BRITISH PROTEST TURNS ACTION
Charges by the British that the Turks are deporting whole Christian villages from the territory north of the line established at Brussels have been sent to Geneva and further complicate the Mosul situation. The complaint was originally sent to the Council with instructions that it be taken before the Assembly, but later it was decided to keep it before the council only. The violations of neutrality pledges claimed by the British have caused a clash of Turkish and British troops, in which shots were exchanged. The purpose of this deportation, the British believe, is the destruction of the Assyrian-Chaldean nation, against whom the movement is principally directed.

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK
The week of October 7-10 has been set aside for the observance of Fire Prevention Week. The campaign is being fostered by the National Board of Underwriters of New York City, who are seeking to co-operate with fire chiefs, local agents, municipal officials, school authorities, members of business organizations, and all others who will participate in the event.

Everybody loses when fire rages. The annual fire loss in this country amounts into figures that are actually appalling. Statistics reveal that $66,000,000 worth of dwelling places alone were destroyed last year in the United States, and that on an average of every three minutes fire attacked somebody's home. It is coming the season of the year when the householder will be kindling the furnace fire, and it is hoped that through a campaign of education during Fire Prevention Week homeowners will be brought to realize the necessity of looking after faulty chimneys, flues and other defective parts in the family heating plant. A few preventive measures at the right time will cut down the fire loss to a surprising extent.

WHY CORPORATE INVESTMENTS FAIL

There is scarcely a community in Michigan that has not at one time or another suffered a heartbreaking loss in the failure of some corporate enterprise, that promised glittering returns to the investors as well as community prosperity. Actuated through the inspiration of shrewd promoters, business men and private citizens have put their hard-earned dollars into some pet scheme that proved in the end was for the benefit of somebody (but had something to unload. Canning factories, cheese factories, milk condensaries, manufacturing enterprises, all of these have come under the head of the idea that a home-owned, home-controlled project was bound to revolutionize industry and survive in spite of every managerial mistake that might be made.

After such projects are floated and the company is ready for business, the question of a manager arises. Usually there is in every community some fellow that is popular with a certain few with influence, and while he has never made a success with his own affairs, yet somehow the idea prevails that when it comes to handling the collective investments of a large number he is going to be instantly transformed into a financial wizard and startle the universe with his managerial ability.

But in ninety-nine cases out of every hundred the same story is written: The company starts out with brilliant prospects, there can be no doubt about its ultimate success. Things seem going great guns for a period and then something happens. Industrial or economic problems have crept in somewhere and the stockholders are asked to kick in a little more money to help ease things over until there is a turn of the tide. This goes on for a while and then one day they are called in and the bitter truth made known, the company is busted. There is a receiver's sale, the proceeds of which are just about enough to pay current bills, and the original investors have some pretty stock certificates to remind them of the incident.

One Michigan city, that has succeeded in locating several successful enterprises during the last few years, makes it a positive rule to encourage no project whose promoters cannot produce a satisfactory record of business ability, and who are unable to bring with them men capable of managing the enterprise once it is established. It is a rule that has brought excellent returns.

FEWER FAILURES

Business failures during August reached the lowest mark for the year, bank clearings for the same month broke all August records, and building activity eclipses last year's record according to an encouraging report of business and commercial affairs for the month by B. C. Forbes.

The total collection of internal revenue for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1925, aggregated $2,584,140,884, a decrease of only $212,038,988 from the collection of 1924, despite the 25 per cent reduction in the tax on incomes which prevailed for the last half of 1925. The principal increase during the year was from the tax on tobacco.

Gopher Causes $2,000 Damage

A recent news item says:

"A single pocket gopher caused a break in an irrigation ditch which cost $2,000 to repair."

Which proves that little leaks develop into big ones and cause great losses.

Watch the leaks in your pocket book. A bank account is the best guard against them.

THE GOSPEL OF SUCCESS

A Western financier, who has accumulated several million dollars, recently said in reply to a question, "Have all your earnings in one place where you can see it every afternoon." The advice is pretty good, even though you never accumulate as much as a million dollars. What the man really means is that if you have a surplus dollar to invest, invest it in your home community where you can look after it and largely control it. In other words, don't fritter your accumulations away in wild-cat ventures. There is not a county in Michigan where the people have not squandered enough money in wild-cat propositions to have built dozens of successful enterprises that would have brought untold prosperity and still had enough left to fill the bank vaults to overflowing.

The next time a stock salesman calls at your door take him over to the bank and find out how much the banker will loan you on the nicely engraved stock certificate he is trying to sell you. If the banker says he will take it at its face value on a loan, then you can consider it a good investment, otherwise it will be well for you to beware. There is always plenty of legitimate use for the idle dollar in the spot where you reside.

BE A REAL SPORT

It is a peculiar thing, something that has so far been quite unexplained by the so-called modern psychoanalysts, but the moment some folks take to the open country in their automobiles they become changed individuals. People who are a very acme of uprightness at home, seem to have no hesitancy in climbing out of their machines and descending upon the farmer's crops along the highways and appropriating unto themselves whatever seems to strike their fancy. It is a practice that is wrong, both in mannerism and principle, and should be stopped.

Not that we say that all motorists are addicted to this pernicious habit, for the great majority would no more think of following such a practice than they would think of breaking into a neighbor's home, but enough have been guilty of this petty form of thieving to cause state-wide comment. If the rural folks were to come to town and invade your door yards in search of flowers, or went into the business districts and picked up numerous small articles, right away we'd probably counsel the authorities to have them stowed away in the local bastille.

Yet in every way they are just as much entitled to do this as the people who steal their flowers, fruit or vegetables and seem to think it a huge joke. Don't make the mistake of unthinkingly joining this band of petty marauders, but be a real sport and respect the other fellow's property, just as you expect him to respect yours.

BEWARE OF THEM

Fake solicitors are now touring the rural districts of Michigan, where they gather up produce either with the promise that the check will come from "the office" or taking in poultry and other merchantable articles in payment of "subscriptions" to magazines that never come. People in the country, just like people in town, should make short work of the peddling agent.

STRIKE COSTS MONEY

The coal strike is costing the railroad millions, it is estimated by officials checking present conditions on the roads due to the strike. These officials set the loss at $3,500,000 a week as the number of cars loaded decrease 40,000. Nearly 15,000 rail employees have been released since the mine workers struck on September 1.

Loss by Wood Decaying

Decay of wood in the United States causes an annual loss equivalent to 3,000,187,000 cubic feet of standing timber or 10.5 of the total quantity removed from the forests each year.

Firestone

Double the Mileage at Half the Cost

Only a few years ago a 32 x 4 cord tire listed over $50.00. Today, you can buy the highest quality 32 x 4 tire—a Firestone Gum-Dipped Cord—for about $26.00.

Last spring crude rubber cost tire makers around 40 cents a pound. Today, it is over 90 cents a pound.

It was not so long ago that 7,500 miles represented the average life of a cord tire, while today, 15,000 miles—and more—is only the usual performance for a Firestone Gum-Dipped Cord.

Due to large, concentrated production, specialized machinery and simplified factory methods, together with economical distribution, Firestone is able to keep tire prices low—no matter where the price of crude rubber goes.

And, because of special Firestone processes, chief among which is Gum-Dipping, motorists are today getting thousands of extra miles by using Gum-Dipped Cords.

Gum-Dipping is an exclusive method used by Firestone. It is an extra process, carried out in special Gum-Dipping plants, after which the cords are put through the usual calendaring machines. Gum-Dipping insulates and impregnates every fiber of every cord with rubber, and practically eliminates internal friction and heat, and builds strength and endurance into the tire.

In the day-in and day-out service of taxicabs, buses and trucks—on the cars of hundreds of thousands of motorists everywhere—Gum-Dipped Cords are giving unheard-of mileage, dependability and satisfaction.

Get ready for the coming months of slippery pavements and bad roads. Assure yourself of greater safety, comfort and economy by equipping now with Firestone Full-Size Gum-Dipped Balloons.

CLINTON—If the fair weather continues, the paving on M-25 will be completed across Lenawee county this week.—Local.

YPSILANTI—Senator Royal S. Copeland, New York, has been secured to give the Commencement address at Cleary College, October 24.

DEXTER—A force of workmen are busy replacing the dam of the Dexter Mills, which has been torn down, with a new one of the same dimensions.—Leader.

DEXTER—On Sunday a Mission was opened in St. Joseph's church which closes on Saturday. Fr. Bur-nell, a missionary of the Dominican Order, has charge of the services.

Stockbridge—The Stockbridge high school has drawn students from a large area this year, twenty-one districts being represented. Last year there were only forty-five foreign students while this year are seventy.—Brief-Sun.

WILLIAMSTON—Williamston is planning for a record breaking crowd on Saturday, October 3rd, when the Booster Club working in conjunction with the Williamston News, will start the day off at 10:00 o'clock with a list of up-to-date street sports.

MICHIGAN CENTER—Michigan Center school carried away the usual number of honors at the county fair this year. They were awarded a prize for general exhibit, and the Little Mothers' League was given first place, which carries a $5.00 prize with it.—Times.

ANN ARBOR—Loans amounting to approximately $3,500 have been granted 28 University students this fall. Each year, loans are made to students from a fund subscribed to by various alumni and friends of the University. Applications for loans are being received daily at the office of the dean of students.

HOWELL—Residents of Marion, which includes ten or more farmers, have just closed a contract with the Detroit Edison Co., for an extension of lines which will afford both light and power service. The new line will run south from Howell on the Pinckney road to the William W. McDowell place, then in easterly direction to the farm of Geo. W. Wright and Sons.—Democrat.

POWELLVILLE—A few weeks ago Prosecutor Hiram R. Smith of Howell sent out over 650 letters to delinquent dog owners in the county who had failed to procure the necessary licenses for same. Since then 450 of them have obtained their licenses and over $1,000 has been paid into the county treasury from dog owners in Livingston county.—Review.

EATON RAPIDS—The energetic way in which the proposed tourist camp project is being taken up by President Warden of the Kiwanis Club, is evidence that, with the support of the city commission, which is virtually assured, this important project will be in full operation by another season, and Eaton Rapids made a place where tourists will be glad to stop. This will link up with the Clinton Trail project after the first of the year.—Review.

PINCKNEY—The Pinckney class of 1924, having a balance in the bank, has decided to use this money to furnish more playground equipment for the school grounds. The great popularity of the slide, swings, etc., with the little students is amply demonstrated every day and the slide especially does not begin to accommodate the patronage during recess and other rush hours. So it is a fine thing for the class of 1924 to make this gift which will be greatly appreciated by the youngsters.—Dispatch.

JACKSON—When the school teachers of the third district of the Michigan State Teachers' Association gather in Jackson for the annual convention Thursday and Friday, October 22 and 23, an extensive and highly interesting program will be given. Among the speakers at the general sessions which will be held in the new auditorium at the fair grounds are such men as Glenn Frank, new president of the University of Wisconsin; Alfred Noyes, the celebrated English poet; and Lorado Taft, the sculptor.

YPSILANTI—With the coming of cool fall evenings comes the announcement of Ypsilanti's big annual down party, the Ypsilanti Autumn Festival which is scheduled to take place Tuesday, October 6. Members of the Better Business Committee of the Board of Commerce who have the plans in charge have been at work for some time in working out the original ideas which have always characterized this event. The window displays which have always drawn so much favorable comment, will again be largely featured. Stores either undergoing remodeling or entering new quarters are making every effort to be ready for the big night.—Press.

Knife's Double Purpose

The table knife became popular after the Seventeenth century. During the period of transition from finger to fork knives were used for eating as well as for cutting.

BRILLIANT STARS TO BE HEARD IN ANN ARBOR

John McCormack, Schumann-Heink and many world famous artists and organizations will be heard in Hill Auditorium, Ann Arbor, this season in the two big concert courses provided by the University School of Music. The management has been fortunate in signing contracts with outstanding artists of widest appeal. Singers, pianists, violinists and ensemble groups including orchestras, choruses, and opera will be included.

The Choral Union series will be opened Thursday, October 15th when Walter Damrosch, who for forty years has been at the head of the New York Symphony Orchestra, will lead his band of players in a wonderful concert—whitely-Guy, Maier, pianist, and Palmer Christian, organist, will participate. Walter Damrosch at the age of nineteen succeeded his father, who founded this famous orchestra, as conductor and since then has maintained a place among the world's greatest conductors and musical organizers. His orchestra has not been heard in Ann Arbor for many years.

John McCormack, probably the most popular musician in the world, will be heard for the third time in Ann Arbor when he will appear in a song recital Tuesday, November 3rd. He will be assisted by Lauri Kennedy, violinist, and Edwin Schneider, pianist. Just as there was but one McCormack, so there is only one McCormack. To hear McCormack is to hear the greatest that the world provides.

On Monday, November 23rd, Ossip Gabrilowitsch will direct the Detroit Orchestra of nearly one hundred men in a brilliant program. This organization is one of the half-dozen outstanding orchestras in the United States, and its tremendous success is a reflection of credit upon its brilliant conductor, the music lovers of Detroit and Michigan, and art-patrons in general who have so graciously recognized its importance and worth.

On Friday, December 11th, Louis Graveure the eminent Belgian baritone, whose song recitals are renowned throughout the world of music, will be heard for the first time in Ann Arbor. He possesses an unusual pleasing voice which is combined with artistry of the highest type. He is recognized as a past-master in the art of song recital.

On Tuesday, January 26th, music lovers will have the pleasure of hearing a pianist, recognized throughout Europe as probably the greatest of the day. Walter Gieseking has a stupendous personality. More than six feet in height, and of large stature generally, he possesses dynamic ability. His artistry is in proportion to his physique, and everywhere he has been acclaimed as the greatest of the day. His first American tour which he was persuaded to make because of the insistent demands from American music centers promises to be virtually a march of triumph from coast to coast.

On Monday, March 8th, music lovers will have an opportunity of hearing Ossip Gabrilowitsch in the role of piano soloist with his own orchestra, which will be conducted by Victor Kolar, another artist of wide distinction.

In the Extra Concert series five especially attractive concerts will be provided.

First, on Saturday evening, November 14th, the evening of the Ohio State football game in Ann Arbor, Ernestine Schumann-Heink, the world's greatest and best loved contralto will be heard in a song recital.

On Monday, December 7th, Cecilia Hansen, the spectacular Scandinavian violinist, who has been before the critical world of music for several seasons, will be heard for the first time in Ann Arbor. She has won a place which has caused critics far and wide to refer to her as the "Heifetz of woman violinists."

On Monday, January 11th, The Hinchaw Opera Company will appear in Ann Arbor for the fourth time, presenting Donizetti's opera in two acts "The Elixir of Love."

The fourth number in this series will take place Friday, February 2, when the London String Quartet will also make its Ann Arbor debut. This organization ranks with the best in either Great Britain, the Continent of America.

The final concert in this series will take place Wednesday, April 7th, when the St. Olaf Lutheran Choir, under the leadership of F. Melius Christiansen, will be heard for the first time. This organization represents the best in American choral singing.

Season tickets for either of these courses may be ordered by mail. All orders will be filled and filled in sequence, and tickets will be mailed early in October. Unless fifteen cents additional is enclosed for registration, tickets will be mailed at purchaser's risk. The price for season Choral Union tickets is $5.00, $6.50, $8.00 and $7.00, and for the Extra Concert series $2.00, $3.00, $4.00 and $5.00. All communications should be sent to Charles A. Sink, Secretary, University School of Music, Ann Arbor.

LETTER TELLS OF BUNKER HILL

Note by Loyalist Who Witnessed Battle at Boston Is Uncovered.

Worcester, Mass.—A Loyalist's impressions of the Battle of Bunker Hill, 150 years ago, are picturesquely portrayed in a letter written June 23, 1775, six days after the battle, by Samuel Paine of Worcester, attached to the headquarters of the British Army of America, at Boston, to his brother, Dr. William Paine, who resided in Worcester. The letter, treasured as a rare find, has been uncovered in the library of the American Antiquarian society, here, among a number of original Revolutionary war manuscripts.

"Never did I see such a day," wrote the Loyalist, telling of the savage attack of the "rebels," as he calls the Colonials, when they first captured Bunker Hill and later the rout of the Colonials by the king's troops when the "Yankee" ammunition gave out. The Colonials, he wrote, alluding to them at another time as "my countrymen," appeared in a mood to "win or die" and no one knew what a day would bring forth.

Saw Dark Future.
The future, from his observation, was quite foreboding, with the British massing all the troops at command at Boston, intent on smothering the Colonial army and the Colonials besieging the points of vantage on the outskirts of Boston, bent on starting the British army out. The letter reads:

"The King's troops have gained, though at a great loss, a surprising victory over the rebels last Saturday, an awful scene of which I was an eye witness. Have been since on the field of battle and shall endeavor for your satisfaction to give some account of it. After the Concord expedition, affairs took a turn, a large army was immediately raised and every passage to the town of Boston invested. The provincial congress, conducted extremely well, put their army on pay by issuing a large sum of paper currency and they appeared very formidable, having plenty of artillery.

In various encounters with the King's troops they got the better, were flushed with victory, held a British soldier in the highest contempt. But the surrender of the important fortress of Concord (May 10), to the American army, heightened their enthusiasm.

In this situation of their minds last Friday night, being very dark, many thousands took possession of a high hill in Charlestown called Bunker's, that commands the whole of this town. Before morning they had completed a redoubt and such intrenchments as did honor to the engineer and this town lay exposed to a fire which must have ruined it unless prevented.

"As soon as it was discovered from Cops hill, near the ferry on which is a fine battery, they began a most furious cannonade upon the rebels, which they returned seven times upon the town. Instead of quitting their post large reinforcements were sent from Cambridge headquarters of their army and matters here began to be serious.

Reinforcements Arrive.
"About 1 o'clock all the Grenadiers and light infantry of the whole army, reinforced to about 3,000 under the conduct of the gallant Lord Howe and Abercromby embarked on the long wharf, with 12 brass pieces and landed at a point of land back of Charlestown, in full view of the rebels, who still kept their post. The troops being annoyed from some houses in Charlestown, the ships threw carcasses (combustible shells fired from a mortar) into it, and in a few minutes the whole town was in flames—a most awful, grand and melancholy sight.

"In the meantime the troops marched on toward the hill, for the intrenchments, under a most heavy fire of artillery, on both sides. Never did I see such a day. I was on Beacon hill in full prospect. In about 30 minutes the troops were high the works, exposed to an amazing fire of small arms, for by this time the rebels amounted to 10,000. Soon as the King's men perceived the British works, a most terrible slaughter began upon the rebels, who now were everyone shuffling for himself. The troops pursued them over the neck, beyond Temple house and were masters of the field of battle.

Twenty-Four Officers Killed.
"The troops have suffered extremely, there being about 24 officers killed, and near 60 wounded and about 700, rank and file, killed and wounded. The rebels lost a vast many, among whom was Doctor Warren, a noted rascal (Gen. Joseph Warren, one of the leading New England patriots). We have about 30 prisoners here, some of whom are to be executed.

"After the firing ceased I went over, and, good God! what a sight! all the horrors of war, death and rebellion. The British army is encamped upon the high hills in Charlestown in fine spirits and will advance into the country as soon as possible, laying waste and devastation wherever they go.

"What the event of all these matters will be God only knows. The rebels are very numerous and continue to besiege the passages and intrenching themselves upon every strong post about. God only knows what a day may bring forth. We are in continued motion here and now we are all in the dark.

"Last evening 1,000 troops under General Clinton embarked in four transports, their destination not known, but no doubt Salem, Marblehead, Newbury, etc., will be besieged before night. All the troops, ordered to New York, are now to come here which including Preston's regiment of light horse, which has arrived safe and in fine order, will make about 20 regiments so that we may expect a bloody summer for my countrymen fight well for them, and are determined at all events to die or conquer.

The optimistic prophecy of the writer of the letter that the British would advance into the country, leaving devastation in their trail, did not

LIFE WILD IN MATTO GROSSO

Women Have to Be Taught to Wear Clothes.

Rio de Janeiro, Brazil.—An educational film has been exhibited in Rio de Janeiro showing the wild life and frontier industries of the Brazilian state of Matto Grosso, the second largest state in the union, twice the size of Texas.

There are plenty of Indians living in Matto Grosso, most of them in the hunting and fishing period of civilization. The men of the Bororo tribe, which was shot for the picture, use no clothing, but the women have been taught by the federal Indian service to wear a simple form of dress.

The most popular style in necklaces is made by stringing a collection of the teeth of wild jaguars, powerful and dangerous animals of the cat family which kill live stock throughout a great part of central and northern Brazil.

A peculiar wedding custom was filmed showing the return of a young man with the hide of a jaguar, killed to prove his bravery, a necessary action before the right of marriage is given to a man.

Another feature of life in the interior, mentioned by the late Theodore Roosevelt in the account of his trip down the "River of Doubt," are the piranhas, the flesh-eating fish, which inhabit some of the interior rivers. The operator threw a calf into the stream. It was eaten with astonishing rapidity by an enormous school of these carnivorous fish. Alligators are numerous.

Edges of the forest bordering the rivers are, in many places, white with herons. The species are famous for their elegant feathers.

There is a law in Matto Grosso preventing the killing of these birds. There is a large trade in the feathers, however, and they are gathered after dropping from the birds and sold for approximately $150 a pound.

Diamond mining seems to be flourishing; the picture showing one village where, it is said, there are more than 8,000 men washing river gravel and sediment by hand. Gold is washed by machines.

The plains are stocked with cattle, one ranch having 40,000 head. Much of the meat is prepared for market in the form of jerked beef.

Argentina Plans Student

Interchange With U. S.
Buenos Aires.—At a recent meeting of the Argentine section of the international educational institute, the exchange of graduates between American and Argentine universities was strongly advocated.

It was resolved that this should be principally on the basis of providing these students with chairs of their own language in the country where they intend continuing their studies, and thus give them opportunity, by teaching, to earn their living expenses.

A knowledge of the language of the country was also established as a necessary qualification for obtaining those professorships.

The meeting also resolved to accept an offer of the American section of the institute to send to Buenos Aires a woman graduate of the school of domestic economy of Columbia university to give a course of lectures, and also commissioned Edward F. Peckley, the American commercial attaché here, to resume negotiations toward establishing a number of technical scholarships for Argentine students in some of the great industrial establishments in the United States.

FAIR NOTES

OH! MY BACK!

Aching Backs Make Life Miserable For Many Chelsea People.

It isn't right to suffer day in and day out with dull, unceasing backache. Or be utterly miserable with sharp stabs of pain whenever you stoop or lift. But chances are you will suffer these tormenting aches and pains as long as your weakened kidneys are neglected. You may have headaches, too, spells of dizziness and urinary disorders. Then use Doan's Pills—a stimulant diuretic to the kidneys. Experiences of Chelsea people prove the merit of Doan's.

Mrs. P. Brower, McKinley St., Chelsea, says: "It has been some time since I used Doan's Pills but from past experience I feel justified in recommending them. My kidneys were weak and acted irregularly. My back had a weakness and soreness in it and I felt tired and drowsy. As one of my family had used Doan's Pills with good results I decided to try them. The backaches left and my kidneys were regulated."

Now wash the spot with a piece of sponge dipped into milk, squeezing it dry between each application and soaking it full of more milk. When the ink has all been taken out wash the place in weak sudsy and then rinse with a spongeful of clear water. Let it dry without exposure to dust, and it will be difficult to tell where the accident happened.

Walnut Cultivation

Commercial success in growing English walnut is found only in southern California. In the eastern states, so far as present data show, it may be said that the Persian walnut flourishes on all soils upon which the black walnut is found, and under favorable conditions on some others. Sandy loams, clay loams and gravelly loams, if not too open, are suitable for the growth of this tree.

Rise of German Empire

The immediate cause of the Austro-Prussian war, also known as the Seven Weeks' war, was the Schleswig-Holstein question. It resulted indirectly from the long rivalry between Austria and Prussia. The conflict was the culmination of the plan of Bismarck to force Austria out of the German confederation and to make way for a new Germany under Prussian leadership.

An Ingenious Sideslip

An Italian woman, asked in court to state her age, replied, "Between thirty-five and fifty." When pressed to be more explicit she said that she kept exact count of her money and other possessions because some one might rob her of these. "But as no one can steal a year or a day, I do not bother to keep track of them."

No Substitute

Be it ever so humble there is no adequate substitute for home, and the present generation needs to bear this in mind.—Chicago News.

Every person in Washtenaw county is welcome to every session and should avail themselves of the opportunity to hear these splendid speakers.

PASTEST CARS WILL RACE IN DETROIT SUNDAY

Sunday at 2:30 o'clock Eastern time, 14 of the fastest race cars in the world will get the flag and roar away on the second annual 150-mile world's championship auto race to be held on the Michigan State fair track, out Woodward avenue, Detroit. All records for speed and entry of cars has been broken. Half a hundred race cars drawn from many states are here and have been practicing during this week on the fine speedway which has been created by throwing up the turns. There is every indication that all world's marks for dirt tracks will be broken. No clay-dirt track in the country has the reputation that Detroit has. A regiment of police will go on duty at daybreak to protect the gates and the speedway proper. Reservations have been pouring in from all over the middle west for box and other choice seats for the race. The most famous of the world's star pilots have signed the entry blanks. This race—open to the world and for cash and necessary prizes—is looked on as next in importance to the 500 mile battle on the brick at Indianapolis. Representatives of the contest boards under whose direction the race will be run are here, have measured the track, inspected the pits, the scoring and grandstand, the speedway hard and well-oiled and dustless ready for the big classical battle of brains and daring. Members of the varsity squads of the U. of M. and Michigan State Colleges playing on historic Perry field the day before the race will be on hand in a special section Sunday afternoon, October 4.

The gates open at 9, the trials will find the track alive with speeding motors and the race starts at 2:30 o'clock.

Theme for morning "The Importance of the Lord's Supper." Holy communion and reception of new members.
Theme for evening "The One Path to Freedom." We all have our ups and downs and bitter trials, but why not bear our cross as Christians differently before the world? What would come nearer silencing the world's criticism than the consistent living of all Christians? So far as can be found, there is absolutely no excuse for any Christian being bitter, ugly, sound, cross, cynical. We have all enjoyed the radio. It is one of the great wonders of modern times, but PLEASE do not substitute radio service, or some similar service for the regular church service. Listening to a radio service of Divine worship for the soul who is able to go to his church, is like kicking your sister—it fails to give the stimulation. But I want to add if you are a shut-in, it is one of God's blessings upon you. For the air is full of God's words of cheer and comfort to you. Make some church your home and attend.
