Timely Discussions of various facts that may interest you.

"BILL"

Sometimes it's cheaper to take a beating at the hands of another fellow, when there has been an auto accident than it is to pay the damages. Such was the case as it ended with the motorist who tried to settle a little dispute in a fist fight. The driver who took the beating, ended and settled the whole affair a short time after the accident. He went to Ann Arbor and when the other car, containing the "strong arm" man, came through they were stopped, and had they continued to allow the settlement to drop, everything would have been all right, but instead they wanted the repairs on the car paid for also. A deputy sheriff settled the matter by taking them to court and there they were fined. The fine and court costs would have more than repaired the car.

Sometimes it is a good thing to be handy with your fists, but it doesn't always pay to bring them into action too quick, and this party found it out in a rather expensive manner.

The Fair season is just about ready to open and Fair officials are working every ounce of energy to get everything in readiness for the occasion. The Washtenaw Fair officials have been sailing around the county almost as though mad to see to it that everything would be ready when the opening day arrived.

According to the stories from the fair that know, the county fair this year will be the biggest ever. A great many improvements have been made during the past year, and still more are being completed at present.

With increased buildings and floor space, and larger entries and prominent lists, the fair promises to give all a bigger and better time. The entertainments that have been obtained are among the best, and should draw large crowds. All in all the Fair this year will be the best that people in the vicinity have had the pleasure of seeing in a long time.

Chelsea is taking her part in the fair program. The village is represented on the Fair board by one man from Chelsea. In other divisions there are representatives and assistants that come from here. Then there are the loyal followers who will be on hand to help in every way to make the fair a real one. Chelsea is a long way from being forgotten in this fair.

Tomahawk, Wis., housewives suddenly struck with a fear that something was wrong with their husbands, when they evidenced a sudden lack of energy in arising early during the last week. The mystery was solved though. A stranger, in the dress attire of "September Morn," had been seen four times taking the train before sunrise, it is said. The mysterious visitor was sighted twice in a nearby park and twice within the city, but no clue has been found to his identity.

Some to think about it September is not so far away and from the things that we meet these mornings we arise, we wonder how anyone would want to play that way. If it is indeed in September as it is now, it appears that September Morn will have to wait until next July to come.

A poor fellow in Chicago was all of luck when someone stole his car. "The ring," the money for his car to come from Nebraska with, most everything. All was in readiness for the wedding, but the man did not know what to do. He had made a loan from his mother and landlady and the wedding ceremony was performed.

Some would say that he was lucky. Others would say that when such an opportunity arose to miss an occasion of that kind he was foolish for taking it. Let the victim be the judge.

"Woel! Woel! No Bathing! Slippers, etc." That is almost as the case up in Wisconsin, but it has not gone that far as yet. The fact is that those workers in factories making these goods have been on a strike.

W. Lewis of Northwestern University, inventor of Lewisite and other explosives and deadly gases, has been arrested and is being held in custody. He is accused of making these goods for the use of the German army.

Then maybe they won't complain because they have to build a little fire in the morning, or get dressed in a hurry to stop from shivering.

YOU STILL OCCASIONALLY SEE ONE

They're not all as black as they're painted—these modern flappers. Flapperism, after all, isn't so much a matter of looks as it is a state of mind. At heart we all enjoy the look; it's the boy-struck, pleasuremad shirker of responsibilities that has called forth a deluge of printer's ink dense enough to drown the whole rising generation.

But you still occasionally see such a delightfully wholesome efficient young person—as agreeably flapperish as the next one when it comes to looks—that it helps to revive your faith in human nature.

When you come right down to it there are no virtues in a woman which surpass those of a flapper. In fact they add lustre to any sphere in which a woman chooses to shine. But as long as the race exists, the average woman most important business will be to make a home, the real kind that radiates joy, and contentment, and friendly hospitality. And when all is said and done, isn't that just about the greatest achievement anyone can hope to accomplish in this world?

There are still girls who can cook, make their own clothes, and plan the family budget as efficiently as they sing and dance and drive the car. So don't give up hope—they're not all bona fide "flappers"—we're still going to have some real homes.

CHELSEA GARMENT CO. MOVES TO JACKSON

The Chelsea Garment Co. are dismantling their machinery and will move to Jackson some time this week it is expected.

The local garment factory was opened a short time ago by Jackson parties and production started. Several changes ensued and of late the factory has been operating in fine shape.

Mr. McCredy of Jackson, has been managing the factory, and has decided to move the machinery to a part of the building at 223 Michigan Avenue, Jackson.

The manager expressed a desire to continue operations in Chelsea, but because of various matters has decided that it would be better to operate the business in Jackson at least during the winter months. He expressed a hope to be able to come back to Chelsea possibly next spring.

Chelsea offers a fine location for such a factory, being ideally situated. Labor costs will be less than in the larger places and this may be a factor in bringing the factory back.

TRUST NOT SUCH TRUSTS

A stock selling scheme that worked disastrously for many victims of irresponsible oil promoters is appearing in different parts of the country in selling other kinds of stocks. Questionable promoters are offering stock in common law trusts in an attempt to evade Blue Sky laws which apply to selling stock in corporations. The greater danger to persons buying stock in irresponsible common-law trusts is not that they may lose all they pay for the stock, but that they also may be liable and sued for debts contracted by the trustees.

The common law trust is not a corporation. It is an agreement among several persons whereby one or more persons, usually three, are named as trustees to accept the stockholders' money and run the business. Usually they have complete control over the business and disposition of its money and property and can spend, or contract debts, without interference from stockholders. If they are dishonest, or incompetent the stockholders may lose what they put into the stock and, in addition, courts have held such stockholders responsible for debts or obligations contracted by the trustees. The double loss comes on to the stockholder, not the trustees.

When an unwary investor buys stock in a fraudulent corporation his loss is embraced in the amount he put in the stock. Creditors of the corporation cannot come to him to make good their claims against the corporation. But a common law trust is entirely different. Common law trusts are a business device that has, and still does, serve honest business purposes, but, like every other device of law or society, it has been twisted by swindlers and fraud to suit their evil purposes. Before investing even the smallest sum, do as the great life insurance executives do, obtain the counsel of an established, reputable investment banker, or of some honest, successful, conservative man in your community. No good investment security will spoil, no matter how eager the salesman is to stampede you into acting at once.

Stearns Seen as Factor in Guiding Nation

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Frank W. Stearns, the Boston merchant and the new President's closest personal friend, has been referred to as the "Colonel House" of the Coolidge administration. He is expected to play a leading part in shaping legislative programs. Together with William M. Butler, Boston lawyer, and James H. Reynolds, Washington banker who holds from Massachusetts, the three are acknowledged as the new President's closest political advisers. The above photo is a very rare and intimate picture of the inside life of (nominal) Washington, taken just before the late President Harding left on his Alaska trip. From left to right—Harding, Coolidge, Mrs. Harding, Will Hays, motion picture "man," and Frank W. Stearns.

WITH OTHER BAY STATERS, HE IS DESTINED TO PLAY A LEADING PART IN SHAPING PROGRAM

Washington, D. C.—Is Frank W. Stearns, the Boston merchant and the new President's closest personal friend of the new president to be the "right hand" man of the Coolidge administration? In the opinion of many persons he is to be what Colonel House was to the administration of Woodrow Wilson. Some believe that he is destined to play an important part in shaping of a legislative program—others who have been watching him with critical eyes, fear that he may become an "administration nuisance."

During the first few days following the elevation of Coolidge to the presidency, Stearns was seen constantly in and out of the executive suite. He enacted the role of major domo around the presidential hotel. It was during this period that, in order to arrange an audience for Justice Sanford of the Supreme Court, who had called Stearns intruded on a Cabinet conference the president was holding.

President's First Caller

The Boston merchant was the first caller to enter President Coolidge's office at the executive mansion after the new president took up his duties. He has been with Coolidge almost continuously since he arrived in Washington following Harding's death.

Let us all get together for a bigger and better Chelsea. A sewerage system for Chelsea. A building program that is bound to build.

THE NIGHTMARE

What we call a "nightmare" got its name because our ancestors believed it was a visit from the Saxon demon, Mare, a vampire supposed to sit on the chest of its sleeping victim, half strangling him and causing fearful visions.

This bit of information is from a new book, "The Horse in Magic and Myth." M. Oldfield Howey wrote it.

In 1923 we know that a nightmare is a psychic nervous condition, its cause ranging all the way from excessive glandular activity to atoning combinations like oranges and buttermilk. Superstition dies hard. But it is dying.

The reason Anglo Saxons rarely eat horse flesh is because this article of diet originally was forbidden by their religion according to Howey. The horse was especially protected on account of its value in battle.

The theory or system apparently must have been to eat only the animals that could not be rushed away from an oncoming invader, and to keep the horse for flight or pursuit, for there is no logical reason why we shouldn't eat horse flesh as much as beef or lamb or pork—except for the taste.

Food prejudices are queer. Only an epicure or an oriental can eat snails or grasshoppers without shuddering.

The wooden hobby horse, delight of many generations of children, was used a lot for sport by grown ups in the middle ages. Howey says. Then the Puritans—blue law enforcers of their day—condemned the hobby horse as "dangerous to the soul." It came back into favor later, but only for children.

Times are changing, and Willie is developing an early tendency to snort when Santa Claus brings him a hobby horse instead of a child size auto.

An editor can't help but feel friendly toward the horse. An auto is an unromantic contraption and rarely does anything unusual enough to entitle it to a display in the day's news. The auto drivers and passengers furnish plenty of gossip, but not their iron steeds.

The horse, however can always be counted on to perform in a newsy fashion at some time or other in his life. Why, just the other day, a Louisiana woman complained to the district attorney that a horse had looked so attractive to her husband he'd traded their 14 months old son for the nag.

THE EGGS WE EAT.

It takes four chickens to furnish eggs for each American. Uncle Sam's count shows 428 million chickens in the United States. They furnish us with the eggs we need and an additional 500 millions a year for export, which latter is about three-fifths offset by the eggs we import from China and elsewhere. Talking about wasted effort, what do you think of the proposition of importing 300 million eggs a year and canceling the transaction by shipping back an equivalent amount? Logically our exports should be 200 million eggs, with no imports.

SAFE AIRPLANES.

Airplane travel is getting to be a reasonably safe venture, according to the viewpoint of some of the leading insurance officials. Frederick L. Allen of Mutual Life says a professional aviator still is regarded as an extra hazardous risk, but a policy holder no longer jeopardizes his protection by traveling over an established air route in an airplane piloted by a competent professional. As a matter of fact, the average person is safer in an airplane than in a canoe or on a high, slanted ladder.

THE WISE RODOLPHO.

Rodolph Valentino shows the reporters that he wars tan silk suspenders. He wants it known that he is an Italian, not a Spaniard, his real surname being Guglielmi. Valentino gets from 2,000 to 3,000 letters a day from the fair (sometimes unfair) sex.

With a million women a year writing to him, we wonder what would happen if he ran for president. Men, who have as one of their chief functions the task of "selling" themselves to the Only Woman, should study the psychology employed by Valentino. He is a "wise bird" and as clever a press agent as Barnum's Toddy Hamilton.

PLIGHT OF A FAT MAN.

A Slovene with a name as long as a yardstick claims he's the fattest man in the world. He weighs 640 pounds.

We got to thinking of the enormous meals he must have to eat, and their cost; the vast yardage of cloth necessary for his suit; his predicament in hot weather or when trying to scratch a mosquito bite on his ankle; and we parked up and decided that maybe we weren't so badly off, after all. Just imagine him trying to crawl under his auto or find a seat in a crowded street car.

BETTING AND PAYING.

The English are making payments on their war debt to us, and it makes them gloomy. On the other hand, it is revealed in the House of Commons that the English bet from 600 to 750 million dollars a year on horse races. This money, of course, stays in England, merely changes hands. But it is easy to spend for pleasure, heartrending to spend for necessity, not to mention the disagreeableness of paying for a dead horse like a war debt.

The law helps those who help themselves.

HELPFUL HINTS

Mr. Housewife:—This newspaper will publish "Helpful Hints" in this form at regular intervals. If you suggest you clip this column and paste it on blank paper in your recipe book.

Peeling a Tomato. To peel a tomato easily and quickly stick a fork in it and hold over a gas flame a few seconds; the skin can then be readily removed leaving the tomato firm.

To clean tin-ware, a less expensive and better cleaner can not be found than dry flour applied with a newspaper. Rub hard and you will be surprised at the change. If a spot is on your cooking utensils a piece of fine sand paper will be of great help in removing it.

Perfume Stains. If one should spill some perfume or cologne on their white kid gloves, instant rubbing of the spot will remove all traces of the stain. A moment's delay however, and the stain will become fast.

Bee sting or Spider Bite. When stung by a bee or bitten by a spider some salt and soda mixed together will be found very excellent. Cover the part with a cloth and keep damp with water.

Mark your POISONS. If one will save a possible tragedy stick a pin through the corks of bottles containing poisonous medicines, this would teach a child what bottles are not to be touched and avoid mistakes when seeking medicines at night.

To Keep Cake Fresh. If the housewife who has trouble in keeping her cake or sandwiches moist, would put an apple in the cake box, the difficulty would be removed.

Cut Flowers. If a little bit of sugar is added to the water used for cut flowers you will find that the water will keep sweet and fresh.

Cleaning Gloves. When washing or cleaning gloves put on the hand first and they will not shrink.

Broken Glass. If you have a piece of broken glass that you wish to repair, melt some alum apply to the broken parts, and place firmly together. The crack will not show.

Cold meats for warm days are not only more appetizing but also healthful. Loeffler's brands of cold cut summer meats are prepared by food experts and there are none better. Try our summer meats.

Warren G. Harding

The same words of advice, if spoken thirty years ago by the youthful Ohio printer, would have been just as true—BUT—they mean more to you today when, as President of the United States, Warren G. Harding says to you:

"If I could urge upon the American People a single rule... it would be to learn to spend somewhat less than your income all the time. If you have debts, reduce them as rapidly as you can; if you are one of the fortunate few who have no debts, make it a rule to save something every year."

President Harding, like all of our nation's really successful men, always spent "somewhat less" than his income. It is a rule that cannot be ignored if you would succeed.

FORTUNE TOLD
A City, Aug. 23—Louis Angel, 23, who was driven out of his bed at daybreak and accompanied by Horrell, went for a brisk walk of five miles along the board walk before breakfast.
A mysterious dark woman accosted Angel Firpo, South American pugilist, as he turned a training camp last night. "I read your palm," said she. "I tell your future."
Angel replied, "My future is not in my palm. My fist and the strength be-

Saga Springs, N. Y., Aug. 23. Dempsey, world's heavyweight champion, today faces the prospect of being his training in preparation for a 15 round contest with Luis Firpo at New York, Sept. 14. The lack of sparring partners, two heavyweights in camp, George and a 225 pound Negro and Jack of Pittsburgh, still are suffering from the training siege they went through before the Gibbons bout.
Wells, British welterweight champion, and Jules Rioux, the French lumberjack, have departed. The cottage is without a bath or modern conveniences.

NEW IMPROVEMENTS AT FAIR THIS YEAR

At the Washtenaw Fair this year will be at the changes which have been wrought during the past years at the new fair grounds. Completion of the mammoth merchants building, which houses merchant exhibitors, gives the fair the opportunity to center their business on the construction of the grandstand. By taking advantage of the natural slope, a perfectly level stand can be built for a minimum expense which will make it possible to provide seats for 2000 persons.
Trade separation has been completed whereby autoists may enter the fair grounds from either Jackson or Dexters and reach the parking place by one-way traffic without delay or danger. The big six inch main is a splendid new asset to the fair, providing ample water for all purposes, and a new side track will be a great addition and convenience to those who use the street-cars.
The Growth and Progress is the fair by which the great agricultural and business interests of Washtenaw County are constantly being improved through the influence of the County Fair. No one can miss this year's great expo-

21st annual convention of the Letter Carriers' Association held at Kalamazoo and one of the speakers was A. P. Lang, of Pleasanton, president of the national association. Another speaker was Lawrence, of Okla., Michigan rural carrier, who is still in mail after 27 years' service.

Association of the San Francisco company have been filed with the secretary of state, also a petition with the Public Utilities Commission, asking approval of the franchise for the company that is to operate the transportation system of the franchise granted by the state at the election, June 25.

Typewriter, Chief Step in Woman's Economic Freedom

Romantic History of the Invention Which Has Meant Much to Women Is Told in Book Published by Herkimer County, New York, Historical Society.

The story of the typewriter has now been told. For the first time since the first practical machine was manufactured fifty years ago a comprehensive history of its invention and development has been published.

"The Story of the Typewriter" is an illustrated document of the Herkimer County Historical Society, Herkimer, N. Y., tracing the history from the first typewriter patent granted by the British Patent Office in 1714 down through Sholes' invention of the first practical machine to the present year.

On September 12, at Herkimer, N. Y., the Society announces it will hold an international celebration to commemorate the fiftieth anniversary of the invention and manufacture of the first practical machine.

REASONS FOR PUBLISHING HISTORY

The reasons for publishing the history are given by Col. John W. Vrooman, president of the Society, in a foreword to the work, in which he says:

"Local pride in achievement is not only pardonable, but when that achievement marks a real contribution to human progress, it may even be laudable. It is with no apology, therefore, that the Herkimer County Historical Society presents to the public the story of the typewriter, which we of Herkimer County, New York, have seen unfold.
"Half a century ago, in the little Mohawk Valley village of Herkimer, was begun the manufacture of a machine which, in that comparatively brief period has revolutionized intercommunication, contributed mightily to the expansion of modern business, and, what is of even greater significance, has proved the chief factor in the economic emancipation of women.

"Realizing the importance of this service, the writer had the honor of suggesting to the Society and to the citizens of Herkimer County that its fiftieth anniversary be adequately observed. One step in this observance has been the form of publishing this little volume. The data from which it was prepared were gathered by the Society from a great variety of sources, including one man who has been identified with the history of the typewriter from its earliest days. It shows conclusively that there will be no doubt that they will be of great value to the public.

tory as the center from which, in the main, has flowed this great contribution to civilization's progress.

"The Society takes this occasion to extend an invitation to the general public to send to it any additional historical data which may serve to make our archives upon the subject more complete. We would be glad to be informed, for instance, of the names of any individuals now living, not mentioned in this volume, who have been identified in any important way with the development of the typewriter machine and its extension throughout the world during the last half century; the location and ownership of any typewriter machine which is over forty-five years old; the name and address of anyone who has been a continuous user of a typewriter for forty or more years; the name and address of owner of any typewriter upon which any important manuscript or public document was written; the name and address of oldest living typist; the location of first typewriter used in (a) a business office; (b) a government office; (c) newspaper editor's office.

Location and name of owner of any typewriter over forty-five years old.

STEARNS AS FACTOR IN GUIDING NATION

man of board of directors of R. H. Stearns Company, the great Boston department store founded by his father, and for years has been the strongest political adviser of Calvin Coolidge.

Stearns is trustee of Amherst College, from which the President was graduated; a director of the Children's and Homeopathic hospitals of Boston, South End House and Bunker Hill Boy's Club, a member of the executive committee of the American Trust Company and of the investment committee of the Provident Institution of Savings in the town of Boston, a member of the Congregational church, the Chi Psi fraternity and the Massachusetts, Middlesex, Algonquin, Brae Burn Country and University Clubs.

Sees Significance

While Republican leaders are holding many political conferences which are the order of the day in Washington, they are wondering how much help this "right hand" man will give the Chief Executive during the next ten months, the brief time which Coolidge has to write a record of achievement, before the next Republican Convention.

Many observers around the executive mansion attached considerable political importance to the fact that Stearns brought additional influence and support for the President with the visit of the Massachusetts Republican organization last week. This was the first concerted action from any state organization behind the new administration.

Political leaders also see significance in the fact that it is believed that William M. Butler, Boston lawyer and intimate friend of Stearns, will be named Attorney-General if Attorney General Daugherty resigns, as is looked for. Butler lately became Republican National Committeeman when Secretary of War Weeks retired.

Bay State Political Hub

Together with Butler and James B. Reynolds the Washington banker, who also hails from the Bay state, the three are acknowledged as the new president's closest political advisers. It is expected that they will help develop and put through a program fashioned after the New England business plan.

Taking in consideration the President's three advisors, and with the executive support the speaker of the House, Gillette, Weeks, in the Cabinet, Winslow, Greene, Treadway and Rogers as House leaders, and Lodge in the Senate all from the Bay state—Massachusetts is in an excellent position to get what it wants before Congress.

With these developments Boston is fast becoming the Hub of the political wheel—and the hand of Frank Waterman Stearns is seen spinning it around.

Michigan Happenings

Bodies of 11 Civil War Veterans, buried in the Old Catholic Cemetery at Marquette years ago, will be moved to the special plot being maintained by the Women's Relief Corps for Veterans within the next month. It was announced here. Permission has been granted the corps by the Right Rev. P. J. Nussbaum, bishop of the Marquette Catholic Diocese and city health officers. The bodies to be removed are the remains of veterans whose relatives are either dead or can not be located.

Detroit will be visited Aug. 25 by General John J. Pershing. It is expected, incidental to resumption of his military tour of inspection halted by the death of President Harding. According to a wire sent General George Van Horne Mosley, command officer at Camp Custer by Major-General Harry C. Hain, commanding officer of the sixth corps area, General Pershing will resume his trip and carry out the original schedule.

A presentation of William Toll, modernized by the substitution of rifle and tin can for bow and arrow, ended fatally when Salvay Harper, 47 years old, died in receiving hospital at Detroit. The police say Harper and Oscar Haynes, a neighbor, tried some sharpshooting on the city dump near their homes, one holding a tin can while the other tried to send a bullet through it. Harper fell with a bullet through his head.

Mrs. J. S. Marks, of Lake Odessa, has been elected president of the United Brethren Christian Endeavor and Sunday School union, which concluded its twenty-sixth annual convention at Grand Rapids. Other officers named were: Vice-President, Rev. C. H. Zuo, of Wyoming Park; recording secretary, Mrs. Mary Babler, Odessa; corresponding secretary, Miss Gertrude Koster, of Detroit; treasurer, Mrs. Mildred Gladstone, St. Johns.

Convicts from the Jackson state prison were at work on the Galeburg-Augusta highway helping to complete one of the last gaps in the all-paved way from Detroit to St. Louis, Mo. The prison inmates' camp was set up near the village of Augusta. The work is well under way and it is expected that the highway will be completed in a few days.

THE ONLY "SURE THING" IN THE INVESTMENT FIELD

The Advice of Honest Men Who Know, and Willingness to Be Content With Reasonable Return, Declared Only Safe Road to Assured Income.

"Success in life depends upon the investments made of talents and time," says an article on investing prepared by the Committee on Public Education of the American Bankers Association. "Future return will be gain or loss, according to these investments. That is a law of life which controls investment of money, just as it controls investment of talents." The article, which is particularly timely in these days when so many are being robbed by fake investments, continues:

In the business sense, the word investment relates to the use of money in acquiring ownership of property. Ownership may represent entire possession of property as of a home, partial ownership as holding stock in a corporation; or conditional ownership as in the case of buying a mortgage or a bond. When a person makes an investment in bonds, he is really loaning his money to the government or corporation issuing them. He will receive the interest which they earn as long as he owns them, or until they are paid off.

Ownership of great corporations is vested in individuals who have invested money in their stock or bonds. Many people regard the ownership of the United States Steel Corporation, for example, as differing from the ownership of, say, a small workshop. Yet investors in shares of Steel Corporation stock are entitled to the same rights, under the law, as the owner of the workshop. In the corporation, the owners hold certificates of stock as evidence of their investment, whereas the owner of the little workshop holds a deed as title to his land.

Capitalistic Laws Protect Investors
Because the laws stand for the equal protection of all investors, it is possible and profitable to make good investments. It gives an incentive to work hard and to invest. The person who wishes to invest must first work and accumulate funds with which to do so.

Bonds are always secured by mortgages on the lands, buildings or other property of the corporation for which the money has been used. When a bond matures the money must be repaid to the owner of the bond.

All investors are a part of a great financial system which gathers up and puts to work the wealth of the country for the mutual benefit, prosperity, and well-being of all. In America, it is possible for any one who is willing to pay the price of self-denial and hard work, to be an investor. Good investments made in early life by saving such small sums as may be possible, lay the foundation for providing the comforts of later years, when it is harder to earn a livelihood and when poverty often becomes the condition of those who have not practiced thrift in youth.

It is not wise for those without experience to undertake to make investments of their money without guidance by those who know. Many companies are constantly being organized to promote unsound schemes, referred to as "wildcat." There are always solicitors ready to relieve people of their savings by the promise of big returns. The lure of great wealth is always a temptation by which thousands of thrifty people are deprived of hard-earned savings every year. Widows and orphans who have inherited money are frequently sought and made the targets of these fake-stock salesmen. Misery and suffering are the usual results.

Greed Defeats Safety

Many people with small means also lose money because they insist on a high rate of interest on their investments. Safety of principal should be considered above large returns in interest or dividends. Small investors should never buy high-rate, speculative investments, in which there is a great risk, but should stick to those which pay a fair rate and which are known to be safe.

To know whether an investment is worth buying the investor should go to a banker, or a successful business man in whom he has confidence, get his opinion and act in accordance with it. In all probability this will mean the difference between successful investment and total loss of his money.

The banker deals with investments every day and desires to give all the help and information he can, and the business man has learned by experience the need of caution and careful judgment. They believe one should have a clear understanding of an investment before it is purchased. They know the need for avoiding stock promotion schemes and get-rich-quick propositions which in many cases have brought poverty and suffering. While many states have passed laws aimed to protect the public against promoters of fake investments, these kinds of people annually fall victims to their wiles, because they fail to seek advice of those experienced in making investments.

Good advice and temperate expectations mark the only road to safe investment and an assured income. There is no other certain way.

Chats With Your Gas Man

Six per cent is all you spend on your total income for the services rendered by your utility companies, including gas, electric light, water, telephone and street railway. This is a good figure to spring on the person who claims that a reduction in utility rates would save hundreds of dollars a year to each customer.

The fact is that a reduction as great as eight per cent would only represent a saving to the average man of one-half of one per cent of his total income.

The six per cent for all utility services compares with twenty per cent spent for clothing, food, books, charities, etc., sixteen per cent for rent and taxes, and twenty-five per cent for food.

The service rendered by the public utilities service companies is a luxury in everything but cost.
