TRACTOR CLINIC HELD HERE FRIDAY AFTERNOON

Under the supervision of the Ford Motor Co. and the Palmer Motor Sales a tractor clinic was held here last Friday.

The features were special moving pictures on the development of Ford's tractor, also a special film developed by the Oliver chiller plow works, showing corn actually sprouting. These views were taken with a microscope attachment and required eight days of actual photography night and day. 4,000 feet of film was used. Another interesting feature was the manufacture of Ford cars and tractors from the iron ore to the finished product.

The films were shown in the Princeton theatre at 3 o'clock and the place was filled to its capacity. About 200 pupils were present from the public and St. Mary's schools.

The speakers for the event were Mr. Hunt, field expert Mr. Jackson, truck division, William Ford, a brother of Henry Ford and D. H. Millard.

AN EPIC OF WEST IN JAMES CRUIZES FINE PRODUCTION

"The Covered Wagon" bristles with dramatic scenes that thrill. A magnificent epic of the early west is James Cruze's latest Paramount production, "The Covered Wagon," which will be the feature of the Princess 3 days, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, March 17, 18, 19. This is a pictorialization of Emerson Hough's new novel of the same name, and it is said to be one of the greatest photoplays ever seen on the screen.

The features embraced in this story are many and varied, and include among others, the start of 350 covered wagons from Westport Landing (now Kansas City), in 1848. The terrors of fording, freshet rivers, prairie fires and the like are depicted with great realism. A buffalo hunt is one of the most exciting scenes. Old Fort Bridger with a night attack and fight by day with Indians, is shown. The dividing of the trails to Oregon and California at old Fort Hall, a touch of the gold fever in California, magnificent mountain shots and a culmination of the romance with the establishment of one of the first homesteads in Oregon.

These are all incidents in a picture that bristles with big scenes. Such historical characters as Kit Carson, Jim Bridger and Bill Jackson, scouts and typical western characters, are portrayed in the Paramount screen version of the novel which is conceded to be one of the most notable literary achievements of the present decade.

The various roles are in the hands of well known screen players. The leading man is J. Warren Kerrigan, and the leading woman is Lois Wilson. Alan Hale is the villain. Others in the cast include Tully Marshall, Ethel Wales, Charles Ogle and John Fox. Jack Cunningham adapted the novel to the screen.

LAFAYETTE GRANGE PASSES RESOLUTION

At the regular meeting held March 5, 1925 by Lafayette Grange number ninety-two the following resolution was passed:

"Be it resolved that Lafayette Grange number ninety-two is opposed to the consolidation of our rural schools but that it is in favor of improving the one room rural schools so that they will all be up to the grade of standard rural school. Be it further resolved that a copy of this resolution be sent to our Pomona Master and to the County School Commissioner and Chelsea Standard."

BOY SCOUTS BUILD BIRD HOUSES IN 3-WEEKS CONTEST

Approximately twenty bird houses are on display in the Chaucery Freeman store window this week, built by members of the Chelsea Boy Scout troop during the last three weeks.

Following appropriation by the Kiwanis club of money enough to purchase the lumber of which they are built, the Scouts constituted an excellent representation of patterns for the use of feathered friends.

Monday evening workmanship of the houses was judged and Frederick Steiner awarded first, Claude Rogers second, Carl Risley third and Ellwood Bearbower fourth.

Prizes for the three best houses have been offered by the Knott Commercial & Savings Bank and the Farmers & Merchants Bank of Chelsea.

LIFELONG RESIDENT OF SYLVAN PASSES AWAY

Surviving Mr. Lucht are his widow; a son, Otto Lucht of Lima, Chelsea, May 4, 1855, and died at her township; four daughters, Mrs. John home on West Middle street, Chelsea; Steuckermann of Dexter, Mrs. Harry Stoffer of Lima, Mrs. Mary Eschebach and Mrs. Henry Merkel, both of Chelsea; one brother, Fred Lucht of Ann Arbor, and one sister, Mrs. Augusta Plateau of Minnesota. Most of their married life was spent on a farm in Superior for two years and then moved to their farm at Four Mile Lake.

The funeral will be held from the home, probably on Saturday, Rev. P. H. Grabowski will officiate. Burial in Oak Grove cemetery.

CAVANAUGH LAKE GRANGE

Editorial

SAYS SERBIA KNEW

Arthur Ponsonby, under-secretary of foreign affairs under the regime of Ramsay MacDonald in England, has made what he is pleased to call "sensational disclosures" in connection with the murder of Archduke Francis Ferdinand at Sarajevo, Serbia, in 1914, which has been credited with starting the world war. Ponsonby says that Serbia knew of the plot of the murder, and the Serbian government was a party to the plot.

Should the statement of Ponsonby be all that is claimed to be, and should every statement be a solemn fact, there is no reason why it should have started the world war, and led to such an international holocaust. The life of an archduke should be no more important than the life of plain John Smith. One useful production, God-fearing plain citizens, is a matter of fact, is worth a hundred indolent, lazy, loitering, non-producing grand dukes. A grand duke is not and has never been an official of any country. He is merely a waiter waiting for dead men's shoes. If enough men die, he continues to live, he may some day come into a place of power. This is all. The American Declaration of Independence, told the truth—all men are created free and equal.

GERMANY AFTER EBERT

It is plain, from dispatches coming out of Berlin, that when President Ebert of Germany died, that country not only lost a good ruler, a statesman and a constructive head of its government, but that the German people lost their most sincere friend, and world stability lost one of its foundation stones.

President Ebert has been sincerely mourned in his own country, and will be sincerely missed in other parts of the world, for all of us are affected more or less by the peaceful and constructive conditions in any great country.

What will come after Ebert? That is the question now agitating not alone Germany, but the entire world. It would be a distinct step backward, in the eyes of the world's great democracies, to see Germany revert to monarchy, or to that worse condition of soviet rule, which is always possible in any country that seethes with such unrest as marked Germany since the end of the world war.

CONGRESSIONAL SALARIES

President Coolidge, in the face of his fight for economy and much criticism of the raise of congressional salaries in the metropolitan press, signed the bill making the pay of congressmen $10,000 a year, instead of $7,500. It took courage to do that but the president had the courage.

A very great deal of the criticism of our congressmen is wrong. It started out like the ancient mother-in-law joke started, and has become a sort of a fixture and stock in trade with our newspaper humorists, and national political writers. It is unfair and unjust criticism. In a body of nearly 500 men, it is not astonishing that we find a few who are unfit and unworthy representatives of the people. It is not remarkable that we find a few who are incompetent, negligent and wholly out of place. But as a whole the American congress is made up of men who are the best brains and character of their districts. These labor ceaselessly and ardently for their constituents and their country. They are men of the type who could earn very much more attending to their own business, than they could earn in congressional salaries at $10,000 a year.

The American people want able and better men in the national congress. They ought to be, and we believe they are willing to pay salaries adequate to the service rendered.

The congressional salary increase is quite justified, and Mr. Coolidge was quite right in signing the measure.

PRESIDENT'S PARDONING POWER
President Coolidge, about a year ago, pardoned Philip Grossman of Chicago, who had been sentenced to pay a fine of $1000 and spend a year in prison. He was a Chicago bootlegger, who was charged with contempt of court.

Grossman was fined and sentenced to prison for contempt of Justice Landis' Court, before Landis became grand mogul of organized baseball. He was never arrested, and when his name appeared a little more than a year ago, as one of those pardoned by President Coolidge the case was reopened, and the circuit court ruled that the president had exceeded his authority in pardoning him. The case was appealed to the supreme court, with the result that that tribunal ruled that the president has unlimited power to pardon anybody, convicted of any charge. It denies the contention of the circuit court of Illinois, that in case of contempt the power of a court transcends the power of the president.

Generators of Birds

They say that birds originate from...

MR. DAWES IN ROUGH

Charles G. Dawes, when he took the oath of vice presidential office on March Fourth in the Senate Chamber, in the presence of that august body, took occasion to challenge the traditions of the senate; to criticize senate rules and precedents; to shake a belligerent finger in senatorial faces, and, as one correspondent put it, to have the attitude: "Now you boys have been naughty. You have had fun out of other teachers, but here is a new master, and it will be necessary for you to be on perfect behavior all the time."

It was natural for senators to resent the Dawes attitude. It was undiplomatic, and it was unfortunate, for Mr. Dawes can make friends for the administration, or he can make enemies. The administration needs friends. The country needs harmonious administration at Washington. Good government can not come out of a condition where the law-making power is at constant warfare with the executive department. We need all the brains we can get in Washington. We need all the fair dealing, all the diplomacy, all the fair dealing, all the relief legislation that is possible. The American people want harmony, and in the end, they will have it.

HAVE YOU READ YOUR POLICY?

How many holders of insurance policies have ever read them? The policy may be on your life, and be the only thing between your family and starvation in case of your death, but have you read it? It may as you think, protect all your earthly possessions—but have you read it? Every holder of an insurance policy should read it and understand it. He should see its many intricacies and provisions. He should understand its provisions, and failing to understand them, should have someone explain them to him, and give him understanding of them, and just what he might expect in case of loss. There probably is not a holder of an insurance policy in America that has in his policy just what he thinks he has. That being true, he ought to find out exactly what he has, and know what to expect in case of loss.

NEED MORE JUDGES

Emory C. Buckner, New York City attorney, took over the office of United States District attorney last week and found 12,000 cases pending. 8,000 of these were criminal cases, and 2,000 were crimes charged under the Volstead Act.

Mr. Buckner says that it is essential that eight or ten additional judges be appointed in the southern district of New York. If the docket is ever to be cleaned up, this call for help from the new district attorney should be heeded. Crime may be expected to increase and criminals may be expected to flourish, unless there are judges enough to clean up this great mass of untended cases.

The United States supreme court last week decided that busses carrying interstate commerce can not be denied the right to the roads in other states than those wherein they have paid a license fee. This far-reaching decision will have a tremendous influence on the increase and operation of motor bus lines in America. These have already become a very important part of our transportation system.

Prof. Charles Aragon, a chemist of Lausanne, Switzerland, declares that the invention of Jeanne Mirtel, a baker in the village of Pully, will keep bread fresh for ten months. The process will also keep meats fresh for two years, he says. Perhaps this may explain why the bread we get now doesn't taste like that mother-made?

The republic of Chili, has just succeeded in suppressing an uprising. Caused, no doubt, by that stale radio chestnut—"Yes I stuck my head out the window last night and got Chili."

The labor members of the British House of Commons went on a strike last week. An uncommon thing for the commons.

Savage Russian Custom

Wild geese cast their feathers in summer, losing almost all the feathers from their wings simultaneously. During this season they are helpless and the natives of northern Russia take advantage of their condition and net them by the thousands. These are buried in the mud of the swamps and left to rot. Later they are dug up and fed to the half-wild dogs and are even eaten by the undiscriminating native.

Rich African Territory

Oti Rivers was the name once applied to the territory on the west coast of Africa now known as the Niger coast. It contains six main rivers, which derived their old general name from palm oil, the chief product of the adjacent districts. The country was visited first by missionaries early in the Nineteenth century, and later by traders who established plantations and factories in the interior.

The Solution

Tommy, aged four, was very anxious to whistle. He had tried and tried, but all in vain. While he was out walking one day with his mother, a colored boy passed them whistling, and Tommy cried excitedly: "Mamma, buy me that mouth!"—Charleston News and Courier.

Fishy Taste

From an English book: "He inquired of his gillie whether there were many fish in the river. The man replied: 'Why, sir, if ye'd boll the water ye take out of it ye'd be getting the taste of salmon in your tea.'"—Boston Transcript.

Poetry

A poem is not alone any work or composition of the poets in many of our times, but even our verse alone is becoming a perfect poem.

Weapons of Warfare of American Indians

Though some Indians were more proficient at it than others, and the methods of some tribes were more advanced than those of others, there was very little secret about the making of warlike implements, and all the Indians knew how. Flints and similar stones were used not so much because they could be flaked off and fashioned into desired shapes as arrow, lance, spear or harpoon heads, knives, saws or scrapers. The flint was to be found in open fields, bowlder beds and elsewhere, and the tribes camped occasionally near the larger supplies to break off with rocks or hammer the quantities and sizes of flint chips needed. These were carried home to be flaked off and worked into shape with the aid of sharp-pointed implements of bone. The waste and refuse of the process, as well as the tools employed in it, have often been found on the sites of early Indian dwellings. The products of this primitive industry range in size from tiny arrow tips to ceremonial spear-heads more than a foot long.—Chesapeake Plain Dealer.

Moslem's Holy Period

Th Ramadan is the ninth month of the Moslem year, observed as a fast in commemoration of the first revelation received by Mohammed. It commences with the new moon of the ninth month of the year and ends on the day preceding the great festival of Bairam. From dawn to sunset of each day during this period the strictest abstinence is enjoined. All eating, drinking, bathing, smoking and other bodily pleasures—even swallowing one's saliva—being forbidden. At night, however, the satisfaction of the most necessary desires is permitted. As the Mohammedan year is lunar, consisting of 354 days, 21 hours, it follows that in the course of 33 years the Ramadan passes through all the seasons. It is said that the fast of the Ramadan is much less strictly observed now than in former times.—Kansas City Star.

Language and Language

Language is perpetually changing, language much more slowly. The common spoken language of any one period, as it were, the melting pot from which the pure gold of its literary language is distilled. The slang, having contributed its quota, dies, but the literary language lives on. It has emerged from the crucible pure gold for ever. Any great language, such as Greek or Latin is eternal, for in the hands of a master it becomes a thing of power, a vehicle for the living truth. And once that truth has poured through it, it is immortal, a radiant garment of thought, no longer the tongue merely of merchants and artisans, but the speech of gods and heroes.—Nineteenth Century.

Happiness

Happiness, of all elusive things, is so elusive that often one doesn't know that he has it. But years afterward he realizes when it was his.

ADDS LIMOUSINE HEARSE TO EQUIPMENT

Limousine Hearse recently added to the funeral equipment of Stiff, the undertaker, with offices in Chelsea and Ann Arbor. The hearse, which is the latest word in development of vehicles of this kind, is a wide departure from the old style body, resembling a high class passenger car instead of the funeral car of the past. That it will meet with approval on the part of his clientele is already evidenced in the number of complimentary remarks heard in connection with appearance of the new car.

SYLVAN
 Dr. Woods of Chelsea has had the barn and several small buildings on his property in Sylvan taken down the past week. It is said there is to be an up-to-date oil station built on the lot soon.

The Maple Grove cemetery society held their annual meeting Saturday with an unusually large attendance. The following officers were elected: Nathaniel Laird, president; Samuel Guthrie, secretary; E. A. Ward, treasurer. They passed a new by-law enabling some one person to vote on a lot that has a relative buried there on.

Mrs. Chris. Haydault entertained her brother and sister Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Oesterle.

Mrs. Will. Eisenbeiser of North Lake visited Mrs. Homer Boyd, Saturday.

The many friends of Mrs. Samuel Guthrie are pleased to know that she is improving after several weeks' illness.

Baron Rapitz—J. Manley Card, a few days ago, attended a meeting in Portland called for the purpose of discussing the raising and marketing of cucumbers, there being present buyers, growers, contract men, and others interested one way or another. Mr. Morgan, of near this city, last year realized $90 an acre out of cucumbers, and it was a bad year at that. This year, he will increase his acreage, and believes cucumber raising one of the most profitable crops for the farmer. Mr. Morgan was present and gave his experiences with the cucumber, to the enlightenment of many farmers present. —Review.

Brooklyn—The new showers completed at the Brooklyn high school gymnasium Monday at once went into popular use and are acclaimed with enthusiasm by the students. The installation was made by Will Stimm. Two shower heads are available in the boys' dressing rooms and two in the girls' dressing rooms. The cold water comes from the regular large supply tank and the hot water from a 250 gallon tank newly installed in the section of pipe taking it through one of the furnace fireboxes. Oil curtains are yet to be furnished for the shower rooms. Drainage for the showers was installed when the building foundations were made. —Exponent.

Jackson—Mrs. Edward Pollet and her six children of Detroit, will be the first resident guests at the national home for widows and orphans of army veterans near Eaton Rapids, presented to the Veterans of Foreign Wars by Mr. and Mrs. Corey J. Spencer. They will arrive next Monday at the 740-acre farm and will be met at the station in Jackson by Mr. Spencer, Mayor Palmer and the members of Caldwell-Clark post, V. of F. W. Mr. Pollet, a former sergeant in the U. S. army was struck last Monday and killed by a street car in Detroit, and a military funeral was held for him Friday by the Detroit and Halfway posts of the V. of F. W. He was a veteran of ten campaigns, saw service in Cuba, the Philippines, and France. —News.

Clinton—The question of road building is again occupying the minds of the people of this section of the state and they will be interested in the order of the road building administration. It is expected that this day when the road building act is passed in the legislature will be a day of much interest in the north.

Extension Work Notes

V. A. Freeman, Extension Specialist in Animal Husbandry was in the county Monday and Tuesday, March 8th and 10th. Monday was spent in connection with wool growers in vicinity of Chelsea interested in advanced registry. Tuesday evening he assisted Mr. Eslick, County Club Agent in organizing a county wide sheep club. The meeting was held at the home of Adam Knapp, Freedom township. The club consists of nine members. This is the first organized sheep club in the county. A. J. Hannah, extension specialist in poultry will be in the county Thursday and Friday. The first day will be spent in visiting flocks, and demonstrating farms in the western part of the county. Friday the flocks located in the southern and eastern part of the county will be visited. Approximately ten poultry raisers in the county are keeping accurate records of their feed and production. At the end of the year there will be available interesting data relative to the feed cost per dozen of eggs produced during the year.

Pistol Slot in Night-Stick Helps Policemen Shoot Straight

Policemen shoot with a steel slot in the night-stick to hold the revolver butt steady. The New York department was tested by the New York department and was found to be accurate in firing. Holding the slot against one shoulder and putting the handle of his revolver in the slot, the policeman can take a steadier aim.

Keeping Tools Out of the Transmission

Anyone who has dropped a wrench, pair of pliers, or other tool into a Ford transmission while adjusting the bands, knows how difficult it is to recover it. Usually it slides down to the bottom, where it is practically impossible to reach it, unless one takes off the transmission cover, which is a long job. Many mechanics try to prevent such mishaps by tying a length of cord or wire to the bolt, but this makes it rather unhandy to use them. A better method is to stuff a plug between the gears and the case so that all open parts are closed and the bolt cannot fall through if dropped.

Gasoline Is Produced from Plants to Be Grown on "Oil Farm"

Following his announcement that he has successfully produced gasoline from automobiles from various kinds of plants, a French scientist has proposed that a tract of 500,000 acres of land in western Africa be devoted to the cultivation of this vegetation for the production of 50,000,000 gallons of petroleum annually. His process is based on the fact that artificial petroleum can be manufactured from certain so-called "ether salts," and these are found in a broom plant and in other fibrous and textile vegetation. Gasoline is next obtained in the ordinary manner, which, the professor asserts, is "exactly like that produced in Pennsylvania and equally good for use in motors." Utilization of the fibrous by-products of the vegetation on the proposed "oil farm" in the silk industry and in paper mills, is feasible, he claims, and will afford an additional source of revenue.

Wireless Locomotive Run by Steam

Charged with water and live steam at a boiler plant before it is started on its tasks, a wireless switching locomotive that needs no tender and makes no smoke has been tested successfully. It is said to run two or three hours without recharging, a process that requires about twenty minutes. Economy is claimed in operating as no fireman is needed and the expense of cleaning smoke from the walls of adjacent buildings is saved.

The transmission range of the high-power radio stations that terminate in the United States totals over 40,000 miles.

Effective Post Puller

Farmers, and others who have frequent occasions to pull posts, will find the device shown in the drawing effective for doing this work. It is portable and can easily be operated by one man. The upper details clearly show its construction. It consists of two parts made of heavy bar iron. The lower part and the handle or lever are integral, being bent to the shape shown and the elbow flattened and drilled to receive a pivot pin. A plate is welded on to serve as a foot. The upper part is forked at its end to straddle the flattened elbow and is pointed at the other end to grip the post. In use, the device is set in the position indicated and the lever is pulled upward, which causes the post to rise.

(Small glue tubes are hard to keep at hand on the desk or in the drawer without having some of the contents ooze out over the papers or on the surface of the desk. A simple holder, which eliminates this trouble, can be made by cutting three sides of the carton in which the tube is packed so that the upper end of the tube projects. The upper portion is then doubled over and tacked to the wall.

For four years I had hidden from Lady Pynte the fact that I did not know how to ride. I simply did not dare to confess to Lady Pynte that I could not ride. I had already tried to pave the way to that denouement by confessing that I came from the lower classes, but she did not appear to think that any class could be so low as that. —From "The Green Hat," by Michael Arlen.

Support for Plant Stalk

A charming support to hold steady the stalk of a plant in a pot consists of a slender stick with a painted wooden bird nailed or glued at its top. Such a bird may be cut in silhouette from thin soft wood and painted in bright colors with oil or house paints, and afterward varnished. Even though the work is somewhat roughly done, the effect will still be good.

Early English Toll Road

The first English toll road led from St. Giles-in-the-Fields to the village of Charing, a suburb of London. It continued from Charing to Temple bar and, thence, went along to Perpetua. Parliament authorized the levying of the first toll on this road in 1340.

Quarry Hard to Catch

A "wild goose chase" is a result after something that is as unobtainable as a wild goose. The term alludes to the difficulty in shooting wild geese.

FORDS VERY POPULAR

Turn the spotlight on North Salem, Ohio.

That busy little community where thrift goes hand in hand with progress, has an unusual claim to distinction.

It is a 100 per cent Ford town! Some time back a thrifty old resident set a good example for the village by purchasing a Ford. The rest of the folks, as soon as they could afford a car, followed suit.

Today every property owner in the place owns at least one Ford. If you don't believe it here are the figures! The village has a population of 46, boasts 19 dwellings and the popularity of the Ford is attested by the fact that thirty Ford units—cars, trucks and Fordson tractors—are in use there.

North Salem is located in Guernsey County, Ohio, on the Cleveland and Marietta Highway and if you are motoring in that neighborhood just drop in and investigate for yourself. You'll be welcome especially so if you're driving a Ford.

Custom in Disuse

A hatching is a panel on which the arms of a titled person are displayed. It is lozenge-shaped or square, but hung cornerwise, and was attached usually to the walls of the dwelling to give public notice of the person's demise.

First American Watches

Aaron Denison and Edward Howard invented the process of making the parts of a watch by machinery and erected the first building in the world for that purpose at Roxbury, Mass., beginning the manufacture of American watches in 1850.

FIVE REASONS Why Classified Advertising Will Sell What You Do Not Need

- 1.—The Chelsea Standard reaches the largest number of people who are in the market for your unused machinery, household goods, or live stock.
- 2.—The Standard has secured unusual results for those who have used its Classified Columns.
- 3.—Standard Readers have learned to look over the Classified Columns even before reading the local news.
- 4.—Past experience has convinced hundreds of the effectiveness of such advertising—why not you?
- 5.—Last, but not least,—the expense of Classified advertising is negligible compared with results obtained. Thousands of dollars of merchandise and farm equipment are sold every year with little outlay of money.

Look around today for that material you have long since ceased to use, but is still in good condition—some one wants it and will be glad to pay cash to get it. Don't wait until house cleaning time when rush of work compels you to destroy rather than "cash in" on such material.
