Remember Mother

HER FACE BEAM WITH JOY AT YOUR THOUGHTFULNESS. MAKE HER GREAT, BIG LOVING HEART THROB WITH HAPPINESS—ON THIS DAY SET ASIDE FOR HER REVERENCE—SUNDAY, MAY 11.

Mother don't ask for much in this world—and too often get less. The older we get the more we realize this and how much we truly owe them. Mother nature is to get joy from giving—from self-sacrifice. They don't look for anything in return.

But oh, how happy it does make them to learn that they are thought of once in a while—to receive some token of love and affection from those to whom they have given their all.

The purity, the wholesomeness, the beauty of flowers is nearest thing akin to mother love on this earth. They are the ideal remembrance for Mother's Day.

I. O. O. F. CELEBRATE 105TH ANNIVERSARY SUNDAY

Chelsea Lodge Attends Service at Methodist Church and Hear Special Service for Order.

Sunday was the 105th anniversary of the founding of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows in the United States. Five men met in Baltimore and instituted the first lodge. Since that time it has grown until today the membership is over two millions and the permanent headquarters of the Sovereign Grand Lodge of the United States is at Baltimore, while in every state in the Union there are Grand Lodge headquarters and numerous subordinate lodges.

The headquarters of the Michigan Grand Lodge is located at Lansing. The members of the order in this state maintain a fine home in Jackson consisting of several buildings and a large farm. It is also connected with the home which supplies a large amount of various products that are used at the home.

In the main building of the home are the general offices, superintendent, matron, and nurses' headquarters and the dormitories of the men. The other buildings are occupied by the dependent orphans and widows of deceased members of the order.

Sunday morning the members of Chelsea Lodge and Rebekah Lodge met at their lodge room, about 80 being present, and marched to the Chelsea M. E. church, where Rev. C. S. Riley, who is a member of the order, delivered a very able address, which was interesting and appropriate for the occasion. The music by the church choir was also excellent.

MOTHERS AND DAUGHTERS BANQUET TUESDAY NIGHT

W. R. C. Entertains One Hundred Guests at Profitably Appointed Fair at Macabees Hall.

R. P. Carpenter Post, No. 210, W. R. C., gave a mothers and daughters banquet at the Macabees hall Tuesday evening, April 29. About 100 mothers and daughters were served a bounteous banquet.

Mrs. George Runciman, chairman of the executive committee and with her efficient help, made the banquet a decided success. The tables were beautifully decorated with red geraniums and white and blue hyscynth, and silk flags were used as favors. A fine program was given as follows: with Mrs. J. N. Dancer acting as toastmistress in a very pleasing manner.

The first number on the program was a very interesting talk on the organization of the Corps and told about the Nancy Hanks school in Tennessee in which the large corps is much interested; piano solo, Nina Belle Wurster; toast, "Mothers Day," Mrs. R. B. Waltrous; vocal solo, Mrs. S. P. Foster; vocal solo, Mrs. Dorothy Fletcher, accompanied by Nina Belle Wurster; recitation, Virginia VanRiper; recitation, Fay Bagge; reading, Mrs. Josie Johnson; vocal solo, Mrs. Edith Contant, accompanied by Miss Georgia Smith; toast, Mrs. Minnie Mapes; recitation, Mrs. Iva Gates; pianologue, Miss Dorothy Gritzer; reading, Mrs. N. W. Laird; vocal solo, Mrs. Mary Burg; closing, Miss Elizabeth Denewé; America, sung by the mothers and daughters.

This was one of the first banquets of the kind ever held in Chelsea.

BUILDINGS AT FRANCISCO THREATENED BY FIRE

Shortly before noon Saturday fire was discovered in some baled hay stored in the south end of the sheds on the south side of George Scherer's general merchandise store at Francisco. The wind was blowing a gale from the east, and only the early discovery of the fire, the use of all the fire extinguishers in town and the bucket brigade, saved the store building from destruction. The roof of the store caught fire, but a chemical extinguisher checked the flames.

Before help arrived fire caught in Truman Lehman's automobile standing near the burning hay, badly damaging it before it was backed out of the shed.

Mr. Lehman carried insurance on the automobile in Washtenaw county, but had recently moved to Jackson county and had not had the insurance changed.

The chemical machine from the Grace Lake fire department was called but the flames had been subdued and only the hay was burning, and as the fire was under control the chemicals were not applied.

It is understood Mr. Scherer carried insurance on the building, but it is not known whether the hay, owned by Clayton McGee, south of Francisco, was covered by insurance or not. It is not known how the fire was started.

PROF. HOVER, YPSILANTI, ADDRESSES KIWANIS

Professor of Agricultural Extension Department Discusses Problems Confronting Farmers in Present Price Slump.

Prof. Hover of the Agricultural Extension Department of the State Normal College, at Ypsilanti, delivered a highly instructive and entertaining address at the Monday meeting of the Chelsea Kiwanis club. Prof. Hover ably discussed the cause and effect of the depression in agricultural districts, expressing his belief that the depression and slump in prices would have come in spite of the war and gave as his reason for so thinking the fact that the automobile, while bringing untold advantages to residents of rural communities, had undermined some of the leading markets for products so generally raised by farmers. Mr. Hover stated in the course of his address that before the advent of the automobile in large numbers, the farmers were receiving millions of dollars for horses, hay and grain, sold to city manufacturers and residents. In contrast to this, he said, the situation today has been reversed and not only is the farmer not selling the horses, hay and grain as he once did, but the rural communities are sending millions of dollars yearly into the city in payment for automobiles, tractors, etc., which necessarily must mean limited financial resources rurally.

The European condition of affairs at the present time was also discussed by Mr. Hover, and he held the optimistic opinion that this source of depression would soon begin to adjust itself and when it did European countries would be a huge market for American grown products.

The speaker expressed the opinion that this year would be even more depressing than the last three, but also expressed the belief that next year would see the rise in price and demand for farm products which has not been evident for several years past.

Music was furnished by the Original male quartet, composed of Rev. E. L. Sutherland, P. F. Niehaus, E. E. Winans and A. B. McClure.

H. D. WITHERELL ENTERS PROBATE JUDGE RACE

Chelsea Attorney of Twenty-four Years' Experience, Tosses Hat in Ring for County Office.

Herbert D. Witherell's candidacy for the office of judge of probate of Washtenaw county, on the democratic ticket was announced at the Democratic Convention held in the Court House, April 29, on Tuesday evening.

Attorney Witherell is a graduate of the Law Department of the University of Michigan, Class of 1899, and since 1899 has been in the active practice of the law here. He has had a large probate practice, has held many responsible positions, is noted for his honesty, integrity and fair dealing and is well qualified for the position.

His many friends throughout the county will be pleased to hear he is to be a candidate.

MAX PRESENT FREE PROGRAM AT SUMMER CHATAQUA

Miss Grace Bennett, of the Mutual Morgan Bureau, a chautauqua organization of Chicago, is in town this week endeavoring to sell Chelsea a chautauqua program for the coming summer season. Under present plans as being worked out by Miss Bennett to defray the entire expense of the entertainment course and the tent would be opened to the public free of charge. Hope was expressed by the representative today that this would be accomplished inasmuch as more than half enough persons had signed to assure its success. Chelsea has been without a chautauqua for two years and it is expected the idea will meet with ready response locally.

EX-SERVICE MEN PREPARING FOR DECORATION DAY

PATRICK PRENDERGAST

Patrick Prendergast, 68, died last Thursday at his home in Lyndon township. Mr. Prendergast was born in Chelsea, February 5, 1856, and lived here until his marriage to Miss Rose Moran May 24, 1890, when he moved to Lyndon.

Besides the widow, he is survived by two sons, Leo and John, at home; one sister, Mrs. A. Stotenfur of Owosso, and one brother, David Prendergast of Ann Arbor.

The funeral was held in St. Matys church, Monday forenoon, Rev. T. J. Fallon celebrating the mass. Interment in Mt. Olivet cemetery, Chelsea.

FEDERAL PETROLEUM CO. COMPLETING NEW STATION

Opening Date Expected to Be Set Within Week or Ten Days When Public Will Inspect Up-To-Date Drive-In Station.

With work on the new filling station on South Main street nearing completion officials of the Federal Petroleum Company, owners of the station, are expecting to be able to open the new site to the public within the next week or ten days. Grading, concreting, installation of equipment and general improvement of the grounds has been under way for some time and as a result the corner is taking on a business-like look which will later mean much to the south part of the village.

According to officials of the company who have been in close touch with the work on the new station, when completed, the corner will present a beautiful appearance. Trees, shrubs, flowers, beside ornamental lighting fixtures will become a part of a general scheme of attractive decorations, and added too the latest designing in architecture in the building itself, is sure to prove one of the most complete stations of its kind in this territory.

Equipment at the new station is the very latest to be manufactured. This is especially true of the gasoline pumps which are being installed. Manufactured by S. F. Bowser & Co., of Ft. Wayne, Ind., a company whose name means much to the gasoline trade today, the pumps are not only neat and attractive looking but represent the best money can buy in labor-saving, efficient and visible service. Devices attached to the pump, working automatic, assure customers of correct measurement, speedy service and general satisfaction.

Other departments of service will also be available to motorists in the line of water, changing of oil, for which a specially designed driveway will be built, greasing of machines, to say nothing of comforts provided for motorists themselves. The entire site is being prepared with a view of giving the utmost in service to the gasoline and oil buying public and there is no doubt but that it will fill a long felt need.

The Federal Petroleum Company, which maintains headquarters at Jackson, is one of the foremost companies of this section. Increasing business, the result of efficiency in operation and aggressive business methods, has enabled them to build and operate a number of drive-in stations such as the one being completed on South Main street, while still others are in the course of building at the present time. Beside these scores of dealers are selling their products to a large following of satisfied users. Their coming to Chelsea will undoubtedly prove profitable both to themselves and the public at large.

COX INJUNCTION SUIT OPENED LAST SATURDAY

Ownership of Cavanaugh Lake Drive Involved in Controversy in Judge Sample's Court.

The injunction suit of John J. Cox and wife against the township of Sylvan was taken up before Judge Sample in the circuit court at Ann Arbor last Saturday. At this time, after the complainants had put in their testimony and the township some of theirs, the case was adjourned until Tuesday morning.

At the resumption on Tuesday morning the township had several lifelong residents on hand to testify as to the length of time they had known and traveled over the highway that is involved, along the east shore of Cavanaugh Lake. The township completed their case Wednesday forenoon. The argument of the attorneys will take place in a few days. The Cox family set up in their bill of complaint that the highway is a private drive and claimed that it was about eight feet in width. The Sylvan officers produced in court a map drawn in March, 1856, that shows the highway was located at that time about the same as at present; also they produced witnesses and records showing that money had been appropriated at various township meetings to be expended on this highway.

Judge Sample has been asked by the township officials to establish the width the highway should properly be and to dissolve the injunction when he renders his decision after the attorneys have completed their arguments.

OUR WEST COAST AND THE JAPANESE

Two friends may be as good friends as men can be, having the greatest possible regard and respect for each other, but if one should say to the other, "Let us take our own families, and live all together in the same house in order that our friendship may be strengthened," what would be the answer? Undoubtedly the other would reply, "That is not the way to strengthen friendship, but to destroy it. Our children might quarrel, our wives would certainly disagree. We are two families, and should remain distinct, side by side, in harmony, and friendship." Such an answer contains no dislike, no disrespect, but simply the truth.

One does not try to grow two crops in the same field, though they may be equally good. A country may be occupied by two distinct races if one of them is dominant, but even then there are troubles enough. On our west coast there has been an attempt to put two hitherto free and independent races, who we know will not mingle into the same territory where the elemental forces of each must compete in the struggle for existence. Will that promote peace? The party who thinks so might as well pour blue and white Sedlitz powders into the same glass of water and then say, "Now do be quiet."

Trained in the school of necessity, the Japanese are economically our superiors. They have evolved a civilization embodying good methods of living, by which they can live well, and increase in numbers under conditions that would mean starvation to most of us. They can support us on the soil, which means they can eventually supplant us entirely if we take them into our country. That does not mean peace.

When not over-educated, men differ from the late dinosaur in one important particular. He can foresee his extinction, and act accordingly. The people of the Pacific coast see their final if oriental races admitted. It is our final also in the East, if we only knew it. There is no disrespect, but simply determination on the part of the coast people that there shall be no equivocation in this matter, and that the war of races on our soil shall not be allowed to happen.

INVESTIGATE CHIROPRACTIC

When we cannot understand anything, we are apt to say it is a mystery. Probably the truth would be better expressed by saying "I have not given it any thought." My great desire is to convince people that neither mystery nor miracle enter into my system of removing the cause of disease. If any person thinking otherwise will give me the favor of an interview, it will be a pleasure to me to show him or her what a mistaken notion that is.

This is the reason for the apparently unresolvable attitude of the West Coast in refusing to accept a small Japanese quota, which could be worked out by further friendly understanding. Their course may or may not be wise, but they fear to compromise on principle in a vital matter where the principle is denied, and their position is misrepresented. It is a position at any rate that should be understood, and they will only be hardened and confirmed in it by those who talk loosely of injustice to Japan, and of the danger of war if we do not satisfy her wishes. Such talk is the very thing to make adjustment impossible for it seems to advocate compromises on principle.

On the other hand, let the principle once be accepted, that we must dwell side by side as friends and equals, and adjustment is possible in accordance with the dignity and self-respect of all parties.

WHAT'S BEHIND RICHES?

The news that Panko Sokolowski, window washer for an elegant apartment house in Newark, New Jersey, had bought the house, went from coast to coast. No date lines were needed; the story a week old was prime news. Newspapers which play up such things with big layouts and "sob-stuff" feature stories did it full justice.

The same things happened when another Newark man a year before bought a big department store in front of which he used to sell newspapers.

Naturally youth sighed and wondered why it was all so. Naturally newspaper space writers gave the usual admonitions for thrift, and gave industry and wariness for opportunity all credit for these successes.

But, even though it is laid on so thick every time, there is always some suspicion of truth in these tales of rises from poverty to riches. Sokolowski says, for instance, that he started out with nothing half a dozen years ago, bought and sold real estate on a shoe-string, and made $20,000. First of all, he had to save $2,000, he said. Any business man will urge anybody to save money, as the only way to win out. Any business man will also say that money must be invested wisely, not spent, and then watched like a boiling pot until profits can be taken.

Bankers differ on ways to save money, but they have the same warning for the salaried youth: save your money. Doctors have different ideas of the function of the spleen, but they urge in chorus: keep healthy. Likewise, ministers right assiduously over the way John the Baptist baptized Christ, but they forget belligerency in telling youth: keep your ideals high and clear, and work hard to reach them.

A window washer, born in another land, found little trouble in becoming rich in a short time. He could tell what is behind his riches—but it isn't necessary. It has been told scores of times before. Perhaps some day it will be a generally accepted fact.

ANOTHER EXPERIMENT

Greece has proclaimed a republic. That meant doing away with kings and pomp and strict authority to which the little peninsula had been accustomed since the beginning of time. It was a momentous occasion in world history. Yet half a dozen murders got far more space in the papers.

The republic was proclaimed after a plebiscite, or a popular referendum. The people voted directly that they wanted to elect their own rulers and govern themselves. Many of them will live to regret it, but they thought it was for the best anyway.

Probably the tens of thousands of Greeks in America had something to do with it. They wrote home glowing tales of richness, safety, and happiness of our life, and their relatives got envious. That is the big reason, incidentally, for so many experiments with democracy all over the world within the last few years: Italy, Mexico, the South American countries, China, and others looked at America, our wealth and happiness, and wanted a democracy right away.

But it's all an experiment. Greece will find that out in two months. A good republic first insists that every eligible voter first inform himself thoroughly of conditions, then use his ballot every chance he gets, and keep a watchful eye on the men he will find that out in two months. A that? Greece has much to learn.

A GLIMPSE OF THE SUN

The biggest recent news was the report of the Dawes Committee, clarifying the French-German situation. It didn't name or even suggest any figures, nor did it have the authority to order either Paris or Berlin to accept its findings. It was just the opinion of several impartial and well-informed men as to how to avert another war, which at times has seemed very close.

Germany has accepted the report, after the whole world waited anxiously for some sign, for several days. Now we sigh in relief; things look brighter for the countries which say our American civilization came from them. Perhaps if we can all keep our heads, don't rush ahead too fast, and gradually lose our suspicions of each other, there may be such a thing as world peace after all.

Germany said all along she wanted to do the right thing; most people came to believe her. She just didn't see the point in obeying her conqueror, France. But other countries stepped in, modified France's demands, submitted them to Berlin, and what looked like a war cloud is turning white again. It is fine that we are at last becoming civilized enough to talk things over like this.

France accepted the report, also. That's interesting and important. Had things been said up a bit differently, she would have protested hotly and stubbornly. Then arbitration would have fallen flat yet again, and we would have had war. England signed too; that's almost as important. She wants to see peace on the continent quickly so she can begin selling goods to Germany and buying others. America didn't accept, because we're not supposed to be mixed up in the mess. But we are. If there is any truism on the ledger of history, it is that trouble abroad affects us just as everybody in a room feels the draft when a door is opened. We're no more isolated than that.

All in all, therefore, maybe the sun will be shining soon. It is six years since the war was presumably ended. The world's big anxiety was not that Germany should pay quickly or completely, but that danger of another war should be immediately eliminated. We're just now beginning to breathe freely again.

THE STARS SHALL TELL

Astronomers are polishing up their telescopes. They say Mercury will cross the sun's face on May 7, and they want to study it in that position. A thousand years ago the man who made such preparation would have been put in chains as a lunatic. How could he tell what stars would do? We know better now. Few stars hold secrets from man. We slowly wrest knowledge from the universe, hidden for ages and ages, waiting for man to get big enough to find things out. Back in the dark ages, men thought they just about knew it all. Many think so today. What more is there to learn? Yet just as a college graduate ten years out of school will admit he just scratched the surface of knowledge to win his diploma, so wise astronomers and men who really know a lot will admit that they know very little about anything.

The stars have always been symbolic of aspiration. We hitch figurative wagons to them. We call them far away, hence unattainable except in fancy. We fondly believe that Heaven is up there somewhere. We call our heroes and heroines, and anyone else who excels, stars. Likewise the stars have been passionately studied. Men have spent their lives sitting at the small end of giant telescopes reading the heavens. They haven't yet learned to apply practically the things they learn to any great degree. But every bit of knowledge we wrest from nature helps us to enjoy life just that much more. And what matters it if we cannot measure all discoveries by dollars or pounds or degrees of efficiency?

A STARTLING REPORT

The annual report of the Save-A-Life League, showing that 12,948 men, women, and children committed suicide in this country during 1923 is enough to make all, but the most careless think seriously for a moment.

Look at some details: the oldest suicide was 97, the youngest 8; males were 8,632, females 4,316; 62 were doctors, more than 100 were wealthy, 26 were editors, and writers, and many were children, disabled soldiers, and spurned sweethearts.

Reasons are equally interesting. One girl died because she "couldn't bob her hair and become a regular flapper"; one woman died to join her canary; a young man "wanted a new experiment", as it was too dull to live; one blamed his balky automobile with its trouble and expense; a spinster got peeved at the lack of masculine attention. Others have reasons equally queer.

Plenty of good, sound citizenship material to say nothing of stuff for good fathers and mothers, was thus sacrificed by self-interest. Many no doubt would have repented at the last moment had they stopped to think. Most died, doubtless, without sufficient reason; most were disappointed, some were hurt, all were weak.

It is well to look at the recommendations of the league, for criticism without remedy is usually futile:

"Parents should seek to have their children's confidence, for troubles told are half solved. They should discourage too serious application to study. They should watch signs of sullenness and trace them to their source. They should not favor boys over girls. Children should be taught the real meaning of sex and its relation to life. Do not encourage an early marriage by your daughters."

This is the comment following the report that 4,000 of the suicides were children under eighteen! And yet there are folks who believe that conditions in America are just about as nice as we could desire.

THE POET'S LAST STAND

Poets and near-poets find their subject matter greatly reduced with the passing of such things as the horse and buggy, rough rural scenery, and sailing ships. One of the old favorites of the rhymesters was the lighthouse, with its keeper, lonely daughter, perhaps, huge oil lamp and other picturesque features.

Now the oil light is passing from our coasts. The government announces that electric lamps will be installed quickly all along the Atlantic, for purposes of efficiency and economy.

The first beacons were wood fires on a cliff, warning of danger. Probably savages used them. For centuries the oil lamp has held sway, but it yields at last to brighter warnings which the sun puts out in the morning, automatically, and lights when it disappears.

So the poet will have to find something poetical, if he can, in electric illumination. In a man in a motor boat, sailing for a dozen miles, a poet will find a dozen lines of poetry.

predecessor in a yawl, carrying oil, supplies, and an occasional newspaper to the man in the tower. Perhaps the latter will have a couple to see America first, now, perhaps he will tell us that all the stuff we have been reading about him is not like the real thing at all.

Tell The World You're Proud to Live in Chelsea

Surely, you have all the reason in the world to be thankful you live in Chelsea. Your commercial interests are here. Your social interests are here. Your prospects here are far more promising than they would be anywhere else. Nary a cloud hovers on the horizon of your future. Could things look any brighter?

Compare Chelsea with New York, Chicago, or any of the larger centers of the country. There it is—"Everybody for himself. Get what you can and the best o' luck". It's hustle, hustle every minute with never a thought or a kind deed for a neighbor's welfare.

How different the spirit is here. Your neighbor's interests are your own. He thinks—"What can I do to please others? What can I do to help improve the town, help it grow and make it a better place in which to live?" Your thoughts are the same. And through your actions and his actions, Chelsea has become the best place in the world.

POPULATION DOESN'T MAKE A GREAT COMMUNITY.
IT'S THE SPIRIT OF THOSE WHO LIVE IN IT!

So, do a little "Oral Boosting". Tell the world you're mighty happy to be here.

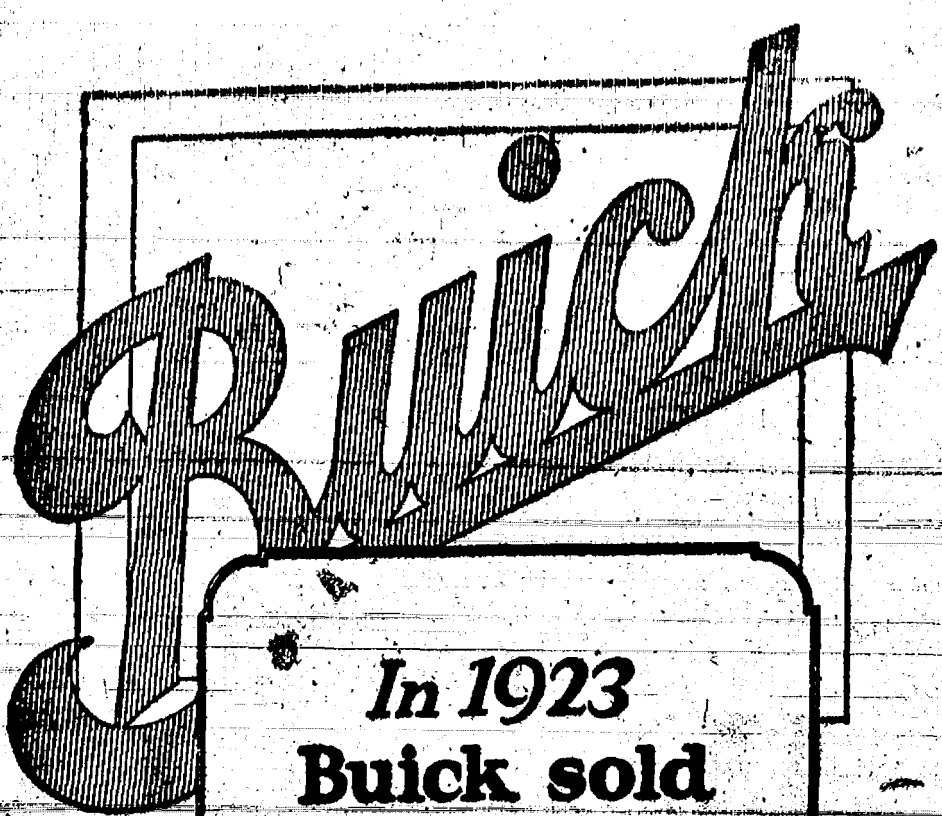

We the undersigned business interests are doing our share by advertising the fact.

Do yours, by "WORD OF MOUTH".

BREVITIES.

Ann Arbor—The jury for the March term of the Washtenaw county circuit court were discharged on Wednesday of last week.

Adrian—Five ladies and one minister have been drawn to serve on the jury to serve at the May term of the Lenawee county circuit court.

Jackson—At a recent meeting of the board of supervisors it was voted by the members of the board to establish a county normal school.

Howell—The Devereaux Post American Legion of Howell, is setting in motion activities for Memorial Day and a campaign for increase of the post membership.—Democrat.

Ypsilanti—Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Deake and family have returned from Florida, where they spent the winter. Mr. Deake has resumed his work as county drain commissioner.

Dexter—Gabriell P. Gorman has leased what is known as the Wall building from its recent purchaser, G. C. Eck, and will remodel it into an up-to-date funeral parlor.—Leader.

Stockbridge—It has been reported that two fishermen from Jackson were arrested at Ashtabula's landing, Bruin Lake, last Saturday night for netting fish. They appeared before a justice at Howell Monday and paid fines of $36 each for their fun.—Brief-Sun.

Dexter—O. S. Thompson of Ann Arbor, formerly of Dexter, who is connected with the State Collection Department of Grinnell Bros. Music House and has been located in Ann Arbor and Ypsilanti, has been transferred to Pontiac and began his duties Monday. He expects to move his family there at once.—Leader.

Ann Arbor—Citizens of the Ann Arbor school district decided Thursday by more than a 3 to 1 vote to back the board of education in completing its second school building program authorizing it to raise by loans an amount not to exceed $245,000 for finishing and equipping the buildings now under construction.

Jackson—Permission to operate bus lines between Jackson and Lansing has been denied the Michigan Electric Railway company and Richard Bus-line company by the state public utilities commission, but the M. E. R. was granted permission to operate a bus line between Lansing and St. Johns.—News.

Pinekey—Two stores owned at Chilson by Paul Brogan were burned last Wednesday morning. The fire started in one of the buildings now occupied as a tenant house. The goods in the lower floors were saved but everything above burned. Brighton's fire engine arrived in time to keep other buildings from burning.—Dispatch.

Brighton—Quite a lot of the sewer pipe which has been laid and covered will have to be uncovered and the joints cemented according to the specifications of the contract. It seems the work was not done according to contract and could not be accepted. This will mean a big expense to the contractor but will in no way affect the village. The job has been let to be done in a specified manner, and it is only up to us to see that it is done right.—Argus.

Clinton—As the present school year is drawing to a close it will be of general interest to know the corps of teachers who have signed to teach here next year. The following have signed to remain another year: Superintendent, H. F. Mumford; principals, Amos VanTassel, and Miss Minnie Lancaster; kindergarten, Miss Minnie Lancaster; first and second grades, Miss Christine Grattan; third grade, Miss Edna McNeel; fourth grade, Miss Edna McNeel; languages, Miss Jean Allan.—Local.

Jackson—A jail sentence in Jackson county will be more than a mere vacation with ease as soon as the plans of Sheriff Stoddard are worked out. The board of supervisors voted to employ prisoners on the roads and the sheriff will see to it that every prisoner does his bit. A truck which has been owned by the county for some time is being repaired so as to be used in transporting prisoners to and from their work. The board also instructed the sheriff to keep a traffic officer patrolling the county roads for a period of eight months in the year.

Manchester—After a lapse of several months the K. K. K. evidently made Manchester a visit Sunday night as five flaming crosses were left at various points. Some months ago one cross was burned on Exchange Place, near the mill, but after being discussed by citizens a few days, nothing more was said about it and the Enterprise hasn't heard of the K. K. K. or whoever the cross-burners are, being discussed in some time. Sunday night about 10:30 it is reported two crosses were burned near the Catholic cemetery, west of town, one on Exchange Place, one on Jefferson street just west of the business section, and one on Ann Arbor street.—Enterprise.

Many Infants Died
In New York from 1854 to 1889, of about 1,000 infants born every year, only 10 out of every 100 lived.

FORMER RESIDENT WILL

WED AT SANDUSKY, OHIO

In the Sandusky (Ohio) Register of Wednesday, April 25, appeared an announcement of the engagement of Miss Colet Singler to Mr. William Leonard Shepherd, both of that city. Mr. Shepherd was formerly a resident of Chelsea, removing to the Ohio city in 1920. They will be married on June 3. The Register says, in part:

One of the most exquisite announcement parties of the season was that held last evening at the J. F. Singler home on Jackson street when the betrothal and coming wedding date of Miss Colet Singler, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Singler and Mr. William Leonard Shepherd, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Shepherd of Decatur street were made known to a number of personal friends of the bride-elect.

The guests were bidden for six o'clock dinner which was a most beautiful service in the dining room of the Singler home.

Following the dinner the guests enjoyed a delightful social evening. Miss Singler is one of Sandusky's most charming young women while Mr. Shepherd is one of the popular young men of the city. Mr. Shepherd is circulation manager of The Sandusky Register.

High School Student Wins FIRST PRIZE

Donald Dancer, 10th grade, Chelsea High School, carried off first honors in the recent essay contest. Miss Tullidge, teacher. The essay follows:

"IN THE HOUR OF TRIAL"

It was a cold day in February in the year of grace 1778, and the patriot army lay in winter quarters at Valley Forge. The bleak winds that swept across Cedar Hollow were tearing through the huts of the freezing soldiers. A welcome guest was the morning sun as it came looking over the snow-covered hills of the land of Pennsylvania.

Think of the critical situation of the troops of the Colonies; the awful sight of the bloody footprints in the snow of those three hideous figures that sat down in the huts of Valley Forge together—Disease, Starvation and Nakedness.

The men were encamped in cold, comfortless huts, with little food or clothing. Barefooted they left on the frozen ground their tracks in blood. Few had blankets, and straw could not be obtained. Soldiers who were enfeebled by hunger and benumbed by cold, slept on the bare earth. Added to this smallpox broke out in camp.

Men deserted and carried away army stores with them, and on one occasion several companies of New Jersey Militia deserted, taking with them half of the stores of the army. The death rate increased thirty-three percent, from week to week. With no change of clothing, no suitable food, and no medicine, death was the only relief. The officers fared but little better than their men. The paper money issued by Congress had depreciated so much that the pay of a general was hardly sufficient to keep him in clothes.

This lamentable state of things filled the breast of Washington with inexpressible anguish, which was increased by the injustice of some of his countrymen. The Pennsylvania Legislature censured him for withdrawing his troops to winter quarters. Congress wavered in its confidence, and in appointing a new board of war gave a prominent place to Gates, Conway, Mifflin, and others known to be hostile to the commander. Some even demanded that he should be superseded by Gates or Lee. Washington bore these unjust complaints with patience, knowing that time would place things in their true light. He was not wrong. The proposition to remove him was met with indignant remonstrances from all parts of the country; and Congress, finally convinced that the blame rested with themselves for not making suitable provisions, took measures for the proper equipment of an efficient army.

All through the war the trials of his men were his trouble as well and he endured the hardships along with them. A word of encouragement was ever on his lips and when his men were down-hearted and almost ready to give up, it was their commander-in-chief who cheered them on.

His indomitable courage, his kindness, his thorough knowledge of the game and above all, his stand for human liberty kept the army together and went far toward winning victories.

During this eventful winter Washington made his headquarters at the home of Isaac Potts.

While he had enemies, as all men who stand firmly for right are sure to have, the members of his staff were his devoted friends and his leaving-taking of them is one of the gems in the history of the American Revolution. His simple words when they met at Plummer's Tavern in New York City for their final leave-taking "With a heart full of love and gratitude, I now take my leave of you; I most devotedly wish that your latter days may be as prosperous and happy as your former ones have been glorious and honorable," bear the stamp of his sincere nature. He had won the fight for human liberty and he once more retired to Mount Vernon.

Bandit and Magnate

Between a bandit who robs the rich and gives to the poor and a financial magnate who robs all and gives to nobody, which should be hanged the first?

Signing Was Unanimous

Baneroff, the historian, says that "eleven of the thirteen state delegations signed the proposed Constitution. Since the two other delegations had previously left the convention, the signing was unanimous. All perhaps had grave doubts about one feature of provision or another, but they had builded better than they knew and they all find the courage to sign the concrete result of their arduous work."

Land Granted to Lafayette

In 1803, Lafayette was given ten different grants of land along the Mississippi river, and in 1824 he was granted one township which comprised 36,000 acres of land in west Florida. Tallahassee is now located on this site. It is impossible to give the locations of the other grants, as the land was not surveyed at that time except by rough surveys, which were indicated by boundary landmarks.

CODE OF MEN IN GOLD FIELDS

No Miner Was Permitted to Hold More Land Than He Could Work.

The mining code devised by the men first in the Western gold fields—whether by unwritten agreement between partners or less formal conclusions of a miners' convention—was most "democratic," says the Detroit News. The universally recognized principle allowed every man the usufruct of as much land as he could work to advantage, and the dimensions of a claim varied from 10 to 100 feet square, according to the quality of the "dirt," the difficulty of working and the number of miners in the field. The discoverer of the bar was, however, entitled to first choice to double the usual portion.

A man's title held only so long as he worked the claim. A certain amount of earth must be taken out each week, and an absence of five consecutive days might entail forfeiture. The claim, if proved valuable, was staked out and a notice of ownership posted. But a tool left on the spot was sufficient evidence of occupation. Originally no man might hold more than one claim, but purchase made possible the ownership of considerable tracts.

OLD LIBRARY IN NEWPORT

Redwood Institution, That Was Founded in 1747, One of the First in America.

One hundred and twenty-seven years ago the Pilgrims landed on the "stern and rockbound coast" of New England and Redwood library was incorporated. The idea of this library had its inception in the Philosophical society, organized in 1780, of which Bishop Berkeley was the leader. A similar society of Philadelphia, known as the American Philosophical society, was, according to Benjamin Franklin, its founder, the mother to all North American subscription libraries, says the Detroit News. The Philosophical society at Newport developed into a library through the generosity of Abraham Redwood, who placed at the disposal of the society $500 for the purchase of standard books in London.

At the time the Redwood library was organized there were only two similar institutions in America; the Library company of Philadelphia, already referred to, and the Logansport library in the same city. Part of the present building, completed in 1780, was the second library built in the country, and is at the present time the oldest library building in use in the United States. It was designed by Peter Harrison, the first professional architect in America.

Working in iron is an art practiced in Angola, or Portuguese West Africa, from time immemorial. The rude bellows consist of terra-cotta chambers, covered loosely with goat skin, with long upright sticks attached to the middle of the skin for handles, says the Detroit News. Connection with the charcoal fire is made through a separate terra-cotta pipe and a considerable blast is produced by a rapid movement of the goat skin covers up and down. Sometimes even ore is melted in this way.

The natives have a few rough tools and use the rocks for anvils but manage to turn out very good work in knives, bush hooks, hoes, tomahawks, etc., and metal to repair their flintlock guns.

Fast Work

"I love you," said he.

"Bosh. You never saw me before this dance," said she.

"After the dance is over will you give me a kiss?"

"I don't mind that."

"Marry me, girls."

"Look here," said the girl, now thoroughly aroused, "you're a fast worker. But if I'm gonna marry you we'll have to be properly introduced."

Oh, He Made Good.

Willis—How is the efficiency expert coming on at your office?

Gillis—Fine. He was such a success for the boss that we employees hired him for a week.

"Did he make good?"

"Did he? He showed us a new way to heat the time clock, taught us a lot of brand new excuses for being late and how to hook the boss' cigars without being caught."

Her First Taxi Ride.

It was the dear old lady's first ride in a taxi, and she watched with growing alarm the driver continually putting his hand outside the car, as a sign to the traffic following. At last she began to speak. "Young man, she said, 'you look like the driving man and when you are going, I'll be sure to be in the car with you.'"

What "Soteria" Means

The use of soteria in England is new. It is a Greek word which means salvation. It derives its meaning from two other Greek words, one meaning deliverance or safety; the other to rescue from danger. Therefore the English word soteria well have the full meaning of safe deliverance from danger.

92 New Threats Against Service

It may surprise you to know that the present Congress of the United States has already before it for consideration no less than ninety-two bills, each proposing to further restrict Railroad activities.
So wide is the scope of this proposed legislation, and so serious are many of its threats, that the Railroads have been forced to shape their affairs accordingly, as mariners take in sail when storm clouds the horizon.
Michigan's 24 steam railroads are today holding in suspense plans for the expenditure of large sums of money, pending legislative action on these ninety-two bills.
These expenditures, if released, would go into labor and materials—into Prosperity and Better Service.
Is it wise or just to thus threaten and impede the efforts of any honest business?
How would you welcome ninety-two additional threats against your independence of action in the pursuit in which you are yourself engaged?
We invite any thought on this matter which you care to express.

UNIVERSAL CLASSIC TAKES THEATROGOERS BY STORM

The production made by Universal of Victor Hugo's immortal story, "The Hunchback of Notre Dame," has met with high favor, exceeding any big production within ready memory and promising a permanence most gratifying to all who have the welfare of the screen at heart. In Louis XI for a little Gypsy dancing massiveness and thoroughness this production is a revelation and gives truth to the pronouncement by able critics that while it was a dramatic triumph in showing impressiveness was also clothed with a massive sympathy. If for nothing else, his story deserves true eminence through the drawing of this character. But, master-mind that he was, he made this character a protagonist of a seething love romance centered in the affection of an adventurous soldier in the army of Louis XI for a little Gypsy dancing girl reared among the thieves of the Parisian underworld.

Hugo pictured in writing a clash-

ing conflict between the opposing forces of the underworld and those of the crown, and in transferring these to the screen there has resulted an intensely thrilling drama that carries the spectator to the highest pitch of excitement. Due praise is merited by the director and producer for the big manner in which they have pictured with admirable fidelity and employment of the camera's full resources this master-writer's drama. The enormous structures that were built to lend verity to the scenes have been acknowledged to be the last word in studio architecture.

He made "Quasimodo" a tremendous conflict between the opposing forces of the underworld and those of the crown, and in transferring these to the screen there has resulted an intensely thrilling drama that carries the spectator to the highest pitch of excitement. Due praise is merited by the director and producer for the big manner in which they have pictured with admirable fidelity and employment of the camera's full resources this master-writer's drama. Opportunities Passing
Often times the man who misses an opportunity is in time to secure a better one. Opportunities are continually passing.

Slow Change in Climate
The idea often advanced that winters and summers are changing is a fallacy. Apparently, as the changes noted scientifically are purely local, due to man's own work, such as deforestation, the building of canals, the tilting of vast acreage and even the building of railroads.

The famous "Jago Jones" was the architect of the hall, which was built in the Renaissance style in the reign of Charles II. It has been used as a farmhouse for a century. Lord Londesborough, the owner, has reluctantly come to the conclusion that it is structurally unsafe and cannot be repaired.

JAPAN TO SPEND HALF BILLION

Reconstruction Program Calls for Expenditure of Large Sum in Five Years.
Washington.—Conditions in Japan are gradually becoming settled. Military law has been discontinued and sufficient temporary structures have been provided to care for all who were without shelter, says a cable received by the Far Eastern division of the Department of Commerce from its Tokyo representative. It is unofficially estimated that reconstruction expenditures during the first five years will reach only $225,000,000, of which amount, $975,000,000 will be spent in Tokyo, and $150,000,000 in Yokohama, indicating that either the damage caused by the earthquake was not as great as it appeared, or that the program of reconstruction will be carried out over a long period of years.

To Postpone All Loans
It is stated in Tokyo that the 1924-1925 budget estimates will be reduced to about 1,270,000,000 yen, compared with the current budget estimate of 1,346,000,000. This decrease of 70,000,000 from the current budget figures will go a long way toward offsetting an estimated decrease in revenue during the coming year of about 190,000,000 yen. The minister of finance announces that all schemes, including loans planned prior to the earthquake, will be postponed during the present financial year, and as a first step toward increasing revenues the government contemplates raising domestic telegraph and postal rates. Bank clearings of the five principal districts of Japan during October reached 4,800,000,000 yen—almost double those of the preceding month.

France to Repay War Loan
The money market continues easy with the exchange rate on an even keel, though smaller firms are still having difficulty in negotiating credits due to lack of sufficient security. Over-subscription of the 68,000,000 yen internal refunding loan and a large increase in postal savings indicate general financial strength, which is increased by the amalgamation of 100 private banks under the leadership of the Yasuda bank and the announced intention of France to repay a war loan of 50,000,000 yen made in Japan, which will probably be applied to purchase of reconstruction materials in Europe and will tend to ease the drain on the gold reserve held abroad.

Good Sign of Holiday
When you wake up at daylight and can't go to sleep again it's a sign it's a holiday.

Slow Change in Climate
The idea often advanced that winters and summers are changing is a fallacy. Apparently, as the changes noted scientifically are purely local, due to man's own work, such as deforestation, the building of canals, the tilting of vast acreage and even the building of railroads.

© C. C. Co. Sept. 1921

STANDING shoulder to shoulder with public officials, doctors and nurses, thousands of American funeral directors are constantly safeguarding your health.
Their part in stamping out contagion and saving human life is one of their many almost unobserved, yet very definite, contributions to public safety and peace of mind, and to the higher modern standards of living.
Because they are prepared, you do not have to be. They have provided facilities equally accessible to all, adequate to every material and spiritual necessity, and thoughtfully designed with the sincerity and good taste befitting equipment which is intended to carry a message of love and esteem.
By their preparedness they have relieved the family and its friends of all perplexing responsibilities, and by the influence resulting from their own progress, they have brought about the abolishment of traditional funeral customs that did violence to the finer sensibilities.

DODGE BROTHERS SALES

6576 Dodge Brothers Motor Cars (or over 1,000 cars per day) were delivered to retail purchasers during the week ending April 19th—not including cars for export or overseas.

This breaks all Dodge Brothers retail delivery records.

Figures for the first three weeks of April are:—

Week ending April 5th	5694
Week ending April 12th	6106
Week ending April 19th	6576

Each week since October 1923, deliveries of Dodge Brothers Cars to users have shown a consistent gain over the corresponding week of any previous year.

Historic English Hall Will Be Wrecked Soon

London.—Ribton hall, on the banks of the Derwent, at Camerton, Cumberland, is to be pulled down shortly. The famous "Jago Jones" was the architect of the hall, which was built in the Renaissance style in the reign of Charles II. It has been used as a farmhouse for a century. Lord Londesborough, the owner, has reluctantly come to the conclusion that it is structurally unsafe and cannot be repaired.

It's Mukuntuweap River Now.
Washington.—The United States Geographic board, nomenclature experts and official geographers to the government's topographic prizes, announced its decision upon names for two scenic features in Zion park, Utah. The tributary to the Virgin river, flowing through the park, becomes the Mukuntuweap and the crevasse through which it flows will be known as Zion canyon.

Japan to Get U. S. Motor Trucks.
Tokyo.—The Japanese government railway has placed orders with American manufacturers for 150 motor trucks at an aggregate cost of about $680,000. The trucks will be used in connection with the rebuilding of government railroad lines destroyed in the recent earthquake and flood.

Art in Knowing and Teaching
Not only is there an art in knowing things, but also a certain art in teaching it—Cicero.

Maintain Purity of Blood
Among the Hovas, the ruling race of Madagascar, the two higher castes are constrained by social law to maintain a certain purity of blood, the taking of a wife from outside the clan being prohibited.

ROYALTY OF OLD BIG EATERS

Feast at Court of King Richard II Called for Vast Amount of Food.

England in the Canterbury days ate much in the French style. Spices and sugars were good manna and everything was now-fangled, if it was in fact practiced to any extent at all.

Richard II and the duke of Lancaster once dined in London with the bishop of Durham. The king, the duke and the bishop and their retinues and guests called for 120 sheep, 14 salted oxen and 2 fresh, 1,340 pigs, 12 hares, 210 geese, 720 hens, 50 capons "of his grace" and eight dozen other capons, 50 swans and 100 dozen pigeons; rabbits and curlews by the score, 11,000 eggs, 12 gallons of cream and 120 gallons of milk.

Such was a royal feast, says the Detroit News, and every day, whether fast day or eating day, had four meals. Breakfast at seven, dinner at ten in the morning, supper at four and livery at eight. The hour of dinner is said to show the development of cooking in any given country. But there were Chaucerian refinements, nevertheless, aside from dishes of flowers, permissible foods imitating the form of meats on fast days, even eggs being counterfeited and clever shinglers such as mitering two capons out of one by skinning it and stuffing the skin.

There were, besides, the points of etiquette; a pig for a lord should be endorsed, his cabbage thickened with egg, not crumbs; a pike served whole to a lord, but cut for the commonalty. And mint sauce has a pedigree reaching to Edward I.

WIRELESS CLOCK IN LONDON

Timepiece at Waterloo Station, invented by American, Has No Visible Works.

An American engineer has invented a timepiece which not only keeps perfect time, but by means of wireless operates and corrects a series of other clocks with which it is connected.

According to a noted wireless authority in this country, this invention foreshadows a day when all public clocks will be controlled and synchronized in this way.

The need of keeping an accurate record of the passing of time has inspired many ingenious inventions. One of the most wonderful clocks in the world is to be seen at Wells cathedral. It was made by a monk exactly 600 years ago. The hours are indicated by the appearance of a number of armed figures on horseback, says London Tit-Bits. These meet in a kind of charge, the striking of their lances sounding the chimes for the hour.

A clock without visible works is one of the wonders of Waterloo station, London. It is controlled by electricity, which connects it with what is known as the master clock.

Land of Giants and Pygmies. Ruanda, in Africa, is the land of the "Wambuti" pygmies and the "Watussi" giants, the latter the most aristocratic of all negro tribes, and one of the last to retain a Sultan, who holds absolute sway over the lives, property and lands of his subjects.

A medium-sized Watussi man stands 5 feet 11 inches in his stockingless feet, says the Detroit News. Seven feet is not an extreme height. These forest giants are well proportioned and athletic. Another explorer reports a jump measured of eight feet five inches.

Though he had no accurate timing devices the same observer expresses the opinion that the Watussi men can overtake trained athletes of the Western world in both sprint and distance runs.

The Easy Chinese Language. Chinese in its spoken form is a simpler language than even English. There are none of the terrors of conjugation, declension or the inflections that mark European languages. Western children born in China with equal opportunities of hearing Chinese and English spoken in the home learn Chinese first because it is easier.

Chinese first because it is easier. Knowledge of the new Chinese alphabet enables the beginner to use the characters without the aid of oral instruction. It is thus possible for the student to carry on his own study after a start has been made with an instructor.

—Columbia Alumni News.

Language Proves Age of Indiana.

It is said that in North and South America no less than 120 or 130 absolutely distinct languages exist. As the growth of language is very slow, it is thought that the fact of the existence of so great a variety of speech on the western continents proves that the native red men have inhabited them for many thousands of years. Another proof of the antiquity of the American Indians, according to some authorities, is the fact that they represent a distinct human type, and the formation of such a type requires thousands of years.

Had a Right to Kick.

A tailor took his wife to the theater and before the curtain rose proceeded to glance around the auditorium.

"Well," asked his wife, "how many people do you see whom you know?" Whereupon he took a more deliberate census and reported: "I count fourteen suits I am owed for and six overcoats. All of them have better seats than we have."

The

By JUSTIN WELLS

Copyright, 1923, Warner Bros.

"Mummy, won't daddy ever be back?"
"Never again, dear."
"But he's not dead, is he?"
Clara sighed. How was it possible to make little Jim understand that his father was dead to them for ever?
Clara had often put it to herself what she should do if Henry begged her to take him back. Her pride would never permit it. No, everything was at an end.

But little Jim couldn't understand. He was always crying for the father who used to carry him on his back. The worst man shows the best side of his nature to a child. And after all there were good points to Henry.

However, in a few weeks she would be free. She would go away some where with the child, and there he would learn to forget.

Still, it was all very embarrassing and little Jim very miserable, longed for his father. He would wake up with a start in the middle of the night and cry for him. That was the hardest thing to bear—the boy's thinking that his father had come home.

And then there came a wonderful day for Jim. It was on his way home from school, and there, standing outside the candy shop, was his father! He could hardly believe that he was real, until he had run to him and hugged him. Then he knew that he was real.

Such a kiss and a hug, and they two walking hand in hand, men together, as in the old days.

"But you mustn't tell mother, or she'll never let you meet me again," his father had insisted. "If you tell her you'll never see me again."

And little Jim, wondering very much, had given his promise.

It was so hard to keep. But two or three times a week he found his father outside the candy shop. Then there came a day when Henry, hunting the place for a sign of the little son whom he loved so dearly, failed to meet him coming home from school. And the next day it was the same, and the next and the next.

He dared not go to the house, though he knew where it was. That was for Clara's sake. But he stood far off and looked at it, and saw the doctor's car drive up and drive away again. And then he knew.

Inside the house the child, stricken with diphtheria, raved and tossed on his cot.

"He keeps crying for his father," said the nurse.

The mother felt a lump rise in her throat. That memory persisted through everything.

"No possibility of getting the father," asked the doctor, who knew all about the domestic tragedy.

"No—standing in front of the candy shop—in front of the candy shop on the way to school. With a bag of candy in his hand. Don't you see him mummy?"

"Something must be done," said the doctor, shaking his head.

"Daddy, I want you to come to me I love you. Come daddy!"

Distracted, Clara fled from the room. There was only the slightest chance that there was anything in the child's story. But she ran into the darkening street, and to the candy shop.

And Henry was standing there, but there was no bag of candy in his hand. "He's calling for you. You must come!"

Henry silently accompanied his wife back to the house. The child was tossing on his bed and crying.

"Here I am, Jim," said Henry, kneeling down at the bedside.

And the child knew his father's voice, and stretched out his little hands and smiled.

After that came the long days of convalescence. Little Jim was very glad.

YOUTH READS SERIOUS BOOKS

Popularity of Today's Novels in Twenty Years is a Matter of Doubt.

Will the youngsters of today, when they reach maturity, adopt as their literature the so-called realism of the moment and look upon the frank novels of the newest school of writing as the best standards in literature, or will they return to the books of the Victorian era? What the youth of today will esteem in literature 20 years from now is a problem with which the Children's Book Work committee, 334 Fifth avenue, is wrestling, says the New York Herald.

As a venture at a forecast of what may be expected, the committee cites a recent article by Miss Martha Pritchard, supervisor of school libraries in Detroit, in which she writes:

"What do we find these reading classes selecting for their voluntary choice of material to read for enjoyment? Fiction is only about one-third of the choice. Travel comes next in the usual school, though among the colored children, poetry is exceedingly popular, especially in the lower grades. Fairy tales and books of science are about equally sought, and thanks to the practice in dramatizing stories, children now ask for plays to read for fun. The children's encyclopedia volumes are frequently chosen."

"The conscious effort to bring many books into the life of each child in school belongs admirably with the idea in education, today, so pronounced—that of opening many gates into the city of life. Experience to make life a real thing while he is in school," say the educators, "that is the best preparation for his future. Very good. The more books on his days work he can handle with profit to his subjects the surer he is of becoming a wise working student in the future, and a real user of libraries, either his own or those provided by a generous public."

HEROISM OF CAT IN AFRICA

Missionary Tells How His Pet Saved Nine Kittens From Death in Hall Storm.

A missionary to Africa tells this interesting story of the unusual heroism of a cat he once owned. One day a terrific hall storm came, the sort concerning which English and American people know nothing. In a quarter of an hour he covered the ground to a depth of two feet. Before the storm began the missionary's three cats were outside playing; they were all mother cats and had their kittens with them. Immediately two of the mother cats ran to shelter, never troubling about the little ones, but the heroine of the story stood her ground. As soon as her master managed to go to her he found that she had gathered not only her own four babies, but all the others as well. Nine in all, and had stood over them, keeping them warm and safe, while she was nearly frozen. She had nearly died in saving them, for her poor sides were terribly bruised by the heavy hailstones. Carefully did the missionary wrap her in blankets and then he nursed her till she had recovered.

Mirrors as Backgrounds.
An art treasure is beautiful in itself, but its very nature demands an appropriate setting. Frequently, the artistic person can place the lovely pieces of his household so that they will not only look well, but so that they are mutually helpful.

There is nothing which will not set off the beauty of a lamp so well as a mirror background. Consider an exquisite lamp set on a wall table against a mirror. The lamp should not be placed in the mathematical center of the mirror, but to one side so that, if it be a frivolous lamp it may seem to flirt with itself in the glass, or, if it be a serious type, it may be greatly enriched by its own reflection.

Senior Brother Helps Kid.
It's great to be a kid brother, Moops a fellow right up on his toes. You wonder whether you can master algebra, or swimming, or a certain vacation job.

"Sure you can. Pitch in," says the senior in your family fraternity. And you do, hard. Quadratics or the Australian crawl, or an exacting boss, you've got to make good. The fraternal prodding you get may make you squirm, but it helps you to win through.

"Good work!" says your senior brother. And then you could go out and tick the world. It's great to be a freshman in a family fraternity. Sort of fun to be an influential senior, too.—American Boy.

MR. AND MRS. MARTIN KOCH CELEBRATE GOLDEN WEDDING

Martin Koch was born September 21, 1862, in Kirchentellfurt, Germany, and Katherine Hunter Koch, was born November 6, 1860, in the same place. On April 1874, they were married at ten o'clock in the Evangelical church by Rev. Schmidt. After their marriage they remained in Germany for six years where four of their children were born. In 1880, with their four children they came to America, making the trip in 19 days. They remained in New York with Mrs. Koch's sister for eleven days then came to Lima, where they visited Mrs. Koch's brother, Jacob Hager and family for several weeks or until they were able to find a place to locate. July 3, 1880, they moved to the Louis Dettling farm now known as the Klein estate and remained there until March 1881, when they moved to their present home. Mr. Koch is a stone mason by trade and has been very active up to a few years ago. Mrs. Koch's health has been poor for several years. Mrs. and Mr. Koch are the parents of ten children, all living: Mrs. Minnie Elsie, Mrs. Mary Wacker, Mrs. Christine Elshman, Gottlieb Koch, Christian Koch, Albert Koch, Mrs. Clara Sode, Fred Koch, Mrs. Eva Frey and Mrs. Eda Schaller. They also have 28 grandchildren.

Wednesday, April 30, marked the 50th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Koch. Years of sacrifice for their family and kindness for their neighbors were remembered by over 100 friends and relatives who gathered at the home of their son, Christian Koch. At 3:30, Rev. Thieme read the impressive marriage ceremony which recalled the days of 50 years ago.

"Fifty years, when looking forward at the time how long it seems. Fifty years, when looking backward vanished like a day of dreams. Fifty years of life together mid the sunshine and the rain. May the chain so long unbroken, ever strong and bright remain. And amid your pleasant memories, as you journey on your way. May you keep the recollection of your Golden Wedding Day."

An original poem, Memories of 1874-1924, by Mrs. Albert Koch: Let's forget we are here today, and go upon journey far away. Across the ocean into Germany. Now here lets look around. At this beautiful little town, so prosperous and bright. It fairly gleams in the sunlight. Little cottages so clean and neat. With rosy cheeks in the streets. How cheery and happy they all seem. Going their way in the yellow sunbeams. Across the ocean and far away.

In Kirchentellfurt Germany. "Was here in the year 1874, just fifty years ago and no more. That Katherine Hager, and Martin Koch were united in Holy Wedded Lock.

"Was April 30th a beautiful spring day, with birds singing among blossoms gay. And trees and ground a carpet of green, the skies a heavenly blue. No clouds were seen; How well Mother and I remember that day.

Across the ocean far away. In Kirchentellfurt, Germany. When with Wilhelmine Lutz and Chris Koch, we stood before Rev. Schmidt and took Our wedding vows with joy, no fears, that after all these many, many years,

Has stood the test of faith, love and tears. Across the ocean and far away. In Kirchentellfurt, Germany. How happy was mother and I those days spent in getting started on life's Highways. I remember all too well. The long days spent with hammer and trowel and mother too will never forget.

The long days and hard earned sweat wrung from two happy souls. Across the ocean and far away. In Kirchentellfurt, Germany. A yet with toil and hard times came many days.

For God gave us three girls and one boy, Minnie, Mary, Christina and Gottlieb fine. Now to keep us all we found hard times, so decided America was the place.

To bring my family and win the race, so we crossed the ocean far away. And left Kirchentellfurt, Germany. 'Twas in 1880, with determination, I came to seek what we could honest-ly earn.

We left our friends and crowded home, with a prayer in our hearts, on our lip a song, To join America's busy throng, so with grandma and babes

We came to New York, we had left for good Kirchentellfurt, Germany. So on the 13th day of May, found us in the boat on our way.

Terrible were these nineteen days spent in crossing the ocean's waves. The babies took the measles and died, from which baby Gottlieb nearly died.

Thus without much strength or friend, We reached our journey's end, New York.

Now here the months kept us eleven days or more, Spent with sisters on Brooklyn's shore. At last we left New York Harbor.

And were sent direct to Ann Arbor, Here was met by brother Jacob Hager, Whose home in Lima seemed ever so far from Kirchentellfurt so far away.

Ann Arbor, Mich. Here we began, in the little town of Jerusalem.

W. F. KANTLEHNER

THE JEWELER

the town of Jerusalem.

During the years we spent here, three boys and three girls came to cheer, Chris, Albert, and Fred, Clara, Eva and Eda.

How we loved them one and all, ten now answer the roll call.

Since we left Kirchentellfurt, so far away, Across the ocean in Germany. Ah, those years of toil and pleasure, are by now but memories treasure. That we hold so very dear, and as the days go on, our fear.

Slowly gives away, as we watch day by day. Your lives unfold before us, for now we are glad we came.

And hope our life has not been in vain. Ah, those days, months and years of friends, of cares and of tears.

We have woven the web of life and found peace in the bitter strife. Somehow or other the path grows brighter. The hope in our hearts makes the burden lighter.

And yet there is comfort in the thought, that when life is o'er, And we have gained the brighter shore, we have not left you;

Seeking only riches fine, but the love of God and all mankind. For this has been our strength all the way.

Up there fifty years today. And today, we your friends and neighbors wish for you in the coming years.

Months of dreamlike ease, no care, no pain, But bright, calm summer and autumn without rain. Of bitter tears, we would have it thus, your friends,

The happiness that comes of work well done. And afterwards the peace of victory won.

The house was beautifully decorated with baskets of yellow tulips and Easter lilies. A bounteous repast was served in the dining room. A large bell was suspended from the chandelier and yellow streamers to the corners of the room. A huge wedding cake centered each table and crystal candlesticks and yellow candies were used. Unique favors and dainty place cards marked the places for the guests. A purse of gold from the children and many friends and a beautiful basket of roses, one for each year of married life from the grandchildren were among the gifts.
