DEXTER POSTMASTER KILLED SATURDAY

William Stoffer, postmaster of Dexter village, was instantly killed shortly after 10 o'clock Saturday morning when his automobile stalled on the railroad tracks near the depot and was struck by a fast east-bound freight train.

Stoffer was on his way to the post office when the fatal accident occurred. It is believed that he did not see the train approaching in time to jump from the car or that he drove directly in the path of the oncoming train.

Stoffer received his commission as postmaster July 3, 1922, and had resided at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Stoffer, about one mile south of Dexter. He was about 30 years of age. Prior to his appointment as postmaster he was a member of Co. 1, 128th infantry, and had been in service over seas.

Mr. Stoffer is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Stoffer, four sisters, Mrs. Bella Plawie, of Vreeland; Mrs. Alfred Wifer, and Mrs. May Scott, both of Ypsilanti; and Mrs. William Elms of Dexter, and two brothers, Frank at Vreeland, and Ralph at home.

The funeral was held Monday afternoon. The services were under the auspices of the Masonic Order. M. J. Baxter of Chelsea was the Master in charge of the services.

CUSHMAN-HOLDERMAN

Miss Viola Cushman, Chelsea, and Mr. Russell Holderman, of Royal Oak, were quietly married at the Methodist parsonage, in Grass Lake, on Saturday evening, Rev. Walker, pastor of the Grass Lake Methodist church, reading the ceremony.

The young couple were attended by Miss Mildred Hieber, friend of the bride, as bridesmaid, and Mr. Milo Havens, Grass Lake, best man.

Following the ceremony and a "rice" by a number of young folks who watched the ceremony from the outside, Mr. and Mrs. Holderman went to Royal Oak where they will reside for some time, expecting to eventually make their home in Detroit this winter.

STORM OF LAST FRIDAY

Several of the neighbors assembled at the Riggs farm Monday to assist in cleaning up the debris. Mr. Riggs will repair the damage done to the house and build a new barn and other buildings as soon as he can secure the help.

Chas. Brodwick and son of Ann Arbor, purchased a very choice Jersey from the Notten herd, Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Notten made a very hurried trip to Jackson, Tuesday. Gas engine trouble was the cause.

Robert Artz visited at the home of Fred Schittenhelm, Sunday.

Rev. and Mrs. Lenz have been visiting at the homes of their old friends here.

Owing to the continued rains very little progress has been made with the farm work the past week.

Mr. Steinman, of Evanston, Ill., has been entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Riemenchneider and family at Cavanaugh Lake.

The Postal Telegraph and the other telephone companies have had a large force of men repairing their lines destroyed by the storm of last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Leach, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Aichele of Chelsea, spent Monday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Notten.

FRIDAY'S CYCLONE LEAVES DESTRUCTION IN ITS WAKE

Houses, Out Buildings, Trees and Crops are Prey of Terrific Wind and Rain Storm.

Wind, which in some localities reached the cyclone stage, swept this territory last Friday evening at about six o'clock, leaving in its wake destruction which amounted to thousands of dollars to farmers south and west of Chelsea. The wind was also accompanied by an extraordinary rainfall which added to damage where buildings were unroofed or blown down.

Heavy damage reported from the terrific storm occurred west of Sylvan Center where at the Frank Riggs farm, tenanted by Herman Farmer, the barn, two tool houses, a windmill, two corn cribs and other smaller buildings were blown, the house was unroofed and a number of fine large shade trees uprooted, beside extensive damage to crops on this and surrounding farms. On the farm of Mrs. Lina Whitaker, east of the Riggs place, one barn was moved a few inches on its foundation and damage done to crops.

The storm struck again in its progress eastward, W. C. Pritchard, Sylvan, suffering considerable loss, when the roof of his barn was blown off, and a horse killed by lightning. A cow was also injured by the same bolt. In addition doors were damaged and a window blown in at the house. On the J. L. Deaton farm the barn was unroofed, the John Wortley barn, roof badly damaged, and a tool house on Geo. K. Chapman's farm was moved on the foundation and considerably wrecked.

In Lima township several farms were hit. A large barn on the Chas. Barth farm was badly damaged, as well as the A. B. Shutes barn, while a silo on the John Bauer place was blown down. A silo on the Adam Sauer farm was also blown down.

While the above does not cover the extent of damage suffered by farmers in this locality, yet some appreciation of the terrific force of the storm can be had. Chelsea was without light and power the greater part of Friday night when at the very beginning of the storm here poles of the Consumers power Co. were blown down east of Grass Lake, causing a tangled mass of wire and poles which took the company crew of linemen most of the night to repair.

Lines of the Michigan Bell Telephone company also were down between Chelsea and Grass Lake. Candles and oil lamps were in great demand, many residents being caught without either in the house and not a few retired in the dark when the "juice" failed to furnish light.

A CORRECTION

The Standard of last week was in error in the announcement of the death of Charles Carpenter, Jr., of Highland Park. In the notice the father, Chas. E. Carpenter was given as having passed away. The Standard received the announcement over long distance telephone, and the message was not very distinct, which led to a misunderstanding of facts in the case.

JOHN F. STOWES' UNCLE TOM'S CABIN

Fashions in plays changes in many ways, but one may always be sure that "Uncle Tom's Cabin" is being played in many places throughout the country.

The dramatization of Harriet Beecher Stowe's great book was made in 1854, and the first performance given at Troy, N. Y., the same year.

There were in 1862, sixteen companies in this country playing "Uncle Tom's Cabin" under canvas and the play has been acted uninterruptedly since it was first brought out. Some of the cheap, butchered and burlesqued versions may have changed in some ways but the version bearing the Stowe brand has never changed in any particular. The name Stowe is to "Uncle Tom's Cabin" what Rogers is to Silverware.

The early performers in this play were not called "Uncle Tommers," in those days. That name was given them in later years, when the country became flooded with cheap companies playing the piece, and advertisements in the dramatic papers read: "Uncle Tommers wanted."

The John F. Stowe motorized "Uncle Tom's Cabin" company is the only show in America today with the undeniable right to use the original and dramatization of the play as Mr. Stowe is the sole owner of the original and only manuscript taken from the book, with Harriet Beecher Stowe's permission, she having bequeathed it to him, her favorite nephew.

A big free street parade is given daily, on the prominent streets and a high class orchestra entertains at intervals during the performance. A troupe of jubilee singers will present quaint pastimes of plantation life in the way of cake walks, buck and wing dancing and jubilee singing along with other high class vaudeville acts between the acts of the play.

The Stowe company, with its scenic effects, its electrical accessories and its head-line specialties will be found to be the best and largest in America.

ONE-FIFTH OF STATE NOT PAYING TAXES

More than one-fifth of Michigan in area failed to pay state taxes last year, according to returns just assembled by the staff of Auditor General Dramel E. Fuller.

The delinquent lists sent in by county treasurers show 7,460,714 acres valued at $126,336,463 and 435,683 lots valued at $484,814,724. Their 1924 taxes slide. This is an increase of 183,120 acres and 18,852 lots over the 1923 delinquent lists.

The state has a total land area of nearly 37,000,000 acres. The 7,460,714 acres delinquent stand out as a large segment of this total.

Auditor General Fuller declares that the taxes on a large percentage of the delinquent property will be paid later. This applies to agricultural and recreational lands and to town lots that have a present or speculative value that renders them worth the tax investment. These lands and lots represent the bulk of the valuation in the delinquent returns.

According to the report Washtenaw county had 18,027.25 acres returned and Schoolcraft county had 406,792.55 acres returned.

SUNDAY SCHOOL WORKERS WILL ATTEND CONVENTION

Nearly four thousand Sunday school workers of the state are interested in the big gathering of Sunday school workers and educators at Detroit, November 3-5 this fall. It is Michigan's first biennial state-wide convention promoted by the Michigan Sunday School Council of Religious Education.

Few Sunday schools will fail to have some representative at the meeting, directly or indirectly bringing back to them the help and ideas put forth at this meeting.

The convention is to the Sunday schools of the state what the State Teachers' Convention is to the public school teachers; not so much a program of business or of controversial discussion but three days packed by contacts with international thinkers in the field of character building through religious education. The platform and discussion groups will fairly bristle with suggestions for building a Christian community cooperatively.

Educators are coming—folks who know what to teach and when to teach it. The week day school of religious instruction will be discussed in its many phases. Those who are in a position to know the trend of things in Michigan state with emphasis that this subject will soon be receiving careful consideration in practically every town and city in the state, that civic leaders will be making a study of it, that church leaders will be coming together to discuss it; in fact the boards of education will soon be working on its introduction.

Of immediate interest throughout the state is the announcement of quotas of delegates expected from each county. Local leaders will be asked to secure advance registrations to cover the quota. According to the early plans of the big state committee of seventy representing seventy Protestant denominations, the convention will be of special interest to pastors, directors of religious education, Sunday school superintendents, community and public school leaders. The rank and file of Sunday school teachers will find their usual personal help for Sunday school class work in the conference sessions arranged for their special benefit daily. The rural Sunday school will be given a larger place than usual on the program.

A PLAIN-SPOKEN MAN

"These accidents are the direct result of incompetency, criminal negligence and almost treasonable administration of the national defense by the War and Navy departments." That is the way we got it from Colonel William Mitchell, former Brigadier General and chief of the air service of the United States War Department, later demoted and sent to Fort Sam Houston, Texas, for speaking his mind on the needs of this country in air service.

Perhaps nothing occurring since the war caused as much latent indignation as the demoting of Colonel Mitchell, when he was removed as chief of the air service, for what the public believed was telling the truth. He had proved himself a man who knew his country's needs, and had the practical knowledge of flying, to enable him to be of service in building up an adequate air service.

The American people believe he knows whereof he speaks now, when he expresses himself so forcibly, as he did in the paragraph with which this article begins.

There will certainly be an investigation of the flying policy of both the war and navy department at Washington when the Congress assembles next December.

American mothers whose sons are going into the army and navy, and into the flying service will want to know just how much truth there is in the charge made by Colonel Mitchell. They will want to know whether or not every possible safeguard has been thrown about the men who have entered that service. They will make it very warm for the head of a department, if these things are glazed over, and if the proper element of safety is not supplied to all men who have entered the service of their country, or who may enter that service later in time of peace or war.

If what Colonel Mitchell has said is true, several distinguished gentlemen ought to resign or be impeached. If what he has said is not true, he ought to be shot at sunrise.

The public is inclined to believe what he has said. An investigation will be demanded that will uncover all the facts, or there will be some very unhappy and dangerous moments for American Senators and Congressmen who fail to secure such a hearing.

"GOOD MAN GONE"

Max Grossman was a gunman. He lived on the lower East Side of New York City. He lived by the smoke of his gun rather than by the sweat of his brow. He was a killer, who killed professionally—not for the sport of it, or the love of it, nor for revenge, robbery or love, if the New York City newspapers are telling the truth.

But Max is no more. Five men are said to have lured him from a restaurant, in an automobile. The automobile was burned, and so was Max. His remains were returned to his home "for decent burial." Over 5000 "mourners" followed him to the grave. The newspapers made a big story of it, called his life "colorful," "dramatic" and all the other adjectives they could think of to make the mouths of maudlin youth water for adventure.

And then New York City wonders why it is justly called "the wickedest city in the world!"

"SOMETHING ROTTEN"

IN DENMARK
It isn't hard to remember that remark by "the melancholy Dane," one Prince Hamlet, who said: "There is something rotten in Denmark." It has taken two or three centuries to prove it, but at last Ham is vindicated. A Danish court has just held that a waiter is entitled to a ten per cent fee for services at restaurants.

The question was raised in the case of a patron of a restaurant who went away without paying his bill. The proprietor sued for the amount. The waiter who served the food got no tip. He sued the proprietor for ten per cent of the bill, as his "tip." The court gave it to him.

UNEMPLOYMENT INCREASES

Great Britain's unemployment situation is growing steadily worse, statistics issued by the Ministry of Labor show. The total army of unemployed in that country is now 1,843,700, an increase of 46,415 in the last week.

The number of persons registered on the employment exchanged through Great Britain has been swollen 146,627 in the last four weeks. There are now 194,622 more persons out of work than at the same time last year. It must be borne in mind that the government figures do not reveal the total number of unemployed, as not all are registered.

AMERICAN FLYERS FIGHT

The most important air operations yet attempted on the Moroccan front were staged Monday by five French Squadrons, in which flew a number of American aviators who are fighting with the French. Forty-eight machines rained bombs over the town of Shesunni from dawn until nine o'clock Monday evening, spreading terror among the Rifis. The post was vigorously defended, but the French Planes reached their own base safely.

KICK THEM OUT

About the worst specimen of humanity that crawls around over the universe, is the smooth-tongued shark who makes a practice of selling worthless goods and bonds to women who have suddenly come into possession of a legacy through the death of a relative, usually the husband.

In most cases these women have never been schooled in the matter of handling money. Always protected from the grueling thrush of the world, from its pitfalls and dishonest practices, it is no wonder they fall easily under the influence of the skunk who promises large returns and easy days from their investments.

In every city are scores of so-called investment houses where every morning is conducted a school of salesmanship for the purpose of training high-powered salesmen to go out and separate the unwary from their money. Country papers are carefully scanned for information that will enable them to call at the home of the widow shortly after the demise of her mate. The expression of a little hypocritical sympathy and her confidence is soon gained, and once gained it is comparatively easy to unload shares in some worthless enterprise that promises to bring rich returns. In nine cases out of ten it means the loss of both principal and interest.

Many a bereft woman can testify in the midst of her grief to having trusted her entire fortune into the hands of one of these sharks, and instead of comfort and security in her declining days, she was forced to again become a breadwinner. All this paper can do is to sound a solemn warning to beware of this merciless tribe. Consult your banker if you have money to invest and in every case where their advice is followed it will be found no mistake has been made.

GOLD IN ALASKA

Tales of gold, found in a so-called tropical valley, where hot springs temper the northern climate, are told by Col. Scott Williams, of Montreal, who has just returned from an exploring trip along a tributary of the Laird river, within the Arctic circle, to the place which was first discovered by Fred Perry of Vancouver, B. C.

Samples of gold and pure lead were brought back by the exploring party, members of which claim they saw a fertile valley warm in climate, where vegetation grows to a great size, flowers bloom and raspberries and other fruits develop to large proportions. The trip into the valley was made by airplane.

IMMIGRATION REDUCED

The total number of foreigners to come to this country during the year ending June 30 was 294,814, under 2 per cent of foreign birth exceeded the immigration notably, among these being Italians, among whom the number of out going families from the United States was 20,948 in excess of incoming families. Canada and Mexico are now receiving much foreign labor.

Rural and City Classes Join Hands

Progress the Key-note of This Live and Wide Awake Community Whose Business and Professional Men Uphold the Highest Standards of Forward Looking

ing Community Development

Located in the heart of one of the most prosperous sections of the great state of Michigan, Ann Arbor, Mich., and its vicinity stands without a peer among that vast number of American communities whose population is made up of people, cosmopolitan in their outlook, and engaged in almost every occupation on conceivable among a peaceful population.

It is almost self-evident to say that there is nowhere from Atlantic to Pacific, from the palm tree to the pine a more contented, forward-looking and industrious group of people than one will find right here in this community. Within the city, the wheels of industry and commerce move on unceasingly, providing occupation and activity for the thousands who have settled here. Each evening from the store, from the factory, from the desks, these thousands go to happy homes, homes made possible by honest labor of brain and brawn.

The universal comment about Ann Arbor, wherever one hears it, is that the people love their work. The fact that people love their work makes possible the great progress which this community has enjoyed and will continue to enjoy. This contentment is the result, too, of a great community spirit. Leaders in civic life here testify that no people could work together more quickly than do the citizens of Ann Arbor and the surrounding country in putting across any community project which they attempt.

Modern factories, stores, office buildings and an almost unprecedented number of fine homes speak eloquently of the results of this fine community cooperation. Cleanliness, picturesque streets and well-planned amusements denote a high civic pride.

Outside the city lie the rich agricultural districts. Expanse of fertile fields dotted with fine country residences supply the city and outside market with their many products. Many of these homes are as modernly equipped as the finest city home. Automobiles place all the attractions of the city within an hour's reach of the most remote of these tilers of the soil. Modern machinery and scientific appliances have made farming as efficient as a conducted business as any enterprise of a progressive nature. No longer is the life of the farmer or the farmer's wife a long period of drudgery; no longer are the farmers shut off from metropolitan advantages. Scientific developments such as the automobile, lighting, heating and water systems, and most recently the radio have literally brought all the advantages of all the world to the very door of the farmer.

Remarkable, too, is the cooperation of the rural and urban populations in this community. Community projects are accomplished by either of these groups working separately but by the two striving together in enthusiastic cooperation. Business men of this city realize that the farmer is a paramount consideration with them. They realize that the continual onward course of progress of the community depends upon the cooperation of the two groups whose interests are ultimately the same.

Welded thus to a united community, the people of Ann Arbor and vicinity are determined that nothing shall stop their onward march of progress and prosperity. Fully recovered from the period of inactivity following the war, every phase of commercial life points to a period of continued growing prosperity. Believing that optimism, backed by an unconquerable determination, is the very life blood of progress, every citizen of this community has resolved to continue to do his bit in keeping up the reputation of being the hub of the most forward looking community in the United States. This does not mean idle boasting. Ann Arbor's achievements speak for themselves. Nevertheless, in order to keep on driving, it is some times wise to remind ourselves and the world of the position we hold, and of the people and enterprises which make that position possible.

It is with this aim that this "Community Booster Review" is published. To our readers we wish to call attention to the many business houses, financial institutions, professional and commercial enterprises in this city and community. The readers should understand clearly, also, that these articles have been written by experienced and competent newspaper writers who have written them with the primary aim of showing how each individual business or enterprise contributes its part to that great whole—the community. The publishers wish to make it emphatically clear, also, that no man has written an article about himself or his business. They are the observations of men unbiased in their judgment but experienced in the study of community life and the enterprises which go to make up that life.

With the exception of the support given to the project by the men of this paper, the expense of this edition has been mostly paid by the men and businesses about whom articles have been written. Each of the articles is paid for individually. They are display advertisements today. At the same time the following articles have as their primary aim, not so much the advertisement of the particular business about which they are written, but the higher aim of showing the progress of the community as illustrated by the high standing of these business and professional firms.

Popular because it is one of the enterprising businesses of the community and because, too, it furnishes the community with pure and wholesome refreshments, this well known bottling works deserves a high place among the institutions which are responsible for the phenomenal progress of this community. Without question, this firm is one of the largest producers of beverages in this section, their brands being the most popular at soda fountains and soft drink parlors not only in this area but in all sections of the state. Particularly of late years, America may truly be called the soft drink nation. No people are more quick to recognize pure and wholesome refreshments in the form of soft drinks. This explains the popularity of this local company. Excellency of quality and purity are insisted upon in this plant. The most modern bottling machinery has been installed and every known facility is available for bottling pure and wholesome drinks. To insure purity every part of the machinery as well as the bottles is in a state of sterilization at all times. The bottles are not touched by human hands until the sealed cork is on and they are ready to be packed in the cases for delivery to dealers. In other words, the beverage which you drink if it comes from this plant, is absolutely pure. This firm not only meets every requirement of the Federal Food Act and the Pure Food Act of this state, it insures that every bottle of beverage going to the public shall be absolutely pure. The plant is the pride of the pure food officials of the state. The products of this company are more than beverages; they are food. An analysis of these beverages by experts show that they contain a comparatively large amount of food materials, the elements which are absolutely essential to building body and brain tissues. Not only do these beverages have a high food quality, but they act as an antiseptic to the digestive system. They also greatly aid the process of digestion and assimilation in both children and adults. It is a pleasure to visit the modern plant of this company just to see the efficiency with which this bottling process is carried out. Not a movement too many is made from the time the bottles enter the plant to be sterilized until they emerge at the other end filled with the delicious beverage, corked and cased for delivery. The manager of this plant is a sound business man who believes that he is filling a real need in the community. His support is readily given also to any project which has for its aim the betterment of the community as a whole. This publication can do nothing but compliment him on the fine business he has built up and on the place he holds as an individual in the community.

Woodbury & Fahrner

Prominent Among the Automobile Firms of This Community are Located in Ann Arbor at the Corner Fourth Avenue & East William Street. Because Willys-Knight Leads the World in Automobile Improvements, This Local Sales Agency Consented to Sell These Cars, Willys-Overland Corporation Well-Represented Here With Both the Willys-Knight and Overland Offering Every Need in the Community. The New All Steel Overland Sedan is the World's Lowest Priced Four-Door Sedan With Sliding Gear Transmission.

One almost unique feature about the Willys-Knight is that it has a completely new in-vibration-free engine running. There is absolutely no vibration at any engine speed. Consider the pleasure of driving an automobile with no engine vibration. Gone that tiresomeness in driving a car after about the first fifty miles; gone, too, the weariness in riding in a machine for any long distance. As a matter of fact it is practically the last improvement required to make automobiling a genuine, unadulterated pleasure. It is because the Willys-Overland Corp. have always been foremost in making improvements on their cars, because they have been abreast and ahead of everyone in ideas of automobile construction that the enterprising owners of this local sales agency consented to take the agency for the Willys-Knight and Overland cars. They were convinced that here was a line of automobiles that could be offered to the people of this community without any apologies whatsoever. They have not been disappointed. And the Willys-Knight and Overland owners of this and surrounding communities have not been away with bulky, wooded corner posts. A sedan that performs as well as a built-ocean of power. Great endurance reliability. Extreme economy in operation and upkeep. This new all-steel Overland Sedan is described by automobile enthusiasts as the most automobile in the world for the money. The service of Woodbury and Fahrner has only added to the good names of the Willys-Overland corporation. The public is given courteous first consideration, always. A service station carries out the same high standard of service as the showroom. The business speaks for the enterprise of the owners who are inestimable in every phase of steel. Instead of this sheet of of community life.

Smith Tire Repair Company

ESTABLISHED 1909

Is an Up-to-Date Tire Service Station Located in Ann Arbor at 502 South Main St., Carrying a Complete Line of Tires and Tubes Made by the World's Largest Manufacturer. Dunlap High Pressure and Balloon Cord Tires. Standard Quality at Lower Than Mail Order Prices. Proper Vulcanizing Means Additional Thousands of Miles. Local Company Employs Experienced Workmen Who Know Tires and Tubes from the Ground Up. Is Risky Proposition for a Man to Attempt Repairs Himself. Reasonable Prices Asked by Tire Experts to Whom Vulcanizing is an Art. No Haphazard Jobs Turned Out by This Reliable Concern. Mr. Thomas Smith Can Be Relied Upon to Give the Very Best Service Possible and He is Noted for His Reasonable Prices. Phone Dial 8716.

A thousand miles on a patch employed by this company. It might almost be said that no tire is worn so much that they cannot coax another thousand miles or so out of it. Unless the motorist is sure of himself and his methods he should not undertake to vulcanize a tire himself. Many who have tried it have learned to their sorrow that they merely cover a weak place with a weaker line. At the best it is questionable whether it ever pays for a man to attempt to be his own vulcanizer. A trial will convince him that the prices charged by this company are so reasonable that the savings effected when he does the work himself will not repay him for his trouble. Certainly he can never feel as confident that his work is properly done and that it will not go bad on him in a crisis. For a tire or tube is a temperamental thing. The casual or inexperienced observer may appear to be in perfect condition, the patch he has placed may seem to be even more reliable than the tire or tube itself. And yet there may exist a weakness that his eye cannot detect, and which may give away at such a time as to cause him a great deal of inconvenience and a price which he might have saved had he had the work done by the Smith Tire Repair Company's experienced workmen. The publishers of this paper feel no hesitancy in recommending them to all of their readers as headquarters for all that pertains to the best in tires and tubes which several years ago would have been discarded as worn now being salvaged by the experts' reasonable prices.

Someone has said that the battery is the most temperamental part of an automobile. It is probably true that the delicateness of mechanism and fineness of adjustment of the storage battery causes it to require as much attention as any other part of the car. Yet almost any other part of the car can be repaired by a competent mechanic. The battery, however, is a specialized job. He knew in the first place that the installation of the battery must be done by a person who has the proper attention to your battery. When Mr. Maurice Maynard, the owner, determined to start a starting, lighting and ignition service station, he did not do so haphazardly. Someone has said that the battery is the most temperamental part of an automobile. It is probably true that the delicateness of mechanism and fineness of adjustment of the storage battery causes it to require as much attention as any other part of the car. Yet almost any other part of the car can be repaired by a competent mechanic. The battery, however, is a specialized job. He knew in the first place that the installation of the battery must be done by a person who has the proper attention to your battery.

This firm is prepared to give the proper attention to your battery. When Mr. Maurice Maynard, the owner, determined to start a starting, lighting and ignition service station, he did not do so haphazardly. He knew in the first place that the installation of the battery must be done by a person who has the proper attention to your battery.

Service is given on all kinds of batteries—even to tearing them down and rebuilding them. Their recharging machinery is the best and you may be assured of the longest and most efficient service when your battery is recharged here.

Another feature of the battery service vice of this station is the advice about the care of your battery or about the particular model of battery you may need in your car is willingly and gladly given.

The makers of Prest-o-Lite battery were quick to recognize the quality of work of the Maynard Battery Service and immediately made it their official service station in this community with full agency rights. This allows the shop to sell the famous Prest-o-Lite storage batteries famous for their long life and efficient service to the owner.

The great enthusiasm of the radio which sprang up almost overnight has made a new use for the storage battery. To meet this demand, the Prest-o-Lite Co. has manufactured place that the installation of the battery must be done by a person who has the proper attention to your battery.

The battery is the very heart of the entire electrical system. On its unshakable performance depends the satisfactory operation of your car. Consistently with this fact, the Maynard Battery Service station without much tarrying with a name, "The battery service station," has been established in this community. The battery is the very heart of the entire electrical system. On its unshakable performance depends the satisfactory operation of your car.

This paper wishes to congratulate Mr. Maynard and this well known service station on the work they do. Motorists of the community should consider themselves fortunate to have a station which does such efficient repairing on all kinds of batteries.

Widely Known Throughout This Section as a Stock and Bond House of High Standing in the Community With Offices in Ann Arbor Located at 701-6 First National Bank Bldg. Secret of Wise Investments is to Have Good Investment House. This Well Known Firm of a High Reputation Fulfills That Need in This Community. Made Up of Men Who Are Thoroughly Reliable in Every Way. Their Advice Given to Anyone Asking It. A Real Service to the Community.

"Wise investments—this is the secret of prosperity." Such was the suggestion of an old man to a young man. But the young man asks, "What is the secret of wise investment?" The answer is found in just such reliable investment companies as this well known local institution.

This is an age of specialization. You probably know your particular business or work better than anyone else in the world. The other fellow knows his. You must take his word about his business. He must take yours about your business. The modern world operates that way. And frightened by the statistics that show it is with investments. The secrets of men out of every hundred are degrees of wise investments. The secrets of men out of every hundred are degrees of wise investments. The secrets of men out of every hundred are degrees of wise investments.

the years he is to invest. The business or professional man who makes an income large enough to provide for his needs can take an altogether different point of view than can someone actually dependent upon the returns from this investment for his living. If you come in these or other classes of investors, this company can meet your needs.

The fact remains that no matter how you invest, you will probably attain continued financial independence by investment rather than by merely depending upon your earnings. Whether you are thinking of investing or not, they invite you to come in and talk over your investment problems with them. This does not obligate you to buy, but it does give you the opportunity to learn more about the company's securities. It is needless to state that such an investment house is a real asset to any community in promoting financial independence and prosperity. The owners of this company, too, are not content to be of service to the community merely in their business; they serve it in every possible way outside their office.

The Better Catch

An Idaho man was fishing in Lake Crescent recently. He caught a big northern pike, the biggest he had ever landed in his long and busy life. He was elated. He was crazed with joy, and he telegraphed his wife: "I've got one; weighs seven pounds and it's a beauty." The following was the answer he got: "So have I; weighs ten pounds. Not a beauty—looks like you. Come home." Idaho Yarn.

Hears With Spine

The case of Eugene Batemister, a deaf mute who hears music through his spine, is puzzling Swiss scientists. Batemister attended a concert at Bern recently and found that he could "hear" and enjoy the music not through the ears but through the spine. His spine seems to be a kind of lightning conductor, he explained. He can hear almost no other sound except instrumental music, however.

The Home of the New Diana Light Straight Eight and the Moon Year Ahead Six Located in Ann Arbor, at 209 North 4th Avenue.—Local Agency Offers Real Cars To Our Community.—Increasing Popularity Explained by the Car Itself.—Recognized As Leader In Our City.—A Real Good Car.—Long Service And Honest Value Is Their Motto.—Local Representatives Are Held In High Esteem By This Community Because of Their Interest in Community Affairs.—Cordial Invitation Is Extended To Every Person In This Community To Ride and/Drive the New Diana Light Straight Eight, and the Moon Year Ahead Six The Most Popular Cars in Motordom.

Realizing that the people could not get what they wanted in a real good car with the car itself and none of the non-essentials, a group of local men organized themselves into a company and surveyed the field to see if somewhere there was not a standard car that was medium priced and a good value. It was the car that they were looking for and they found it in the Diana Light Straight Eight. It is because the Diana met all of the requirements of a good car clearly and beyond all doubt that it was the best car value that could be secured. The Diana stands as a car if they held to the policy that their results could not be any better than their ideas, it is equally true that there is no motor car that can be better than its makers' policies.

We always know an article as to its quality by the makers' name that it bears. In the olden days when every article was made entirely by hand, the owner was proud to place his name as a signature that the article was made from his hands. He was proud of his work and took a personal interest in every piece that he turned out.

So it is today. The Moon Motor Car Co. takes more than a personal interest in its car. They strive to make this car within the reach of everyone of us and at the same time to give us a car that will stand the wear and tear and be low in upkeep. Whether or not they have succeeded will be shown by their record of increased sales each year. This is a fact that ever since this company has produced its first car and it was tried out, the sales have mounted rapidly and today this car stands as one of the leaders in the field. The old workers used to say that no article was better than the poorest one that was turned out.

The leading typewriter agency in Ann Arbor located at 17 Nickels Arcade, 330 State St. They supply the community with everything in typewriters and office supplies. Rebuilt machines a specialty. Complete repair department. Personal service a feature. Mail orders will receive special attention. Mimeographing, typewriting, engraving and embossing are their specialties. Managed and owned by Mr. O. D. Morrill, who is well known in Ann Arbor. He well merits the distinction of being a leader in his line.

This is most certainly an age of efficiency—an age made efficient by applied science. Man has never before had the use of so many labor saving devices. Never before has he been so quick and so well. An automobile takes him to work, an elevator takes him to his office, a telephone places him in communication with the world, cash registers and adding machines do his accounting for him, and a typewriter does his letter writing. But more indispensable than any of these devices is the typewriter. Indeed the typewriter has revolutionized correspondence and writing of all kinds. What the printing press has done for books, magazines and newspapers, the typewriter has done for the business man. It is absolutely indispensable. And these are only the obvious uses. To supply the needs of his city and community with the best in typewriters is the purpose of this well known local typewriter sales agency.

And the uses of the typewriter to day are manifold. From the newspaper reporter to the college professor, the typewriter is a service on any machine is absolutely indispensable. And these are only the obvious uses. To supply the needs of his city and community with the best in typewriters is the purpose of this well known local typewriter sales agency.

Mr. O. D. Morrill, the owner, is a respected business man and citizen of this community. He is a reliable, reliable and public spirited.

Some businesses deal with the luxuries of life, those commodities whose primary purpose is to give pleasure—and for a well rounded life these are necessary. But there are other businesses which deal with the necessities of life. On this latter class the public is most exacting. When we need necessities, we need them usually at once and without delay. The hardware business falls in this latter class.

Whether people need a stove or a dime's worth of nails, their needs must be met at once. This demands several things on the part of the successful hardware man. He must have a complete stock. He must be able in every way to keep abreast of the demands of his customers. Prompt service to all who come in, whether they wish the smallest article in the place or the largest piece of hardware for sale, has been one of the working policies of this well known and popular hardware store. here to stay in our community. We all can understand the hard facts about any proposition. These are the ones in regard to the Diana and the Moon Year Ahead Six. Moon Motor Car Co. has the money to make a good car; the experience and the ability that is in the company can result in only a product that will endure. The only fact that they accept as holding for all time is that their car must be of the best quality at a moderate price within the reach of everyone. The fact that the Moon Motor Car Co.'s policies as to business and research tactics has never swerved from the very start of the company. True worth, embodying long service and an honest value is the motto to which Moon Motor Car Co. adheres. Mr. W. H. Mr. Millard is never too busy to chat with an old friend who may be a visitor. These elements in his disposition could not be otherwise than make him popular.

Hears With Spine

The case of Eugene Butermeister, a deaf mute who hears music through his spine, is puzzling Swiss scientists. Butermeister attended a concert at Bern recently and found that he could "hear" and enjoy the music, not through the ears but through the spine. His spine seems to be a kind of lightning conductor, he explained. He can hear almost no other sound except instrumental music, however.

Teacher-Gravediggers

According to an old record the duties of an English schoolmaster of 1601 were as follows: "To act as court messenger, to serve summonses, to conduct certain ceremonial services of the church, to lead the Sunday choir, to ring the bell for public worship, to dig graves, to perform other occasional duties."

Police Dogs Not Part Well

Police dogs are often supposed to be descended from wolves, but this is not so. They are directly descended from peaceful German shepherd dogs. The fact that there have been no wolves in France since 1888 makes the theory that they are part wolf absurd, scientists say.

"Poker" Expression

The term "stunt patter" is a political slang expression and was originated by Senator Hanna in 1902 to indicate the attitude of the leaders of the Republican party on the tariff question. It came from "stunt patter," a poker term, which expresses the intention of a player to play the cards originally dealt him without helping his hand by drawing cards.

Established in Ann Arbor for the Past Twenty Years and Located at 719 North University Avenue, is One of the Most Popular Photograph Firms in This Community. Specializing in Commercial Work, Flash Light Pictures and Kodak Film Refinishing. Mr. E. J. Francisco, the Owner and Manager, is Considered the Best Commercial Photographer in This Section. He Does Practically All of the Work for the University and Its Students as Well as Many Business Firms and Residents of This City.

In the end the world is convinced, a picture. People who would take no interest from a mere description may be interested almost to the point of purchasing by a few good exterior and interior pictures. A merchant wants good pictures of some of the things he sells, the commercial photographer supplies it. There are more technical kinds of work in which this photographer specializes. He can take pictures of architects plans, of important reports. Nothing preserves a record more accurately.

These and many other phases of the work are the specialties of this enterprising and up-to-date commercial photographer. And he meets with more satisfaction than "I saw it," "My own eyes witnessed it," well—the heart must believe it. Sight is indeed the most precious of gifts. It is one thing above all others that almost every individual can be thankful for. Blindness is the almost the greatest handicap imaginable. And indeed what do we say with more satisfaction than, "I saw it with my own eyes." Unfortunately we can't all see everything in the world. But thanks to modern science we can see almost exact reproductions of everything in the world. Popularizing photography and engraving was indeed a great service to humanity. Those who have something to present to the public in any way know the value of pictures. A man can sell a house in a distant city if he can but see the picture of it. We probably purchased the automobile we drive because we were impressed first by a fine picture of it.

Here is the work of a commercial photographer. He helps people see exact reproductions of things that they could not otherwise see. The stir of modern life demands that we have pictures. We have not time to see everything just as it is. If we are salesmen and most of us are, showing one thing or another—we must show our prospects pictures. Perhaps you are a real estate man. You have a house on a certain plot. People can at least be interested by Making pictures for family groups, weddings and reunions is a specialty with him. Also equipped to do all classes of kodak film refinishing, etc. With a record of over twenty years in the business, Mr. E. J. Francisco, the owner and manager, has merited a reputation for himself as an expert in his line.

He has succeeded, too, because he feels a personal obligation toward each customer. He does each piece of work with the idea of making that his best.

This photographer has not only the belief that progress in his business is the belief that the community progresses only as the community progresses, and he spends no effort in supporting every commendable community project.

Harris Seed Store

Is the Leading Seed Firm of Ann Arbor Located at 300 Washington St. Cor. Fifth Ave. A Firm That is Rendering Real Service to the Community in Supplying the People With Finest Seeds of All Kinds. Mr. B. A. Harris, the Owner, is Considered an Authority in This Line of Business. He has Spent Years in Studying the Production of Fertile Seeds. Tested Seeds of Every Variety for Sale.

Today as perhaps never before much effort in studying everything there is an imperative call through the available about seeds. He has country for farm, truck, patch and profit by the famous researches of particularly garden produce. The such scientists as Luther Burbank, Federal Department of Agriculture, a consequence of this knowledge and the careful management of cultural colleges and experimental stations, this community has been encouraged in encouraging the people to raise more food stuffs not only for their own consumption but also for the consumption of that vast urban population which is springing up since the industrial revolution.

Producing foodstuffs was once any man's job. Today it is science. Production is increased or decreased according to certain immutable laws of nature most of which are now known to man. All the methods of scientific research have been brought into play within recent years to speed up the production of foodstuffs to supply the needs of the world.

In this process of research no one has played a greater part than the modern up-to-date propagator of seeds. The propagator of seeds is an expert in this line. He has spent a great many years and

This publication wishes to congratulate Mr. Harris, the owner of this store on the real service he is doing the community by helping the people here do their part in the production of more foodstuffs. He is an expert in this line. He has spent a great many years and WILLIAMSTON—Almost every summer, complaints come in from farmers near Williamston, regarding the molesting of their sheep by dogs. It is said that in very few cases have the culprits been found to be dogs from the farms, it being, in the majority of cases, dogs from the village, who wander out to nearby farms and molest the flocks there. It would seem that anyone sufficiently interested in a dog to pay a dog tax, and to feed him, would be sufficiently interested in his canine friend to keep him at home—particularly at night.—Enterprise.

YPSILANTI—Arrested three times since September 1, with six cases now pending against him in Washtenaw circuit court, and a criminal record which probably exceeds any other in this county, Merle Van Vorce, Salem township farmer, was arrested by federal officers Wednesday and taken to Detroit for arraignment in federal court on a charge of violating the prohibition law. His last arrest was on a federal warrant secured after another purchaser of liquor was made while Van Vorce was free on $2,000 bail waiting preliminary examination in Justice Gibson's court, Ann Arbor, for possessing and selling liquor.—Press.

MANCHESTER—Considerable interest was displayed among fishermen Saturday afternoon when about 200 small-mouth bass were planted in Wampler by the State Department of Conservation. They arrived at Clifton and were brought directly to the lake by trucks belonging to Geo. Niele and George Lancaster, and were then taken in boats and distributed at various points in the lake. There were some fine fish among them, as big as four-pounders. All fishing is now prohibited in the lake until June 16, next, the opening of the regular season. Placards have been posted around the lake and hand bills distributed giving notice that fishing is forbidden. These fish are caught in the Great Lakes by market fishermen and sold to the state for stocking purposes.—Enterprise.

Failure and Success
Follies interest me more, generally, than success. They seem to reveal human nature more truly, and, on the whole, more encouragingly, than anything else in the world. Success encourages the worst qualities in men; failure often brings out the best. Prayer is the fear, if not the voice, of failure.—Laurence Housman.

Development of Art
The development of art as it is carried on by individual artists opens always a field of interest to both observer and creator. It is such development that creates tendencies in art, carries on traditions and makes schools of art—using the term "school" in its broadest sense.—Arline De Haas, in the Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Color of Sparrows
The biological survey says that there is no such bird as red-headed sparrow. Both the lark sparrow and the chipping sparrow have chestnut-red heads. These species are known as song sparrows.

The Mercenary One
Cupid is satisfied with love; it is cupidity that tries to get alimony.—Boston Transcript.

JACKSON—Fifty or so years ago, Amos Root and three or four others decided that this burg was suffering for want of an iron mill. Amos was the most efficient business element Jackson ever had. When anything was needed for its prosperity, he clapped on his hat and went out and got it. A corporation of $100,000 was organized and a bankrupt rolling mill brought here from Ohio. It was located where the great shops of the old Smith Purifier now are, and W. M. Bennett installed as manager. Amateurism and the lack of navigable lakes and rivers was its undoing. It collapsed almost immediately. Mr. Root was chagrined, so he went to Detroit and persuaded his friend, James Joy, head of the Michigan Central, to locate the principal shops of the road here. The rolling mill incident was only a ripple in Jackson's industrial history, but the railroad shops have ever since sung a prominent note in the city's "hum of industry."—Saturday Evening Star.

Tire Prices Are LOW—CRUDE RUBBER HIGHEST IN YEARS

Buy Now and Save Money!

The unprecedented demand for Firestone quality and mileage has more than doubled the sales of Gum-Dipped Cords to car owners so far this year, enabling us—because of this tremendous volume—to keep prices low.

Experienced car owners insist on tires that deliver the greatest mileage at the lowest cost per mile, because such tires last longer—make the restricted rubber supply go further—reduce crude rubber costs—and help maintain the present low tire prices.

Firestone extra process, is also one of the biggest and most important economy factors in tire performance. This method of treating cord fabric, developed by Firestone tire chemists and engineers, insulates every fiber of every cord with rubber, and gives the sidewalls the extra strength to withstand the extra flexing strain—insuring maximum safety, comfort and economy.

"It is related in Scripture that if a man light a candle, he will not hide it under a bushel. So it is with the character of a firm in business. That character, that light, must not be hidden under a bushel. It must be brought into the open, where all men may see. To bring character into the open, and to endow it with reputation . . . that is the mission of advertising."

The above sentiment is an excerpt from an editorial published by the Chicago Journal of Commerce. All advertising to be lasting resultful, a benefit to the customer as well as to the seller, must first of all be absolutely truthful and an absolute statement of facts.

Only the smile, that has defied the years and the buffeting of defeat and the heartbreak of the game and the fire dark eyes are the same as that of the young man. Smack Between the Eyes

By JOHN G. O'BRIEN

(© 1924 Western Newspaper Union)

THIS was gray eyes were all; heart aching, Dick Wentle sat musing and covertly eyeing Patricia Suggs, as he was facing a business angle; for even as manager of Suggs Advertising, promotion would be scant, and a big firm had made him a princely offer.

"Dick, I advise you to accept the offer," quietly said Patricia.

Wentle quivered, for a voice within seemed to hit him smack between the eyes: "Who inspired you with the ambition to work and be someone? Who kept urging you on? But for Patchy you might have been a derelict." A pause, and the voice spoke again: "Why did he keep his hand in his pocket so much, and even tremble at times?" Suggs, the stoic, trembled. He could not answer.

Still he had been eyes. So keen, alert, that he could spy Rogers' yacht, like a huge gull on the placid bosom of the lake, and could mentally envisage the beautiful Dolores, who ruled her estate with a rod of iron. The trio had become such friends that Rogers had invited him for a yachting cruise before appointing him as manager, should he accept.

"Patchy, I hate to leave," said Wentle. "But you're right, so I will."

"Dick, I'm glad for your sake," she lifted brightly. "Success!"

Wentle spent the evening with the Rogerses, but for some unaccountable reason, evaded promising to accept the new position. Patricia made him feel uneasy as he hadn't returned to the office after lunch, nor yet had Suggs, a most unusual thing. Nor did she show up next morning, the second or the third. But Wentle had secured "Impossible Patchy, I feel worried over your dad."

"Dad's ill, and I'm nursing him," he replied. "Can you manage alone?"

"Sure thing. What else the chief?" Patricia faltered in gasping. So Wentle told her he'd call, but she declared it was unnecessary.

"Expect me," he laughed. "That is, unless you hate me."

"No! Oh, dear no, but—please stay away."

"Impossible Patchy. I feel worried over your dad."

"Really? Oh—"

That settled it, for her voice held a suspicion of tears. So he drove over a little later.

"Your dad, how is he?" he asked, clapping her slender hand.

"Leave me," bravely, going limp as she freed her hand.

"Patchy, tell your friend."

"Dick," wincing, "don't persist."

But he did, and coaxed the story from her. That Suggs was suffering from creeping paralysis.

Calm outwardly, even smiling, Wentle was waging the fight of his life.

Promotion, a priceless gem, was his for the taking. But a sense of fair play made him ponder.

"And I thought of leaving you!" he growled, fondling her hand.

"You simply must," she whispered. "We'll manage somehow."

He rose, so did she. "Lead me to your dad—to my chief," he urged, intercepting her as she broke away.

"Dad to the door," she said, and each other. Patchy, "Wow!" and he grinned reassuringly.

"How so?" escaped her lips—her eyes shone. "Run back, Dick."

"No!" resolutely, his reward a smile that staggered him. So Suggs was smiling later on, for Wentle told him about the new account after propelling him up costly in bed.

"But I can't pay you what Rogers can," roared Suggs later.

"Easy. Calm down, sir," soothingly. "I'm a sticker, and you'll pay me that—perhaps more. meantime, my present salary will do."

Suggs promptly fired him, but Wentle refused to be dismissed. They talked to and fro, Patchy chiming in at times, naive amusement twinkling in her eyes, for Suggs, the icicle, began to regard Wentle as if relying on a son, though he didn't say that in so many words.

He showed for two trained nurses before leaving, and fame as Pat did, he had his own way—his grin prodigious when she hinted there was little money being poured.

"What do I get?" he asked. "Patchy, I've been called a cheap sucker for saving, as I took your advice years back. So I'll defray the expense."

"Dick!" and oh, the sweet, shy smile she gave him. "But not a cent!"

"You're a fine couple of friends to have!" he howled.

He even tried to glare at the little beauty, but failed miserably. His arms went out instead—in a swift, hungry, circling way that Patchy tried to evade, but also failed, for deep was calling to deep—the heights and depths of a first love that brooks no defying.

Wentle and Pat were returning from a honeymoon six months later. He craned his neck and gasped as the car slowed down at the curb, for a new sign seemed to hit him smack between the eyes.

"Patchy—wife—whatever does it mean?" chokily, though business had been rushing and they were making money hand over fist.

"It means that Daddy is proud of his partner, who nursed her small, gloved hand stealing into his. 'See, he's waving to us, Dicky.'"

ORDERS INCREASING FOR NEW FORD CARS

As people become more familiar with the attractiveness of the improved Ford cars interest not only increases, but orders for cars are growing in numbers, according to local Ford dealers.

Probably the best evidence of the widespread interest manifest in these cars comes from the general offices of the Ford Motor Company at Detroit where it was stated that since the new cars were announced orders for more than 192,888 have been booked by dealers throughout the United States. Thousands of orders are coming in every day.

This is not only a striking example of public confidence in the company's products but is also a sales record without precedent.

Added significance is given the sales report by the fact that the public generally has not yet had an opportunity to inspect all the new types. Distribution of cars among dealers so far has been limited principally to touring areas—in fact, dealers in many sections are still awaiting their first car. In spite of this, orders continue to come in from all points not only for cars of the type shown, but the rest of the open and closed line as well, an indication that prospective purchasers are impressed with the soundness of the re-designing and refining of the cars and are satisfied that they will find the same standard reflected in the type of their preference.

Assembly at the Detroit branch of the company which supplies this territory is increasing daily and distribution among dealers will be much more rapid from now on than it has been up to the present time. However, those desiring a new Ford car for use during the coming fall, and writer will do well to enter their orders early and avoid delay in delivery.

Tramps Have Own Jargon
It isn't every one who can hold intelligible conversation with a tramp, due to the fact that he has a language all his own. To a tramp a bed is a "doss," a "kip," or a "scratcher." His hat is his "cadle" and his shoes are his "daisies." If he speaks of stealing he may refer to "half inch," "snaffle" or "win." To walk is to "hit the grit" or to "frog it."

Land of Bimini
The island or land on which, according to their ancient traditions, was located the fountain whose wonderful waters conferred, on all who drank, perpetual youth, was called Bimini by the natives of the West Indies.

Red-Letter Day
The term "red-letter day" is derived from the church usage of marking the principal feasts of the year in red letters in the books used in services to distinguish them from the ordinary daily festivals.

Bible Tells of First Aid
The Book of Ruth in the Old Testament contains what is probably the first advertisement on record authentically as such. After recording that Boaz went "up to the gate of the city and sat him down there"—the gate of the city being the center of business life—it is recorded that he said: "I thought to advertise thee saying, 'Buy it before the inhabitants and before the elders of my people.'"

No Mental Progress?
A group of scientists in the University of California, after many years of study and test, have decided that the human race has made no mental progress in 3,000 years, says Popular Science Monthly. They have concluded that we know about as much today as the people who lived in Babylon, and not as much as the Greeks did 2,000 years ago.

A FINE RECORD
The largest Sunday school attendance for many years, was broken Sunday at the Methodist church. There were 203 present. 53 in the Primary department. The collection was close to $20.

Sunday closed the conference year. Rev. Risley left Tuesday for conference at Flint. The session is held in Rev. Glass's church—a former pastor here.

A brief summary of the year's work may be of interest to you. The church has paid during the year: for World's service, $655.00, a part of this going to conference benevolence; for building and improvements, $900; paid on old indebtedness, $300; W. H. M. S., $166; L. A. S., $567.

Our Sunday school enrollment, 268. An average attendance of 130. Paid to World's Service, $75. Officers and teachers, 27. Church membership, 264. Non-resident, inactive members, 36; deaths, 8; received in membership, 15; baptisms, 11. Epworth League members, 20. Juniors, 20. Paid to World's Service, $25.00.

This is but a brief outline of work done, but gives us some idea of our labors. Rev. Risley was invited back for another year, but will abide by the action of the Conference. The estimating committee has advised an advance in salary of $200 the coming year.

There will be no services of any kind at the church Sunday, September 20.

Remember the hours of worship, at 10 o'clock and our church school at 11:15 a. m. The evening worship will start October 4th. Holy communion and the reception of new members morning worship October 4th. All are welcome to worship with us at all times.
