CATHOLICS WILL REBUILD SCHOOL BUILDING DESTROYED BY FIRE EARLY FRIDAY MORNING

Modern Structure With Practically Latest Conveniences Will Replace St. Mary's Educational Center, Believed Gas Explosion Caused Blaze.

Rebuilding of St. Mary's school, destroyed last Friday morning by fire, will be commenced at once, it plans of Rev. Fr. Fallon, pastor of St. Mary's parish, and his church committee materialize. Information to this effect was given the Standard in an interview the fore part of the week. At a meeting of Fr. Fallon and his committee held Sunday afternoon it was decided to erect a new building to replace the burned structure, and it is expected a modern school building in which will be embodied practically every convenience which goes to make up an up-to-date educational center, will be the result. The church committee is composed of E. J. Foster of Grass Lake, Martin Merkel, Wm. Wheeler, J. Vincent Burg, Jas. McCarthy, Matt Swickard, Ed. Kusch, Chauncey Hummel, John Young, Bert Conlan.

While speculation is rife as to the exact origin of the fire which destroyed the old school building, it will probably never be known just how the blaze started. Awakened at one o'clock Friday by an explosion which is believed to have been caused by ignited gas, residents of the neighborhood looked out of their windows to see flames leaping from several of the first floor windows, and before the fire department could be summoned had spread to the second floor and other rooms in the downstairs.

Rapidly with which flames spread to every part of the building has added to the belief that the explosion, which shook houses for some distance around, was caused by escaping gas either from city pipe lines or from a furnace. Within fifteen minutes from the time the explosion occurred the fire had eaten its way through the roof of the building, every window was belching flames, and the heat was so intense that any effort to control the flames was futile. Instead firemen turned their attention to saving the residences nearest the school building. Streams of water were constantly played on the Sisters' convent south of the school and the parsonage across the street to the north, as well as the residence of Harry Lyons on the east and that of Mrs. Mary Bollinger on the west. Luckily these buildings were saved without less serious than scorched paint.

The fact that brick walls of the school remained in an upright position possibly saved loss of other buildings in that they acted as a barrier to the intense heat raging for an outlet from the school. With the exception of the south chimney every part of the 16-inch wall remained standing through the fire and will have to be torn down before a new building can be erected. It was in force at the time of the fire. Insurance to the amount of $33,000, $15,000 of this was added during the last year by Fr. Fallon. Shortly after the fire had started and when it appeared that the Chelsea department might not be able to cope with the blaze a call was sent to the Ann Arbor fire department for help and in the course of twenty minutes a fire fighter from that city arrived on the scene but so quick had been the fire's spread that it had already begun to subside and the danger point had been passed, and the county sent apparatus was not called into action. School was resumed on Monday of this week, classes being held in the church.

HISTORY OF ST. MARY ACADEMY, CHELSEA

(By a pupil of the school) St. Mary Academy of this place, which was destroyed by fire on the morning of February 6, 1925, had been standing nineteen years, having been built in 1906.

The building of the school was completed in December of 1906, and on January 5, 1907, it was opened for study, with an enrollment of about sixty pupils.

When studies first started they were for the grammar grades only, and the place was called St. Mary School. In 1914, however, the High School department was established, and opened, and the school became generally known as St. Mary Academy.

In June, 1916, Louis Eder and Herbert McKinnon graduated, having the honor of being the first ones to graduate from the Academy. Since that year there has been six classes graduated from there.

For the first thirteen years after the school was opened it was superintended by Rev. W. P. Considine, under whose auspices it was built. When Rev. Fr. Considine left here in 1919 he was succeeded by Rev. Henry Van Dyke. The school was conducted by Fr. Van Dyke until January, 1924, when Rev. Thomas J. Fallon, present superintendent of the school, came here and took up his duties as pastor of St. Mary Parish.

Teachers of the Academy, since its opening in 1907, have been the Dominican Nuns of St. Joseph, Academy, Adrian, Michigan.

LOCAL ESSAYISTS BEGIN SUBMITTING OWN PRODUCT

Kempf Bank Essay Contest Promises To Be Bigger and Better Than Last Year.

It will soon be known why Alexander Hamilton worked so strenuously to found the first United States bank, who helped him make his plans, who were against him, and how it all turned out. Later, you'll be reading the names of those who won the prize of $5.00, $3.00 and $2.00, offered by The Kempf Commercial & Savings Bank.

A reproduction of the painting furnishing the inspiration for these essays is hanging in every school room of our schools. It is worthy of your special attention, showing as it does a group of our pioneer statesmen discussing the founding of a bank to save the credit of our new nation. These are excellent likenesses, the portraits having been done by J. H. Hintermeister, an American artist of renown.

All pupils are invited to compete for these prizes. Each manuscript must consist of only 600 words or less, and is to be examined by a number of skilled judges. The names of these judges and the winners of the prizes will be published later on. In the meantime, encourage these essayists all you can. Who knows but we may have several statesmen or writers of distinction growing up in our midst?

ONE ESCAPED CONVICT STILL ENJOYING LIBERTY

Four Companion Prisoners Captured at Farm Homes Within Few Miles of Cement Plant.

Of five prison inmates who escaped from the State cement plant at Chelsea Friday night, Joseph LaBeau of Toledo, Ohio, who played a lone hand in his get-away, was the only one still at liberty Monday afternoon. Prison officials and guards were still searching for the Toledo convict but had obtained no clues as to his whereabouts.

LaBeau is 40 years old, weighs 192 pounds, is 5 feet, 7 1/2 inches in height, has dark chestnut hair and a medium dark complexion. He has tattoo marks on his arms and chest. He was sentenced from Lenawee county for breaking and entering and has a wife living in Toledo.

William Beach, Jr., a farmer living two miles north of the State cement plant on the Garry Leaser farm, Dexter township, and Mrs. Wm. Fritz, Lyndon, residing on a farm 4 1/2 miles northeast of the plant, will each receive $200 reward for making possible the capture of the other four escaped men. John Schultz and William Owens were taken Saturday morning on Beach's farm and Roy Bailey and Leo Whitney Saturday afternoon at the Fritz home.

The men called at the home of Mrs. Fritz and asked for something to eat. Suspecting their identity Mrs. Fritz gave them food and while they were eating sent a little daughter to the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Greening where a call was sent for officers. The latter drove up to the house just as the escaped prisoners finished eating.

The customary reward of $100 is offered for LaBeau's capture.

WHAT EXCAVATIONS REVEAL

The Joint Archeological Expedition of the British Museum, and the University of Pennsylvania, digging among the ruins of Ur, ancient city of the Chaldees, report that they have discovered a museum, established by a high priestess, the daughter of the last king of Babylon, in which there are very many valuable religious and historical documents.

This ancient city of Abraham, where the first drawings of the Jewish religion had their origin, has always been an object of mystery. It was as when Paul started out to preach and establish the religion of Jesus.

The scientists doing the excavating report that they have found documents of a period at least 2500 years before Christ, and that they have found a person since what happened to him system of public schools. Government, too, had a flavor something of our own times, and a civilization had progressed to a point that seems as if it were to us who look back upon even the beginning of the Christian era as a period of superstition, ignorance and barbarism.

We have learned much from the past. But have we profited by the things we have learned?

Unless we are taught something by the history that archeologists discover in the ancient buried cities, the effort is wasted. We can learn something from the ancients about government and morals that would profit us greatly if we made use of the lessons.

WAR STORIES

A sect calling themselves "Reformed Seventh Day Adventists," made all preparations for the second coming of Christ last Friday night, sold all their worldly goods, and waited for a cloud that their prophet had promised would come along and pick them up, to carry them to San Diego, Cal., where 144,000 believers were to be concentrated, to be picked up by clouds and carried direct to heaven.

Among other things that the prophet had based his prediction on, was that part of the Christian scriptures which impress on the mind that "in the last days there shall be wars and rumors of wars." The news in the papers about wars and rumors of wars are quite sufficient, to be sure, to warrant one in expecting an end of the world, or almost anything else that might happen along.

Never in modern times has there been such a scattering of rumors. The French people are told that Germany is producing chemicals at the rate of 2000 a year, while France gets them at the rate of 150. The French peasant, an easily frightened system, somewhat like the modern system of public schools. Government, too, had a flavor something of our own times, and a civilization had progressed to a point that seems as if it were to us who look back upon even the beginning of the Christian airplanes, and the making of aviators to carry deadly gases and drop them on France—it is not strange that he believes the story.

Not that all of us are told of Japan's hatred for us, and of the building of thousands of war planes. England is told of Germany's aggression, and too, that France plans to fight her from the air. There isn't a nation in the world today that is not frightened more or less about rumors of war, in which deadly gases, high explosives and all sort of things are to be dropped from the air, and whole nations wiped out.

Is it surprising that a few religious zealots prepare for the end of the world?

CURBING THE LANDLORD

Washington City is in the throes of a war between landlords who own the houses, and tenants who rent them.

At the suggestion of President Coolidge, Richard S. Whaley, chairman of the rent commission of the District of Columbia, has drawn a bill which has been introduced into both the Senate and house, which declares that rental conditions are a menace to public health, comfort, peace and welfare for the District of Columbia, and that it is interfering with the transaction of government business, and that all buildings rented or to be rented for dwelling purposes are clothed with a public interest. The measure then gives to the proper authorities the right and power to regulate rents.

As a war measure, when rents were steadily going up, and landlords were profiting thereby, such measures were adopted, and all was well. But any attempt to lower rents is met by a stubborn fight. Not only are the real estate men and landlords of Washington fighting the measure, but these organizations all over the country are making the fight on the congressmen from their own home towns. They fear that if such a measure passes, and rents are regulated by law in Washington that it will establish a precedent which will bring about the same condition all over the country. States and cities are expected to follow the lead of Congress and prepare to curb unprofitable rental charges.

ENTOMBED IN CAVE

Newspapers last week were filled with stories of how Floyd Collins of Cave City, Ky., was imprisoned in a cave which belonged to him, the imprisonment being caused by a landslide which closed the opening of the cave and precipitated a boulder which pinned Collins' legs and held him prisoner, even after friends had tunneled in to him. The rescuers, it was reported, could carry food to him but could give him no relief, because they could not move the boulder which pinned him down.

It is queer the stories, the newspapers will take up and play all over the front page. If Floyd Collins did actually get imprisoned in the cave, it was a good news story, but it did not possess the value given it by city editors.

Those old timers among the newspaper men who remember the tales of "The Wichita Liar" will be inclined to take this tale of the imprisonment of Floyd Collins as a story on a par with the story sent from Wichita, Kansas, some twenty-five or thirty years ago. The story was to the effect that a child had dropped head first into a drilled well that had been fitted with a pipe. As all well drillers know, who drill deep wells, the pipe or casing at the top of the ground is larger than it is lower down. The hole tapers very gradually. This is particularly true of drillings of oil. The "Wichita Liar" as the author of the child in the drilled well was dubbed, kept his story going for days. Rescuing parties were doing all sorts of stunts. They supplied food, and kept the child alive, but every day he would lose a little flesh, which would permit him to slide a little deeper into the hole. After a week or two of this, the hole was exposed, and the story ended almost as suddenly as it began. The New York newspapers, which had played it like a movie star's marriage, promptly and suddenly forgot all about it, and so far as their readers were concerned, the child was still in the well and sliding every day a little nearer to China.

There have been many hoaxes of like character and every time an old time newspaper man reads a story like that about Floyd Collins, no matter how much truth there may be in it, the mind naturally reverts to the child that slid daily nearer the earth's center at Wichita, where there was not, at the time, a hole deep enough to furnish sliding for five days if such a ridiculous thing as a child falling in and sliding down had occurred.

Ground hog day was nationally observed last week. In some places he saw his shadow, and is expected to "hole up" for six more long, dreary weeks of winter. In other places there was a snowstorm all day, and people expected to be picking flowers in a day or two, because the darkness of February second meant that winter was over. It is more than passing strange how deep-rooted some of the superstitions of the people are.

It is going to be hard for people endowed with "The old time religion" to get much of a religious thrill out of the fact that some ten millions of dollars is being spent in New York City to complete the cathedral of St. John the Divine. When we read that it will take a month, and enough coal to supply several hundred families all winter to heat it once, we are inclined to think that a smaller building, where the members could get closer together and warm things up with a little old time religious fervor, might be more in line with the teachings of the followers of the Man of Galilee, whose first principle of Christian righteousness was humility.

A New York man has invented a telephone "secretary." When he leaves his office the "secretary" is connected up with his telephone. When someone calls, the telephone secretary "answers" the phone and remarks: "This is Mr. Smith's office. There is no one here at present to talk, but you can give me your message or you can call again after 3.30 this afternoon, when Mr. Smith will be in." A fine aid to business. Now, if we could get a telephone attachment that would write checks for the bill collectors when they come, and see that the checks were good, life would be worth living, after all.

Bill Goodman, of Nauvoo, Ill., was a hobo, riding on a freight train. The train was wrecked, the hobo saved the life of the engineer, pinned under his engine, and became a hero. There is the stuff of which heroes are made, in all of us if the opportunity arrives, giving us a chance to prove it. Acts of heroism are no more than expressions of human sympathy.

Reports from Russia, of growing uneasiness on the part of the peasants, and the possibility of an uprising to take charge of the government, and get possession of the lands, is one of the signs of Russian improvement. That great country can not always be bound in Bolshevik chains.

District Attorney Banton of New York City, after investigating the baseball scandal in connection with the World's Series of 1924, lays all the blame on Jimmy O'Connell. Somebody had to be the goat if the principals in the plot were to be protected—so O'Connell was selected.

It has been suggested that we need statesmen of larger caliber to protect the interests of our country, rather than guns of larger caliber and longer range. It has been suggested that statesmen of larger caliber would give us guns of longer range and higher caliber. You can pay your money and take your choice.

White America advertises "near beer," Germany advertises "near beer," and gets away with it.

The American people swear too much at Congress. The American Congress more nearly represents the people than any other branch of the government. What our Congress is, is no more nor less than a reflection of ourselves on the mirror of our national capitol.

CAPITOL THEATRE, JACKSON, OFFERING EXCEPTIONAL BILL

Starting Sunday, February 15, and for one week except Thursday evening when the musical comedy "Lollipop" will be offered, the Capitol Theatre, Jackson, will offer their "Second Annual Mid-Winter Circus," a combination that Manager McLaren claims is the biggest aggregation ever gathered together in any theatre in Michigan. For weeks he has been arranging this combination in association with his booking agent, C. L. Carrell of Chicago, and is satisfied that he has assembled a combination that will please his patrons 100 per cent.

Among the features that will be offered is a troupe of sixteen trained ponies and horses. These animals are said to be one of the finest trained outfits ever brought to Jackson. In addition there are monkeys, dogs, and of course the trick work that is always an adjunct of an indoor circus. Then there are "The Lehmbacks," equilibrists and hand balancers, the Aerial Patts, world's fastest aerial act; Florette, flexible physical culture marvel; The Reckless Trio, acrobats; LaSalle and Mack, ground tumblers, and Van DerKoor known from coast to coast as a slide show spieler and comedian.

Of course no circus would be complete without clowns, and Manager McLaren has provided them for the amusement of the children, from six to sixty.

The usual street parade, which is a feature with the outdoor circus, is to be given with Manager McLaren's Indoor Circus, but this will be held Monday noon. Every feature of a regular parade will be given, including the horse and wagon band, the Jaguar cart, and the bucking mule, and of course the old reliable "Callopie."

A picture "He Who Gets Slapped," a story of circus life with Lon Chaney, Norma Shearer, and John Gilbert, will be a part of the program which Manager McLaren claims is the best that he has ever offered his patrons.

Main street has been found and on recommendation of the Milan Woman's Club the building was moved to its new location.—Leader.

Milan—The Juniors in Milan High School have joined with students of other secondary schools in the country in the annual Lincoln essay contest. Each school will conduct a separate contest which has been suggested by the Lincoln Centennial Association of Springfield, Ill., the birthplace of the president. The purpose of the contest is a concentrated effort to increase knowledge and admiration of the great emancipator among school children.—Leader.

Saline—Carl Schnebelt, who has successfully conducted a modern bakery here for the past eight years and a half, the first of the week sold out to Karl Woelke and Paul Miller, the latter having been employed at the bakery for several years. Mr. Schnebelt has no immediate plans for the future, and it will be pleasing news to his large circle of friends that he will continue to make Saline his home for several months at least.—Enterprise.

Observer. Mr. Schnebelt is a brother of Joe Schnebelt who recently sold his Chelsea bakery business.

Pinckney—Another new enterprise was brought to Pinckney when A. H. Buhl, president of the Buhl Sons Hardware Co. of Detroit, bought the Murphy farm near Patterson lake and with Erik B. Dons installed a home for pedigreed dogs. Mr. Dons is superintendent of about forty thousand acres owned by Mr. Buhl. The properties are in Michigan, Canada, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania, New York and the South. Mr. Dons is from Denmark, where he was a breeder and trainer of hunting dogs on his father's estate, a property of about 4000 acres.—Dispatch.

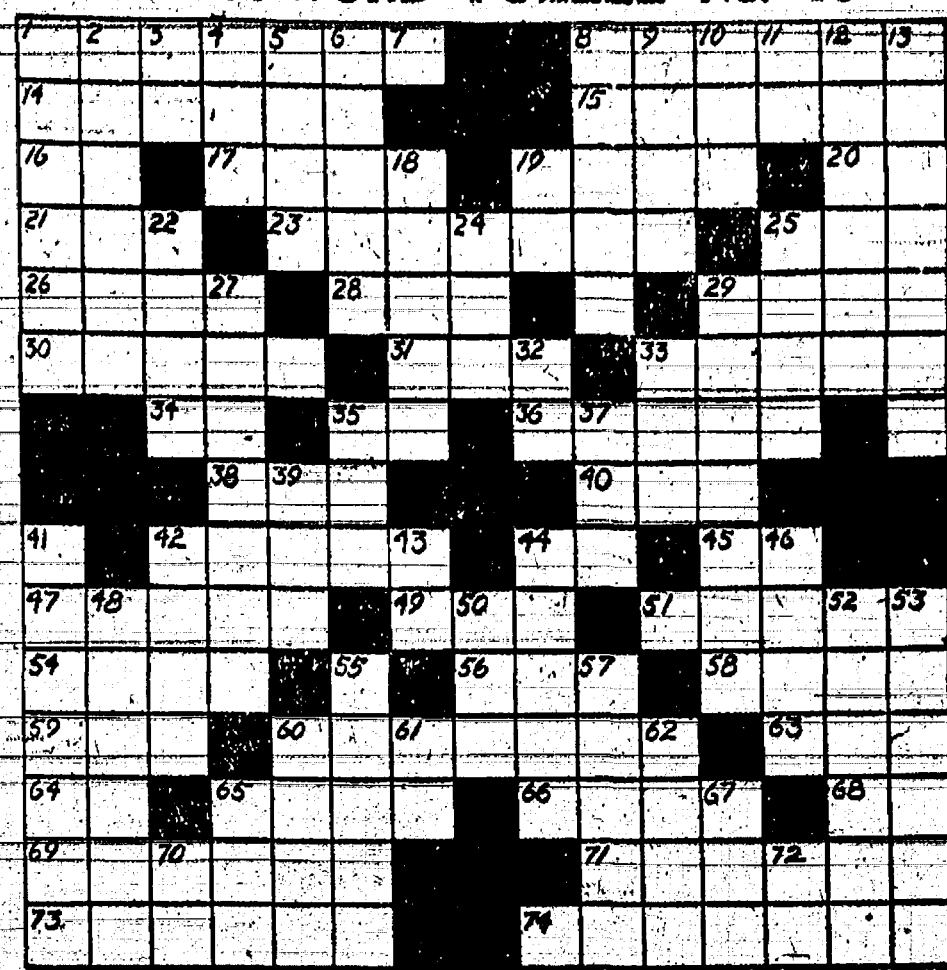

Ypsilanti—Frank Craft, a motor man on the D. U. R. freight car, was almost instantly killed about midnight Wednesday. The long freight cars were nearing the top of the hill on West Cross street when something went wrong and Craft went between the cars to investigate and was crushed as they shut together. Chief of Police John Connors was called to the scene of the accident and he rushed the injured man to Preyer hospital but he was dead when they arrived there. Frank Craft had been with the D. U. R. for a long time. He was aged 25 and unmarried, living with his parents near Free Church, Superior.—Record.

Mason—Rosen Rye, Michigan's high producing variety and the strain which has won most of the rye awards at recent International Hay and Grain shows, will be planted a long way from its native state during the coming season. An order for seed from the famous variety has been received at the Michigan Agricultural College from the Hartbeestpoort Experiment Station, Brits Transvaal, South Africa. J. E. Donkin, manager of the Hartbeestpoort station, tried out a small sample of Rosen a year ago with such good results that he is running a large-scale test this year. As a result, Rosen is likely to become a citizen, not only of Michigan and many other American states, but also of the world.—News.

Manchester—A new instrument has been installed at the municipal electric light plant which makes it possible to combine the village circuit and that coming from Clinton. The new arrival is not very large, but it has a formidable name, "synchronizer," and performs an important function, that of timing the two flows of alternating current. Difficulty has been experienced in getting enough current at "peak" times such as on Saturday night, when everyone seems to want light. The local plant could not furnish it alone, neither could it be obtained from Clinton. Running the two currents together, as can be done by aid of the new instrument, it is expected will make everything satisfactory. It was tried last Saturday night and there were no complaints to dim lights.—Enterprise.

NOTORIOUS JOINT IS CLOSED BY TROOPERS

"Holland Grove," an alleged house of ill-fame in Saginaw, Michigan, after five raids, is now likely to stay closed. Padlock proceedings are being taken by the prosecutor.

The State Police participated in all of the raids. A report was received at headquarters at Lansing after the third raid advising Capt. O. G. Olander that the place was again operating and that some shooting had taken place shortly before the letter was written. It was unsigned, but the writer proved to be a discarded lover of one of the inmates.

All of the occupants, including the proprietor, who claimed to be buying the house on a contract, were arrested and paid fines. The proprietor asked to be allowed to sell the house and leave the city, but the padlock proceedings would not be dropped by the state.

Night Coughing Stopped Quickly By Simple Treatment

Thousands who are troubled with persistent coughing at night, which robs them of valuable sleep, weaken their systems and lay a basis for dangerous infections, can quickly act to prevent this danger through a very simple treatment. People who have hardly been able to rest at all on account of coughing spells have found they can sleep the whole night through undisturbed after the first time they try it.

The treatment is based on a remarkable prescription known as Dr. King's New Discovery for Coughs. You simply take a teaspoonful at night before retiring, and hold it in your throat for 15 or 20 seconds before swallowing it, without allowing it to touch the tongue. The prescription has a double action. It not only soothes and heals soreness and irritation, but it quickly loosens and removes the phlegm and congestion which are the direct cause of the coughing. The result is you usually sleep soundly the very first night, and the entire cough condition goes in a very short time.

The prescription is highly recommended for coughs, chest colds, hoarseness, and bronchitis, and is wonderful for children's coughs and spasmodic cough—no harmful drugs, economical, too, as the only one ten-cent! At all good druggists. Ask for

Helping Re-forest Your State

A benefit to every Michigan citizen

"Reforestation has an importance far above the attention it usually receives. . . . America's magnificent timber supply now needs replenishing."—President Coolidge

CONSUMERS Power Company is undertaking for you and for Michigan a large and important conservation program.

A generation ago the historic timberland of Michigan was cut down—the forests were lumbered off—leaving millions of acres of bare stump land. Through such idle acres flow the Manistee, Au Sable and Muskegon Rivers. Here it is that this Company converts waterpower into useful electric energy and carries it to 168 Michigan cities and towns.

And now—in order that this wasteland, covered with brush and scrub, may be made useful to Michigan, Consumers Power Company has begun a constructive reforestation program, which in the coming years will become an increasingly valuable asset to the State. 5,000 pines have been set out on the Au Sable River and are being carefully developed. If this is successful, others will follow.

What does this mean to you? The influence of growing timber and forest land is far-reaching. It affects and helps climate, rainfall and drainage; it aids the flow of streams; it increases soil fertility; it preserves animal life—and fosters an abundance of birds, keeping down insect pests on the farms. Then, too, it will give places of beauty to campers, tourists—to you, and your children to follow, for an outing near at home.

So will come again the forest monarchs—the pines that beckon to rest and play in their cool depths—and in assuring the waterpower that gives you the light and power you need for work and home—will help bring back to Michigan the forest glory that was hers.

Lincoln Said:

"The prudent, penniless beginner in the world labors for wages awhile, saves a surplus with which to buy tools or land for himself, then labors another while and at length hires another beginner to help him."

The cycle of success as Lincoln saw it is much the same today.

Work and save. With the accumulated surplus acquire productive property. Again work and save. With the added capital you can put others at work for you.

DISCOVER HIDDEN FACTS ABOUT ABE LINCOLN

In Research on Great Liberator's Life Many Hitherto Unknown Qualities and Habits Come to Life.

In examining more than 17,000 books and documents about Abraham Lincoln the researchers for the Rookett Lincoln Film Company, producers of "Abraham Lincoln," a First National picture to be shown at the Princess Theatre, Wednesday and Thursday, February 18 and 19, matinee and night, have amassed almost countless odds and ends of facts—little things—that go to make up the sum total of Lincolniana. Do you know these?

Mr. Lincoln told Leonard Sweet he had never tasted whiskey. But he loved corn in those other four popular pioneer forms—hog, hominy, hoe cake and on the cob.

He had a good singing voice and loved to sing as he drove through the country—a habit of the pioneers. He loved animals and birds, but did not care particularly for flowers. He said he had had no time to study them.

The first and only steamboat that ever navigated the Sangamon River was piloted by Lincoln.

Abraham Lincoln was of Quaker stock and proud of it. During his residence in Indiana he borrowed and read every book within a radius of fifty miles of his home. He stood six feet four without his boots and could lift a thousand pounds.

His chief recreation after he became President was to read the books of American humorists and Shakespeare. These were his safety valves. The boy Lincoln's first job was to tote corn to Hodgson's mill near his boyhood home in Kentucky. Later he was a mill hand in Cameron & O'Fallon's mill at New Salem, Ill.

At fifty-two he became President. At twenty-six young Lincoln was saddled with a debt of $1,100 that he did not really owe and was not morally bound to pay, but he did pay in full with high interest after a struggle of many years. He told Leonard Sweet that this debt was the greatest obstacle of his life.

As a boy, youth, and man, Lincoln was a favorite with women. They all liked him—old and young. He had three great loves and there was never a tenderer lover, more devoted husband nor a more patient and loving daddy.

As war President he had an uncanny insight into military affairs and would doubtless have been as great a commander as statesman.

N. W. Laird, local apple grower, again proved his ability as a fruit grower when he carried home premiums awarded at the M. A. C. apple show held during Farmers' week last week. Mr. Laird won third place in collections, 2nd on single plate of Wagners and third on single plate of wealthies. This record is unusually good when it is known that fifteen bushels of prize winning apples from which he had expected to pick his show apples at the M. A. C. show were stolen from a warehouse at Grand Rapids, following the state apple show in that city late last fall.

The apples were carefully packed and labeled before put in storage and it is believed by Mr. Laird that they proved too tempting for somebody lacking the necessary scruples to leave them alone. Several other fruit growers were relieved of their apples in the same manner at the same place.

Mrs. George Nordman was called to Detroit Friday, to assist in the care of her son, Paul, who is reported seriously ill at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Nordman.

SCHOOL NEWS

On Friday evening the 6th the C. H. S. boys basket ball team invaded Ann Arbor—high school reserves territory and emerged victors in a tight game played to a packed house with the score of 15-14. The game started with a rush and a fast period followed from which Ann Arbor led with 6-2. Chelsea scored first and then stepped back for defensive and allowed 3 goals. The half went only a little better and the defense tightened to end with a score of 8-4. The extreme heat of the building seemed to slow down the locals but after the half the spirits rose and the score saw-sawed back and forth, stopping with a tie of 13-13 at the conclusion of a minute overtime period. Ann Arbor's favorite long shot time, Kinney's basket and a foul on White made the score 16-14. Poor basket shooting at close range characterized the contest throughout. Ann Arbor was the worst.

Line-up and scoring follows: R. F. Kinney; L. F. Steger; C. Fox; R. G. White; L. G. Beach. Substitutions: Broesams for Fox, Fox for Broesams. Field goals: Kinney 1, Steger 1, Fox 1, White 2. Free throws: Beach 1, Fox 3, White 1. Referee, Mitchell.

Among the notables present were Coaches Mather, Little, Barker and Wieman.

The teams of C. H. S. appreciate the support given them by townspeople, both at home and abroad. Each team dropped a game to Saline on their floor and intend to redeem themselves Friday the 13th even if it does sound strange.

Three games will be played on the Welfare floor Friday and all will be interesting contests. You don't want to miss these! Be there at 7:30.

A Lincoln program was given this (Thursday) morning.

The undergraduate editors have been announced: Junior, Anna Mayer; Sophomores, Dean Rogers; Freshmen, Ruth Vogel.

The Senior class have been looking at Commencement invitations.

Thought and Labor
It is only by labor that thought can be made healthy, and only by thought that labor can be made happy, and the two cannot be separated with impunity.

WHY SUFFER SO?
Why suffer from a bad back, from sharp, shooting twinges, headaches, dizziness and distressing urinary ills? Chelsea people recommend Doan's Pills. Ask your neighbor! Could you ask for stronger proof of merit? John Kelly, W. Middle St., Chelsea, says: "My work started my kidney trouble. The secretions which were highly colored and contained sediment passed irregularly and were painful in passage. I suffered from rheumatic pains in my back and got sore and stiff. Mornings I felt tired and it took an hour or so to get limbered up. I was often nervous and dizzy, especially when I stooped. I used different remedies but received no relief until I saw Doan's Pills advertised and tried some. Doan's completely relieved me." (Statement given March 1, 1919).

On April 27, 1920, Mr. Kelly said: "Doan's Pills are all right and I gladly confirm the statement I gave some years ago."

FORD MOTOR CO. OPENS
NEW MANUFACTURING UNIT

Another big manufacturing unit has just been opened at the River Rouge plant of the Ford Motor Company, Detroit, and all Ford engines are now being built there, facilities permitting most any increase in production that demands may require.

The new building, which adjoins the machine shop and foundry, has a floor space of 525,400 square feet and is of one-story construction with extensive window space and roof of glass and steel so as to provide the maximum in daylight and sanitary working conditions. Motors are assembled on four conveyor lines, each 288 feet in length, and the plant working at capacity can produce 9,000 completed motors a day operating in two eight-hour shifts. Assembly of the transmission and the manufacture of numerous motor parts also are carried on in the new building.

Transfer of the motor assembly from Highland Park to the new building at the River Rouge brings closer relationship in this phase of the company's production cycle, and manufacture proceeds more continuously. The cylinder blocks, from the time they take form when the molten metal is poured into molds in the foundry, move forward uninterruptedly through the great machine shops and on to the assembly line where they are built into completed power plants.

Passing of the Ford engine assembly line takes from the Highland Park plant and the scene of its origin, one of its most picturesque and interesting departments, one which was a never-ending marvel to the thousands who annually visit this great automobile manufacturing institution.

Since the first small motor assembly line was put into operation, when the Ford conveyor system was inaugurated back in 1911, nearly eleven million Model T Ford motors have been assembled in the Highland Park plant and sent to all parts of the world.

As production demands grew additional assembly lines were installed and when the department closed at the Highland Park plant motors were being assembled on four conveyor lines, each 110 feet long. There were a day were produced along these assembly lines with the record sixteen-hour day standing at 8,391.

But progress in manufacture demanded that motor assembly be conducted in closer relation to furnace, foundry and machine shop. With the completion of the new building at the River Rouge the line at the Highland Park plant was discontinued.

STATE DETECTIVES

The success of the criminal investigation bureau of the Michigan Department of Public Safety is co-operating with local officers in the solving of murder cases, burglaries and other serious crimes has resulted in an increase in the amount of appropriation asked for this branch of work. The idea is to provide trained detectives to work with sheriffs and other local officers in criminal cases.

Assistance given by the small present force of state detectives resulted in clearing up several murders, recently and securing confessions and convictions.

A Skating Whirligig

THE skating whirligig can be used in a number of different ways, and once it is set up in one corner of the lake or river, it will give sport to skaters throughout the season. It can be made from an old hayrack wheel, an iron rod about twice the length of the wheel hub, a long post and a length of rope, and with the help of three or four industrious friends, any boy can construct it in an hour.

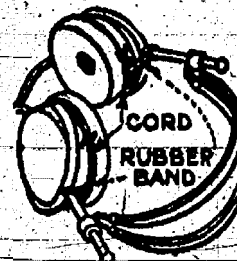

The spot chosen for the device should be quite a distance from the bank, to permit skaters to whirl in a 40 or 50-ft. circle if they desire. Chop a hole in the ice slightly larger than the butt of the post and set the post in the mud on the bottom so that about 6 ft. of it remains above the ice. Throw the chunks of ice used, they should be rolled up and held by the skater, later being easily pulled out as he skates about the whirligig until he is swinging in a large circle.

There are two general ways of using the device, one being to start from a standstill, with a skater on each rope. The skating becomes faster and faster until all are coasting while one or two continue to skate. Another way is to catch at the ropes while it is in motion. First, one skater heads for the ropes at full speed, grasps one of the ropes as he passes by, and starts whirling about. A second boy skates up and catches a rope, being careful to watch for a good opening. Another skater flashes in and takes possession of another rope, and this is continued until the whirligig is flying around at a fast clip. By tying a rope which is 75 or 100 ft. long to the wheel and having the others skate around it, one can slowly start a huge track about the wheel, and as the speed increases, it will be necessary to coast to keep one's balance. Then release the hold on the rope and sail off in a wide arc. One can find a dozen other different stunts.

Preventing Headphone Cords from Twisting

Headphones often have a tendency to turn around in the frames that hold them and this causes the cord to kink, making it unhandy to put the set over the ears. An easy way to overcome this difficulty is to remove each phone and slip a short heavy rubber band over the sliding adjustment rod, as shown in the illustration. Unscrew the rubber cap of the phone; pass a piece of string through the rubber band, and wind the string in the last two threads on the phone body. Then by screwing the cap tight, the string will be securely held on the shell, and the phones cannot turn.

STATE LIVE STOCK REPORT

The annual live stock estimates for January 1, 1925, issued Friday by Verne H. Church, U. S. Agricultural Statistician and L. Whitney Watkins, State Commissioner of Agriculture, show that there are more milk cows and sheep on Michigan farms than one year ago, and less other cattle, horses and swine. These changes are in keeping with those of the United States as a whole. The prices are considerably higher for sheep and swine, but the changes in values of other classes as compared with January 1, 1924, have been slight. The total value of all live stock on farms is estimated to be $146,338,000, which is nearly $4,500,000 more than one year ago. On November 15, the average live stock prices for the entire country were approximately 16 per cent higher than on the same date of the previous year, having risen from three per cent below the 1913 level to 19 per cent above. The prices are still relatively low in comparison with grain crops.

Horses. The number of horses still continues to decrease annually. Very few colts are being raised, and the average age of all horses is much higher than it was a few years ago. The estimated number is 542,690 as compared with the revised estimate of 570,000 for one year ago. The average price per head is $262, making the total value $44,444,000.

Mules. The estimated number remains at approximately 6,000, the total being too small and the animals too thinly scattered over the State to admit of a very close estimate. The total value is placed at $498,000, or $83 per head.

Milk Cows. The dairy industry continues to increase in Michigan, although the rate is relatively slow. The gain during the past year has been 10,000 cows, or one per cent, making the present number 997,000. These cows are worth, on the average $60 per head or a total of $59,820,000. The price per head shows no change from that of last year.

Other Cattle. The number of cattle other than milk cows on Michigan farms has declined two per cent since January 1, 1924, leaving a total of 559,000 head. These are worth $15,394,000 or $25.70 per head. Last year the average price was $24.90 per head.

Sheep. There has been an increase of two per cent in the total number of sheep in the state during the past year notwithstanding the fact that less lambs were on feed at the beginning of this year than one year ago. The present total is placed at 1,184,000 with a combined value of $13,134,000. This is an average of $11 per head as compared with $8.30 one year ago. Michigan is the most important lamb feeding state east of the Mississippi river, but operations were curtailed to some extent this year because of the poor crop of corn.

Swine. The low yield and poor quality of the corn crop has greatly reduced the number of hogs both in Michigan and the United States. The decline in Michigan amounts to 20 per cent, leaving only 932,000 on farms at the time of report as compared with 1,165,000 on the same date last year. This reduction has brought about a marked increase in price, the average being $14 per head as compared with $10 one year ago. This gives the present holdings a value of $13,048,000 or nearly $14,000 more than the larger number was worth on January 1, 1924.

Mrs. J. H. Boyd entertained at a 6:30 dinner on Monday evening at her home south of town. Five hundred was the chief diversion of the evening, six tables being occupied. Place favors of pink and white and white sweet peas were used in decorations.

A resident of Sylvan has received during the last few weeks over $200 bounty money for sparrows. The amount of money received from this source has paid all of the state, county and township taxes on the farm and personal property on the premises.

That traffic rules and regulations which require motor vehicles to come to a stop at street intersections with Main will be strictly enforced in the future was the word Marshal Wm. Atkinson was handing out the fore part of this week. Lack of conforming to this law is causing narrow escapes from accidents every day, the marshal asserts, and to avoid serious results traffic laws of the village will be enforced to the letter.

REV. FALLON EXPRESSES APPRECIATION TO PUBLIC

Expressing his appreciation and that of his parish, Rev. Fr. T. J. Fallon, pastor of St. Mary's Catholic church, has issued the following statement with regard to the fire which destroyed St. Mary's parochial school last Friday morning. The statement:

On last Friday morning about one o'clock, fire of unknown origin broke out in the furnace room located in the northwestern corner of the basement of St. Mary's school, and within an hour the entire building was in ruins. A number of neighbors who had not as yet retired, were startled by a very loud explosion, which occurred as nearly as can be determined at 12:55 o'clock. A few moments before the explosion, several of the neighbors who were returning home stated that they detected the odor of pine wood burning, as they approached the school building from Main street. No other indications of fire being noticed they dismissed the thought with the suggestion that somebody had thrown pipe boards into his furnace.

Too much praise cannot be given to the local fire department, which responded very promptly to the alarm. Manfully they fought against tremendous odds which I honestly believe would have proven insurmountable to the largest and best equipped fire department of any large city. There was a hopeless task from the very outset, but they did not labor in vain for there is no question that but for their efforts the Sisters' home and the Rectory would likewise have been destroyed.

We do not know the cause of the fire. We did not then nor do we now harbor the thought that the school was set on fire. Any explanation of the cause of this fire can be nothing more than mere conjecture. The good feeling that exists in this community between us and our fellow citizens of different faith must eliminate any suspicion that the school was set on fire.

I wish to state on behalf of the members of St. Mary's Parish, that we are deeply grateful for the many kind expressions of sympathy tendered us by our fellow citizens, and neighbors in the very great loss that we have sustained. Your kind feeling toward us I may say, strengthens and encourages us in our determination to cause to rise from the ashes of the old a newer and better St. Mary's School, more modern, nobler than the first.

In a few months we expect to invite you to rejoice with us in the dedication of the new St. Mary's, which will be consecrated as was the old, to the task of educating young men and young women, trained to be faithful servants of God and loyal citizens of our country.

Signed, Thos. J. Fallon, Pastor St. Mary Parish.

Re-reading your Bible and attending church will give our state stability. Friends it takes men, women and children to make a church, but I put emphasis on every word.
