DEATH CLOSES EMINENT CAREER OF MICHAEL J. NOYES

Prominent Pioneer Citizen Passes Away at 80 Main Street Home Friday Evening.

Hon. Michael J. Noyes passed away at his home on South Main street, about 11:30 o'clock Friday evening, November 13, 1925, following an illness of several weeks' duration.

Mr. Noyes had been a resident of Chelsea since 1867 and had resided in the present home ever since—he and Mrs. Noyes located here. He was born in Washington, Macomb county, Michigan, May 23, 1838. In 1869 he went to Washington and assisted in surveying the territory which at that period was U. S. government property. Upon completion of the survey, he spent a few years as a mining engineer at a silver mine in Nevada.

In 1862, he fought on the staff of Brig. Gen. Wells, holding the rank of major, during the Indian campaign. Mr. Noyes and the late George P. Glazier formed a co-partnership and engaged in the drug and banking business in 1868. The business was located at the corner of Main and Middle streets. Mr. Noyes retired from the firm in 1871. After his retirement he conducted the operation of his 400-acre farm which was located in Sylvan and Lima townships. In this connection he also continued his profession as a surveying engineer, and many of the lines between the numerous farms in this vicinity and the boundaries of lots in Chelsea were established by him.

He was united in marriage with Miss Frances C. Bates of New Haven, Mich., in 1868. Mr. and Mrs. Noyes celebrated the 50th anniversary of their marriage in 1918.

Mr. Noyes was a staunch republican and at various times served in public offices in Sylvan, at one time as supervisor, justice of the peace, and other minor offices. He served as a representative in the state legislature during 1873-74, under the administration of Gov. J. J. Bagley. He was a Past Master of Olive Lodge, No. 166, F. & A. M., of which he was a charter member. Also a member of Olive Chapter, 140, R. A. M., and of the Ann Arbor Commandery Knights Templar.

Besides the widow, he is survived by four daughters, Mrs. J. H. Osborne of Omaha, Nebraska, Mrs. J. J. Haas of Detroit, Mrs. S. G. Bush of Chelsea, Mrs. R. H. Holmes of Battle Creek; four grandsons, and one great granddaughter.

The funeral was held at the family home at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon, Nov. 15, at St. Mary's church, conducted by the Rev. C. S. Riley, pastor of the Chelsea M. E. church, conducting the services. The Masonic Order conducted their service at the grave in Oak Grove cemetery.

Out of respect to the memory of a former business associate, business houses of Chelsea closed during funeral services for the deceased.

LIQUOR FOUND IN CAR AFTER MEN ARE ARRESTED

Saturday afternoon as Warren Whipple, who resides with his brother, E. J. Whipple, accompanied by his nephew, Ray Whipple, of Ann Arbor, were driving from Ann Arbor to Chelsea, they were crowded off the road by a drunken auto driver, who also caused several other machines to partially leave the highway to avoid being struck as the drunken driver attempted to pass them.

Mr. Whipple, after arriving in Chelsea, turned around and followed the car to Sylvan Center, where he found the driver had gone into the ditch just west of the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Boyd. Mr. Whipple left his nephew to watch the driver and his companion, and he returned to Chelsea and notified Constable F. A. Leach, who returned to the scene with him, where the two men, after a short attempt to resist the officer, were arrested and taken to the county jail at Ann Arbor.

As Officer Leach approached the two drunken men they threw two bottles from the car. Both were quart containers, one of which was full and the other about half-filled. The men claimed that their home was in Virginia, and that they were employed in the Ford plant at Highland Park. The car bore a Michigan license. They were fined $40 by justice in Ann Arbor.

BISHOP M. J. GALLAGHER OF DETROIT DEDICATES SCHOOL

Formal Opening of St. Mary's School and Herbert J. McKune Memorial Auditorium Held Sunday Afternoon.

Stressing the need and the importance of religious education in conjunction with secular studies, Bishop Michael J. Gallagher, of the Detroit diocese, addressed an audience in Herbert J. McKune memorial auditorium on Sunday afternoon following dedication of the new school building and auditorium. Bishop Gallagher lauded the successful efforts of both the pastor of St. Mary's parish, Rev. Fr. T. J. Fallon, and members of his parish who have worked together faithfully in the completion of a new educational center for the local parish.

Preceding the bishop in the dedication program Rev. Fr. John Command, of St. Thomas church, Ann Arbor, delivered an eloquent address in which he also congratulated Chelsea Catholics on their progressiveness and successful conclusion of such a building program as that involving the school and auditorium. Rev. Fr. Command emphasized the importance of religious instruction first, with secular education receiving a secondary consideration in affairs of the church.

The two addresses which were delivered in the new auditorium, followed formal dedication services in the corridors of the school proper. The orchestra of St. Mary's school contributed to the pleasure of the program with musical selections well rendered.

Coming at the close of a stormy day during which an intense blizzard raged throughout this section, the dedication services were attended by only a fair crowd. Almost impassable roads prevented a major portion of country folks from attending and a still greater number of town folks were unwilling to brave the rigors of the weather.

However, a number of out of town folks were present, as well as a number of visiting priests, among whom were Monsignor Doyle, of Detroit, who accompanied Bishop Gallagher; Fr. John Command, Fr. George and Fr. Burke, of Ann Arbor; Fr. Lockwood, of Jackson; Fr. Peck, of Northfield; Fr. Burnell, St. Louis; and Fr. McQuillan, of Pinckney.

With the new building completed and dedication services past, St. Mary's parish is making preparations for a varied program of activities for the winter, chief of which will be the annual fair and chicken supper to be held next week.

CHARLES TAMPLIN KILLED WHEN KICKED BY COLT

Charles Tamplin of Lima, met almost instant death about 11 o'clock Saturday forenoon. The accident occurred near the home of A. V. Hatt of Sylvan. Mr. Tamplin was leading a four-year-old colt, and had quite a long leading line attached to the halter. The animal apparently ran ahead of Mr. Tamplin and kicked, the blow landing on his stomach, which caused his death two or three minutes later.

Charles Herbert Tamplin, the son of Hilbert Jewett and Mary Ellen Reese Tamplin, was born in Logan county, Ohio, near Bellefontaine, September 17, 1870, and departed this life November 14, 1925, at the age of 55 years, 2 months. Charles was the 6th child of a family of 7, 4 girls and 3 boys. Father, mother and four sisters preceded him to the spirit world.

January 21, 1894, he was united in marriage to Nettie Malone of Columbia City, Indiana, at which place he made his home for a number of years. Later he moved to Detroit, residing there 19 years, coming to his present home three years ago, near Chelsea.

To this union was born two children, Helen Tamplin Apel of Detroit, and one son, James Tamplin, residing at home.

There remain to mourn their loss, his wife and son James, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Apel and son Robert and daughter Beverly, all of Detroit, two brothers, William and James Tamplin of DeGraff, Ohio, besides a host of relatives and friends.

Charles was a faithful member of the Preston Methodist church of Detroit, which services he always enjoyed.

He was a kind loving husband and father, always enjoying the presence of his family and friends.

To know him more meant to love him better. Charles will be sadly missed by his family and neighbors, and a host of friends and neighbors.

A very happy day was spent with his family and friends at the Tamplin reunion held at the home of James Tamplin near DeGraff, Ohio, on August 30, 1925.

In the hour of sorrow let us look to our Heavenly Father and say not "My will be done, by thine, Oh Lord." May pleasant memories of him be the source of comfort to us to live with him, and may we meet him in a better world where all tears are wiped away and where no parting and never more.

He cannot say and will not say "I am dead." He is only away. With a cheery smile and a wave of the hand,

ENOUGH COAL!

President Coolidge asked John Hays Hammond, head of the commission that was set to the task of ascertaining the available coal supply above ground, to state just how the supply stands now. Hammond reports that there is enough coal for two months more. He is also enthusiastic about the use of substitutes for anthracite. Mr. Hammond reported to the President that the New England states, where the strike leaders had banked on demands for anthracite which would force Federal intervention, were getting along "very well" with bituminous coal and other fuel substitutes, and that there would be no hardship in that section.

"The strike," he said, "has opened the eyes of the people of New England to the fact that they can get along without high-priced anthracite coal. In my opinion there never will be a universal return to the use of hard coal. The New England states got busy early in the year preparing for the expected shortage. They appointed commissions to teach the people how to use substitutes and bituminous.

"The result will be that the Northeastern states will be able to save $70,000,000 annually through the use of cheaper fuel."

Mr. Hammond said he was convinced that no Federal action was necessary and that the situation would work itself out. Even if the strike should not be settled for months, he could see no prospect of pressure, born of necessity which would be sufficient to bring about Federal intervention.

Mr. Hammond urged that the people continue to lay in supplies of bituminous and substitutes. The only danger in the situation he could see was the prospect of profiteering in bituminous. This could be prevented, he said, by intelligent handling. In each state and city he urged, committees should be appointed to protect the people against abnormal price increases.

"It would be possible for these committees to buy run of mine coal direct from operators," said Mr. Hammond, "and sell it direct to local consumers. The supply of anthracite coal will be exhausted by January 1, and state and municipal committees should organize early to prevent profiteering."

Let us hope that John Hays Hammond knows what he is talking about and that the country will get through the winter without serious suffering.

IT IS NOT ENOUGH

The House Ways and Means Committee, working on tax reductions, has thrown a small sop to those who buy automobiles, in the shape of a two per cent reduction in the excise tax. The tax is now five per cent. The committee would make it three per cent.

This much of a concession is an acknowledgment of the wrong in the tax. The people of this country will not be satisfied with any such compromise. The whole tax is wrong, and an unjust charge on the people who buy and own automobiles. The whole tax must come off if the people are to be satisfied.

MUNICIPAL HOMES

Samuel Untermyer of New York has submitted a proposal for the municipality of the Greater City to finance and build 100,000 new homes for the people, needing them; so that the population may be properly housed and may escape the profiteering landlords. A laudable proposal.

WILSON FUND FAILURE

A Winslow Lowell, a professional promoter conceived the idea of collecting $5,000,000 off the American people "to found a university in honor of Woodrow Wilson and his service to humanity."

The scheme collapsed. Lowell admits that the idea was his own, and strictly a promotion proposition out of which he was to receive the lion's share for his work as promoter. It had no backing whatever excepting his own ambition to collect $5,000,000 from the American people, take a large slice of it for expenses and promotion, and let Nature take her course.

Such schemes as these, to play on the emotions of the people and extract money by schemers are a disgrace to the American people—and the percentage that is put over by these wise johnnies is surprising.

No scheme should be permitted unless it is backed by some substantial organization with the ability to put it over and the integrity to handle the money honestly and for the purpose for which it is subscribed, and no other.

DID YOU SAY CANNIBALS?

The New York City newspapers on Sunday carried under big headlines a story from Newcastle, Australia, to the effect a region larger than the state of Texas in Northwestern Australia, is dominated by cannibals.

Why should that be a big news story in New York City where the dry-land lobsters feed continually on the deep-sea lobsters?

SELLING PISTOLS

There is concerted action throughout the United States, in an effort to induce congress to pass a law preventing the sale of pistols.

Most of the states—perhaps all of them have laws against carrying pistols, and many of them have laws regulating the carrying of them. (As we have said before, we are seriously in doubt if any conviction of any man carrying a pistol could be made to stick if the case were carried to the United States Supreme Court, and passed on by that tribunal. The rights of the people to bear arms, is so plainly reserved to the people by the constitution, that it is not believable the supreme court of the United States could render any other decision than that all such laws are unconstitutional.)

To argue that the control of the sale of firearms by congress, or the shipping of firearms in this country would lessen crime is the silliest sort of rot. The only effect the law against the sale of pistols or the carrying of them has ever been in the past, is to stimulate crime. The lawless will have no hesitancy in breaking the law to buy and to carry pistols. It will make them all the bolder to know that the law-abiding man is unarmed, therefore defenseless against a robber with a gun.

What ought to be done is to remove all barriers that would prevent the citizen from arming, and give the law-abiding citizen at least as much of a chance as the lawless robber has.

The best preventative of crime, is to put every citizen on a basis of self defense, so that he may repel the hold-up man, the burglar and the highway robber.

ITALY AGREES

We have undertaken the burdens, or at least a part of the burdens of another European nation. We made Italy an offer of settlement of her debts to us for $2,407,000,000. Italy has accepted. They pay $5,000,000 a year for five years, then pay $30,000,000. The whole of the debt is to be wiped out in sixty-two years.

By this settlement the United States is supposed to collect $1,648,000,000 loaned to Italy in her time of dire distress. The United States borrowed the money from the American people to lend to Italy. That country pays 4 1/2 per cent interest from the time the loan was made; to the present, bringing the amount up to the figures in the final settlement. The United States government pays out of your pocket and mine, in the form of taxes collected from all of us on automobiles, amusement taxes, and has collected on our telephone and telegraph bills and cigar bills, the money to pay this interest.

Now, Italy has 62 years to pay her debt, and she is to pay a ridiculous interest rate of one-eighth of one per cent for ten years, then one-half of one per cent for ten years, then three-fourths of one per cent for three years, one per cent for the next ten years, then two per cent, averaging for the period less than one per cent interest. In the meantime the American people will continue to dig down into their own pockets to pay the 4 1/2 per cent that our government pays for the loans from the American people, which was borrowed for Italy.

ed for Italy.
The United States will go down in history as the greatest sucker government in all time.

TO BAR GERMAN LOANS

Attorneys and other interested parties are calling on Secretary Kellogg to issue a ban on lending money to German cities, or regional governments. They make complaint that many German cities that have borrowed American money are not paying the interest on such loans.

We have warned for a long time against European investments on the part of the American public. Some of the great financial institutions of our country have underwritten large loans in Europe, then have advertised the so-called "investments" in this country, getting the public to invest. The big banks have passed these "investments" down to small banks to be unloaded on the unwary investor. Much of that money will be lost.

As we have often said, there is no more than enough money in America for American commerce, industry and transportation. We need here every dollar we have. An investment in the securities of any honestly managed American enterprise is much safer than an investment in any European government security.

Most American enterprises of whatever character that fail, do fail because of a lack of capital. The policy of keeping our money at home would not only build up, but would save many American enterprises which would add a profit and prosperity to the communities in which they are located, and would create business, which would add to the comfort, the prosperity and the benefit of the investors outside the income that would be earned directly on the income.

American money should not be permitted to flow out of the legitimate channels of America's needs. It would help expand our markets, would build up our trade, and would greatly enhance American values, as well as keep American workmen employed at good wages.

We would reap great benefits on every dollar invested in American enterprises. Every dollar that goes to Europe goes to create competition for American workers, American trade, American industries and transportation.

There's Not Enough Made

It is said that 80,000,000 pounds of twine are used in Canada to tie up the annual grain harvest, but even this wouldn't be enough to tie on some men's fingers to make them remember to post a letter.

Would you borrow money at 20%?
Of course not---yet many farmers are just as wasteful when they buy cheap fence. The first cost of the cheap fence is only a little less than that of the American which is priced at bed rock.

Over a period of years you pay nearly twice as much for the cheap fencing itself, plus repair expense---and double expense for putting up your fence twice instead of once.

Along the Lonely Road

By ALDEN BROOKS

(© 1925, Western Newspaper Union.)

GEORGE had an almost unnatural sympathy for the weaknesses of others. In any case if anyone came running out to stop the trolley-George would always put the brakes on quick and stop. And at the end of the line, way out in the country, where the boys all went bathing in summer, he made a point of waiting two or three minutes after the conductor had changed the bell. As there is always some poor devil late in this world

George didn't like to leave him behind. "Come on, hurry!" we used to say to one another. "It's George, there's still time." And, indeed, often before starting, George would get down in the road himself and take a last look. Naturally everyone knew him. His platform was always crowded. And you stood there behind him, friends all together, because you were each his friend, and talked and laughed, and George occasionally breaking in himself with some new gossip of the road and a merry word for every newcomer.

"Hello, old son! hop on! How's the boy? Yes, it's hot—at least so I hear. And the kids? Say, how many you got now? Well, what's that old girl ahead going to do? Does she want to get on or not? Doesn't seem to know her own mind. Guess I'd better stop, though."

As for aged people and invalids, as likely as not George would step down first from the platform and help them off. But it was with the boys on the afternoon trips back from the lake that he was at his gayest. For them there was always room for one more on the platform, and sometimes he would even allow the nearest to clasp the bell with his foot—a solemn privileged office.

However, one day the accident occurred at last. AND IT WAS JUST ON one of those very trips back from the lake with a raft of boys on board. They were a little late as usual, and the old car was rocking and bumping along when a sudden whirlwind out of a cross street came a swell auto, and though its chauffeur instinctively tried to veer around up the road, over the trucks, bang, bumped the trolley into its side amidst dust and cries and the splinter of glass.

"Yes, I guess it was my fault," acknowledged George guiltlessly, standing in the road in the middle of his friends and the occupants of the car. "I was speeding her up a bit and I ought to have rung. I thought the boy there was going to go it."

As they moved on into town George half hoped the incident might end there. But a few days later he was called up by the superintendent. The owner of the car had claimed damages for some hundred dollars.

"Now, Thompson, between ourselves, exactly how did the accident happen?" "Well, sir, believe me, we were just coming through the woods there at the foot of the hill and as we were a little late and I was putting on more power to take the hill, all of a sudden—

"Late! Why were you late?" "Because because well, often we wait a little for the boys there at the lake. You see, if they miss a trolley, they have to wait a whole other half hour down there."

"Really! And don't these same boys, or whoever they are, sometimes climb all over the front platform and even fool with the bell at times?" "Well, perhaps—well, yes, they do."

"Now, listen, Thompson, for several years you've been in the company's service and your record has been satisfactory. This is your first dismemberment. But an accident has occurred, an accident that might have cost the company a great deal more than it has, and we want nothing more of the kind from you. Another accident, and you're fired."

"Yes," answered George, bowing his head, tears almost in his eyes. "And let me remind you of several things. First, you're there to start on time."

"Second, you're to remain always at your post and attend to your job. Third, there is a sign over your head. Have you read it?"

"Yes, sir."

"Well, so that it's obeyed. Just you mind your own business in future and let the people behind you mind theirs. You're the motorman and nothing else. And a good motorman travels on time, says nothing, listens to nobody, and keeps his eyes always fixed on the road ahead. He's an integral part of the mechanism, as it were."

George is back at work, though it's another line, and he's not the same man. Everything is changed. No boys, no friends, never a turn of the head, never a moment's hesitation all along the road. "Ah, old cow, trot if you like and wave your umbrella! If I get fired, a lot you'd care. Get there on time."

All this is as it should be. How could it be otherwise? We can't go back now to leisurely old-fashioned ways. Still, I have found George's case sad and one, and I haven't been able to prevent myself from writing about it.

MARY BEHN BOYCE

Daughter of Jesse K. and Maria Behm, was born in Lancaster county, Pennsylvania, May 28, 1884.

Although failing in health for some time, she passed away quite suddenly, at her home in Lyndon, aged 61 years, 5 months and 10 days.

She moved with her parents to Waterloo, Michigan, when 8 years of age. When about 7 years old her mother died, after which she made her home with Mr. and Mrs. George Croman of Waterloo.

October 18, 1889, she was united in marriage with George Boyce, settling on their farm where they have since resided.

To this union were born 7 children, one dying in infancy, and John W. in early manhood. Five survive her, Spencer and Mary at home, Mrs. Frances Wilcox of White Oak, Mrs. Elsie Neu of Jackson, and Mrs. Letta Bott of Fitchburg.

She leaves to mourn their loss, her husband, one son, four daughters, one grandson and four brothers, besides many relatives and friends.

She was converted and joined the Baptist church of Waterloo at the age of 18 and has ever held fast her profession of faith.

She was a kind and loving wife and mother and never wearied in well doing for all those around her, loving her home and family more than anything earthly.

Dear Mother, we have laid her away to rest. Let her hands be meekly folded. Placing flowers upon her breast. She is with her loving Father, in a land where all are best.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to extend our sincere thanks to those who so kindly assisted us in our sad bereavement, also for the flowers and songs and Rev. McTaggart for his comforting words.

Locks for French Windows

It will be found that French windows, owing to their size and being hung on hinges, are subject to warping. To stop this it is well to have two locks or catches, one located within the window between the center and top and the other between the center and bottom of the window.

DR. H. W. SCHMIDT RECEIVES
AUTO EMBLEM FROM A. M. A.

Dr. H. W. Schmidt on Monday received an automobile emblem from the American Medical Association in return for valuable services rendered the association during the past few weeks. The emblem, a beautiful creation of gold plate and inlaid with enamel in various colors, both design and color being symbolic of the medical profession, and is to be used on the front of his automobile. The central feature of the emblem—the knotty rod and serpent of Aesculapius—is the true ancestral symbol of the healing art. The knots of the rod indicate the many difficult problems of physic. The serpent typifies wisdom. Therefore, in the Aesculapian symbol we have power, wisdom and health, together with the protection and support against disease, and the difficulties to be overcome by the physician.

Scarlet and gold have long been regarded as medical colors. In the king's retinue on state occasions, physicians wore a scarlet cloak to distinguish them from members of the other professions. In alchemy the elixir of life was a red tincture, and the key of wisdom a red powder. Gold is used to symbolize the sun, which is regarded as having a definite influence over disease. The radiating lines underlying the scarlet enamel of the emblem symbolize the sun's rays, which emerge to form a gold band around the insignia. The letters "M.D." indicating the degree of Doctor of Medicine, are unmistakably the mark of the physician. The suggestion of the green cross aims to utilize the widespread recognition of this device in many sections of the country as indicative of medical aid. Thus, this design is both correctly symbolic of the medical profession and easily recognized.
