N. S. POTTER,
PRES. MICHIGAN
PORTLAND CEMENT
COMPANY DIES

Was Active in Business Until Taken
Sick Two Weeks Ago.

N. S. Potter, president of the Michigan Portland Cement Co. died at his home in Jackson this morning. Mr. Potter, aged 78 years, was the founder of the Michigan Portland Cement Company here, which was organized in 1911.

He acted as president of the company from the time of its organization until his death. He was also president of the Jackson City Bank of Jackson, and vice president of the Earl Motors Company of that place. Besides this he was connected with many other business industries in the state. He was a member of the Board of Directors of the Pottersville Portland Cement Company, of Cement City, also.

Mr. Potter had been ill but two weeks, being actively engaged in the work of conducting his business until that time. But three weeks ago he was in Chelsea on business.

He is survived by his three sons, N. S. Potter, Jr., of Chelsea, K. L. Potter and C. Z. Potter, of Jackson, and one daughter, Mrs. Harriett L. P. Stewart, of Cincinnati, Ohio, also several grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in Jackson.

WILL LIGHT ENTIRE
BOULEVARD SYSTEM
TWO NIGHTS A WEEK

William Atkinson Appointed Village
Marshal.

At the meeting of the Village council Tuesday evening William Atkinson was appointed as Marshal for the Village at a salary of $100 per month.

The appointment was confirmed by the trustees.

The matter of a cost accounting system for the Electric light and water works plant was discussed and it was decided that the president and clerk should look into this matter and find the best system that could be used here.

Complaints were entered by several women about the riding of bicycles on the sidewalks in the Village. There is an ordinance in effect that forbids the riding of bicycles on the sidewalks and the matter was referred to the marshal who was instructed to enforce the ordinance.

For some time the matter of lighting the complete boulevard lights for a certain time on Wednesday and Saturday has been brought up at the meeting and it was decided to have the complete system lighted on the two nights for a few hours. The entire system when lighted will illuminate the Village considerably and will add greatly to the appearance of the streets and buildings.

KEMPF BANK INCREASES CAPITAL STOCK TO $60,000

Celebrates Anniversary With Increased Capitalization

As a celebration of the 25th anniversary of the Kempf Commercial and Savings Bank of Chelsea the directors have voted an increase in the capital stock of from $40,000 to $60,000.

The increase in capitalization has been deemed fitting by the board of directors following the rapid growth of the bank. The increase has been approved by the state banking department and has been recorded in the Washtenaw County clerk's office.

The Kempf bank was founded in 1878 as a private bank by Reuben Kempf and Charles H. Kempf. The firm started business on W. Middle St., in the building that has since been included in the L. P. Vogel store.

In the year 1898 the present bank was organized with the following directors: Reuben Kempf, Chas. Kempf, Harmon S. Holmes, R. S. Armstrong and Christopher Klein. At this time the name of the bank was changed to the Kempf Commercial and Savings Bank.

Reuben Kempf served as president of the bank until 1900 and was then succeeded by Harmon S. Holmes who served until his death in 1922. D. C. McLaren, then a member of the board of directors was elected president of the bank. The present board of directors is as follows: D. C. McLaren, Edw. Vogel, D. E. Beach, I. P. Vogel, Otto Lulek, M. J. Dunkel, C. J. Chandler, E. S. Spaulding, R. H. Holmes, and Amos Gude. The officers of the bank are: D. C. McLaren, President, John L. Fletcher, 1st vice president, D. E. Beach, 2nd vice pres., Carl J. Mayer, cashier, Paul G. Maroney, assistant cashier.

During almost a half century of service and conservative business the bank has made a growth that is remarkable. The present increase in the total resources has been steady and at the present time is more than $300,000. The Kempf Bank, one of the first banking institutions in this vicinity has built a business that is worthy of praise and consideration.

RESIDENT HERE FOR HALF CENTURY PASSES AWAY

C. B. Newberger Dies After Long Illness.

Charles B. Newberger, for over 50 years a resident of Chelsea, passed away at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Wm. F. Kress, of Highland Park, Detroit, with whom he has made his home since the death of his wife six years ago. He was born in Wartburg, Germany, on September 27, 1847, and died April 4, 1923. He is survived by his two daughters, Sister M. Evangelista, of Immaculate Heart of Mary convent, Monroe, Mich., and Mrs. Wm. F. Kress, of Highland Park, Detroit. The funeral will take place from St. Mary's church Saturday, April 7, at 10 o'clock. Burial in Mount Olivet cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter McGee and little son of Detroit spent the weekend at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Klieckebach.

ST. MARY RESERVES STATE CHAMPS OF CLASS C

DEFEAT POLISH FALCONS IN CLOSE GAME.

Boys Bring Honor to Chelsea in Winning Title.

As a finale to a most successful season the St. Mary Reserves of this place defeated the Polish Falcons of Detroit, Tuesday evening, in the game which decided the state championship of class C.

The game was played at Danceland on Woodward Avenue, and a large number of Chelsea people were on hand to give the boys plenty of support. The game was called at 7:30 o'clock and both teams started with a whiz. The Reserves playing a brand of ball that was the result of weeks of training and practice. The short, fast passes of the team were hard to break up and was the means in getting through the Falcons defense.

At the end of the first half the Reserves had a lead on the Falcons with the score of 16 to 7. During the second half the Falcons crept up on the Reserves until the scores were tied.

The referee and umpire were calling every foul and were watching both teams with eagle eyes. Schmitt and Kildon were taken out of the game because of fouls and E. Eder had four fouls called on him.

Phil Hoffman was the main scorer for the Reserves, making 20 of their points. During the second half the Falcons made several long shots at the basket that netted points.

With the score tied and only a few seconds to play a foul was called on one of the Falcons and Phil Hoffman made the point that won the game as the final whistle blew. It was a joyful and exuberant crowd that rushed onto the floor and extended congratulations to the champions.

The team had made a hard fight for the gold prizes and as a result were the winners and the state champions in class C.

Summary: Reserves (24) vs. Falcons (23) Phil Hoffman...RF...Huebner Paul Hoffman...LF...Schmitt J. Eder...C...Korbelak E. Eder...RG...Kildon P. Conlan...LG...Mindak Substitutions: M. ## OUR POLICIES

Let us all get together for a bigger and better Chelsea.
 A sewerage system for Chelsea.
 A building program that is bound to build.

SIZING YOURSELF UP.

If you weren't born to be a superman, you'll never be one. Every human being is born into the world with potential ability to develop just so far but no farther.

This theory, about individual's limitations, is advanced by Dr. H. H. Goddard, psychiatrist at Ohio State university.

It sounds reasonable, since we all know that we cannot build a skyscraper out of one load of bricks. Some of us are more gifted than others. Also, we lack certain powers that nothing on earth can possibly develop.

Max Rubner years ago penned a similar idea: "For every pound weight of his body at maturity, the average man produces and consumes 362,000 calories of energy before he dies. Death comes when he has consumed that amount. Nothing that he can possibly do will make his body produce during adult life, more energy than the 362,000 calories; and nothing can possibly prevent his death when this amount of energy is produced."

Accepting Rubner's theory, you can over-work or dissipate so that you will use up your potential energy sooner than if you live slowly and sensibly. That's why loafers outlive the hard workers who are like furnaces that burn with the drafts open and so empty the coal bin quickly.

Rubner's theory was that our potential physical strength is limited, that it is impossible to increase it past a certain point. Goddard has a similar idea about natural abilities.

However, no one should be discouraged by these theories. Each of us has enough potential strength and ability to make us reasonably successful—if we develop them.

No man, not even an athlete ever develops his powers fully. No matter what record a man makes, he has within him the power to beat that record. Occasionally we think we have exerted ourselves "to the last ounce of strength," but that's imaginary.

Look at your work as you have done it. Maybe there are others who could do it better. But you can also improve on it.

Just because we can't all finish first in the race is no reason why we shouldn't try to get second place.

And the ultimate result? The runner who finishes first developed his power to finish first by constantly struggling and training until he got out of second place.

Yes, we are limited and know it without professors telling us but none of us is as limited as he thinks he is.

THRILLING.

The seven Klansmen who marched into a Christian church so dramatically, a short time ago, in their flowing robes and hooded masks probably were more thrilled than the astonished church people. The seven when they were young probably had a cave with a lot of tunnels and rooms. Probably had a pass word too and "bandit handkerchiefs" and a tip tooting fear of themselves.

To day in shrouds they renew their youth with a mystery muttering at the others' ear, and a straining grip on the elbow. If this falls of delicious enough thrills they can look in the glass at themselves. The shivers are delightful.

Of course $10 was paid for all this but it is worth the money. Any time a man can bring back boyhood for $10 he will jump at the chance.

THEY QUIT ADVERTISING.

If you read Dickens, you recall that Mr. Pickwick had his boots polished with Day & Martin blacking. Day & Martin was a real company, famous for generations.

Now it is selling out—quitting business. Its managing director, with a troubled look in his eyes, explains: "We failed to keep up our advertising."

It was advertising that "made" Day & Martin. But like many other concerns, it thought that, once established, it no longer needed publicity. The public dies off and a new public is forever coming on the stage. This new public naturally has to be reached by ads, else it will not know of the advertiser. Even when it knows, it forgets quickly unless constantly reminded. Advertisers should keep in mind the fate of Day & Martin.

MAKING OPPORTUNITY

For 50 years Charles Sheath has worked in the same room. This room is an office in London, England. Sheath entered it when he was 14, as an office boy. While he is still in the same room, he is not in the same job. Today he is one of the head officials of the group of railroads that uses the small room as one of its offices. Success is looked up in the individual.

Geography—location—is of secondary importance. Most of the successful men make their opportunities instead of wandering until they find them. Success, young man, has to be created. It is not a plum, already ripened and ready to pick at some far off corner of the earth.

LIVING COST.

Food in Japan costs a fifth more than in America, says W. B. Hall, Tokio merchant visiting New York. The Japs have cheaper clothing, but rents are high. Salaries over there are five times as big as they were six years ago. Japan has 1,400 movie theaters. Lon Chaney their favorite star—which will interest psychologists.

We call attention to these facts because few Americans realize the gigantic changes that are taking place in the orient. Our big foreign trade market of the future is across the Pacific.

WHISPERS

A perfect woman, nobly planned,
 To warn, to comfort and command;
 And yet a spirit still and bright,
 With something of an angel light.
 —Wadsworth.

If "a low flat derby with a red feather in it" is going to be the style for 1923, the year is completely spoiled for a lot of people.

So live that it will never be necessary to send your influential friends around to the newspaper in an effort to suppress the sordid details.

One fine thing about telling the truth is that you don't have to puzzle your mind to remember what you told.

Life is a tangle;
 Life is a core;
 Life is much sorrow,
 And often despair.
 But there is pleasure,
 Music and light;
 There is a morning,
 After each night.
 Life is a mixture
 Of joy and pain;
 Plenty of rain.
 But this same mixture
 Makes it worth while.
 If through the shadows,
 We can still smile.

The balance of the bank is a pretty good balance of power.

A lot of energy is expended in America in trying to make a mark in the world. In Germany making a mark is the easiest thing they do.

It is always something of a shock to learn that a certain law was made for you just the same as other people.

A quitter is almost as much use in the world as the hole in a doughnut; but not quite.

It is strange that when a girl is single everyone wonders why, and when she marries, everyone wonders why.

A woman just can't help liking a man who tells her she is handsome.

 You and your girl prim and proper quite,

 And they clinch for a kiss;
 Then you find when with the lights turned on You're sitting closeuplikethis.

Skim Milk is Worth as Much as the Original Butterfat For Feeding Chickens

Skim milk is wonderful for chickens. It makes them grow fast, and produces more eggs. It is just as rich as whole milk in protein, lime and phosphorus—all needed for the growth of chickens.

Fed to chicks, skim milk (soured) is easily digested, increases the appetite with resulting great consumption of food and more rapid growth. Fed to laying hens, it increases egg production and helps them to better physical condition.

Tests have shown that liquid skim-milk has a feeding value for chickens, as high as $4.00 per hundred lbs., increasing the income from milk just that much.

Farmers owning cows should not fail to take advantage of the opportunity offered by the De Laval Separator, to increase their income by the profitable use of skim-milk as well as the sale of cream or butter.

Let us tell you more about the De Laval Separator.

Hen Fitted With Wooden Leg.

A hen in Carnation, Wales, met with an accident which necessitated amputation of its leg at the joint. An amateur veterinary surgeon successfully performed the operation, replacing the lost limb with a neat wooden leg. The fowl is now able to get about the yard with its peg-leg, and shows no sign of discomfort.

Rendered Dumb by Accident.

LOGARITHMS OF GERMAN ORIGIN

entist Denies Computation as Devised by Scotsman, as Commonly Believed.

WORKED OUT BY WATCHMAKER

Napier, a Scottish Nobleman, Has Hitherto Been Given the Credit of Having Originated the Logarithmic Tables.

Basel, Germany.—Logarithms were first devised by Jobst Bürgi, a watchmaker in the employ of George William IV of Hesse, and not by Scotsman, Lord Napier, as commonly believed, according to statements by Doctor Brethaupt, a prominent astronomer, addressing a gathering here of the Hessian Historical Society.

Doctor Brethaupt's assertions were made in the course of an address on the life of William IV, or "William the Silent," who is described as one of the renowned of royal astronomers, and lived during the middle of the sixteenth century and founded the observatory of the house of Hesse, known as Cassel. The speaker discussed William's chief assistant, Eberhard Weigel, who was a tailor by profession, but won high credit with the landgrave because of his inventive mind.

Smith Makes Wonder Clock. William IV, the speaker related, had a workshop in which he employed several hand laborers, one of whom was a smith whose handwork occasions general amazement. Weigel also showed exceptional aptitude in carrying out and improving his designs. Among his creations in existence is a large planetarium, the so-called astronomical clock, which belongs to the provincial museum of Cassel.

Landgrave was the first astronomer to introduce time as an element of observation," Doctor Brethaupt declared. "A Nuremberg clock made him a clock showing seconds and minutes, and he was the first to show the stars and the clock's ticking of seconds, celestial globe. It was thought long time that the landgrave had possessed a pendulum clock.

Given Credit to German. He took into his employ a watchmaker, Jobst Bürgi (Jualus), and this man it was who, at Cassel, originated logarithms. It has been understood that the WEALTH inherited is never valued like wealth earned. Victory is great as the battle is hard. There is no short road to real triumph. That which is gained easily is lost easily. "Easy comes, easy goes."

The plant that grows fast withers rapidly. The tree that grows slowly endures. Steadfast application will do more than the quick, hard blow of impatience. Dropping water will cut its way through granite.

Mountains were not made in moments; they are the work of ages. Great deeds are done not by strength but by persistence.

Want a thing hard enough, work for it long enough and you are pretty sure to get it.

A single purpose is the first essential to success. Stick to it. Tenacity is the primary element of greatness.

It is wisdom to build castles in the air; but it is folly to stop there. Go at your foundation; pile stones upon stone until you reach your castle. Then it is yours.

"Stay with it" is the slogan that makes the cowboy master of the bucking broncho. "Don't give up the ship," was the command to his men that brought Perry victory. Perseverance pushes difficulties out of countenance and makes seeming impossibilities give way.

POEM BY UNCLE JOHN

Among the words I know of, which is fitted to describe the highest class enjoyments of the super-social tribe,—there's one that ranks superlative, an' suits my fancy best,—the little word is "pleasant," which I reckon you have guessed.

We all love pleasant faces, when we haunt the pleasant nooks; we sing of pleasant wimmin, an' discourse on pleasant looks; a pleasant social function is an easy thing to rhyme—and the little outdoor picnic gives its friends a pleasant time.

We treasure pleasant memories of hours that's past an' gone, which we spent in Pleasant Valley, with our Sunday garments on—And it's nothin' short of pleasant, when we hike to Pleasant Grove,—And Pleasant Hill's the Eden that the itemizers love!

Yes—the little word is pleasant—for the printer or the scribe, that records the daily doin's of Billyville's pleasant tribe—And when you're in IIER company—with nothin' much to say, you can start the ball to rollin' with—"We've had a pleasant day!"

Scottish Lord Napier, baron of Merchiston, who issued logarithmic tables in Edinburgh in 1614, was the creator of logarithms, and that Bürgi acquired this distinction at the same time, without knowing of Napier's work.

Doctor Brethaupt declared that Johann Kepler, founder of modern astronomy, who was born in Wuertemberg in 1571, and became renowned as father of the Keplerian planetary laws, had given Bürgi the credit for originating logarithms in one of his published works.

Bürgi was born in 1570 and was for a time attached to the imperial court as watchmaker and manufacturer of celestial globes. He died here in 1632.

HOMEY PHILOSOPHY for 1923

ONCE we knew a man in far away India who for more than thirty years had not spoken to a human soul. His last words were that it was better to think and do things than to waste time talking; moreover he believed nobody ever had said anything of lasting value. It would be a strange world if all of us just shut up and talked through our actions. Gee, how lovely it would be. Lots of things might be accomplished that are now left undone, but we'd miss that human contact that seems to make the whole world kin. And it isn't true that nothing has been said of lasting value. There are three everlasting words that stand as the foundation of human happiness and development: Love one another. We don't need to talk a great deal if we say something.

Prosper O. Bove, founder 60 years ago, of Bove's Landing, a summer resort at Paw Paw Lake, died at Water-violet last week. Bove established the landing, one of the oldest summer towns in southwestern Michigan, a few months after he was mustered out of service at the close of the Civil war.

Mrs. Emma Gates, of Ironwood, Mich., widow of Daniel H. Gates, who served with company H. Thirty-fourth Michigan Infantry in the Civil war has been granted a pension from the government.

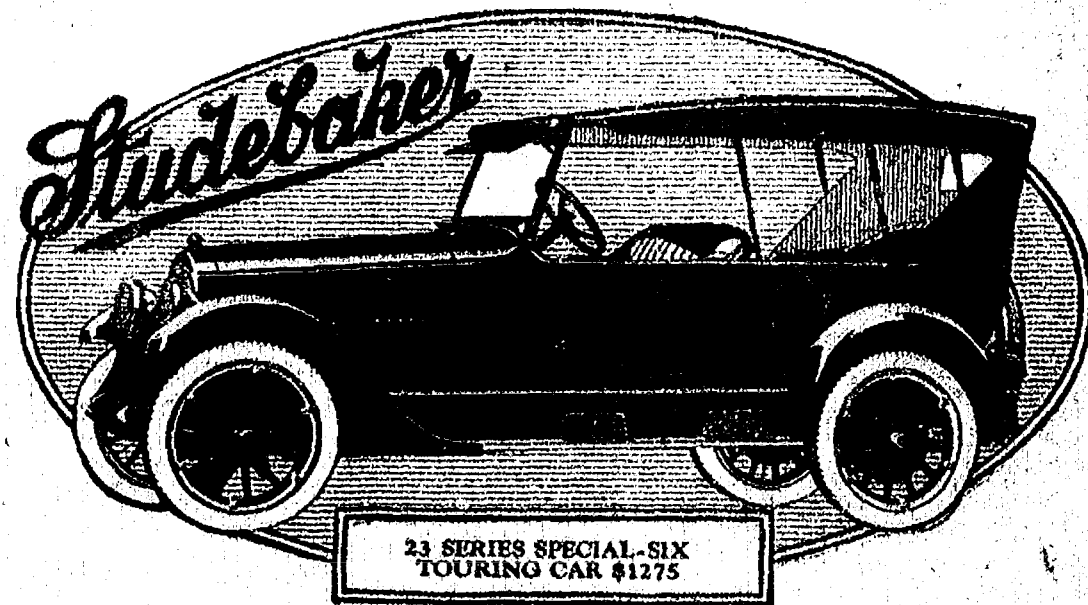

The Michigan Public Utilities Commission has granted authority to the Universal Steamship Corporation, of Delaware, to operate a line of fast freight and passenger vessels between Detroit and Chicago.

Charles H. Wing, 70 years old, lifelong resident of Monroe, died at the home of his sister, Mrs. James G. Little. Mr. Wing was a graduate of the University of Michigan, class of 1874, and a member of the Sigma Phi fraternity.

Headed by the Cass High school band, 100 delegates, representing the Detroit Rotary club, came to Flint for the annual eighteenth Rotary international conference which was held last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Johnson, residing on a farm southeast of Coldwater, were brought to the Wade Memorial hospital last week, suffering from burns which followed the explosion of an incubator. They died soon after reaching the hospital.

Two Bancroft families were driven from their homes into the teeth of a blizzard last week when the double house, occupied by Mrs. Zero Chelker, owner, and Lester Norris, tenant, burned to the ground. All the contents were destroyed.

You make no mistake when you select the Series 23 Studebaker Special-Six Touring Car. You can determine, in advance, why it is so desirable a car to own by doing four simple things.

Come in and inspect it carefully—from radiator to stop-and-tail light. Note its long graceful lines, the beauty of its finish and upholstery, its sturdy construction, roominess and unusual equipment.

Get behind the wheel yourself. See how conveniently all controls are placed. Notice what a relief it is to have a one-piece, rain-proof windshield, giving unobstructed view of the road ahead. See how easily it steers—how faithfully it holds the road.

Test its acceleration, power, flexibility. Drive through traffic at low speed in high gear. See how conveniently it can be parked where space is limited.

Then compare any car within $300 of its price with the Special-Six. Compare the specifications, performance, comfort, appearance and refinements.

And finally talk to some Special-Six owners. Ask them frankly about their all-round satisfaction with the Special-Six.

The Special-Six possesses every essential for lasting satisfaction.

BUGS AND WORMS GARDEN ENEMIES

Sprayers and Dusters in Demand From Time the Seed Goes Into Ground.

Insect immigrants from foreign countries added to the list of those that the natives of America have very recently increased the number, both of the home gardeners and the commercial truck growers. When it comes to conducting the fight against the host of these pests, the home gardener is often at a decided disadvantage, because he does not have the sprayers, the dusters and the other equipment. There are the so-called killing and chewing insects which eat the plants, sucking insects that suck the sap of the plants, worms that work under the ground and bugs that work on the tops of the plants, moths that fly by night, and almost every conceivable form of trouble maker. Fortunately for the gardener, the entomologist has worked out the habits of these garden enemies and has been able to prescribe a poison or a repellent or some means of perfecting the crops from the pests.

CABBAGE FAMILY IN HOME GARDEN

Big, Juicy Leaves Supply Splendid Vegetable for Boiled Dinners, Salads.

Corned buffalo hump and cabbage probably served as many a cave man's Sunday dinner.

The cabbage has been esteemed as a vegetable for 1,543 years that we know of, a ripe old age. Buried somewhere in the centuries of its history is the head of the cabbage and the reason thereof.

We are indebted to Pliny the elder, the famous Roman scientist, who wrote the first "natural history," for the earliest accurate mention of the cabbage as a vegetable. He stopped writing in 70 A. D., when he lost his life to the destruction of Pompeii.

The cabbage, cauliflower, brussels sprout, the kales and kohlrabi, probably are all descended from a wild plant native to the sea cliffs of western and southern Europe. Its Latin name is Brassica oleracea.

In its native state it has a loose rosette of large, thick leaves for the storage of surplus moisture it may collect when it rains, and these leaves unlike the cabbage of the garden, are long and deeply lobed. They vary in color from green to red. Pliny described several types of cabbage and it is altogether likely, according to the best authorities, that cabbages were in general use before the Aryans migrated westward. It was probably a cave man's favorite.

Moved from the meager meager of the dry cliffs whereon it dwelt and planted in rich, deeper soil, the cabbage grow enormously, developed a stem and by the mere speed of its growth developed a head. The cauliflower probably tried to make leaves and flowers at the same time and compensated with the white "curd" which is a thickened, flattened overgrown flower cluster.

The history of the development of the cabbage gives the key to its culture. The richer the soil and the more it is kept growing, the larger

ORDERED CAVELL SHOT

Blame for Nurse's Execution Placed on Von Sauberzweig.

Had Power to Stay Execution in Order to Give Time for Appeal to Emperor for Mercy, but Refused to Exercise It.

London.—Responsibility for the execution of Edith Cavell, the British nurse shot during the war in Brussels, has now definitely been placed at the door of General von Sauberzweig, according to the Brussels correspondent of the Daily Telegraph.

The death of Miss Cavell has generally been attributed to General von Bissing, at that time governor of Brussels, but a letter from Baron von Lancken to the German foreign secretary, which has just recently been made public, reflects that official of this star on his name, the correspondent writes.

It is also established that General von Sauberzweig had the power to stay the execution in order to give time for an appeal to the emperor for mercy. To accomplish this, General von Sauberzweig would have had only to withhold his confirmation of the sentence of the court-martial.

Baron von der Lancken was in Brussels at the time as an observer for the German Imperial chancery. He wrote the following letter:

"The Cavell affair is known to your excellency in all its details. The effect of it has been what I predicted to Von Sauberzweig in an interview I had with him without, however, being able to shake him from his point of view regarding the opportuneness of the execution."

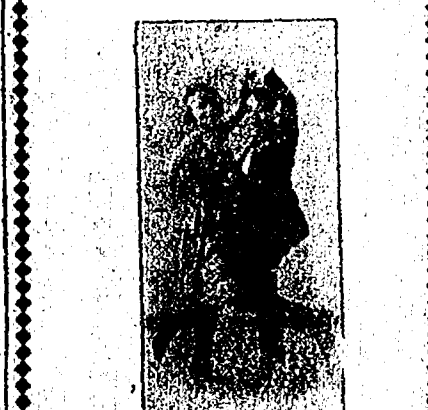

General von Sauberzweig, as successor to General von Krawinkel, was ordered to institute a reign of terror in Brussels, the correspondent declared, and throughout his administration arrests and condemnations followed one another without cessation.

The young couple were attended by Miss Elfreda Schiller and Arthur Wacker. They will make their home on a farm in Bridgewater Township.

Preventative Medicine.
The tendency of medical science is toward preventative measures. It is easier and better to prevent than to cure. Pneumonia, one of the most dangerous diseases that medical men have to contend with, often follows a cold or attack of the grip. The cold prepares the system for the reception and development of the pneumonia germ. The longer the cold lingers on, the greater the danger. Take Cham-berlain's Cough Remedy as soon as the first indication of a cold appears so as to get rid of it with the least possible delay. It is folly to risk an attack of pneumonia when this remedy may be obtained for a trifle.—Adv

CHELSEA STANDARD
ISSUES SPECIAL EDITION.
The issue of the Chelsea Standard of Thursday was a fine piece of news-paper work and journalism. The 28 page edition was indeed a splendid one and the publisher and editor are to be highly complimented on their achievement. Carrying ads of the various business and industries here and also interesting writeups of the Village and its organizations and ac-tivities, the paper was complete.
