear to W. H. Peters, chief of the animal husbandry division of the University of Minnesota, by the number of inquiries made by him and members of his staff as to the available supply of farm work horses.

"There isn't any doubt that for the last two years the number of colts raised has been less than the number of horses that have died," said Professor Peters. "Is the inevitable result of this condition already making itself evident? If this condition is maintained an acute shortage of work horses is bound to result."

"Farmers who have good sound mares will find it profitable to breed them. This will be particularly true if the mares can be mated to a good sound stallion of desirable draft type. In communities where such a stallion is not available any farmer with a half dozen or more mares will find it profitable to purchase and keep such a horse."

MARKET HOME GROWN FEEDS

Farmer Should Determine Number of Head of Cattle to Keep by Available Feed.

The number of live stock which a farmer feeds on his farm should be determined by the amount of home grown feeds which he has on hand, and the price which he can get for these feeds if sold on the market. As a general rule live stock will market home grown feeds at a profit if the live stock is given a square deal, but it is out of the question to expect scrub stock to be economical users of feeds.

Immunizing Against Cholera.

When immunizing horses against cholera do not make injections in the hind or shoulder as this lowers the value of those portions of the carcass. Inject serum in the flank or between the fore legs.

Oats Not Fattening.

Oats make a very poor feed for fattening cattle, as they are so bulky that the cattle cannot eat enough of them to put on the necessary amount of fat.

Happenings

Police officials of Saint Joe, Marie, it is said, are wondering what is going to happen at the next terms of circuit and federal court when they are called upon to produce moonshine whiskey as evidence in a number of cases. The strong box which contains all contraband liquor and which reposes in the women's portion of the city jail was ransacked, and much of the evidence is missing. Two women, Mattie Donnelly and Mary Bellon, serving sentences for being drunk, were drunk again after having broken into the box, officials say.

Mrs. F. Hyatt and Mrs. L. E. Sleeper, and Mrs. Sleeper's two children, missing from their homes in Cadillac for a week, were found in Grand Rapids. According to the officers they were found in the apartment of Clarence Warner, 33 years old, of that city. Warner is under arrest. Mrs. Hyatt is a bride of only a few weeks. The women are said to have told the police that they became tired of their homes in Cadillac and decided to see Grand Rapids.

The Ingham county circuit court has been petitioned by the Michigan State Telephone company for a stay of the public utilities commission's order of July 7, approving consolidation of the company interests with those of the Citizens' Telephone company. The Michigan State Telephone company asks that the order be declared void, and that no further orders be issued until the value of the Citizens' property can be estimated.

Fred Lutz, of Flint, came home late one night recently and decided not to disturb his wife when he found the front door locked. So he went to the back of the house, carefully raised a window and with the help of a flashlight was making his way to his room when three policemen pounced on him. They followed him, seized their prisoner, and had him on his feet before Lutz convinced them that he was in his own home.

Since we are all out helping to make the world better why not do it in half the time? If we put the time spent in kicking into correcting, gee, what a hole we could knock in the things we don't like! Most people who don't kick say "what's the use?" because they think they are powerless, so they waste their time grumbling. That's not it. There's no use kicking because there never can be an end to the cause for kicking. As soon as one thing's cured another bobs up. When we're shacking by wireless there'll be a kick because the static shakes the razor. Meantime suppose we all butt in! An' better things, and meantime also smile.

Folk Marcella, Grand Rapids, in whose home officers say they found a quantity of liquor, has been sentenced by Superior Court Judge Leonard D. Yorlitor to the county jail for 30 days. His wife, Sophie, said to have barred the way of the officers to the booze room, contending she was merely guarding the hiding place of her pocketbook, was fined $50 and costs.

Cause of Appendicitis.
When the bowels are constipated, the lower bowels or large intestines become packed with refuse matter, that is, made up largely of germs. These germs enter the vermiform appendix and set up inflammation, which is commonly known as appendicitis. Take Chamberlain's Tablets when needed and keep your bowels regular and you have little to fear from appendicitis.—Adv.

Michigan Happenings

The famous lotus bed, in a branch of the St. Joseph river near Vicksburg, is in full bloom and thousands during the past week motored there to view the unusual blossoms of this genuine Egyptian plant. Just how the lotus plant came to be planted in the bed of a sluggish river here is not known. The plants continue to grow and thrive despite the Michigan winters. The Smithsonian Institute, in its study of the lotus plant and conditions under which it grows in its native country, failed to determine how the plant thrives in Michigan.

One by one and in groups of two, three and a dozen, residents of Indiana, Illinois and Ohio are making their annual pilgrimage north to worship at the shrine of Grand Traverse regions' pure air. In other words, the hay fever season is on. Every train from the south is bringing its quota, seeking relief from the nasal ravages of the rag weed, and from now until Labor day the Grand Traverse region will have the biggest tourist population of the year.

A swimming contest held by the Kiwanis club of Mt. Clemens, at the mouth of the Clinton river was considerably enlivened when Sheriff Spiller poured 24 barrels of beer into the river as the contestants raced through the foam. Prominent local business men took part in the race in an effort to take down a few gulps of the beer, which had been confiscated in raids. Some of the beer was rated at 10 per cent.

"I do not love Archie any more," says the young wife, "and I cannot even think of going on through life with him."

Flint liquor enforcement officers have discovered the cause for the popularity of a brand of cigars put out there, they say. According to the officers, these cigars have only a thin wrapping of tobacco, which is enough to hide a glass flask containing pure whisky. They have confiscated a box of the cigars found in a local store but have failed to find the manufacturer.

One hundred gallons of wine, manufactured from raisins and cornmeal, were discovered in the cellar of a vacant house on the farm of Ira Woolley near Grand Junction, by Sheriff Dwight Barker, who raided the place. Woolley was arrested on charge of manufacturing and selling intoxicating liquor, having admitted he sold some of the wine, officers say.

While his mother and members of the family looked on, powerless to give assistance, Arnold Meath, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Meath, Iron Mountain, was drowned in the Beannaba river. The boy drowned as the result of losing the "water wings" he had made by connecting two tin cans with a short leather strap. The cans got away from him.
