K. OF P. BANQUET BIG SUCCESS

Two Hundred and Ten Served—Followed by Social Dance and Election of Officers.

The rabbit and chicken supper served in Maccabee hall Monday evening by the members of Chelsea Lodge, K. of P., to their guests of honor, the Pythian Sisters and the ladies of the K. of P. members was a decided success and the event was a very enjoyable one.

Chairs were laid for 210 and the feast of rabbits and chickens with many side dishes of dainties was more than ample to supply the wants of the inner man and those in charge were excellent waiters.

At the close of the feast the tables were cleared away, and an orchestra from Saline furnished the music for a social dancing party.

The members of Chelsea Lodge, following the banquet, repaired to their castle hall and the following officers for the coming year were chosen:

C. C.—M. J. Baxter.
V. C.—E. D. Brown.
Prelate—D. A. Riker.
K. of R. and S.—Wm. M. Campbell.

M. of W.—O. D. Luick.
M. at A.—Fred Broesamle.
M. of F.—John Frymuth.
M. of E.—O. C. Burkhardt.
I. G.—Jas. Klein.
O. G.—Ellsworth Hoppe.
Trustee, 3 years—O. C. Burkhardt.
Delegate to Grand Lodge—O. D. Luick; alternate, R. D. Walker.
J. H. Boyd will install the new officers on January 8.

CHRISTMAS PAGEANT

Woman of Bethlehem—Mrs. Lila Campbell.

The Cradle Roll and Beginners class of St. Paul's church will hold their annual meeting on Saturday, December 16, at 2 o'clock at St. Paul's school house. Supt., Lillie Wadsworth.

MUSICAL COMEDY MAKES BIG HIT

M. E. Young People Stage "The Choirmaster" Before Full House Monday Evening.

The Epworth League of the M. E. church, assisted by other local young people, made a decided hit in the musical farce "The Choirmaster," which was presented last Monday evening at the Town Hall.

The house was crowded to capacity with a very appreciative audience who roundly applauded each entree and encores were responded to many times.

The setting of the play was the choir room of the village church, where the usual bits of choice gossip were indulged in among the members who were each jealous of the others various accomplishments, either in the way of good looks or musical ability.

In the role of the Choirmaster, Paul Niehaus demonstrated not only his ability to lead the choir, but to lead the hearts of its members, as Susan Quivers, who succeeded in capturing the Choirmaster after considerable trouble, delighted the audience with her songs.

Miss Jessie Clark as Cynthia Singer was a strong contender for the favors of the Choirmaster but even the wiles of the village vamp could not overcome the attractions of Susan.

As the popular tenor, S. P. Foster took the cake, as one almost had to laugh to even look at him.

The chorus and solo accompaniments were played by Miss Marguerite Israel at the piano and Mrs. Norman Lattin on the violin.

Tonight the company will go to Stockbridge, where they will present the play.

SIX THOUSAND DOLLAR FIRE LOSS

Barn and Contents on Farm of Jacob Kern of Sylvan Burned Friday Night—Origin Unknown.

The barn, 38x50, on the farm of Jacob Kern of Sylvan, was discovered on fire about 9 o'clock Friday night, and was so far gone that it was impossible to save the building or its contents.

The first intimation that Mr. and Mrs. Kern had of the fire was when they were awakened by the fire alarm. Mr. and Mrs. G. Sager, who had been camping in the woods near the barn, were awakened by the fire alarm.

When Mr. Kern and Mr. Sager reached the building which was fully forty rods north of the Kern residence, the only articles they were able to save was a wagon, hay tedder and cultivator.

Thirty-five feeding lambs, twenty-six tons of baled hay, seven tons of loose clover hay, seven hundred bundles of cornstalks, a small amount of grain and all of the farming tools and a stack of straw were burned.

When the neighbors living near the scene of the blaze arrived, the entire building was almost a solid mass of flames. The origin of the fire is unknown. Mr. Kern was at the barn at 5 o'clock when he gave the sheep their grain for the night and everything was in excellent condition at that time. At 8 o'clock when Mr. Kern finished his work at the barn near the residence and went into the house he did not see any indications of a fire. As Mr. Kern does not smoke and had no lantern in the barn when he cared for the sheep it is hard to tell what caused the blaze. The loss was fully six thousand dollars with an insurance of about two thousand dollars.

CHELSEA HIGH DEFEATS DANVILLE

Visitors Are Overwhelmingly Defeated in Fast Game Last Friday.

The Chelsea High Boys' and Girls' basketball teams defeated the Danville teams at the Welfare building last Friday night by a large score in both games.

The first game was played by the girls, who tossed up a 45 to 5 score. Miss Lambert, right forward on the local team proved a consistent point getter, making a personal score of 35 points.

The defensive work of the Chelsea girls broke up all efforts of the Danville forwards to score and their own basket eyes were focused on the hoop most of the time.

The boys' game was fast and easy for Chelsea and but for fouls, the score would have been more decisive than it was, it being 58 to 14.

Coach Thompson has a large squad out and the prospects are good for a crack team this year.

The annual meeting of the W. R. C. will be held Tuesday, December 19, at their hall at 3 o'clock. Election of officers will take place and a large attendance is desired.

CHELSEA BAIL PLANT TO START SOON

The Hoover Company Will Install New Machinery and Will Begin Operations in February.

Charles E. Clayton, manager of the Chelsea division of the Hoover Steel Ball Company, of Ann Arbor, has been instructed to have the Chelsea plant put in shape to begin operations about the first of February.

The company is having a special line of machinery built which will be installed here as soon as it arrives. Mr. Clayton, with a force of laborers, will put the plant in readiness as soon as possible, so that it will be ready to start operations whenever the new machines are installed.

The plant here has been idle for the last two years, but manager Clayton has spent his time during the day at the shop and a watch has been kept on duty during the night.

When the plant closed down there were about 90 employees on the pay roll. Many of them are at present employed in the Ann Arbor shops of the company. Mr. Clayton expects to start the Chelsea plant with about forty men which will be increased as fast as the output will warrant. With the Ann Arbor and Chelsea plants the Hoover Steel Ball company is said to be the largest manufacturers of steel balls in the world.

Undoubtedly most of the former employees of the shop here, who are residents of Chelsea, will be given employment.

EDITORIAL COMMENT*THE FARMER'S PLEA.

The report of secretary of agriculture Wallace that "the aggregate value of the crops of the country this year is about $1,250,000,000 more than last year" looks good on paper, but unfortunately the farmer isn't that much more prosperous. The term "value" is apparently misleading, and people in the cities find vegetables high priced, and turn on the farmer as the cause. And yet, granting this sum is correct, it implies nothing of adverse conditions and higher prices which farmers have had to pay.

The farmers have always received too little in exchange for what they produced, and this past year especially. The difference between what he gets for his produce and what the consumer ultimately pays is not fair. The relation between what he asks for what he raises, and what he must pay for shoes, machinery, and groceries is not in relationship of fair exchange. It is not in his favor by far. Secretary Wallace deprecates the "disproportionate relationship of prices" but the natural remedy of raising prices on farm produce and lowering it on other commodities doesn't seem to work out.

With railroads and big industries counting big profits, and with labor organized to the point where it can, and does, demand a fair return for work, the farmer is justified in trying to get a seat at the round table of prosperity. Where he must depend largely upon nature for big returns, others depend upon force, political suasion, circumstance or other means of control. He works long hours for little money, and is independent sometimes in name only. Yet every move he makes to better his condition is suspected of a base motive.

This year was not a death blow to farmers as far as crops went. But every other condition seemed to be against him. Railroads could not handle his produce, and thousands of dollars worth of produce was wasted or found a poor market. Prices of necessities went up, as cost of labor increased. And in spite of the "huge profits" which Wall Street financiers claim were made by the farmers during war time, a combination of circumstances antagonistic to the farmer's welfare is now a serious matter.

The greatest need for the farmer just now is a bigger market. This would give him a fighting chance for fair prices. The quickest way to a bigger market, is to open up foreign trade, which can be done only through political machinery. Thousands of people in the old world are starving, while enough could be raised in this country to feed all of them. But, until international relations are made more pacific, until credit is given nations which need our produce; until politicians quit playing for the gallery and get down to business, the farmer, and hence all of us, must continue to suffer.

One of these days, in an age or two, people will wake up to the truth of the statement that whatever helps or hurts the farmer, helps or hurts the rest of us. Farmers in this community could get along for a long time without any outside help, but we depend upon them.

Public opinion is swayed by statements not always reliable. And when other groups and occupations have regular publicity departments, the farmer works harder than them all, and his side of the story rarely gets into print. And this year he seems to have worked hardest, and has the least to show for it.

A HAPPY PEOPLE?

Are we a happy people? One's instinctive answer is an emphatic affirmative. We have much to make us happy, and abroad America is regarded as more than the land of the free and the home of the brave. To others, this is a land of smiles and sunshine, of toil rewarded and abundant peace.

But the more intimate personal query, Am I happy, and are my neighbors happy, provokes thought. Certainly there are many unhappy people, right here in our own community. Men with long faces, and women who rarely smile are common enough. But we have our share of contented people, as well as unhappiness.

Meredith Nicholson, novelist and essayist, tells us in the December Harper's Magazine that we are NOT happy. He admits that perhaps we don't realize it, because we don't often think of it.

"We have the greatest desire to be happy," he says, "but happiness is not apparently our inalienable right." He says we like entertainment which amuses us without provoking thought. He says we make a big noise, get excited easily, are often enthusiastic about inconsequential things, but when it comes to happiness we don't have it as a people. Humor, he says, is less evident, and says that in Congress, for example, the puffing has taken the place of the hearty laugh, and cheap jokes replace clever humor.

Today we have much to make us happier. Such things as cars, electricity, the automobile, etc., are familiar accessories. But whether we lost our placid contentment in the stress of war, or never had any to begin with, at least this world-famous author says you and I are not happy now. Perhaps he is right.

The "spiritual awakening" which was to follow the Armistice hasn't been in evidence, he says. Moral ideas, religion and conduct haven't been boosted of late. The war seems to have left a taint in our lives, that only time will eradicate.

Our forefathers were happy, even in privation. Perhaps that is the reason. They suffered. Today we lack their incentive, their aim, their driving force. The spiritual passion of our forefathers was not inherited with houses and lands. We have new motives, and new ambitions. But only the next generation can compare our actual happiness with that of our fathers.

If we are not happy, it is because we lack faith. We don't seem to believe fully in anything, any more. Our attitude toward religion toward God, isn't as simply credulous as before. We are becoming analytical, and an introspective analytical people can't be blissfully content. Nor do we want to be. But it is evident that Mr. Nicholson is partially right: we aren't entirely happy. We enjoy the "pursuit of happiness" which was a constitutional grant, but—we aren't running very fast.

There is considerable mystery connected with Fairbanks, and it is unlikely that he will be caught, since no one seems to know where he lives or anything about him.—Observer.

SYLVAN BOYS GET BIG BOUNTY CHECK

Two young men, Lawrence Weber and Harold Klingler, of Sylvan, last Friday delivered to the Sylvan township clerk, 3,154 sparrows that they captured in five nights, and they received an order on County Clerk Pray for $63.08, of which the state pays one-half and Washtenaw County the remainder.

The equipment used by the young men consists of a net 7x11 feet, which, with an electric lantern and long poles is their outfit. The net is attached to the side of a straw stack and the lantern is placed on the ground at the foot of the net when it is properly set. The hunters then begin beating the stack and the birds which are driven from their nests fly toward the light and are fast in the net. The young men usually capture from three to five hundred birds at a single haul.

The order issued by the clerk is the largest bounty order for sparrows this season, which will close March 1.

"HOOT GIBSON STARS IN 'THE LOADED DOOR'"

A cowboy, self appointed to the office of revenue agent, is the hero of "The Loaded Door," the Universal attraction starring Hoot Gibson, at the Princess theatre next Wednesday and Thursday.

The story is of a band of whisky and narcotic smugglers operating along the Mexican border with no other immediate sign of interference than the county sheriff who is unable to cope with anything of greater import than the hoboes who happen to drop in on his jurisdiction.

"The Loaded Door," written especially for the star by Ralph Cummings and directed by Harry A. Potter, is dynamic in action, breath-catching in thrills, and humorous in spots to relieve the intensity. The humor is furnished by two hobo philosophers who are as adept at playing the Jew's harp as they are in airing their views on the wickedness of this worldly vale of tears.

Gertrude Olmsted has the leading role opposite Hoot Gibson, while Bill Ryno, Eddie Sutherland, Noble Johnson, Joseph Harris, Charles Newton, Victor Patel, Charles A. Smiley and C. L. Sherwood have principal supporting parts.

In "The Loaded Door," Hoot Gibson has opportunity to further solidify his reputation of being the finest horseman on the screen. Always ready for a fight or a frolic, he displays his ability to do both in fine fashion, to say nothing of his wondrous way in romance.

Pumpkin seed to the amount of 119,800 pounds was raised commercially on 772 acres in 1922, according to reports reaching the United States Department of Agriculture.

TWELVE BOYS FOURTH IN LIST

Washtenaw Team Make Fine Showing at the Livestock Show in Chicago.

The twelve Washtenaw County boys who attended the Livestock exposition in Chicago last week returned to their homes Friday evening.
The boys represented the Boys' and Girls' clubs of Washtenaw county and were awarded fourth place. In addition to the boys from the clubs, six boys from the Ypsilanti high school, under the charge of Orville Laidlow, helped to place Washtenaw the best represented in Michigan.
Twenty-four states sent representatives from the boys' and girls' clubs of their state.

The boys returned home still more enthusiastic for the continuance of club work. Those in charge of the club work in the state have stated that enthusiasm in club work in Washtenaw county was higher than in any other county in the state.

A. L. Watt, county Boys' and Girls' club agent, reports that he was congratulated many times on the appearance of the boys' under his charge. He states that he felt honored to be connected with such a delegation.

For the six days they were in Chicago, the boys saw the most important event which was not carefully planned by those in charge. Education was carefully blended with entertainment. They were dined by the Chicago board of trade, the International Harvester Co., Sears, Roebuck & Co., Montgomery Ward & Co., Auton Market Cold Storage Co., and at a banquet in the Hotel Sherman.
Views of the new Field museum and trips through the packing plants, invitations to the best theaters in Chicago and a careful scrutiny of the exhibits at the National Livestock exposition are only a few of the things the boys did in a crowded week.

Secretary of Agriculture Henry C. Wallace injected enthusiasm into the boys which they have carefully carried home to spread over the county. The secretary informed them that the average of food purchased on farms is 40 per cent. In farms where club work is in vogue the average is 20 per cent.

The boys journeyed to Chicago at the expense of the state and county fair societies where they had won trips in competitions.

STATE FARMERS WIN HONORS AT SHOW

Michigan Exhibitors Lead Field at Chicago Livestock Show.

Winning more prizes in farm crops than any other state, and also cleaning up handsomely in the livestock events, Michigan farmers scored a signal triumph at the International Livestock Show and the International Hay and Grain Show, in Chicago last week.

Competing against the stiffest competition ever gathered in America, Michigan growers even exceeded their unusual winnings of 1921 in farm crops divisions, pulling down a majority of the awards in nearly all of their classes. The chief state exhibitor in the livestock end of the combined shows was the Michigan Agricultural College, although many other state breeders were represented.

M. A. C. won more prizes than any other exhibitor in the entire show, and practically every agricultural college in the country, as well as all leading private breeders, was represented. Never before has any Michigan exhibitor scored such a long list of winnings, and it is considered doubtful if any other agricultural college ever did so well.

Supremacy of Michigan crop varieties was demonstrated by their sweeping victories in the competition at the International. Michigan farmers themselves won a majority of all awards in their classes, and many of the high places went to Michigan-produced varieties which were entered by growers from other states and from Canada.

"It was the greatest collection of farm crops exhibits ever gathered in America," says Prof. J. F. Cox, head of the M. A. C. farm crops department. "This fact makes the Michigan winnings particularly noteworthy."

INTERESTING SERMON AT M. E. CHURCH SUNDAY

Following is a synopsis of the sermon preached by Rev. Risley of the Methodist church, last Sunday morning.

Text, Mark 1:14-15. "Jesus came into Galilee preaching the gospel of the kingdom of God, etc."

"The Kingdom of God" and "The Outlook for Christianity Today" has been and is due to several considerations. Its progress has been due, in no small measure, to the scientific explorations in almost every field of operation.

While we gratefully acknowledge all that science has done, we must not lose sight of the universe as a whole. The strong impulse in this direction was given by Darwin in his theory of the origin of species, by the principle of evolution. Yet evolution fails to solve the riddle of the universe. In it there is no place for faith or moral principle. Salvation is to be found in that process by which a direct intelligence is working out his vast purpose in nature and life. Another definite influence that has made its contribution to the religious life is that of scientific criticism. The critical scholars have been busy, directing the structure of the Bible, until we became alarmed as to whether or not we would have any Bible left. But out of the scientific explorations and criticism, there has been opened up a wonderful new vista. The Hebrews with their crude belief, gave us a faith in a pure, holy, just and gracious God, who rules the world in righteousness and love. Then as a final step Jesus came, preaching the "gospel of the kingdom," saying "the time is fulfilled, and the kingdom of God is at hand, repent ye, and believe the gospel."

The note of his preaching was righteousness. And those that shall inherit this kingdom are the pure in heart, the meek, the humble, the merciful, in short, Jesus summed up the great principles of righteousness in these words,
"Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy strength, and thy neighbor as thyself."

Another element that has entered into the progress of this "kingdom" is that of the evolution of Christian ideas. In which, the Spirit has triumphed over the form, and eternal life is present as well as future.

This religious evolution is a progressive penetration into the heart of the Eternal. Through this process, inspired men and women have caught a glimpse of the glory of God. The point of vital contact between man and God was made by Christ, who, "was God manifest in the flesh." In him we see the perfect likeness of the Father. The life of Jesus came to its climax on the cross. To him, the way of the kingdom was by the cross. "The way of the cross leads home." This message of the cross has been and always will be the center of Christ-ianity.

Redemption is a personal concern.
If society is to be redeemed, it must be done by those who compose it.
Jesus preached the principles of the kingdom, but called men to repentance and newness of life. The task before the church is to bring all the kingdoms of the world into union with the will of God. The sphere where this ideal must first be focused is the family. This ideal is not too high for Christian men and women. Simplicity, purity, unselfishness, love and loyalty, are the main springs of the family. Let these be disowned, then the home ceases to be the nursery of virtue and finest influence. In the business world, there is much kindness, but business is not carried on the Christian principle of brotherhood, but from the maxim of self-interest. In the business world, as in the family life, there must be that same spirit of loyalty, cooperation, confidence, unselfishness, if we are to approach the ideal. To heal the ills of today there must be a rich outpouring of these qualities. The Golden Rule is the law of social health and happiness. The league of nations is not enough to bring about or maintain peace on earth. It's but the form, it must be charged with the spirit of Christian good will and brotherhood. Nations and individuals must live above the atmosphere of jealousy, hatred, suspicion, that we have been breathing so long, and try to understand the viewpoint of other nations, sympathize a bit more with them, honor their virtues, and treat them as we would like to be treated. Then there will come the kingdom of God on earth, and peace and good will among men and nations.

MICHIGAN SCHOOLS ENROLL 40,000 HEALTH CRUSADERS

Have you a chore card in your home?
If not, it's safe to prophesy that Johnny or Mary will bring one home inside of the next month, for 40,000 chore cards have already been given out in Michigan schools, and 60,000 more are expected to be in service by Christmas.
In the home the chore card is said to be comparatively harmless. Symptoms of its presence are mainly noticeable among the rising generation. A passion for tooth-brushes and a mania for soap and water point almost infallibly to a lurking chore card in the family.

The chore card, in fine, is the record folder of the Modern Health Crusade. Special instruction in this device for the teaching of hygiene is being given at each of the district teachers' conventions during this month. The Crusade is sponsored by the Michigan Tuberculosis association and the state departments of Public Instruction and Health.

Following an earlier series of lectures given at county teachers' meetings an enrollment of forty thousand children in 58 counties has been reported to state Crusade headquarters. From a pedagogical point of view the interest in the Crusade lies in the fact that it aims at establishing the habits of healthful living instead of confining the work in hygiene to formal instruction.

MILLIONS IN SAVINGS STAMPS MATURE SOON

Six hundred million in war savings stamps mature January 1, 1923, and it is being rumored that unscrupulous efforts are being made to induce holders of these 1918 treasury certificates to part with them for unattractive investments or for considerably less than they are actually worth.

The treasury department of the seventh federal reserve district warns all holders of the 1918 war savings stamps not to part with them for less than their face value of $5 per stamp.

These stamps may be exchanged for the 1923 issue of four per cent for five years longer than their money in another government security which cannot possibly depreciate in value or, if preferred, the 1918 war savings stamps can be redeemed for their full face value, payable in cash on January 1, 1923. The exchange can be made through any money order postoffice.
