

CHAS. STEINBACH
OLD CHELSEA
BUSINESS MAN
PASSES AWAYHAD BEEN IN BUSINESS FIFTY YEARS HERE.

The sudden death of Charles Steinbach, one of Chelsea's oldest business men, came as a shock to all. Mr. Steinbach had been in apparently good health, having been at his work each day and had shown no signs of illness. His death took from the village the oldest active business man in the village.

For fifty years he had been in the village business here. He had seen the village grow from a few houses to a prosperous little village. And during his time he was one of the best known men throughout the country.

He was a great lover of music and was a good musician. He played the violin and gave lessons at one time. Several of his children have followed his footsteps and have chosen a musical career.

Mr. Steinbach had been a member of Olive Lodge F. & A. M. No. 156 for fifty years and had always been an active worker in Masonic affairs.

Mr. Steinbach was found dead in his bed by his wife Friday October 13, 1922. He had died during the night. He was born July 15, 1844 in Heinenbach, Germany and was the oldest son of Henry and Martha Voland Steinbach. In 1864, at the age of 20 he came to America with his parents and landed at Baltimore. They remained there a few months and then came on to Ann Arbor where they stayed until 1869 when they moved to Lima.

For a few years before he was married he conducted a harness shop in Lima. On March 19, 1872 he married Martha Hutzel, daughter of the late August and Sophia Hutzel of Ann Arbor. They moved to Chelsea after the marriage where he opened a harness shop, which he managed until death.

Mr. Steinbach is survived by his widow and seven children who are: Henry, of Dexter; Otto, of Flint; a dealer in musical instruments, Edgar of Kellogg, Idaho; Albert of Chelsea, who was in business with his father; Charlotte, of Grand Junction, Colorado, who has charge of a school and home for crippled children; Helene, of Cleveland, Ohio who is an instructor in music and Emilie, of Paris, France who is abroad studying music.

He is also survived by Burnett Steinbach of Jackson, Mrs. Cary Easton of Detroit, Miss Minnie Steinbach of Los Angeles, Calif., John and George Steinbach of Lima Township, Mrs. Anna Fletcher of Chelsea and several grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Monday, October 16, from the home, the Rev. P. H. Grabowski officiating. The Masonic fraternity had charge of the funeral services at the grave. Interment was made in Oak Grove cemetery.

Those from out of town attending the Chas. Steinbach funeral were: Mr. and Mrs. Titus Hutzel, Mrs. Sophia Spring and daughters Hannah and Thunelda, Mrs. Henriette Frehauss, Mrs. Pauline Wurster, Mrs. Louise Wolpert, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Vogel, Mrs. Irving Schmidt, Mr. John Foster, all from Ann Arbor. Herman Hutzel, of Munice, Indiana, Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Eisen, of Detroit, Mr. and Mrs. Burnett Steinbach, of Concord, Mrs. Burr, Albert Litchfield, K. Wheeler, Mr. and Mrs. Galbraith Gorman, all of Dexter.

INTERURBANNo One Injured In Sunday Morning
Crash.

John Eder driving a Ford touring car Sunday morning was hit by an interurban car at the crossing on Main street. According to Eder the crossing signal did not ring nor did he see the car until it was too late. The east interurban was going slow and was about to make the stop when Eder drove onto the tracks from the south. The auto was completely turned around, breaking the windshield and bending the left fender, the axle and radius rods.

No one was hurt and the car was pulled from the ditch later and taken to a garage for repairs.

Bad Fog Sunday Night.

The entire vicinity for many miles around was covered with one of the heaviest fogs that has been known here in some time. Automobile lights did not reflect more than 25 feet ahead of the car, making driving dangerous.

On the detour to Jackson several cars were in the ditch but no serious accidents were known. Every driver slowed down to almost a stop when he approached a car, and well that they should for danger lay very close every minute.

SCREW COMPANY IS WORKING OVERTIME

The Chelsea Screw Company is so rushed with work that they are working overtime three nights a week and all day Saturday. Extra men have been added and if the work continues to come in such large quantities it is expected that a night force will be put on, so as to keep the machinery going all the time. Work in such large volumes has not been a common thing since the war time, but everything tends to point to better times in store before long.

TRACKMEN GET TWO CENT RAISE

Chicago, Oct. 16.—Pay of railroad maintenance of way employees Saturday was increased two cents an hour by the United States railroad labor board.

The increase affects 451,911 men. The increase will amount to $22,125,562.40 in a year.

Deadlock Is Broken.

The decision of the board, which breaks a deadlock extending over a period of several weeks in which the members were unable to agree upon the amount of an increase, will make the minimum rates of pay for maintenance of way workers from 25 to 37 cents an hour.

This is one cent an hour above the recent wage advance announced by the United States Steel company for unskilled labor.

Effective October 16.

The new wages are effective October 16.

The decision of the board raises the pay of men who were cut in the spring and who threatened to strike against the wage slash. Some classes of workers were cut five cents an hour, some four cents an hour and the others one cent an hour.

The strike of the organization was held up upon promise of the board to consider an application for an increase immediately in view of business conditions changing for the better.

STARTING SOMETHING.

The Germans seem to have started something with their air gliding contests, in which one flier remained in the air three hours in an airplane without a motor.

A gliding craze now is sweeping England, progressive London papers offering big prizes.

And it's a safe bet that the gliding craze will invade America and furnish thrills for the cautious who prefer to stay on the ground and "let George do it" in the air.

A glider is a machine that travels on "air waves" about the same as a sail boat travels on water. It has a rudder for steering, also "control surfaces" which the pilot tilts to make the craft rise or descend and to balance the glider if it gets lopsided and starts to tilt.

First you have to master "aerial balance," same as you learn to balance on a bicycle. All depends on the pilot's skill. He has to learn to use his artificial wings as a young bird learns to fly.

You sit in the car, preferably on a hillside. Helpers grasp a long rope, attached to the glider, and run with it until the wind catches under the wings and you "take off" like a kite.

Then you fall.

A motorless glider, of the type used by Herr Hentzen, German gliding champion, moves forward 16 foot for each foot it descends after taking off from a hillside, provided there are no up gusts of wind to help move the craft upwards and forward.

The Germans started the air gliding by long and patient watching of hawks, gulls and swallows in flight. Air experts and mathematicians thus figured out the curves and tricks used by soaring birds.

Chief obstacle to gliding by man is that the pilot is apt at any second to strike a new air current or hole. German observers discovered that birds "instinctively scent" new air currents with their heads. So the Germans are trying to develop a similar "air sense." They are helped by a secret chemical skin coating which makes their faces sensitive to the least touch of wind.

As you probably suspect, the German general staff began quietly to investigate gliding as far back as 1915. This was learned recently by French spies. The peace treaty forbids Germany making high power airplanes. So she turns to planes without motors.

LOOKS GOOD.

Northwestern university has adopted a system by which so called slow students, especially those who have been unable to make the required credits for entrance to college because of sickness, outside work or conditions at home, will be admitted to go ahead with their college work as rapidly as their capacities will permit.

By the parole system the student who has been denied equal opportunity can be given a fair chance for a college education without being a drag on the other students or the school.

Even those pupils who may have made poor records at high school may be admitted to the university if they pass mental alertness tests. This gives new opportunity to a young person who may not have awakened in high school to the values of education but later wishes desperately for a chance to improve his mental equipment.

The innovation looks good. Even tho it may encourage a few slothful to hope that they can make the grade "some other time" it is more justified by the new avenues it opens to hard-luck students.

TO THE GOOD.

American foreign trade totals $271,000,000 of imports and $302,000,000 of exports for a month. This leaves a nice balance in our favor—if we ever get the money.

Do these dry statistics have any meaning to you personally? Some. Do a little figuring and you find that exports are only $2.80 a month, and imports $2.50, for each American. Just about enough for "tobacco money." It suggests that the importance of foreign trade usually is exaggerated. We are regaining prosperity by doing business among ourselves, not with other countries.

Foreign trade right now is so "important" that it leaves each of us only 30 cents a month to the good.

MENTAL INDIGESTION.

Carrie E. Scott, head of the children's department of Indianapolis public library, says there are too many cases of mental indigestion among children, due to choosing "all sweets and desserts" in reading. She strikingly compares a public library to a cafeteria.

"Mental indigestion" is a word combination that covers the nation like the morning dew. The stomach is said to waste only nine out of each 100 mouthfuls of food. The brain digests and stores nine, loses the rest. In other words, out the other. In intellect is a filler.

FASHION.

Ladies, this will be a season of browns, says Ora Cne, famous man milliner and designer. Brown takes the place of henna. Colors next in favor are emerald green and lark's foot blue. Among metallic shades, aluminum and platinum lead.

"Why make a fuss about it?" men will ask. To tens of millions of American women and girls, a change in colors is more important than a change in stock market quotations is to a speculator.

Experience is fine. But a man with a wild son in college should get wholesale rates.

You can't eat your cake and have it too, but if you don't eat it the cake gets stale.

Counterfeit $20 bills are in circulation. Watch your change.

Richard Lloyd Jones tells

How To Play The Game

IN the closing game of a minor league two teams were contending for the pennant. The bleachers were crowded with real fans. The score was 5 to 4. The team at bats was four. The last half of the 9th inning was in play. There were two out, three men on bases, their best batter up. The round ball and sent it far afield. The race of the bases started. The left fielder ran desperately to catch the ball. He met it in the tall grass close to the fence as the batter was on his way home, the three base runners before him. The fielder fell. The grandstand rose; a hush held them. "Did he catch it?" was the thought on thousands of tongues. Out from the tall grass into which he had stumbled the fielder rose, holding high the ball. A mighty cheer arose. The four runners had touched home plate without a score. The fielder who held the ball had given his team the pennant. The cheers continued, wave after wave of cheers—until—the fielder lowered his hand and held the ball and raised the other hand in protest, dropped his head with humiliation and shook it.

At once the thousand eyes upon him read the sign. The ball fell to earth, not into his hands. In his race to the high grass he had stumbled where instantly he could not have found it. No one but himself and his God saw it.

One never-to-be-detected falsehood would give him the victory for which through all the long hot summer they had battled. Temptation spurred him but in the nobler sober second thought, conscience triumphed and HE PLAYED THE GAME ON THE SQUARE.

Victory was turned into defeat. But only for the moment. The hush that came over the grandstand, as they comprehended the act, first broke into cheers for the real winners—and then—the finer conscience and the true sportsmanship that the player had expressed possessed his disappointed rooters. They found that VICTORY was not wrapped up in the pennant. The pennant at best was but a rag of a thing. The real victory was in playing the game on the square. And both the contending fans broke out in a cheer such as few diamond heroes have ever heard.

The fielder came in, and as he came his head lifted from its depressed pose and he faced the throng.

THEIR HERO.

The great American game is a builder of men. It is not the exhibition games that count the most. It is the game that is staged in the school ground and in the vacant lot that serves as best. The real game is played on the diamond that is not encircled by banner-bearing bleachers. The real game is played not on fields where all eyes may see. The real game is played in the far out field, in the uncult grass where ball and player meet unseen.

He who can find victory there has learned the lesson of life that the great American game has to teach. He is the player who is a MAN.

Michigan Happenings

Sensational movies of black hand operations were blamed by Frank Sedlar, of Owosso, for his trouble when he was sentenced to three years in the federal penitentiary at Atlanta, Ga., by Judge Arthur J. Tuttle, for sending black hand letters through the mails. Sedlar pleaded guilty to sending a letter demanding $10,000 to C. D. Bell, general manager of the Owosso Sugar company. The letter made threats against the life of Bell in case the money was not left at the place named, and was signed "Iron Hand Gang."

Beginning a six-year cruise in a 16-foot canoe, L. H. Smith has left Grand Rapids for the Panama canal, where he expects to arrive in 1928. Hundreds turned out to see Smith launch his canoe on the waters of the Grand River and embark on his long voyage. The first leg of the journey will end at Grand Haven where Smith will ship his 48-pound canoe and land to Chicago. There he will put the canoe in the water again and paddle to the south. Smith intends to earn his living en route.

Delegates to the Michigan annual state convention of the Daughters of the American Revolution at Battle Creek, were augmented by the presence of a new arrival, a real daughter of the Revolution, Mrs. Helen Barrett, 90 years old, of Richmond, whose father was a soldier in Washington's time. Reports show that there are 10 other women in Michigan whose fathers served in the Revolution. Mrs. Barrett was given an ovation but was not strong enough to make response.

The annual report of Sheriff A. C. Pack, Washtenaw county, presented to the board of supervisors, showed that prisoners in the Washtenaw jail had been fed at an average cost of eight cents a meal, during the last year. Fearful lest supervisors should feel the men had been starved, the sheriff made mention of the fact that some of the prisoners had gained as high as 30 pounds on that fare, after they had been in jail for some weeks.

James Wilson, a farmer near Kalamazoo, is in a critical condition at the hospital where he was taken after he was gored by a bull. Wilson was walking to the barn when the animal which had never before shown any traces of violence, suddenly charged upon him, knocked him to the ground and gored him. Wilson undoubtedly would have been killed but for the help of two passing boys who set their dog upon the bovine.

Twelve thousand square miles of Michigan's 2,000 of inland waters have been robbed and polluted until they now are technically known as "barren." James Oliver Curwood, author and conservation advocate, declared at a meeting of conservation delegates at Petoskey. Eighty per cent of our streams, he declared, have become useless except as disease laden and life-destroying sewerage channels.

Suits against 44 farmers in Alpena township have been instituted by trustee Charles Daigle for the defunct Alpena County Farm Bureau in order to clear up matters of the bureau. Indebtedness of the bureau is $27,000, which is offset by appreciable assets which, with a portion of the outstanding notes and dues, will make possible a dollar for dollar liquidation.

Stock in the Ford Motor Company

SMOOTH stock salesman who recently worked in this community used this argument to sell his stock; that if a person had invested $5,000.00 in the original stock of the Ford Motor Company that he would be worth today from 10 to 12 million dollars.

This salesman's argument may have been good, but what about the securities he sold? Investors now find them to be absolutely worthless.

Remember this, that while all the salesman's arguments may be essentially true, the securities he is trying to sell you may be the kind that need investigation.

RABIES PREVALENT THIS YEAR.

The following was taken from the Lansing Capital News of October 7 and was sent to W. F. Kautlechner by his brother of that city.

"As a result of proof that a little wire terrier dog owned by John Wilson Dodge, had rabies, Mr. Dodge and two members of his family are now in Ann Arbor taking treatment at the Pasteur Institute there.

"Last Saturday afternoon Mr. Dodge was sitting in a swing near his cottage at Pine lake. Suddenly he noticed that the little dog was running about the yard, snapping and acting queerly. Two or three times the animal ran between Mr. Dodge's legs, snapping as he ran, although he did not bite him. The dog also ran up to Mrs. Dodge and other ladies who were about to go in bathing.

"Shortly afterward, and before the dog had bitten anyone, he was shot, and upon the advice of Dr. William W. Thorburn, Lansing veterinarian surgeon, the dog's head was sent to Ann Arbor for examination. The result was that the dog was declared to have had the rabies and the Dodge family went to Ann Arbor immediately for treatment.

"Medical authorities at Ann Arbor declared in a letter that Dr. Thorburn received today, that in all probability the dog had been bitten by a squirrel and inoculated in that way. It stated further that many squirrels are afflicted with rabies this year, careful in shooting them as any blood that touches a sore will be apt to cause rabies inoculation. They also warn the people of Michigan that it is exceedingly dangerous to eat squirrels this year."

DODGE BROTHERS BUSINESS SEDAN

With this car, Dodge Brothers have literally created a new type of sedan.

They have combined open car ruggedness with closed car protection and smartness.

They have demonstrated, once for all, that a sedan can be as practical and almost as inexpensive as an open touring car.

The body is built of hand-welded steel because steel is sturdy, and will take a permanent, oven-baked finish, eliminating forever the cost of repainting.

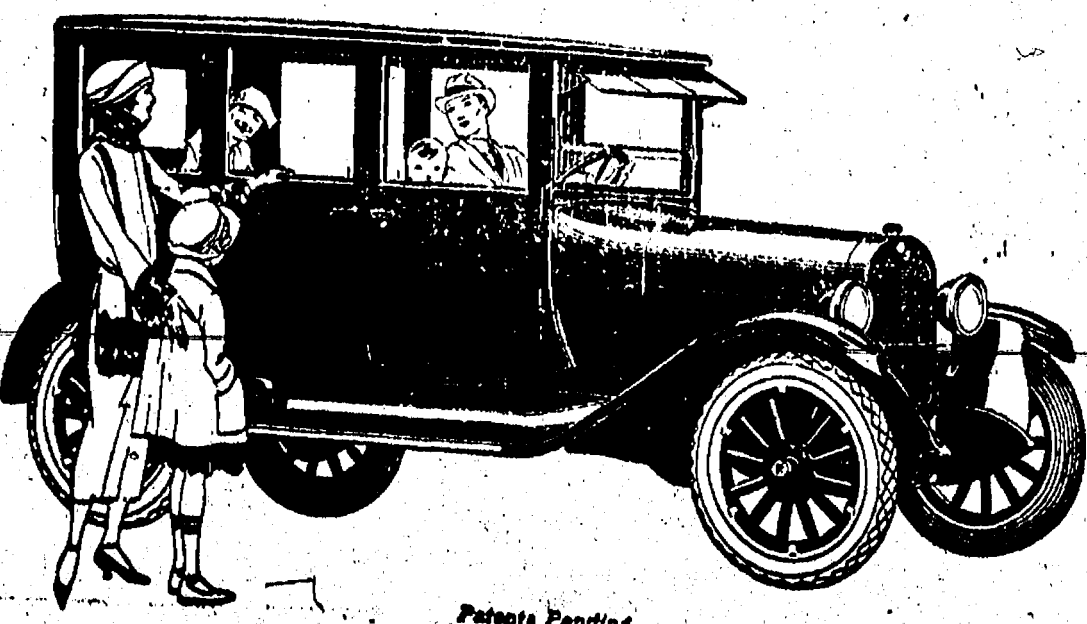

The seats are upholstered in attractive, genuine Spanish blue leather, because leather will wash and wear.

To further enlarge the car's usefulness, the rear seat, back and side cushions, seat frame and foot rest are quickly removable, giving sixty-four cubic feet of flat loading space in the rear compartment. The manifold uses made possible by this unique feature are readily imagined.

The top and rear quarters are of non-rumble, fabric construction, conforming with the present attractive vogue. From cord ties to curtain cords, the fittings, inside and out, are distinctive and complete.

In fact, every detail of the car emphasizes its striking adaptability to business—as well as social use.
