TWO PRISONERS ENJOY SHORT PERIOD OF FREEDOM

Ride Prison Bus to Chelsea, and Escape One Captured Here, Other at Ann Arbor, Before Sunday Night.

Hiding beneath the seats of the passenger bus which transports guards and other workmen to and from the prison cement plant at Four Mile Lake, two prisoners enjoyed a temporary "absence from duty" about 6 o'clock on Sunday morning when they rode to Chelsea on the bus' regular trip and while the driver parked the machine in front of Krantz' restaurant, made their escape to nearby alleys. One of the prisoners, George Christian, was captured a few minutes later in the alley to the rear of the W. P. Schenk & Company store, while the second, Louis M. McCree, was taken in custody by sheriff's forces in Ann Arbor Sunday evening. Neither made any resistance to arrest, although at the time they left the bus an attempt was made by the driver, a trustee, to prevent their escape. In the tussle a window was broken from the bus.

Screws which held the seats down on their supports had been removed by the prisoners while the bus was parked inside the prison fence. Just before its trip to town the prisoners are thought to have secreted themselves in the chest-like apartments where they remained until the transport was unloaded in Chelsea.

McCree was sentenced from Recorder's Court, Detroit, April 19, 1924, to from five to fifteen years for breaking and entering a dwelling house in the night time while Christian was sentenced to from six to fifteen years from the same court for breaking and entering a store at night.

Editorial

TO BAN LIQUOR

The druggists of the country are working in harmony to have the Volstead act so changed that it will make illegal the sale of intoxicants on prescriptions, or on any excuse of medical necessity. At the same time they would have the Volstead act so amended that the United States Government would have the exclusive sale and handling of all alcohol for medicinal, as well as mechanical purposes.

The registered pharmacists and druggists of the country, who are in the drug business as a business, and not in it as a blind for selling whiskey or other alcoholic beverages, seem to be united in this effort to stamp out that type of "drug store" which has sprung up since the Volstead act went into effect, for the purpose of selling booze—and the old-time druggists report that there are thousands of them that have come into being since the law became effective, and that many of them make little pretence of selling drugs, compounding prescriptions or carrying on as druggists in any sense of the word.

The public should heartily approve this effort on the part of legitimate druggists of the country to clean up what has become a nasty situation, and an aid to bootlegging—all over America. It is dragging the drug business in the mire in many localities, and putting all druggists, no matter how honorable, under suspicion. It is a movement that should attract the loyal and outspoken support of every citizen.

SHORT WAVES

Senator William Marconi, speaking at a banquet at London addressed himself to a discussion of the value of short waves in radio.

Mr. Marconi said his engineer, Captain Pound, by using a fifteen-meter wave length and one-fifth of a kilowatt at the transmitting end, which is about the average length used by amateurs in their experiments, found it not only possible but easy to communicate from Chelsea, about twenty-five miles north-east of London, with Argentina during the daylight hours while experiments were unsuccessful during the hours of darkness. Henceforth, it was pointed out, enthusiasts would not have to stay up all night to communicate with friends in other countries.

The short wave takes only a small percentage of the power to broadcast, that is taken by the waves now in general use, and it is predicted they will bring about a revolution in radio.

PARENTAL DUTY

Addressing the International Convention of the United States and Canada, in Session at Washington, President Coolidge uttered some plain truths which ought to be conveyed to every American parent. Among other things he said:

"There are too many indications that the functions of parent-hood are breaking down. Too many people are neglecting the real well being of their children, shifting the responsibility for their actions, and turning over supervision of their discipline and conduct to the juvenile courts.

"The home is the corner-stone of the nation, and any effective better-homes movement must begin with the training of the youth for those responsibilities, or we shall see the disposition to attempt in some way to turn over to the Government the responsibilities for the rearing of children constantly increased.

"What the youth of the country need is not more public control through governmental action, but more home control through parental action."

The President praised the Y. M. C. A. as one of the agencies that seek to keep present day youth with its feet on the ground. He said:

"This movement has brought into existence and organized one of the greatest lay forces the world has ever seen. One of the chief characteristics of Christianity is that it is a militant and crusading faith."

"Those who have become partakers of its inspirations and its consolations, since it first began its early march over the hostile territory of the Roman Empire, have been constantly spreading its truths among all their associates. If that faith is to maintain its vitality that work must go on."

"It is not enough that there should be action in the pulpits. There must be reaction in the pews. It will not be sufficient to have exalted preaching by the clergy unless there is exalted living by the laity. Your Christian associations represent a practical effort to organize and argument in every field the lay forces and to translate the truths of religion into the life of the people."

Religion will do much more for the child than the state can possibly do. But, after all, the parents have the responsibility and the opportunity to make the future of the child great or small in fame, wealth and usefulness.

The parent can do what neither church, state nor any other organization can do.

"Language" of Ants

Ants communicate to one another by crossing antennae.

A USEFUL PRINCE

At last England seems to have discovered some use for a prince—something worth while in an heir-apparent.

The Prince of Wales is back in England, and orders for English goods are reported to be pouring in from all parts of the world visited by him. "The greatest salesman England ever had," is the way some of the London press is praising him, and he seems to enjoy this "tradesman's notoriety," as the duchesses would have said with curled lips and distended nostrils only a few years ago. But duchesses are not prosperous now as they were before the war, so this "tradesman" stuff isn't so flimsy for satirical lip curling as once it was, and some of the duchesses of the "ancient regime" seem quite titillated because of the income that flows after the "tradesman" and even a prince can be called a "salesman" and appear to like it!

Verily there is yet hope for England.

THE PATENT LAW

The patent law as it stands works many a hardship on the public; deprives the people of many a useful invention, and retards the business development of very many lines, when it should not be so.

For instance, there are radio patents which have been granted for a year or more, and because they would make obsolete many of the sets now in use, and destroy the commercial value of a large amount of manufactured things, the patents are being pigeon-holed, and the things patented are not being used or put on the market. That results from the fact that a very few people control the manufacture of radio sets, and these same interests have secured control of the patents.

The next congress should pass a law that any patent issued should be issued on the condition of its immediate utilization. Any patent that has not been put on the market for the benefit of the people within one year should be declared void, and the invention made available for anybody who wanted to use it.

Such a law would greatly speed up manufacture of patented articles, and would give the public the benefit of very many labor-saving devices now patented and pigeon-holed, because the things manufactured, which would be replaced by the new inventions, are in the hands of trusts, which also control the patent rights to the new inventions, and keep them out of the hands of other manufacturers who would put them on the market, and in the hands of the public.

IS TALK CHEAP?

There is an old, old saying that "talk is cheap." The comptroller of the American Telephone & Telegraph company, testifying in Washington, in the inquiry into the radio trust, stated that the assets of the company were nearly two billions of dollars. He also was called on to recite some of the companies in the electrical trade, controlled by the A. T. & T., and his testimony shows that the company has the situation so sewed up that a burglar couldn't enter with all the jimmies in the world. Talk about talk being cheap—

CURE FOR ASTHMA

Professor Kasoul of the Russian Society of Therapeutics, announces that he has discovered a complete cure for bronchial asthma.

If he has and proves it, Red Russia will get credit for one thing worth while that has come out of socialism. But the world will look on it with suspicion that it is mere communist propaganda.

STOCK GAMBLING PROFITS

The New York Stock Exchange has added twenty-five additional seats to the representation on its membership roll. This was done because the price of seats had reached such a high peak, and the demand for them was so great that the exchange members thought the exchange itself might take a profit now, while the seat market is high. It shows that the gambling spirit is in no wise subdued, and that professional gambling pays.

The business farmer knows that good fences not only protect his crops --but enables him to rotate his pastures so he saves dollars in feed for every head of stock he raises. The non-business farmer, with short sighted economy, says "I can't afford fencing," when he is really paying more than the price of the fencing in reduced crops alone.

BREVITIES.

SALINE—George V. Cook has resigned his position with the government prohibition forces in Detroit and is enjoying a rest at his home here. Observer.

SOUTH LYON—W. A. Wootley of Rushon reports having harvested a record crop of potatoes this year. Six acres of ground yielded 1400 bushels. A portion of the six acres grew 284 bushels of potatoes to the acre. Herald.

ANN ARBOR—According to an announcement by J. E. Maddy, supervisor of public school music, Ann Arbor's high school band again has been organized. An attempt was made this fall to have the band meet during school hours as a regular subject but pressure of other studies made this project impossible.

BRIGHTON—Several of our citizens have had to do without their morning breakfast lately. The reason is that someone has been helping themselves to ketchup the night. Those who wish to save their milk from these petty thieves had better wake warning and bring it in at night. Argus.

SALINE—The paving project is again held up. The regular weekly rains so handicapped the workmen that only a small amount of concrete could be poured. The part in town is nearly completed, but a long stretch remains to be laid to connect the two eastern strips, where work was discontinued last summer. Observer.

HOWELL—At a special election of the city of Howell, held Friday, October 23, the proposition to bond in the sum of $13,000 for the purpose of purchasing Walker's Grove, carried by a very large majority. More than half the registered voters of the Howell precincts were out to express their wish on the subject in ballot form.

JACKSON—The Jackson Tribune, a semi-weekly newspaper, just started by John Allen, Deway, French, Albert Horton, Florence, Brooke, Phil Hammond, G. Douglas, W. H. Jenkins and J. Rutherford, all old employees of the Jackson News, has made its appearance with evidence of good patronage. The Tribune also announces that it will meet the demand for a morning daily in Jackson if subscribers will volunteer in any reasonable numbers.

PINCKNEY—Contract has been awarded for the construction of a new bridge to replace the present one on the Pinckney and Dexter roads between the two Portage lakes. The new bridge will be of reinforced concrete construction fifty feet long and with a 24 foot roadway. It will be on the level of the highway. A temporary wooden bridge will be built first so that traffic will not be interrupted, and work will begin at once. Dispatch.

POWELLVILLE—Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hoag, in Conway, were awakened about four o'clock one morning last week by the smell of smoke and discovered that in some mysterious manner the garments on a couch about 10 feet from the stove had taken fire and three quilts, two pairs of pillows, six couch pillows and some flannel sheets, hats and coats were partially consumed. There was no fire in the stove and the origin of the fire is a mystery. Review.

STOCKBRIDGE—The teachers and pupils were very much surprised Tuesday when J. B. Edmondson of the University of Michigan stepped in for the purpose of inspecting the schools. Everywhere he went he found things as if he were expected, and finally ended his tour with nothing but praise with the work. Before leaving, he assured Mr. Haight that the school would be retained on the University list, and although the inspector found everything on the inside of the building in fine shape, he said little in praise of the school building itself. Much of the credit belongs to our instructors who have worked so hard to get the schools up to where they belong. Brief Sun.

DEXTER—A large number of the members and friends of the Methodist church, together with Dr. Martin, the new District Superintendent of this District, met at the parsonage, Friday evening, October 23, with Honorable Royal S. Copeland and Miss Copeland as guests of honor. Senator Copeland was asked to outline his ideas for a new Methodist church in Dexter, and also tell of his recent trip through New England, which he did in his characteristic manner. He spoke of the churches throughout the Eastern States being low, Colonial type, and thought that such a style architecture was most fitting for Dexter. He said that Dexter was on an equality with any of the beautiful villages of the Berkshires, with its broad streets, wide lawns and white houses. Upon the suggestion of Senator Copeland, the plan for a church of the Colonial

CHEVROLET CHASSIS USED BY MILITARY

The latest addition to the Army transportation service is the Chevrolet trans-continental auto car.

The machine as used by the Military is the regular Chevrolet chassis without the passenger top and body. It is fitted with low, cushioned seats. The fenders and running board are the same as are used on the passenger cars of the Chevrolet line. The car carries front and rear bumpers and the wheels are of the steel disc type.

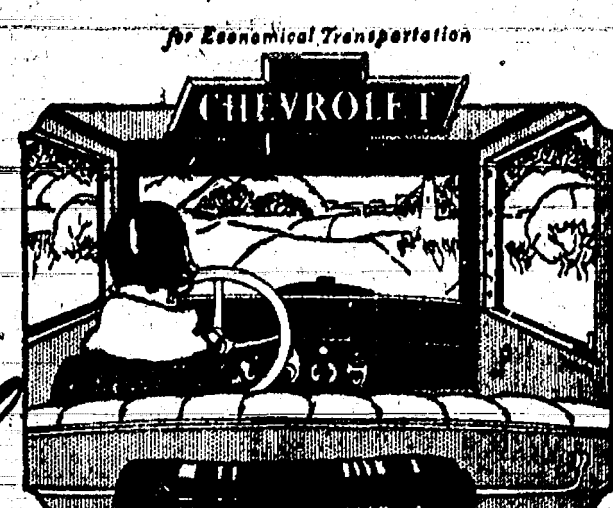

The Chevrolet Army car is used principally for the rapid conveyance of officers during maneuvers of other military operations. The combination of balloon tires, light, stripped chassis and powerful engine enables it to leave the roads and travel over rough country. Attached to the top of the rear fenders are metal hand rails which the occupants of the back seats may grasp when the going is bad.

General John A. Lejeune, commander of the United States Marine Corps, used one of the Chevrolet Army cars recently while inspecting a sham battle staged by the "Devil Dogs" at Camp Meade, Md. He was accompanied by Generals Poland and Williams and Colonel O. S. Enbridge. The latter drove the car during the maneuvers.

Doors and windows fit and stay tight to keep out wind and water. Rain or snow cannot penetrate the Fisher V-V one-piece windshield which gives you perfect vision and ventilation. Long semi-elliptic springs and balloon tires take the jars out of frozen roads.

Yet you get all this in the world's lowest-priced Fisher Body Coach.

Let us show you the quality features of this fine closed car and explain how easy it is for you to own one this winter.

New Styles of UMBRELLAS

Every store sells umbrellas but there is such a difference in umbrellas. Some look as though they were just made to keep off the rain while it is a pleasure just to carry one that is distinctive and good looking. Ours are made by the largest manufacturer in America. And the mere fact that they are the largest makers proves that their product necessarily must be superior or they could not sell the quantity to the best retailers. This manufacturer weaves all the silks used in these umbrellas. Most other makers buy the silks.

Colors are navy, purple, black, pink, brown, green, red and some blacks. The new umbrellas have tips and ferrules to match or contrast with the silks. Handles are very short and stubby of celluloid in various colors with and without carrying cords and straps. Silk umbrellas are $4.00, $5.00, $6.00, $7.50, $9.00 and $10. Rainproof-cotton umbrellas, that are good looking, at $1.50 up.

Life is a Funny Proposition

Man comes into this world without his consent and leaves it against his will.

During his stay on earth his time is spent in one continuous round of contraries and misunderstandings.

In his infancy he is an angel. In his boyhood he is a devil. In his manhood he is everything from a lizard up. If he raises a family he is a chump. If he doesn't raise a family he is too selfish. If he raises a check he is a crook. If he is a poor man he is a bad manager and has no sense. If he is rich he is smart but dishonest. If he is in politics he is a grafter. If he is not in politics he is an undesirable citizen. If he goes to church he is a hypocrite. If he doesn't he is a sinner. If he gives to charity, it is for show. If he doesn't he is a tightwad.

When he first comes into the world everyone wants to kiss him. Before he leaves the world everyone wants to kick him.

If he dies young there was a great future before him. If he lives to a ripe old age, he is in the way.

PERSONAL AND LOCAL
Rev. and Mrs. C. S. Risley are entertaining members of the official board of the Methodist church, and their wives, at a regular meeting of the first quarterly conference this evening. Dr. Martin, district superintendent, and Mrs. Martin, of Ann Arbor, will be in attendance.

The Fellowship club of the Methodist church will hold their next meeting at the church on Tuesday evening, November 10, at 7 p. m. Ladies' Night will be observed with a scrub lunch supper and program during which there will be music by the high school orchestra, old fashioned singing, solos, readings, and a story telling hour. Chairman program committee.

Mr. Fred Stafford, painter, Chelsea, and Miss Alice May Griswold, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Griswold, west of Chelsea, were united in marriage at the home of the bride's parents on Saturday evening, October 31; Rev. C. S. Risley performing the ring ceremony. The contracting couple were attended by Geo. H. Griswold, Jr., as best man and Miss Ethel L. Aldrich, bridesmaid.

A fair sized audience greeted Mildred Bass Anderson, impersonator, upon her appearance at the Town Hall Wednesday evening, presenting "Cousin Kate", a three-act comedy, under auspices of Olive Chapter, No. 108, O. E. S. Miss Anderson is a graduate of the Leland Powers College of Boston and has been trained by some of the best interpreters in the country, the result of such training being apparent throughout her program.

To the tune of old time melodies played by Fred Gentner's three-piece orchestra, Kiwanians, their ladies and teachers of the public schools, guests of the club, danced the old time square and round dances at Macenee hall on Monday evening. The dance followed a supper of chicken and all the trimmings, an address by Prof. John H. Mayskens of the University of Michigan, and other program numbers, all of which took on the form of a Halloween party.

IN MEMORIAM
In sad but loving memory of our dear son, Norman G. Trinkley, who died suddenly one year ago November 1, 1924:
Peaceful be thy rest dear Norman,
Thy sweet to breathe thy name,
In life we move ever dear,
In death we are all the same,
The flowers we lay upon your grave may wither and decay,
But the love within our hearts
Dear Norman, will always stay.
Gone is the face we loved so dear,
Silent the voice we loved to hear,
But still we will wonder,
Why the best are always first to die.
Sadly missed by Father and mother, sisters Edna and Jenn.

CONGREGATIONAL

E. L. Sutherland, Minister
Sunday, November 8th
The theme for our morning worship is "Powers," for the evening, "Watch."

If ever there were times when we need to watch our Powers, and to Watch all that is for our good, I am thinking it is now. I think to improve our methods of watching, we ought to make searching the Scriptures our first morning business to understand some part of the Bible clearly and make it our daily business to obey it in all that we do, undisturbed, for it is the one Book wherein, for thousands of years, the spirit of man has found light and nourishment, and the response to whatever was deepest in his heart.

As a minister of the Gospel I plead with the people of Chelsea and every where to take all of this book upon reason that you can and the balance by faith, and you will live and die better men and women. Almost every man who has by his life work added to the sum of human achievement, of which the race is proud, of which the people are proud, almost every such man has based his life work largely upon the teachings of the Bible. Go therefore and search the Scripture daily. The Sunday school is a natural place upon which the parents many responsibilities, one being to bring, not to send, the children. There is, therefore, in our Sunday school, a class for every adult, the ministry of which can go only so far as it is accepted by regular attendance and active interest extending to all children's departments. Come next Sunday and plan for every Sunday.

METHODIST EPISCOPAL

Rev. C. S. Risley, pastor.
A very good attendance at the services Sunday! We hope that others will come next Sunday. Our theme, "Moral Jungle and Spiritual Tangle" should attract our attention.
Was the world ever so disturbed as now? The words of our mouth and heart are full of evil. The sermon-lecture, "A Woman's Wrongs" in the evening will be a little unusual. Who was the woman? We invite you to our services if you have time, at 8 o'clock. All of our young folks are invited. Our Sunday school, 9:00 a. m. to 11:00 a. m.

Epworth League services at 8 o'clock. All of our young folks are invited. Our Sunday school, 9:00 a. m. to 11:00 a. m.
