The Easy Electric Washer

Saves the most Work

When you consider the various labor saving features of the EASY Washer one by one, it is quite obvious that it must save more work than washers which lack these features. For example, its extra large tub enables it to do a washing with several tubfuls less than a washer with a small size tub. And its gas heater underneath the tub enables it to boil the white clothes without any of the work that would be necessary if a washboiler were used. Other conveniences, equally important, save work in various ways. Investigate the EASY when you are ready to buy an electric washer and you will appreciate, in the fullest sense, why the EASY has won a name for itself as the washer that saves the most work.

PRIMARY SCHOOL MONEY ABOUT $14 PER CHILD

Washtenaw county should soon receive its check from the state for primary school money, according to indications from Lansing. Michigan's primary school fund this year will be about the same as last year's fund of $14 for each child according to figures made public by the department of public instruction. About $15,400,000 has been raised by the state in taxes for the fund. It is announced by O. B. Fuller, auditor general. There are about 1,000,000 children in the schools. A final check of the census is being made. As soon as this is completed county clerks and treasurers will be informed of the amounts schools in their districts will receive.

Last year's school census is used in compiling figures for the funds, as it takes about 12 months for the department to check the returns. Washtenaw's check will be mailed the county treasurer who in turn figures the amount due each section of the county and mails checks for those amounts to the various treasurers.

NEW RATES ON DETROIT UNITED RAILWAY AUGUST 12

Contrary to expectations the Detroit United Railway is not going to exercise its full authority, granted by the Michigan Public Utilities Commission, to charge three cents a mile for transporting passengers over its several interurban lines.

On the D. U. R. and practically all the other divisions it has placed the maximum charge at a mile and three-quarter cents a mile but through the use of commutation tickets regular or even semi-regular riders will be carried at a much lower rate. By making the proper purchase riders may be had at two cents a mile.

The new tariff goes into effect August 12. With the maximum rate at two and three-quarter cents a mile the following discounts will be allowed: 20-ride books good for purchaser to be used in 90 days, at 2 cents a mile; 30-ride books, good for family, to be used in 90 days, at 2 cents a mile; 12-ride books, good for purchaser, to be used in 30 days, at 2 1/2 cents a mile; round trip tickets at 10 per cent off.

The discounts apply between all points except within the city of Detroit where the city rate of six cents is being maintained instead of going on a mileage basis.

"We have no desire to go to the maximum allowed if it is at all possible for us to avoid doing so," said A. L. Drum, executive manager for the receivers in a statement to the public.

"We are going to put forth every effort to build up our traffic by cultivating the habit of regular riding. We think it proper to give regular riders a decided advantage and so we are putting in an exceedingly liberal system of commuter tickets. These tickets are not only liberal as to rates but they are very much so as to the time in which they can be used. It is very clear, of course, that one will not have to ride anything like every day to take advantage of the discount rates."

Mr. Drum also announces that he has directed his traffic department to select appropriate places along the lines where these commuter tickets can be purchased in addition to the waiting rooms. These tickets will not be sold by the conductors. In the meantime the station agents are being supplied with copies of the new tariff that are available for the public use.

WALTER F. CARR VICTIM OF ACCIDENT LATE SUNDAY

Car Driven by Royal Royce, Jackson, Runs Down and Fatally Injures Well Known Chelsea Resident.

Walter F. Carr, well known Chelsea resident, living on East Washington street, was struck and fatally wounded late Sunday night when an automobile driven by Royal D. Royce, of Jackson, turned onto the sidewalk to avoid running into an interurban car at the D. U. R. crossing on South Main street.

Mr. Carr, who had accompanied friends to the station, was leaving immediately after the first section of a double header train had pulled out at 10:50 p. m. and reached the sidewalk just as the second section of the train pulled in. It was this car which Royce attempted to avoid striking and instead struck Mr. Carr, throwing him to the cement sidewalk which skirts the north side of the railing and hedge on the west side of the station. When picked up, Mr. Carr was lying approximately thirty feet from the sidewalk, suffering from a broken arm and internal injuries from which he died a few minutes later.

Royce, who was driving a Studebaker car, and was accompanied by a lady companion, was taken into custody by local officials and later lodged in jail at Ann Arbor, from where he was released on Monday after his father and Attorney Barney Brower of Jackson, had guaranteed his appearance when wanted. What action, if any, will be taken has not been learned.

Various reports relative to cause of the fatal accident are heard about the streets. Royce, in his version of the affair, is said to have claimed he was traveling at a speed of 18 to 20 miles an hour, while others about the streets who claim to have been eye witnesses proffer the opinion that the car was traveling a much greater speed. Marshal Atkinson, on duty at the public square, is said to have yelled at Royce to stop when the latter "cut" the corner, but instead of stopping, increased the speed of his car and disappeared down South Main street at an excessive rate of speed.

Mr. Carr, victim of Sunday night's accident, is widely known among Chelsea residents, having resided here for a period of four years and for the last six years had been employed by the D. U. R. in various capacities. At the time of his death he was employed on the repair car.

Previous to his employment by the D. U. R. Mr. Carr was a member of the United States regular army, serving nine years prior to the outbreak of the World war. He was given an honorable discharge shortly before the beginning of the latter war.

Deceased was born December 31, 1886, and at the time of death was 39 years of age. He is survived by the widow, one daughter, 3 years of age, a step-son, Ralph Kinmer, five sisters, Mrs. Robert Hutchinson and Mrs. Ernest Kliner of Clare, Mich., Mrs. A. S. Davidson, Mrs. Bruce Davidson and Mrs. J. DePott, of Detroit; two brothers, R. A. and Thos. Carr of Detroit. His mother, Mrs. Amelia Carr, of Clare, also survives.

Funeral services will be held this afternoon at two o'clock at the late home, Rev. C. S. Risley officiating. Burial will be in Oak Grove cemetery, where members of Chelsea Lodge, I. O. O. F. will have charge of the burial service.

Tableware

Mrs. W. B. writes: "One morning being in a hurry to get down to the bargain stores, I asked my eight-year-old son, Harold, to change the tablecloth in the dining room. He willingly tackled the job, a new one for him and, of course, found when he had removed the upper cloth a thicker one underneath. Much perplexed, he called up to me: 'Shall I change its undershirt, too, mamma?'—Boston Transcript.

The afternoon was swimming and enjoyable day.

PARENTS URGED TO CORRECT DEFECTS

The physical examinations made of Washtenaw county school children showed that they were very much like other children in other districts in that they had a high percentage of physical defects of the sort that can be remedied to good advantage while they are young children. These defects are handicaps to them. They will probably grow to manhood and womanhood carrying these handicaps but the effort will be a harder one. Also the quality of their manhood and womanhood will probably not be so good.

Examinations and health studies such as the one made in Washtenaw county help to increase interest in the welfare of school children but the full value can come only through correction of the defects found.

Proper Food Helpful

The occurrence of these defects can be prevented in large measure by including plenty of fresh milk, leafy vegetables and fresh fruits in the diet of expectant mothers and young children. Such food will help all children but where defects have developed special medical and dental attention is necessary.

Defects Prevent Progress

Many experiences have shown that such physical defects keep children from growing properly. They keep children from learning well and feeling best. Educational authorities recognize more and more that health is a first essential in carrying out the school program and in training future citizens.

Summer Best Time

The time to get defects corrected is before the child starts to school and during the summer when the child is enjoying the health benefits of out of doors life. Dr. Forsythe of the Health Service of the University of Michigan sees so many young men and women

DISCUSSING CHINA

Secretary of State Kellogg visited President Coolidge at Swampscott, and carried with him some information to the president in regard to China and Japan, for a discussion of Celestial relations.

It may be gathered by sifting the news from the Far East, that these two nations are to be the source of very serious concern for our country in the next few years, and a study of the situation over there, with a serious attempt to adjust matters with the Celestials, would be in order.

America has spent a very large sum of money in the grand total and has wasted lives of American marines in a sincere endeavor to do China a good turn. We have never had any satisfaction out of it, excepting such as might have come to us through a feeling of service to a heathen nation. There is no chance that we shall ever gain anything excepting a poultice to our egotism, and an abnormal swelling of our bump of benevolence.

The Chinese situation has always been handled from the standpoint of helping the Chinese. It were high time it should be handled with the view of helping America.

DIED BY DETERMINATION

Joseph R. Gant, a banker at Kansas City, Mo., died the other day, it is stated, a death through determination. Gant had been a leader in civic matters in Kansas City. He was one of the most popular and respected men in the city. He led in community uplift and enterprise. Last November his accounts were short to the tune of $693,000. The bank was closed. He lost everything, as did his depositors. He declared he would not live. He wasted away constantly until he went from 220 pounds down to 110, when he died. With his death, what became of the $693,000 was a sealed mystery. He would not give an inkling as to where it went.

The death of Gant is pointed out as a death by determination. His mentality conquered the matter of which his body was composed. He willed himself to die, and died. The world loses, when a man of such determination and stoic will passes on, no matter if he were short in his accounts.

RUBBER GOES HIGHER

With an export tax on rubber, and virtual monopoly of rubber production by England, that commodity sold for over a dollar a pound in New York last week. A little over a year ago it could be had for 20 cents a pound. The users of automobile tires in America will pay the advance. Not satisfied with making the American people pay a part of the interest of the money borrowed from us during the war, our dear English cousins will make us pay the whole of the debt and the interest on it, unless we find some other source from which we can obtain rubber. This "hands across the sea" business is slightly "elastic," to say the least.

DAWES PLAN A SUCCESS

Reports from Germany state that the Dawes Plan has worked out successfully. The report for the first six months of the operation of the plan shows that the currency of Germany has been stabilized, and that the country will finish its fiscal year with a surplus of from $25,000,000 to $100,000,000. We may assume that this is a true condition. That being so, the German people should be strong for retaining the Plan, and working it out to a finish. Reports from Germany do not indicate that this is the feeling of the German people or the German government. They still protest against the Dawes Plan.

Peoria, Illinois, in pre-Volstead days the greatest distillery center on earth, was subjected to a vigorous clean-up a few days ago. Two government agents from Washington went to Peoria, rented a building and opened up "Uncle Sam's Place." It was a good joke and Peoria bootleggers laughed heartily to see the venerable uncle of U. S. all in "such a business." Moreover they patronized the place. Over 200 of them told their real names, and disclosed their real places of business. Then forty dry agents from Chicago swooped down with warrants and in a day 200 bootleggers were in jail or under bond, and "Uncle Sam's place" is no longer the subject of jokes of bootleggers in Peoria. Looks easy, doesn't it?

STRIKES IN ENGLAND

Great Britain is, like the United States, threatened by a coal strike unless the mine operators meet the demands of the British miners. The miners allege that they have assurance that all other industries will join in a general strike on August 1, unless there is an adjustment and agreement.

The government of Great Britain might welcome a general sympathetic strike. The dole is already a great burden on the people and it is charged, an inducement to men to idle their time away with the dole, and they might feel it is worth a general strike to accomplish it.

THE CANCER GERM
The germ or organism that causes cancer has baffled medical science ever since there has been a science of medicine.

The best news the world has heard in a decade comes from London, England, in the announcement of the National Institute of Medical Research, that the microbe that causes cancer, has been isolated, so that the world may look forward to a real cure for cancer at some time in the future, perhaps a time not very far away.

The cancer germ was definitely discovered, not by a medical man, but by J. E. Barnard, a hatter who used his business of making hats to earn the money to enable him to study microscopy. So diligent and intent was he in studying the use of the microscope, that he became the most expert man in England, and was very valuable to his government during the World War, in charge of the division of microscopy. He worked in the laboratory with Dr. William Ewart Gye, and finally produced on a photographic plate a picture of the cancer germ, a thing so infinitesimally small that it could not be seen by the eye, by the use of the most powerful microscope.

The germ is said to be common in most human bodies, like some other deadly germs such as tuberculosis, diphtheria, and the like. It lies in wait until tissues are weakened that they can no longer resist it, then it attacks with a vengeance, and claims more deaths than any other disease of modern times.

The National Institute of Medical Research is now working on a toxin to destroy this organism, and create immunity from attack, in that way to prevent cancer, and finally to cure it.

No greater boon could be conferred on a world of suffering humanity than such a result.

WHY WORRY?

The metropolitan newspapers make a sensation of a Berlin story to the effect that the former Crown Princess of Germany has received and accepted a young woman as the unmarried daughter of Czar Nicholas of Russia, who was murdered by the bolsheviks.

What of it? The head of a daughter of a czar would have little prospect of ever wearing a crown, and will live with more unease than the wearer of a crown. Besides, kings and queens, czars and kaisers, along with princes and czarinas and czarvetches are quite out of style.

Radio broadcasting from Lakehurst, N. J., was picked up by the U. S. Warship Scorpion at Constantinople. The broadcasting was done on the 80-metre wave lengths. The Navy is experimenting with short wave lengths, and will, if success is assured, equip all naval vessels, with receiving sets, so that it is believed a U. S. boat in any part of the world may readily communicate with America.

Name of Greenland

Greenland was named by the old Scandinavian navigator Eric the Red. He gave the place an attractive name because he wanted to induce colonists from Norway to settle in the new country.

FEWER FARMERS

When there was a nationwide movement in the country to "save the railroads" there was propaganda from the four corners of the earth in favor of it. There has been a bloc in the United States Senate which has been making a strenuous effort to help the agriculturists of this country. That has been deemed as "paternalistic," "government by bloc" and all sorts of dire things.

There were fewer farmers in 1924 by 697,000. Does that mean anything to the citizens of the United States?

Can not the merchants, the bankers, the professional men—the industrialists see any menace in that? Fewer farmers means less production. Less production means higher prices. High prices means higher cost of living, and a general upward trend all 'round.

Isn't it about time that the whole of the American people awaken to the heart of the situation which makes the farm population less and less every year?

We could afford to destroy every railroad track and train—every motor car, every telephone and telegraph line than to destroy our farming population by attrition or by laying oppressive burdens on them that they can not carry.

And, the time when a farmer should work 24 hours a day and hurry back to make a living, ought to be gone forever. We have no right to expect the farmer to work any longer hours than the rest of us expect to work. We ought to expect him to make as much at his work as the rest of us make out of our employment.

Until we arrive at such a condition of sanity, we may expect conditions to get worse, and living costs to rise.

A Child of Boston

The little boy sat disconsolately on the curb and sobbed as though his heart was breaking. The kind old lady stopped and asked sweetly:

"Is a little boy cryin'?" "Tum, tella nice wady wassa matter." "If you are inquiring as to the cause of my lachrymose condition," he answered, looking up at her pityingly, "it is because I have been unable to find any suitably intelligent playmates whose eugenic constitutions are in harmony with my pathological tendencies and whose hereditary affiliations meet with the approval of my parental relations since we moved to this d—n place from Boston."—Carnegie Puppet.

Not All "Tuskers"

Tusks are present only in the males of the Asiatic elephants and are only about half as large as those found in African elephants. Both sexes of African elephants have tusks, which contribute to the dwindling of the species, as the females are as liable as the males to be killed for the sake of the ivory.

BREVITIES.

Clinton—A six days chautauque will be held here opening on August 14, with afternoon and evening programs.

Manchester—The Nible families of this village and of Wampiers Lake held their annual reunion of the Schmidt-Nible families at Potter Park, Lansing, Sunday.

Dexter—Arrangements are being completed this week by the committee in charge of the camp for girls of Washtenaw county to be held at Camp Birkett, Big Silver Lake, during the week of July 27 to August 1.—Leader.

Howell—At the last session of the board of supervisors an association was formed and will hold the first picnic at Island Lake, Thursday, July 30. The organization includes the present and ex-supervisors of the several townships.—Democrat.

Ann Arbor—A state-wide three-day convention on the "State of the Commonwealth," in so far as it involves moral and religious education, is now announced for Detroit, November 4, 5, and 6, under auspices of the Michigan Sunday School Council of Religious Education.

Howell—It is 38 years ago July 15 since George Barnes bought the Livingston Republican of the Stair Brothers, Ed and Orrin Stair. Nine years ago Roy Caverly of Pinckney bought a half interest in the business and the paper has since been run as a partnership affair.—Republican.

Manchester—There are many large patches of sweet clover growing close to the roads in this and neighboring townships, which should be cut, because auto drivers dislike to drive where they cannot see the condition of the track—and they must turn out on meeting another car.—Enterprise.

Saline—The Detroit Edison Company construction crew are placing the additional boulevard lights on North and South Ann Arbor street this week. When they are installed it will make of Saline the most brilliantly lighted village in the state.—Observer.

Mason—Much damage is being done through the county by marauding dogs entering the flocks of farmers and either killing or maiming sheep or lambs. $1,845.00 has already been paid out for such damages by the board of supervisors this year and at the last meeting of the board nearly a thousand dollars in claims were presented.—News.

Williamston—The American Hotel is again open. L. E. Dains, former proprietor of the place, and present proprietor of the Dains Cafe here, has leased the property and the dining room and lunch-counter are again open. The rooms are not yet available for occupancy by guests as yet, but will be as soon as necessary repairs and redecorating can be completed.—Enterprise.

Ann Arbor—Mortimer Welch, 1028 Wall street, charged with highway robbery, pleaded guilty in circuit court last week Wednesday and was sentenced to from 3 to 15 years in Michigan state reformatory at Ionia by Judge George W. Sample. According to officers, Welch, with another youth, were riding in an automobile when he had offered them a ride and they struck him on the head with a revolver, attempting to steal his money. They were captured the same day by deputy sheriffs.

Milan—By action taken last Monday night at the annual meeting of fractional district No. 1, of Milan, York and Augusta, the district is practically assured of a new school building within the next year or year and a half. While the action taken at the meeting is not final, the Board of Education was authorized to have plans drafted for a building to adequately take care of the district. Another meeting will be necessary to submit to the district plans for the building and a special election will necessarily have to be called to float the necessary bonds.—Leader.

EXTENSION WORK BRIEFS

Eighteen hundred pounds of soda-tol have been distributed in the county during the last month. This was some explosive material left over in the adjoining county which we were able to secure for Washtenaw county farmers. It will be possible to secure pyrofol this fall providing orders are sent in early enough so that they can be included in car to be shipped into adjoining county. Orders for this material should be left at the county agent's office.

It will be possible to arrange for some ditch blasting demonstrations this fall. Any farmer interested should get in touch with the county agent.

Professor H. H. Musselman, Department of Agricultural Engineering was in the county last week assisting county agent in some drainage problems.

Septic tank demonstrations which were to be scheduled for August will be delayed on account of the serious illness of the man who would have charge of this work at the Michigan State College.

Enrollment blanks are being received for the Rural Women's Camp. The program is about completed and will be mailed the last of the week.

To all those who have sent in registrations: Dr. W. W. Diehl of Albion will address the Wednesday evening assembly August 5, at Rural Women's Camp. Eaton Rapids—The annual meeting of the Eaton County Pioneer and Historical Society will be held this year in Vermontville, on August 6 and an unusually interesting meeting is planned. This society was organized at Eaton Rapids more than fifty years ago, and several meetings were held here, until Vermontville turned out in force and voted the next meeting should be held at their village. To celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of that meeting, the committee, at the request of Vermontville, gives Vermontville the meeting again this year, although it might fittingly have gone to Hamlin, had the citizens there requested it.—Review.

Brighton—It is the intention of the County Road Commission to start the mile of new road west of town in about thirty days. The road will start at the Lime Lake corners and extend west a mile. This mile stretch is greatly in need of improvement, there being some narrow dangerous places and some bad hills. The well known Weichers hill, with its 13 per cent grade, will be reduced to a seven per cent grade, and will no longer be a test for cars of high power. The road will be closed to traffic but a very short time. It is announced.—Argus.

Ypsilanti—Three barns on the farm occupied by Edward Krumrei of Pittsford township, three miles west of Ypsilanti on the Ypsilanti-Saline road, were destroyed by fire caused by lightning during Thursday morning's thunder storm. Most of the farm tools, 150 bushels of oats and a quantity of new hay were destroyed. One calf was burned, while other livestock in the buildings was saved by Mr. Krumrei, with the aid of neighbors. Firemen from Ypsilanti assisted in saving the house. The barns, which were owned by Zoid Bros. of Ypsilanti, were erected 60 years ago and the loss partially is covered by insurance. Unsinkable Boat Given

Test by Oakland Men

Oakland, Cal.—A boat, claimed to be unsinkable, and noncombustible, was tried out here by two Oakland men who are its inventors. The boat, designed to carry 21 persons, is entirely inclosed, like a submarine, with an air intake which will float to the surface no matter what side of the boat is upmost. The inventors said a company has been formed to manufacture the crafts to be placed as lifeboats on ships.

Unless steps looking toward further financing of the project are begun at once, Chelsea band concerts will come to a close on Wednesday evening of next week when Smith's band plays the fourth and last Wednesday evening concert for the season of 1925. The $200 voted at the annual township meeting in the spring pays for four concerts and additional finance must come from other sources. With two months of warm weather ahead during which open air concerts would be popularly received it is regretted that this form of weekly amusement should be numbered up in the hundreds have gathered in Chelsea on the occasion of these concerts.

Find Hearths 4,000 Years Old in Belgium

Brussels.—Remouchamps, one of the picturesque towns in Belgium, near Liege, has recently been the scene of discoveries of the Stone Age.

On the banks of the River Ambleve, in the clay that had slid down from the neighboring slopes, ten prehistoric hearths have been brought to light, laid on circular beds of big flint and fragments of sandstone plates showing plain traces of polishings or of wearings with a very hard body, which seems to indicate that the first idea of the stone polishing dates from that period.

The industry discovered in that place proves that the primitive man who built his hut on the bank of the Ambleve belonged to the so-called "epoque tardenoisienne," intermediate between that of our ancestors of the ice period and the epoch known as the age of the polished stone. The latter brought about the great neolithic civilization which came to an end about 1,000 years ago.

This is the first time hearths of this kind have been discovered.

FORD ESTABLISHES RECORD

A new June sales record was established by the Ford Motor Company during the month just passed, when approximately 6,000 more Ford cars and trucks were delivered to retail customers in the United States than during the same month a year ago—which held the previous high mark for June.

Reports indicate a continued large volume of business through the summer months with a higher buying level than is usual during this season of the year. The outlook is for another record-breaking month for July. Urgent requests for additional shipments have made necessary increasing the company's July production schedule, which now calls for several thousand more cars and trucks than were produced in June.

Sales figures just given out by the company show that the total sales for June were 195,900 Ford cars and trucks. Of this number, 176,258 represent domestic sales, as compared with 170,547 cars and trucks sold in June a year ago.

Buying conditions also continue good in the high-priced car market. Evidence of this appears in the sales of Lincoln cars during June, with deliveries to domestic customers totaling 892, an increase of 95 over June a year ago.

Reservoir Blast Spoils

Faucet as Fishin' Hole

Trenton, N. J.—Until about a month ago it was quite possible for housewives in the fashionable Cadwallader section of Trenton to get their Friday fish from the kitchen faucet. No joke, if the family wasn't too large.

Catfish, eels, mullets, suckers and perch were procurable, depending upon bait in the kitchen sink.

It was rather a delicate situation, and not much heralded, the city considering it a poor advertising medium. But water department officials acquired a ring about the left ear hold.

Legions of housewives for the complaints. There were myriads of them, usually confined to the section west of Prospect street, which is populous and select. There is said to be some doubt that the complaints would have been so numerous if the department could have furnished deep-sea bluefish and bass. But the average city reservoir lacks these delicacies.

However, the spring water companies had no complaints to enter. Plumbers, too, found remunerative employment, while the grumbling lasted, until one wholly indiscreet let "the cat out of its bag."

The fish were in the reservoir, he said, and an old screen was letting them amble through into the supply pipes. Up one and down the other they swam their untiring way until a sinister turned on her tap or the cook started to prepare the meal. Then they poked out their snubby noses to nip a bite of something in the sink.

So the water department set off a blast in the reservoir, raised all to the surface, and skinned them off.

Canada Pushes North

Ottawa.—The purpose of part of an appropriation of $352,000 for the government of the northwest territories is revealed as financing of expeditions in the Far North. Charles Stewart, minister of the interior, made the disclosure in debate. He said it was desirable to establish Canada's claim to certain territories.

Producing Liquid Air

Liquid air is a transparent, limpid and intensely cold liquid, slightly blue in color, and of about the same density as water. It is prepared by subjecting air to great pressure and then cooling it by its own expansion to a temperature below the boiling point of its constituents—(nitrogen—195 degrees centigrade; oxygen, 183 degrees centigrade). Its chief use is as a refrigerant.

With Your Gas Man

Serving All Alike

We serve many customers at a loss. They use such a small amount of gas that were our business like others we would have good reason for dropping them from our books. But you can't do this in the gas business.

We must serve all alike—the cottage and the mansion, the rich man and the poor man. And gas service must be of the same quality and of the same price to all—except in special cases where very large quantities are used.

The gas business is thoroughly democratic. Every customer is considered a good customer and treated as such. And we give just as careful consideration to the complaint received from the smallest customer as we do from the largest. That is the obligation of serving the public.

Why He Did Not Fight
White, who was small and puny, had offended Brown, who was a powerful fellow six feet in height, and who, in consequence, declared that he would thrash White whenever he met him.
Some time later an unkind fate threw them together, and true to his promise, the big man gave poor White such a blow on the face as almost knocked him down.
Recovering himself, the victim exclaimed: "Confound it, sir! What's that for? Do you mean that in jest or earnest?"
"In earnest," replied the other, placing himself in a fighting attitude.
"Oh, very well," said White. "If it's in earnest there's nothing more to be said, but if it had been in jest I should not have liked it at all."
And he walked off—Minneapolis Tribune.

Bad Temper Harmful
Bad temper, an eminent pathologist has discovered, has the strange effect of increasing the amount of sugar in the blood by 10 per cent to 30 per cent in the course of a few minutes. That is why an angry man wants to fight the object of his rage. He becomes hot-blooded because the accession of carbonaceous material intoxicates his muscular system. The strange thing is that this rapid change is due to a tiny gland about the size of a pin. When it functions normally, a person remains calm and even-tempered. If the essence exudes too lavishly, hatred, passion, and quarrels ensue.

Wise at Last
An old man was leading two lively calves out to pasture in the morning. When he came to the field he tied one of the calves to one of his boot straps and the other to the opposite boot strap while he opened the rickety gate. The calves proceeded to run away. When he was picked up much the worse for wear his wife asked him: "Didn't you know any better than to do a foolish trick like that?"
"Yes," he answered. "I hadn't been dragged four rods before I saw my mistake."

"Beth" in Bible Names
In most Bible names "Beth" means "house of." Bethlehem means house of bread; Bethesda, house of rest; Bethsaida, house of fish; Beth Dagon, house of Dagon; Bethel, house of God; Bethbarah, house of the ford; Beth-Eden, house of pleasantness; Beth-Milo, wall house, and so on.

The Dancer Who Paid

By MARTIN M. CHESTER
(© 1925, Western Newspaper Union.)

ALL Glenview knew that Judge Smith sent his wife through school before he married her; and all Glenview, including Lora Stone, knew no happier family than the Judge, his wife, and their adopted son, "Stubby."
Of course the Smiths were happy. Lora reflected with all that money, Stubby was rich enough to go to the State university for twenty years if he so wanted, while she, Lora, poor and an orphan, had no right even to think of going.

Here Lora had an inspiration for recklessness. Why not advertise—in a city paper, and giving a Glenview post office box—that she would marry any man who would first send her through the State university. Before the answers came she could confide in the postmaster.
Her advertisement brought Lora several offers, only one of which she thought sincere. J. Algernon Macfadden wrote little and to the point. He was preparing for the foreign field. He suggested a course of pre-missionary study for Lora. If she felt called to share his life, she would for four years receive each month a bank draft for one hundred dollars. A personal interview was inconvenient at this time, but when her education was finished, they could meet, preliminary to their wedding, and exchange credentials.

"The old mummy!" Lora exclaimed, and decided almost at once to accept his offer. When she sent him her name and address she pasted to the sheet a little snapshot of herself.
Three weeks later, along with several girl friends and "Stubby" Smith, Lora went up to college. J. Algernon Macfadden was four long years away, and this was life! But with J. Algernon's hundred swelling her monthly pittance, she was—she knew it beyond a doubt—charming; and as gay as "Stubby" Smith himself. And "Stubby," now registered as John M. Smith, freshman, while nice to all the girls, rather specialized on Lora. This gave her up added thrill. He had not done that in Glenview.

In her sophomore year "Stubby" tried to propose to her, but she would not let him. She didn't want to tell him about J. Algernon. In her junior year, however, "Stubby" definitely asked her to marry him, and Lora, concealing all the particulars—"Stubby" would despise her if he knew—told him she was engaged to a missionary.

"Stubby" listened patiently. "Pooh, Pooh!" he said. The reverend hasn't scored yet—let's even in the game—and I'm going to be right here till the last tinkle of the wedding bell.
As commencement day drew nearer and nearer, she realized that to pay her dance expenses and and she did not want to face the piper. When she thought of life in Abyssinia, the merry smile of "Stubby" and the love in his steady eyes blotted the picture. When she read over the letters J. Algernon had written she felt even more sorry for herself.

Then came the day when though she never intended it—she found herself in "Stubby's" arms—admitting she loved him and confessing all her shameful bargain with J. Algernon.
Again "Stubby" waved trouble away. "Pooh, pooh!" he said. "Easy, easy! Just you watch us! You owe this Macfadden man, or will when you graduate, forty-eight hundred dollars. We'll pay him five thousand—two hundred to the good for the emaciated little Abyssinian babies!"

"But, Stubby," Lora remonstrated. "There's interest, and it is compound interest on debts like that. Don't think I haven't counted it up. I wanted to earn the money and pay it back; but it's almost a thousand dollars more, 'Stubby'; it's too much. I'll just have to marry him!"

"What's a thousand dollars, when we love each other, Lora? We'll pay the man off. He'll be satisfied."
"But the money isn't everything, 'Stubby'. I owe more than that. He risked his money and his faith on a strange girl just because she wanted an education. He may be queer, but I think he must be noble."

"Noble?" "Stubby's" voice had scorn. "Lora, listen to me. I've learned a good deal about this J. Algernon fellow, and the Glenview postmaster knows what I know. This Macfadden deceived a girl he expected to marry—made her believe that he was holy—out to save souls—when in fact he was planning to be an engineer. His gospel truth. Now what do you think of him?"

"I think you're all wrong, 'Stubby'. I told the old postmaster everything. He would have said so if J. Algernon Macfadden is a bad man. Anyway I promised to meet him after I graduate and talk things over. I would be cowardly to let even you straighten things out for me until I have seen him."

"That settles it," said "Stubby" gloomily. "If you must see him, you must, but look at this, Lora." He opened an old letter and handed it to her. Pasted on the page was a little snapshot of herself. "My Dear Mr. Macfadden," she stared at her own words. Then she felt "Stubby's" hands on her shoulders. "Lora," he said, "the old postmaster showed me your ad, encouraged me to answer it, and reminded me that as a squirming bawling infant, long before Judge Smith adopted me, I was christened John Algernon Macfadden."

Mr. and Mrs. Judson Armstrong of Jackson spent Saturday with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Durkee.
Mr. and Mrs. Earl Boeman, Mrs. Walter Harr and Marie Harr spent Monday in Jackson.

OF WORLD TOUR

Making Trip in Craft of His Own Design.

Los Angeles, Cal.—Once more out of the vastness of the Seven seas has come a message from Harry Pidgeon, the lone Los Angeles sailor, who is circumnavigating the globe in his little vessel—the Inlander—and with it has come a quaint tale of coincidences which reads like fiction, though it is true.
Pidgeon sailed from Los Angeles harbor in a craft of his own design and with only a book knowledge of sea navigation. A letter received by his brother, Walter Pidgeon, revealed that he has almost circled the earth and is now at Colon in the Panama Canal zone, on the last leg of his homeward journey.

On the first leg of his long sea journey, one of the first persons Pidgeon saw upon his arrival at Tahiti, South Sea Islands, was A. J. Baster, a world traveler. They became friends. Months later Pidgeon sailed into Suva, Fiji Islands, and there was Baster to greet him. Then Pidgeon sailed on and on, to Australia, to South Africa and then across the Atlantic to the British West Indies.

Pidgeon arrived at Port of Spain, Trinidad, British West Indies, last month. For the third time on his circumnavigation of the world Baster met the intrepid sailor. Pidgeon mentioned the three unusual chance meetings in the letter to his brother.

Pidgeon's letter to his brother stated he had arrived at the entrance to the Panama canal, that his next stop would be Balboa, on the Pacific side, and that he would arrive in Los Angeles early this fall.

California High School Girl Wins Meat Contest

Chicago.—From a field of approximately 18,500 contestants coming from high schools throughout the United States, Miss Frances Erdman, Turlock, Cal., has been chosen national champion in the second national meat story contest. This announcement is made by the National Live Stock and Meat board, which conducted the contest in co-operation with high school home economic instructors. The honor attained by Miss Erdman carries with it a cash award of $300.

Selection of the national champion and other winners was made by a committee of prominent home economics women.

The contest was sponsored by the board as an aid to the study of meat in high school home economics classes, according to a statement accompanying the announcement of winners. Contestants were required to write a story or theme upon some phase of the meat subject and send in with this three original and practical meat recipes.

100 Lightning Flashes for Each Second of Time

London.—Scarcely a second passes, year in and year out, winter and summer, when there are not at least 100 lightning flashes somewhere in the world, according to the recently issued blue book of the meteorological office of the British government service.

During a year, says the book, the world experiences 16,000,000 thunderstorms, or an average of 44,000 a day. The amount of energy released by these flashes is too stupendous for the human mind to grasp, the book points out. It is suggested by the meteorologists that the water power of the earth, which has already been harnessed, be used as a measure.

Figuring on that basis, it is estimated that double that amount is represented by one flash of lightning; consequently, in any given second there is released from the clouds more energy than the world's water-power stations yield in six months.

Shaft Would Have Value

It is strange that an expedition into the earth's interior has never been seriously attempted. If we could sink a shaft only twelve miles into the ground we might strike all the coal and oil that would be needed in millions of years. In all likelihood we should find radium, gold, silver, diamonds, and other gems of untold wealth, as well as wonderful new metals and fresh sources of energy.—Exchange.

ELECTRIC ENERGY SENT BY WIRELESS

Makes Possible Operation of Vessels From Land.

Washington.—Electrical energy has been successfully transmitted by wireless through the use of inventions by the Italian engineer, Midali, according to reports received here from Turin through official channels.
According to these reports, the possibilities of this method of power transmission are boundless. In an interview published in Turin, Midali described the results of his five years of study in part as follows:

"The result obtained is that of transmitting electric energy in the form of alternating current, without excessive losses, but in reality the electric energy is not transmitted as such. The system transforms the electric energy emanating from any source in the form of alternating current, at frequency and tension generally employed in industry, into very short electro-magnetic waves of about one millionth of a centimeter. These waves must be of about the size of light waves, and have nothing in common with the Herizian waves used for radio communications.

Energy by Vibration.
"These extremely short waves, that ought to be called vibrations of the electrons, constitute the means by which the electric energy is transmitted to a distant receiving system, which in turn transforms them into electric current of identical characteristics of that used by the transmitting system."

"The electric vibrations created by the transmitting system travel in a straight line toward an ideal focus, according to the directions imparted to them by the systems of condensers which form the aerial; they converge in a point in which the ideal lines of the aerial condensers of the receiving system must so converge. When this condition is not fulfilled, transmission cannot initiate."

"When transmission has begun, the position of the aerials and also that of the transmitting and receiving systems are no longer of importance and the system goes on working even if both stations change position."

"Drive Ship's Engines.
"No mass between the two stations can interfere with the functioning of the system."

"The system also permits the transmission of polyphase currents. It may be foreseen that it will be used for electric traction, enabling electric trains to be run without drivers. Steamers may be operated from the land and electric power will be available even in localities where it cannot be produced on the spot or transmitted by wire."

"It will also be useful in radio communications, in which case the frequency of the current and the perfect dirigibility of the wave will permit synchronization of the stations and total suppression of disturbances caused by other contemporaneous transmissions."

Founder Guillotined

Lavoisier, the founder of modern chemistry, was in 1794 sentenced to death and guillotined by the Revolutionary tribunal because he had, under the king, held the post of farmer general of the revenue.

His Accidental End

There are all sorts of ways of putting things, and some sound much better than others. For example, there is the case of the man of whom Lord Coleridge used to tell, whose father was hanged for highway robbery. Some one asked him how his father died. "Well," said he, "he fell from a scaffolding outside Newgate while he was talking to a clergyman."—Youth's Companion.
