The Easy Electric Washer Saves the most Work

When you consider the various labor saving features of the EASY Washer one by one, it is quite obvious that it must save more work than washers which lack these features. For example, its extra large tub enables it to do a washing with several tubfuls less than a washer with a small size tub. And its gas heater underneath the tub enables it to boil the white clothes without any of the work that would be necessary if a washboller were used. Other conveniences, equally important, save work in various ways. Investigate the EASY when you are ready to buy an electric washer and you will appreciate, in the fullest sense, why the EASY has won a name for itself as the washer that saves the most work.

HEART FAILURE CAUSES DEATH OF CARL MILLER

Fire From Dropped Cigarette Believed to Have Caused Fire Which Charred Body of Dansville Man

Taking his customary daily hike about the farm, a habit formed in an effort to recuperate from a recent attack of nervous breakdown and heart trouble, Carl Dwight Miller, of Dansville, Mich., son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. A. Barth, suffered an attack of heart failure and died on the Barth farm east of town late Tuesday afternoon. Fire, believed to have been started from a cigarette in the hand of Mr. Miller when the fatal attack came upon him, set fire to leaves and his clothing and burned the body and limbs—until the flesh was charred almost beyond recognition.

Mr. Miller, who is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred L. Miller of Dansville, had been at the Barth home for several weeks in an effort to regain his former health and had been in the habit of taking daily strolls over the farm with a 22-calibre rifle on the lookout for woodchucks and hawks. Tuesday he left the house in unusually fine spirits and, with the gun, proceeded on the usual route about three o'clock. When he failed to return later in the evening Mrs. Barth started search for him without avail. When her quest failed she notified Mr. Barth who in turn sent the farm helper to look for him. About seven o'clock he came upon the badly burned body of Mr. Miller, lying among the ashes of leaves and his clothing.

The examining physician and H. F. Brooks, who was called to act as coroner, were agreed in the opinion that Mr. Miller was stricken dead and fell with the gun underneath him and a cigarette dropping into the leaves on the ground. Conflagration followed which burned even the gun stock from the gun and the flesh from his body. The remains were taken to Staffan's undertaking parlor where they were prepared for burial.

Mr. Miller was born in Dansville June 6, 1888, and at the time of his death was aged 38 years. On November 14, 1913, he was united in marriage to Miss Emma Marie Barth, the widow who survives. No children have been born to this union. Beside the widow he also leaves a half-brother, Arthur J. Miller.

Deceased was a member of the Masonic Lodge and Eastern Stars of Dansville.

MASONS TO HOLD PICNIC SEPTEMBER 7TH

Washtenaw county Masons will hold their fourth annual picnic Labor day, September 7, at Eisenbeiser's grove, North Lake. The Washtenaw County Masters' Association, which is sponsoring the event, will have direct charge of all arrangements and has invited lodges in all surrounding counties to attend.

The usual inter-lodge contests, including barmy and golf, soft ball, trap shooting, and tug-of-war, will be arranged. Other contests also will be provided for members of the Eastern Star, who will compete in mail-driving contests and the heavyweight 100-yard dash. Penny scrambles and races will be held for children.

One of the new features of this year's outing will be a building for the care of younger children while parents are enjoying the picnic. This will be in charge of Miss Cornelia Everard of Ypsilanti. Miss Everard, who is a daughter of Richard Everard, Past Master of Phoenix lodge, No. 13, will have several assistants. All of the booths selling pop, ice cream, candy, tobacco and so forth will be in charge of committees appointed by the association. All profits will be used to help defray the expense of the picnic.

MICHIGAN CENTRAL MAKING EXTENSIVE IMPROVEMENTS

The Michigan Central has a large force of men at work here making extensive improvements to their property. Under the supervision of A. R. Page of Chelsea, the tracks are being raised eight inches, new ties and rails are being laid to replace the old ones. The ballast that is being used is crushed stone and the plank crossways will be discarded and asphalt will be used for the crossings. The entire trackage from Ypsilanti to Francisco is being raised and most of the laborers are Mexicans.

The Chelsea passenger station has been raised two feet and carpenters are at work replacing floors where needed and other necessary repairs. Among the contemplated improvements yet to be made is a hot water heating plant. A force of men is also at work relaying the brick pavement around the passenger station and Jackson street has been given a new dressing of crushed stone.

1925 CHAUTAUQUA OPENS

FRIDAY OF NEXT WEEK

Four-Day Program of Addresses, Music and Other Entertainment Will Be Presented in Free Program on School Lawn.

Chelsea's 1925 chautauqua will be held on the school ground beginning Friday, July 24, and lasting through Monday, July 27. As was the case last year, these entertainments will be open to the public free of charge and if last year's attendance is any indication of the interest to be shown this year it is believed there will be a record breaking number of folks from Chelsea and vicinity who will take advantage of this opportunity to hear some of the best talent the stage and platform possess.

Gerrit Heemstra, advance man of the Mutual-Morgan chautauqua bureau, is in town caring for the preliminary advertising campaign, and organizing local men for work to be done in connection with presentation of the programs.

In the original guarantee, signed by approximately 185 persons in Chelsea and vicinity, amounts varying from one to fifteen dollars was subscribed and it is this amount which those in charge wish to be paid in before July 24. Payments may be made at the Farmers' and Merchants Bank, O. D. Schneider & Co., and Walworth & Stricker.

A meeting of those who signed the guarantee is being called for 8 o'clock this (Thursday) evening at the Town Hall. It is hoped a goodly number will respond so that the work may be evenly distributed and dispatched with the least amount of friction possible.

WASHTENAW COUNTY HOLSTEIN BREEDERS MEET

The Holstein Breeders, their families and friends of Washtenaw county, gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Rundell of Saline Thursday evening, July 9. It was one of the largest gatherings held in some time.

Music was furnished by the Saline band. The Saline quartet also rendered several selections. A colored comedy by four young men of Saline was much enjoyed. Mr. Watt gave a brief talk on the Washtenaw county fair. Prof. O. E. Reed, of M. S. C. gave a very interesting talk on cow-testing work in the county and building up the community. One of Mr. Rundell's best cows was exhibited. This cow produced over 20,000 pounds of milk containing 780 lbs. butter fat with nearly 1000 pounds of butter.

Ice cream and cake were served followed by the business meeting. Plans were made to hold their annual tour sometime in the near future. A fine time was enjoyed. Several from this vicinity attended the meeting.

KENT WALWORTH AGAIN ELECTED TO SCHOOL BOARD

Satisfaction Registered by Taxpayers Over Report of Board of Education at Annual School Meeting

"The best report ever read by a clerk of the local Board of Education" was the way the 1925 report was characterized by local taxpayers in attendance at the annual school meeting held at the town hall on Monday evening. Kent Walworth, clerk of the board, read the report in the presence of approximately 20 persons. President L. P. Vogel, of the board, presided at the meeting.

Following adoption of the report (an itemized account of which will be found on another page of this issue) recommendations for the coming year were read by the clerk, which included the same amounts as passed last year—approximately $20,000 to be raised by direct taxation. These recommendations were passed unanimously after the clerk had explained that this amount would permit the board to retire about $4600, or half of the indebtedness outstanding at the present time.

One member of the board, Kent Walworth, was scheduled for retirement from the board, but his name was placed in nomination and unanimous vote cast for his re-election for a period of three years.

Reports from districts throughout this vicinity indicated small attendance at school meetings in almost every instance.

WHO ARE THE CORPORATIONS?

There was a time when a corporation was a soulless thing, whose actual human owners could not be located, but this is no longer so. A corporation today is an aggregation of business men, wage earners, school teachers, doctors, lawyers, farmers, who unite their savings in order to create a prosperous business. A corporate share of stock is a fine popular investment for all classes of people. We now know corporations by the factories that furnish labor to thousands, and thousands of men, by the savings banks that are the trusted depositories of our savings, by the mines and salt blocks and quarries that develop our natural resources. We no longer think that a corporation has no soul; we know now that it has a thousand souls, and we know that it is the greatest agency for the development of prosperity that a state can have.

Michigan last year charged corporations six million dollars for the privilege of doing business inside its boundaries. This is in addition to the taxes on their property, which they paid like anyone else. Solely for the privilege of being a corporation, Michigan collected that tax. We are not quarreling with that tax; but we do remember how great has been the industrial development of Michigan in the past few years. The automobile industry alone has multiplied giving employment to thousands and thousands of our young men. It has made Michigan the outstanding industrial state of the Union. We are wondering how much more we can charge corporations for the privilege of doing business in Michigan, when they can do just as well in any other state in the Union. We know of no reason why the automobile belongs to Michigan. Where is the point at which we can put this corporation tax, at which corporations will begin to withdraw from this state, and we will lose their great revenues, their great payrolls, their great contributions to every state activity? This is a great question, not for the corporation; it is a question for every taxpayer in the state, for every one who benefits by the fact that here in Michigan we have created this great industrial agency of employment and prosperity.

Suppose Henry Ford or the General Motors withdrew from this state. The effect would be felt in every hamlet in Michigan. We do not assume that there is a chance of that, but we ought to give some thought to the question whether we might not kill the goose that lays the golden egg by increasing this particular burden.

We think every corporation, just like an individual should pay his fair amount of state tax on his property, and if direct corporate tax here is not enough, then it should be raised, but these special taxes have in them elements of danger. Wisconsin taxed hundreds of industries out of that state and is now reaping the whirlwind of unwise tax legislation. We should avoid a similar experience here in Michigan.

ADVISES DEBT SETTLEMENT

B. F. Yoakum, who began life as the son of a backwoods farmer in eastern Texas, rose to be one of America's wealthiest railroad magnates, and is a capitalist of no small means and ability. He is advising the United States government to settle European debts for much less than face value, and take bonds extending over long periods. Mr. Yoakum seems to be an advance agent of the French propagandists who will try to bring very wrong thing to collect all Europe owes us.

If some one would suggest a capital levy on all fortunes over $1,000,000 as a means for raising money to meet the deficit in national income and assets by reason of a cancellation of these debts, we should have no more of this propaganda, either at home or abroad.

An awful wall would ascend to heaven from our ultra rich. Yet that is exactly what these rich men propose to the American people—that the small merchants, the wage earner and the professional men shall give up a certain part of their earnings every year to pay these debts. Surely they know some one must pay them.

If our government should be so foolish as to cancel all or any part of the foreign debts owed us, there would be but one of two courses open to us—to repudiate our own debts or make the American people pay them.

MEN CAN'T TALK MUCH

It is well that Donald MacMillan, Arctic Explorer, be not to have any woman in his party. He has issued orders restricting talk. He says that men in the confines of the north, shut off from the world, soon "talk themselves out," and that they come to hate each other in consequence. While he will have radio equipment, and keep up communication with America on the trip, he fears that too much conversation would have disastrous consequence.

Many a great financier raised a son whose only ambition was to acquire some attorney capable of breaking dad's last will and testament.

PINCHOT IS POSITIVE

Governor Pinchot of Pennsylvania, addressing the United States of the Christian Association at Portland, Ore., was very pointed and emphatic in his statements in regard to the lack of enforcement of the Volstead Act. He said positively that lack of enforcement lay at the door of Secretary Mellon of the Treasury Department. He pointed out that Mr. Mellon was most of his life a distiller of liquor and a distributor of it, and that until very recently was an owner of a very large amount of whiskey. He said further that at any time the Secretary had put down his foot and determined that the law should be enforced, it would have been enforced. He expressed the hope that the placing of the responsibility for the enforcement of the law in the hands of General Andrews of the treasury department, will bring about enforcement. The governor furthermore declared that when the Christian people of America showed a solid front for enforcement, the law would undoubtedly be enforced.

CRYSTALLINE QUARTZ

A means of melting quartz to make it into crystal, and commercially usable has been discovered. The discovery, it is said, will add very materially to the value of the crystal to the human race. Spectacles and eyeglasses for instance, made of quartz crystal, will admit 92 per cent of light, while the present lens material will admit but 35 per cent. Quartz crystal will stand a much higher heat test and quartz crystal can be used in moving picture projecting machines, which are subjected to severe heat, and are broken while in use. The quartz crystal, it is said, will never be broken from the heat in a projecting machine. It is expected the process will be perfected and that quartz crystal will be used for window glass, and such everyday needs, selling at a price in competition with plain glass, for all purposes.

MEN CHAINED TO TREES

A particularly revolting story comes from Chattanooga, Tenn., near the place where a school teacher was indicted for teaching the theory of evolution. Dr. W. D. Mason and Lawrence Bowman, two men living on Signal Mountain were kidnapped by a hooded mob and taken to the woods and chained to trees for ten days with little food or water. Both men were nearly dead when found. It appears that the kidnapping was the result of a feud engendered by moonshine operations. The incident impresses us with the opinion that there hasn't been sufficient evolution in Tennessee since the Indians inhabited the country, and up to the present time. A little more evolution would help that particular portion of our common country.

THE "SANE" FOURTH

While the Fourth of July this year was called "sane" yet it brought its quota of victims. There were many injuries and some fatalities resulting from the use of fireworks in the hands of children and people hardly capable of handling them.

The use of fireworks to celebrate the Fourth of July is not only dangerous—it is wasteful as well. There are many more sane ways of observing the nation's day of Independence in a more fitting manner than shooting fireworks and making a noise. We ought to be past such barbarous processes.

There are at the present time 87 special campaign weeks in active operation, which has given rise to the necessity for calling in the calendar makers once more.

It has just been discovered that the peach instead of the apple has been responsible for the most of us men folks falling from grace.

HAYES' NEW JOB

Howard E. Coffin, president of National Air Transport, Inc., which proposes an overnight air package delivery between New York and Chicago, announces the formation of a "Public Relations" Committee, with Will H. Hayes, as chairman. The company expects to be doing business by next fall, and Mr. Hayes' job is to get the public lined up to patronize the line when it begins operations.

The company expects to make package deliveries from New York to Chicago in as short time as they could be made by Chicago merchants to their local customers, on orders too late to be delivered the afternoon previous.

WOMAN MAJORITY CANDIDATE

Mrs. Johanna Gregg, a member of the Chicago Board of Education, has announced herself a candidate for the republican nomination for mayor of Chicago. Mrs. Gregg promises if elected to expose graft and corruption; to reduce taxes and solve the transportation problem which confronts Chicago. She may be a member of the so-called "weaker sex" but Richard the Lionhearted, never displayed such courage when he started for the Holy Land to drive out the infidel invader, than Mrs. Gregg has displayed in announcing her purpose. If there is any assurance, whatever, that she can do the things she promises, she should be nominated by acclamation, and elected unanimously.

MRS. LAFOLLETTE PRITTONED

The followers of the late Senator R. M. LaFollette of Wisconsin, are circulating petitions asking Mrs. Robert LaFollette, his widow, to become a candidate for the senate, to fill out the unexpired term of her husband. Nothing could be more fitting than that Mrs. LaFollette should go to the senate to take her husband's place. Nobody knows better than she the principles he advocated, and while we disagree with many of them, there are some things for which he fought that are worth preserving in our future political battles in this country. The widow of the dead senator could carry on this work as nobody else could.

Two Old Academies
Phillips Exeter Academy was founded by John Phillips at Exeter in 1781 and became known as Phillips Exeter to distinguish it from Phillips Andover, which was founded in 1778 through the gifts of the Phillips family.

Children and Freckles
Children are not subject to freckles before the fourth year of life. Freckles appear along about the years when their absence would best fit the social requirements of our race and climate.—Hygeia.

BREVITIES.

Brooklyn—A four-day chautauqua is to be held in this village beginning July 22 and ending July 25.

Ypsilanti—The enrollment for the summer session of Normal training school at Ypsilanti is about 225.

Manchester—The Annual chautauqua in this village will open for four days on July 28 and close on the 31.

Dexter—The Dexter Independents will be one of the teams to take part in the county baseball tournament, which is being arranged for the Washtenaw County fair.—Leader.

Howell—The Livingston County Fair Association have done away with family tickets for the fair this year. The general admission is thirty-five cents, a twenty-five cent night admission with reduced rates for children.

Ann Arbor—Mark Abrams, charged with violating the prohibition law, who also was arraigned in circuit court Friday entered a plea of guilty. The court remanded him for sentence.

Ann Arbor—William Pierce, charged with issuing a check without sufficient funds in the bank, pleaded not guilty Friday when arraigned before Judge George W. Sample in circuit court. His bail was continued at $1,200 until trial.

Brooklyn—State highway department surveyors have been running lines over M-50 through Brooklyn the past week with prospect of the road being officially taken over September 1. It is hoped that no time will be lost in changing this road from gravel to one of cement. The present heavy traffic is keeping the road in bad condition and the new coatings of gravel added from time to time are far from a satisfactory remedy.—Exponent.

Milan—A joint meeting of the school boards of the districts surrounding Milan met last Thursday night and discussed at length the probability and advisability of uniting with Fractional District Number One of Milan, York and Augusta to form a consolidated district. Such a move is permissible according to the laws of Michigan and carries with it certain appropriations from the state funds beside the one mill tax.—Leader.

Brighton—W. L. Stuhberg stopped the reporter Monday afternoon and called her attention to a peculiar brown spot which at first glance appeared to be a growth of some kind on one of the pillars of his porch. A second glance, however, revealed the fact that they were honey bees. Mr. Stuhberg said that the bees had been domiciled in this porch pillar for about four years and that possibly they were becoming crowded and were about to swarm or that the intense heat of Monday had driven them out. Think of the honey in that porch pillar. But who would care to risk a four-year accumulation of bees to get to it? We would ask to be excused.—Argus.

Bunkerhill—Thursday, July 30th, is announced as the date fixed for the annual Catholic picnic which, for twenty-eight years has been held at Artz' grove. This event has become one of the outstanding affairs of the county and each year attracts people from all over central Michigan in increasing numbers. The big chicken pie dinner at noon of course is the big feature but no less attractive is the fine spirit of fellowship and neighborliness which draws people of all creeds and all faiths to the outstanding community gathering of the year. Following the dinner, Judge Chas. N. Bartlett of the recorder's court of Detroit, will speak after which a ball game between Leelle and Stockbridge will attract the attention of fans of this sport. Beside these attractions there will be many other features including sports and contests of a varied character.—Mason News.

Williamston—With the expiration of his lease, Landlord Hansen of the Williamston hotel closed the doors and has removed to Detroit, where he has accepted a position. This leaves Williamston without a hotel and the people there are looking for some one to erect a modern hotel which believed offers possibilities for profitable operation.

Howell—Monday Judge Collins came over from Corunna to hear some chancery matters. The first thing to come before the court was the arraignment of several alleged liquor law violators who pleaded guilty to various offenses and were sentenced accordingly with both fines and imprisonment in the county jail. John Trudeau who was recently arrested by the sheriff's force at Patterson lake, Unadilla township, when a cottage was raided there, pleaded guilty to having a gallon of moonshine and was fined $100 and 90 days in the county jail and in default of payment 60 days more in the county jail.—Republican.

WASHTENAW COUNTY FAIR

Plans are well under way for the greatest Washtenaw county fair September 1, 2, 3, 4, 5.

The new Boys' and Girls' building is nearing completion; roads and drives are improved; baseball diamond and additional parking space will be in good condition; calcium chloride will be used on main roads and walks thus dispensing with annoyance of dust and water wagons and from all indications and interest shown throughout the county our 1925 fair will be truly "bigger and better."

Increased premiums and earlier distribution of fair books are bringing many new inquiries and space reservations to the county fair office.

A good representation of Washtenaw county Guernsey breeders met at the fair office Tuesday evening, July 14, and resolved their breed would be well represented in the great display of Washtenaw county's animal kingdom blue bloods. September 1, 2, 3, 4, 5.

Great interest is being shown throughout Washtenaw in the child health contest. This is a new feature of our fair and it is expected several hundred youngsters under five years of age will be examined by their local physicians or Dr. Guy C. Alway, Ann Arbor, and graded from standard score cards issued by American medical association.

Valuable prizes are being donated for winners by county merchants but the benefit of having children examined by physicians and defects called to the parents' attention is the chief aim of the contest.

Cards may be secured from county fair office or Dr. Alway.

Flies Are Polite

Julian Huxley, eminent biologist, says flies are polite. A fly in a box was seen to devour a small insect, but when a female fly was placed in the box with it the next insect was killed by the male and given to his mate. After the female was removed, the male remembered his manners by catching another insect and saving it for the "wife."

Frier Bacon's Brazen Head Is Old Legend

According to a legend prevalent in the Middle Ages, Roger Bacon (1214-1292) spent seven years constructing a brazen head, which he fancied would tell him how to surround the island of Great Britain with a wall of brass. This head was to speak within a month after its completion, but no special hour was set for its so doing. Bacon, accordingly, set his servant to watch, specially enjoining him to not tell his master in case the head should speak. At the end of the first half hour the servant heard the head exclaim: "Time is!" at the end of the second half hour, "Time was," and at the end of the third half hour, "Time's past"; whereupon it fell with a loud crash and was shattered to pieces. The servant neglected to call Bacon, thinking he would not care to be disturbed for such a trifle, and thus the knowledge necessary to build the brazen wall was never acquired. This belief in the existence of a talking brazen head was widely spread in the Middle Ages. Gerbert, a French churchman, is said to have made such a head; and Albertus Magnus is alleged to have constructed an entire man of brass. —Kansas City Star.

Glorious Contemplation

Toad's Great Value

Some form of toad can be found in each state. Toads were formerly more numerous. They are now becoming rare, for they are destroyed by all classes of vertebrates and by drought in summer and severe cold in winter. Their value to man lies in the number of insects and other invertebrates which they eat.

Is your watch up-to-date as well as on time?

Would you wear a suit of clothes in the style of a half century ago?

Certainly not. And yet even today, when a watch is considered to be as much an accessory of dress as it is a timekeeper, many a pocket bulges with a cumbersome watch 25 to 50 years old.

Remarkable progress has since been made in watchmaking. Graceful, thin models which retain all the accuracy and sturdiness of their cumbersome predecessors but give an added beauty and charm, are worn today by men and women of good taste.

Such a watch is up-to-date as well as on time. Come in and see our latest watch models of well-known makes, dressed in the famous Wadsworth Cases.

FARM POPULATION

DECLINED DURING 1924

The farm population of the United States decreased approximately 182,000 during 1924, according to estimates based on a survey of 25,000 representative farms made recently by the United States department of agriculture. This is a drop of 6 per cent during that year, the estimated farm population on January 1, 1925, being 31,134,000 compared with 31,816,000 on January 1, 1924. This estimate includes not only the agricultural workers, but all men, women and children living on the farms on that date.

The movement from farms to cities, towns and villages in 1924 is estimated at 2,075,000; the movement to farms was 1,396,000 making a net movement of 679,000 persons, or 2.2 per cent. Births among the farm population during 1924 are estimated at 763,000 and deaths at 286,000 leaving a natural increase of 497,000 which reduced the loss due to the cityward movement to 182,000 or .6 per cent. A similar estimate made in 1922 showed a loss in farm population of 460,000 as against 182,000 in 1924.

The gross movement from farms to cities in 1922 was 2,000,000 compared to 2,075,000 in 1924, a slight increase. The gross movement back to the farms in 1922 was 880,000 compared to 1,396,000 in 1924, a very decided increase. The net movement from farms to cities in 1922 was 1,120,000 or 3.6 per cent and in 1924, 679,000 or 2.2 per cent.

Two geographic divisions, the New England and South Atlantic states, showed a net increase in farm population for the year 1924, of 9 per cent and 2 per cent, respectively. All other divisions showed decreases. The Mountain States leading with a loss of 2.8 per cent.

The decrease in farm population due to the cityward movement, not taking into account births or deaths, was highest in the Mountain states 4.3 per cent, followed by the Pacific and West South central states. In all other divisions, except New England, the percentage of decrease due to the cityward movement was equal to or less than the average for the whole United States, 2.2 per cent. New England alone showed a gain of 3 per cent since more people moved from cities to New England farms than left farms for cities.

The movement from farms to cities was found to be at the highest rate in the Mountain states, 13.8 per cent, followed by the Pacific, New England, Middle Atlantic, and East North Central, in order. In the movement to farms from cities, the Mountain states again lead, with 9.5 per cent followed by the New England, Pacific, Middle Atlantic and East North Central states.

Two European capitals, Petrograd and Madrid, were built to order. The former by Peter the Great, the latter by Philip II, who chose the lofty site because of the asthma from which he suffered.

Origin of Chapels

The word chapel comes from cape, a chest. The word was originally applied to the chest in which the relics of a saint were deposited; afterwards to the apartment in a church or cathedral in which the chest was kept. These chapels were dedicated separately, but were known by the name of the saint whose relics they contained.

Honors Even

An English hostess was very proud over the elevation of one of her family to the house of lords. "This makes the second of our family in the peerage," she remarked to one of her callers. "Have you any relation in the house of lords?" "No," was the calm reply, "but I have two maiden aunts in the kingdom of Heaven."—Boston Transcript.

MOTHER

This is the test of a successful mother—she puts first things first. She does not give to sweeping the time that belongs to her children. An electric motor runs a vacuum cleaner for less than 2 cents an hour. She does not give to washing the time that belongs to her children. An electric motor runs a washing machine for 8 cents an hour. She does not rob the evening hours of their comfort because her home is dark. To light a room splendidly according to modern standards, costs less than 5 cents an hour.

Men are judged successful according to their power to delegate work. Similarly the wise woman delegates to electricity all that electricity can do.

With Your Gas Man

Serving All Alike

We serve many customers at a loss. They use such a small amount of gas that were our business like others we would have good reason for dropping them from our books. But you can't do this in the gas business.

We must serve all alike—the cottage and the mansion, the rich man and the poor man. And gas service must be of the same quality and of the same price to all—except in special cases where very large quantities are used.

The gas business is thoroughly democratic. Every customer is considered a good customer and treated as such. And we give just as careful consideration to the complaint received from the smallest customer as we do from the largest. That is the obligation of serving the public.

ALASKA INDIANS STILL CLING TO TWO WIVES

Native Marries Woman Older Than Himself to Do Work and Younger One to Bear Children.

New York.—Alaska Indians in some instances still have two wives, an older one to do the work and a younger one to bear the children, according to Miss Marie M. Faldine of Juneau, who is in New York attending a child welfare conference. She is a Red Cross public health nurse, and has organized public health work in southeastern Alaska.

"The practice of having two wives is no longer common," said Miss Faldine, "but it is an old-established custom and is done under cover. The residual effects are seen in the fact that the Alaskan native generally marries a woman older than himself."

"Alaskan natives in the southeastern part of the territory live in villages of huts, rudely built, and in many cases in tribal huts. In the northern part the tribes are wandering, living in tents in summer and in their igloos in winter."

"In the region where I have been working the tribal marriage customs are very strict. No member can marry a woman in his own tribe. An Eagle may marry a Raven or a Bear, but he is forbidden to mate with an Eagle."

"The Alaskan native is stoical and almost morose. He does not smile and call a greeting the way the Eskimo does, and seldom speaks. The natives are notably kind to their children, however."

"Squat in build and with slanting eyes, the Alaskan native is oriental in appearance. They make their living by fishing, largely, and live on fish, seaweeds and berries. Their language is almost impossible to learn. They have no negatives in their speech."

"If a native eats bread he buys it for the native woman does not know how to make it. Occasionally they make an unleavened bread, and they are adept in the art of cooking flap-jacks."

Placing Tommy

It was too rainy to go out, so Peggy and Tommy were entertaining themselves by picturing the wonderful things they would have when they grew up. "I shall have a lovely motor car," said Peggy. "So shall I," said Tommy. "And a radio," continued Peggy. "So shall I," said Tommy. "Oh, Tommy," Peggy said in an exasperated tone, "I believe you are what they call a 'So-shall-I'."

Art

You find works of literature which may be said to be pure art. A little song of Shakespeare or of Goethe is pure art.—Huxley.

Mr. Flude is one of the most versatile men before the American public today. He has had unusual training for the addresses he will give at our chautauques. For fifteen years he was an American journalist visiting most of America during that time; city editor of a daily, manager of various weeklies, editor of a Metropolitan magazine, and "column editor" for over one hundred newspapers of the West. For twenty years he has been connected with the American platform as lecturer.

er and manager of two chautauqua bureaus. He is recognized as a most fascinating teller of travel stories.

During the war Mr. Flude served in welfare work in Camp Funston, as a transport secretary on the Atlantic and the Arctic, in special recruiting service, and then for a year in Siberia, China and Japan. Yet, with all the rich experiences life has held for Mr. Flude, he is still a "regular fellow"—a man you will delight to know and hear. GUARD GAME ANIM

Forest Service Workers Report Increase in Number.

Washington.—More than 650,000 head of big game animals under their home in Uncle Sam's 189 national forests, announces the forest service of the United States Department of Agriculture, which has just completed the compilation of a count made in 1924.

Compared with the previous year the 1924 figures represent an increase of about 44,000 head after due allowance is made for 44,800 head of bear which were not included in estimates of former years.

Forest service officials explain that this increase may be caused by the fact that 1924 was a very dry year, resulting in an unusual concentration of animals around watering places which enabled the forest rangers to make closer estimates. Only animals using national forest ranges are included, no account being taken of animals which graze on adjacent federal lands or on privately owned areas.

Deer represent the vast bulk of the game animals with a total of 550,000 compared with 511,200 in 1923.

The five states credited with the largest number of deer are, in order: California, Oregon, Montana, Idaho and Arizona. Alaska is credited with about the same number—50,000 head—as the last two.

In the 1924 estimates bears were included as game rather than as predatory animals, the figures showing 44,800 head. Of this total 38,700 were of the black and brown varieties, 6,000 being grizzlies. Nearly all grizzlies listed were found in Alaska. Montana is the only state in which the forest rangers were able to find more than a scattering few of this bear.

Elk have increased, more than 52,000 head being listed for 1924 compared with 49,500 in 1923. In the Teton National forest bordering the Yellowstone park the elk herd has shown a notable increase.

The number of moose in 1924 shows a loss, only 5,100 head being shown compared with 8,000 in 1923. It is explained this difference may be attributed in large part to more accurate estimates. The number of mountain goats is given as 12,400 and 17,200, respectively, a slight increase of buffaloes are to be found only in protected herds.

Antelope, or pronghorns, are still in a very unsatisfactory condition. The 1924 count shows only a few more than 5,000 of these animals, most of which are in Arizona and Idaho.

Fear Dam Will Erase Indian Rock Relic

Philadelphia.—The threatened obliteration of the famous Indian rock in the Susquehanna river at Conowingo by the construction of a huge dam for electric power at that point is rousing protests from many groups.

Hieroglyphs, said to be the oldest Indian writing in America, are written on this and other rocks of the region. Members of the Smithsonian Institution and other scientific groups have asked that these "prehistoric chicken tracks," relics of aboriginal life in America, be preserved. Interest has been roused to such an extent that the Susquehanna Power company has offered $5,000 to aid anyone who will engage in their removal or preservation.

Mystery and romance of prehistoric days surrounding the picture-scratched rocks, half-submerged in the river, which have not yet been deciphered, add to the appeal for their preservation in the face of the insistent demand for "more power" on the part of modern industry, which has made the building of the dam necessary.

The chief relic, Indian rock, even now is not always visible to human eyes. It is one huge block of granite, a solid islet of rock in the middle of the Susquehanna, and is about 20 by 30 feet in size. Only at low water can it be seen, and it can be located only by boatmen who know the river well.

Anglers Must Wear Labels in Oklahoma

Oklahoma City.—Unlabeled fishermen became taboo in Oklahoma recently. Hereafter they must plainly display upon their clothing the state license, without which they cannot drop bait to hungry fish.

The last legislature, concluding that fish and game wardens should expect co-operation from the men they are set to watch, passed a law that fishermen must bear the license pinned or sewed in the center of their outer garments.

Bedlam

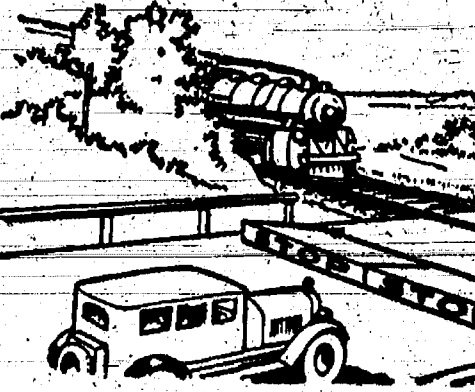

Bedlam is the old synonym in England for a lunatic asylum. The word is a corruption of Bethlehem, due to the British custom of shortening proper names arbitrarily, as in Boston, for St. Botolph's town, Hadden for Hildwarden, etc. The hospital of St. Mary of Bethlehem in London, originally a priory founded about 1245, was afterwards used for the detention of lunatics, and gave rise to the popular use of the name.

Roadway Raised as a Barrier to Guard Crossings

Barriers operated by hydraulic pressure applied by the trains, have been suggested for prevention of accidents at railway crossings. They are to be constructed as triangular platforms elevated from the road level by the weight of the engine and cars, and sink back to a horizontal position when the train has passed. Vivid "Stop" signs on the sides, illuminated at night, would give motorists ample warning at a distance.

Foot Switch for Car Signals Increases Auto Safety

Stop-signals and direction lights are flashed for the guidance of motorists by pressing a foot switch fitted on the bottom of the car so that the driver need not remove his hands from the steering wheel. It may be operated either by the heel or toe, pressure in the middle turning on the stop light and a turn of the foot to the right or left, making contacts that light the corresponding signal lamps. The switch is also adapted for opening electric latches on office doors and for ringing call or alarm bells and buzzers. It is easily installed and has no parts likely to get out of order.

What the World Is Doing

(As Seen by Popular Mechanics Magazine)

Oil Extracted from Locusts Lubricates Watches

Oil extracted from locusts is being used in South Africa as a substitute for kerosene oil as a lubricant for watches and other delicate mechanisms. The insects are fed into presses which crush them and the resultant oil is refined and allowed to stand for a year. Its quality is then determined by its color, consistency and odor. The solid matter remaining after the oil is extracted, is made into cakes that are used for poultry feed and defray much of the expense of making the oil.

Improved Electric Stove

When one housewife wanted an electric stove, she took a tin can, 6 in. square and 6 in. high, and cut a slot, 6 in. long and about 1 in. wide, in one side with a can opener. One end was also cut open. The electric bottom was slipped into the slot with the bottom up, as shown, and the stove was ready for cooking. All kinds of liquids may be kept hot on it, and it has various other uses.

Hundred Bolts of Lightning Flash Every Second

According to a London weather-bureau report, there are about 1,800 thunderstorms in progress every minute throughout the world, giving 360,000 lightning flashes an hour or 100 every second. Observations made from 3,000 stations, indicate that the earth experiences 16,000,000 storms of this character each year, about 44,000 daily. At certain points in tropical countries, during the rainy seasons, distant thunder is such a common occurrence that the observer frequently forgets to enter it in his register.

Fall Returns Acrobat to Mother He Thought Dead

Paris.—Some few days ago an acrobat performing in a theater in Paris fell from his trapeze and, together with his companion, was badly hurt. But it is an ill fall which brings no reward. Due to this accident the acrobat has found his mother whom he believed dead, and a family separated 17 years has been united.

A certain M. and Mme. Salson were dining in the little shop where M. Salson worked as a shoemaker. M. Salson was reading the paper. Suddenly he became pale and quickly tried to hide the paper. Mme. Salson became worried, took the paper and read: "Two acrobats badly injured," and the name of one of them, "Victor Buhour."

It was her son by a former marriage whom she had left with her first husband after obtaining a divorce. For 17 years she had been able to find no trace of him, and when inquiries were made in the city where her first husband had lived, it was reported that both he and the son had died. It was an accident bringing it to the front page of every Parisian paper that told her he was living still.

At the hospital, where she immediately rushed to see him, she found he would recover. His story of the separation was much like hers. After the death of his father he had tried to find his mother, but, unable to get any trace of her, had come to believe that she was dead, and had had no idea of her second marriage and consequent change of name.
