Dexter—The teachers have made a new rule requiring that all tardy pupils make up their time after school.
They hope that it will have a good effect on some.—Leader.Pinckney—The O. E. S. of this place will hold their annual fair, December 8 at the Masonic Temple. There will be numerous hand-made articles for sale and supper will be served.Brooklyn—The Hart & Howell Co., is unloading five carloads of popcorn on contracts held in Iowa. After some difficulty in obtaining cars, the corn is being received.—Exponent.Norvell—Many of our residents and neighboring farmers are hoping that the ice company will cut and ship ice from here the coming winter, as they earn good wages helping in the industry.Ann Arbor—Misdeeds committed by four Ann Arbor men on the day set aside for thanks brought grief to them in the form of heavy jail sentences when arraigned before Justice John D. Thomas in justice court.Jackson—Frank Petway and James Goodheart of Detroit were arrested by Michigan Central detectives on the charge of gambling and picking the pockets of a fellow passenger.
They pleaded guilty to the charge of gambling today. Harry Vorhees, a Chicago man, was the victim.Bridgewater—L. B. Avery placed two three-gallon poultry fountains of water in his hen house, one containing ice water and the other warm water. The hens drank all the warm water, and but very little of the cold water, which seems to show that in winter they should have warm water.Saline—Funeral services for Wm.
Stelzer, 32, of Saline, who was killed Wednesday evening of a week ago, when his team ran away, a wagon load of wood crushing him to death, were held at 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the residence of his sister, Mrs.
Herman Klump, who lives two miles west of Saline.Milan—The Ladies Auxiliary of the local post of The American Legion was organized last week. A dozen ladies, wives, mothers and sisters of ex-service men, who are members of The Legion in Milan met and formed a temporary organization and have applied to the state department for a charter.—Leader.Jackson—Harvey R. Nicol has been promoted from storekeeper, division of equipment and supplies, to the position of chief clerk to the fourth assistant postmaster general, L. M.
Dow, who has been made chief record clerk in the motor vehicle service. Nicol has been in the postal service since 1905.Brooklyn—Fourteen more motorists who forgot or neglected to meet present regulations in the way of headlights, tail-lights or licenses were apprehended by Jackson county officials in Brooklyn on Saturday. There are so many motor regulations that it is easy to neglect some of them and the penalties are not severe for minor infractions of the law if one does not get funny with the officers.—Exponent.Stockbridge—Reuben Hannewald and Sam Moffat had a narrow escape from being seriously injured last Thursday. They were drawing hay with a Ford truck and after weighing a load on the Deupuy scales, drove onto the track on the east side of the depot and were struck by the 10:19 passenger train. Both men escaped somewhat bruised, but the truck was wrecked, and hay scattered for several rods along the track.—Brief-sun.Saline—Considerable interest has been aroused among motor car owners of Saline and surrounding communities over a wrecking apparatus for disabled cars, recently devised and put into demonstration by C. E. Rowley & Son of this village. While the patents on the machine are still pending, it has been in operation at Wiedman's garage for the past few weeks, and in every respect has given more service and satisfaction than has any other apparatus originated for the same purpose.—Observer.Ypsilanti—County Drain Commissioner Clayton E. Deake sold at the city hall here this morning contracts for a drain 4,865 feet in length to be built west of the city near the D. J.
& C. car lines along the Breakey and Owen property. Mr. Deake stated that the tax would be spread in 1923 and would be payable in 1924. The city at large pays 40 per cent of the cost of the drain, the township of Ypsilanti 11 per cent and the property owners benefited the balance. The excavation was awarded to Frank Faly at a cost or contract price of $5,075. The title contract was awarded to the American Vitrified Product company at $7,445. Frank Faly was also awarded the contract for handling tile at $320.—Record.

FARM BUREAU OFFICERS

Officers were again re-elected to

"FOR THE SON OF MAN ALSO CAME"

Following is the summary of the sermon delivered by Rev. E. A.
Garnes at the Congregational church Sunday, December 3:

Topic, "Selfishness of Service."

Text: Mark, 10:45. "For the Son of Man also came not to be ministered unto, but to minister, and to give his life a ransom for many."In this teaching Jesus struck a new note in the relationship of man to man and the real meaning of life.
The history of the early nations, both small and large, is the story of national conflict and selfish aggression.The Empire, founded by Alexander the Great, fell apart because it lacked the cement of brotherly love. The "Holy Roman Empire" as well as the political, lost its control over its subjects because there was not that inner loyalty which demands the best in every man.Authority and compulsion from without must sooner or later give way to that authority which comes from within. That inner longing, which is in the heart and soul of every human being, which craves real companionship and the higher things of life, is the golden thread that binds us to the divine.This common longing makes brothers and sisters of us all. Any work be it large or small, which contributes to the good and development of mankind is a service to humanity.
Many industrial organizations have found that the only safe and sure way of success is founded upon the idea of service.Thousands of young people are asking themselves the question,
"Where can I place my life that it may count for the most." This is the great challenge which comes to us all and our degree of real happiness will depend upon our answer to this challenge. Thus with the vision of service forever before we will realize the highest happiness that it is possible for mankind to attain.There was a very helpful and inspiring Sunday school conference Sunday afternoon from two-thirty until five o'clock at the Congregational church.Bernard Coggan of Lansing, State Secretary of Religious Education for young people, H. L. Thornton of Ann Arbor, County Secretary and J. P.
Stevens of Ann Arbor, County Treas-urer, were with us, and those who missed hearing them lost an opportunity to obtain first hand information of what is being done in religious education.The aim of the meeting was to organize our district and elect officers. Owing to the small number present, due without doubt to the lack of time to properly advertise the meeting, it was decided to elect temporary president, Mrs. Sadie and appoint a nominating committee and have another meeting in the near future to elect permanent officers and perfect our district organization which will be affiliated with the county, state, and national organizations.Rev. E. A. Carnes was appointed temporary president, Mrs. Sadie Houck temporary secretary. This meeting was one of a series of four meetings to be held this week which will complete the county organization.Rev. W. B. Shirey of Ann Arbor, president of the county association, is expected to be with us but his car decided differently for him. He cranked it while it was in low and the result was that he was jammed between the car and garage, which experience left him physically unfit to meet his appointments.Printer's ink makes people think if used in proper doses in this paper.

WASHTENAW COUNTY BOYS AT STOCK SHOW

The 9:50 train from the Michigan Central depot in Ann Arbor Saturday morning carried 12 boys of the Washtenaw County Boys' club to Chicago where they will attend the First National Boys' and Girls' club exposition during the Livestock Exposition. The boys have won their way to the exposition by reason of having placed first in competitive judging at the state and county fairs.They will remain in Chicago one week, being entertained in addition to receiving agricultural instruction which will prove of great value.Six hundred champions will be present to enjoy the week's program arranged by the management and leading Chicago business agencies.
Visits to industrial plants and points of interest, banquets and amusements are included.

M. A. C. DAIRY COURSE
The special short course in dairy production at the Michigan Agricultural College has been lengthened to 12 weeks instead of 8 this year, according to announcement just made by Prof. O. E. Reed of the college dairy department. The course will open on January 1. This course offers general training for farmers of the state who wish to equip themselves for more efficient handling of their dairy herds, and dairy farms. It also gives an opportunity for young men to train themselves for positions as Cow Testing Association testers.

COOK PORK WELL
"Cook pork well" is the advice of the United States Department of Agriculture. Failure to observe this important precaution is liable to be followed by serious illness known as trichinosis. This disease which is very painful and frequently fatal, is caused by a small parasite that sometimes occurs in pork. The trichina parasite is so small that it can be seen only with a microscope, and is often overlooked even in the most careful microscopic examination. Hogs harboring the parasites show no symptoms and pork containing trichina is exactly the same in appearance as other pork.

BE PREPARED. If you haven't a bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound in the home, ready for use at the first sign of a cold or cough, get a bottle today. You might need it some night when stores are closed, and delays are dangerous.

Foley's Honey and Tar COMPOUND contains no opiates, is absolutely safe and harmless, and has been used in thousands of homes for many years to prevent and overcome coughs, colds, croup, whooping cough, la grippe and bronchitis. It acts quickly, loosens phlegm and mucus, clears air passages, and costs the raw, inflamed membranes with a soothing, healing medicine.

Would Never Be Without It

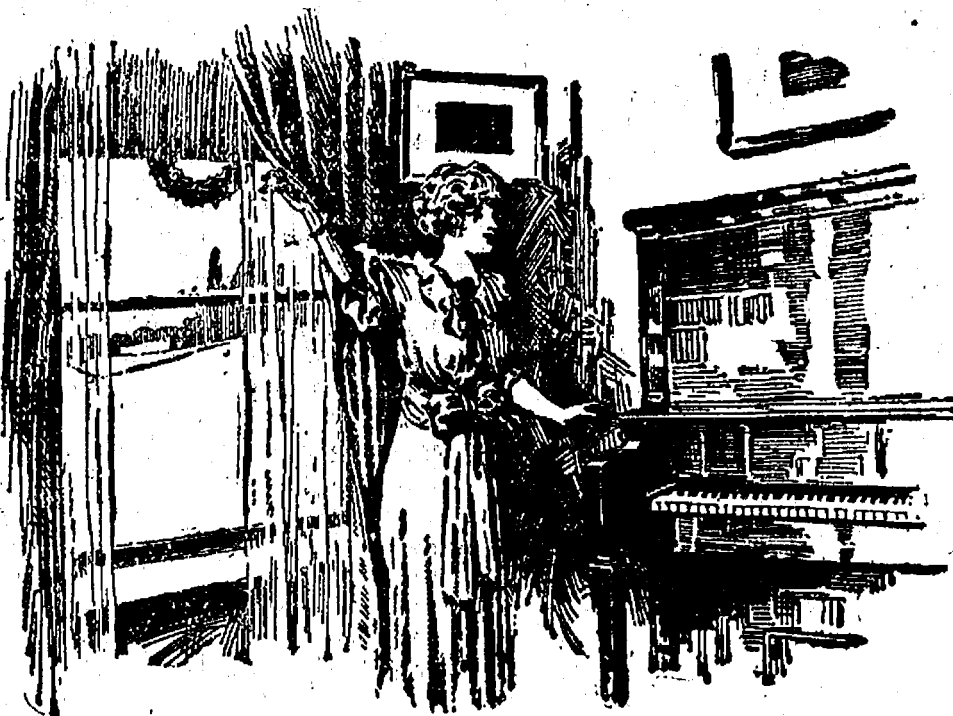

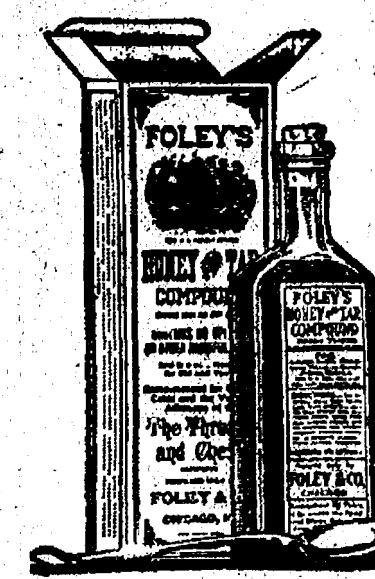

Mrs. Chas. Rule, New Higgins, Wis., writes: "My husband would not be without Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. I think your medicine does all that you say it will do."

Banished a Stubborn Cough

Mrs. Geneva Robinson, 83 N. Swan St. Albany, N. Y., writes: "I can truthfully say Foley's Honey and Tar Compound is the best medicine I have ever used, as two bottles broke a most stubborn, lingering cough and I gladly send you permission to print same."

Mother who have given Foley's Honey and Tar to their children know it is absolutely safe. It tastes good and won't injure the most delicate stomach. It should be kept in the family medicine chest the year 'round—always ready when needed.

THE SUNKEN GRAVE

Nothing can be sadder than a grave that is no longer a mound. The inevitable has come to pass—the weight of the sodden earth has crushed in the last protection. It helps nothing to close the imagination to what happens then. Yet there is not the slightest necessity for this barbarous, unsanitary, old fashioned method of burial. THE NORWALK VAULT—at little cost—will protect absolutely and forever. Cement and steel, water-tight and airtight, it seals in plain sight and becomes one solid piece of marble that literally "lasts through the Ages." The best undertakers insist on it.

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of certain installments of principal and interest due and payable under the terms and conditions of a real estate mortgage made and executed by John W. Foster and Liza A. Foster as husband and wife, of the township of Sylvan, in the County of Washtenaw and State of Michigan parties of the first part to J. Nelson Dancer and Lola J. Dancer as husband and wife, parties of the second part; which said mortgage is dated December 20th, 1918, and is recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of said county of Washtenaw in Liber 146 of Mortgages at page 362, and which said mortgage was thereafter, on September 5th, A. D. 1919, duly assigned by the said J. Nelson Dancer and Lola J. Dancer to Roy C. Ives and Ruby D. Ives as husband and wife, parties of the second part; and the said mortgage was again duly assigned by the said Roy C. Ives and Ruby D. Ives to Katie S. Ives and the assignment thereof bearing date December 21st, 1920, was duly recorded in the office of the said Register of Deeds in Liber 19 of Assignments of Mortgages at page 391.

That in and by the said mortgage it was expressly agreed: That should any default be made in payment of the installments of principal or payments of interest of any part thereof on any day whereon the same is made due and payable and should the same remain unpaid and in arrears for the space of thirty days then the whole of said principal sum named in the said mortgage with all arrears of interest shall at the option of the obligee in the said mortgage named or assigns become due and payable immediately thereafter, notice of the option being thereby expressly waived.

That certain installments of principal and payments of interest have become due and payable as provided by the said mortgage and the same having been due and payable as aforesaid and in arrears for more than thirty days and the absence of the obligee in the said mortgage named or assigns to have the full amount of the said principal sum in the said mortgage named together with all arrears of interest thereon become due and payable as aforesaid.

Notice of which default in the payment of the amount due upon the mortgage for principal and interest was given to the obligor as provided in the said mortgage and no payment of the same having been made, the debt secured by the said mortgage is now claimed to be due and payable by the said obligor to the said mortgagee and assigns.

the further sum of Thirty-five Dollars, ($35) as attorney's fee provided by law and stipulated in the said mortgage. Now therefore, Notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in the said mortgage and in pursuance of the statute in such cases made and provided, such mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described therein at Public Auction to the highest bidder at the south front door of the Court House in the City of Ann Arbor, in said county of Washtenaw, (that being the place where the Circuit Court for the said county of Washtenaw is held,) on Monday, the 29th day of January, A. D. 1923, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of said day. Which said premises are described in said mortgage as follows: The east one-half of the northwest one-quarter and the southwest one-quarter of section number thirty-two, (32) town two, (2) south, range three, (3) east, Township of Sylvan, Washtenaw County, Michigan.

In the Circuit Court for the County of Washtenaw; In Chancery.
Hattie M. Bassett,
Plaintiff,
vs.
Jane Nash, Homer Nash, Harvey Austin, Jane Austin, Aaron Austin and Polly Austin and their and each of their unknown heirs, devisees, legatees and assigns, Defendants.

At a session of said Court continued and held at the Court House in the City of Ann Arbor in said County of Washtenaw on the 28th day of November, A. D. 1922.

Present, Hon. George W. Sample, Circuit Judge.

It appearing in the above entitled cause from the Bill of Complaint duly verified and filed therein, that Jane Nash, Homer Nash, Harvey Austin, Jane Austin, Aaron Austin and Polly Austin, and their and each of their unknown heirs, devisees, legatees and assigns are necessary and proper parties defendant therein and it further appearing that after diligent search and inquiry the said plaintiff has been unable to ascertain the names or whereabouts of the said persons who are included as defendants without being named, as well as of those defendants who are named therein: Therefore upon motion of Jones & Stubbberg, Attorneys for said plaintiff, it is Ordered, that the appearance of the said defendants, Jane Nash, Homer Nash, Harvey Austin, Aaron Austin, and Polly Austin and their and each of their unknown heirs, devisees, legatees and assigns and each of them shall cause their appearance to be entered in said cause and notice thereof given under the rules and practice of this Court within three months from the date of this Order and that in default thereof the said Bill of Complaint be taken as confessed against them.

And it is further Ordered, that within twenty days from the date of this Order the plaintiff cause a copy thereof to be published in "The Chelsea Standard," a newspaper printed, published and circulating in the said County of Washtenaw, and that such publication be continued therein for six successive weeks.

Geo. W. Sample,
Circuit Judge.
Attest,
Jay G. Pray,
County Clerk.

To, Jane Nash, Homer Nash, Harvey Austin, Jane Austin, Aaron Austin, and Polly Austin and their and each of their unknown heirs, devisees, legatees and assigns.

Defendants, above named and to such other persons as are interested therein.

Take notice that the Bill of Complaint in the above cause is filed to reform and correct the several deeds thereof and to confirm and quiet the title of plaintiff to certain lands within the said County of Washtenaw and described as follows, to-wit: Commencing in the center of the Adrian and Pontiac road, also called the Saline and Ann Arbor road, where the quarter line of section thirty-six, (36) crosses said road, running thence west on said quarter line to the west line of said section thirty-six, (36); thence south thirty-two, (32) rods; thence east parallel with said quarter line to the center of said Adrian and Pontiac road; thence southerly along the center of said road to land now owned by John Feuerbacher; thence east along said Feuerbacher's north line to the northerly line of the right-of-way of the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern Rail-road; thence northeasterly along said north line of the right-of-way of said Rail-road to the east line of the township of Lodi; thence north along said east township line to land formerly owned by Henry Watson and known as "The Watson Farm"; thence west along said Watson's southerly line to the center of said Adrian and Pontiac road; thence southerly along the center of said road to the place of beginning. All being a part of section thirty-six of the township of Lodi, Washtenaw County, Michigan.
Dated November 28th, 1922.

DESERT GOLD

SYNOPSIS.

PROLOGUE.—Seeking gold in the desert, "Cameron," solitary prospector, forms a partnership with an unknown man whom he later learns is Jonas Warren, father of a girl whom Cameron wronged, but later married, back in Illinois. Cameron's explanations appease Warren, and the two proceed together, taking refuge from a sandstorm in a cave. Cameron discovers gold, but too late; both men are dying. Cameron leaves evidence, in the cave, of their discovery of gold, and personal documents.

CHAPTER I.—Richard Gale, adventurer, in Casita, Mexican border town, meets George Thorne, lieutenant in the Ninth cavalry, old college friend. Thorne tells Gale he is there to save Mercedes Castaneda, Spanish girl, his affianced wife, from Rojas, Mexican bandit.

CHAPTER II.—Gale, "roughhouse" Rojas and his gang, with the help of two American cowboys, and he, Mercedes and Thorne escape. A bugle call from the fort orders Thorne to his regiment. He leaves Mercedes under Gale's protection.

CHAPTER III.—The pair, aided by the cowboys who had assisted Gale in the escape, take refuge in a ranch known as Fort-River, well across the border.

Gale backed away, and his pulse leaped when he saw the two cowboys, as if with one purpose, slowly stride after him. Then Gale swerved, staggering along, brushed against the tables, kicked over the empty chairs. The hum of the many voices grew louder, and when Dick lurched against a table, overturning it and spilling glasses into the laps of several Mexicans, there arose a shrill cry. He had succeeded in attracting attention; almost every face turned his way. One of the insulted men, a little tawny fellow, leaped to confront Gale, and in a frenzy screamed a volley of Spanish, of which Gale distinguished "Gringo!" Dick swung his leg and with a swift side kick knocked the fellow's feet from under him, whirling him down with a thud.

The action was performed so suddenly, so adroitly, it made the Mexican such a weakling, as like a tumbled top, that the shrill jabbering hushed. Gale knew this to be the significant moment.

Wheeling, he rushed at Rojas. It was his old line-breaking plunge. Neither Rojas nor his men had time to move. The black-skinned bandit's face turned a dirty white; his jaw dropped; he would have shrieked if Gale had not hit him. The blow swept him backward against his men. Then Gale's heavy body, swiftly following with the momentum of that rush, struck the little group of rebels. They went down with the table and chairs in a sliding crash.

The Black-Skinned Bandit's Face Turned a Dirty White.

Gale, carried by his plunge, went with them. Like a cat he landed on top. As he rose his powerful hands fastened on Rojas. He jerked the little bandit off the tangled pile of struggling, yelling men, and, swinging him with terrific force, let go his hold. Rojas slid along the floor, knocking over tables and chairs. Gale bounded back, dragged Rojas up, handling him as if he were a limp sack.

A shot rang out above the yells. Gale heard the jingle of breaking glass. The room darkened perceptibly. He flashed a glance backward. The two cowboys were between him and the crowd of frantic rebels. One cowboy held two guns low down, level in front of him. The other had his gun raised and aimed. On the instant it spouted red and white. With the crack came the crashing of glass, another darkening shade over the room. With a cry Gale slung the bleeding Rojas from him. The bandit struck a table, toppled over it, fell, and lay prone.

again. Anyway, there's something doing over the line. Maybe the crazy Greasers are firing on our camp. We've feared it—in the dark. And here I am, away without leave—practically a deserter!"

"Go back! Go back, before you're too late!" cried Mercedes.
"Better make tracks, Thorne," added Gale. "It can't help our predicament for you to be arrested. I'll take care of Mercedes."

"No, no, no," replied Thorne. "I can get away—avoid arrest."

Mercedes embraced her lover, begged him to go. Thorne wavered.

"Dick, I'm up against it," he said. "You're right. If only I can run back in time. But, oh, I hate to leave her! Old fellow, you've saved her! I already owe you everlasting gratitude. Keep out of Casita, Dick. The U. S. side might be safe, but I'm afraid to trust it at night. Go out in the desert, up in the mountains, in some safe place. Then come to me in camp. We'll plan. I'll have to confide in Colonel Weede. Maybe he'll help us. Hide her from the rebels—that's all."

He wrung Dick's hand, clasped Mercedes tightly in his arms, kissed her, and murmured low over her, then released her to rush off into the darkness. He disappeared in the gloom.

The sound of his dull footfalls gradually died away.

Gale realized that he was between the edge of an unknown desert and the edge of a hostile town. He had to choose the desert, because, though he had no doubt that in Casita there were many Americans who might befriend him, he could not chance the risks of seeking them at night.

He felt a slight touch on his arm, felt it move down, felt Mercedes slip a trembling cold little hand into his. Dick looked at her. If the loneliness, the silence, the desert, the unknown dangers of the night affected him, what must they be to this hunted, driven girl? Gale's heart swelled. He was alone with her. He had no weapon, no money, no food, no drink, no covering, nothing except his two hands. He did not know where to find the railroad, or any road or trail, or whether or not there were towns near or far. It was a critical, desperate situation. He thought first of the girl, and groaned in spirit, prayed that it would be given him to save her. When he remembered himself it was with the stunning consciousness that he could conceive of no situation which he would have exchanged for this one—where fortune had set him a perilous task of loyalty to a friend, to a helpless girl.

"Senior, senior!" suddenly whispered Mercedes, clinging to him. "Listen! I hear horses coming!"

CHAPTER III

A Flight Into the Desert.

Uneasy and startled, Gale turned his ear to the soft wind. Presently he heard, or imagined he heard, low beats. In a moment he was certain the sounds were the padlike steps of hoofs in yielding sand. The regular tramp was not that of grazing horses.

In the instant, made cautious and stealthily by alarm, Gale drew Mercedes deeper into the gloom of the shrubbery. The sounds of hoofbeats grew louder. Gale made out a dark moving mass against a background of dull gray. There was a line of horses. He could not discern whether or not all the horses carried riders. The murmur of a voice struck his ear—then a low laugh. It made him tingle, for it sounded American. Eagerly he listened.

"It shored was, Laddy, it shored was," came a voice out of the darkness. "Rough house! Laddy, since wire fences drove us out of Texas we ain't seen the like of that. An' we never had such a call!"

"Call? It was a burnin' roast," replied another voice. "I felt low down. He vamoosed some sudden, an' I hope he an' his friends shook the dust of Casita. That's a rotten town, Jim."

Gale jumped up in joy. What luck! The speakers were none other than the two cowboys whom he had accosted in the Mexican hotel.

"Hold on, fellows," he called, and strode into the road.

The horses snorted and stamped. Then followed swift rustling sounds—a clinking of spurs, then silence. The figures loomed clearer in the gloom. Gale saw five or six horses, two with riders, and one other, at least, carrying a pack. When Gale got within fifteen feet of the group the foremost horseman said:

"I reckon that's close enough, stranger."

Something in the cowboy's hand glinted darkly bright in the starlight. "You'd recognize me, if it wasn't so dark," replied Gale, halting. "I spoke to you a little while ago—in the saloon back there."

"Come over an' let's see you," said the cowboy, curtly.

Gale advanced till he was close to the horse. The cowboy leaned over the saddle and peered into Gale's face. Then, without a word, he sheathed the gun and held out his hand. Gale met a grip of steel that warmed his blood. The other cowboy got off his nervous, spirited horse and threw the bridle. He, too, peered closely into Gale's face.

"My name's Ladd," he said. "Reckon I'm some glad to meet you again."

Gale felt another grip as hard and strong as the other had been. He realized he had found friends who belonged to a class of men whom he had despaired of ever knowing.

"Gale—Dick Gale is my name," he began, swiftly. "I dropped into Casita tonight hardly knowing where I was. A boy took me to that hotel. There I met an old friend whom I had not seen for years. He belongs to the cavalry stationed here. He had befriended a Spanish girl—fallen in love with her. Rojas had killed this girl's father—tried to abduct her. You know what took place at the hotel. Gentlemen, if it's ever possible, I'll show you how I appreciate what you did for me there. I got away, found my friend with the girl. We hurried out here beyond the edge of town. Then Thorne had to make a break for camp. We heard bugle calls, shots, and he was away without leave. That left the girl with me. I don't know what to do. Thorne swears Casita is no place for Mercedes at night."

"The girl ain't no peon, no common Greaser?" interrupted Ladd.

"No. Her name is Castaneda. She belongs to an old Spanish family, once rich and influential."

"Reckoned as much," replied the cowboy. "There's more than Rojas' wantin' to kidnap a pretty girl. Shore he does that every day or so. Must be somethin' political or feelin' against class. Well, Casita, ain't no place for your friend's girl at night or day, or any time. Shore, there's Americans who'd take her in an' fight for her, if necessary. But it ain't wise to risk that. Lash, what do you say?"

"It's been gettin' hotter round this Greaser corral for some weeks," replied the other cowboy. "If that two-bit of a garrison surrenders, there's no tellin' what'll happen, an' bein' across the U. S. line a few inches or so don't make no h—l of a difference. My advice is, don't let Miss Castaneda ever set foot in Casita again."

"Looks like you've shore spoke sense," said Ladd. "I reckon, Gale, you an' the girl ought to come with us. We know people who'll take care of the senorita till your friend can come for her."

Dick warmly spoke his gratefulness, and, inexpressibly relieved and happy for Mercedes, he went toward the clump of cactus where he had left her. She stood erect, waiting, and, dark as it was, he could tell she had lost the terror which had so shaken her.

He led her into the road up to the cowboys, who now stood bareheaded in the starlight. They seemed shy, and Lash was silent while Ladd made, embarrassed, unintelligible reply to Mercedes' thanks.

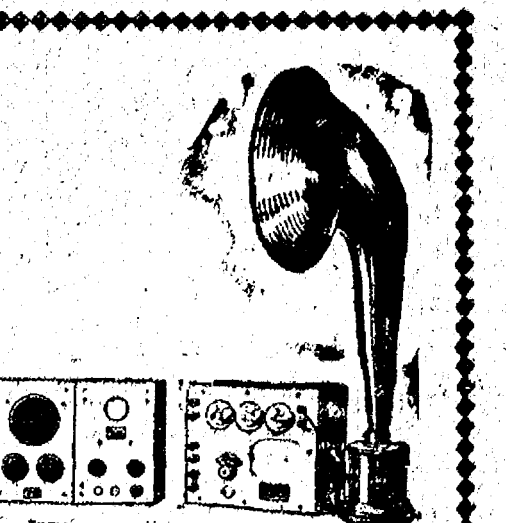

There were five horses—two saddled, two packed and the remaining one carried only a blanket. Ladd shortened the stirrups on his mount, and helped Mercedes up into the saddle. From the way she settled herself and took the few restive prances of the mettlesome horse Gale judged that she could ride. Lash urged Gale to take his horse. But this Gale refused to do.

"I'll walk," he said. "I'm used to walking. I know cowboys are not."

Once started with protection assured for the girl and a real objective point in view, Gale relaxed from the tense strain he had been laboring under. How glad he would have been to acquaint Thorne with their good fortune! Later, of course, there would be some way to get word to the cavalryman. But till then what torments his friend would suffer!

COUNTY FAIR BOARD MEETS IN CHELSEA

Enjoy Chicken Dinner and Hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Burkhart.

It was a lively bunch of genial gentlemen, members of the board of directors of the Washtenaw County Fair Association, that came to Chelsea Tuesday evening and enjoyed the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Burkhart, where a business meeting was held.

A six o'clock chicken dinner, delicious in every respect, the guests enthusiastically asserted, was served by Mrs. Burkhart, and the men, being made to feel perfectly at home, enjoyed the feast immensely. At the business meeting plans for the erection of new buildings at the fair grounds were discussed.

Later the guests were taken to the Knights of Pythias club rooms where they were introduced to a number of members of the lodge and a fine social time followed with cards and billiards.

Members of the board present were Chas. J. Hutzler, C. J. Sweet, Robert Alber, Wm. Henderson, Griffith Cairns, Earl Martin, Ray B. Hiscock, G. W. Cantwell.

FORD TO START AUTO PARTS PLANT BUILDING IN SPRING

Plans to Utilize Water Power Sites To Electrify the D. T. & I.

The construction of a factory in Adrian that will manufacture parts for the Ford automobile is to be begun in the spring, Henry Ford told S. W. Raymond of this city in the course of a week-end visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond. According to Mr. Raymond, the Detroit motor manufacturer also said that the factory would employ about 100 men, a considerable larger force than he has previously indicated his Adrian plant would use.

No decision has been made as to which particular part of the Ford product would be made in Adrian. Mr. Ford indicated that the site practically decided upon for the factory would be on Bent Oak avenue near that street's intersection with the Detroit, Toledo & Ironton railroad. A siding would be built off that railroad to provide shipping facilities for the factory.

Mr. Ford also told Mr. Raymond of plans he has in mind for the electrification of the Detroit, Toledo & Ironton railroad. He said he intended to use water power in the project and had in mind the harnessing of all water power in the vicinity of his railroad. Both large and small power sites would be utilized. However, he intends to depend upon a dam in the Ohio river, near the southern terminus of the railroad at Ironton and one on the Maumee river south of Wauson to supply the major portion of the power necessary. Power from these dams would be augmented by that generated by smaller ones placed on the stream and rivers crossed by the railroad. He did not say when he intends to begin work on the project.

VIOLATES LIQUOR LAW

Edward Krug, tailor, having his shop at Washington and Main streets Ann Arbor, was sentenced to from six months to a year in Michigan state prison, Jackson, Friday morning, on pleading guilty to a charge of violating the prohibition law by Circuit Judge George W. Sample. The court recommended a term of six months.

Krug was arrested early Wednesday morning by Officer Louis Fohey of the police department, with a half gallon jug of whisky in his car. According to Officer Fohey, Krug made an attempt to get away by running up a nearby alley. The patrolman also charged Krug with attempting to bribe him into letting him go.

Judge Sample severely censured Krug for his conduct, in passing sentence Friday morning. The court referred to a like charge on which Krug was taken last summer by members of the sheriff's force, and said he would extend no leniency this time. He had been fined for this offense and put on five years' probation.

GIVEN TO U. OF M.
Through another generous gift of Regent William L. Clements of Bay City, a collection of books pertaining to American history has been secured for the university and will be housed in the William L. Clements library, also the gift of the Bay City regent.

The latest addition to the Clements library were purchased in France and consist of more than 20,000 volumes. In addition to the many volumes there are maps, plans and charts in the collection. The cost of the whole affair will total approximately $20,000.

The volumes formerly belonged to the Henry Vignaud library in France and bibliographer William W. Bishop was instrumental in securing the treasures for the university. Mr. Vignaud was permanent secretary of the American legation in Paris. The books will be packed and shipped direct to Ann Arbor.
