

Second Period Big Votes End Tomorrow, Saturday Night

CAMPAIGN ENDS IN EIGHT MORE DAYS. COMPETITION BECOMES KEENER AS END DRAWS NEAR.—CONTESTANTS WORKING FOR BIG RESULTS THIS WEEK—TOMORROW WILL BE BIG DAY—EVERY CONTESTANT SHOULD CALL AT TRIBUNE OFFICE SATURDAY—MISS BRADBURY TAKES LEAD AGAIN.

The last chance to secure Big Votes will end tomorrow night. This Saturday night September 23, at 10 o'clock is the last opportunity during the Tribune Automobile and Prize campaign you will have to secure big votes, as next week—the last week—the smallest vote schedule of the campaign will be in force. The wise contestants are working this week with a determination to make every minute count to their advantage in capturing the big prize—the $1055 Studebaker Touring Car.

One week from this Saturday the big competition will come to a successful end. Hundreds of subscriptions may yet be secured by the workers, and a battle royal will be on from now until the end in eight more days.

Miss Bradbury Again in Lead

Miss Merle Bradbury is back in first place again. Very few votes were cast since the last count of ballots, as all the contestants are working for votes and paying very little attention to their present vote standing. They are preparing for the final count to be made in eight more days.

Manner of Closing

The campaign will come to an end one week from tomorrow Saturday, September 30, at 8 o'clock P. M. Next Monday morning a locked ballot box will be placed at the Kempf Commercial and Savings Bank where it will remain until three o'clock Saturday night, September 30. At 3 o'clock the closing hour of the bank, the box will be brought to the Tribune office where it will remain locked until eight o'clock, when it will be turned over to the official judges who will open the box and make the official count of ballots and announce the winners of the prizes, according to the published rules of the campaign. All candidates will deposit the subscriptions secured next week in the ballot box. All subscriptions must be accompanied by cash, money, order, or certified check, as no personal checks for more than $20, and only one from any one person will be accepted during the last week. All will be secret from Monday until the official count is made Saturday night Sept. 30. All votes turned in up to this Saturday night will be counted by campaign manager and published next Tuesday. Under this plan it will be impossible for any one not even those connected with this office to know any thing of the standing of the contestants during the last week.

Contestants may deposit their subscriptions in the box at the Kempf Bank any time during next week up to 3 P. M. Saturday. After 3 P. M. the box will be at the Tribune office. All subscriptions and reserve votes must be deposited in box by eight o'clock Saturday night, September 30, before the final count is commenced.

L. B. Lawrence of Chelsea was badly bitten by a large hog at the Marshall Fair Wednesday. Lawrence had gone to the fair to judge the sheep and during the afternoon he was walking down the aisles of one of the buildings where the hogs were kept. A large hog weighing between 500 and 600 pounds jumped at him and bit him on the right leg. The task of the hog tore his trousers and made a large gash in his leg. The wound was taken care of at once and Lawrence was able to get around again shortly. ## REV. H. R. BEATTY WELL KNOWN PASTOR DIES SUDDENLY

Pastor of M. E. Church Dies While Attending Fair.

All Chelsea was shocked and saddened on learning of the sudden death of Rev. Henry Robert Beatty, pastor of the Methodist church, Wednesday afternoon. Rev. Beatty accompanied by his children left at noon to attend the fair at Ann Arbor. About 8 o'clock he left the fair grounds to get his machine to return home. Harry Lisle of Ann Arbor was accompanying Mr. Beatty to his machine.

The two men had just passed out of the entrance and were walking down the road when Mr. Beatty said, "Wait a minute." Mr. Lisle endeavored to support Mr. Beatty who sank to the ground. Death came almost instantly, due to high blood pressure.

Mr. Beatty, and family came to Chelsea three years ago and had just started his fourth year. He will not only be missed by his congregation but by all the people in this vicinity. Mr. Beatty was one of the most public spirited men in the community and was always willing to lend a helping hand where needed. His presence will also be greatly missed in the public schools, where he has frequently spoken at chapel and added in various ways. He will be missed in the many organizations to which he belonged and took such an active part.

Henry Robert Beatty died September 20, 1922, 47 years of age. Mr. Beatty, son of David and Charity Beatty was born in Corunna, Shiawassee County, Michigan, on October 12, 1874. On August 30, 1899, he was united in marriage to Cleo Culver of Williamston. The union five children were born of whom four are living.

He was a graduate of the Alma College and attended the School of Commerce, where he has frequently spoken at Prescott. Other charges he has had were at Pinconning, Ronatus, Dundee, Grass Lake, Blissfield and Chelsea.

AUTO RUNS IN DITCH SOUTH OF TOWN

An auto load of men returning from the Masonic doings at Ypsilanti Tuesday night had a narrow escape with their lives when the car nearly turned over. C. E. Clayton was driving his Dodge car and had H. Schumaker and Otto Hinderer with him. At the corner south of town as they turned onto the road into Chelsea the car swerved and would have turned turtle had it not been for a tree which saved it from turning.

The car was going at such a speed that it could not be controlled when it hit the gravel. Hinderer was thrown against the side of the car, and suffered a bruised knee and hip. The other occupants of the car were not hurt. The car was damaged considerably.

It seems almost that some steps should be taken to light the corner of the intersection of M 17 and M 52. The sign that is on the good road now is so inconspicuous that travelers pay no attention to it. It is high time that a real sign be put up there, one that can be seen and will be lighted at night. Here is a chance for the Board of Commerce to get something for the village and the people that will be of great value.

LESSON IN GENTLE BRAKING

No Quicker or Certain Way of Sending Tire to Junkman Than to Stop With Jerk.

Apply the brakes considerably and the car will soon show its gratitude, because gentle brake application reduces the strain on tires, wheels, springs and other parts. If the brakes are applied with full force at least once, if not both rear wheels are likely to lock and in sliding along the ground a noticeable amount of rubber is scraped from the tire at the point where it contacts with the ground. There is no quicker nor more certain way of sending tires quickly to a rubbish heap or the junkman. Harsh brake application wears the brake lining unduly and pulls and racks the whole car. Much greater economy will be obtained and much less trouble will be experienced if the brakes are used as sparingly as possible.

1922 STATE FAIR CALLED GREATEST

375,000 SEE MICHIGAN EXPOSITION—EDUCATIONAL EXHIBITS HOLD VISITORS INTEREST.

G. W. DICKINSON ANNOUNCES PLANS FOR NEW BUILDING

Establishing new attendance records that may stand for years—including a wider range of exhibitions than ever before and successful from the viewpoint of diversified entertainment—the seventy-third annual Michigan State Fair which recently came to an end at Detroit marks the beginning of a new era of fairs in this state. The fair accomplished the purpose outlined for it by G. W. Dickinson, secretary-manager, that of being of some educational value to the farmer, for whom fairs originally were created and for whom the present fair administration seeks to do some everlasting good.

Modern Buildings to Replace Sheds.

With the close of the fair which saw the new coliseum building, erected at a cost of $200,000, put into use, Mr. Dickinson announced the plans for a new sheep and swine pavilion to cost, when completed, $80,000. Construction of this is to be started almost immediately.

The necessity of modern buildings to replace the run down wooden sheds and barns which still are to be found on certain portions of the fair's 169 acres will be recommended by Mr. Dickinson in his annual report to the board of managers.

Handicapped by the rail strike and the threatened outcome of the coal situation, the fair horse department established a new record for entries—355 of the finest draft and light horses in the middle west going on exhibition. 720 more than the previous year. This improves that the horse has given way to machine power.

In the cattle department more than 1000 animals were exhibited. Before the fair got under way, 709 of these animals taxed the capacity of the enlarged cattle barns and several hundred more were brought in by the boys and girls clubs from various sections of Michigan.

There were approximately 1250 sheep and 1100 swine on exhibition and about 2100 chickens. Few grain, potato, fruit and flower exhibitions in this section of the country have been as complete as the Michigan Fair's. In the flower shows, amateur displays predominated.

Machinery of 1849 and 1922 Shown. There probably never was assembled such a display of modern machinery as housed in the machinery hall and individual booths on the fair grounds. Thousands were drawn into Jerry Ford's exhibition which occupied more than 12,000 square feet of space outside. There, the motor king and on display not only all of his own products but farm machinery from as far back as 1819, the year of the original Michigan fair.

Besides the broad exhibits by the United States department of agriculture, American Jersey cattle club and hundreds of independent exhibitors, the dairy building drew visitors with its dairy caption work. Display of pies, cakes and instruction in canning, etc., brought many to the domestic department.

A federal government exhibit, the Michigan Agricultural college work which embodied lectures, the state department of agriculture's display and exhibitions by counties and individuals made up the show in the Agricultural building. Garment making, judging of poultry, canning and cooking were other educational features.

An important adjunct of the fair was the work carried on by the boy and girl clubs and the Boys State Fair school. All of the boys were quartered in tents in front of the administration building while the girls were housed in a bungalow on the grounds.

Clean Entertainments Afforded. The car laying and milking contest probably drew more attention than any of the competing novelties at the fair. The Better Babies contest, which drew 47 babies being exhibited the first day of the fair compared to seven for the corresponding day in 1921. Next year the entire east end of the Woman's building will be devoted to this affair.

The Dog show, with more than 3 canine aristocrats competing drew 20,000 visitors in three days and was followed by a three-day dog and county interesting. The wild life exhibit near the educational building held the interest of the children. The educational building were the ae exhibits and aquarium. The Woman's Work department with its hundreds of fancy articles and pieces of need work was also a center of interest.

Rubin & Cherry shows afford clean entertainment, a big program vaudeville was offered before a grandstand and in the coliseum building each afternoon and evening. The more six days of running races, the days of auto racing and nine nights fireworks. The air mail service maintained between Chicago, Detroit and Cleveland and Detroit and tourist camp where 140 tourists quartered also proved interesting.

The official attendance was 375,000 and stands as a record.

she wished it with violence, but she contrived to give to her arbitrary refusal a quality of contempt. When Jenny arrived with Lulu Bett, she had brought a sheet of goodwill for Mrs. Bett, and as she laid the flowers beside her, the young girl stopped and kissed her. "You little darling!" cried Mrs. Bett, and clung to her, her lifted eyes lit by something intense and living. But when the tea cream party had set off at last, Mrs. Bett left her supper, gathered up the flowers, and crossed the lawn to the old cottage, Grandma Gates.

"This isn't my own home," the old woman thought.

"And then it was quite beautiful to watch her with Grandma Gates, whom she tended and petted, to whose sympathies she listened, and to whom she tried to tell the small events of her day. When her neighbor had gone, Grandma Gates said that it was as good as a dose of medicine to have her come in.

Mrs. Bett sat on the porch restored and pleasant when the family returned. Di and Bobby had walked home with Jenny.

"Look here," said Dwight Herbert, who was sitting at the table, and had a cream in his hand like a queen.

"Vainly or chocolate?" Mrs. Bett demanded.

"Chocolate, mamma!" Ina cried, with the breeze in her voice.

"Vainly, sets better," Mrs. Bett said.

"They sat with her on the porch while she ate. Ina rocked on a creaking board. Dwight swung a leg over the railing. Monona sat pulling her skirt over her feet, and humming all on one note. There was no moon, but the warm dusk had a quality of transparency as if it were lit in all its particles.

The gate opened, and some one came up the walk. They looked, and it was Lulu.

"Well, if it isn't Miss Lulu Bett!" Dwight cried involuntarily, and Ina cried out something.

"How did you know?" Lulu asked.

"Know? Know what?"

"That it isn't Lulu Deacon. Hello, mamma!"

She kissed the others and kissed her mother.

"Say," said Mrs. Bett placidly. "And I just ate up the last spoonful of cream."

"Ain't Lulu Deacon?" Ina's voice rose and swelled richly. "What you talking?"

"Well, if it isn't Miss Lulu Bett!" Dwight cried involuntarily.

"Didn't he write to you?" Lulu asked.

"Not a word," Dwight answered.

"All we've had we had from you—the list from Savannah, Georgia."

"Savannah, Georgia?" said Lulu, and laughed.

"They could see that she was dressed well in dark red cloth, with a little tiling in and a drooping veil. She did not seem to any wise upset, nor, save for that nervous laughter, did she show her excitement.

"Well, but he's here with you isn't he?" Dwight demanded. "Isn't he here? Where is he?"

"Must be 'most to Oregon by this time," Lulu said.

"Oregon?"

"You see," said Lulu, "he had another wife."

"Why, he had not!" exclaimed Dwight absurdly.

"Yes. He hasn't seen her for fifteen years and he thinks she's dead, but he isn't sure."

The Willys-Overland Co.

Has just announced another price reduction covering both Overland and Willys Knight cars. This is the second price cut this year, and is due to the great economies effected by an enormous manufacturing performance.

The big Toledo plant has just completed the largest July and August in its history, and has already built and delivered more cars than the amount called for in the plans for the entire year.

The prices are now at a level heretofore thought impossible. A fully equipped Overland Touring car with three coats baked enamel finish, all steel body, triplex springs for

The new Willys Knight prices are far below any car equipped with sleeve valve motor. Compare them with popular valve motors of equal price.

Reductions effective on all ten models.

Overlands range up to $55.00. Willys Knight as high as $145.00 in some models.

Richard Lloyd Jones says

Are We Going to be Grasshoppers?

Did you ever hear of Doolittle? If some fellow had told your grandfather when he was a boy that in the time of his grandchildren a man would take dinner one evening on the cool summer veranda overlooking the broad Atlantic and at ten o'clock bid his friends good night saying "I am retiring with friends on the Pacific Coast tomorrow evening. I must be on my way," your grandfather would have looked upon the predictor as either a laughable romancer or a pitiable fool.

Well—Doolittle did it. And not many people noticed it. The whole world accepted it as a little news item and most of those who did as quickly forgot it.

Lieutenant James H. Doolittle, U. S. Army aviator, hopped off in his airplane from the broad Atlantic at Pablo Beach at three minutes past ten o'clock Labor Day. At 5:34 the next morning (Pacific time), he stepped out of his sky-boat at San Diego, Calif., on the Pacific.

Doolittle stopped an hour and seven minutes at San Antonio, Texas, to take breakfast with his wife and mother. The actual flying time, he flew from sea to sea in twenty-one hours and eighteen minutes.

What would grandfather, as a boy, have thought of that? Nothing more than a passing news item of the hour now. We have grown accustomed to startling events.

Some day some fellow will rise up into the heavens and sail all the way around the world. And when that day comes, even that will not amaze us.

The little air ship that Doolittle lifted above the storm clouds and sailed by compass was but the Santa Maria sailing an uncharted sky. A sky where great ships will follow. It was the De Witt Clinton piloting the path for the main-line air passenger coach that our children will some day use to meet a business engagement or to greet a friend at dinner a few thousand miles away.

All over the skies new lines of passenger ships will fly. As Doolittle hopped from sea to sea, we will hop from shore to shore.

Soon Asia is but a day away. We take breakfast in Buenos Ayres to-morrow.
