BILL'S COLUMN

Timely Discussions of various facts that may interest you.

"BILL"

These dear old hitching rails were given another jolt last evening, but it wasn't the kind that they generally get when an auto bumps into them. No indeed, this was altogether a different kind of a jolt. It was a jolt toward their removal.

The matter was brought up at the council for discussion as to the advisability of removing the rails along Main street. The council was somewhat divided on the matter.

In the first place the rails were acknowledged by all to be a nuisance times, but then at other times which pointed out to be in the winter, when there was lots of snow, they served a good purpose for the farmers.

These old hitching rails were a fine thing when they were put in, but that back in the days when there were more than two or three autos in community and only one garage.
These hitching rails served a fine purpose at that time, because when a car came to town he drove in, and had to hitch his horses. Today, we need not the rails any more, with few exceptions, because the farmer does to town in his auto parking it ere he can find room, not bothering out a hitching rail.

No doubt some of the old timers old hate to see those rails disap-ear. Yes, they are landmarks to be re, but they are a thing of a couple ades ago. They have served a most ful purpose and now is their time depart. Their purpose now, was ntioned by the council men, and it s true.

TAX ASSESSMENT SMALLER THAN LAST YEAR

Council Accepts Report of Assessor

At the regular meeting of the village council last evening the business was transacted, bills were allowed and various discussions followed.

J. B. Cole, tax assessor, made a report to the council for their approval for the taxes for this year. According to the assessment valuation the real property was valued at $1,380,650 and the personal property was valued at $379,850 giving a total of $1,760,500.

IT MAY BE A GOOD IDEA, BARNEY,—BUT WHAT ARE WE TO DO WITH THIS PERFECTLY GOOD FOUNDATION?

FORD HAS SLIM CHANCE FOR NOMINATION

Could Win on Either Republican or Democratic Ticket Says Copeland

Although Henry Ford might be the choice of the people he stands very little chance of getting the nomination of either the Republican or Democratic parties, was the idea expressed by Sen. Royal S. Copeland of New York.

Senator Copeland, well known to many in Chelsea has been visiting in Dexter and various places near here, and is now on his return trip to New York.

According to the senator, the names of Ford and Al Smith of New York were mentioned prominently in connection with the presidential nomination, Ford, would easily win if nominated by either of the old line parties.
He is the choice of the people, and the people believe that his genius would put the country on a solid foundation.

The farmers admire Ford, because they have heard so much of his industrial and financial genius.
Ford has not committed himself to any of the issues of the campaigns.
No party is going to select an outsider and as far as the major parties are concerned, Ford is an outsider.

MAN KILLED BY BOLT OF LIGHTNING.

John Bannister of Springfield, Mich., a prominent farmer was killed by lightning at his farm Monday afternoon. He was cutting hay in a field when the storm came up. He started to unharness the team, when a bolt of lightning struck him and one of the animals killing both. A neighbor happened to notice the one horse standing in the field and went to the place, discovering the tragedy.

The passing of the years but mark thy course, Dear cherished land (in all the earth the best),
Upon the far and Christly road Where all the world shall rise to call thee blest.

Thy hamlets and thy farms in sweet content Dream softly in thy twilight's ling'ring glow, Where war may ne'er again be heard Nor alien banner ever dare to flow.

The history of thy past, of slave and lord, Sad chronicle of famine's deadly reign,
Of storm, and red man's barbarous law,
On thy white scroll have left no lasting stain.

STORES CLOSED TOMORROW.

Don't forget that tomorrow being your benefit they are keeping open this evening.

BIG CROWD ENJOY BAND CONCERT.

The Smith's Concert band entertained a large crowd Saturday evening at the second band concert of the season. The town was packed with autos and people. The concert was a long one, and the many numbers played pleased the crowd. Announcement

DOES ADVERTISING PAY?

The first batch of Coca-Cola was put on the market back in 1886—only 25 gallons of syrup, which sold for $25. The Wall Street Journal comments that "the present company paid the original owners 20 million dollars for CoCa-Cola good will."

"Good will" is another word for reputation. Reputation, in modern business, is the direct result of three things—merit of product, methods of doing business, and advertising.

Coca-Cola, of course, has been about as thoroughly advertised as is humanly possible.

The $25 realized from the first Coca-Cola sale, was immediately invested in advertising, for which the first bill was $46. From that small seed grew 20 million dollars worth of "good will."

It pays to advertise. Most of the big advertising started in a small way. Venturing cautiously into the water, they soon struck out for the deep spots. They found that it pays to advertise.

The William Wrigley company's first advertising appropriation was $32—its entire capital—wrote John Allen Murphy in Printer's Ink magazine. The L. E. Waterman company's first ad bill was $62.50. Hupp Motor corporation started with $100.65 of publicity. The Borden company started with an advertising appropriation of $513.75, back in 1890; today it spends for advertising nearly a million dollars a year. So on, a long list. It pays to advertise.

Murphy tells the story of Royal baking powder. The company started in a small drug store in Ft. Wayne, Ind., as a side line. Its first advertisement appeared in local papers. The campaign then gradually spread throughout the state until the company was able to move to New York. Soon after that, it became the largest national advertiser of its day. The Mennen company started similarly—as a druggist's side line.

What fertilizer is to farm soil, advertising is to business. It makes the seed grow, the acorn into a giant oak.

"It pays to advertise" is the best slogan to hang over the sales manager's desk.

BUSINESS BAROMETER.

More pig iron was manufactured in our country during May than in any month in history. May was the third consecutive month to smash all records.

Keep an eye on pig iron output. It will slump months before general business goes on the bow-wow. The iron and steel makers are intuitive to the point of clairvoyance. They guess for ahead—and usually guess correctly.

With May pig iron production smashing all records, even of war boom times, you have the very pleasant situation that when general business starts to slump again it will be carried forward for considerable time by its own momentum.

It takes about an eighth of a mile to stop the fastest and heaviest express train after the brakes are thrown, a veteran engineer tells us. So with business when it's rushing too speed.

Advance notice of a slump will be in plenty of time to enable everybody to reach the cyclone cellar. Trouble is, only the old timers start for the cellar in time. Most folks think as they hope, that the storm will blow over. Optimism often is a severe handicap.

In watching for a slump in iron production (as the weather vane of general business), don't be fooled by the mild slumps apt to come on a small scale during the hot months.

When iron industry drops next time, it will be a real slump. Easy to detect it from a slow down for a curve.

THE FARMER'S NEW PEST.

The farmer is in no pleasant frame of mind these days. He isn't getting his share of the money that is going around and he is getting a full share of the expense. With European buyers of his crops hard up and forced to skimp, the world is against him economically. When it gets on its feet the farmer will be restored financially and everybody will be happier and more secure. Governmental agencies are doing all they can to bring about an economic equilibrium but nature can only be assisted not forced. In the meantime the farmer suffers and being human his temper is not sweetened.

Comprehending all of this there are persons who will think they see a reason for the farmers banding together to keep touring autoists off their land. Even though these modern gypsies do leave their waste on the man's land they have invaded and should be curbed, the average city chap will figure the farmer, being good natured, would have stood for the impoliteness were he "not off his feed."

Maybe he would have. He would have been easy if he had. Not even the hunters who chasing "deer" shot his cows were as bad as the ill-mannered tourist who without as much as "by your leave" uses the farmer's place for a camping site and doesn't as much as clean up after him.

GUARDING THE BORDER.

A hundred and nine Chinese in Long Island city were rounded up by Uncle Sam's immigration men on the charge that they illegally entered the United States. These Chinese learn something that few native born Americans realize, which is this: Our municipal and state governments may be lax, but the man who has the federal authorities after him is "up against the real thing." New York will find this out before it gets through with prohibition. A few thousand "regulars," guarding the Canadian border and the coast, would make New York dry, all right.

In Mexico, bandits tried to catch a tourist for ransom, but the tourist ran some himself.

NATION REPRESENTED AT FINANCE CAPITAL

By FRANCIS H. SISSON
Chairman Public Relations Commission, American Bankers Association.

Financial New York is peculiarly representative of the whole nation. All parts of the country, the small towns as well as the big cities, have supplied the greater part of the man power and brain power enabling it to function as the nation's financial capital.

A recent investigation as to the origin of one hundred leading executives in the New York financial district, showed that no less than sixty per cent were born outside New York State, that no less than twenty-eight per cent were born in towns of 5,000 or less, and only twenty per cent were born in New York City.

The birthplaces of these men represented Pennsylvania, Ohio, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Michigan, Missouri, Illinois, Maryland, Delaware, Vermont, Mississippi, Kentucky, Tennessee, Minnesota, Iowa, Florida, Rhode Island, North Carolina, Indiana, Wisconsin, Georgia, California, Montana, Maine, West Virginia, New Jersey and the District of Columbia.

The same situation is true of the younger men, particularly in the banks. This reflects more than merely the attraction of the big city for ambitious young men. It is the result of the definite purpose of New York banking to equip itself to perform most effectively its work for all the nation.

A brief description of the mechanism of the nation's banking system will make this clear. Many of the New York banks are bankers' banks. They are great reservoirs of credit in which banks throughout the country deposit unemployed funds in New York. When crop needs in rural districts or industrial expansion in manufacturing centers increase local requirements for money these local banks call in their funds from New York and in addition may ask the big city banks for loans.

Country banks frequently deposit as security the notes of their own customers, often secured, in turn, by farm capital such as ploughs, livestock and other possessions. The fifty thousand dollar note, for instance, of a country bank in a big New York bank may have attached, as collateral security, fifty or a hundred small notes of a hundred dollars up to a thousand or more, signed by local farmers and their wives. Into one of the biggest New York banks comes in this way from the South each crop season a small note secured by a plough and a harrow and a mule named "Molly"—an incident that has been aptly described as "The Mintage of Molly." It is one among many securing a large inter-bank credit.

Thus is big banking in New York brought close to the plain people of the soil—thus does it finance their humble husbandry—and thus has it felt the need of recruiting its officers from among men familiar and sympathetic with local conditions—able to visualize the needs of the people there and pass sound judgment on the credit factors involved.

It is due to the conditions thus pictured that among the officers of New York's banks will be found representatives from all parts of the nation. They are the delegates of the people at the business capital.

Only three were bagged in one Michigan hunt. Three hunters.

Michigan Happenings

A wireless telephone, the first to be installed for service lighthouses on the Great Lakes, has been received by C. Wessner, radio operator, first class, of the U. S. S. Amaranth, docked at Marquette for repairs. The installation will be made in the Marquette lighthouse and will connect with the station on Stannard Rock, 46 miles out in Lake Superior. It will provide entertainment for lighthouse keepers and their assistants enabling them to tune in for radio concerts broadcasted from all stations in the United States.

A report submitted to the State Administrative Board by the Accounting Division shows that the State has tentatively authorized highway work which exceeds by $111,597 the money it will have available this year, including the $5,000,000 bond issue recently authorized but not yet sold.

Harold Haus, 8-year-old son of Frank Haus, farmer, residing three miles southeast of Standish, was run over by a roller, on his father's farm and killed. A bolt of lightning frightened the horses, causing them to run away, throwing the boy in front of the heavy roller.

Former Saloons Turned Into Amusement Halls For Mine Workers In Soft Coal Field; "Miners Clubs" Entertain Thousands

Half the world does not know how other half lives. Not a day with part of the world knows how coal miner lives.

The miner, when everything is soldered, is a deal better off than at people. The bituminous coal operators know the value of having entertained men working for them.
The special committee, appointed by the United States Commission, has collected a great amount of informative material on living conditions around the mines.

The upper picture shows an amusement hall, maintained by the company for its men at Somerset, Colorado. It was a saloon, not maintained by the company, until a drastic change in the Colorado law went into effect. It is, in fact, the club for the miners, contained in the vicinity. It is typical of most bituminous coal mines in the country.

The lower picture shows the interior of the pool and loafing room in this "miners club." Just at the end of day when the picture was made, it was deserted, but prepared for the reception of the men who, when their day's work is finished, flock to it for recreation.

The miner rents his house from the company for an amount ranging from $1 to $2 a month for each room in the house. Formerly, some operators encouraged their men to buy houses from the company. However, the operators concluded this was not exactly fair to the men, as the average mine is worked out in twenty-five years, and the mine community then comes to an end. The operator rather than the miner makes the investment in the houses for the workers on that account. The houses, despite the potential short need for their use, are well built, clean, and the surroundings are attractive. Each house has a yard, and a garden space. Renting a seven room house for $14 a month sounds like a fairly tale to a city dweller.

It is not only in rent that the miner has a great advantage over many others who receive less pay than he does. He gets coal for $1 a ton, and at some mines his fuel is given to him for domestic use. His lighting usually costs him nothing, the power plant of the mine being tapped to furnish his house with electric current.

The children of the miners are a primary consideration with the operators. So that they may have every advantage, schools of the highest grade, with carefully selected, well-paid teachers employed, are found in the modern mining community.

While the rest of the world has moved forward, the coal mining industry has not lagged or been out of step. The operators know that the living conditions for the men working in the mines and for their families must be up to a high standard, and expense has not been spared to carry out this program.

Most coal mining companies, at their own expense, look carefully after the health of the miners and their families. The visiting nurse system is being tried out extensively and successfully in many mining communities.

New Portrait of Washington

Above is a photographic reproduction of an historical group which shows, from left to right, George Washington, Robert Morris and Alexander Hamilton discussing the financial difficulties of the Revolutionary period, at the home of Washington in Philadelphia. The painting was completed by Mr. N. C. Wyeth, and has been hung in the Federal Reserve Bank in Boston.

The State of Michigan gets $2043 in a mortgage tax and the county of Calhoun $125.52 as a registry fee from the $50,000,000 mortgage given by Armour & Co., of Chicago, incorporated in Delaware, to cover a bond issue of some months ago. Property in Michigan to the amount of $108,380 is covered also in the trust mortgage and, therefore, the mortgage had to be filed in this state as well as in other states where the company owns property. The mortgage runs 20 years and draws 5 1/2 per cent interest.

Testing of the Michigan law which places bus lines under the supervision of the Michigan public utilities commission was started at Pontiac last week, when owners of several lines operating out of Pontiac and Detroit filed an injunction suit in circuit court here. They ask that the commission be restrained from interfering with business, if they fail to file petitions to come under the law. Legal points tending to show the law is unconstitutional are set up in the action.

A medal was conferred, by General Massey, commander of the sixth corps area, on Sergeant S. Forbes, company A, R. O. T. C., who saved the life of Joseph Fitzgerald, 11 years old, of Kalamazoo. The lad was bathing at the LaBelle resort, Gull Lake, when he stepped into a 20 foot hole. Seronant Forbes, in his uniform, swam out to the drowning boy and succeeded in keeping him above the surface until rescuers arrived in a rowboat.

Timothy Solomon, contractor and large timber owner, was shot and killed in the woods 15 miles from L'Anse au Loup, Quebec, by Lester Lippman, who mistook Solomon for a deer. Lippman was hid in the top of a tree.

Plan to Mark Historic Sites at Yorktown

For the lapse of nearly a century half it seems highly probable something will be done to preserve and mark the historic sites in Yorktown, Va., the scene of Lord Corwallis' surrender and of stirring battles in each succeeding war of independence. Yorktown was partly destroyed by the British in 1812, again by Union troops in 1861, and during the World War Yorktown was an important naval base and mine depot.
Society for the Preservation of Antiquities has preserved interesting relics and maps, and present is now on foot, fostered by Colonial Dames, to have considerable a sufficient amount before the ancient fortifications, roads, and erect monuments markers at the historic sites.

Yorktown, established in 1691 by descendants of the king of England, was purchased by Laurence Smith. The covered 50 acres, and was paid with 10,000 pounds of tobacco, the property of the colonists. It occupies above the York river, and prior to the Civil war was a town of considerable size.

July Fourth Backward again our country looks to see
The far beginnings of this fateful day:
This day which once meant death or liberty.
The opening of a new and untrod way.

What pay since have in our nation's life
Been written both in blood and lines of fire:
What growth and gains, with vital importance Have passed us high, and still our hopes inspire!

Grant, graciously, that we, like those of old,
Our lives, our fortunes, and our all may yield
That this fair land shall freedom's interdict hold.

Be Thou, oh then, Thyself, our sun and shield.

Our sun to light the path our feet should tread,
Our shield to guard from unsuspected foes.

The foe without the foe within more dread,
From wreck of war and subtle treason's wiles.

So may this day with every fresh return Rebuke us richer in earth's best estate—
Rich aims that shall like quenchless bonfires burn
To guide the world to ends supremely great.

In the Realm of Society

The Glorious Fourth
Oh! I'd like to make a racket, And get off my Sunday jacket, Said the jolly little cracker of the pack "For to sizzle, I am sighing, And to whizz thru space a flying, Is the exercise that I most surely lack."
Oh! I want some punk and crackers, Just the loudest kind of wackers.
Said a merry little fellow, bright and gay.
For I long to see them fizzing,
And to send them off a whizzing Just to scare the girls as they go by today.

So the two, they came together,
In the pleasant July weather.
Both the jolly little cracker and the boy.
And the one he made a racket, While the other burned his jacket, But to both it was a day of keenest joy.

The Home of the Soul.

In olden times it was believed that the seat of the soul was the stomach, most likely for the reason that a man is never so completely used up as when his stomach is out of order. For the cure of ordinary stomach troubles, there is nothing quite so prompt and satisfactory as Chamberlain's Tablets.
They strengthen the stomach and enable it to perform its functions naturally. Give them a trial. They only cost a quarter.—Adv.

Why Suffer from Rheumatism?

Do you know that nine out of every ten cases of rheumatism are simply rheumatism of the muscles or chronic rheumatism, neither of which require any internal treatment? The pain may be relieved by applying Chamberlain's Liniment, which makes sleep and rest possible, and that certainly means a great deal to any one afflicted with rheumatism.—Adv.
