MEASLES AND MOSQUITOES.

Dr. Royal S. Copeland, Commissioner of Health for the City of New York, makes the flat assertion that measles can be completely wiped out in this country in forty-eight hours. In the same breath we are authoritatively advised that the pestilent mosquito cannot fly more than one thousand feet and live.

What a reflection on the United States Government, if these assertions be correct, and there is no reason to doubt them. The one great necessary step, namely, passing this information under government authority directly to the people, is ignored. Consequently, measles still carry death and suffering to the young, and mosquitoes spread their poison over almost every inch of the United States.

It may be possible for the press, unaided by the government, to bring some relief, though lack of unified action undoubtedly must end in failure.

If the mosquito cannot fly more than one thousand feet, then every household has it within his power to establish for himself at least a mosquito zone. Clean up for one thousand feet. See that old bottles and tin cans containing water are destroyed or emptied, that cesspools are kept closely sealed, that house gutters are kept clear. Sprinkle suspected spots with kerosene, the co-operation of every citizen.

For measles Dr. Copeland's recipe is even more simple. Keep the patient absolutely isolated for forty-eight hours. How easy it would be for the government to lay down practical rules to destroy these evils and to enlist the people in a united campaign to that end, asking in plainly signed advertising under the signature of the President of the United States, if necessary, the cooperation of every citizen.

If the gentlemen, now so busy flitting for the vote, would press thorough legislation of this character, perhaps they might stand a better chance than they will by rolling the pork barrel.

GOVERNMENT A DANGEROUS BUZZ SAW.

Perhaps the strongest bulwark of the political boss is the almost universal belief that principles are greater than men. Scarcely a village, town, county or state that has not slipped over undesirable candidates as against decent men because of this conviction, so frequently in fact that it is time we turned the microscope on this very vital assumption. Morals are largely geographical and always subject to the times. The theory of right today may be wrong tomorrow. In the early days principles in government may have been more vital than men. Indeed this may be true today, but it is certain that today the character of the men we choose to serve is more vital than ever before in history, for in matters of government we are compelled to put blind faith in the men we choose to serve us. Government has become so highly technical, so amazingly complex, that it is quite beyond the understanding of the average individual. The subtleties of civic finance, the intricacies of export trade, the complexities of transportation problems by land and sea, the technique of tariff, the bewildering, contradictory elements entering into scientific taxation, not to speak of the dazzling problems of foreign relations, have removed government so far from the ken of the average citizen that he has lost touch with it; he feels it is something with which he has grave concern, but in which he dares not to express an opinion. His happiness, his welfare, depend on the skill with which these technical problems are confronted, yet they can be man-handled to his complete undoing without his even sensing the folly of his representative. Summed up, government has gone completely from the hands of the people; it seems to have outgrown the people. The people have not kept up with the procession. The press has been insufficient as an educational force, not for lack of desire, but because the press must exist and the people demand as the price of support the publication of trivialities. The great city newspapers have come to be a mixture of Diamond Dick, Sherlock Holmes and Emma Jean Libbey, stripped of personality, often devoid of principle, pandering to the intellect of the flapper and assuming a "mas leadership" based on bluff and bluster which rests on the inability of the people to tear away the mask of mock heroics and disclose a half-baked understanding of our national vitamines. It seems as if we must turn back the clock and take more careful measure of integrity and ability in those we must trust to do for us the thing we are unable ourselves to understand. If not this, then we need some new system of education in the land.

LUXURY.

To own a private railroad car appears to be the pinnacle of luxury in popular imagination.

The Pullman company checks up and discovers that only five or six private cars are owned by Americans. In the lucky list are Charles M. Schwab, Harry Sinclair, J. C. Brady, Harry Payne Whitney and the Vanderbilt family. Others rent a car when they need it.

The rich of our country run to yachts, a throwback to boyhood's inherited desire to be a sailor. The only real romance in railroading is in the engineer's cab. Ask the boys who hang around country town depots.

TAXES.

On all sides you hear people say, "A fellow wouldn't mind this delation so much if taxes didn't stay so high."

National taxes during the fiscal year, which will end next June 30, average $32.10 for each American.

The Englishman is paying an average of $128.90, compared with our $32.10. Italian pays $13.93, Frenchman $51.69.

The British treasury, which figures this out, also finds that corresponding taxes in Germany are only $3.48 for each inhabitant. The tax, however, is reckoned on German money. Translated into American money at the current rate of exchange on a par value the German tax would be over 50 times $3.48.

NO KIND WORDS FOR COAL PROFITEERS.

Coal profiteers do not hear much to their credit these days, and indeed, there is little to be said. But perhaps they do not care. They are a long way from criticism and they are providing themselves with the means to keep warm this winter no matter what they charge for coal.

LIMIT TO USE OF MOLASSES

Test Made by Department of Agriculture in Co-Operation With Alabama Station.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

That there is a limit to the quantity of blackstrap molasses which can be added with economy to a ration of 5.4 pounds of cottonseed meal and 40 pounds of corn silage for fattening yearling steers was shown in a test made by the United States Department of Agriculture in co-operation with the Louisiana experiment station.

Two lots of nine 700-pound steers were fed for 112 days. Forty-six pounds of silage per steer per day was practically the limit of their capacity. Lot 1 was fed 5.42 pounds of molasses per steer daily, while lot 2 was fed 8.07 pounds of molasses per steer daily. As lot 1 gained 2.48 pounds per steer daily, while lot 2 gained only 2.41 pounds per steer daily, it is evident that 2.05 pounds of molasses was wasted daily per steer in lot 2. The results in lot 2 might have been more favorable to the use of so much molasses had the cotton-Seed-meat ration had been reduced to 3.5 or 4 pounds. In the test, lot 1 consumed 1,880 pounds of silage, 218 pounds of cottonseed meal and 218 pounds of molasses per 100 pounds gain, while lot 2 required 2 per cent more silage, 4 per cent more cottonseed meal, and 54 per cent more molasses to produce 100 pounds of gain.

ROOTING NATURAL FOR HOGS

While It Probably Helps Make Muscle It Is Otherwise of No Particular Benefit.

Why do hogs root? Will rills or other means of prevention have any detrimental effect on the health and progress of the animal? Experts at the Nebraska State College of Agriculture say rooting is just one of the natural propensities of swine. While it probably does help make muscle, it is otherwise of no special benefit and has no particular significance. The fact that hogs show a strong tendency to plow up alfalfa fields or tear out foundations of the buildings is no indication that they are not getting proper feed. There is no basis for the statement that rooting results from lack of mineral or protein in the ration. Hogs root for worms, roots and other food, but they seem to thrive just as well when a check is placed on the extensive use of their snouts. They also root to make a cool bed on a hot day. There is no reason why kings should not be used where hogs do much of the damage.

EFFICIENCY OF WORK HORSE

One of Chief Factors During Hot Weather Is Quantity and Quality of Feed Received.

One of the factors that materially affects the efficiency of the work horse especially in hot weather is the feed he receives and the manner in which he receives it. In order that a horse may do a full day's work regularly throughout the summer months and yet maintain a presentable condition he must be fed just about to his full capacity. In order to do this and not injure his health, care and judgment must be exercised in the selection of feeds used.

The feeds best suited to form the principal components of the ration are good bright clean timothy or upland prairie hay and bright, clean, sound oats. The average horse weighing 1,500 pounds will require about 20 pounds of hay and 22 to 24 pounds of oats a day.

LIVE STOCK HINTS

Work horses should have an opportunity to eat all the salt they care for.

Keep the live stock supplied with water during the hot days of summer.

There is a wide variation in feed requirements of different horses of the same weight.

An embryo "red" plot to explode a huge tank of gasoline in the very heart of Flint's industrial district, near buildings valued at $24,000,000, was uncovered, Aug. 28, according to authorities. A firing bomb, composed of papers, inflammable material and a quantity of matches, said to have been arranged in such a manner that the slightest friction would have sent flames shooting up to the mouth of a Standard oil tank, was found by an employee of that company.

Michigan Happenings

B. H. Custer, former mayor and commissioner of Eaton Rapids, and prominent in religious circles, died as a result of an attack of paralysis.

In the first two weeks of its use, tourists from 14 states, from Oklahoma to Maine, have visited Albion's new tourist camp.

The large barn on the farm of Marlon Merrill, Ypsilanti township, with 800 tons of hay, seven horses and a large quantity of wheat and oats, was burned to the ground. The fire was caused by spontaneous combustion. The loss will probably reach $20,000.

John Marjorie killed a robin more than a year ago, but escaped after a fight with Warden F. B. Salisbury. He was arrested on his recent return to Grand Haven and paid a fine and costs of $50.

Francis J. Webb, of Duluth, was elected president of the Lake Superior Mining Institute at the Houghton meeting and the next meeting awarded to the Mesaba Range.

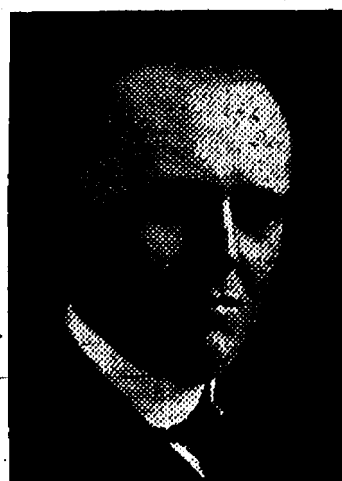

Falling down the main shaft of the Acme-Plaster company's mine at Beverly, Cornelius Dorenbos, a miner, was killed instantly.

Michigan's grape crop will be sold this year at a price more than $100 a ton lower than last, as a result of the war between growers and shippers in western Michigan. The stable price this season will be $40 a ton as compared with $143 last season.

Pontiac Methodists are making plans for the entertainment of 1,100 visitors for the Detroit Methodist Episcopal conference, September 12. An appeal was made to the general public to aid in housing preparations.

It's toasted. This one extra process gives a delightful quality that can not be duplicated.

In the Realm of Society

Rowe-Whitaker Wedding.

A lovely wedding occurred Saturday evening, September 2, 1922, at six o'clock, at the home of Mrs. Caroline Whitaker, when her daughter, Miss Almerene Alice Whitaker was united in marriage with Kenneth B.
Rowe, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. W.
Rowe, of Detroit. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Stringer in the presence of one hundred relatives and friends.

The bride was lovely in a gown of flesh georgette over white satin, her bridal veil of tulle was fastened to her hair with sequins. She carried a bridal bouquet of Ophelia roses and lilies of the valley. Mrs. Henry Glazier, who served her sister as matron of honor, wore a gown of coral georgette over white satin and carried a bouquet of Columbia roses. Little Bernice Tuttle was gown in pink Crepe de Chene and carried the ring in a basket of flowers. Henry Glazier was best-man.

Mendelsohn's wedding march was played by Miss Doris Bagge. Preceding the ceremony Miss Enid Rohrer of Grass Lake, sang "Because."

The home was beautifully decorated with baskets of asters. A large bride's cake centered the bridal table and was cut by the bride.

A three course dinner was served by the Misses Georgia Russell, Doris Bagge, Florence Fenn, Dora Chandler, Florence Palmer, Dorothy Heselschwerdt, Gerald Luick, H. W. Klammer, J. D. Alber, and James Munroe, of Chelsea, Elaine and Lyle Rohrer of Grass Lake, and Miss Caroline Kuebler of Manchester, all intimate friends of the bride and groom.

The groom for the past year and one-half has been employed in the office of the Palmer Motor Sales.

Immediately following the dinner Mr. and Mrs. Rowe left on a motor trip to Buffalo, Niagara Falls, and Toronto. Upon their return they will be at home to their friends at their home at Spring Lake.

WASHTENAW FAIR PROMISES

TO BE A BIG SUCCESS

A record attendance, establishing a mark which it will be difficult to break for years to come, is predicted for the Washtenaw County Fair, Ann Arbor, September 19 to 23.

"There are many reasons why we look for big crowds on each day of the fair," says President C. J. Hutzel, of the fair.

"The principal reason is the big interest in the fair by exhibitors and persons looking for concessions of all kinds. Whenever interest in these things is large, good crowds can always be expected. If the weather does not interfere, we will hang up an attendance mark that will be hard to break."

"Inquires about the fair program have been received in number from persons living long distances from the fair, who are planning on coming by automobile. Twenty years ago, when horses had to be used if the trip to the fair was not made by railroad, parties by wagon or buggy rarely traveled more than twenty or thirty miles. It is possible to make such a trip to the coming fair in an hour's time. The automobile is revolutionizing fair attendance all over the country."

The increased attendance which good roads and automobiles have made possible has had a big effect on our planning of the fair program.
Knowing that we can count on attracting persons to the fair from unusually long distances, making bigger crowds possible, we have not hesi-tated in contracting for a much better entertainment program than was possible for most fairs to engage a few years ago.

Every superintendent has worked hard to make his or her department a success. The amusement features are under contract to give the crowds the best in them. Exhibitors of stock and women's work, farm products, and boys and girls' work will put up a big battle for the premiums offered by the fair. Visitors will find every detail for their entertainment worked out. The stage is all set for a record-breaking fair.

Workmen are putting the fair grounds in splendid shape for the coming fair.

Spencer-Sweet Reunion.

Among the interesting Labor Day gatherings was the first annual reunion of the William Spencer and Sweet family gatherings which was held at the farm-home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bycraft, midway between Ann Arbor and Ypsilanti.

Though somewhat impromptu 80 guests were present from Ann Arbor, Salem, Jackson, Detroit, Ypsilanti, Chelsea and Souix City, Iowa.
After the bountiful dinner which was served on the lawn, a business meeting was held and A. J. Sweet of Jackson was elected president, George Sweet of Ann Arbor, secretary and treasurer, Stanley Jones, Detroit, and Leslie Sweet of Ann Arbor, program committee. The 1923 reunion will be held at the home of Mrs. Frank Warren of Salem on Labor Day.

Visiting, horseshoe pitching and base ball were the pastimes of the afternoon.

Before leaving for their homes, the guests gave Mr. and Mrs. Bycraft a vote of thanks for their splendid hospitality.

National Show at Wilmington in September Shows Trend Toward Beef Raising in East.

Mid-Western Herds Entered
Special to The Chelsea Tribune.
By ROBERT FULLER

New York—Sept. 1, Will the Atlantic seaboard yet be the "cattle country" of the United States?
A distinct trend toward beef raising has been noted in the East for some months.

Farmers and breeders in this section of the United States, long supreme as producers of dairy cattle, are now turning their attention to raising beef cattle.

The grassy pastures, hillside forage and extensive timberland of the East is said by experts to be admirably adapted to beef cattle production.
One leading breed of beef cattle is now said to number more than 15,000 head on Eastern farms.

Cattle Show at Wilmington
The developing demand for beef cattle in the Atlantic and New England states is responsible for the decision to hold a beef cattle stock show at Wilmington, Delaware, starting the week of September 4.

True this is a Hereford show but it is a national show and will be the greatest exhibition of beef cattle ever held in the East.

Many more are entered and cash prizes totaling more than $6,000 will be awarded.
Many Mid-Western Herds Entered States represented are: Colorado, Connecticut, Delaware, Indiana, Kentucky, Massachusetts, Missouri, Mississippi, Ohio and Pennsylvania.

Eastern stockmen are taking to the idea, and realizing that they have let much valuable land go to waste thru failure to utilize their natural advantages.

In the accompanying illustration, are shown two Hereford heifers and a fair admirer—the first arrivals for the Wilmington show. The Herefords were part of the W. L. Yost herd from Missouri.

Dr. J. T. Wood who has been confined to his home for some time is improving. He expects to be able to be out again soon.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Schettler, of Detroit, spent Saturday and Sunday with his mother, Mrs. Christina Schettler.

Mr. George Satterthwaite has returned from the U. of M. hospital where he has been a patient for the past six weeks.

The Ideal Purgative.
As a purgative, Chamberlain's Tablets are the exact thing required.
Strong enough for the most robust, mild enough for children. They cause an agreeable movement of the bowels without any of that terrible griping.
They are easy and pleasant to take and agreeable in effect.—Advt.

Wanted—Poultry of all kinds, we also buy veal calves. H. O. Knickerbocker. 951f.

DEXTER TOWNSHIP

Julia Kamp and children are spending the week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Thurston at Silver Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Stearns Wheeler and two sons Fred and Eugene, of Webster, spent Sunday p. m. with Mr. and Mrs. K. H. Wheeler.

Jacob Haar and son Oscar were in Jackson on business last Wednesday.
Mr. and Mrs. Frank Moore entertained friends from Whitmore Lake the first of the week.

Foster Wheeler took two loads of pears to Ann Arbor Tuesday and Friday.

Mrs. Foster Wheeler is in Detroit this week caring for her daughter-in-law who is sick.

Slosser Bros. have a gang of men with teams digging a ditch 12 to 16 ft. wide from the Baker road to the Michael Walsh farm. This will take the surface water off all that flat from the William Smith farm to the Me-Guinness Brothers farm.

Two auto loads of friends of Mrs.
Foster Wheeler spent Sunday with her at Silver Lake.

Clarence Walsh and family of Detroit, spent Labor Day with his mother, Mrs. Mary Walsh.

K. H. Wheeler was in Ypsilanti Monday attending the Masonic picnic and on to Detroit to spend Tuesday and Wednesday at the state fair.

The Key that Unlocks the Door to Long Living.

The men of eighty-five and ninety years of age are not the rotund, well-fed, but thin, spare men, who live on a slender diet. Be as careful as he will however, a man past middle age will occasionally eat too much of some article of food not suited to his constitution, causing indigestion or constipation and will need a dose of Chamberlain's Tablets to move his bowels and invigorate his stomach. When this is done, there is no reason why the average man should not live to a ripe old age.—Advt.
