F. & M. BANK ENTERTAINS CHELSEA SCHOOL FACULTY

The faculty of the public schools were delightfully entertained Tuesday evening by officials of the Farmers & Merchants Bank. Clever invitations which stated, "Chelsea first and last, but not all the time", had but slightly prepared the guests for the many diversions awaiting them.

At four o'clock machines, lead by those in the secret, left the school buildings and as an effectual blind to their final destination, wended their way through the picturesque hills and valleys of the lake district northwest of town. At five-thirty a stop was made at "Calf town" for a dainty box lunch and rest. And all were treated to a huge lollipop to pacify them for the long drive still to be taken. Then followed a swift dash across country thru Grass Lake, Norville, Napoleon and Brooklyn, to Walker's Tavern at Cambridge Junction, where the party were conducted thru the historic rooms of the old inn.

The final destination proved to be Sunset Beach Hotel at Vineyard Lake, where a delicious chicken dinner was nicely served at sunset on the veranda overlooking the lake. Moonlight boating cards and dancing rounded out a most pleasant evening.

MEMORIAL SERVICES HELD BY 4 FRATERNAL ORDERS

Chelsea Odd Fellows, Rebekahs, K. of P. and Pythian Sisters Join in Decorating Graves of Deceased

Notwithstanding the heavy rainfall Sunday morning, the joint memorial services of the K. of P., Pythian Sisters, Odd Fellows and Rebekah Lodges were well attended by the members of the orders.

Headed by Smith's band the societies formed in line at the flagpole, with the Rebekahs and Pythian Sisters in the lead. The marching line was formed four abreast, with Theo. Bannister as marshal for the Odd Fellows and Henry Ahnemiller acting as marshal for the K. of P.

At the cemeteries the Orders separated and each proceeded to their lot where the memorial services of each order was carried out, after which the members of the societies proceeded to strew flowers on the graves of their departed brothers and sisters.

The Odd Fellows decorated twenty-one graves in Oak Grove cemetery, one at Sylvan Center and one at Salem-German M. E. church cemetery. The Rebekahs, two members of their order in Oak Grove, one at Sylvan Center and one at Salem-German M. E. church cemetery.

The K. of P. decorated twenty-two graves in Oak Grove and one at Vermont cemetery. The Pythian Sisters, the graves of two members of their lodge in Oak Grove cemetery.

Following the strewing of the flowers the members of the orders formed in a circle around the soldiers' and sailors' monument where Rev. C. S. Riley delivered an address for the Odd Fellows and Rebekahs and Rev. E. L. Sutherland followed with an address for the K. of P. and Pythian Sisters, both of which were fully appreciated by the members of the lodges.

Following the addresses, the line of march was re-formed and at the flagpole each order broke ranks and returned to their respective lodge rooms.

LESSER-KOENIGER WEDDING

Miss Esther B. Koenig, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Koenig, of Lima, and Reuben Lesser, son of Mr. and Mrs. August Lesser of Dexter township, were united in marriage Wednesday afternoon, June 4, at Zion Lutheran church, Rogers Corners.

The ceremony was performed at 3 o'clock by Rev. E. Thiene, pastor of the church. Lohengrin's wedding march was played by Miss Almerine Buss. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Elsie Koenig, white Alvin Lesser, brother of the groom, was best man. The bride wore a dress of white satin faced crepe with rosebud trimming and a wreath of orange blossoms, and carried a shower bouquet of roses and lilies of the valley. The bridesmaid was attired in peach colored canton crepe with a corsage bouquet of "opheas" roses. A three course wedding supper at the home of the bride's parents, followed the ceremony, covers being laid for 72 guests. Over the bride's table was suspended a wedding bell, while the house decorations carried out the color scheme of pink and white.

Mr. and Mrs. Lesser left for an automobile trip to Niagara Falls. They will be at home to their friends after July 1, on the Lesser farm in Dexter township.

AMERICAN HISTORY PAGEANT REPEATS TO FULL HOUSE

The American History Pageant given again Monday night by the kindergarten and first eight grades of the public schools, with over 200 children historically costumed, participating, has been pronounced, generally, as the best program ever produced by the school. The house was again crowded to capacity and some were even turned away. The Kiwanis Club showed its appreciation and support of the school by attending in a body.

Perhaps the Exhibit and Pageant have been the most entertaining and educational functions the school has ever offered to the public, since they afforded such a splendid opportunity for observing the kind and character of work being done regularly in the schools.

The exhibit and programs offered have been invaluable to parents, teachers and children. A genuine pride has been created in many parents who have witnessed the accomplishments of their children in the work displayed and in their participation in the program. It has also stimulated in the teachers and the children a new sense of pride in their work and in their school.

The school should feel amply repaid for its efforts because of the interest and appreciation taken in both programs and exhibits.

ALARM OVER JAPAN

It did not require the warning of ex-Admiral Fluke to assure us that trouble with Japan seems imminent and if it comes it will be a serious matter for us. Our Navy, he points out, is inferior to Japan's and more difficult to supply from Naval bases. We saw the war clouds in Europe pass away with much relief; now they are discovered, with telescopes, in true, by some of our leaders.

Alas, logic, of course, minimizes such fears. Excluding a nation from our shores isn't sufficient cause for war. Japan is in no position, as regards assistance, to plan to attack America. But then, neither could America get material or moral support elsewhere. We have few friends just now, although it isn't our fault. If France, Czechoslovakia, and Poland should sink arena, as well as hands, now and take a nation to sympathize with Japan, the storm clouds would shed rain at least.

The danger of war with Japan isn't very evident, of course, but with things as they are anything might happen. France and Germany were just gazing sourly at each other until an Austrian arch-duke was killed. A single death precipitated thousands. Japan is just looking across the Pacific at us. Should one of our Marines over there stab a native in a quarrel over cards, should a Japanese ship be accidentally sunk by one of ours, there might be fighting.

Those of us who think clearly and seriously keep tabs on situations like this. It may amount to nothing. But that is what folks said about the Teapot Dome scandal, a tempest in a teapot they called it. And look what happened.

SIXTY-TWO YEARS A TEACHER

Miss Nellie Cornell, when she started teaching sixty-two years ago would have ridiculed the idea that she would keep at it that long. So many things loomed as possibilities, of which matrimony was but one. But Miss Cornell stayed with it, for some reason, or reasons, and has just retired.

Financially, of course, she isn't ready. One doesn't retire on an income from a teacher's salary investments. And, strangely, she was just a principle of a Rochester, New York, public school when she quit. Professionally she hasn't climbed either.

What does the average person say of her career? Youth blunts out that she was foolish to stay in one job so long, and that she was, doubtless, of mediocre ability else she would have risen higher. Girls will insist that she should have married. Persons who have wasted their talents by jumping from one job to another will applaud her loyalty to one job. Altruists and educators will hazard an estimate of the great good she must have done in those years of service, of keeping sweet as teachers must, of starting little tots on the bumpy road to knowledge, of showing ambitious youth the principles they must cherish and retain.

To us, her record is noble in more than one way. Her wealth of experience and memories would evolve more wisdom than a hundred books could hold. She must have seen the souls of many boys and girls expand, and helped thousands to understand life better. Sixty-two years in any other job would have been a good record. In teaching, it adds up a rich heritage of good done to mankind and the world.

PARTIES AND MEN

General Isaac Sherwood, the oldest member of Congress, and retiring at the end of this term, has belonged to and been elected to office by three parties: Republican, Democratic and Greenback. Not having seen enough of strife and trouble in these, this Ohio warhorse is now going into Journalism, at the age of eighty-nine, for some more.

His apparent independence of parties was manifested many years ago. Today scores of leaders are bucking their parties and gaining followers by the thousand. Our two main parties are pretty well broken up, which is not surprising since neither has a shred of the creeds and principles which were theirs originally. Germany has about fifteen parties represented in the Reichstag, or parliament. We think three over here is a crowd. Yet, since our entire system of government is based, and partially dependent on the two-party system, and since keen competition in politics—as in trade—helps progress and purity, our voters will doubtless always follow either the limbering elephant or the vociferous donkey. Factions there will always be, but they will tend to draw the parties after them into the new doctrines or lose their zeal and be absorbed again.

General Sherman simply shows that a man may be independent of any party, or change at will. It isn't a good policy, either politically or practically. To bring good to people or to gain an office, the best way is to join one party or the other and stay with it. Neither has a monopoly on virtue or corruption. Folks split hairs dividing the blame, some times. For the average man, for average purposes, it matters little whether he trumpets or utters noise as he follows. Integrity, and quality of work, matters and above all, know what you are going on, there are the big political necessities. A party is just a concentrated mode of expression and of using men and their beliefs.

Plenty of people are independent of parties when voting, which is quite legitimate. Even when a member of a party, many have nothing to do with its work, merely voting its ticket. That is like a man worshipping his Maker alone. It may be efficacious for him, but a church membership, and activity would advance the Cause more.

A party may not be bigger than a man as far as ideals or wisdom go. But joining a party and working with it, even if one changes camps next election, will advance doubly the principles for which the ballot is cast.

FORTUNES FOR ART

At one of the biggest art sales in Paris last week, an American bought Ghirlandato's famous painting, "Portrait of a Young Lady" for $150,000. Nor was that an unusual price. A westerner recently paid a fortune for "Blue Boy" and "Frank Hals" "Portrait of a Woman" brought $100,000.

Does such expenditure justify itself? Do buyers get their money's worth? Doubtless so. Anyhow, they keep buying. Some of us begrudge forty cents for a high class magazine when we can get a cheap, lurid one for ten. But there will always be a few who want something better than the average, and will pay for it. Owners of these paintings may be more proud than appreciative of their purchases. But the subtle magic of any real work of art affects the even the crudest. And when the owners exhibit them to their friends, or to the general public—sometimes donating them to libraries—they multiply the good the paintings do. Hence, it is difficult to believe them anything but wise and philanthropic.

A SIGN OF PROGRESS

The passing by Congress of the resolution providing for a constitutional amendment to end child labor was hailed with almost nation-wide approval. A few Representatives and Senators opposed the measure, some because manufacturing friends saw profits vanishing, and others because they feared invasion of state rights.

The former's protests, however, can win little approbation from folks who take their citizenship and their family life seriously. The "dreaded interference" with state rights is largely a myth because, first of all, many of the states have been seeking to legislate against child labor themselves, and second, thirty-six states must approve the Congressional act before anything can be done about it. After that, Congress can enact a law regulating or prohibiting the employment of those under the age of eighteen. The states' ratification just puts it up to Congress, which may not make a law, and any law made would be affected by the nation's desires.

Just twice has Congress tried to pass such a law, each time it being declared unconstitutional. Our much quoted document of rights sometimes thus proves an impediment, as well as a safeguard against hasty legislation. There is little danger that any child labor ban which Congress can pass will be undesirable, granting that the thirty-six states give it the power. At least eighteen states so far have enacted laws restraining employment of children under certain circumstances. Also, the sentiment of the majority of Americans is pretty evident by now, even if all logic and sentiment did not approve saving children for wholesome childhood.

We check, often too, slowly, our progress toward our idealized citizenship by such signs as these. We consider the prohibition amendment a big step forward. In this connection, we should halt a serious attempt to enforce it—all it needs—as another tremendous distance gained. Not so long ago women were given the right to vote—which they had all the time as everyone knew—and that, too, we regard as a step to be proud of. A bill to make public all political campaign contributions has been favorably considered in Congress within the last week. If that is successful, there is another sign of progress.

A few factory owners will protest because children, very soon now, will be removed from their looms and machines and given a chance to play. A few individuals whose civic horizon is limited by the state boundaries and centered on the state capital will shout with alarm that Washington is trying to run the country—which it should. But a vast majority, we are certain, will vote for the state ratification of the child labor ban, in order that our grandchildren may be rugged and wholesome and not taunt us for their incarceration.

HERE IN AMERICA

A national publicity campaign by the government is under way, inviting the people to visit our national parks. Seeing America first is hailed as beneficial and enjoyable, to say nothing of patriotic. Our own parks, we are told, are equal in most ways to Europe's marvels, and well rounded experiences necessitates seeing our Yellowstone, our canyons, and deserts, and waterfalls, and mountains before crossing the sea. Here in America, evidently, are both beauty and education. Those who travel abroad leave behind just what they go to seek.

JACKIE COOGAN REVEALS GREAT GENIUS IN "DADDY"

With his appearance in "Daddy," little Jackie Coogan about completes the cycle of human emotions, for in this newest picture play written for him by Mr. and Mrs. Jack Coogan, the beautiful genius is called upon, in one scene, to sound the deepest of tragic notes. It was the performance of this role and scene that evoked from Will H. Hays his tribute of tears and the remark that "the world needs more pictures like this."

While "Daddy" sounds depths of tragedy and pathos, it is mainly devoted to the surface of smiles and laughter. Jackie, after every discouragement, plods on, and after every misfortune finds comfort in the end he achieves complete happiness—if complete happiness is ever found.

Jackie Coogan

Nobody better than Jackie's parents could write a story for him, calculated to explore every angle of the boy's versatile genius. In "Peck's Bad Boy" the impishness of the lad was specially revealed; in "Trouble" the note of pathos was injected with the merriment that is Jackie's birthright; in "My Boy" humor abounded and in "Oliver Twist" the courage, tenderness and nobility of an upright youth were revealed. In "Daddy," the capacity of Jackie Coogan as a tragic emotionalist is so superbly disclosed that his work in this picture will forever stamp him as one of the greatest actors of all time, regardless of age.

Marriage Certificates

In order to file with the eternal fitness of things marriage certificates should be printed on bond paper.

Strangely Belligerent

Rabbits in Alaska are exterminating the moose. They must be drinking the liquor the traders bring in across the border. James J. Montague.

PEOPLE who are intimately acquainted with physicians know that charges are made very low to those whose resources are limited and that much free service is given those in need.

It is in much the same spirit that the responsible funeral director serves the family whose income is limited.

Where the funeral arrangements are left largely to his judgment it is common practice to provide suitable accessories that will not run to great expense, and to disregard the item of overhead and profit in making his charges. How much free service he gives "without letting the right hand know what the left hand doeth" only those very close to him understand.

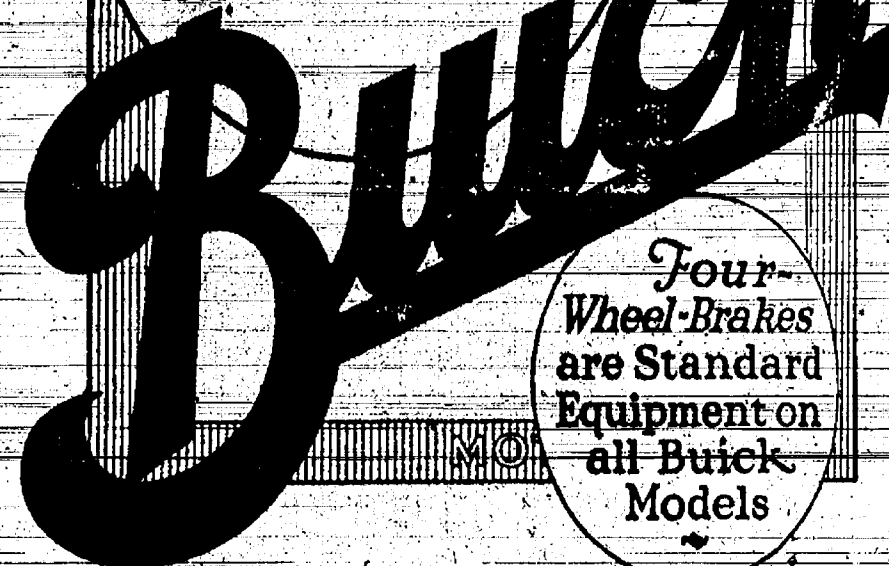

Funeral directors welcome the co-operation of the public in discouraging needless expense for the sake of show.

"In the Hour of Trial"
George Barton, age 13 years, student in the fifth grade, St. Mary's school, contributed this week's essay. Sister Rose Conception is teacher. The essay follows:
In the year 1777 when George Washington's army was in winter quarters at Valley Forge, it was a great event for the people of America to read the story of the winter of 1777-1778. It was a story of hardship and suffering, but it was also a story of courage and heroism. The army of 22,000 men was reduced to a mere remnant of 2,000 men by the end of the winter. Yet, they emerged from the ordeal with a new spirit and a new determination to fight for their country. This was the hour of trial, and it was in this hour that the true character of the army was revealed. It was in this hour that the men of the army showed that they were not only brave and courageous, but also loyal and devoted to their country. This was the hour of trial, and it was in this hour that the true character of the army was revealed.

NORTH LAKE

Miss Irene Delsenboth of Jackson, visited at the home of her mother, Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. Clara Hawley and daughter Gladys of Toledo, returned to their home Friday, after spending several days with Mrs. Ella Burkhardt and daughter Flora.

Mrs. Jessie Brown of Chelsea, visited her sister, Mrs. Mary Gilbert, last week.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Clinton of Detroit, were week-end visitors at the home of Mrs. Margaret Hankard.

Emmet Hudson of Jackson spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Chris. Fitzsimmons.

Mrs. F. G. Whitmeyer and son Harold of Sylvan, visited Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Stofor.

Lawrence Stofor of Carson City, brought his daughter, Mrs. Hague, to her cottage at North Lake, where she will spend the summer while her husband is attending college in Ann Arbor.

BREVITIES.

Grass Lake—Mr. Younger, who purchased the James Palmer farm, is setting out twenty acres of grapes.

Howell—Sixteen graduates from the Livingston County Normal part of Howell high school with the class of this year, twelve of whom have signed up as teachers in the country schools for the coming year.

Bridgewater—Carl Scheurer of Bridgewater, was arrested by Game Warden Otto Rohn Thursday on a charge of shooting a red headed woodpecker. Scheurer pleaded guilty to the charge and paid fine and costs of $15.

Ypsilanti—Ypsilanti has a city bus service. Buses will run along the principal streets at regular intervals and will make connections with all trains and electric cars. The buses are large and comfortable, seating 28 persons.

Manchester—Officials of the N. Y. C. Ry. informed Supervisor Lowery that the company was ready to co-operate with the highway commission in improving the Schumacher crossing on the Ypsilanti-Hillsdale branch. That sounds encouraging and we may soon see improvements going on there to make that a more safe crossing.—Enterprise.

Pinekey—Orville Amburgey, who was convicted in Justice Stow's court of being drunk while driving an automobile and fined $50 and $20 costs or 60 days in jail, and who was released on bonds pending an appeal to the circuit court, appeared in court without the wherewith to pay his fine and not prepared for the appeal. He was locked up in jail but was later released when his fine was paid.—Dispatch.

South Lyon—The annual commencement exercises of the South Lyon High School will be held on Thursday evening, June 19, at the Methodist Episcopal church. On that evening twenty young men and women will graduate and they form the largest class to leave the South Lyon school in many years. The past nine months studies have been very successful through the cooperation of both faculty and students.—Herald.

Brooklyn—Rev. Fred Ambler delivered the baccalaureate address at All Saints church Sunday evening, giving the graduating class and friends a thoughtful and practical discourse on the home, the church and the school. He spoke words of praise and commendation for the efforts of students, teachers and for the progressive spirit now manifest for better school facilities here.—Exponent.

Jackson—Detectives Stebner and Curtis confiscated Thursday a gallon jug about one-half full of moonshine whisky, which a man dropped upon seeing them on Elliott street, near the railroad tracks. The officers were driving along and saw the man with the jug in his hand. They called to him to stop, but he dropped the liquor and ran. It is said he may have his property by calling at police headquarters.—News.

Jackson—It is inspiring to look over the ground just acquired by the city for its principal school edifice. It is a magnificent property, rich in undulations, trees and shrubbery. Of course the Board of Education will preserve as far as possible the features of its natural beauty. Their influence on the minds of the youth who will study there is of an aesthetic value that is far-reaching and will substantially add to our other surpassing attractions.—Saturday Evening Star.

Manchester—Rev. F. Luckhoff, who has been pastor of Bethel church in Freedom for several years, has received appointment as superintendent of the orphan's home of the Evangelical church in Detroit and expects to take up his new duties August 1st. He has resigned the pastorate of Bethel church and on Sunday the pulpit will be occupied by Rev. C. Haneberg of Detroit. Rev. Luckhoff and family will leave a large circle of friends in and about the pastorate in Freedom.—Enterprise.

Saline—A very dangerous practice is being followed by someone, and fraught with considerable danger to the traveling public. For several nights during the past week the lanterns hung at the trench on East Michigan avenue, placed there to warn travelers of danger, have been taken, leaving the long open ditch without the red lanterns. If the thief is caught a stiff fine, and perhaps imprisonment, awaits him. It is thought that truck drivers who have no tail lights for their cars are taking them for their personal use.—Observer.

Ypsilanti—At the council meeting held Monday evening the city budget of $200,050 was approved and the supervisors ordered to raise by taxation this amount by levying upon the taxable property of the city. The budget for last year was $144,700. The budget for this year of $200,050, making an increase for this year of $55,350. The last year's budget fell short of meeting the city's expenses $22,500, and as this year's budget taken care of out of this year's budget it was evident to the council that provisions would have to be made for it. The amount which may be appropriated by the council for the various city funds during the year is $121,500. This sum will be ample to meet all the needs of contemplated expenditures for one year. Record.

MANY INTERESTING EVENTS TO FEATURE FOURTH AT JACKSON

From year to year the general public are becoming more and more in the opinion that the 4th of July should be a day of some recreation, pleasure and entertainment, and a place where the public can economically congregate where these ideas are carried out are becoming more popular.

For the past two years the Jackson County Fair has provided a celebration that has been highly commended and satisfactory. In fact the general result of these past celebrations have been so gratifying to the Association, that they are arranging even a more elaborate program for this year, that contemplates an almost continuous entertainment from one o'clock P. M. to ten o'clock P. M. and will consist of horse races, ball games, and fireworks.

Also featuring a pageant that several hundred people from our schools, societies and churches will participate in from all over the county. Mrs. Walter Tuttle will handle this part of the program and her reputation is well known by all for her capability in this line of work. There will also be a Society Horse Show, where fancy riding, hurdle jumping and other features will be given.

There will be music and attractions in front of the grandstand at intervals during the afternoon and evening. In fact a big full perfect day of fun, frolic and entertainment at a nominal cost.

Bring your lunch basket, whole family and friends, and spend a happy, pleasurable 4th, on the best arranged and complete grounds for the purpose in Southern Michigan.

Brighton—If anybody asks you, tell them that the Brighton Angus has moved. We are now located in what was formerly the Mrs. Emma Case building on West Main street, diagonally across the street from the building which has housed the Angus for about forty years. We cannot say we are settled yet, but things are gradually finding a place and we hope to be ready to have our reception in a short time.—Angus. Mr. Jacobs has added to his equipment an Intertyping type-setting machine which he recently purchased of the Chelsea Standard.

Clinton—Bids were received Tuesday, June 3, by the village clerk for the paving on Chicago street, which contract also includes the grading and putting of the Chicago turnpike as far west as Larzelere's corner. The lowest bid was made by Visinger & Lewis of Adrian. The bid for paving beyond the 20-foot strip on Chicago street, which is paid by the village, was $23,025 for the original plan, less cement and other material. The cement for the work will cost approximately $6,000. The village wishes to add to the plan and pave up to the 100-foot strip, the additional cost will be $10,000. This sum will be ample to meet all the needs of contemplated improvements for one year. Record.

Chats With Your Gas Man

WHY are some gas bills higher than they should be?

Because the housewife uses the giant burner on her range, when a smaller one would do.

She lights two burners at a time, and then lets one of them wait while she is getting food ready.

She takes food off the fire and leaves the burner lighted.

She buys so-called gas-saving devices, without finding out whether they really save gas, although the gas company would tell her.

She uses the gas oven to heat the kitchen and to dry damp clothes.

She allows water and foods to boil furiously, instead of turning down the flame.

She uses a worn-out range, with burners out of adjustment.

She never cleans the burners of her range.

She uses larger cooking utensils than she needs.

She uses open vessels, which consume five times as much gas as closed vessels of the same size.

THE OLD DAYS

When you and I were young, Marguerite, men wore boots, let their whiskers grow and chewed tobacco like old folks; women wore long dresses and bustles and underclothes;
butter and for 10 cents and eggs could be had for less than the price of a hen; a steak was 8 cents and liver was free for the asking, and most of us asked; a work day was ten hours and the hired girl got $2 without a dinner; if you complained of a pain on the right side, south of the meridian, you were told to go soak your head and eventually died. Full of days and appendices, and monkeys roamed the forests, unafraid; men wrote straight; boys took girls buggy riding and often attained a speed of eight miles an hour, but did their sparking in the parlor before 10 o'clock—E.
