Can you feature the best of weather for the middle of the month? It is hard to believe but it is true and most of us are enjoying it while it lasts. We are doing a little kicking because they want cold weather and snow.

The best we have heard is one man reported seeing dandelions growing along the railroad tracks east of town. Dandelions on the 10th of December is indeed an exception for this section of the country.

Someone else ventured that we had better make the best of this weather while we can because a little later, probably next February and March we will have blizzards and storms that will make up for all this.

The question arises, whether the seasons are changing or not. Old timers will relate of the severe winters that they had back only a comparatively few years. If the seasons are changing, what will be the outcome? I won't try to answer it because I don't know, it is a sensible answer?

The following was taken from one of our exchanges and as we thought it pretty good we are giving you a chance to laugh with us:

"C. W. Carlson, cashier of a Wisconsin national bank, received the following letter from a creditor: 'Dear Mr. Carlson: I got your letter about what I owe you. Now be patient. I ain't forget you. Please wait. When sun fools pay me I pay you. If this wuz judgement day and you wuz no more prepared to meet your Master as I am to meet your account, you sure would have to go to hell. Trusting you will do this.'"

How many of you knew that America is the only nation that was a participant in the World War that is still retaining its prisoners. There are still 32 persons at Leavenworth federal prison for offenses made during the war, while this nation was under military rule.

According to the informant other countries have freed their political prisoners. President Coolidge has appointed a commission to investigate the cases of political prisoners and possibly they may be out by Christmas if action is speeded up enough. The plan goes out to have people write to the president or their senators and urge pardon.

Next Monday, Dec. 17th all America will observe the twentieth birthday of the airplane. The first heavier-than-air machine made its initial flight at Kitty Hawk, N. C. and was piloted by Wilbur and Orville Wright.

An announcement in a Detroit paper states that United States Marshall Frank T. Newton is looking for four men in the Michigan district of the United States federal court who can convince him that they have never tasted beer and never will. If they can do this there is a job in store for them at a brewery.

No reformed men need apply because the job is one that requires a man to watch cats that are filled with the amber colored liquid and the U. S. officials are taking no chances. He must be a simon pure prohibitionist whose lips never parted over the was-sail bowl. Maybe someone from this vicinity can apply????

CHELSEA FILLED WITH CONVENTION PEOPLE SUNDAY

by Name Society Hold Quarterly Meeting.

The quarterly convention of the Name Society of the Chelsea Chapter, held at St. Mary's church, Sunday, December 9, was largely attended. Nearly every parish in this District was represented. About 600 members being in attendance. An exceptionally fine program was rendered. Mr. W. V. Daily, of Jackson, acted as chairman. Rev. Father Van Dyke gave the address of welcome. The speakers were Rev. Father Daily and Rev. Father General of Ann Arbor. and Father Farrell of Jackson. The music was furnished by St. John's forty piece band of Jackson and St. Mary's High school orchestra of this place. Selections were also rendered by The Barre Quartette. Following the meeting they all attended the Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament, were served and a smoker was held in the hall where refreshments were served and a smoker was held. The next quarterly meeting will be held at Dexter, some time in March.

BOY SHOT BY PLAYMATE.

Willard Winchester, age 8 years, of Leoni was accidentally shot Sunday afternoon by Orville Huttenlocher, age 9, also of Leoni. Willard and his brother, Robert, went over to Orville Huttenlocher to play. After playing a while Orville went out of the room and returned with a .22 caliber rifle which was given the boy by a man in town. Orville pointed the rifle at Robert and pulled the trigger. The rifle clicked, but did not discharge, he then turned the gun on Willard, which went off the barrel penetrating his right eye. The boy died on the way to W. A. Foster Memorial hospital. Coroner Wells stated Sunday night there would be no inquest as the shooting was purely accidental.

ATTEND FUNERAL OF

O. M. ROBERTSON.
O. C. Burkhardt, G. E. Haist, O. D. Laick and E. Beach attended the funeral of O. M. Robertson, a pioneer farmer of Aurelius township, Eaton Rapids. For the past twenty-six years Mr. Robertson has been secretary of the Merino Sheep Breeders' Association of Michigan, and was very popular among the members of this organization. The funeral services were held Sunday afternoon from the home.

PURCHASE NEW TRUCK.

Clark and Bronson, produce house, have purchased a new Reo speed wagon with which they expect to handle a still larger business than heretofore. The new truck is the latest type turned out by the company, and is especially desirable because of its greater length. Clark and Bronson have found it necessary to have two trucks in use to handle the large volume of business that they have built up between Chelsea and Detroit and places along the route. The new truck made its initial trip to Detroit, Monday.

MICHIGAN CENTRAL WILL HAVE TO BUILD STONE WALL AROUND PROPERTY.

The Michigan Central railroad but recently replaced two concrete posts and a piece of pipe that was damaged when an auto ran amuck and crashed into the fence around the property along the track. At that time it was supposed that a woman was driving the car that did the damage but it was found out after that it was a man. The trouble then was caused because the brakes on the car would not hold. This time it really was a woman. Mrs. Louis Hoeselchwerdt was driving the car that ran into the fence and tree. The car was not damaged badly, but two posts were broken and the pipe was bent. The accident happened about 1 o'clock Sunday morning.

DOROTHY MACKAHL, ENGLISH ACTRESS, CALLED IDEAL AMERICAN GIRL.

When a girl born and bred in England, of English parentage, English education and experience on the English stage, comes to America and immediately upon her arrival is selected as the ideal American girl, it is something of a shock, both to her and to us. It reminds us of our kinship to that side across the sea and makes us feel that the chief difference between us and our English cousins is the number of miles that separate us.

This is what happened to Dorothy Mackahl, who plays the leading role in the Edwin Carew production "Mighty Lak a Rose," coming to the Princess Theatre, Wednesday and Thursday. Having been told by Ned Wayburn, in whose show she was appearing in London, of the greater opportunities for actresses in America, she decided to come to the land of promise. Which she did, and which she would do again, only she'd be just twice as quick about it the next time, she says.

For not only was the little English actress welcomed to America, but even the critics who saw her on the screen and above the footlights spoke of her as the ideal American girl.

Miss Mackahl has the unique experience of having acted in motion pictures in three countries—England, France and America. She has also tripped "the light fantastic" in these three countries: to be exact, in London, Paris and New York. In fact, she is a dancer of distinction, was known as the most beautiful girl in the Ziegfeld Follies and became a principal of the Ziegfeld Concert before she had been in America many months. Her picture has been used repeatedly on magazine covers, sheet music, etc.

When Dorothy was just a little girl she was in a benefit performance for charity given in the principal theater in her home town, Hull Yorkshire, England. The orchestra had played the overture and had struck the first chords for the children's song with no results. That is not a single little voice was heard. Twice the orchestra went through this performance, and still no voice was heard where there should have been one. The children were paralyzed with stage fright.

Suddenly there tripped to the front of the stage, a little girl who said to the leader of the orchestra, "play for me, and I will sing, all by myself. I am not afraid."

This poise and self-confidence, exhibited so early in her career, is largely responsible for the girl's easy triumphs.

Though she ranks high among American beauties, she is called a perfect type of loveliness and Broadway's prettiest girl, although it is not just her beauty or her poise that have put her where she is. Her greatest asset is best described by Mr. Carew, who is directing her in his new production for First National he says: "There is a naive charm in her understated pose. Simplicity is the keynote of her appeal."

CHELSEA WILL OBSERVE HARDING WEEK

O. T. Hoover Appointed Local Chairman of Association.

This week, December 12-16, has been designated as Harding Memorial week. The object is to afford every one an opportunity to give whatever he desires as a token of his appreciation and affection for the late president.

The purpose of the association, which has been formed is to erect and maintain in perpetuity a monument, chosen to place the remains of the late president. To acquire his home in Marion, Ohio, for a place where all his personal effects, books and papers, mementos and belongings, together with a roll of the names of all those who contribute to the fund for these purposes, may be preserved. To endow a Warren Gamaliel Harding chair of diplomacy and the functions of government in connection with some university.

Individual receipts will be sent from national headquarters on the receipt of the name and address of each subscriber. To every contributor of a dollar or more an engraved certificate of associate membership to the Harding Memorial Association will be sent. These certificates bear a portrait and a full signature of the late President and a view of the White House. Everyone is given an opportunity to contribute to this cause. Contributions may be left at either the Kempt Commercial and Savings Bank or the Farmers & Merchants Bank. The time is short so make your contributions this week.

EXPECT GREAT THINGS
16 MARRIES 50 NOT SO BAD
WAKE UP, HENRY FORD.
DEAD TOGETHER AND HAPPY
WHICH IS GREATER?

Under Montow, Florida was added to United States territory in 1920 by treaty with Spain. That should be gratefully remembered by ladies and gentlemen more fondly and sincerely than to be worn in mid Winter at Jacksonville, St. Augustine, Miami, Ft. Myers and a thousand other places in wonderful Florida. By the way, the season there begins earlier every year it has begun now.

W. J. Connors of Bartolo, at his own expense and risk, has built an admirable motor road from Miami to the West Coast. See Florida.

This is a growing country, and here is a proof much faster than the population. In 1900 the population was 76,000,000. It has grown to 140,000,000 in twenty-three years, about 40 percent not bad.

But consider steel. In 1900 this country produced 10,000,000 tons in a year. Now it produces 40,000,000 tons, an increase of 300 per cent.

If you sell this country "short" you'll lose. And don't listen to any talk about "a bad Presidential year." Prepare for good times, in the words of the distinguished optimist, Mr. Upstart, "expect great things."

A low sixteen married a widow lady, fifty years old who owns a hotel.

The lady puts $10,000 in trust for the young husband when he reaches twenty-one.

The boy's parents, shocked, would not allow the marriage.

Yet the widow only carried out Plato's idea. He thought middle aged women should keep very young warriors out of mischief by looking after them. There is no greater parental problem than the management of a boy fifteen to marriage.

Wake up, Henry Ford, and get to work on cheap flying machines. They are selling them in Germany, all metal, safe, doing sixty miles an hour less than a gallon of gas for sixty miles, price $1,150.

Farmers, salesmen buy the machines by thousands.

Ford could sell them for $500. America needs them. Texas especially. Where is the young Ford to do for America in the air what Ford has done on earth?

This will interest millions of husbands and their wives more than any other news of the day:

Jean Francois Penel and his wife Marie died at their home near Lille in France at exactly the same minute.

All in separate rooms, neither knew of the other's illness.

Where did these two souls that had lived so long together go as they left the earth simultaneously?

How fast did they travel and in what direction?

Did the souls recognize each other as they started off? What are they doing and saying now?

Can they talk without vocal cords, tongue, teeth and the other machinery for articulate sound? Are they united at last, never to be separated, to live through all eternity, never worried, never ill, never poor, above all, NEVER JEALOUS?

The postal deficit is cut thirty millions. And if the post office charged the people one quarter as much as a private corporation would charge, post office profits would amount to hundreds of millions. Bear that in mind when you discuss public ownership.

You know that about 70 per cent of the world's automobiles are in the U. S. A.

Did you know, also, that New York City uses more telephones than all of Great Britain and Ireland?

This is an up-to-date country - wonderful in mechanical efficiency. But it doesn't do enough thinking apart from material problems.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Koch and daughter Amanda and Mr. and Mrs. E. Rahn-miller and daughter Loretta spent Sunday in Manchester.

Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Gray, Clayton, and Mrs. C. O. Gray, spent Saturday in Chelsea.

OUR POLICIES

Let us all get together for a bigger and better Chelsea.
A sewerage system for Chelsea.
A building program that is bound to build.

SELECTIVE IMMIGRATION.

The immigration question has always been a bone of contention in this nation. Instead of considering it from a business standpoint it has invariably been dragged into politics.

What would be wrong with considering the question of immigration from the standpoint of the business needs of the country? We have our representatives in all foreign nations whose business it is to look after American interests. If manufacturing plants in New England, cotton raisers in the South, farmers in the Middle West, mine operators in the Mountain States or lumbermen on the Pacific coast need labor when there is no help available in this country, why should they not be allowed to consider vailing themselves of idle workmen in other nations?

Supposing a mine operator needs fifty employees; supposing fifty farmers need one hundred farm hands. Let them state their needs to the United States Department of Labor, which, in turn, would advise our representative in the foreign country from which the character of help desired could be most readily secured. Let our foreign representative advertise or communicate with workmen who might wish to come to this country; require these workmen to furnish a record of their past employment and associations; pick the desired number and send them to the United States with a ticket to the point of destination.

The farmer or manufacturer who receives these laboring men should sign a contract guaranteeing to employ them at a stipulated wage for not less than one year. These immigrants should be required to report to the state authorities at specified times in the section where they are employed and after a certain number of years should become American citizens or be deported to their native land.

The question of securing common labor in the factories and on the farms is becoming a real problem in this nation. Instead of dumping the scum of Europe into New York City where it is left to shift for itself, a policy of this character would restrict immigration to the needs of the nation. No man could afford to contract to employ help for a year unless he actually needed it. It would give us a better class of immigrants in that they would be picked at the source of supply instead of trying to segregate them after arrival here and deport the undesirables.

This is not a labor union question or a political question. It is a serious problem involving the future labor supply of this nation. Many of our laboring men of today will be our employers tomorrow and neither they nor their children will do the hard work which their fathers did. Where will they get the men to do this work? The farmer's son is leaving the farm because he cannot get help to do the back-breaking work which his father did and he has been educated to a point where he will not do it himself.

This subject is a pretty serious thought and it seems as if some plan like the one suggested might be worth discussion and consideration.

A VALUABLE SUGGESTION.

There is a human element in fire prevention. All the equipment and all the regulations known to have merit are useless without a willingness on the part of employees to use them.

So fire prevention gets down to question of the relation of executives to employees. Every fire presents conditions that require that methods of extinguishing it be devised at the scene. There are some fundamentals of extinguishing oil fires, however, and all attempts to extinguish a blaze should be made with these fundamentals in mind.—Oil Weekly.

This article from an oil paper is timely for all lines of industry to consider. The Underwriters Laboratories in Chicago and the National Board of Fire Underwriters in New York are doing great work to reduce the fire loss. But without the co-operation of the man who handles fire, no organization can prevent the terrific fire waste in this nation.

MAILING CHRISTMAS PRESENTS.

The postoffice department sends out the following usual announcement regarding Christmas mail:

PACK CAREFULLY.
WRAP SECURELY.
ADDRESS CLEARLY.
PREPAY FULLY.
MAIL EARLY.

These are sound suggestions. And they are not merely suggestions, they are pleas. If everybody would observe them everybody would get their presents on time. Not the day after Christmas or the day after that.

WHAT YOU MAKE.

Are you earning $35 for every $40 you received in 1920 at the peak of the boom? That's what's happening to the average American, claims the economist, Dr. David Friday. He figures that total wages and salaries in our country now are at the rate of $35,000,000,000 a year, compared with $40,000,000,000 in 1920 and $31,000,000,000 in 1921, when the poor house was in sight.

When the two New Orleans women with 18 kids each go to a movie, people think it is a picnic.

If they bring these Mongolian fossils into America the things may run for congress.

They are urging this country to admit more foreigners. We have more than enough.

Government is trying to live within its income. Wish it were without ours.

STRAIGHTEN HEADLIGHT BEAM

Trouble Caused by Reflectors Being Loose and Gradually Working Out of Line.

Beams from the headlights being out of focus is not always caused by bent lamp brackets or fenders to which the brackets are usually fastened, as is generally supposed. The trouble may lie in the reflectors being loose from their fastenings and gradually working out of line, or it may be due to the lamp bulbs themselves. If the filament is not centered in a bulb, it will throw a beam to the side or up or down, according to the way it is bent. The only remedy for this trouble is to replace the bulb.

General Beauty and Care—Scientific shoemaking is a comparatively modern invention. Today most parents of growing children take into account idiosyncrasies in the structure of the foot and ankle, and shoes are provided in accordance. Read, Remember, Do. This newspaper will publish "Helpful Hints" in the form of a regular column. If you want to see the column and have it in your recipe book.

Powder Puffs. A soiled powder puff does not need to be thrown away, a many believe. Instead, just use a little soap with the lukewarm water and after rinsing thoroughly hang up to dry. The puff will be good as new and may be used for a long while.

Custard Pie. If one wishes to have custard pie a nice even brown, sprinkle a little sugar over the top before putting in the oven.

Beating Rugs.—A rug may be beaten twice as easily and thoroughly if placed on a pair of old springs face down. Then turn over and sweep.

Shoes.—When putting shoes away for next summer, stuff them full of tissue paper or cotton batting.

Oil Stoves. If an oil stove smells, drop a small piece of gum camphor into the tank.

Beads. If you have some large heavy beads that must be strung, try violin strings, they stand a lot of strain.

Repairing Wall Paper. When next you want to repair wall paper instead of cutting a square piece just to fit the place, tear an irregular piece and put it on the wall, being careful to match all lines and figures. The irregularity of the line forms a camouflage which the eye can scarcely detect.

Coffee Stains. Coffee stains are not easily removed unless done so at once. Boiling water will remove them if the coffee has not had time to become thoroughly absorbed. But if it is an old stain, use equal parts of yolk of egg and glycerine. This applied to the spot is almost the only method of removing them.

Oil Cloth. Oil cloth may be kept from breaking at the corners over a table if you paste heavy muslin or pieces of adhesive cloth on the wrong side where the corners of the table come.

Eyebrows.—Petroleum jelly is good for making the eyebrows grow. When applied let the fingers follow the line of the growth of hair.

CHAPTER II.—Simon, a welcome to the minister and his wife, the young man with a beard, wearing a long coat, a black stock and a black bow tie.

CHAPTER III.—An answer of the old man to the minister's welcome. The minister, a young man with a beard, wearing a long coat, a black stock and a black bow tie.

CHAPTER IV.—At the village store and postoffice Louis Belden a newcomer, knew the new person, with his new name, Jack, a young man, black hair, a black stock and a black bow tie.

CHAPTER V.—The person goes on the river with Jack and others. Jack discovers the person carries a revolver. The person, a young man, black hair, a black stock and a black bow tie.

CHAPTER VI.—All the villagers gathered at a festival in the schoolhouse. A stranger, a young man, black hair, a black stock and a black bow tie.

CHAPTER VII.—Jack, working in a field, sees the desperado of the festival watching him from behind a log. He tells the man to the cabin where Belden and his sister live.

CHAPTER VIII.—Jack tells Pap Simon, who has been good to him, that he is going to California to find gold to buy back the old homestead. He tells the man to the cabin where Belden and his sister live.

"How's the cattle?"

The question was so at variance with the thoughts in the woodman's mind that he was slow in answering.

"Fine, sir."

"About ready to market?"

"Most any day, now. Three drovers have been to see 'em already."

"Sell 'em as soon as you please. What'll they bring?"

"If the market holds, they ought to top five thousand."

"Five thousand—that's a heap of money."

The boy fingered the drummed hard upon the chair arm. The old man nodded in his seat in a way that seemed to indicate that the interview was over.

The girl rose.

"Father, I've got up in the woods to see the sun set—Jack and me."

A statement that was half question. The old man did not look up. They were at the door of the dining room, the woodman standing aside to let the girl pass, when the banker turned in his chair.

"Jack."

The girl stopped; the man turned back.

"Texte tells me you're havin' us as soon as you're twenty-one."

"I'm a little to, sir."

"And that'll be—?"

"The twentieth—seven more days."

"Seven days—?" The old man frowned; raised his hand over his eyes, rubbed them, and muttered, "Well, seven days is seven days," he muttered.

"But ain't because I've been hard on you, is it?"

"No, sir, it ain't that. You've been good to me that it makes it hard to go, but I got to do something for myself now."

The old man bent his brows thoughtfully; nodded toward his daughter in the door of the dining room.

"She says you're eatin' in line wagon train to California."

"Yes, sir, that's what I'm a little to, if you're still a little to give me a straighten when you're out."

"I'm a little to, sir."

"I'm a little to, sir."

"I'm a little to, sir."

"I'm a little to, sir."

The other did not answer, but sat listening to the clank of the dishes. He finally turned his head and, with his fingers up to his hair and motioned his aged friend to sit beside him.

"Seen Big Jack lately?"

"Seen him this evening late come down off Black Rock," he said, up to his hand toward the high battlement of stone that frowned down upon them from across the mouth of the hollow.

"Him an' Toke?" They crossed the branch at the bridge then, passed the carved wood on down through town to the post office I took."

The fisherman put his hat back on.

LEGION WINS FIRST GAME 12 TO 24

Team Given Fine Support At Napoleon

The American Legion basketball team took the first game of the season Friday night from Napoleon Independent, with a score of 24 to 12. The game was a hotly contested one in the first half the score stood 9 to 8 in favor of the American Legion.

Madden was the chief scorer for the Legion with 10, Riedel running a close second. Madden registered five field goals and three free throws, while Riedel scored three field goals and one foul.

Madden played a brilliant game at forward, Kaercher playing the other forward during the first half could not seem to get his eye on the basket as he did last season. R. Riedel was in place of Kaercher and added a lot of pep to the game. The diminutive forward scored three long shots that were spectacular.

Schoenhals playing center played a fine game. He was laid out for a few minutes in the third quarter but kept in the game. The two Eds' playing guards did not get into their usual form until the last half when they showed up. The floor was too small for the team to use the best team work but the superior passing ability of the men proved to be the cause for victory.

H. Alger of the Napoleon team playing guard was a star. He cugged baskets from passed the center of the floor that made him dangerous. T. Gornley, center was a star for Napoleon, being especially good on the floor work. Dodge was put out of the game in the fourth quarter when four personal fouls were called on him.

A fine delegation of fans followed the team to Napoleon and gave them the kind of support that helps to spell success. The entire squad of 11 men were taken along but only one substitution was made because of the existing conditions.

FRANK IS CHEERFUL IN SPITE OF TUBERCULOSIS

CHRISTMAS SEALS SPELL RELIEF FROM UNNECESSARY SUFFERING SO FRANK SMILES

Rest and heliotherapy (sun cure) constitute the treatment that the doctors at the State Tuberculosis Sanatorium at Howell have prescribed for Frank.

A typical eight year old American at, who, in spite of his misfortune, may always be found with beam, big eyes and round cheeks spread in a good natured grin.

A few years ago Frank went out to play on the ice. For a time he felt the thrills of healthful activity, then he slipped and fell. Now he has tuberculosis of the hip with a discharging sinus in the groin.

Frank still loves to run and play, but the best he can do is to imagine himself in some other boy's shoes as he watches his more fortunate playmates romp in the open air. On one of his legs is a brace, under the opposite foot is an inch and a half leather shoe sole. He uses crutches. The crutches, the brace and the thick shoe sole keep Frank from playing.

The Christmas Seal Speaks.

But the lad is cheerful for thousands of Michigan residents have in years past bought the Christmas seals that have helped to make possible the care he has had. Perhaps some day Frank will get well. Then he too will buy seals in order to help other victims of tuberculosis.

Christmas seals are now on sale in every community in the state. Buy Christmas seals and help fight tuberculosis.

In the Realm of Society

What Santa knows.
I hear that Santa only comes to children who are good.
Who have their hearts well at school, and do just as they should,
I put a mouse in Santa's desk, and then he went and cried.
I guess I haven't been real good, but Santa'll know I tried.

I took some cookies, mother, baked,
and ate, well, nine or ten.
I don't think, though, that I would do a thing like that again.
Although I cut a piece of pie, and chocolate cake beside.
I guess I haven't been real good, but Santa'll know I tried.

I spilled some ink upon the rag, and broke a pretty vase.
They tell too, I never put my things back in their place.
And always when I'm in the house the rat will go and hide.
I guess I haven't been real good, but Santa'll know I tried.

But yet I'll hang my stocking up, and maybe it will be.
That when old Santa comes to call he'll have some things for me.
And if I only get a few, why I'll be satisfied.
I guess I haven't been real good, but Santa'll know I tried.

Bridge Party.
Lovely in every way was the party given in the Macabee hall last evening by Mrs. Frank Staffan, Mrs. Sidney Schenk, Miss Margaret Israel and Miss Jessie Clark. Ten tables of bridge were in play after the guests found their partners in a most unique way.

Before cards were started all gathered round a Christmas tree and were given presents, the men receiving cigars and the ladies stockings of candy.

The hall was artistically decorated with Christmas colors. Small Christmas trees about the room and miniature trees at each table made the hall attractive. Large red candles and flowers added to the decorations.

The score cards were tastefully framed with sprigs of mistletoe. And the score pads at each table were decorated with Christmas colors and the penicils were fixed with a Santa Claus.

High honors were won by Mrs. John Fletcher and Miss Margaret Miller and by Howard Holmes and L. G.
Palmer. H. Freeman and K. Walworth.

Delicious refreshments were served following the cards, by the four hostesses.
