COUNCIL MAY ABOLISH E. L. & W. W. COMMISSION

Action Taken by Councilmanic Body Monday Evening Indicates Desire to Discontinue.

Action looking toward abolishment of the Electric Light and Water Works Commission was taken at the meeting of council on Monday evening when motion was made and carried that the commission be discontinued and affairs of that body placed under the direct supervision of President and council.

That the procedure taken on Monday evening will meet with some opposition was indicated later in the week when it was stated on authority of the village attorney that, since the commission was created by ordinance abolishment of the commission would necessarily mean repeal of the ordinance creating the body. This being the case, it was stated, action of council on Monday comes too late.

Institution of the commission plan of control of the local electric light and water works system took place some ten years ago when, it was said, council passed an ordinance creating the commission, one member being appointed by the village president each year.

INDEPENDENT CAUCUS NOMINATES TICKET

Peoples' Party Makes Public Names of Nominees Who Will Form Ticket for March Election.

Two tickets will be placed in the field for the municipal election to be held March 10. It was assured today when Peoples' party leaders gave out names of candidates placed on their ticket for approval.

Candidates for the Independent party were nominated at a caucus called for Tuesday evening at the town hall. The Peoples' party also called a caucus for Tuesday evening but no candidates were nominated at that time.

Interest in the caucuses was somewhat "chilled" by a raging snow storm which made traveling extremely difficult and no doubt was responsible for the small attendance, less than thirty voters being present.

This Independent ticket as nominated on Tuesday evening is:

President—Warren K. Daniels.
Clerk—P. C. Maroney.
Treasurer—Otto Hinderer.
Assessor—John B. Cole.
Trustees—Geo. Seitz, Oscar Schindler and A. G. Hindsberg.
Committeemen—L. P. Vogel, C. Lehman, and L. T. Freeman.

Attorney John Kalmbach acted as chairman of the meeting.

The Peoples' ticket is as follows:
President—Howard E. Canfield.
Clerk—Geo. W. Walworth.
Treasurer—Otto Hinderer.
Assessor—Jacob Lehman.
Trustees—Jacob Hummel, Elsworth Hoppe, L. B. Lawrence.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS CELEBRATE ANNIVERSARY

Orchestra, Vocal Music and Addresses Feature Sixtieth Anniversary Banquet at Macabee Hall Monday Evening.

Emphasizing the fact that it takes more than moral persuasion and excuses to drag this country into a controversy which may mean the sacrifice of men and money for no particular benefit, Mr. Fred M. Freeman, Jackson attorney, reviewed the United States' attitude toward every conflict in which she has been engaged during the past century, in a stirring address delivered at a banquet of Knights of Pythias and their ladies at the Macabee hall on Monday evening. The event was a celebration of the sixtieth anniversary of the order.

Mr. Freeman, a brother of Chauncey and L. T. Freeman of this place, prefaced his remarks with reminiscences which carried his hearers back to the "good old days" before the day of the modern conveniences and incidentally brought out the fact that sixty years ago, at the time of the organization of the order of the Knights of Pythias, this country was engaged in civil combat in which fathers of many of those present on Monday night were participating.

It takes an event like the firing on Fort Sumpter, which signaled the start of the Civil war, or the sinking of the Maine, which precipitated the Spanish-American war, or the sinking of the Lusitania, which caused immediate participation in the world war, to give vent to the rising patriotic fires of the citizens of this country, Mr. Freeman said in the course of his address. These, and the vigor and zeal with which the American people enter into conflicts for the right, Mr. Freeman stated, convince him that Lincoln was right in his statement that "This nation shall not perish from the earth."

Following the banquet which was served by ladies of the Congregational church, Geo. W. Beckwith presided as toastmaster of the evening and in remarks appropriate to the occasion reviewed events which have taken place during the life of the Knights of Pythias order. Sixty years of growth during which friendship, charity and benevolence, watchwords of the order, have played an important part in building up so great an organization.

Introduction of O. C. Burkhart precipitated a roar of laughter when he related an anecdote involving Mr. Beckwith, et al. Mr. Beckwith finished the story by shifting the blame to Mr. Burkhart, to the continued amusement of those present.

The following program was carried out, after which dancing to the music furnished by Boos' orchestra of Jackson, finished the evening's entertainment.

Invocation—Ellsworth Hoppe.
Vocal Solo—A. B. McClure.
Address—Anniversaries and Our Duties as Suggested by Them.
Vocal Solo—Mrs. Milton Baxter.
Music—Boos Orchestra.
Vocal Solo—Geo. W. Atkinson.
Benediction—Ellsworth Hoppe.

MEN TO FOLLOW

Last Tuesday we observed the birthday of Honest Abe Lincoln. Perhaps we didn't do anything spectacular, and perhaps we worked just as hard or a little harder than usual. But underneath we remembered him, and thought kindly of his character and good deeds.

On February 22, we shall observe with just a bit more pomp, the day George Washington was born. Washington doesn't deserve more ceremony; he wasn't nearly the man that Lincoln was. But we have a weakness for remembering first things, and our first president gets more attention than the seventeenth.

Yet both were interesting, and in different ways—great men. Washington was an aristocrat, rich, pompous, selfish, autocratic, and ruled by his dominant personality. We don't think of him in any noble sense, except for his proverbial, though doubtless fabulous, veracity about the cherry tree. We honor him for uniting together the frontier colonies into a mighty federation.

Lincoln was his exact opposite. He was lowly, poor, simple, altruistic, a persuader rather than a compeller, and he governed by a personality which inspired more love than awe. He, too, had his faults; but they don't matter now. He was great for no other reason than that it is difficult to become powerful without losing goodness. They've found that out in Washington recently.

It is good that we have both birthdays in the same month. We can compare the men better, and feel doubly inspired to emulate their nobility. We can discount the attractions of Washington's wealth and better endure our lack since Lincoln came along. Also, we can thank our stars we don't have the trials both had.

America is rich in men like these. American youth has more inspiration and opportunity than is found anywhere else.

Every day somebody rises higher than his fellows simply because he has worked harder, known more, and lived better. Coolidge became Police Commissioner of Boston because he knew that police should do and how. He became governor because he had cultivated strength of will and indomitable courage sufficient to end the police strike. Becoming a president by sheer accident, he is making good because he planned long ago, even as Lincoln, to be prepared so that if the chance should come he would be ready.

This is simple language, but such great truths are best expressed that way. The process of attainment is likewise simple, and is founded on a few rules such as preparation, goodness of heart, courage and perseverance. It isn't very hard, and we have plenty of models like these to guide us.

MEDICINE AND SENSE

Thomas B. McNulty, of Michigan, is seventy-six, but never needed a doctor until he broke his leg last week. That isn't a bad record, by any means. He either inherited a fine body or took especially good care of it, probably both. Yet we know the doctor can be kept away by other means than by eating an apple a day, no matter how we feel at seventeen. Look at Roosevelt. Using common sense in living, especially eating and taking proper medicine when, and only when, it is necessary, will work wonders with anybody.

Thomas A. Edison had his seventy-seventh birthday last Tuesday. He worked only fifteen hours or so to celebrate. When we are seventy-seven we may work five hours, or fifty not more. The difference lies partly in our inherited physique and tendencies, but largely in how we've guarded them.

Not a man or woman but knows the simple, unescapable rules of health. How many follow them? Every child in school is taught to keep his body clean, inside and out; to take care of his teeth now if he wants them at sixty; to avoid certain foods, eat slowly, and take plenty of exercise. Yet apparently we'd rather be only half alive for four score and ten years, at most, than spend ten minutes more daily and feel fine for possibly ninety or a hundred years. It can be done.

We don't need doctors' advice so much as strength of will to follow it and our own knowledge. Yet doctors can tell on a lot and save many a physical shipwreck. But they must be consulted in time, and their advice followed to the letter, else it is futile. Since the more a doctor for advice or medicine the more likely he is to obey the prescription, just as the more one puts in the church collection the more blessing he gets—a doctor would be justified in charging a thousand dollars for saving a libertine or glutton or lazy loafer from his own sins. The Chelsea pays their doctors while they're well. They are seldom sick. That's largely because, we understand, Chinese doctors keep after their patients and see that they live like humans, not animals or machines. We shouldn't need driving.

Getting old is a natural and inevitable process. Yet age need hold no terror for one who has lived right, morally, mentally, and physically. Its blessing need not be spelt by infirmities like rheumatism, impotency, or sourness. Common sense has wrought too many miracles to be doubted here.

A LAMP GONE OUT

The self-destruction of Miss Margaret Harding, banker's daughter, aroused universal regret. The mystery as to her reason but increased our sympathy. Beautiful, talented, winsome, popular—the papers called her. But twenty-three years old she was, and without financial or home worries. Some say she ruined her health by leading a fast life in Washington society. Some say a sweet heart disappointed her. Some insist she inherited the tendency from her mother, who also was a suicide.

But the tragedy of a maiden passing out like this brings serious thoughts. Broken men and tired women go every day, and sometimes a spoiled child. But youth is usually so glad, so eager, vivacious and hopeful. The world is bright and real troubles are seldom known. Death is rarely reckoned with; when he is deliberately sought, something is awfully wrong. We only know it must have been something far more terrifying than we have experienced ourselves. We think of a beautiful lamp suddenly extinguished, or a flower ruthlessly plucked, or a rushing stream, which a moment before was singing and leaping, stopped in the midst of its play.

It is on occasions like this that the wise men and women pause and ponder over deep things—over questions of life. And usually, the answer lies just beyond our ken.

MONEY WELL SPENT

Last year Miami, Florida, spent $145,000 to advertise to draw northern visitors and capital. Residents paid it as a publicity tax just as we pay school tax. Both taxpayers and the Chamber of Commerce which disburse it are satisfied. The money comes back and more during the short social season, and Miami, a few years ago socially, industrially, and agriculturally unknown, can now compete with any town.

Advertising experts say they can take any article or business which has any appeal at all, and by regular, systematic publicity make it a leader at a very small fraction of its annual gross sales. To create and maintain a national market, careful advertising is necessary. Campaigns must be mapped out to the last detail and a schedule religiously followed. The main item guarded is regularity. A summer requires more than one swallow; public demands cannot be evoked and maintained by timid, fitful advertising. That is true in national and local publicity. In the latter, however, the chief regard is regularity. Beautiful illustrations and other details to catch the eye are not needed, since small town papers are always more thoroughly read.

Mr. Wrigley thinks the millions he spends annually to make folks buy his chewing gum is a good investment. Motor car and radio outfit factories are running full blast to keep up to the demand their advertising created. They are satisfied. Miami is glad she imitated good business examples elsewhere because it is obviously money well spent.

Over twelve billion matches are used every day, says a trade report. When one doesn't strike, you have plenty left to try. Also, if a friend hasn't one, there's a chance that his neighbor has. Such a supply is encouraging.

The Mourning Band.

The custom of wearing a black band on the coat sleeve in token of mourning came from England. It was introduced there for liveried servants whom it was not thought necessary to fit out in black uniforms.

Do you enjoy your pain?

Are you married to your disease?

Would you be lonesome without your suffering?

BUT FAIR WARNING

If you come to me you are sure going to get well for I have the most marvelous health method known to mankind. I know what it will do. So do tens of thousands of people who have regained their health by this method when all others had failed.

If you think it is a "fake," "bunk" or another way to separate you from a few of your musty old dollars, stay away and "enjoy" your pains. They are yours.

No, I am not soliciting your case. But I do hate to see so many needlessly sick people. I am just telling you that chiropractic can get you well if you want to be well.

"I don't believe it." "It's not so."

ALRIGHT

They told Edison he'd burn up New York with his new fangled electric lights.

They told Columbus he was bughouse, and proved it (to their own satisfaction.)

They said Orville and Wilbur Wright were crazy—the very idea that men could fly!

According to the "wise" ones, Ford would never sell a thousand cars a year. Now look at him. He sells more than that in one day.

Go on—they are your pains and aches and miseries. You've had and nursed 'em for years. So get well or hug your disease closer and stay sick—you're the judge.

Chiropractic is good for any kind of disease or affliction you have. Don't believe it?

Alright then, Columbus was crazy.

NEWS REVIEW OF CURRENT EVENTS

Oil Lease Scandals Growing Worse—McAdoo Puts Candidacy to Test.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

Worse and more of it summarizes the developments in the oil lease scandal last week. The attack is spreading daily and where it will stop no one can foretell. On Monday the Democratic senators, aided by the Republicans and the two Farmer-Labor members, put through the Senate the Robinson resolution asking President Coolidge to demand the resignation of Secretary of the Navy Denby. The vote was 47 to 34. Bruce being the only Democrat to vote in the negative. Mr. Coolidge promptly issued a formal statement announcing that the resolution was an invasion of executive functions and that he would ignore it. Fully maintaining his dignity and his self respect and respect of his high office, he said:

"I do not propose to sacrifice any innocent man for my own welfare nor do I propose to retain in office any man for my own welfare. I shall try to maintain the functions of the government unimpaired, to act upon the evidence and the law as I find it and to deal thoroughly and summarily with every kind of wrongdoing. In the meantime such steps have been and are being taken as fully to protect the public interest."

Tuesday night, in a Lincoln day address before the National Republican club in New York, the President again declared his determination not to be stampeded by the senate, and promised "immediate, adequate and unshrinking prosecution to punish all persons guilty of fraud or corruption in the leasing of government oil lands." He added: "In this effort there will be no politics, no partisanship. I am a Republican, but I cannot on that account shield anyone because he is a Republican. I am a Republican, but I cannot on that account prosecute anyone because he is a Democrat."

ON HIS own motion, William G. McAdoo went before the senate committee and explained at length his employment as a lawyer by Edward Doheny, for which he received $100,000. He maintained that his connection with the oil magnate had been entirely proper and innocent, but said he himself had recently terminated it. He declared he considered Doheny "guilty of a serious thing," but not guilty as he considered him. It was the general opinion that Mr. McAdoo had failed by his testimony to re-establish himself as the leading candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination. Seemingly he realized this, for later in the week he asked that his state managers and other leading supporters should meet in Chicago on February 18 to determine whether he should continue as a candidate. A really clever move, that, which might accomplish that which his appearance before the senators failed to do.

Witnesses before the senate committee included M. A. Tynan and E. O. Brown, Chicago bankers, who explained the purchase of the Alton bank by J. P. Morgan, after which it discontinued its attacks on Felix George Croel and J. Leo Stack, who told more about Doheny's attempts to obtain release of the Teapot Dome reserve from Secretary of the Navy Daniels. John C. Shaffer, newspaper publisher, who said he told him in March, 1921, the month he entered the cabinet, that he was going to leave Teapot Dome to Harry Sinclair; and near the week-end, Frank A. Vanderlip, who was summoned to explain charges and innuendoes made by him in an extraordinary speech Wednesday at Ossining, N. Y. The New York flimflamer astonished the country by intimating, in that address, that there were irregularities in the sale of the Teapot Dome reserve.

Investigating committee, asserting that it quit questioning Earl because the latter was ready to peach and to involve men higher up than any yet named. He also commented on the "ministerialism" of Attorney General Daugherty, and on alleged reckless expenditures by the veterans' bureau and the shipping board. To interviewers Mr. Vanderlip admitted that of his own knowledge he knew nothing of the truth or falsehood of these stories. The one concerning Mr. Harding and the Marjorie paper was indignantly refuted by the men who bought the Star and by many friends of the late President.

Senator Wheeler of Montana introduced a resolution providing for a sweeping investigation of the conduct of Attorney General Daugherty and of all branches of the Department of Justice. Introduced Dill of Washington introduced resolutions, which were unanimously adopted, calling upon the State department to supply all diplomatic correspondence relating to the Colombian treaty, in the ratification of which oil interests and Albert B. Fall played a large part, and all diplomatic correspondence relating to the securing of oil concessions for American corporations in any foreign countries.

There were many rumors about a mysterious slush fund of $1,000,000 which, according to the stories that reached the committee, was raised in Wall street and sent to Washington to reimburse certain statesmen and members of the Harding administration who had lost money gambling in oil stocks. A subpoena was issued for E. B. McLean, the publisher, whom the committee desired to question on this and other matters.

President Coolidge withdrew the name of Silas Strawn as special oil prosecutor, objection to whose appointment was based on the fact that he is a director in Chicago banks said to be connected with the Standard Oil Company of Indiana. Atlee Pomeroy also was objected to, but the President declined to withdraw his nomination.

America is not the only country smothered with oil. Harry Sinclair has obtained a big contract from the Persian government, and there are charges of a bribe of $100,000. He also has valuable concessions in Italy, and some of the Rome papers demand full publicity for this deal.

THAT there is nation-wide profiteering in bread and that bread trust is to be created unless congress takes action is asserted by Basil M. Munty, director of the People's Legislative service of which Senator La Follette is chairman. An investigation had been asked by certain "progressive" senators and representatives, and the resulting report says the American people are paying $1,000,000 a day too much for their bread; that the average retail price is 9 cents a pound, whereas at the prevailing price of wheat it should be 8 cents a pound. Alleged "retailer" rings, supported by the wholesale bakers, either voluntarily or under threat of boycott, are declared to have suspended the law of supply and demand, resulting in artificial bread prices in many cities. An example of the effect of this condition, the investigation is said to have shown that "bread costs 2 cents a pound less in New Orleans and Houston, Tex., far away from the wheat and flour milling states, than in Chicago, Omaha, Butte and St. Paul, all in the heart of the wheat belt."

CONFRONTED by the rifles and machine guns of several regiments of the state troops, Williamson of Illinois, has quieted down. By order of the officer in command, the Ku Klux Klan, which had been raiding the city, was ordered to disband.

Ann Arbor, Mich.

NATIONALISTS of the Bavarian Palatinate cornered a lot of Separatists Wednesday night, in Pirma and Kaiserlautern and massacred them in most brutal fashion. While the French remained neutral during the fighting, the German police were placed under orders of the occupational authorities and it was announced that those who participated in the attacks would be court-martialed. The Separatists are aroused to fury and it is feared they will stage an uprising. In several German cities there were serious Communist outbreaks.

HOWARD CARTER and his brother, who were the first to discover the tomb of Tut-Ankh-Amen, have revealed the most magnificent mummy case ever found in Egypt. The edify of the Pharaoh, more than twice life size, was covered with thick sheets of solid gold; the curled beard was of gold, and the sacred uraeus on the head-dress was of lapis lazuli. It was announced that the opening of this mummy case would be postponed for a time, and then came the sensational news that the foreign archeologists had "gone on strike" and refused to proceed with the exploration. This was due to the interference of the Egyptian ministry of public works which culminated in an order forbidding an inspection of the tomb by the archeologists and the tomb by the archeologists.

LABOR CABINET FACES CRISIS

WALKOUT OF DOCK HANDS SHUTS OFF ALL FOREIGN TRADE—FOOD STOCK LOW.

PEACE CONFERENCE FAILS

Workers Reject Compromise Wage Boost, Precipitating National Struggle.

London—Nearly 200,000 men engaged in handling British foreign trade here struck and tied up every port in Great Britain. This labor blockade of the entire country may possibly result in disaster to the socialist government. Foodstuffs worth $5,000,000 are unloaded daily from ships. Should the strike continue, in two weeks a shortage of food will compel the government to use non-union labor to get at the stores in the stranded shipping or see that the British people get rations.

Of the men who walked out 80 per cent were dock workers and the others stevedores, warehouse men, granary workers and smaller groups in kindred employment. Many thousands of others will be forced into idleness because there is no work for them.

Both the dock workers and the employers have held separate meetings, met with the minister of labor, but no agreement has been reached.

The dock workers are demanding two shillings a day more pay and the guarantee of a full week's work. The employers offered an increase of one shilling and the appointment of a joint committee to consider the problem of casual labor. This was refused.

A survey of the imported foodstuffs on hand shows that there is only two weeks' supply of chilled meat as compared with a normal surplus of four weeks. An official of one of the leading cold storage companies asserted that it would soon be necessary to ration meat unless the ships could be unloaded.

Stocks of wheat and flour also are low, especially in Liverpool, the buyers having held back owing to the rise in prices. Most of the smaller mills will close down within a week.

LAND GRANT PROBE IS ASKED

Northern Pacific's Right To Acquire Acreage Questioned.

Washington—Congress has been asked by Secretaries Work and Wallace to investigate the right of the Northern Pacific Railway company to acquire approximately 3,000,000 acres of government land in Idaho, Montana and Washington under the terms of old land grants.

The cabinet officers desire the inquiry for the purpose of considering legislation to meet the respective rights of the railway company and the government. Their request was addressed to the chairman of the senate and house public lands committees.

The land in question is mainly located within national forest areas, its claims under the provisions of grants made by Congresses July 2, 1864, and May 31, 1870, known as the Northern Pacific land grants, for the purpose of adding the railway company in the construction of its lines from Wisconsin to the Pacific coast.

Secretary Wallace, under whose direction all national forests are administered, contends that congress has authority to save most, if not all, of this national forest acreage to the government.

Ypsilanti—At a meeting of the Ypsilanti township board, held Monday evening, the plat of the County club subdivision was accepted and approved, making the fifteenth subdivision taken into the township. Three of these subdivisions are seeking to be annexed to the city and this proposition will be on the ballot at the spring election. If they be annexed to the city Ypsilanti will take a big jump in territory and in population, but will also assume a big expense of putting in the improvements necessary to take care of the increase. Record.

ONLY a few generations ago the barber with his limited knowledge and skill was the community surgeon. Today surgery is a very highly specialized and respected profession.

As in the medical profession so in another calling, one we do not often think about or appreciate, the progress is similarly striking. The service of the modern funeral director is founded on a large fund of new scientific knowledge. It is backed up with facilities that provide for every possible requirement and take the place when desired of hospital, church and home.

It is a service that knows no eight hour day or any social or financial distinction, that places no limitations on what you may wish, that serves you this very day, through its complete preparedness.

SNOW STORM MAKES ROADS IMPASSABLE

Approximately six inches of snow fell in Chelsea and vicinity on Tuesday night when the worst blizzard and snow fall of the winter visited this section. Traffic, although interrupted on railroads and some main highways, was practically stopped on country roads where drifts made it impossible for auto carriers on three of the local routes were unable to make their usual delivery on Wednesday. Substitute Ed. Riemenschneider on Route 4 making the trip with horse power. Several trucks were stalled on M-17 Wednesday despite the fact that the county authorities kept the sweepers going all day in an effort to keep the road clean. A sharp wind blew trucks shut almost as fast as they were cleaned out.

A Leader's Example

George Washington, in the trying days of the Revolution, won his way into the hearts of people by remarkable leadership qualities. Not only did he lead them successfully in war but in the days of reconstruction following the war, his policies of practicing national economy and thrift helped the colonies to weather the storm and make a stand as a nation.

While we are not all born leaders or can even aspire to be leaders, we can learn a mighty good lesson from the life of Washington. By saving our money or investing it wisely we too can weather many a storm of depression in our lives and become recognized as worthy citizens of the community.

NOTED LEADER WILL SPEAK

AT RELIGIOUS MEETING

The Washtenaw County Sunday

School Council of Religious Education have been very fortunate in securing a visit of Dr. W. C. Pearce,

Associate Secretary of the World's

Sunday School Association, in Ann Arbor for April 8th. Further notice of his engagements for the day will appear in this paper as soon as definitely planned.

No leader is better known in the organized Sunday school work than

Dr. W. C. Pearce of New York City.

For eighteen years, he was a leader in the International Sunday School

Association and was Acting General

Secretary at the time that he was called to become Associate General

Secretary of the World's Sunday School Association.

Mr. Pearce is a platform speaker of unusual ability. He has spoken repeatedly at State and Provincial

Sunday school conventions in the United States and Canada, as well as at International and World's conventions. Rotary Clubs, Chambers of Commerce and Men's Clubs are constantly seeking him as a most practical speaker.

He was the leader of the great organized Adult Bible Class movement which added three and one-quarter millions to the membership of the Sunday schools. He toured America for the Men and Religion Movement, and has written or edited numerous technical Sunday school books.

He was the first Teacher Training superintendent of the International Association, under whose supervision great advance in the work was made.

He made possible and developed the International Training Schools at Lake Geneva, Wisconsin and Lake

Winnepesaukee, New Hampshire.

Dr. Pearce has recently visited thirty mission fields of the Orient and many of the Latin American fields in the interest of Sunday schools. But few men possess his intimate knowledge of the mission fields of the world.
