OFFERED $120,000 FOR ASSISTANCE IN BANKRUPTCY

Local Bank President Recedes Appeal From What Is Believed to be Gang of Swindlers in Madrid, Spain.

Receipt of a letter from Madrid, Spain, by D. C. McLaren, president of the Kempt Commercial & Savings Bank, has brought to light what Mr. McLaren believes to be one of the cleverest swindles ever attempted. In the letter, which is dated February 9, 1924, and posted at Madrid, it is stated that the writer is under arrest for bankruptcy and that in return for the needed assistance in putting up the necessary amount of money to release him and recover his baggage and "portmanteau" he will present his creditor with one-third of the $360,000 in checks hidden in a "second pocket" of the portmanteau. No estimate is given of the amount necessary to the writer's release but he does state that it would be necessary for Mr. McLaren to make the trip there in order to prosecute his case. The letter, which was received the fore part of this week, and is similar to letters received in other cities, is as follows:

Madrid, 2-9-1924.

Dear Sir,
Being imprisoned here for bankruptcy I beg you aid me to recover a sum of $360,000 I have in several checks cashable in an important bank in America.
Being for that necessary to come here to raise the seizure of my baggage paying to the registrar of the court the expenses of my trial and recover my portmanteau containing a secret pocket where I have hidden the checks for that sum.
By reward I offer you the third part, viz: $120,000.
I cannot receive your answer in the prison but you must send a cablegram to a person of my confidence who will deliver it to me.
Awaiting your cable, to intrust you all my secret trust.

Yours truly,

J. R. de S.

First of all answer by cable, not by letter as follows:

MICHIGAN STATE NORMAL MAKING EXTENSIVE SURVEY

All rural schools in Washtenaw county are to be included in an extensive survey which is being conducted by the Michigan State Normal college at Ypsilanti to obtain statistics concerning teachers' buildings, and equipment, enrollment, and text books. This is part of the program which is being carried on by the normal college to aid the towns throughout the county in raising the standards and increasing the efficiency of their schools.

The survey is being conducted with the assistance of the faculty and students of the rural department of the normal school, who plan to visit every rural school in the county before making their report.

WILL HOLD DITCH

BLASTING DEMONSTRATIONS

Arrangements have been completed with N. A. Kessler, Specialist in Agricultural Engineering, to assist with two ditch blasting demonstrations in Washtenaw county.

One of these will be held on the farm of Walter B. Rorabacher, Salem township, Monday forenoon, October 20th, and the other on the farm of Ernest Raymond, Sharon township, Tuesday afternoon, October 21. Mr. Kessler is a specialist in this work and is holding a series of demonstrations in different Michigan counties in cooperation with the county agricultural agents. Nitro-glycerine explosive will be used. A sufficient length of ditch will be blasted so that all those who are interested in this kind of work will be able to see how the work is done.

These two demonstrations are to be in the nature of short courses in ditch blasting and any farmer having this sort of work to do will be able to learn how to do it himself, if he can make arrangements to attend one of these demonstrations.

Most of the counties have been only allotted a one day demonstration but Washtenaw has been fortunate in having two demonstrations on different days scheduled by Mr. Kessler. A special invitation is extended to all those who may be interested in this kind of work.

The ditch to be blasted on the farm of Mr. Raymond will run through most muck land, while the ditch on the farm of Mr. Rorabacher will run through heavier soil.

SEASON OPENED WEDNESDAY FOR PARTRIDGE AND SQUIRRELS

The Michigan partridge hunting season opens Wednesday, October 15. On this date the ban is lifted for shooting fox squirrels. But the season is short, closing October 31. The rabbit season starts Wednesday, which means big business for the hounds. Wherever there is open country in lower Michigan, cotton-tails can be kicked up. Although there are many partridge, duck and deer hunters in the state, the army of rabbit hunters outnumbered all the rest put together. The partridge season closes November 20. The law gives one the right to kill five in one day. The rabbit season closes January 31. All reports are that there are plenty of rabbits and an average supply of squirrels. The woodcock season opens Wednesday and closes November 20. The bag limit is six in one day, 20 in possession, and 25 in the season.

Black and gray squirrels are protected at all seasons. Use of ferrets to hunt rabbits is illegal, except that fruit growers may obtain special permits to use them on their own land. Partridge is said to be scarce this fall.

CONGREGATIONALISTS WILL HOLD ANNUAL MEETING

On Tuesday and Wednesday, October 21 and 22, the eighty-second annual meeting of the Jackson Association of Congregational Churches will be held at Chelsea. A number of people from Jackson and vicinity will be in attendance.

Mrs. Louise Mowrer, of Jackson, will preside at the annual meeting of the Jackson Association of the Women's Boards which is scheduled for Tuesday. At the Wednesday afternoon meeting, Rev. W. S. Steensma will give an address on "Facing Reality in Moral Progress."

Several of those who will speak at the different meetings of the Women's Boards are: Mrs. Norman Wood of Ann Arbor, whose topic will be "Education of China"; Mrs. Edwin Ewell, of Ypsilanti, on "The Personal Value of Mission Study"; missionary play, "Aunt Mary Explains," by the ladies of the Webster church.

MRS. NANCY MARIE RICHARDS

Mrs. Nancy Marie Richards died at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Verna Evans, Wednesday evening, October 9, 1924.

Mrs. Richards was born in Michigan, October 21, 1841. She was married three times. Her third marriage was with George Richards, who passed away two years ago last September.

She is survived by one son, M. B. Doud, of Belleville, one daughter, Mrs. Myrtle Cole of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, four grandchildren, and two great grandchildren.

The funeral was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Verna Evans Saturday afternoon, Rev. E. L. Sutherland officiating. Burial Forest Hill cemetery, Ann Arbor.

FELLOWSHIP CLUB HOLDS ORGANIZATION MEETING

At an organization meeting of the Fellowship club of the Methodist church held last week the following officers and committees were elected and appointed for the ensuing year: President, E. L. Clark; vice president, P. M. Brossamer; secretary, E. D. Koebbe; treasurer, John Kilmer. Program committee: C. S. Risley, E. L. Clark and A. B. McClure.

Membership committee: Evert Benton, E. L. Hoppe, and Irwin Weiss. Publicity committee, E. D. Koebbe and A. B. McClure.

The club will hold its first regular meeting on Thursday evening, November 6, which will be "Ladies' Night," and it is expected an interesting program will be enjoyed by a large crowd.

Special meeting Olive Lodge, No. 356, F. & A. M., Tuesday evening, October 21. Work in third degree.

Burglar, entertainer, impersonator, at Methodist church Tuesday evening, 8:15 o'clock. Adv.

MARIA JERITZA

Prima-donna soprano of the Metropolitan Opera Company, who will open the Choral Union Series in Hill Auditorium, Thursday evening, October 23, 1924.

JACKSON MAN KILLED IN AUTO CRASH ON M-17

Coroner Ganshorn Investigates Accident and Orders Autopsy Recommended. Truck Driver Being Prosecuted.

Evan Stanley, 24, Vandercook Lake, near Jackson, was killed and eight others were more or less injured early Monday morning about nine miles west of Ann Arbor, when the car in which they were driving crashed into a truck said to have been parked on M-17.

With Mr. Stanley in the wrecked car were his wife and fourteen-month-old son, Mr. and Mrs. Fay White and their two children, Mrs. Nettie Ruth and Walter Heffer, all considerably injured with the exception of Mr. White who was driving the car. He escaped with only minor injuries.

A large grocery truck headed west, is said to have been parked along the roadway without lights and, according to Mr. White, lights from an approaching machine so blinded him that he did not see the truck until too late to avoid striking it. Coroner Edwin Ganshorn, who investigated the accident, ordered an autopsy and recommended that the driver of the parked truck be prosecuted. On Wednesday Prosecuting Attorney Laird asked the sheriff's office to locate the driver. Although he has not been located nor heard from, the number was taken from his truck and it is expected a charge of negligent homicide will be preferred if he is located.

The machine which figured in the accident Monday at approximately two o'clock a.m., was brought to the Jones Garage in Chelsea, a badly wrecked piece of machinery. The right side of the front end was literally caved in, one wheel is off, the windshield, completely broken out, beside numerous parts being bent and sprung out of shape by the force of the impact.

MRS. HOWLETT ADDRESSES CURRENT LITERATURE CLUB

The Current Literature club, with a large number of invited guests, were most delightfully entertained on Monday evening by Mrs. Florence Howlett, who has just returned from Europe after seeing and living in a few weeks more of that life beyond the seas than the ordinary traveler could compass in a much longer time. Mrs. Howlett traveled with eyes and ears wide open and her ability to go so far and see so much was greatly facilitated by her rare good fortune in being one of a traveling party of our American Consul at Prague. Through the Winans she received many courtesies and favors denied the ordinary traveler.

SIGRIST-TISCH WEDDING

Francisco, Oct. 14—A beautiful autumn wedding was solemnized Wednesday evening, October 8, when Miss Evelyn V. Sigrist and Mr. George W. Tisch of Trist were united in marriage. Miss Velma Bohne of Francisco, cousin of the bride, and Louis Tisch, brother of the groom, were the attendants.

Rev. Haas of Munich performed the ceremony in the presence of 76 relatives. Preceding the ceremony Miss Lydia Beetham, accompanied by Miss Leonore Tisch at the piano, sweetly sang "I Love You Truly" and "O Promise Me" after which Miss Tisch played Lohengrin's wedding march while the wedding party passed through an aisle formed by the flower girls holding satin ribbons. Little Emma Tisch carried the ring in the heart of a rose. The party took their places beneath an arch of flowers and ferns in which was hung a huge wedding bell.

The bride was beautiful in white canton crepe with pearl trimmings and wore a tulle veil caught with orange blossoms and carried bride's roses, while Miss Bohne was attired in Nile green georgette with cerule lace over canton crepe. Her flowers were an arm bouquet of Ophelia roses. The house throughout was resplendent with pink and white decorations.

Following the impressive ceremony congratulations were extended the happy pair, after which a two-course wedding supper was served by the Misses Clara Malcho, Ethel Beetham, Christine Sigrist and Mrs. Rose Frinkle, cousins of the bride and groom. Mr. and Mrs. Tisch managed to elude the guests and at a late hour departed on a motor trip through the east where they will spend a couple of weeks visiting points of interest and on their return will welcome their many friends at their home in Trist.

Editorial

PROLONGING HUMAN LIFE
Two years ago the American Health Association made up of some of the most prominent physicians and practical medical men in the country made the assertion that by the proper use of what is now known of preventive medicine, and the application of known remedies to conquer disease, the average life of a human being may be extended twenty years. Had it not been for the reputation of the gentlemen responsible for this statement it would have been laughed at. Yet all of us know that medical science has made wonderful progress and medical and chemical research has revealed many secrets of Nature which can be used to not only cure diseases that attack and destroy the human race but that remedies can be used to prevent some of the diseases which have reaped the heaviest toll of human life.

A means for the practical application of the theory of these men of science was sought. Nearly twenty years ago Mrs. Milbank Anderson left $10,000,000 to be used to improve the physical, mental and moral conditions of humanity. John A. Kingsbury is the secretary of the "Millbank Memorial Fund" as this bequest is known. The fund is intact and available. Mr. Kingsbury was interested and now a part of that fund is being used in applying to practice the theory of the men of science composing the American Health Association. Not only is there a goal which looks to the addition of twenty years to the average human life—but there is something else—the eradication of all preventable diseases.

No experiment affecting the human family has ever been undertaken that is so promising in good results for the race.

It is a work that will appeal to humanity as something tangible—something that will not only add mere years to life but will take the misery and discomfort out of life in a large extent and will make a happier experience for all classes of human beings. Not only that—it will add to the earning power of every individual. There will be more creative power—less lost time on account of sickness and disease.

Such a practice application of a bequest such as the Millbank Memorial Foundation will mean an inestimable boon.

GERMANY'S REGENERATION
Visitors to Germany in the past few weeks are coming home with a story of a different Germany than that of a year ago when the mark was chasing zeros to the limit of the ordinary man's ability to count.

The appointment of Dr. Hjalmar Schacht to take charge of Germany's finances and reconstruct them seems to have accomplished next to the miraculous. German money is now stable, and German prices are as stable as our own. Workers are working ten hours a day, and the wages seem to be a trifle lower than they were before the world war, but the money the workers receive is good in the market and will buy that which is necessary to satisfy the inner man, and keep his outward body warm—something that trillions of marks wouldn't do a year ago.

A stable Germany means a thrifty state, and already the whole of Europe seems to be benefiting out of this return to stability. All of this will ultimately affect our own country. Our markets for many commodities will be broadened and bettered.

WOMAN AND GENIUS
The country has been somewhat perturbed, if we are to believe the stories printed in the daily newspapers, because of the selection of Miss Muriel Black as a genius, over a large number of competitors, most of whom are young men.

The Associated Industries of Massachusetts undertook an investigation into the brain-power of factory employees, to prove or disprove the old saying that much human genius is buried in the factories of America.

Brain tests, without the knowledge of those tested, were tried out on 100,000 factory employees. The test finally simmered down to six people, five young men and one girl—Miss Muriel Black, a young woman of 24. In the final tests Miss Black finished with 175 points—sixteen points ahead of the highest score made by a male, and she was declared a genius.

The announcement of this result is said to have brought to Miss Black many flattering offers, all of which she has steadfastly declined in order to cling to her determination to be a medical doctor and specialize in the diseases of children.

The male hold sway for a long period of time, over the female—but at last, with the ballot, and practically all the professors open to her, the female is taking her place in the world as a person as well equipped mentally as the male, for the battle of life. This victory of Muriel Black over a large number of young men, has more of a meaning than is glimpsed on the surface. It shows the power of the female to concentrate. Her centuries of practical lotion from participation in much of the world's activities and most of its life-rewards, has enabled her to concentrate more—and concentration is centrate more—much as a battery is to electric current. The air is full of electricity, but it is only when confined in a battery of emanating from a generator that it is harnessed and useful. Concentration makes the brain useful.

Women will win many more contests with men, and the world will be made much better by the opening of all channels of life, the doors of all professions, and occupations and the making possible of equal opportunities for the sexes.

A SERMON IN HELL
Billy Sunday, the greatest evangelist of his time is credited in a newspaper interview as saying he would love to preach a sermon in hell. And why not? If an evangelist is to save souls, he should go where there are souls to be saved, and where people have had sufficient experience to know what torment means.

Every human being is more susceptible to the gospel when in trouble than at any other period.

Many a man has been truly converted and turned from ways of wickedness when he had his hell on earth as a result of his misdeeds.

AMERICANISM TABOO
Dr. Gastelum, Mexico's new head of schools, bans American college yells for Mexican students. That is an admirable idea perhaps it can be carried out. Where American yells originated, nobody seems to know. What we would do without them is another matter. Yet, although in cold type and under the glass of logical scrutiny they are silly, they breed more loyalty and enthusiasm than anything else ever tried. They send concerted encouragement to players, develop team work on both field and benches, and teach timid souls to express themselves. Do Mexican yells in English, like our yells in Chinese, would be difficult to give and horrible to hear. The language doesn't matter. The spirit—the nationalism assumed, the unity sought—fervor can't be expressed in another tongue. A nation needs, and deserves, its own symbols. Americanism is fine here; across the line it doesn't fit.

NO WIFE GREYS
English women are again arousing to remove the word "obey" from the marriage service of the Church of England. Apparently they are in earnest this time, and possibly the fatal word will go just as it has departed from some churches here. Its presence means little, of course, except as another symbol of man's "tyranny" and a barrier to woman's "emancipation." How women ought to hate men—but they don't. They don't obey either, and the word matters little either way.

NATIONAL PROSPERITY
At the national convention of the American Bankers' Association, held in Chicago the other day, it was reported that in 1923, the savings of the American people amounted to $18,000,000,000. The population of the country in the past decade increased only 14 per cent. Savings bank deposits increased 108 per cent. That tells the most wonderful story of prosperity of all ages. It indicates a thrift that ought to remove poverty entirely from America, and make ours the most universally prosperous country the world has ever known, that prosperity reaching down into every home in the land.

While seeking a reason for this great increase in savings, we wonder if the bankers thought of newspaper advertising, that great selling power which has done more than any other force or circumstance to make the American people continuous savings bank depositors?

THE USE OF WEALTH
Colonel E. H. R. Green, son of the late Betty Green, the world's richest woman, who inherited something more than half a hundred millions from his mother, has ceased playing, and is using his money in an effort to benefit humanity.

Radio is the present hobby of Colonel Green. He is spending vast sums in employing able scientists, buying equipment and making experiments to try out the various possibilities of Radio energy.

Such a way of employing great wealth is vastly better than buying speedy yachts, securing great stables of race horses, and such pastimes as the average millionaire finds as a means of spending his time and money.

If persisted in, and there is no reason to believe that they will not be continued, Colonel Green is in a fair way to render a great service to humanity.

It is not the use of great wealth that causes people to complain of enormous fortunes—it is the abuse of it that causes criticism.

The chemist who gloats over the fact he can make gold out of quicksilver at a cost of about $60,000 for each dollar's worth of gold produced, indicates that our multi-millionaires still have good games on which to spend their surplus cash.

Highly Prized Medal
The medal of honor of the United States, given for bravery on the field of battle, was instituted by a law approved July 12, 1862. It is authorized by congress and awarded for particular deeds of distinguished bravery in action. Congress did, however, on March 20, 1770, order a gold medal struck for General Washington. Because this was made a silver medal was noted, struck and presented to Lieutenant Colonel Fleury for his gallantry in the assault upon Stony Point, July 15, 1770.

Old English Custom

A maiden assize once meant an assize where no criminal was left for execution. Upon such an occasion, the judge was entitled to a pair of white gloves. A modern session of the English court of assize at which no prisoner is tried is known as a maiden assize, and it is customary for the sheriff of the county to present the judge with a pair of white gloves as a symbol of the innocent character of his administration.

BREVITIES.

Stockbridge—William J. Dancer, of this village, is a candidate on the Ingham county Democratic ticket for representative in the state legislature.

Brooklyn—At the recent special election in this village the voters approved the proposition of issuing $18,000 in bonds to be used in completing the new Brooklyn high school building.

Mason—The News of this city last week called attention of its readers to a number of farmers near this city who had their henhouses robbed and in one instance the thieves overlooked one lone hen.

Stockbridge—The contractors finished the cement road south of town last Friday p. m. and are now cleaning up and putting in the bridge. The road will be open for travel in about three weeks, it is thought.—Brief-Sun.

South Lyon—The South Lyon fire department was called to the Henry Beach farm on Grand River last Friday night, when several small buildings burned. Brighton's fire fighters were called to the scene and the blaze was kept from spreading to nearby buildings.—Herald.

Brighton—The state has marked M-16 with a good plain white stripe through the center the whole way. The marker made its first trip through Brighton Tuesday afternoon. Another earmark of the city community—and a fine thing to keep traffic where it belongs.—Argus.

Eaton Rapids—The general sentiment of the business men and citizens of Eaton Rapids has been shown to favor Eastern Standard time, and, therefore, the mayor and city commission have rescinded their former notice to turn clocks back, and the city will remain on fast time indefinitely.—Review.

Jackson—Some unknown tourist Thursday incited the enmity of many residents of Woodville by throwing nuts and spikes on the M-17 pavement, which is covered with a light coat of dirt. The road has not been opened for general traffic yet, and the guilty one has been "kicked" the feet of about 75 school children who attend the Woodville school.—News.

Dexter—The Dexter Hardware was visited by burglars last week Wednesday night and a quantity of pocket knives, safety and straight razors, razor blades and flashlights stolen. At this writing the value of the goods taken is not known but the amount is thought to be around $25. Entrance was gained by cutting two glass out of the window at the rear of the store and the burglars left through the back door.—Leader.

Manchester—There is something peculiar, if not mysterious, about celery blight. Marsha may be most promising when all at once the blight comes and the plants die. Dan Gage told the Enterprise, when asked what causes blight, that he could not tell, though he had been growing celery for 30 years. He said that when he heard the "Clinton" factory whistle give out a long loud sound something not heard very often, he had come to know that his celery was in for an attack of blight. He said it is purely an atmospheric condition, and spraying would not ward it off nor cure it after blight struck it.—Enterprise.

Ypsilanti—That university students are not welcome at Normal parties has again been demonstrated. Saturday a group of young men from Ann Arbor attempted to enter the Masonic auditorium, where a college party was being held, not taking the chaplain's objection to their presence seriously attempted to gain access in unauthorized fashion. One of them was arrested and placed in the city jail, where he spent the night meditating on the sorrows attending a follower of forbidden pleasures. Sunday evening he was released on the intercession of President McKenny, who felt the punishment had been enough.—Record.

Mason—If any one in this vicinity wishes to know the cheapest way to enjoy a feast of pheasant meat, it would be well to inquire of Homer Hoyt or Arthur Williams, Mason young men. While out on a hunting trip recently, the young men discovered a pheasant in their path and on the spur of the impulse shot the bird. They placed her in the nearly new Overland car of Mr. Williams and brought her home with them. All went well, until a game warden called on them and placed them under arrest. When brought before a Mason justice, they pleaded guilty and paid their fines, and during the proceedings the department of conservation confiscated the automobile, the pheasant, and the new ninety-dollar shotgun which had been borrowed for the hunting expedition.—News.

BARN AND STORE BUILDING BURNED FRIDAY MORNING

The house and barn of William Broening, together with their contents, and the empty store building owned by Charles Hildinger, which had been used as a dance hall, were destroyed by fire at 3 o'clock Friday morning at Bridgewater station.

The origin of the fire, which originated in the barn, is a mystery. The doors were locked and two automobiles in the buildings had not been used for two days. Chemical equipment from Manchester arrived too late to be of material assistance.

The losses are partially covered by insurance. No estimate of the damage is available.

To the Citizens of Chelsea and Community AN APPRECIATION

No one realizes better than the Manufacturer, how little quality counts for in a heating plant if the installation is slighted.

It is a real pleasure to be represented in Chelsea by H. B. Murphy. The care he has taken with the installation of our product has resulted in better heating satisfaction to those of you who are fortunate enough to possess PREMIER HEATING SYSTEMS. To us it has meant a conspicuous freedom from complaints.

We feel that conscientious attention to details, plus a sincere desire to render service are the basic principles underlying the remarkable success our dealer has made with our product.

Can't Keep You Down

You have heard the saying: "You can't keep a good man down." There is another much the same: "You can't keep a squirrel on the ground." In other words, it doesn't make a bit of difference what you are today. If you really have the desire to succeed, you can do it. Nothing can keep you down if you are determined to rise. But you must SAVE, and invest your savings carefully. We can help you. Give us the chance.

OBITUARY

John Dykemaster was born in Holland, June 18, 1849, and passed away Sunday noon, September 28, 1924, age 75 years, 3 months and 10 days. He came to this country at the age of nine years. When a young man he attended school at the United Brethren College at Leoni, Michigan. On July 4, 1873, he was united in marriage to Miss Susie Sweet and to this union two children were born, George F. and Mrs. Eva Plumb, both of Leoni township. They celebrated their golden wedding anniversary a year ago.
Mr. Dykemaster was stricken with illness last March and has been in failing health since that time. He was confined to his bed just four weeks and was a patient sufferer through all his illness. He was an honest, industrious man, a good neighbor, a kind and loving husband, kind to his children and grandchildren and all who knew him.
He is survived by the widow, two children, one brother, 3 grandchildren and 8 great grandchildren, besides a host of relatives and friends to mourn their loss. Funeral services were held from the home near Waterloo Wednesday afternoon at 1:30. Rev. Clark Adams and Rev. E. E. Rhoades officiating. Interment at Maxson cemetery near Jackson.

Zen of the Y.D.

A NOVEL OF THE FOOTHILLS

by Robert Stead

AUTHOR OF "THE COW PUNCHER" "THE HOMESTEADERS' NEIGHBORS" ETC

Copyright © 1924 by Robert Stead

SYNOPSIS

CHAPTER I.—Transley's hay-cutting outfit, after stacking 2,000 tons, is on its way to the big Y.D. ranch headquarters. Transley is a man of many talents, but not a self-satisfied one. He is a good horseman, a good driver, a good cook, a good father, a good son, a good neighbor, a good citizen, a good man. He is a good man in every way.

CHAPTER II.—Drank proposes to Zen and is nearly rebuffed. Zen is a natural vixen, not yet broken and ripe for mating. Y.D. has taken a liking to Transley. Zen holds Transley off and encourages him.

CHAPTER III.—Y.D. and Zen ride to the South Y.D. Zen is a natural vixen, not yet broken and ripe for mating. Y.D. has taken a liking to Transley. Zen holds Transley off and encourages him.

CHAPTER IV.—Zen enjoys the prospect of a race between Transley and Linder for her favor, but secretly laughs at both. She has another and more serious encounter with Drank. Y.D. moving machines are ruined by iron stakes set by Linder. Zen prevails half-way proposes and is turned off. Drank resolves to run out his rival.

CHAPTER V.—Zen breaks up in the Linder sticks. The Y.D. outfit hastens to aid the enemy. Zen rides off alone to help. The wind changes and the Y.D. people now have to fight the prairie fire. Zen rides into the river to escape. Drank tries to shoot her. She drowns him or thinks she has. Grant overtakes her. In trying to slide through a ditch she is thrown and knocked senseless.

CHAPTER VI.—Zen comes to after several hours of unconsciousness and finds herself in the arms of Grant. She has a sprained ankle and both horses have run away. So she and Grant sit on a rock and tell their past lives. Grant appears to be a rich man. Zen seems wealth in order to live his own life.

CHAPTER VII.—Y.D. and his men arrive after daylight. Naturally Zen is the center of attraction. Grant goes to the nearest town then returns with him. Y.D. to go in partnership with him. In the contracting and building business. Transley goes to the city. Zen is the force of his masculine love-making.

CHAPTER VIII.—Transley sends Zen an engagement ring and she wears it. Grant appears and proposes. Zen shows him the ring. Grant is the best, but at last decides in favor of the ring. So she and Grant part.

CHAPTER IX.—Transley announces his intention to marry Zen. Zen is the best, but at last decides in favor of the ring. So she and Grant part.

CHAPTER X.—The last summer Grant's father and elder brother are killed in an accident. Zen is the only heir to the great wealth and leaves for the East to take charge of the business. Zen is the only heir to the great wealth and leaves for the East to take charge of the business.

CHAPTER XI.—Grant enlists in the World War, winds up the business and places his wealth at the disposal of the government. Zen is the only heir to the great wealth and leaves for the East to take charge of the business.

his whims that he would do most of the work himself.

"I guess I'm rather a man of whims," he reflected, as he stood on the brow of the hill where the material for his buildings had been delivered. "It was a whim which first brought me West again. I do not do as other people do, which is the unpardonable sin. To Linder I am a jester, to Murdoch a fanatic, to our friend the real estate dealer a fool; I even noticed my honest carpenter trying to ask me something about shell shock! Well—they're my whims, and I get an immense amount of satisfaction out of them."

The days that followed were the happiest Grant had known since childhood. The carpenter, a thin, twisted man, bowed with much labor at the bench, and answering to the name Peter, sold his services by the day and manifested a sympathy amounting to an indulgence toward the whims of his employer. So long as the wages were sure Peter cared not whether the house was finished this year or next—or not at all. He enjoyed Grant's cooking in the temporary workshop they had built; he enjoyed Grant's stories of funny incidents of the war which would crop out at unexpected moments, and which were always good for a new pipe and a few minutes' rest; he even enjoyed the flights of his own, which showed that Peter was a creature not entirely without humor. He developed an appreciation of scenery; he would stand for long intervals gazing across the valley. Grant was not deceived by these little devices which he never took Peter to task for his loitering. "If the old dodger isn't quite paying his way now, he doubt he has more than paid it many times in the past," he mused. "This is an occasion upon which to temper justice with mercy."

But it was in the planning and building of the house he found his real delight. He laid it out on very modest lines, as became the amount of money he was prepared to spend. It was to be a single-story bungalow, with veranda round the south and west. The living-room ran across the south side, into the east wall he built a cupola fireplace, with narrow slits of windows to right and left, and in the western wall were deep French windows commanding the magic of the view across the valley. The dining-room, too, faced to the west, with more French windows to let in sun and south. The kitchen was to the east, and off the kitchen lay Grant's bedroom, facing also to the east, as became a man who rises early for his day's labor. And then facing the west, and opening off the dining-room, was what he was pleased to call his whim-room.

The idea of the whim-room came upon him as he was working out plans on the smooth side of a board, and thinking about things in general, and a good deal about Phyllis Bruce, who had just arrived from the East, and wondering if he should ever run across her. Transley, it struck him all of a sudden, as had the Big Idea that night when he was on his way home from Murdoch's house. He worked it out surreptitiously, not allowing even old Peter to see it until he had made it into his plan, and then he described it just as the whim-room. It was to be by all means the best room in the house; special finishing and flooring-lumber were to be bought for it; the fireplace had to be done in a peculiarly delicate tile; the French windows must be high and wide and of the most brilliant transparency.

The ring of the saw, the trill of the plane, the thwack of the hammer, were very pleasant music in his ears. Day by day he watched his dwelling grow with the infinite joy of creating, and night after night he crept upstairs into the workshop and slept the sleep of a man tired and contented. In the long summer evenings the light hung like a champagne curtain over the mountains even after bedtime, and Grant had to cut a hole in the wall of the shed that he might watch the dying colors of the day fade from crimson to purple to blue on the tassels of cloud-wraith floating in the western sky. At times Linder and Murdoch would visit him to report progress on the Big Idea, and the three would sit on a bench in the half-built house, sweet with the fragrance of new sawdust, and smoke placidly while they determined matters of policy or administration.

Grant was almost sorry when the house was finished. "There's so much more enjoyment in doing things than in merely possessing them after they're done," he philosophized to Linder. "I think that must be the secret of the peculiar fascination of the West. The East, with all its culture and conveniences and beauty, can never win a heart which has once known the West. That is because in the East all the obvious things are done, but in the West they are still to do."

"You should worry," said Linder. "You still have the plowing."

"Yes, and as soon as the stable is finished I am going to buy four horses and get to work."

"I supposed you would use a tractor," Linder remarked dryly, and had to jump to escape the hammer which his chief shied at him.

But the plowing was really a great experience. Grant had an eye for horseflesh, and the four dapple grays which pressed their fine shoulders into the harness of his breaking plow might have delighted the heart of any teamster. As he sat on his steel seat and watched the colter cut the firm sod with brittle cracking sound, as it snapped the tough roots of the wild roses, or looking back, saw the regular terraces of shiny black mold which marked his progress, he felt that he was engaged in a rite of almost sacramental significance.

Sidelights on Real Sheik

Wanda Hawley Tells Her Impressions of Those She Met in Egypt.

Interesting sidelights on real sheiks are supplied by Wanda Hawley, who recently returned to Hollywood after spending six months in Egypt, and who will be seen here at the Princess Theatre on October 22 and 23, in "The Man From Brodney's."

A Vitaphone special production based upon the famous novel of the same name by George Barr McCutcheon.

Upon her return to this country, Miss Hawley expressed her delight in getting away from the "sheiks" who have become standard-bearers in literature and drama of today.

Miss Hawley takes exception to the general conception of what a sheik really is. She reports that the spelling of sheik is wrong. In Egypt the pronunciation is "sheikh." Even the pronunciation is wrong, according to the actress. It is pronounced "shek."

Miss Hawley says the average sheik is 50 years old. He is dignified to the extreme. If he is Bedouin, he respects white women like angels. If he is an Egyptian, no white woman will have anything to do with him, she reports.

"And regardless what his race," Miss Hawley adds proudly, "he doesn't come once in a while in a race for love-making honors with our own American lads. And for riding, the sheik has been overplayed. He can't even do as well as our own cowboys."

In "The Man From Brodney's" Miss Hawley appears as the flirtatious Lady Deppingham, one of the heirs to the vast estate of Japan, in the South Seas.

Romance Seen in the Rapid Advance of Transportation

There is romance in everything if we look far enough and some idea of the remarkable advances in civilization as reflected by the production of balloon tires is seen by giving thought to transportation conditions in the historic days when rough roads served the purpose of the modern wheel of today.

Good transportation is, and always has been, an important factor in the joining together of the peoples of the world and besides a link in the ordinary sense of the word, it has been a source of communication without which nations would still be practically strangers.

"Looking back into the dim past," says the Firestone News Service, "we see the man of those times rolling a log from one place to another instead of hauling it. The roundness of the object naturally suggested the movement."

"Years pass on and we see man leveling off the paths or roads over which the logs must be rolled. Then we see the individuals of those times cutting up the logs in order to make them roll still easier. From this small log was born the idea of the wheel and even today, in some parts of Asia, may be seen rough bullock wagons drawn on so-called wheels which are nothing less than flat pieces of timber."

"Then came the mounting of these pieces of wood on a central log which we now know as an axle. In this way has come down to us not only the idea of modern highways, but the present conception of a car or truck and its outer covering—the automobile tire."

Brilliant Concerts for Ann Arbor

The most attractive concert season ever offered by the University School of Music has been scheduled for the current season in Hill Auditorium, Ann Arbor, and concert lovers of southern Michigan will have opportunity of hearing many of the world's greatest artists and music organizations.

In the Choral Union Series, which has been conducted continuously for 46 years, six stars will appear as follows:

October 23, Maria Jeritsa, the outstanding coloratura prima donna of the Metropolitan Opera Company, will appear in recital. She will be assisted by Maximilian Rose, violinist, and Emil Polak, pianist, and will provide an evening's entertainment of arias and songs. Jeritsa, superceded the world renowned Geraldine Farrar at the New York Opera House and has had a sensational career there for the past two years.

November 3, Guy Maier and Lee Pattison, the distinguished young American pianists whose joint recitals have been outstanding features of the concert world, will make their second Ann Arbor appearance. These artists have distinguished themselves in joint recitals and have made this field distinctly their own. So successful have they been that during the past five years they have toured America, the countries of Europe as well as the Orient. It is of special interest to note that Mr. Maier is associated with the University School of Music, as head of the piano department.

November 19, the "Marriage of Figaro," Mozart's pretentious opera, will be given by the Hineshaw Opera Company with the following soloists in the cast: Clytie Hine, soprano, as "Countess Almaviva"; Editha Fleischer, soprano, as "Susanna"; Celia Turilli, soprano, as "Cherubino"; Alfredo Valenti, baritone, as "Count Almaviva"; Pavel Ludikar, baritone, as "Figaro"; Ralph Brainerd, tenor, as "Basilio"; Herman Galhausen, baritone, as "Dr. Bartolo." This opera is similar in character to the "Impresario" and the "Costi Fan Tutti" which have been presented in Ann Arbor. It is more pretentious in make-up.

December 5, Jascha Heifetz, violinist, who alone of the horde of Russian violinists who have been appearing during the past decade, is comparable to the great Kreisler, will make his second Ann Arbor appearance. His name is synonymous with the best violin artistry and his appearance is also a signal for sold out houses.

January 23, Alfred Cortot, the stupendous French pianist, whose dynamic artistry has placed him in the forefront of pianists, will be heard. He stands among the world's best.

February 13, Sophie Braslav, the renowned American contralto of the Metropolitan Opera Co., will appear in recital. She was scheduled to appear as the star of the Friday evening Festival concert last May, but illness prevented her coming. She now will be heard in a full recital.

March 16, The Detroit Symphony Orchestra with Mr. Gabrieliwitsch will make its third Ann Arbor appearance. The soloist on this occasion will be Ilya Schkolnik, a distinguished violinist who has made a fine reputation not only as soloist but as ensemble player, having been concert master of the Detroit Band for many years.

December 15, The Detroit Symphony Orchestra under Mr. Gabrieliwitsch will give the first of three concerts in this series. Mr. Gabrieliwitsch has brought his organization up to a high state of perfection and it ranks among the few great American institutions of its kind.

January 19, The Kibichich Russian Choir under Basile Bialachich, will bring to Hill Auditorium three score of picked Russian ensemble singers in a program which will be typical of Russian choral singing. The organization is similar in character to the great Ukrainian Chorus which left so profound an impression throughout America on its last tour.

February 23, Mr. Gabrieliwitsch will again present the Detroit Symphony Orchestra. Three distinguished pianists will unite to contribute with Mr. Gabrieliwitsch and his players Bach's monumental Triple Concerto, Guy Maier, Lee Pattison and Arthur Shattuck.

These artists have won much favorable comment in their appearances with several of America's great orchestras. In addition to their Ann Arbor appearance, they will repeat the program in Detroit.

Extra Concert Series

In the sixth annual Extra Concert Series, five concerts will be offered by large ensemble groups as follows: November 13, Sousa's Band, under John Philip Sousa, will make its second annual Ann Arbor appearance. This organization is known throughout the civilized world and during the past 30 years has made many tours. It has also contributed to the artistic endeavors of all the great world expositions since the Fair in Chicago, 1893. During the war, it played a prominent part in patriotic music activities.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE SALE
Whereas, Mark Bell, a widower, of the Township of Dexter, County of Washtenaw and State of Michigan, made and executed a certain mortgage, bearing date the 11th day of January, A. D. 1916, to James H. Guthrie of the Township of Sylvan, County of Washtenaw, Michigan, which was recorded in the office of the register of deeds of the county of Washtenaw, Michigan, on the 14th day of January, A. D. 1916, at 10:25 o'clock in the forenoon, in liber 133 of mortgages, on page 343.

And whereas the amount claimed to be due upon said mortgage is the sum of $1861.50, and no suit or proceedings have been instituted at law to recover the debt now remaining secured thereby, or any part thereof.

And whereas default has been made in the payment of the money secured by said mortgage, whereby the power of sale contained therein has become operative.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that, by virtue of said power of sale, and in pursuance thereof, and of the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the mortgage premises at public vendue to the highest bidder, at the south front door of the court house, at the City of Ann Arbor, in said County of Washtenaw, that being the place of holding the circuit court within said county, on the 14th day of November, 1924, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, the description of which said premises contained in said mortgage is as follows: All that certain piece or parcel of land situated and being in the Township of Dexter, County of Washtenaw and State of Michigan, and described as follows:

To-wit: the north half of the south west quarter of Section number eleven, except a right of way two rods wide off the south side thereof. Dated August 9th, 1924.

In this cause it appearing by the Bill of Complaint, duly verified, presented and filed to the satisfaction of the Court, that James Kingsley and Lucy Ann Kingsley, his wife, William S. Maynard, Elijah W. Morgan, Franklin L. Parker, and Lucy D. S. Parker, his wife, Lucy A. Huber, Edwin R. Parker, Franklin C. Parker, John M. Parker, Lucy P. Huber and their unknown heirs, devisees and assigns, are proper and necessary parties to the above entitled cause, and are interested in the subject matter involved therein, and whose names appear in the Office of the Register of Deeds for the County of Washtenaw, and in the Probate Court for said County, as having at one time claimed a right, title, interest or estate in the subject matter of said cause or some portion of it, or as having a lien or charge thereon, without having released or conveyed the same, and who might at any time under the provisions or legal effect of such instrument or instruments of record, claim or attempt to claim or be entitled to claim benefits thereunder; and it further appearing to the satisfaction of the Court that all of the above named parties are dead or their present whereabouts unknown to said plaintiff, and after diligent search and inquiry he has been unable to ascertain the same or where any of them or where any of their heirs reside, or whether such interest as they may have therein has been disposed of by will or otherwise, and that such defendants cannot be personally served with process.

On motion of H. D. Witherell, attorney for plaintiff, it is ordered that the appearance of the said defendants and each and all of them be entered in this cause within three months from the date of this order; and that in case of their appearance they cause their answer to the Bill of Complaint to be filed and a copy thereof served upon the plaintiff within fifteen days after the service upon them or their attorneys of a copy of said bill and that in default thereof the said bill be taken as confessed, as to each of said defendants.

And it is further ordered in said cause, that a copy of this order be published in the Chelsea Standard, a weekly newspaper printed, published and circulated in the said County of Washtenaw and that such publication be continued therein once in each week for at least six consecutive weeks, or that the said plaintiff cause a copy of this order to be personally served upon said defendants and upon each of them at least twenty days before the time prescribed for their appearance.

Geo. W. Sample, Circuit Judge.

Countersigned,
Claramon L. Pray, Deputy County Clerk.

SCHOOL NEWS

The Seniors were entertained by Mrs. Robinson at her home in Dexter Friday evening, October 3. The evening will long be remembered by the good time that everyone had. A series of games were played, in which all took part, except Mrs. Robinson and Mrs. Mast, who, at the end performed a very serious stunt, "the life saving act." Probably never again will the Seniors have as much fun sucking "all day suckers" and blowing "tin horns".

North Lake was also the scene of a meeting on Friday, the 3rd. The Juniors and their class advisor, Miss Kuden, held a "weiner roast" at Eileenbecker's cottage.

Football! Last Friday afternoon a game was played with Manchester. Our team was defeated, but some of Manchester's boys were veterans, in comparison to our team. However, in the last half, our boys really showed the on-lookers that they would fight to the last minute.

Football! The boys are improving.

If you don't believe, be sure to come out to the game Friday afternoon, when our team meets Manchester on our own field.

Several aliens landed at Ellis Isle. The examinations were passed and they were admitted to the United States. After living in the United States the required time, in the presence of witnesses, they took out their first citizenship paper. Later they took out their second papers, swore off allegiance to their own country, and took the oath of allegiance to the United States. They are now considered by Mrs. Eckenberger's citizenship class to be real citizens.

Next Tuesday morning, at Chapel, Carlton day will be observed with appropriate services.

The wheel of time turns 'round. The second month tests will be given next week. These tests serve, not only to show "what you know and what you don't know," but they also cause much irritation until they are over.

"Old Folk's Day" at the Methodist church Sunday was a very enjoyable occasion. There was a good attendance. The oldest person present being "Uncle Robert Foster," 99 years of age. Solo by George Atkinson and anthem by the choir added to the pleasure of the hour. Rev. Oliver and Rev. Jones assisted in the services. Next Sunday the pastor will take for his subject, "The Spirit in Which We Live." What is it? How Judge life? Pulpitorial—"Why I Quit Going to Church" by Rupert Hughes. Sunday evening our theme, "The Ten Commandments" as seen in the motion picture production by Cecil B. DeMille. Gleaning there from a few important lessons. Are the Commandments still binding? Or has their day passed? This will be an interesting hour. Our Sunday school has taken on new life. Come to your class Sunday. Bring your dollar for registration fee for the great convention. Go to church somewhere. Cheer the hearts of your ministers by your presence. Help them bear the burden. Do your share.

Burgdorfer, entertainer, impersonator, at Methodist church Tuesday evening, 8:15 o'clock. Adv.

ENTERTAINER, IMPERSONATOR AT M. E. CHURCH TUESDAY

A rare treat for entertainment lovers of Chelsea and community is promised patrons when Burgdorfer, entertainer, impersonator and fun-maker appears in a varied program at the Methodist church on next Tuesday evening, October 21. Mr. Burgdorfer is a headliner on chautauqua and lyceum programs and comes highly recommended for his entertainment Tuesday. He has been characterized by competent authorities everywhere as the greatest fun maker on the American platform, a fact which will prove interesting to prospective patrons.

The entertainment of Tuesday is being given under auspices of the music committee of the church, and funds received will go toward defraying expenses of electrifying the power apparatus of the organ. Tickets are on sale at Steiner's furniture repair shop.
