100 GALLONS WINE SEIZED BY SHERIFF'S DEPARTMENT

Two Arrests Result From Alleged Sale of Wine to Sharon Resident.

Found asleep in a coupe along M-17 early Saturday morning, Walter Scherdt, Sharon, was arraigned in Justice Steiner's court later in the morning on an intoxication charge, pleaded guilty and was given the alternative of paying a $100 fine, with 30 days in jail or telling where he secured the liquor. He elected to take the latter course, involving Harry Stoter, east of town as the source of supply. Mr. Scherdt was released upon payment of $25 fine and was deprived of his driver's license for three months.

Saturday afternoon Sheriff Robinson and deputies raided the Stoter home and as a result secured approximately 100 gallons of home made wine contained in seven barrels, two kegs and one jug, all of which were confiscated and taken to Ann Arbor. Later in the afternoon Mr. Stoter was arraigned before Justice Steiner, waived examination and was bound over to the October term of circuit court.

BIG TIME EXPECTED

Brighton is all set for a big time next week. It's Home Coming will be Wednesday and Thursday, August 26 and 27. Hundreds of former residents have accepted the invitation to be present at the big celebration and it is expected there will be thousands attend from nearby towns. Williamston and Stockbridge play ball on Wednesday and Northville and Holly on Thursday. Besides this there will be small sports and many other amusements, not the least of which will be an old fashioned square dance on the pavement Thursday evening.

TWO CONVICTS FLEE PRISON ROAD CAMP

Two inmates of the Michigan State Prison, stationed at the Ypsilanti road camp, walked away Sunday. No trace of them has yet been found. They are Al Burns, sentenced from Detroit July 19, 1924 for larceny, two to five years, and Joseph Romero, sentenced from Detroit, March 14, 1925, for larceny from a person, one to five years.

The customary award of $100 has been offered by prison officials.

WINANS FAMILY REUNION

Thirty-five members of the Winans family from Chelsea, Lansing, Jackson, Temperance and Toledo met at Ella Sharpe Park, Jackson, Sunday for a reunion. The occasion was a very enjoyable one and a bounteous feast was served at noon. Those present from Chelsea were Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Winans, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Winans and family, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Winans, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. M. Campbell and Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Chandler.

WILLIAMS-KNIGHT SIX SEDAN AROUSES MUCH INTEREST

A new Williams-Knight Six sedan, driven by Gordon P. Rose, on a tour around the state in the interests of both the Williams-Overland company and the Better Movies Season campaign, made a stop in Chelsea Saturday morning and while here A. G. Faust & Sons, dealers in Overland products, rounded up a load of men to take a spin in the new car. This is one of the first cars of this type to make its appearance in Chelsea and consequently the ride was a matter of great interest to both Mr. Faust and the persons riding in the Williams-Knight. The Cavanaugh Lake road was chosen as that on which to try it out, the climax coming at the Ryemenschneider hill, north-west of the lake. This hill, the hana of many a motorist because of the short turn at the base of the hill, caused little trouble to the Knight 70-horse power motor, it taking the hill on high speed with ease and power to spare. This feat is considered remarkable in view of the fact that few motors have made the hill on high speed.

Faust and Sons are more than enthusiastic over the new car, which equals in appearance and power many of the higher priced cars and surpasses by far many of the cars priced in the same class. That is has a future, which promises to innovate six-cylinder motor car performance is the belief of the local dealers.

FRED DETTLING

Fred Dettling died Wednesday evening, August 19, 1925, at the home of his mother, Mrs. John Schanz of Lima, following an illness of about a week.

He was born August 17, 1888, on the farm where he died, which has always been his home. He was a son of Louis Dettling who died several years ago.

He is survived by his mother, Mrs. John Schanz, one sister, Miss Ida Dettling, one half-sister, Miss Dorothy Schanz, and several uncles and aunts.

The funeral will be held from St. Mary's church, at 9 o'clock Saturday forenoon, Rev. Fr. Fallon celebrating the mass. Burial in Mt. Olivet cemetery, Chelsea.

WORLD'S RECORDS EXPECTED TO BE SHATTERED SUNDAY

World's records for speed are expected to be shattered when the country's best dirt track drivers race in Jackson next Sunday, August 23rd. The 100 lap derby promises to exceed any previous motor contest ever staged in Jackson. Notable drivers who participated at Kalamazoo and Detroit this season are already entered and followers of this thrilling sport are prone to believe that the days card will surpass the long distance races that have been common during the past. The program includes a ten, fifteen and twenty-five mile race, with each event open to all. With such drivers as Sam Rose, Michigan state champion, Bruce Miller, Bill Hicks, Rony Harrie, Taylor and Ormsby on the list each event promises to produce a close battle with the results in doubt right to the finish. The fact that the day's card includes three distinct races has tended to lend considerable more interest to the race as each driver is eligible for the next race in the event his car goes wrong. Heretofore when a pilot had to stop he was considered as good as eliminated, but with the derby classic his chance is enhanced considerably. Frontenac, Millers, Chevrolet, Fronties and Oaklands are the high powered cars that will attempt to crack all existing records, and judging by the way some of these drivers have circled the oval during the past week doing test laps, officials are inclined to believe that such will be the case. Reserved seats went on sale Wednesday with sales breaking all former marks. A record crowd of 10,000 people is expected to fill the huge stands. Gates will open at 10 a. m. Tickets start at 1 p. m. and the first event will start at 3 p. m.

MUST KEEP DOGS OUT OF STATE PARKS

A new order barring dogs from all state parks is now in effect in Michigan. Any dog taken into a park must be securely tied so he cannot run at large and should be gain his freedom the caretaker has been instructed to capture him, dead or alive. If alive, to place him in the pond, one of which will be established in each park.

OF INTEREST TO SPORTSMEN

Under the provisions of Section 12, Act, 366 of the Public Acts of 1925, four male, ring-necked pheasants can be shot by licensed hunters this fall; two in one day, four in possession at one time, and four during the season.

The open season is October 25th to 31st, both inclusive, giving the sportsmen seven days in which to get their limit of four male birds.

RUSSELL-MUNRO WEDDING

A wedding of attractive simplicity took place Saturday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Smith, when Miss Georgia Russell, daughter of Mr. Smith, and J. James Munro, were united in marriage by Rev. C. S. Riley.

The bride was attractively gowned in blue satin crepe and carried a shower bouquet of flowers. Miss Ruth Russell, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and Ross Munro attended the groom as best man.

Following the ceremony a two-course luncheon was served, after which Mr. and Mrs. Munro left for a trip through the northern part of the state. Upon their return they will reside on Chandler street.

Among the out-of-town guests attending the wedding were Mrs. Augusta Ewing, Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Mott of Jonesville; Mrs. Anna Lorranger of Detroit; and Miss Beth Richardson of Jackson.

ILLINOIS-MICHIGAN PICNIC

Former residents of Illinois, who reside in this community, to the number of sixty, held their annual Illinois-Michigan association picnic in Washburne's hall, Sunday. At noon a pot-luck dinner was served and in the afternoon a well arranged program of amusements was carried out. The members of the association for the past few years have held an annual meeting event which has always proved to be a very enjoyable reunion of old neighbors and friends.

BARN AND CONTENTS BURNED

During the storm of Tuesday afternoon lightning struck a barn on the farm of William Spicer just west of Silver Lake from which the building caught fire and burned to the ground. It was only a few minutes after the barn was struck before flames were bursting from every part of the structure. While the South Lyon fire department responded to the alarm, nothing could be done to save the barn, but through hard work the surrounding buildings and stacks were saved. One horse was rescued from the building but it is burned so badly it is believed the animal will die. Two other horses and a calf perished in the conflagration.

All of this year's crop of alfalfa, 400 bales of oats and some tools were reduced to ashes.

Mr. Spicer has suffered a heavy loss for while an insurance is carried on the building, it is not sufficient to pay for the entire loss of the barn. The contents of the building were a complete loss. Search is being made for Mr. Spicer is a brother of M. B. B. Coe and Mrs. S. Hirst of Chelsea.

On Wednesday evening of this week Smith's band of Chelsea played an excellent concert to a large Chelsea audience and next week's concert is expected to be a fitting climax to the season's outdoor musical treats.

HUGH M. MCKONE

Hugh M. McKone, a life-long resident of Chelsea, died at his home on North Main street, Wednesday forenoon, August 19, 1925. He was born in Chelsea, September 28, 1860, and had been in failing health for the past two years, but was able to be about town until a few weeks ago, and recently has remained at his home most of the time.

He was united in marriage with Miss Catherine Sumner, September 28, 1886. He was a member of St. Mary's church.

He is survived by his wife, three sons, Lawrence and Frank McKone of Detroit, and Leo A. McKone of Chelsea, and two daughters, Miss Mary of Detroit, and Miss Agnes at home.

The funeral will be held from St. Mary's church at 10:30 o'clock Saturday morning, his pastor, Rev. Father Fallon, celebrating the mass. Burial in St. Mary's cemetery, Sylvania.

CHEAPER MOTOR FUEL

A story from Washington brings the interesting information that an obscure clerk in the patent office in Washington has dug up, among the German papers of patents seized as enemy property during the war, a process of making an alcoholic motor fuel which can be made as cheaply as gasoline, and will produce a fuel guaranteeing fifty miles to the gallon.

The joke in the story is to the effect that the same control of present fuel sources and output, are also in control of the secret and license to manufacture, which means that although a substitute fuel may be found, the public is not likely to benefit therefrom.

If the government is in possession of any valuable formulas, such as are mentioned as having been discovered, it owes it to the American public to allow the owners of motor cars to manufacture their own fuel, or to place the secret and the license at the disposal of anybody who would manufacture it all over the country and distribute it at a reasonable profit.

In the Sunday newspapers a story of the disposition of the property of the late William Jennings Bryan stated that his estate amounted to $860,500. It is likely that when the estate is fully rounded up and settled, it will amount to more than that, for some of Mr. Bryan's investments were of a kind that were rapidly enhancing in value.

Mr. Bryan by his will, written by himself, left one-third of his estate to his widow, and $100,000 to each of his three children. The balance goes to found a boy's military academy, and to churches and other benevolences.

In his will Mr. Bryan "read" his title clear to mansions in the skies," with a spirit that gave up his earthly possessions for spiritual prospects he appeared to deem quite more valuable and worth while.

GRAIN RATE RAISE

The Interstate Commerce Commission seems to have actually awakened to the truth that there are other interests to be protected than those of the railroads. The Commission has refused the rise in freight rate on grain asked by western roads. One sometimes wonders why our government creates commissions and bureaus which are immediately turned into organizations for the protection of great capitalistic concerns which have simple means of protecting themselves.

It has often happened that farmers have shipped car loads of their products to market, and the returns on them were insufficient to pay the freight. If such rates were made as would bring a loss to the carriers of the country the Interstate Commerce Commission would cancel them and declare them confiscatory. Yet, when a carload of hundreds of carloads of farm produce is shipped and sold for an amount less than the freight rate, and in this way the property of the farmer is confiscated, there is nothing done about it.

It is not our purpose to attack railroads or the commission. It is merely to point a warning finger at the discriminations made by public created and constituted bodies which appear, at least, to operate to the public detriment.

Our nation lays many just claims to greatness, but our handling of our production; our transportation and crude system--if indeed we can lay marketing of products show a most any claim whatsoever to system, justice or fairness in these things.

Until we are fair to the carriers, to the producers and the consumers alike, we can not lay claim to having started the solution of these problems which so vitally affect our whole body economic.

GERMANY NOW PROTECTED

The new government of Germany has gone to the protective tariff policy of raising revenue, and providing protection of German industry.

There will be an interesting world trade problem presented if all countries finally adopt a protective tariff system for the purpose of keeping out products of other nations.

DISAPPROVES EUROPEAN LOANS

Dispatches from Washington tell us that the government has secretly warned large banking groups that no further loans shall be made to debtor nations in Europe until something definite has been done to settle their debts to this country. That should have been the attitude of this government long ago--before so much of the capital of the American people had been risked in countries which have not made any effort to settle, and have even approached the point of repudiation.

Policemen raided a beauty shop in Astoria, Long Island, last week and found a cagon of Scotch whiskey. This is an American adaptation of the old fairy tale of "Beauty and the Beast," and shows that many people regard the thing that will add to the allurements of the finer man, as well as the things that add to the outer pleasures of the vulgar.

FRENCH AIRMEN BREAK RECORD

For a long time the unchallenged statement has been that France is superior to any other nation in her control of the air. News comes from French sources that Frenchmen fly to break the world's non-stop record formerly held, and are demonstrating that planes possessed by France have an almost unlimited range.

This demonstration of the power and endurance of the French flying machines, coming, as it does, just before the debt parleys between the United States and the French commissioners begin at Washington, may have no significance whatever, and again it may have.

Neither America nor France is happy over the contacts established during and after the World war.

TALKING TO THE ARCTIC

The ship Peary, in which MacMillan has sailed in his attempt to reach the North Pole, is equipped with radio to send and receive messages. The Great Lakes Naval station at Chicago seems to have the best success in getting the Peary at Etah, Greenland, and every morning sends and receives messages. It is said that these are to and from the MacMillan expedition, 100 per cent.

The radio seems destined to make the waste places of the earth as close to civilization as the very centers of culture have been. Is it to be the instrument with which the mystery of the frozen North is to be wrung from the cold lips of ice?

GROWTH OF TAXES

We often hear complaints of the heavy tax burdens the American people have to bear. How many of us know the amount of the tax increases? An analysis of taxes and tax increases compiled by the Industrial Conference Board at Washington, shows that taxation in the United States has trebled in amount of our participation in the World war. In 1913 the total taxation in the United States for all purposes, amounted to $2,924,000,000. In 1923-24 it had risen to $7,716,000,000. This does not take into consideration many things that might well be included under the heading of taxes, which are not direct, but are tolls we have to pay as a result of our participation in the war.

At that, our rate of taxation is far less than any of the other allies. The percentage of the total tax burdens of the allies range all the way from the lowest, that of the United States, 11.5 to the highest--that of Great Britain, 23.2. France is paying a lower percentage of taxes than Great Britain, her rate being 20.9.

WILL FORD GET SHIPS

Senator Fletcher of Florida is opposed to the acceptance of the offer of Henry Ford to buy 100 United States ships for the purpose of scrapping them. Senator Fletcher insists that there is a bid higher than that of Ford's and that to buy ships with the announced intention of scrapping them is against good public policy.

The American people, generally speaking, when they give thought to these things, feel like it is a great and inexcusable waste to scrap these perfectly good ships when there has been a cry for more than 100 years for an adequate and serviceable American Merchant Marine. Every ship this country owns should be operated by the American government, even if it should be operated at a loss, to carry American trade into every nook and corner of the civilized world.

TO USE THE LOS ANGELES

Herbert Satterlee, financier, John Hays Hammond, noted inventor and Fred S. Hardesty, Washington engineer conferred with President Coolidge at Swampscott this week, in regard to taking over the U. S. Dirigible Los Angeles, to be used as a part of an air service between New York and the Pacific coast, taking in St. Louis, Chicago, Omaha, Denver and other points.

Satterlee is a brother-in-law of J. P. Morgan, and supposed to be able to command many millions of capital. John Hays Hammond is a man of commanding prominence in the world of invention, and Hardesty is reputed to be an engineer of much more than average ability.

The establishment of an air route from coast to coast, with such an air vessel as the Los Angeles as a start, ought to make at once, for the popularity of coast to coast air traffic. If properly financed and ably managed, it might result in creating the nucleus of a great air transport which would come in quite handy in case it were necessary to defend this country over-seas.

HOWELL—The Marlon Farmer club is planning a big picnic in the grove on the State Sanatorium grounds for Friday, August 28. The State Industrial School Band will be down from Lansing for the day and evening.

DEXTER—Representatives of the Detroit Edison Co. were here Friday making arrangements for installing the boulevard lights of which there are to be 12, six on each side of Main street, in the business district.—Leader.

PARMA—If Jack Freymuth slips a little or fails to speak plainly when you call at his shop, do not lay it up against him. You too would probably talk mushy if the dentist had tried to find which tooth was aching and never stopped until he yanked out sixteen.—News.

CLINTON—A Studebaker car belonging to R. E. Lawless was stolen from in front of the Clinton Hotel Saturday night and has not been found yet. As one of the men from the convict camp west of town disappeared the same night, it is thought that he may have taken the car.—Local.

MILAN—Dr. M. E. Soller left Saturday morning for Grayling, Michigan to be in camp with the Michigan Guards for fifteen days. The doctor is a lieutenant in the Ambulance company from Ypsilanti. Four Milan boys are also enrolled in the company, those making the trip from here were Clifford Sloggett, Ford Redenbaugh, Paul Sanford, and Geo. Johnson.—Leader.

FOULERVILLE—The Fowlerville public schools will open for another year on Monday, August 21, 1926. A competent corps of instructors has been engaged to work under our new superintendent and we are looking forward to another successful year. It has been voted by the district to install a manual training department beginning next year so that those enrolling this year will get the advantage of that training.—Review.

PINCKNEY—An application for a license to conduct a pool and billiard room in Pinckney was refused by the village council at the last meeting. Several pool rooms have been started here in past years but they have not been successful, and considerable opposition has developed because pool room managers have not always observed the state law which prohibits minors from patronizing such resorts.—Dispatch.

HOWELL—Officer Hardy stopped a string of new cars en route from Detroit to Grand Rapids, the other day, fourteen of them with only eight licenses. The man in charge of the overland shipment had been warned by Hardy only a few days before regarding the use of license plates. This time he was required to leave six of the cars here while he returned to Wayne county and purchased the proper number of plates.—Democrat.

ANN ARBOR—Increasing the school budget for the year 1925-26 approximately $125,000, the board of education decided at its meeting Wednesday night that the school tax rate will have to be placed to 14 mills plus the regular 1 mill tax. This is an increase of 2.2 mills over last year's rate. As passed by the board the budget for the next school year calls for $741,392.38. Last year's budget was $616,689.05, making an increase of $124,643.33.

BRIGHTON—Two strangers, who have been staying around Brighton for the past ten days, and aroused the suspicions of local officers, were taken into custody Tuesday night by Deputy Sheriff Morgan after he had caught them with marked money furnished by him and taken in exchange for liquor. He also has proof that a quantity of whiskey found in the Western Hotel barns was their property. They were taken to Howell where they gave their names as Charles Bennett and Arthur Spaulding. A hearing will be held Friday morning.—Argus.

MANCHESTER—At the Methodist quarterly conference held here, over which Dr. H. Adde Leeson presided, the official board extended a cordial invitation to Rev. Thos. M. Mott, who has served the society as pastor the past two years, to remain another year, if it should be the wish of the annual conference to have him. As Dr. H. Adde Leeson has filled the office of superintendent of this district the full allotted time and must retire at annual conference, the official board of the Manchester church passed a resolution of appreciation for the uniform courtesy during his stewardship and extending hearty congratulations and best wishes for the future.—Enterprise.

YPSILANTI—Condemnation proceedings against the James and Adele McHenry farm will be started by Fordson Power Co. in Washtenaw circuit court within a few days. It is now expected, following action of Michigan Public Utilities Commission Wednesday afternoon in issuing an order authorizing the company to condemn land in Ypsilanti township. After delays of several weeks, caused by inability of officers to serve summons upon McHenry, papers were finally turned over to state troopers who served them. Hearings, postponed twice before, were held in Lansing Wednesday, and the Public Utilities Commission issued the necessary order, authorizing condemnation proceedings.—Press.

FORD INCREASES OUTPUT
During the month just ended the Ford Motor Company did a record July business in every division, it was announced recently at the Highland Park general offices. Domestic sales of Ford cars and trucks totaled 107,626 in July exceeding by 6,162 those of a year ago; sales of Fordson tractors were more than 8,800 greater than last year's and 207 more Lincoln cars were delivered to customers during the month than in the previous July.

On the basis of branch reports received early in July the company anticipated an increased volume of business and while it predicted that summer buying would rise to a higher level than usual, the demand for all Ford products during the month exceeded expectations.

The outlook is for increasing business in August.

One of the chief indications of this appears in agricultural sections of the country, where farmers are coming into the market in rapidly growing numbers. Evidence of this is found in the remarkable sales of Fordson tractors during July.

Easy Ascent
If the ladder of success were an escalator there'd be mighty little room at the top.

COSMOPOLITAN HOST WITH 101

When the big Miller Brothers' 101 Ranch Real Wild West and Great Far East comes to Ann Arbor, Thursday, August 20, you'll see the most cosmopolitan and picturesque host of people in all the wide world. A tour among the 1,400 folks with the show is an education in itself, and that's why the world's largest street parade (Miller Brothers) scorn to adopt the retrenchment policy of the circuses, so they retain the greatest of all free shows—the parade! It is so enthralling. Famous Indian chiefs, cowboys, cowgirls, Indian warriors, Mexican rurales, South American vaqueros, Chinese irregular horse, Manchou pony soldiers, French zouaves from Indo-China, hard riding Cossacks, Turkistan cavalry—these, and many others, to the number of six hundred ride in the parade and performances. European nationalities are represented, of course, in native garb, and there are six bands, all sorts of historical and allegorical floats, elephants, camels, buffalo, and longhorns in the street parade. Then, too, Ezra Meeker, only living person who crossed the continent, as an adult, on the old Oregon trail of covered wagon fame, will drive a prairie schooner and oxen just as he did seventy-four years ago.

PRODUCE AND MARKET QUALITY EGGS—ARE WORTH MORE

The first essential in marketing quality eggs is quality production. When proper methods are employed it is easy to produce and market quality eggs. The following facts are worthy of careful consideration and should be observed.

Keep healthy, vigorous hens of a standard variety. Well bred hens lay more and larger eggs of a more uniform color. If you don't have them, get them.

Provide one nest for every four or five hens and make the nests of clean material. Plenty of clean nests reduce the number of stolen nests and the number of cracked and dirty eggs.

Keep an abundance of clean litter on the hen-house floor. Clean floors mean fewer dirty eggs.

Keep the hens off the dropping boards by putting 3-4 inch wire netting immediately under the roosts.

Confine the hens to the hen-house when the yards are muddy until the middle of the afternoon, when most of the eggs have been laid. This will mean fewer dirty eggs.

Break up broody hens promptly. They lay few or no eggs and by sitting on the nests cause deterioration of the eggs laid by other hens.

Soil, kill or confine the male birds when the hatching season is over. Infertile eggs keep better than fertile eggs.

Collect the eggs twice a day during hot weather. This reduces the deterioration to which they are subjected when allowed to remain for any length of time in a heated nest or hen-house.

Gather the eggs in a well padded box or basket and reduce breakage.

Keep the eggs in a cool, clean, well-ventilated place until marketed. Hot and damp conditions in quality and quantity of moisture from the eggs.

To Re-Erect Temple

A temple on the Acropolis of Selinus in Italy is to be re-erected. Originally it was 280 feet long by 65 feet wide. Six columns decorated the front, 18 the side. This particular temple occupied the most prominent place on the Acropolis. To whom it was dedicated is not known.

Length and Age

The Great Wall of China is the longest but not the oldest wall in the world. It was built about 214 B. C. but its walls of Jericho were built fifteen hundred years before the birth of Christ, and are thus about 8,500 years old.

After They Drop Money

As a means for reducing the number of suicides at Monte Carlo, the management of the casino maintains what is called the "vaticum," a fund the object of which is to provide transportation home for every gambler who has lost all his money.

Don't wash dirty eggs. Washed eggs spoil quickly and are of lower market value.

Use the small, dirty and cracked eggs at home. They have a lower market value but are entirely satisfactory for immediate home use.

Market eggs at least twice a week. Delay in marketing means selling stale and deteriorated eggs.

Protect the eggs from the sun and rain when going to market. Heat and moisture are enemies of good quality in eggs.

Lastly, sell to a buyer who pays for quality or buys on a graded basis. When your eggs are of best quality and the buyer purchases them on a case-count or "nest-run" basis you get less than they are worth.

Farmers lose $45,000,000 annually from bad methods of producing and handling eggs. One-third of this loss is preventable, because it is due to the partial hatching of fertile eggs which have been allowed to become warm enough to begin to incubate. The rooster makes the fertile egg. The fertile egg makes the blood ring.

You can save the $15,000,000 now lost from blood rings by keeping the male bird from your flock after the hatching season is over.

The rooster does not help the hen lay. He merely fertilizes the germ of the egg. The fertile germ in hot weather quickly becomes a blood ring, which spoils the egg for food and market. Summer heat has the same effect on fertile eggs as the heat of an incubator.

After the hatching season, cock, sell, or pen your rooster. Your hens will not run with a male bird will produce infertile eggs—quality eggs that keep best and market best.

"Yes, long since," replied the wife. "Is the horses unharnessed and fed?"

"Yes."

"Poultry locked up?"

"Yes."

"Wood chopped for morning?"

"Yes, them ducks plucked and dressed for market?"

"Yes."

Simple "Cradle" Used in Placer Mining

In mining, "placer" is a place where deposits of precious metal usually gold, are found near the surface. Often in the gravel of river or creek beds. The mineral is obtained by washing the gravel or dirt; that is, separating the gold-dust from the gravel and earth with which it is mixed. This kind of mining is called placer mining, and it is in this kind of mining that the miner's cradle is used. The cradle is a simple appliance for treating "pay dirt," earth and gravel containing gold-dust. It consists essentially of a box mounted on rockers and provided with a perforated bottom of sheet iron in which the "pay dirt" is placed. Water is poured on the dirt and the rocking motion imparted to the cradle causes the finer particles to pass through the perforated bottom on to a canvas screen, and thence to the base of the cradle, where the gold-dust accumulates on transverse bars of wood called "riffles."

Otherwise Engaged

Rossett, who painted the now famous reredos at Llandaff cathedral, took so long over them that the dean and chapter became weary of waiting, especially as replies to letters sent Rossett concerning them were not forthcoming. So one day the bishop of Llandaff, being in London, called at Rossett's rooms in Blackfriars to ask to see them, and thus discover the reason of their non-arrival and of the painter's silence. But the maid who opened the door there at once informed him that Rossett was absent, and on hearing what the bishop had come about, she exclaimed: "Oh, lord, sir, Mr. Rossett don't paint now—he's married!"

Gas Service Leads

WHENEVER there's trouble in the coal industry, attention is centered on the gas business. This is only natural because gas service is now a stronger competitor of solid fuel than ever before.

Think of five thousand separate uses for gas—with more being developed every day! People everywhere are casting their heating burdens on the gas companies, secure in the knowledge that gas service is always on tap—clean, efficient and, best of all, economical.

When a home is fully piped for gas service, fuel worries depart forever, and so do ashes, smoke, soot and dirt. These facts are becoming known to thousands who have never thought about them before, and the results are seen in better cooking, more efficient heating of rooms and homes, and running hot water at every faucet.

MR. ECKHARD'S HOBBY IS "RAISING FLOWERS"

The following clipping was taken from the Watts (Calif.) Review. Mr. Eckhard is well known to a number of the older residents in this community, having visited here a number of times, the last being the summer of 1923. The article follows:

It is nice to have a hobby—one of those all-engrossing occupations in which one puts heart and soul, so to speak, and which yields big returns of happiness and contentment in manner of reward.

Such a hobby is that of William Eckhard, 555 Rosella avenue, and it might be spelled B-E-A-U-T-Y and pronounced "Flowers." He cultivates the acquaintance of different varieties of plants and shrubs as well as fruits and there at his home we have seen the interesting results. Large dahlias—all colors; cannas, marigolds, fuchsias, roses, beautiful blossoms, of which we do not remember the names—the flowers themselves being much more beautiful than the name, whatever it was anyway, hold their heads to the sun and breathe the secret of happiness and contentment into the summer atmosphere.

Mr. Eckhard makes up beautiful bouquets for special occasions and he is gradually specializing his garden in order that two colors, yellow and blue, may predominate. These colors are the more rare and therefore the more valuable in a garden, so we are told.

Mr. Eckhard is what might be termed a gardener or a garden specialist, and a visit to his place is well worth while.

EXPECT LARGE ATTENDANCE AT GARDENERS' FIELD DAY

Commercial garden truck growers from the Detroit, Grand Rapids, and Bay City sections as well as gardeners from smaller sections have already sent word to Prof. George E. Starr, of the Michigan State College horticultural department, that they will attend the second annual Gardeners' Field Day to be held there on Wednesday, August 26.

From a successful experiment of last year, the field day plans this year will take in much the same inspection of experimental plots and discussion, but greater attention will be devoted to greenhouse exhibits, according to Professor Starr, who is in charge of the program.

At 10 o'clock, the gardeners will begin their tour of the station grounds. Numerous examples of the better as well as the poorer varieties of vegetables will be shown, forming the basis for discussion upon vegetable varieties. The college greenhouses have been completed since last year's meeting, and a visit to these is included in the morning tour.

One of the most extensive experiments ever undertaken in the culture of the early tomato is certain to interest the gardeners. Another experiment, among the many conducted, is that with cucumber pickles. The object in this experiment is to produce a better and more uniform type of cucumber pickle.

The short afternoon program of speaking has been planned to discuss subjects of vital interest, and also to permit the gardeners from widely separated sections to get together, and exchange ideas.

Theme—"Keep Fit"

Mr. Ford, the automobile man, stated in his testimony before the Industrial Commission that he gets more and better work out of men at eight hours a day than at ten. I have tested out this same law. I know that it holds good everywhere, for the first duty of any worker is to keep fit.

Several of the others seconded Eunice's objections, and the Wilkens girl, who was usually somewhat perverse, threatened to push him off.

"Lemme alone or I'll splash water on you," said Tad.

"But you mustn't follow us up to the hotel," added the Wilkens girl.

"You must think I'm fond of you," said Tad. "I ain't half as in'tripin' as my jollyfish."

It was more than a mile to the mainland. When they neared the middle of the channel, Tad's practiced eye saw a storm coming in from the sea. It was one of those sudden squalls that often visit the Maine coast and almost without warning whip the sea into a fury and toss imprudent small craft upon the rocks.

"You better row back if you don't want to get wet," said Tad. "Look at them clouds."

The girls were frightened. Beyond the island was a background of greenish yellow which was rapidly spreading upward and covering the sky. Already the sound was dotted with whitecaps and a chilly wind blew in from the north.

"You turned the dory with difficulty, and began to row against the rising storm," Eunice and the Wilkens girl each took an oar while Gladys, Eunice's younger sister, sat in the stern, staring as well as she knew how.

The wind was increasing every moment, and the waves now tossed the clumsy boat violently about, drenching the occupants with spray.

"You better let me take a hand," said Tad from the bow.

"You're not big enough to do any good," said Eunice, as she strained at her oar.

"Turn 'er around and row with the wind into the harbor," said Tad. "If you don't we'll get smashed on the rocks."

The girls now realized that the small boy knew something about boats. They tried to follow his advice, and turn the prow of the old dory toward the harbor's mouth, but as they were broadside to the storm, the dory lurched and the oar that Eunice was using went into the air. The frightened girl, in trying to recover herself, lost her hold upon it and it floated away.

They were now badly handicapped. The remaining oar was worn and unwieldy, and the Wilkens girl did not know how to manage it. Every moment the waves were increasing, and the wind was steadily driving the boat nearer the rocky mainland.

But Tad's small mind was working. Like a flash he leaped into the sea, and a few strokes brought him to the oar. He seized it and tried to swim back to the dory. Unfortunately, that was a much more difficult task than to capture it. The boat was now drifting away from him. Twice by vigorous swimming he almost reached it, and twice the great waves beat him back. Eunice collected herself suddenly to grasp the oar while Tad seized the gunwale of the boat—and a moment later, in a cloud of spray, he was over the side and in the midst of the now thoroughly demoralized crew.

"Here!" he said, "gimme those oars. You dunno how to row. You can bale out the boat if you want."

They gave way to him, and he took the oars. Slowly he edged away from the danger and rounded the point, and within a quarter of an hour, the boat was safely in, and beached on the sand less than a hundred yards from the hotel.

"Oh, Taddy dear, you have saved our lives!" cried Eunice.

"I ain't 'Taddy dear,' I tell you," said the boy, "n' if I didn't know any more 'bout rowin' n' you do, I wouldn't go out again, 'thout havin' someone to take care o' me."

Tad, a Creature of Impulse

By WALTER T. FIELD

(St. Louis, Western Newspaper Union.)

HE WAS ten, but no one would have thought him so old. A mite of a boy, thin, sharp-featured, brown-eyed, with a tangle of dark hair that had seldom felt the influence of a comb or known the barber's shears. His name was Tad, and his father was a lobsterman up on the Maine coast.

One August afternoon, as he was pursuing a fiddler crab along the edge of the island beach, he looked up and spied Eunice Harrington and a half-dozen of her girl friends in an old dory rowing away from the wharf toward the mainland. Tad was a creature of impulse, and when he saw the boat turned landward, he remembered that he had business over at the harbor. There was a jollyfish that he had shut up among the rocks the day before and he wanted to see how it was prospering. So, without a moment's hesitation, he swam out across the path of the dory, seized the prow, and climbed in.

"What are you doing?" cried Eunice. "We didn't invite you to ride with us."

"I'm gold' over to see my jollyfish," said Tad, ignoring the latter part of the remark.

"But, Taddy dear, you're not properly dressed for a boat ride with young ladies."

"My name ain't 'Taddy dear,' and I'm dressed all right as much as I generally am. I've got to see my jollyfish."

Several of the others seconded Eunice's objections, and the Wilkens girl, who was usually somewhat perverse, threatened to push him off.

"Lemme alone or I'll splash water on you," said Tad.

"But you mustn't follow us up to the hotel," added the Wilkens girl.

DESTROY LIQUOR TO SAVE STORAGE COSTS

State Ride itself of Stock Accumulated in Raids.

The finest collection of liquor in the central part of the United States was destroyed recently at East Lansing. It was the accumulation of confiscated beverages taken by the State Police since the Michigan prohibition constitutional amendment went into effect and amounted to thousands of quarts of whiskeys, wines and other liquors. The work of breaking it up required several days and was supervised by Commissioner Alan G. Straight in person and by a representative of the attorney-general's office.

This hoard of liquor was kept for a time in a basement downtown in Lansing but for the past two years had been stored in a building at State Police headquarters where it was a source of considerable worry as well as some expense since it had to be guarded. Withdrawals from it were made for the use of hospitals and public institutions, under proper inspection.

There had been no additions to the stock in a long time as it has been the practice of the department to break up liquor as seized and condemned. Just how much of a task this is may be deduced from the fact that the routine work for June included the destruction of 21,223 quarts of whiskey, 88,439 quarts of beer, 585 quarts of wine, 598 quarts of gin, 14,460 quarts of malt and a considerable quantity of other liquor.

SAVE REPUTATIONS OF TWO YOUNGSTERS

That it is better not to make arrests when results can be obtained by other methods is a part of the courtesy policy of the Michigan State Police. Here is an instance.

Captain I. H. Marmion and two other members of the "free lance squad" which operates against disorderly roadhouses and gambling places, came upon a parked car near a roadhouse in which were a young man and a young woman, both unconscious from liquor.

Because of their youth, Captain Marmion decided not to arrest them. The young woman was taken to a respectable hotel while the young man was taken to the home of his father, a well-known banker.

Next day both of the young people told their parents that it was the first time they had ever been under the influence of liquor and that they would not repeat the experience. They had been given a salutary lesson without being made the victims of scandal.

RUM SMUGGLERS USE TRAFFIC LIGHT CODE

State Police have discovered that the liquor smugglers along the Canadian border have copied the system of lights employed to direct traffic in city streets and made it a safeguard for their vessels. Red, green and yellow lights are shown on the boat-houses or docks where the cargo is to be received at night.

A red light indicates that police are in the vicinity, a green light that the smuggling vessel must come to dock safely while a yellow light indicates that the smugglers had better stop on the Canadian side of the line for a while.

Inasmuch as the Detroit and St. Clair Rivers are in places less than a third of a mile wide, the traffic system works to aid the smugglers in making quick dashes.

Only Legends Tell

About Sweeney Todd

A report to the effect that the house on Fleet street, London, formerly occupied by Sweeney Todd has been discovered gives rise to the question: Who is Sweeney Todd? He was either a mythical person and his existence is accounted for largely by unproved legends. The story goes that Sweeney Todd was a barber of Fleet street, who had an unpleasant way with his customers. For, according to tradition, if anyone came for a shave who looked worth robbing, he would seat the man in a chair which would presently capsize and throw the occupant into a well or vault below. There, it was said, he would rob the unfortunate fellow and afterward dispose of the body to a confederate who kept a pie shop in the adjoining house whose bakehouse communicated with the vaults of St. Dunstan's church. While the legend says that Todd was hanged at Tyburn, the annals of Newgate have nothing about him. But Sweeney Todd was sufficiently famous to figure in many old ballads and melodramas.

Her Recognition

Small children and their mothers were walking down the street when they saw an old man approaching them. Elizabeth went out her tongue. When they had gone on, her mother inquired at last with boy we just passed. There was a pause while Elizabeth considered. "Why?" she replied, "because why, mother, to show him I recognized him!"
