RADIO TO GUIDE SHIPS

Senator William Marconi, inventor of the wireless telegraph, "father of radio" has invented a radio device that will warn ships at sea, in all kinds of weather, fog or otherwise.
This device, tried out for a year in the English Channel is said to have worked perfectly. It is predicted that the general use of this warning will prevent disaster at sea such as has been caused in the past by heavy fog and inability of ship's lookouts to see lighthouse signals.

ENGLAND WAS DESPERATE

The letters of Walter Hines Page, ambassador from Washington to the Court of St. James, during the entire war period, which were written to President Wilson, and are now being printed in the newspapers, reveal the inside of conditions when America entered the World war.

Ambassador Page tells of the urgent need for money, by England, France and all the allies, in 1917.
Furthermore, he says that American money that bought munitions, supplies and the like was one of the greatest contributing factors in winning the war.

Let us hope that some of the English sneerers most want to attempt to belittle our efforts in the war, and to snarl at our demands for payment of money loaned, will read these letters and get some inside facts in regard to the case.

As we have remarked before, America was the deciding factor in the war. American men and American money won the war, and the American people are entitled to their share of the credit, and to repayment of their loans on that basis.

INDIAN GUIDE SUES

Kied Bauvais, Indian guide, who served Mrs. Anna U. Stillman in Canada and who was made co-responsible in the action of James Stillman, to prove that Guy, the young son of the Stillmans, was the illegitimate son of the guide, rather than his own son, has filed suit for $7,621. He claims the Stillmans still owe him that for doing.

This represents but a short season's work as guide. According to these figures, it would be well for those visiting Canada to consider well the policy of allowing their conscience to be their guides. Indians come too high.

OIL-ELECTRIC CAR

The Canadian National Railways system is experimenting with a new type of oil-electric car, which, on a trial run from Montreal to Vancouver developed great speed, and showed power to spare. The run of 2,937 miles was made in the record time of 67 hours.

At one point the car covered 22 miles in less than 22 minutes and one of the steepest roads in the Rocky Mountains was climbed at an average speed of 40 miles-an hour. The average speed for the entire trip was slightly under 43 1/2 miles an hour.

The engine burns fuel oil and in turn operates an electric generator which produces the energy by which the car is moved. The oil engine is the lightest of its kind in the world outside of aeronautical practice and with the generator is confined to a small space in one end of the car which has seating accommodations for 57 passengers.

TEET'S TOMB AGAIN

For a long time after Lord Carnarvon was bitten by an insect and died as a result, the Sarcophagus of King Tut-Ankh-Amen remained unopened.
Matters have been adjusted between the representatives of Carnarvon and the Egyptian government, and the tomb was reopened on October 12.

The lid of the first sarcophagus was lifted, showing another, on which lay linen coverings and bouquets.
These were removed, revealing a work of unexampled beauty.

This second sarcophagus bore an effigy of the god Osiris, embellished with multicolored pieces of glass.

The sarcophagus was covered with a thin layer of gold on a marble ground and adorned with the wings of the serpent goddess Buto and the vulture goddess Nechet. After this sarcophagus had been scientifically examined, it was removed from the first an extremely delicate operation, as the one fitted exactly inside the other, and the delicate ornamentation might easily be injured.

By October 22 it was possible to remove the cover from the second sarcophagus, disclosing a human-shaped coffin, covered with a linen shroud. Around the head and chest were a string of beads and flowers.
The face was uncovered and is believed to represent young King Tutankhamen himself.

After photographs were taken, the shroud, beads and flowers were removed, revealing a superb coffin of most artistic design, covered with gold ornaments. Unfortunately a large part of the coffin was marred by a shining black deposit, apparently some glutinous liquid poured over it at the time of burial.

The most important problem now is removal of the human-shaped coffin from the second sarcophagus which, in addition to fitting very closely, has adhered on account of this glutinous liquid.

THE DIFFERENCE

From far Siam comes the news that the king has "demoted his wife because she does not bear children for him."

In New York City they demote their wives if they do have babies.
One is oriental to the core. The other is occidental to the hollow.

WANT WARTIME WAGES

The big railway brotherhoods are planning to demand a raise of wages to war time levels, this winter. They were reduced by the Railway Labor Board during our period of "deflation."

The farmer, whose crops when he ships them, are eaten up by freight charges, will wonder just where he comes in on that deal.

DRYS WILL ACT

The Anti-Saloon League and other dry forces at a meeting in Chicago decided to take action to secure better law enforcement and to stem the tide that appears from the November election results, to be running toward the wets.

Leaders of the official and civilian dry forces of the nation have said they will study the situation, define the new goal of the league and prepare for the "hardest-fought and most significant battle it has ever entered, to make the bootlegger and the moonshiner as much of a national curiosity as a retail liquor dealer's license."

General Lincoln C. Andrews, official head of the dry forces as Assistant Secretary of the Treasury; A. J.
Volstead, father of the prohibition law; Adm'l Bullard, Commandant of the Coast Guard; Senator Sheppard of Texas, who introduced the resolution in Congress for the Eighteenth Amendment; George F. H. Yost of the University of Michigan, Federal Judge George W. McClintic of West Virginia and many other public officials, besides the leaders of the league and the W. C. T. U., are to be speakers through the five-day program of the convention.

DEAN INGE DOUBTS

Dean Inge of St. Paul's, London, is the latest to express doubts as to the infallibility of the Christian Bible.

The Dean said he could no longer believe that God, as represented in the Bible, was a torturer, or that the fires of hell should be taken literally.
He declared that the traditional doctrines of the Christian church must be recast. He rejected the infallibility of the Bible, and, finally, announced he could not picture a geographical heaven with a God sitting up in the sky.

The statement of the Dean has aroused some very hot comment on both sides of the Atlantic. He is being praised and condemned, accordingly as church men believe him right or wrong.

The belief that it would be impossible for a God who is all love and compassion to be a torturer, and to condemn sinners to an everlasting hell is gaining ground among the laity, and the present indications point to the coming of the time when such doctrine will not be taught in most Christian churches.

LONDON VANITY

The women of London like to display their—er—their ankles, and as much of the territory above as the bobbles will permit. They have been wearing spider-webbed, hosiery, low shoes, high heels, and a lot of other gaudy apparel. Consequently ankles swell and enlarge, and a new disease has developed—"ankle agony."

The prescriptions of London doctors are universally the same. "High shoes, thick sole and woolen heavy stockings."

We shall see whether the London women have the courage and the good sense to take the advice of the doctors after they have sought it and paid for it.

A State Experiment Station figures that hogs while on good pasture, make a saving in feed of one-half a cent a day, for each animal.

In other words, eighty head of hogs make a saving of 40c each day, or about the price of one rod of Woven Hog Wire, since a rod of wire costs 40c to 60c but saves in return two rods of barbed wire worth 10c.

Eighty head of hogs on range from the fore part of September till the last of November pay for some 80 to 100 rods of woven wire, in cost of feed saved. Often it is feed which would otherwise be lost. Always both the land and the hogs are benefitted by this method of feeding. You have the hogs, we have the woven wire. It costs you nothing, why not come and get what you need?

BREVITIES.

GREGORY—The officers for the ensuing year elected at the Iosco Sunday school rally were as follows: Pres., Rev. Milton Dressel; Gregory, vice president, Mr. Stowe of Iosco; secretary, Mrs. L. K. Hadley of Unadilla; treasurer, P. H. Swathout of Pinckney; child supt., Mrs. Dressel of Gregory; Y. P. supt., Mrs. Maycroft of Pinckney; adult and administrative, James Caskey of Plainfield.

DEXTER—A fire, which might have been serious, was discovered in the residence occupied by Charles Quinn, owned by John Knops, Friday, and fortunately was extinguished with but little damage except by water. The fire caught from a stove pipe, between the kitchen ceiling and the roof. There was no one at home at the time and the fire was discovered when neighbors noticed smoke issuing from the building.—Leader.

CLINTON—A monthly magazine has made its appearance in Tecumseh, devoted to the interests of the farmers in that vicinity. The name of the publication is "Hayden's Farmhouse Globe." Perry M. Hayden, being the editor and business manager. The first issue of the magazine was printed in the Local office and will undoubtedly, continue to be printed here if it does not grow beyond the facilities of the office.—Local.

MANCHESTER—One of the village ordinances provides that none shall solicit aid from our citizens without permission from a committee of the Common Council, but some still continue to do it. When a solicitor is asked if he has a license or permit he invariably takes his departure. It is well to ask strangers if they have a license, as they sometimes collect money which they use themselves.—Enterprise.

PINCKNEY—When Bert Hooker called at his mother's home in Petesville Sunday forenoon, he found her lying on the floor and in an exhausted condition. In some manner she had fallen Saturday evening, breaking a hip and had managed to crawl to the bed and draw quilts to her but was unable to get into the bed. She remained on the floor, helpless from early Saturday evening until nearly eleven o'clock Sunday forenoon. As Mrs. Hooker's age is nearly eighty, it is feared the accident will cause her very serious trouble.—Dispatch.

YPSILANTI—Decision to drop the head of the Ford dam three feet in case an agreement cannot be reached with U. S. Press Steel Co. for their property in Ypsilanti, and final settlement with Bert Young for property now in litigation in circuit court, is still all that remains to be accomplished before Ford Motor Co. will have all property required—and arrangements completed for erection of their plant south of the city, following agreement with James McHenry for property needed in Ypsilanti township.

WILLIAMSTON—The superintendent of the Williamson public schools, James Cotter, is in receipt of a letter from the Michigan Department of Public Instruction, reporting on a recent inspection of the local school situation, in which the department states that "your building situation is getting to be deplorable." The academic side of the school has been built up to a very high standard, the letter continues, "and this has been done in spite of the handicap of very poor building conditions."—Enterprise.

HOWELL—It is rapidly coming to a condition that all property along the Grand River is suburban to Detroit. H. R. Gillette sold for Jay Tooley, the owner, the Wm. Tooley, or later known as the Wilson-Tooley farm, in Genoa township, to William Allan of Detroit, this past week, for nearly $17,000. This is a little over $200 an acre which tops the best price heretofore paid for Livingston county farms, buildings considered. Mr. Gillette has also sold the R. C. Perkins farm in Howell township, to George Brent of Detroit, who is to take possession in the spring.—Republican.

HOWELL—Wm. Lavey, Howell's well known horseman, returned home last week from a six weeks racing circuit in southern Michigan, Ohio, and Indiana, with his trotting horse, St. Ruby. On the circuit he entered her in six fast races and won every one. Mr. Lavey is also the owner of a two-year-old that won second at the two year races at Saginaw earlier in the season and her future is of the most promising. Mr. Lavey understands at the opening of the racing season refused an offer of $1500 for St. Ruby. Surely her record of the past six weeks has greatly increased this price.—Democrat.

HOWELL—A warrant has been issued for the arrest of Hosen Gardner of Monroe, charging attempt to murder as a result of a shooting affair staged at the Cornish ranch in Hamburg township, on October 25. Two prominent Detroit men who were hunting on the place upon invitation of the owner, Mr. Cornish, claim they were pursued and shot at by Gardner and his companion who has not yet been located. Gardner is in the U. of M. hospital undergoing treatment for wounds received in the fracas, the Detroit men having returned fire in defending themselves. Gardner was arrested and brought here as soon as able to leave the hospital.—Democrat.

Measure of Distance
Mrs. M. C. O. writes: "I was under the impression that Elva's aunt lived in the same town with her. One day I asked the child about it. 'Oh, no,' was the answer, 'she doesn't live that close; she lives farther away from us.'"—Boston Transcript.

Red Kelley's Superstition

By G. P. WILSON

RED KELLEY had just started to tell about a telegram he had received, when the gong rang and he had to hurry away.

"I'll murder the old pill today," he said, as he left. "But dinner with me tonight and I'll tell you all about it." He certainly made good his threat. Rapped out two doubles and a single out of four times at the bat.

"That telegram I started to tell you about, done it," declared Red, emphatically. "Are you superstitious?" I admitted that I was.

"If you wasn't, there wouldn't be no use telling you about it," Red began. "Guess you remember when we was having all them fires at home last winter. People was afraid to sleep in a room above the second floor. The whole town's nerves was on edge."

"It was while this was going on that I went to the hospital. Old Doctor Green said I'd have to have my appendix cut out. My nurse was an awful pretty girl and a baseball fan. It wasn't long until me and her was just like old chums."

"There was a young doctor, an interne, that hung around my room a lot. He was crazy about Miss Jones. He seemed to be a nice enough fellow but I didn't like him and I told Miss Jones so. She wanted to know what my chief objection to him was."

"His mouth," I says. "When the corners of a fellow's mouth turn down, he's got a yellow streak."

"Doctor Green says he is one of the most promising young men he ever worked with."

"I don't care what he says. That bird's yellow and I'll bet money on it!" He asked me to marry him."

"He's lifting out the appendix now," she says.

"I'd had to look them I guess, but as she spoke there came a muffled explosion, like someone had shot off a cannon in the cellar. All of us looked around, scared, and a nurse from outside stuck her head in the door."

"Run for your lives," she shouted. The whole place is in flames."

"Everything was still for a minute like you've seen it sometimes at the ball park. I turned to Miss Jones. She was watching her friend, Doctor Burnes. His face had turned as white as a glass of milk. He was shaking like a leaf in a storm and was having trouble getting his breath. He glanced at the woman on the table, hesitated like he was trying to get his nerve back and then, dropping everything, he grabbed the nurse by the arm and dragged her from the room. He was so scared I guess he thought she was Miss Jones. Doctor Green watched him leave and began cursing him. Miss Jones picked up the can of ether and began giving it to the patient."

HEALTH OFFICERS TO ATTEND MEETING

Two thousand Michigan health officers and public health nurses have been invited to attend the Fifth Annual Conference of Health Officers and Public Health Nurses to be held in Lansing, November 18, 19 and 20, 1925. The Conference is held under the joint direction of the Michigan Department of Health and the Michigan Public Health Association.

Dr. George F. Dick of Chicago, discoverer of the toxin that causes the rash of scarlet fever, will be one of the main speakers, discussing the present status of scarlet fever control.

Diphtheria prevention will be the subject of a paper by Dr. Frederick Sears, District State Health Officer from Syracuse. A feature of this session will be the roll call of all Michigan health officers and public health nurses to find out how many Michigan children have been protected by toxin-antitoxin.

Dr. Clarence Cook Little, President of the University of Michigan, will be a guest of the Conference addressing an open evening session on November 18. Dr. Little's subject has not yet been announced.

Other speakers listed are Harrison P. Eddy of Boston, Dr. A. J. Chesley, Commissioner of Health, of Minnesota, Dr. George T. Palmer of New York City, Margaret Mackevrian of Johnston, Pennsylvania, Dr. Guy L. Kiefer of Detroit, Dr. Chalmers J. Lyons of Ann Arbor, Dr. Henry Taughan, Miss Alice Walker and Miss Mabel Uzzell of Detroit, and Dr. R. L. Kahn of Lansing.

FORD SETS NEW RECORDS
Two records for manufacture of motor cars in the United States were established by the Ford Motor Company with the close of October.

Saturday, the last day of the month, the company's domestic assembly plants produced a total of 9,109 Ford cars and trucks, exceeding Friday's record output of 9,017, and setting a new high mark for any one day.

The total production for October was 204,827 cars and trucks, which tops any previous month.

New daily production records were established all through the month as the domestic assembly plants came into production with the improved cars following the change from the former types.

SCHUMANN-HEINK TO SING AT HILL AUDITORIUM

Ernestine Schumann-Heink, reputed to be the world's greatest contralto, and without doubt the world's best loved musician, will upon the Concert Series in Hill Auditorium, Saturday evening, November 14th, when she will offer a recital of songs. Madame Schumann-Heink is one of Ann Arbor's greatest favorites, and has been heard here time and time again although not in recent years. Her recitals and Festival appearances have always attracted the enthusiastic commendation of critics and music lovers. During the world war and since she has been conspicuous for her services in connection with the American Legion. She has sung in most of the soldier camps, and the men of the Legion look upon her almost as a mother. The fact that the concert takes place on the evening of the football game with Ohio State University has made it possible for out of town visitors to enjoy two important events.

Fire, thought to have ignited from an overheated cookstove on Tuesday morning threatened to seriously damage a house on Taylor street, owned by Walter Elsemann and occupied by Harold Dee, a policeman of Ann Arbor, who moved into the residence last week. The fire, which was discovered by Mrs. Dee shortly after 7:30, had spread to woodwork of the kitchen and was rapidly gaining headway when Norman Elsemann, on his way to school, made a hasty and successful attack on the blaze with the aid of a few pails of water. When firemen arrived young Elsemann, a lad of about fourteen, had the fire completely extinguished.

Busy men now wear the strap watch

When your hours are crowded with activity, it's especially important to keep track of passing time. That's why so many busy men wear the strap watch.

Just a turn of the wrist, and the dial of your strap watch gives you the time—instantly.

For sports, of course, the strap watch is practically a necessity. But men are finding it equally convenient for general wear without a vest.

If you do not yet enjoy the strap watch habit just drop in and examine our latest models from well-known manufacturers, dressed in sturdy Wadsworth Cases.

KILLER GETS IN WORK ON HALF TAME DEER

Someone has killed the buck deer that has for several months delighted the residents of Norvell and Wampers lake locality. The dead animal was found Saturday by Ray Marr near the shore of Jordan lake, near his place east of Brooklyn. A doe and a fawn less seldom seen, have been in the locality, and are in apparent danger. The buck was brought from a northern park some time ago after the doe was discovered by L. Whitney Watkins. Many residents have seen the deer at frequent intervals and have tried to protect them.

The buck only a few weeks ago made habit of feeding with the cows and horses of C. J. Swartz on the Fred Knight place and would come up to the barnyard with them. The deer harmed no one, they have furnished a delightful glimpse of wild life to many and a feeling of disgust and almost pity goes out to the wanton killer.—Brooklyn Exponent.

Speaker's Handicap

Two countrymen homeward bound from the picnic were discussing the patriotic oration that had been the big event of the day. "Not such a bad speech," said one. "No," agreed the other. "Not so bad. But the speaker would have done better if he had worn a celluloid collar. He couldn't melt it down."

Deductive Reasoning

"I wonder who invented the radio?" asked Bobby. It was a deep question for Benny to answer, but he is the kind of boy who believes in taking a shot at anything. He doesn't believe in ever admitting that he is stumped so he replied promptly: "I don't remember his name exactly, but it was some guy who had to come in early."

Advertiser's Decalogue

The ten commandments of advertising were drawn up by an American some years ago. Here they are: "Be human. Be interesting. Be easy to understand. Be easy to read. Be humorous, when you can. Be unusual.
Be unexpected. Be tempting. Be subtle. Be positive."—Edinburgh Weekly Scotsman.

Origin of Arabian Horse Never Traced

The early history of the Arabian horse is shrouded in that impenetrable veil beyond which investigators have been unable to discover a satisfactory path to knowledge.
Recognizing the thoroughbred as a fixed type of highest quality, resulting from painstaking and careful mating to obtain particular results, many students are agreed that the Arabian might have been originated and perpetuated in the same way, says the National Geographic Magazine.
On the other hand, the Arabian and the Barb of northern Africa are so alike, and yet so distinct in every possible way from the ancient horses of the steppes and of the European areas, that admirers of the Arabian and Barb are unwilling to assign them to any but a distinct classification of their own.
There have been many hundreds of books written on the horse. A lifetime devoted to the study has brought the conviction that a large majority of these writings, as far as examined by me, contained little original matter, and that those which may be regarded as authoritative must be considered in the broad light of recorded history and of scientific discoveries in order to assign a correct value to their conclusions.
The preponderance of evidence favors the belief that the Arabian horses were obtained through Egypt, from Libyan tribes of northern Africa, and that by long and careful mating the superior type of Arabian horse has been maintained through many centuries.

GAS RADIATORS

"Take the edge off" Autumn Mornings Gas radiators are independent heaters, lighted and controlled separately in each room where you need a little warmth, morning or evening. There are gas radiators for hot air, hot water and steam heat. Also the new

COMBINATION GAS RADIATORS
These are attached to and become part of your regular steam or hot water system, yet may be heated up separately by gas when you just want warmth in certain rooms without the bother of starting up the whole heating plant. A great fuel and money saving arrangement for Fall heating.

ORDERS FOR INSTALLATIONS of any gas heating radiators should be placed at once as this is our busiest installation season and we don't want to keep you waiting with cold weather almost here. Come in or phone today.

Chinese Led in Canals

It is said the Chinese understood canal-building at a very early period. They are believed to have been the first to invent locks to raise vessels from one water level to another. Evidently canal locks were in operation in China at least 1,000 years before the Christian era. In Europe there is doubt whether it was the Dutch or the Italians who first used locks on canals.

Great Spiders of Florida

Doctor Guder says that in Florida the spider known as nephila plumipes is found, the female of which has been known to measure an extreme height of four and a quarter inches. The web of this nephila is golden yellow, very brilliant and beautiful. Its stays and guys extend over a diameter of five or six feet or upward, with a closely orb-woven center three or four feet across.

Uncultured

An uncultured man is one who can't insult anybody without being rude about it.—Baltimore Sun.

Freddy Scored One

Bobby and Freddy were discussing the relative prowess of their two big brothers. Said Bobby: "My brother rows stroke on his college crew. I suppose you didn't know that?" Freddy was not much impressed. He replied promptly: "What of it? My brother is too big to get into the boat. I suppose you didn't know that?"

Height of Economy

Two wives who lived next door were talking things over. "Does your husband ever get an economical streak?" asked one. "Does he?" replied the other. "He has one right now." "And what does he do?" came the next question. "What does he do?" was the reply. "I'll tell you what he does. He won't let me speak to him. That's what he does."

Becher Echo

It is impossible to indulge in habitual severity of opinion upon our fellow men without injuring the tenderness and delicacy of our own feelings.—Henry Ward Beecher.

Money Moons

Money, money, money, money, money—why shouldn't we be interested in it. It's the one thing we all are in business for. However, we don't like to link up with it, by sentimentality, all that the Thanksgiving season means, so we're going to leave the Pilgrim and his wife out of this—

AND TALK BUSINESS—

Harvest moons are money moons. The seasons have changed. The last of the summer lethargy has sweltered its life away, and the chill in the air is making people feel like doing things—buying things. People are coming indoors to live—to spend their evenings—to stage their social activities. Homes must be bright, and warm, and comfortable.

Your house must be well lighted—we have what you want in lamps, different shades and sizes in the frosted, also clear lamps. We have a neat small table lamp with hand painted shade that is inexpensive—also all kinds of electrical appliances including electrical mangle.
