ST. MARY'S SCHOOL HOLDS COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES

The annual commencement exercises of St. Mary's Academy were held Sunday evening in St. Mary's church, where the sessions of the school have been held since the academy was burned some time ago.

The academy, which is under the supervision of the St. Dominican Sisters, had a class of six young ladies and two young men this year, who have completed the various courses of the twelve grades that are taught by the Sisters.

The graduates were Misses Noreen Hindelang, Thessa McKernan, Alice Schanz, Beth Taylor, Irene Heim, Gertrude Young and Messrs. Ambrose Eisele and Clarence Stapleh.

An auto address was delivered to the class by Rev. Father Griffin, pastor of St. Joseph's church of Dexter. With very appropriate remarks the pastor of St. Mary's church presented each graduate with their diploma.

Vocal numbers for the occasion were rendered by members of the Burg family and they were exceptionally fine.

The church was filled to its capacity by relatives and friends of the class.

FLAG DAY PROCLAMATION ISSUED BY GOVERNOR

Governor Grosbeck Tuesday issued the following Flag day proclamation:

"Custom decrees that Sunday, June 14, shall be Flag day, for that is the anniversary of the adoption of the Stars and Stripes as our national emblem. Old Glory has for nearly a century and a half been the emblem of liberty and justice. May it for all times symbolize righteousness and be respected in the future as in the past because of the ideals it represents.

"By virtue of the authority vested in me as governor of the state of Michigan, I hereby proclaim Sunday, June 14, 1925, as Flag day, and urge that the flag be displayed wherever possible."

SHORTHORN BREEDERS WILL HOLD MEETING

their families, friends and members of the County Shorthorn Club at the Buff Oaks Farm Friday evening, June 12th.

An interesting program consisting of radio and short talks is being arranged by the officers.
The Shorthorn Breeders' Association is the first group of county breeders to hold a summer meeting and it is anticipated that a large crowd of enthusiastic Shorthorn breeders will be present.

A pretty home wedding took place Monday morning, June 8th, 1925, at nine o'clock at the home of the groom's mother, Mrs. G. W. Coe of East Summit street, Chelsea, when Miss Edna R. Webster, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. W. Webster of Baraboo, Wis., and Clara Robert Angell, son of the late Malcolm H. Angell, were united in marriage, Rev.
E. L. Sutherland, pastor of the Congregational church, performing the ceremony. They were attended by Miss Celia Ludwig and Leslie Resque.

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served by the groom's mother to immediate relatives after which the bride and groom left on an extended automobile trip to the Pacific coast. Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Chas. W. Webster, of Baraboo, Wis., Mr. and Mrs. W. D.
Angell, Mr. and Mrs. Arlo Angell and

Celia Ludwig and Leslie Resque of Detroit.

NO TRACE FOUND OF ESCAPED CONVICT

No trace had been found Tuesday afternoon of Frank Smith, the prisoner who overpowered Trooper William Gore on a side road off M-17 west of Ann Arbor Monday morning and gained his freedom.

An armed posse has been scouring the country in the vicinity but after a search which lasted all Monday night and Tuesday morning it is believed he may have found some means of setting a greater distance between himself and the scene of his escape than was at first thought.

Smith left the highway camp at Ypsilanti Sunday, was found Sunday night and placed in the Ypsilanti city jail over night. Monday he was being returned to State Prison at Jackson when he escaped from Trooper Gore.

He was 25 years of age, colored, and had been sentenced to from 3 to 10 years on a charge of assault with intent to steal in Calhoun county courts. He is said to have the reputation of a "bad actor."

BANKERS WILL HOLD FALL CONVENTION AT CHELSEA

More Than One Hundred Financial Men Will Gather Here For One Day Session Last of September.

Bankers numbering approximately one hundred and twenty-five, and coming from Group 9 which includes several counties in southern Michigan, will meet in Chelsea for convention the latter part of September or early October. Action favorable to bringing the convention to this village was taken at a meeting of the bankers at Hillsdale on Wednesday of this week, when the Chelsea delegation, including P. G. Schaible and Conrad Lehman of the Farmers & Merchants Bank, and D. C. McLaren and John Fletcher of the Kempt Commercial and Savings Bank, made a bid for the meeting.

Securing of the convention for Chelsea is considered fortunate inasmuch as meetings of the organization are seldom held in places as small as this, and an extra effort is being planned for entertainment of the bankers. P. G. Schaible is president of the group.

MEMORIAL SERVICES HELD BY FRATERNAL ORDERS

The members of the Chelsea Lodges of Knights of Pythias, Odd Fellows and Rebekahs held a joint Memorial day exercises Sunday afternoon at Oak Grove cemetery.

The members of the three lodges met at their lodge rooms and formed a line of march, which was headed by Smith's band, and marched to the cemetery, where the graves of their departed brothers and sisters were decorated with flowers. After these services in memory of the departed members were carried out at the lots owned by the lodges. Addresses were delivered by Rev. E. L. Sutherland for the Odd Fellows and by Rev. G. S.
Riley for the K. of P.

The graves of departed members in the cemeteries near here were also decorated.

SCHOOL NEWS

Senior Outing

Each year the Seniors are granted one day for an outing after the greater part of their work is done for the year. Monday morning the Seniors, accompanied by Mrs. Robinson, and Superintendent and Mrs. Clark, motored to Detroit and took the boat to Bob-Lo for a portion of the day.
Part of the day was spent seeing and enjoying amusements in Detroit.

The experiences of the day has already caused many a hearty laugh for the participants and no doubt will do so in the future when some of the Seniors happen to meet and reflect on the day. On Tuesday the exercise of the corridors and assembly room was occasionally broken by the snores of a weary senior that emanated from a class room or a seat in the assembly room.

Thrift Program

Monday morning the last of a series of grade programs was given before the assembly room by the 4th and 5th grade. The stage was attractively decorated with thrift posters which were made by the 4th and 5th grade children. The fundamental values of thrift were emphasized on the posters. The program was one that the teachers had originated through their own initiative and proved to be a very good one.

Semester examinations started on Wednesday.

Baccalaureate services will be held at the Methodist church Sunday evening at 7:30. Rev. Riley will deliver the baccalaureate address and will be assisted by Rev. Grabowski and Rev. Sutherland.

The Class Day exercises will be held at the Methodist church Wednesday evening, June 17th, at 8 o'clock.

Commencement exercises will be held at the church on Thursday evening, June 18th, at eight o'clock. Dr.
Clifford Woody of the education department of the University of Michigan will deliver the address.

FOURTH, DEFENSE DAY WILL BE COMBINATION CELEBRATION

Gov. Alex J. Grosbeck Issues Proclamation Combining the Two Days, in Line With President's Request.

Chelsea will join with other cities and villages in the observance of July Fourth as Defense Day, in line with a proclamation issued by President Coolidge and Governor Gros-beck. A committee consisting of
Geo. P. Staffan, L. P. Vogel, Kent
Walworth, C. Lehman and H. D.
Witherell, have been appointed to work in conjunction with members of the American Legion and army officers in staging a proper observance of the day. That program similar to the one held last year, will be the goal of this committee. It is together probable inasmuch as last year's observance met with popular approval as an appropriate, quiet and yet enjoyable affair.

In a proclamation issued yesterday Gov. Grosbeck concurred with the president in asking observance of the day as Defense Day and urged communities to do their utmost in staging appropriate programs.

The governor's proclamation follows:

The President of the United States has authorized a second defense test to be held on July 4, 1925. It is desired to present to the people our national defense policy as contemplated by the National Defense Act of 1920, and to emphasize the historical occasion when Congress first pledged the manpower and resources of our country for national defense.
It is fitting to join in such commemoration and in such demonstration for peace with a thought for our future security.

Therefore, I, Alex J. Grosbeck, Governor of Michigan, do hereby designate and proclaim the Fourth of July, of the present year, to be observed throughout the State of Michigan, as Defense Day.

And I suggest that civic authorities of the various political subdivisions of the State, and the citizens thereof, make plans and provision for an appropriate and fitting celebration of the day."

CHAS. M. TICHENOR PASSED AWAY FRIDAY EVENING

Charles M. Tichenor, a resident of Chelsea since 1867, and who met with an accident about four weeks ago, died at his home on South street Friday evening, June 5, 1925.

Mr. Tichenor was born July 18, 1855, near Cleveland, Ohio. When he was about five years of age his parents settled in Waterloo township, on the farm at present owned by James Richards, which his father took up from the U. S. government.

He was united in marriage with Miss Sarah M. North, February, 1859.
For a few years they resided on a farm near Crooked Lake. Mrs. Tichenor died May 23, 1877.

After becoming a resident of Chelsea Mr. Tichenor was associated with several persons in the grocery business. For the last thirty years he had been retired.

He is survived by one daughter, Miss Anna B. Tichenor, who resided with him, one son, Edwin B. Tichenor of Miami, Florida; two nephews, O. T. Hoover of Chelsea, and S. B.
Tichenor of Lansing, and one niece, Mrs. Fannie Hall of Detroit.

The funeral was held from the family home at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, Rev. E. L. Sutherland, pastor of Chelsea Congregational church, conducting the services. Burial in Oak Grove cemetery.

DETROIT CONCERN BUILDING NEW CREAMERY ON M-92

Building of a temporary structure in which business may be conducted at once, J. H. Wilson & Son Creamery Co., a Detroit concern doing business throughout this territory, will on Thursday open a station for the receiving of whole milk at their new location on M-92 between the village limits and M-17, recently acquired of Robert Collins.

The company, which is operating stations at Dexter and other towns hereabouts, receives whole milk daily from farmers and ships it into Detroit by truck where an acute milk shortage has been reported throughout the press for several days.

Plans of the company include erection of a permanent structure later in the summer, as soon as the volume of business indicates the size and kind of building necessary.

M. P. Swickers is erecting the temporary building on the new site.

of these resolutions be sent to our

Editorial

"STATES' RIGHTS" President Coolidge in his speech at Arlington on Decoration Day made a plea that some construe as a plea for "States' Rights."

Immediately the president is assailed on all sides. The extreme federalists say Mr. Coolidge would lead us back to a confederation of states when every state was for itself and the devil take the hindmost.

Governor Ritchie of Maryland assails the Coolidge theory as one that would destroy local self-government. "Mr. Coolidge has made a dangerous contribution to the theory of American government," says Mr. Ritchie.

The New York World, a states' rights advocate, says that Mr. Coolidge would have the states act, and so long as they act as the federal government would approve, well and good—but if they do not act as the federal government would approve, then the government would act as it deems wise, even to the point of entirely wiping out or over-riding the acts of the state or states.

To those who have given some thought to the federal constitution and the operation of laws of states and the federal union, there is an almost unanimous conclusion, that the laws of the federal government and the authority of that government must be supreme, or we will dwindle into a weak confederation and are not any longer a union of states.

In the regulation of interstate commerce, no clear-sighted man can deny that this is a function of the federal government, and not of the states. All of us must see the time rapidly approaching when the federal government must pass laws governing motor car traffic between the states.

A state has no more rights in the federal union than a county or municipality has within a state. A county or municipality has no more rights in the state than the individual has in the county or municipality.

All of us are citizens of our municipalities, our counties, our states and our nation. Our duty extends all along the line—to municipality, to county, to state, and nation. If we fail in any one, that failure is a contributing factor to the destruction of all.

Our duty as a citizen begins in our homes and ends in our nation. We cannot have a nation for one purpose without having it for all purposes.

GOVERNMENT INTERFERENCE WITH INDUSTRY DENOUNCED Senator James A. Reed, in a vigorous speech recently before the Manufacturers and Merchants Association of St. Louis, denounced governmental interference with legitimate business, demanded the abolition of the regulatory bureaus, and the repeal of a majority of the laws now on the statute books. The senator declared that never do wells and failures at home have been employed by Bureau chiefs in Washington to pry into affairs of American industry, and in trying to regulate the lives and conduct of the people themselves.

"We have an epidemic of bills," he said. "Every time a crank conceives a wild idea for reforming the world, he starts for Washington. Little by little, legal restraints are being thrown about the people. The government has appointed itself a wet-nurse to the conscience of the American people to tell them what they shall drink, how they shall raise their babies, and how they shall conduct their business. It was proposed that Congress should be given the power to forbid any person under eighteen from working, and this monstrous proposition, which, thank God, was rejected by the state, was supported by many fine women, and numerous idiotic men." The senator warned that unless the American people guard their liberties and restore their government to its fundamentals, that "a tyranny will be set up on the ruins of the Republic." Governmental interference in business, according to the senator, produces discord, dissatisfaction, and, to a large extent, depreciates the progress and the prosperity of the land.

HARVEY RETIRES Colonel George Harvey retired Sunday from the editorship of the Washington Post. In his last editorial utterance in the Post, Colonel Harvey, who went to the editorial chair from the position of Ambassador to the Court of St. James at London, suggests that there should be a settlement of France's obligations to Great Britain and the United States.

Colonel Harvey suggests that should this be brought about Premier Mussolini might appear and make the settlement unanimous.

One gets the hint in the Harvey editorial, that Colonel Harvey would be willing to be the instrument to bring about the meeting and the settlement and one is constrained to ask President Coolidge the question "what's on your mind?"

In the meantime Secretary Mellon reminds Col. Harvey that there is a debt commission at Washington, designed to settle debts due us, and that this is the only place where they will be discussed.

CHEAPER RADIO General J. G. Harbord, president of the Radio Corporation of America, predicts great betterment of radio equipment, and a great reduction in its cost in sending messages.

A speed of 110 words a minute in transmission from Paris to New York, has been attained, he said. The ear and hand limit was 45 to 60 words per minute.

INHERITANCE TAX LAW UNJUST H. T. Magruder, of New York City, addressing the annual convention of the National Safe Deposits Association at Atlantic City, declared that sometimes large estates are almost entirely consumed by inheritance taxes.

Any tax on an estate left by any man to his family is wrong, be it either state or federal.

AMERICAN AIR PROGRESS As evidence of the advanced state of American aviation it was pointed out that whereas France in 1920 held 73 per cent of the world air records, with England possessing 18 per cent, and the United States 9 per cent, the United States in 1924 held 70 per cent, France 17 per cent, and England none.

STOLE FLAGS Twenty-five American flags were stolen from the graves of American soldiers at Hartford, Conn., after they had been placed there by the American Legion.

This example of vandalism has not been equalled in this country.

PREPAREDNESS NECESSARY John J. Davis, secretary of Labor in the cabinet of President Coolidge, speaking at Camden, N. J., urged the people not to forget the need of preparedness for war, no matter how deeply we hate war and its attendant train of horrors.

TRIED TWENTY-FOUR TIMES Paul Krupp, a German youth, has tried to enter the United States 24 times, as a stowaway. He says he has made his last effort and that he will try to enter no more until he has saved enough money to make a "proper approach."

Legal Phrase Doctor Vinetelly says of the word "personality": "It is sometimes considered to mean articles of personal adornment. It does not. It is a legal term now in contradistinction to realty and includes all movables, as money, personal property of any kind whatever, a household goods, chattels, real and personal, things immovable and distinguished from realty or landed property."

OUR DOMINANT WEALTH

Statistics compiled in Canada show that the United States has wealth nearly equal to the entire wealth of the other 11 leading nations of the world. Our wealth is shown to be $320,803,000,000. The next largest to us is Great Britain with $63,840,000,000. France is next with $67,710,000,000. Germany is fourth with $55,700,000,000. The wealth of the United States exceeds the combined total wealth of all the nations of Europe and China.

The position of the United States is just that of a nice large fat goose surrounded by hungry foxes—and yet, there are those who say we do not need to prepare to defend ourselves!

THEY THINK TOO LITTLE

Dr. Henry Van Dyke, Princeton professor emeritus, has returned from a visit to New Zealand. While abroad he gave great study to the question of why the modern college student is not making the progress made in former years. He has reached the conclusion that the student of today studies too much and thinks too little.

Perhaps Dr. Van Dyke means they think too little about their studies. One gathers from the so called humor in the college paper that they think entirely too much on some subjects—particularly on petting and things that usually go with petting.

STRIPPING ATOMS

Dr. Robert A. Milliken, Nobel prize winner and internationally known physicist, of Pasadena, Cal., says the discovery of waves of light and energy in atoms, after they are stripped of their so-called valance electrons, promises to reveal the unknown secrets of all light and energy radiation.

Will the world in another generation, operate motors and receive all necessary heat from far distant stars? Some of our greatest physicists seem to think so, and to have good reason for so thinking.

TRUCKS HURT RAILROAD

Secretary of Agriculture Jardine, in speaking to the Middle West Motor Conference at Chicago, urged the owners of motor trucks to stay out of the long haul freight business, declaring that it was crippling the railroad business.

This is the first time a member of the government at Washington, has made a plea through men engaged in transportation to make sacrifices in the interest of other means of transportation.

WILL THE WORM TURN?

Since women have been clamoring for and have received so many "rights" in England the men are planning to strike out for some "rights" themselves. They claim that under present English law husbands are responsible for the debts and crimes of the wives. They are to ask Parliament for a change of laws releasing husbands from any responsibility for the misdeeds of their wives. Another case of the worm turning.

CHEAPER RADIO

General J. G. Harbord, president of the Radio Corporation of America, predicts great betterment of radio equipment, and a great reduction in its cost in sending messages.

A speed of 110 words a minute in transmission from Paris to New York, has been attained, he said. The ear and hand limit was 45 to 60 words per minute.

When the correct letters are placed in the white spaces this puzzle will spell words both vertically and horizontally. The first letter in each word is indicated by a number, which refers to the definition listed below the puzzle. Thus No. 1 under the column headed "horizontal" defines a word which will fill the white spaces up to the first black square to the right, and a number under "vertical" defines a word which will fill the white squares to the next black one below. No letters go in the black spaces. All words used are dictionary words, except proper names. Abbreviations, slang, initials, technical terms and obsolete forms are indicated in the definitions.

Names for Church Bells

Charlotte M. Yonge says: "Church bells were wont to be baptized after the apostles, and the deep full sound of the first syllable of Thomas made it specially applicable to the largest and heaviest of the bells, whence the great Toms of Lincoln cathedral and of Christ church, Oxford."

Primitive Russian Homes

The typical stove in a Russian peasant's home has a chimney, the smoke finding its way out through the door or holes in the roof and walls.

BREVITIES.

Pinekey—A class of sixteen, consisting of ten boys and six girls will be graduated from the high school this year.

Jackson—Upon the report of the city attorney the city commissioners refused to grant to one of the Odd Fellow Lodges here permission for tag day sale on June 18.

Manchester—The First Michigan Infantry regiment will hold its annual reunion June 28th at Quincy. Three members of the regiment reside here: George B. Sherwood, John A. Miller, and Thomas F. Rushton, the last being secretary-treasurer-Enterprise.

Saline—The new stop signs have been placed on Ann Arbor street, near the Michigan avenue crossing. It certainly will be a relief to not witness any more near accidents at the corners as a result of ambitious motorists trying to beat one another across the square.—Observer.

Milan—And still the depredations go on at the cemetery and not only are flowers out from the blooming plants, but many of the choice flowers were taken from the bouquets placed there. Saturday evening all was arranged in readiness for Decoration Day and on Sunday it was found many of the beautiful bouquets had been robbed of their choice flowers. It seems a pity indeed that even the dead have to be robbed.—Leader.

Milan—Dr. Schaffer, who has spent the past few weeks in Milan township testing cattle for T B in connection with the county-wide T B test announces that the work in the township has been completed and that a remarkably good showing was made by the cattle owners in the locality.—Leader.

Ypsilanti—More than $10,000 has been pledged by the students of the Michigan State Normal College at Ypsilanti toward the $150,000 fund now being raised for the erection of the first unit of a $300,000 alumni building on the campus. Fifteen thousand has been pledged by members of the faculty.

Howell—Owing to the fact that all the State offices and the greater portion of the county offices of the state are closed on Saturday afternoons, the county officers and attorneys of Howell will close their offices on all Saturday afternoons during the month of June, July, and August, except when appointments or special arrangements are made.—Democrat.

Manchester—Our townsman Joseph Seokinger, now 89 years of age, has been confined to his bed the past few weeks at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Minnie Riedel on Ann Arbor street. He had previously been at a Jackson hospital for examination. His daughter, Mrs. Mary Riedel, former-daughter, Mrs. Mary Riedel, formerly of Chelsea, but now of Detroit, where she lives with her children, is here helping care for him.—Enterprise.

Parma—The Business Men's Association of this village have completed arrangements for a series of free moving picture shows on the streets each Thursday evening for 2 months.

Jackson—A special election will be held in this city on July 7, for the purpose of voting upon the proposition of purchasing the Arboretum property and converting it into city hall.

Ann Arbor—The territory covered by the Carpenter and Stone school districts was known a century ago as Mallet's Creek settlement. The first schoolhouse in Washtenaw county was built by the people of this community in 1826. Miss Harriet G. Parsons was the teacher. During the summer before the schoolhouse was built, Elizabeth Fairbrother taught a group of children in an open air meeting place under the trees.

Fowlerville—On Monday evening the council engaged the services of Edward Barber of Howell, to act the capacity of a traffic officer, for this village and vicinity, with instructions to enforce the new speed law on speed, lights, cut-outs and all the other nuisances that go with the law, without any discrimination whatever, and we are requested by the Mayor to issue this last warning to all drivers, local or foreign, to obey the law or suffer the consequences.—Review.

Jackson—Prison officials are looking for two men who walked or ran away from the prison camp at Ypsilanti, leaving no forwarding address. They are Joe Enriquez, 26, and Pedro Montano, 22 years. The men left some time Friday morning and a reward of $100 is offered in each case for their capture. Enriquez was sent here from Detroit December 3, 1929; for 2 to 5 years for larceny. He is 5 feet 8 inches tall, weighs 162 pounds, black hair and swarthy complexion. His companion was sent here from Wayne county to serve 1 to 5 years for larceny and is 5 feet 4 inches tall, weighs 131 pounds, dark skinned and dark hair.

Wolverine a Scavenger

The wolverine, the largest of the weasel tribe, white ready to fight anything of its own size, or in fact many times larger, has short legs and a heavy body which makes it a slow pursuer of live game. Consequently, the wolverine is, to a large extent, a scavenger. They will lazily travel long distances to feast on dead, sick or crippled animals. They have the reputation of even feeding on the porcupine, which no other animal will eat.

Taking Stains From Glass

To remove paint and varnish from glass, use three parts of American putty to one part of unslaked lime. Lay this on with a stick and let it remain for some time. Paint spots may also be removed by rubbing them with very hot, sharp vinegar.

That Little "If"

If to do were as easy to know what were good to do, chapels had been churches and poor men's cottages princes' palaces.—Shakespeare.

PARIS MATCHES SCARF AND TIE TO THE TAILLEUR OF CLOTH

WITH increasing interest French couturiers are creating smart tailors for their clientele. Particularly are they directing their attention to the tailored frock this season. A touch that tells in the effectively tailored dresses "made in Paris" is the matching scarf and the flowing necktie. These are not worn as accessories to the costume, but are an integral part of the dress, being made of the same material. Smart little flannel dresses depend entirely on buttons and a tie of the cloth for fitness—and these are the sort of frocks which carry Parisian distinction.

There is a fine art written in every detail of the intriguing cloth frocks shown in the picture. The one to the left introduces a clever fullness across the front of the tunic effect, without disturbing the straight, line contour. The method of drawing the tie through slots in the revers suggests a new thought.

Several high lights in the way of interesting details appear in the frock to the right. Not only does the scarf, repeating the material of the dress, impress one at first glance, but the embroidered pocket also declares a point of fashion which is being featured throughout all costume designing. If one would distinguish one's tailored cloth gown as being of last-minute creation, be sure to incorporate large decorative pockets in the making thereof. In the frock pictured one observes that the shirt fullness is achieved through an inverted pleat at the front. This is a method prevailing throughout tailordom at present.

Speaking of cloth street types it is evident that circular lines are gradually coming into favor. The circular skirt is sewed on to the low waist line.

As to suits, the redingote lines vie with short jacket models. Very smart is a French version of a mannish redingote developed in gray and white woolen check cloth.

LAFAYETTE GRANGE ADOPTS RESOLUTION

At a meeting of Lafayette Grange number ninety-two (92) held on June 4, 1925, the following resolution was adopted:

"We are opposed to the Supervisory System that is being advocated by the County School Commissioner;

"We consider this a question entirely for the rural schools patrons to decide;

"It should be left to a vote of the people of the rural districts at their annual school meetings, thereby making it a government by the people;"

Wo Subordinate Grangers consider this an infringement on our rights as rural citizens."

Resolved, that a copy be sent to the Supervisors of Lima and Sylvan Townships, and also to the committee of Supervisors appointed to report on the question at the meeting of Supervisors in June. Also that the same be printed in the Chelsea Standard.

Earliest Known Letters

It was formerly believed that the earliest extant collection of formal letters was the series of about 150 Greek epistles professing to have been written by the tyrant Phalaris of the Sixth century B. C. A controversy arose, however, and Richard Bentley, in his famous "Dissertation on the Letters of Phalaris," in 1690, demonstrated, as is now universally admitted, that they are of comparatively late origin, about the Second century A. D. Among the early genuine letters of the Greek period are those of Isocrates (died 338 B. C.), nine in number.

Ancient Grecian Sport

Wrestling was the sport of the ancient Greeks, the perfect race. It was the test of skill and strength that brought the highest honors to the victor, and poets, orators, and the brains of the classic age vied with one another for the signal honor of averring the laurel wreath of the champion wrestler.

Badgers' Work a Menace

Badgers spend most of their time digging out the burrows of the flickertail or ground squirrel and feasting on the fat occupants. Thus while doing the greatest service to the ranchman their big burrows on the prairies are a menace to every horse and rider on the plains.

Fig for Her Dog

A woman walking with her dog in Huddersden, England, saw it run over and killed by a motor bus. Screaming, she pulled the driver from the seat and gave him a beating. Then sobbing, she fell down in the street by the dog's body.

Quicksand Formation

Quicksand is loose sand into which solid bodies readily sink. Quicksands are composed of very small rounded particles which, under ordinary pressure, do not pack together, and, when moistened, behave like a fluid. They are especially common in glacial deposits and may be encountered almost anywhere within the region invaded by the continental ice sheet.

How She Knew

"The fond husband was dressed and waiting for his wife. He stopped pacing back and forth long enough to inquire: 'Plenty of time?' And just how do you know we have plenty of time?" His wife calmly applied the powder and answered: "Of course we have. As to how I know, that's simple. You haven't started to sweat yet, have you?"

Aid to Stone Cutter

Massive one-piece columns as high as 40 feet have been produced from a single block of Indiana limestone—the column being rounded out in a comparatively short time by means of a machine called a lathe. Years ago stone columns were cut by hand. It required six weeks for one man to cut a 28-foot column. Today the lathe turns out a 28-foot column in three days.

Heavy Sarcasm

A publican once made some alterations in a manuscript submitted by Artemus Ward. Ward made his resentment very plain. "The next book I write," he wrote, "I am going to get you to write."

Save part of the Gasoline Tax— by Using Red Crown

The High-Grade Gasoline

Red Crown gives more miles per gallon. This is proved conclusively by stringent road tests, and by the expense records of thousands of companies and individual motorists.

By keeping your tank filled with Red Crown, you will realize a radical saving in your gasoline bills, thus overcoming to a large extent, the extra burden which the gasoline tax is placing on motorists. At the same time you will have the satisfaction of knowing that good roads are on the way.

Good roads guarantee the convenience which accrues from an adequate system of direct highways, and a substantial saving to you—lower upkeep cost, reduced repair bills, lower depreciation charges.

Red Crown guarantees more power and more ground covered per gallon. It has a complete unbroken chain of boiling point fractions. It vaporizes to the last drop.

Red Crown power never lapses or hesitates either on boulevards, bad roads or mountain grades. Fill up with Red Crown and save money.

"JANICE MEREDITH" FILM OF ROMANCE

Marion Davies Superb in Love Story of the Revolution.

"Janice Meredith," which comes to the Princess Theatre Wednesday and Thursday, has so much beauty and romance in it, and so much glory and amazing land-that-never-was charm in it, that even a hardened reviewer is overcome by the sheer magnificence of this picture.

No one who, secretly, would like to take a trip to the moon, or who, much more to the point, would like to have the Revolutionary War done over again for his own delectation—the war being just a multicolored background for a heart-stirring love affair between the most beautiful girl in the world and a man whom she, at least, didn't think was the homeliest of his gender—can afford not to see "Janice Meredith," and Marion Davies, who is the astonishingly beautiful star of it.

There's the Boston Tea Party, the Ride of Paul Revere, the Battle of Lexington, the Battle of Trenton, Washington crossing the Delaware, Benjamin Franklin at the Court of Versailles, and spectacular scenes after spectacular scenes, until one begins to wonder whether all the spectacular scenes available hadn't been roped and tied, and put into this one film.

But historical events, no matter how faithfully and lavishly and brilliantly done, probably never can vie on the screen with the charmingly delineated love affair of a dashing debonaire lad, and a beautiful, capricious and utterly desirable maid.

It's the love between Janice, who is Marion Davies, and Charles Fownes who is Harrison Ford, that hits you right where most persons live and breathe.

Miss Davies, who has been recognized as one of the reigning beauties of the world since she first swam in public ken, is as irresistible in her acting as she always has been in her charm. Mr. Ford might be the beautiful ideal of any girl. Holbrook Blinn might be the special scented villain of any one for all time.

"Janice Meredith" is a great picture—if it isn't the greatest.

Minnie's Last Chance

By GEORGE B. SEAL

(© 1918, Western Newspaper Union.)

"THREE times and out!" Jim Rogers took little pains to repress his booming voice and everyone on the darkened stage understood the significance of the threat.

Dainty Minnie Seldon straightened her girlish form, if with quick beating heart, under the surly tones.

"You don't think I'm quitting on purpose?" she inquired tartly.

"I don't care what you are quitting for. But spell that scene of yours once more—Well, you'll have a fine chance to sample Kansas hospitality, that's all."

Minnie turned haughtily away and fairly scurried for the stage door, when a protecting arm wove suddenly around her waist and a sweet voice offered consolation:

"Don't you mind that old bear honey. You go right ahead and fool them all, you can do it."

"That's it, I know I can," her voice was near to breaking. "That's what worries me so, I—don't understand what has come over me lately—"

It was a man's voice this time, and a tall, handsome chap who joined the two girls as they moved up the narrow alleyway to the street.

"Old Rogers give you another call, kid?"

"Yes, he did and—he had a right to,
I guess I'm all in."

Briggs and lady, taking a little flyer in dramatic work between times, exchanged glances behind their companion.

"You did rather queer the show at the matinee," ventured Helen finally.

"Yes, I know it, and I'll probably queer it again tonight. I get along well enough until the kissing scene—Rogers says I make love like a wooden Indian—I don't do that bad—"

Despite a warning look from Helen, Briggs broke in on her: "You don't do much better, girly."

"Am I really as bad—as that—"

"Well," Helen hesitated, "you are certainly making a mess of that scene, dearie. Don't you like Redburn?"

"Like him? He's the finest actor I ever worked with—perhaps that's the reason—"

Three night Rogers arrived at the theater to find the turn of a man stretched out upon a couch behind the scenes. One glance told him that Red-burn—the handsome juvenile—was once more a victim of fever. Rogers looked around the little group—speaking gruffly:

"Briggs, you'll have to double in Red-burn's part tonight. Come on, get busy, this isn't any hospital."

The silent actors parted on the way to their various dressing rooms. The last to go was Minnie and her eyes were wet with unshed tears.

Minnie came out stage with shining eyes, and wave after wave of applause thundered out in front. Rogers, standing in the wings grasped her arm and thrust her back onto the stage.

"Take your call," he hissed. "I know you wasn't a quitter."

Minnie flashed a look at him as she returned, after not one, but three calls, but said nothing, hurrying to the side of Redburn.

There she found Helen and their hands met in a quick silent clasp of understanding.

"You did splendidly, dearie," Helen murmured. "I knew you could."

"Yes, I know, how is Frank?" she hesitated over the name with conscious embarrassment.

Immediate response to her question was denied her by the crowding around of the whole company; Rogers among the number and from every lip fell congratulations that any other time would have been sweet music, indeed.

The din of shifting scenery stilled, the muted notes of the orchestra beyond the curtain sounded the third act overture and Rogers' rough voice barked, "Places," and the crowd dissolved, as by magic, leaving only Minnie and the reclining man, Redburn raised his hand and patted her dark hair tenderly.

"You're wonderful," he whispered.
"Simply wonderful. Why, why don't you act that way with me, dear?"

"You feel better?" Minnie inquired, hardly hearing.

"I'm all right, just as good as gold," he affirmed, attempting to get up.

"But I thought—" Minnie stammered her amazement.

"I know, perhaps it was a rotten trick, but you were going bad in our scene and Helen told me what was the matter, so I just played sick to give you your chance, that's all."

"You weren't really sick?" Minnie's bosom rose and fell tumultuously.

"I know that the reason why you couldn't make love to me out there was because you couldn't remember and Minnie, I couldn't either, for that matter, for the same reason so—"

"You mean—"

"Yes, dear, I mean just that."

And Rogers, peering down at them a moment later, smiled for it was a pretty sight and truly, all the world loves a lover.

Air Fiends
Lieut. J. A. Macosandy, the air champion, said at a Dayton dinner:

"Flying has become so common that we will soon have air fiends, the same as we have automobile fiends.

"What will be the first name to give the air fiends? Shall we call it aerospelas, or would Rhyphon be better? Maybe we'll decide on infowenza. But after all, I think the best name would be skytasia."

Facial Surgery Old
Facial surgery, including the remodeling of injured noses, ears and lips, was known in Italy as long ago as 1546.

Perfect Accord
"Do you let your wife have her own way?" asked the henpecked husband.
"Absolutely," replied the independent one. "When she says it's going to rain I let it rain, and when she says she just knows it's going to snow, I let it snow."

"Popular Sovereignty"
In United States history the political term "popular sovereignty" was the theory that the right to decide whether slavery should exist in a territory rested with the people of that territory and not with congress. It was advocated especially by the democrats during the period 1847 to 1861 and its leading champion was Douglas. It was often termed "squatter sovereignty."
The latter is simply the colloquial term.

Natural Supposition
The fair, but inexperienced angler on her first fishing trip cast into the swirling pool and promptly felt a vigorous strike. She shrieked delightedly and the guide came dashing to the rescue. "What is it?" he cried. "A salmon?" The fair angler glanced over her shoulder. "Yes, yes," she stammered. "I suppose so. At least, that's what my fishing incense c-calls for!"

Country's Smallest Town.
Lawiston, Wyo., an abandoned government station where pony express riders changed mounts in the early days of western wilderness, is said to have the distinction of being the smallest town in the United States. In a recent communication to the General Electric company broadcasting station, Denver, Roy Griswold writes that the two lone residents, counting himself, comprise the total population.

Paucity Division
Out of the mouths of babes and sucklings may be perfected definition as well as praise. For example, there is the case of the teacher who, at the close of the reading lesson, was questioning her class on the subject matter thereof. "What is an oxeye?" she asked. "Please, miss," replied the bright boy of the class, "it's half a fish and half a nut."
