P. C. MARONEY WEDS

W. VIRGINIA YOUNG LADY

Young Couple Will Reside in Chelsea After East Middle Street Home Is Remodeled.

A wedding of interest to a large circle of friends in Chelsea and vicinity, occurred on Wednesday, July 28, at Pittsburg, Pennsylvania, when Mr. Paul C. Maroney, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Maroney, and Miss Marie Alexander, of Sistersville, West Virginia, were united in marriage by the Rev. John T. Walker, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church, Pittsburg, performing the ceremony.

The bride couple were attended by Miss Bernice Alexander, sister of the bride, and Mr. Sidney C. Smith, of Philadelphia.

Principals in the wedding of last week are widely known here. Mr. Maroney being a native of Chelsea, and Mrs. Maroney through frequent visits here has also formed a large number of friendships. The groom is a graduate of Chelsea High School, Class of '13, a member of the A. E. F. for twenty-one months during the World war, 17 months of which time was spent overseas in the French Motor-Truck Service. For the last four years he has held a responsible position with the Kempt Commercial & Savings Bank. Mrs. Maroney is a graduate of the Sistersville High School, Pleasant State Normal, class of '20. For five years she has taught in the kindergarten department of Wayne schools.

After about six weeks, during which time remodeling of the Middle street residence of East Middle street will take place, Mr. and Mrs. Maroney will make Chelsea their future home. It is with pleasure that The Standard joins their many friends in congratulations and best wishes for happiness and prosperity.

CHANGE IN PRICES OF FARM

PRODUCE NOTED BY READER

A reader of the Chelsea Standard was recently looking over an 1890 issue of the same and finds many interesting changes in 35 years. Best butter sold for 12 to 16 cents, fair 8c; lard, 8c. We were paying $1.00 for 24 pounds of sugar, and bought 5 loaves of bread for 6 cents.

One of the citizens counted 120 teams on the streets of Chelsea in one day and two of our young men from Lima rode their wheels to Battle Creek on Sunday.

One farmer was boasting receiving $60 in one month for his milk sold to the creamery, another receiving $30 in a month. Today it would be a small amount for even a week, figuring labor and cost of feed.

Mr. and Mrs. Chipman left for their home in Nebraska Tuesday morning after spending some time with relatives in Chelsea and vicinity.

WELFARE BUILDING SOLD

TO RUBBER CO. WEDNESDAY

The latest deal to affect the factory situation in Chelsea is believed to have been consummated Wednesday when the Welfare Building was sold to the Wyandotte Rubber Company, of Wyandotte. A member of the company was in Chelsea Wednesday, enroute to Jackson, with financial means for the purchase of the building from Lewis interests. Purchase price was not stated.

The Wyandotte Rubber Company, while not generally known to Chelsea outside of a few who have been instrumental in swinging the deal, is a substantial manufacturing concern, engaged in the producing of light rubber goods, the demand for which is tremendous. Employees of the concern are mostly girls and women, but the number to be employed is still undetermined.

STATE TROOPERS MAKE

RAIDS AND ARRESTS HERE

Raids by state troopers here Monday resulted in the arrest of two persons charged with violation of the prohibition laws. At the home of Ed Wright, negro, 228 Buchanan street, troopers found a gallon jug three-fourths full of alleged moonshine and confiscated a shotgun and revolver. At the home of Mattie Chambers, negro, officers secured a small quantity of liquor and two razors.

The two parties arrested were assigned in Ann Arbor on Tuesday afternoon and the Chambers woman pleaded guilty in circuit court to a charge of violation of the prohibition law. She was fined $500 and taxed costs of $50. Wright pleaded guilty to a similar charge and paid costs amounting to $50 and was placed on probation for five years.

The arrests were made by Troopers Hanson, Mapes and Roberts.

It will also eliminate an immense waste of time.

FARMERS SHOW INTEREST

IN SALE OF WHOLE MILK

The meeting held at the town hall on Wednesday evening under auspices of the J. H. Wilson Creamery Co., to discuss with farmers the possibilities and desirability of sale of whole milk, was quite well attended by a number of local dairymen.

Prof. A. C. Anderson, formerly in the dairy department of M. A. C., now representing the Dairy Producers' Assn., addressed the meeting and answered numerous questions put by members of his audience. Among other things said by Mr. Anderson, was that the Producers' Assn. stood as guarantor back of endorsed companies in the sale of dairy products. The Wilson company is one of these companies.

R. K. Palmer of the Detroit Board of Health, also addressed the meeting, explaining requirements of the health department with regard to milk sold in Detroit. John Kalmbach, local attorney, presided at the meeting, another of which will be held at the same place on Wednesday, August 19.

Signaling by Drums

In South Africa messages are signaled by means of drums made of bark, the tapplings on which can be heard many miles away. It is by this method that the defeat of Sir Redvers Buller at Colenso was made known to natives 60 miles distant in the space of two hours.

Many New Ideas in Better Buicks

Standard Six, five passenger two-door sedan

Greater Power, More Protec- tion to Working Parts In- cluded; Prices Lower

Buick again demonstrated the marvelous resources and abilities of the automotive industry when it introduced the present Better Buick.
Embraced in this latest Buick offering are additional power and strength, new engineering achievements designed to give even longer motor-car life, the maximum in comfort and safety, besides compactness and refinement of design and finish representing the latest skill in body craftsmanship. And in face of these material and costly improvements lower prices are announced throughout the entire line
of Standard and Master Sixes.

The announcement and the showing of the better Buicks silenced the rumors that Buick would abandon the venerable V8 for another type engine which would permit of cheaper construction. The same principles that were inaugurated by Buick 21 years ago and which have made it

the leader in the industry have been adhered to throughout.
The mechanical improvements introduced would have been considered impossibilities only a year ago.
They represent the work of Buick research and engineering staff constantly striving for betterments.
The new prices likewise represent achievements of the engineering production and business departments of the Buick organization, and are in no small measure due to the phenomenal approval of Buicks by the public. This latter factor has resulted in continuously increasing sales with the attendant possibilities of economies in purchasing and production.
The complete line includes 16 models, six in the Standard Six and ten in the Master Six class. In all cases the distinctive Buick lines have been continued, with refinements
such as the rounding of radiator lines and the addition of streamline mouldings. All are equipped in new and beautiful tones of durable Duco,
and some of the models have two-tone Duco finish in distinctive combina-

been working in Parma for several days, getting data on the route proposed south of the stores. It is said that the state department hopes to make a decision on the route soon.

SALINE—The haunted house east of Saline is continuing of interest to outsiders. About 15 spiritualists of Detroit were out Friday night to give the place the once over. If Saline can continue some way by which interest could be sustained in his ghostship and his shoddy it would vi-

PINCKNEY—Pinckney's greatest summer event, St. Mary's annual picnic, will be held as usual this year at Lapham's Grove, August 12th. Of course everyone in this vicinity will attend and the management have spared no pains to make this picnic
and gala day as successful as ever.
The dinner will be well worth com-

BROOKLYN—Cement pouring by the state road makers on M-23 south of Brooklyn is now completed from the Indian Hills towers west to a point west Cambridge Junction and the Nixon farms west of the Smith Briggs place. The road makers have lately averaged about 600 feet a day with 716 feet as the highest amount of the 20 ft. pavement poured one day last week. Nearing the source of material supply only five instead of seven supply trains are now run to Cement City for gravel and cement.

MASON—Whether Mason has free mail delivery service may depend on the attitude of the people themselves in the small matter of attaching their great number to home or store. The inspector pointed out that this was a matter which the people had not attended to and while there are a few other requirements that may be demanded before the service is finally installed if eventually that is done, the matter of proper street numbering is vital and unless this is promptly attended to that may be the very thing which hinders or stops the service altogether.—News.

Oldest Inhabitant

I can remember when the only thing you had to worry about when you crossed a street was getting your feet muddy. — Geo. W. Smith, Lyndon.

Trouble With Mobs

A mob's a monster—hands enough, but no brains.—Benjamin Franklin.

Away From the Crowds

America is still undiscovered, still waiting to be discovered—by you!

Away from the paved highways, deep in the hidden solitudes—
—are shady groves fragrant with the scent of flowers—
—sun-drenched valleys—lazy streams—or hurrying brooks as beef your mood. Waiting to please you with their untouched charms.

Take your Ford and venture forth into the delights of the unknown. Leave the beaten path to others. Go where you will—whether the road is paved or not.

It is the car for the true adventurer; the car that no going —be it sand, dirt or rocky road—can halt; the car that will take you safely, certainly and happily to where Nature hides her true loveliness.

Cranberry Cultivation

Out of a total of 28,000 acres of cranberries in the United States, 14,000 are in Massachusetts and 18,000 in New Jersey. Cranberries are little grown outside of the United States. About 100 acres are being cultivated in Nova Scotia and they have been tried with little success in Norway, the Netherlands and Denmark.

Science and Ourselves

There is nothing wrong with science. The danger in the future is that we may apply science destructively instead of constructively. The world's progress depends upon character, not upon scientific devices, and if we look to our characters the scientific devices will help our happiness. If we don't—there may be chaos!

With Your Gas Man

Gas Service Leads

WHENEVER there's trouble in the coal industry, attention is centered on the gas business. This is only natural because gas service is now a stronger competitor of solid fuel than ever before.

Think of five thousand separate uses for gas—with more being developed every day! People everywhere are casting their heating burdens on the gas companies, secure in the knowledge that gas service is always on tap—clean, efficient and, best of all, economical.

When a home is fully piped for gas service, fuel worries depart forever, and so do ashes, smoke, soot and dirt. These facts are becoming known to thousands who have never thought about them before, and the results are seen in better cooking, more efficient heating of rooms and homes, and running hot water at every faucet.

Stage Has Real Dramas

Sir Henry Irving and Edmund Kean, the latter, among the greatest of Shakespearean actors, died while actually playing roles on the stage. Irving was appearing in "Becket" and although the great tragedian managed to stumble into the wing, he passed away at his hotel shortly after, without having recovered consciousness. Kean was playing "Othello" and had just uttered the famous "Farewell" when he sank to the floor.

Holes in Cheese

The bureau of dairying does not believe that there is any cheese in which the holes are made by worms. Most cheese in which holes are found is made in such a way as to develop gas which produces a specific organism which causes holes.

Not All Blank Verse

In the main, "Hamlet" is written entirely in blank verse. The exceptions are the scenes in which Hamlet feigns insanity, those in which he converses with Rosencrans and Guildenstern, with the actors, and with Orla and the scene with the grave diggers. All these are in prose.

Secrets by the Beard

In the Middle Ages the seal on documents of great importance contained three hairs from the sovereign's beard as a sign that the contents of such documents were sacrosanct.

FAIR NOTES

Grange, Farmers' clubs and Clean-air exhibits at Washtenaw County Fair, September 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, which will be placed in second story of New Boys' and Girls' Building will compete in same class.

Substantially increased premiums totaling one hundred dollars offered by Ann Arbor Chamber of Commerce and honor of winning Schlander and Seyfried trophy are creating much greater interest than formerly in this division.

Prizes are as follows: First, Schlander and Seyfried trophy and thirty dollars; second, twenty-five dollars; third, twenty dollars; fourth, fifteen dollars; fifth, ten dollars.

New York Central Railroad have confirmed agreement to erect an attraction entitled "Road to Success in Farming" in second story of Boys' and Girls' building for week of Fair. This will be the first attraction of this nature ever displayed at our Fair and includes a miniature train operated by electricity.

YALE U. MEN WILL WRITE OF EXPERIENCE IN FORD PLANT

How would it strike you to become a Ford factory worker, spend three months on the job, then write a report on your impressions and enter it in a prize contest?

This might not appeal to every one, but there are fifty young men from Yale University who are taking a try at it, and every one of them is enjoying it.

Of course, they haven't as yet reached the report writing stage, for their three-month course in the old school of Experience at the River Rouge plant of the Ford Motor Company is only just fairly getting underway.

Clad in work shirts and overalls, these ambitious young men look like anything but college boys. Nevertheless, they are enthusiastic over the work and foremen-in-charge of departments in which they are employed report that they are showing unusual aptitude.

The young men are employed in the production forces at the Rouge plant, where they have full opportunity for studying factory organization and for securing first hand knowledge of Ford methods, management and handling of men. For the most part the pupils have found lodgings during their stay here with families of Ford workers which brings them into intimate relation with the home life of these men. Every week they hold a conference and exchange experiences.

Those in the group were especially chosen for this unique course by the Department of Social Service of the Divinity School at Yale. While at work here they receive the regular scale of wages paid Ford employees.

At the close of their three-month employment in the factory, each student is to submit a written report based on his personal experiences and impressions. These reports will be entered in a prize contest. Judges will be James J. Davis, Secretary of Labor, Raymond B. Fosdick of Princeton, Jerome Davis and Edgar S. Furness of Yale, and Henry Ford.

Lotus in America

Nelumbo nelumbo, the Egyptian of Indian lotus, grows in abundance in a bayou of the Grand river, in Ottawa county, Michigan, and is but few other places in this part of the country. The bayou is about three miles from the village of Spring Lake, a short distance up the river from Lake Michigan, and about 30 miles west of Grand Rapids. Every year brings many visitors to the spot. Incidentally, the American lotus, Nelumbo lutea, also a very rare plant, grows in two locations near Cleveland. Both of them are in the vicinity of Huron, Ohio.

Eye Stones

Different small, smooth objects were used by our grandmothers to remove foreign substances from the eye, and were known as eye stones. The most common object used for an eye stone is the "operculum" of a small marine shell. This is a small lens-shaped piece of calcareous shell and is put into the inner corner of the eye under the lid. It works its way to and out of the outer corner, often carrying the foreign substance in the eye with it.

Zoo Has Big Food Bill

Choice items on the bill of fare of the animals of the London Zoological gardens during the past year included: 440 horses, weighing 220 tons, fed to the carni-vores; 4 tons, 15 cwt. cod fish, fed to the walrus; 85 tons of herrings and whiting, 1,590 pints of shrimp, 848 gallons of fresh milk, 14,000 tins of condensed milk, 128 pounds of honey, 258 pounds of ants' eggs, 77 pounds of meal worms, 160 bunches of onions, 108 heads of lettuce and 213,085 bananas. The food consumed in a year cost $50,000.

Keep Sweet

"Suppose you took at the world through a yellow pane of glass," said the late beloved Doctor Jowett. "Why, then you have a yellow world. Suppose you look through a dirty pane of glass. Why, then everything is defiled. Suppose you look at everything through the yellow pane of jealousy. You disfigure everything. And if you look at things through a soured disposition you will not see anything that is lovely or sweet. The cynical heart has a charnel-house world."

MASONIC PICNIC PLANS ARE WELL UNDER WAY

To Be Held at North Lake, on Labor Day, September 7th.

Detailed plans for the entertainment, accommodation, refreshments, etc., for the Masons of this county, who with their families and friends will gather at North Lake this coming Labor Day for the fourth annual county Masonic picnic, are gradually being worked out, according to reports of the various committees in charge.

The various athletic contests will be in charge of Lou White, Worshipful Master of Phoenix Lodge of Ypsilanti, who has managed the picnic in previous years, and he plans to give all who attend a chance to compete if they wish. The Lodge at Ypsilanti is out to win the tug of war contest for the third year and thus take permanent possession of the cup, however there are seven other lodges who have the same chance to win and they will not win without a struggle.

Parking space is available for two thousand cars in a beautiful orchard the trees of which will provide shelter from the sun, which it is hoped will be out in full blast for that day. Through the courtesy of the Calkins-Fletcher Drug Co. of Ann Arbor, moving pictures will be taken of the crowd, band, speakers, games and contests, which will be shown at the various lodges this coming winter. This will be a real permanent record of the picnic and its achievements which will be prized by the committee in charge and serve as a basis for future gathering of this nature.

The Chelsea band under the direction of Wesley C. Smith will provide music for the day and the Stollatz Music Shop of Ann Arbor will furnish radio entertainment. Miss Cornelia Everard of Ypsilanti will care for all children left with her and her assistants during the day, thus giving the fathers and mothers a chance to enjoy the contests or avail themselves to various amusements, free from worry over the children.

There will be two large refreshment booths where all kinds of picnic "eats" will be sold, as sandwiches, hot dogs, ice cream, pies, coffee, milk, cigars, cigarettes, candy, etc. The expenses of the picnic, it is hoped, will be defrayed by these booths.

Several prominent men have tentatively promised to be present and address the gathering, including Mayor Campbell, Roscoe Bonisteel, City Attorney, and Grand Lodge officer, Fielding H. York, and Rev. Stalker.

All the lodges in nearby counties have been invited to attend and each year the visiting Masons from other counties are increasing, and with the co-operation which the committee is receiving from all these, who have been asked to help serve, the picnic promises to be as big a success as in the past.

SCHOOL CHILD SERIES NO. 3

"Adenoids"

The list of eight or ten common handi-caps of child health is headed by adenoids. This condition is the result of over grown normal tissue behind the nose.

The reasons for this menacing overgrowth is not well understood. Poor hygiene in diet, rest, and exposure to colds may be important. Thumb sucking and pacifiers are also blamed. Advice for the prevention of adenoids thus becomes uncertain.

A surprisingly large amount of trouble results from the presence of adenoids in a child. Frequent colds, earaches, mouth breathing, facial and chest deformities, and failure to learn and grow properly are known to result.

One of the necessary requirements for the proper growth and development of vigorous happy children is free breathing through the natural air-passages, the nose. This failure results in misshapen faces, protruding teeth, dull expression and frequently the unjustified and harmful suspicion that the child is mentally defective.

Most of the defective hearing among children results from infections of the ear which come from the presence of the adenoids. The handicap in life resulting from deafness is too well appreciated by every one to require much discussion.

Unfortunately there is no cure for adenoid trouble except surgical. The operation for their removal is not a serious one although it requires careful work. Unless illness makes it necessary sooner, the operation is best done after the child is at least five years of age. The presence of diseased tonsils with adenoid trouble is so frequent that tonsil operation is usually necessary at the same time. The observed benefits from this operation are frequently seen as among the most satisfactory outcomes of all health procedures. Proper growth, ability to learn, and other signs of improved health are often favored by the operation to an almost unbelievable extent.

Although operations of this kind can be done at any season of the year, many things make it best for school children to be operated a while before the opening of schools.

Imaginary Land

The name "Hyperboreans" was given by the ancients to an imaginary people, favorites of Apollo, who lived beyond Boreas, or the North Wind. Virgil placed them under the North pole. This favored race dwelt in a terrestrial paradise under a cloudless sky, and enjoyed a fruitful land, unending peace, and perpetual youth and health. The Hyperboreans were said to live in an atmosphere composed entirely of feathers. Herodotus and Piny both refer to this fiction, but say it was suggested by the amount of snow that fell in those northern regions. The word "Hyperboreans" has been used by anthropologists to designate certain peoples that dwell in the north-east of Asia and the northwest of America, and that cannot be classified either as Mongolians or as North American Indians.—Exchange.

Sermonette for August 9th.
Theme, "Personal Influence."
Of all the forces that drive human beings, the greatest is personal influence. By personal influence I mean that face that goes out from you, simply by virtue of what you are. It has nothing to do with what you do or say or try, except as these things express what you are. Every person sends out what we might call dynamic rays or invisible electricity. Like impulses which are of such nature as to affect other persons. These rays from me can make other individuals gay or sad, good or bad, and so forth. This is the only power that pulls souls, the only wind that bends them, the only fire that warms them, the only stream that bears them along. Emerson said that "What you are preaches so loudly that I cannot hear what you say." Which is a striking way of stating that one's unconscious influence far outpaces in effect one's conscious effort. It would be well if we would keep this in mind; it would save us a lot of futile busying. For instance, reformers bent on saving the world should not be so hot and impatient seeing that there is no real saving that ever has been or ever will be done that is not the result of the influence radiating from good people. Laws are dead and wooden, but when a man incarnates a law it begins to work on other men. The "Word" is of no force until it is made flesh. It is the personal influence of a teacher that affects all the real educating of the pupil. The wise man understood this who said that the best university was "a log with Mark Hopkins on one end and me on the other." I sometimes doubt if any real good has ever been done by didactic teaching or preaching. All the moral maxims in the world are poor beside one strong, sweet, kind, moral life. And a good woman is worth, as a guide, the most select list of virtues and their opposite vices. To create such a character in fiction as "John Halifax" or "Jean Valjean" or "Little Nellie" or the man in the "Third Floor Back" is to exert a lasting and potent uplift agency, better than a thousand sermons. It is fascinating to many minds, the idea of doing good and working for the Lord, and devoting one's time to inducing people to become better, but it is not practical. The only way to improve mankind is to be something that inspires them. All your arguments and exhortations are of small avail. Just the only way to dispel darkness is to shine, and the only way to electrify iron is to be a magnet. Goodness is a contagion; we must catch it, we must have it and give it. When you say in your creed that you believe in God, your declaration is of no help to you or to others unless what you mean is this: What you believe in is the inherent potency of goodness, that it will live down, outward, and destroy all evil, that justice, cleanliness, honesty, and kindness will win in the long run against fraud, dirt, lying, and cruelty. Therefore why worry over what you will say or do, since it makes no matter? Simply be right, and then say whatever comes to your mind, and do whatever comes to your hand, and you cannot fail to do the most possible toward helping along.

E. L. Sutherland.
