LIEUT. GOV. GEO. W. WELSH

ADDRESSES KIWANIS CLUB

State Official Gives Interesting Facts and Figures With Regard to Policies of Present Administration.

Giving a resume of the work accomplished in the state of Michigan since he has been connected with the administration now in power, Lieutenant Governor George W. Welsh, of Grand Rapids, delivered the weekly message to the Chelsea Kiwanis club on Monday evening. Mr. Welsh spent eight years in the legislature, part of which time was spent as speaker of the house, and has been lieutenant governor during the administration of Governor Alex. Groesbeck.

Asserting that during the last five years, or since advent of the present administration, direct taxes for state government had been reduced from $21,000,000 to $17,800,000, and that this is all of the direct property tax paid to the state the lieutenant governor proceeded to tell club members where the money was spent and stated that practically the entire amount goes to support the state's 17,000 wards, such as those in penal institutions and asylums. Salaries of state officers and employees, numbering in the neighborhood of 4500, average approximately $1500 each, the speaker said, and this money is furnished entirely from profits of the several state offices where fees collected amount to many millions of dollars.

The road program of the state which has reached an enormity scarcely comprehended the average person was touched upon by Mr. Welsh, who stated that while Michigan's road system is the finest in the entire United States, funds for this program come only from automobile revenues such as the weight and gasoline tax and that not one penny of direct property tax is expended by the state for road purposes. Incidentally the speaker stated after the meeting had closed that approximately $14,000,000 would be available this year for road maintenance and building, a sum larger than that of any previous year.

Mr. Welsh gave an interesting account of the conduct of affairs of state government and, so far as possible, refrained from partisanship in his remarks.

Music was furnished by a boys' quartet from the Chelsea high school, accompanied by Miss Dorothy Powers, of the faculty.

PRACTICAL USES OF WEATHER DATA

The daily correspondence of the Weather Bureau of the United States Department of Agriculture reveals all sorts of uses for the information about climate and weather conditions. For example, a man in Canada wanted to know where he could move so as to spend his later years in a less uneven climate. He specified that he wanted to live where the summer was not too hot or the winter too cold. Information was furnished him showing a number of places where the temperature was likely to meet his specifications.

Much information is sought in connection with insurance. A company which handles tornado and wind-storm insurance recently asked to be supplied with the history of a certain locality in regard to the occurrence of severe windstorms or tornadoes and the probability that this particular locality would be subject to such storms.

In another instance the committee in charge of an annual round-up held July 4, 1925, was considering insuring the day against rain. It was, however, learned from the Weather Bureau records that rain rarely fell in that region on the Fourth of July. So the committee decided not to spend $300 to insure against rain.

The happy sequel to this incident was that no rain disturbed the round-up.

Horticulturists in a certain State were considering the practicability of increasing the production of potatoes of that State. So they wrote to the climatological division of the bureau for data which would enable them to compare the climate of their region with that of other important potato-growing sections.

A business firm manufacturing boilers wrote for data on the percentage of sunshine, of humidity, and the highest and lowest temperatures in the various states for a period of 10 years past. They wanted, if possible, to determine the heating requirement throughout the country before launching their selling campaign.

Billions for Food

According to a statement published by the marketing division of the International Magazine company of New York, in the American Food Journal, the annual value of all food consumed in the United States is $25,000,000,000, including profits and margins. Of this $15,000,000,000 is home consumption, $4,000,000,000 is used in hotels, restaurants, etc., and the remaining $6,000,000,000 is both produced and consumed by rural families.

Certainly Not

You can't figure that a man feels like helping a would-be son-in-law in the future just because he feels like booting him into the middle of next year.

LARGE CROWDS WITNESS AMATEUR BASEBALL GAMES

Old Fellows, Methodists and Masons Win First Titles in Chelsea Play-ground League's Series.

Getting away with a flying start, and continuing throughout the first three games, Chelsea's baseball players and fans have played and witnessed some of the rarest baseball ever played in this vicinity. Following organization of the Chelsea Play-ground League old timers ousted off the effects of several years inactivity and trotted out the old right arm (or left, as the case might be) for a good old limbering-up process, and right there is where the fun began. Beginning with the opening last Thursday evening when the Odd Fellows took the Kiwanis team into camp and lasting throughout all the games played to date, these same old timers are discovering that they might know how to do it, they like to do it, and they try to do it—but they simply "can't play ball like they used to years ago."

However, in spite of the fact that the games are not as fast as they used to be, the old zest is there and with it a lot of enthusiasm and pep which is bringing the crowds in ever increasing numbers. It is estimated that from one to two hundred people have attended each of the three games played thus far.

In the opening game the Odd Fellows proved too much for the Kiwanians and the game resulted 11 to 4 in favor of the former. On Monday evening the Methodists played the Catholics Recreation club and the score favored the Methodists 4 to 2. In this game the hustling of Cleyton White was the most spectacular feature, the southpaw laying over a bundle of curves which is said to have fairly bewildered the opponents.

Tuesday evening the Masons came through with a one-run margin over the K. of P's, the score being 13 to 14.

In the lineup for the next week are the following:
Thursday (tonight)—Kiwanians vs. Methodists.
Tuesday, June 1—K. of P. vs. Masons.
Thursday, June 3—Catholics vs. K. of P.
Friday, June 4—Kiwanians vs. Masons.

The standing of teams to date follows:

	W	L	Pct.
K. of P.	1	0	100
Methodists	1	0	100
Masons	1	0	100
Kiwanians	0	1	000
Catholics	0	1	000
K. of P.	0	1	000

SHEEP-KILLING DOGS WORKED IN TWO FLOCKS

Harry Prudden had three sheep killed by dogs last Saturday morning. Two of the killed animals had lambs by their sides. H. I. Davis, who resides on the Pielemier farm heard the dog barking and when he went out saw the dog in the flock and called Mr. Prudden, who did not get close enough to the dog to shoot it. When the dog left the farm it headed for Chelsea. Justice of the Peace E. P. Stagner was called to Mr. Prudden's home and placed the values of the killed sheep at $10 each.

Geo. Wiseman of Lima township recently had three sheep killed by dogs on his farm, but did not discover the dog or dogs that damaged his flock.

There also is included in this account a bill of $135.30 for sheep killed by dogs.

"Dolling up" the Gas holders

In line with our little talk the other day about the girl clerk in the Eastern Gas Company who is now president of the whole works, the first woman to hold this office, comes word that the Middle West is beginning to erect ornamental gas holders set out in a profusion of landscape gardening.

Instead of the skeleton-like structure with the big tank inside, this new holder appears to be a vast medieval tower, surmounted by flying colors. It's a permanent structure costing thousands of dollars.

At the foot of the glorified tank, a little park will be laid out, entered by masonry gates, with an English cottage-style lodge in which the caretaker will live. No manufacturing of gas will be done at this point, but all small structures surrounding the holder will be in the same style of architecture, painted a French grey.

As gas is in greater and greater demand in cities, storage holders of this type will have to be erected in outlying residential districts. With the gas industry growing as it is, there's no telling what we may live to see!

SENATE INVESTIGATION

Another Senate investigation has been provided for. This time it was provoked by the Pennsylvania primaries. It is said that there was more money spent in the primary that nominated Congressman Vane than has ever been spent in any state in a primary. Opponents of high spending in political primaries allege that the money spent by Vane and his supporters make Senator Newberry of Michigan look like a piker. Newberry, it will be recalled, was finally ousted from the Senate because of the large amount of money he spent to secure his election.

It has always been the custom in this country to buy political offices. Sometimes the pay has been by the appointment of supporters or their friends to political positions. Sometimes it has been by threats of reprisal by which opposition has been stifled. Sometimes it is a cash proposition just like buying so much sugar at the grocery.

It would be extremely difficult for any man, rich or poor, to enter a political campaign and go through with it, getting a proper organization, and getting the issue fully and squarely before the people, without the expenditure of a large sum of money.

This accounts, in some measure, for the fact that most men who go to the United States Senate, are men of independent fortunes. It means that a great deal of talent is kept out of public office, and that the government is no better than it is.

The corrupt expenditure of money in elections is one of the most dangerous practices which can be indulged in. It goes back to the old feudal system of government, when the king bought support, and farmed out power to his followers, who in turn bought continuity in places of power by passing patronage on down to the smallest of the men who had anything to do with placing men in power and keeping them there.

We haven't much confidence, however, in anything that may be done at a Senate investigation into the matter at this time. There have been too many such investigations which gathered a great deal of material, and then whitewashed the whole matter. Nothing followed in the wake of these investigations excepting some cheap political scandal, and a dissemination of the way it is done, which can be used as a guide-book by others who want to do the same thing in future elections.

Mr. Vane has caused many a jolt by his primary victory. He has upset all political calculations, and has caused the administration of Mr. Coolidge some anxious moments, as well as giving cause for some serious thought on the general political situation, from the viewpoint of the White House.

CIRCLE WORLD IN A MONTH

John Goldstrom, a writer on the New York World has set out to circle the globe in thirty-one days. He has sailed on the Mauretania for England. From there he will cross to the Continent, and then will use whatever means of transportation may be available to make the fastest time.

"DEMOCRACY IS DEAD"

Benito Mussolini, Fascist, dictator of Italy, etc., etc., declared that "Democracy is dead."

Mussolini thinks Fascism is to rule the world. Fascism appears to be no more than a mob. It started nowhere, has arrived nowhere, and appears to have no definite destination. It placed Mussolini in power, and he is much obliged to it, as a matter of course, and will keep up the Italian fascist organization as another matter of course.

Pure Democracy has never existed. We have been called a Democracy in this country, but have never really been one. Our own opinion is to the point that we believe democracy is coming into its own—that someday, we are to have a real democracy, instead of the form of government we have, which is neither this nor that, nor yet the other thing. It has run the gamut of government from semi-socialism to a plutocratic oligarchy—and yet, we believe it to be the soundest and best government ever known. Polish sometimes, arrogant at other times, sometimes very wise and beneficent, and again swelled up like a poisoned pup, we believe in it, and that it will endure longer than any other government that has ever existed. Mr. Mussolini to the contrary notwithstanding.

If we were a true Democracy—if we were strong in our convictions as we are in our prideful power of position, we would throw all of Mussolini's political schemers out of the country, and stop any attempt to promote or spread Fascism here. That is one of our weaknesses—and it will cause us most of our griefs, but in the end, the American majority is going to stand by the constitution and keep our form of government intact, improving it from time to time, as we go along.

ROCKS AT THE POLE?

Lincoln Ellsworth, American with the Amundsen expedition which flew over the North Pole last week in a dirigible, says he saw rocky formation in the vicinity of the Pole. The unexplored region between the Pole and Alaska, still remains unexplored. The Norge was battling for its life during most of the voyage, and visibility was practically nil, for a very large part of the time. There still remains that vast area to tempt the adventurous who still seek the unknown to be explored.

FARM BUREAU CAMPAIGN PROGRESSING SATISFACTORILY

During the past two weeks a series of community meetings were held in different sections of the county relative to Farm Bureau activities and the new membership campaign which is being arranged for the first part of June.

Meetings held were very well attended. Interesting programs were presented, good speakers were provided for the occasion. Representatives of the women's work and boys and girls club work in the county were also featured in the program.

During the past two weeks the campaign manager has been busy securing interested farmers to cooperate in the campaign. Each township chairman is to secure twelve workers to assist in making the canvass. Sixty townships in the first to complete its list and has sent in names of sixteen workers who desire to cooperate in signing the membership in that township.

Among other townships that have sent in their quota of helpers are: Sharon, Freedom, Pittsfield, Ypsilanti, Augusta and Lyndon. County manager and township chairman are active in the other townships and expect to have the list of workers complete during the present week.

Friday of the week May 28th a school of instruction will be held at the Masonic Temple, Ann Arbor. This will be attended by all township chairmen and workers, together with their wives. A special program has been arranged and will start promptly at 9:30 Friday morning. Those present will be served a luncheon at noon and the program will be completed about three o'clock in the afternoon.

This program will be in charge of representatives from the General Organization Company, State and County Farm Bureau. All workers will receive final instructions for the solicitation which will take place during the first week of June.

Township chairmen now working on campaign are:
Lyndon—Charles Clark.
Dexter—Ezra Lesser.

His Counter-Charge

"She used to peel onions just before I arrived home at night so that I would think she was crying and then I would buy her a new hat or dress," was the testimony of a man in court in London, England, in answer to his wife's divorce suit charging him with neglect.

The Judge's Retinue

Mr. Justice Sankey, in the course of a lecture in London on old-time judicial customs, spoke of the days when a judge had to be accompanied by the sheriff with a retinue of 200 men in court traveling from Newcastle to Carlisle to protect him from the raids of Scotsmen who sometimes came over the border to take off the judge for ransom.

In the passing of time, the sheriff got "fed up" with this expense, and asked the judges to accept dagger money in order to provide their own escorts. To this day the custom prevails in Newcastle of presenting the judge on circuit with dagger money, the sum being one golden guinea.

FAIRBANKS OUTSTUNTS SELF IN NEW FILM

Star Never Had Such Wide Scope For Athletics as in "Don Q"

Just an intensely appealing love story with many complications because of conspiracy and intrigue; a story replete with high adventure that gives the greatest opportunities for athletic prowess, fearsome stunts and feats of utmost daring and skill—such is the description of the latest Douglas Fairbanks photoplay, "Don Q, Son of Zorro," which is announced as the feature attraction coming next Wednesday and Thursday, to the Princess Theatre for 2 days.

The management of the Princess Theatre is authority for the statement that in his new screen play Fairbanks has departed temporarily at least, from such historic characterizations as "Robin Hood" for the imaginative fantasy of his "Thief of Bagdad," and now has given to his public a picture that outstunts anything he has ever produced; a picture

Proposed Agricultural Buildings—Michigan State Fair

FARMERS GET NEW BUILDING FOR THEIR 1926 EXHIBITS

Magnificent Agricultural Structure
Provided by State Will be Ready When Fair Opens

When the big crowds pour into the State Fair grounds during the week of September 5 to 11, and seek the Agricultural Exhibits, they will find them housed in a splendid new building adjacent to the Coliseum at the very center of the grounds.

The farmers of Michigan will rejoice to know that the state government has given particular thought to their interests and in line with demonstrated efficiency, has worked out a financial plan with the committee of the State Fair Board, by which winter rentals will pay for the building within about two years.

The new building, which is now under construction and will be ready in ample time for use this fall, will be 200 feet long and 140 feet wide. Plans for the new structure were developed by the Agriculture Committee of the State Fair Board under the chairmanship of Prof. J. F. Cox, of Michigan State College, and approved at Lansing. The plans make it the most magnificent building in America for the exhibition of agricultural products, and the board of managers feels confident that it will be a matter of genuine satisfaction to the farmers of the Wolverine State to be able to show their products in the most favorable conditions, and by a plan of finance that will in no way burden the taxpayers.

For Exclusive Exhibition of Crops, Fruits and Flowers
The agricultural committee of the State Fair Board is authority for the statement that the new structure will be used exclusively for agricultural, horticultural and floricultural exhibits of an educational nature, and that no space will be allotted for any commercial purposes whatsoever. This sounds the knell of the noisy "strawberry" hawking and ballyhooing which resulted from commercialism within the agricultural space in past years. These new arrangements mean a dignifying of the agricultural section and the placing of its exhibits on the highest plane of educational and agricultural value.

Another feature that should please Michigan farmers is the fact that they will be protected from the competition of exhibitors who do not grow products they show.

Prof. Cox says of the new building that "It will give an opportunity for the suitable portrayal of Michigan's highly organized and wonderfully diversified agriculture. In addition is the competitive displays of crops, fruit and flowers, ample space will be offered for the use of the Farm Bureau, Granges, Gleaners, Farmers' Clubs and other farm organizations, and for the exhibition of the products of canning companies, sugar manufacturers, seed interests, millers, hay dealers and other organized state industries directly dependent upon agriculture."

The new Chrysler "60"—a lower-priced six—is unqualifiedly guaranteed to give you more value for your money than any other car in its class.

This supreme value is assured you because in designing the "60" Chrysler engineers set about creating a car of entirely original design and construction, going the absolute limit to put into it a dollar's worth of value for every dollar of its purchase price.

In Chrysler "60" there is also the same supreme quality that has been built into the famous Chrysler "70" and the unsurpassable Imperial "80"—a quality that is now a definitely known quantity in motordom.

You will find us eager to demonstrate to you the extraordinary features of these new prices of Chrysler "60" or Chrysler "70"

At these new sensationally lower prices all features of supremacy of the famous Chrysler "70" which have set it apart as the standard of motoring in its class for more than two years, are made even more outstanding.

For in the accomplishment of these new lower prices there is absolutely no change in the performance, quality, comfort, style, equipment, design or workmanship in body or chassis which have proved themselves in tens of thousands of miles of driving by thousands upon thousands of owners. These sensational reductions today establish Chrysler "70" even more exceptionally as the world's one outstanding motor car value in its class.

STOCKBRIDGE—The class of 1926 and the Stockbridge school patrons are to be congratulated that Prof. F. W. Moore of Western State Normal of Kalamazoo has been secured to give the commencement address, Thursday, June 17.—Brief-Sun.

BROOKLYN—Walter Rheingans who has just been discharged from military service at Camp Brady, Sault Ste. Marie, is now at the home of his parents. Mr. Rheingans is an Eagle scout and will be able to greatly help the local troop of Boy Scouts, and all will appreciate his aid.—Exponent.

MILAN—The Class of 1926 of Milan high school have been accorded the honor of laying the corner stone for the new school which is now being erected. The ceremonies took place Thursday afternoon at three o'clock and the entire program is to be in charge of the senior class with the assistance of the members of the faculty.—Leader.

JACKSON—The School Board is asking the city to issue bonds for $700,000 to make additions to the two intermediate schools and three grade schools, besides erecting a new building in place of the old East Central. Sentiment among those approached by the Star is distinctly antagonistic to the proposal.—Saturday Evening Star.

ANN ARBOR—Three cases tried before Judge George W. Sample of circuit court are listed on the calendar of the state supreme court for the June term which opens June 8. They are: Carle Davidson, et al., vs. City of Ann Arbor; Margaret M. Hoover Anderson, administratrix, vs. Howard C. Engard; Benjamin Domborjijan vs. Haig Domborjijan, et al.

SOUTH LYON—E. E. Lucas, former publisher of the South Lyon Herald, and for the past nearly two years connected with the Flushing Observer, has sold his interest in that paper to W. E. Beebe of Parma, who took possession last week and who is now associated with A. E. Ransom as publishers of the Observer. Mr. Lucas has not announced his future plans.—Herald.

MANCHESTER—Many of our citizens who have lived here many years, or all their lives fail to appreciate the exceptional beauty of the country in this part of Michigan. Those who have doubts have only to interview P. G. Allsup, who accompanied Ed. E. Root on a drive to the Wampler lake section and the Irish Hills a few minutes ago. Mr. Allsup has been across the U. S. from east to west, and being a now-come here, did not heretofore realize what a garden spot and a beauty spot lies about this section. What he says in admiration is plenty.—Enterprise.

PARMA—Announcement has been made by Warren Rogers, secretary of the board of education, to the effect that Howard Prine has been secured to be superintendent of the local school for next year. EATON RAPIDS—The Class of 1926, Eaton Rapids high school has decided to put on its own program for commencement night, June 17, and will not bring in an outside speaker to give the address of the evening. The program will be made up of speeches and music by the members of the class. Thirty-seven students will be graduated this year, twelve less than in 1925. Plans for commencement week include a concert to be given at Island Park by the high school band.—Review.

MASON—The bootleggers, alimony dodgers and drunks may find themselves on a bread and water diet or submit to blistered hands and weary muscles if Supervisor Fred Marshall's plan of working them on township highways is carried out. A resolution providing for such employment was unanimously adopted Monday with the proviso that there would be no compensation provided beyond a square meal at noon, such meal to be provided by the township employing the men. Farmers who desire to hire men from the jail for farm work are to be given the preference. It was stipulated and after their demands are met all others are to be transported to do the work prescribed by town officials. The matter has been the subject of much discussion for several months.—News.

CLUB ACHIEVEMENT DAY WELL ATTENDED

Over 500 boys and girls with their parents and friends were in attendance at the annual County Achievement program which took place at the County Fair grounds Saturday.

In the forenoon Gerald Hoag, manager of the Majestic Theatre, entertained the group with a free moving picture at the Majestic Theatre. After the moving picture show, the group went to the fair grounds to view the exhibit, the girls to take part in a clothing judging contest. After the clothing judging contest a 4-H program was given. Miss Sadie Saine, member of a fourth year clothing club in Sylvan Center acted as chairman of the program. Miss Bertha Eckhardt of the Victor Talking Machine Co. had charge of the entire group in community singing. The address of welcome was given by Lewis C. Reiman, President of the Ann Arbor Kiwanis Club who spoke in detail to the boys and girls not only of their achievements at that time but urged them to continue in their good work and make sure that not any one of them fell by the wayside. Dale Howard, member of Delphi Hammer Club responded to the address of welcome in a very appropriate manner. William Rainey Bennett of Chicago gave a splendid address to the boys and girls and their parents on the "Opportunities for our Young Americans."

Miss Bertha Eckhardt, representative of the educational department of the Victor Talking Machine Company gave forty minutes of musical appreciations which was very much appreciated by everyone.

The County Health Champions were announced by Miss Edith Stoll, county nurse. The healthiest boy was Lee BeGoie of Frains Lake, the healthiest girl Edna Orbring of Lima district No. 10. This is the first year that a health contest has been held in connection with our County Achievement program. The two health champions will receive a free trip to Lansing for Club Week where they will compete with county champions for a trip to the Michigan State Fair, at which time they will compete for a trip to the Intermediate Club Congress at Chicago.

Miss Florence V. Essery, County School Commissioner, presented the local leaders 100 per cent Honor Certificates to local leaders whose clubs had finished 100 per cent. The local leaders in the county have shown wonderful improvement during the last two years. Of the 72 clubs doing hot lunch, clothing and handicraft club work during the winter months 62 of them finished 100 per cent, in other words 62 local leaders received 100 per cent Honor Certificates for bringing their clubs through with a total of 100 per cent finish. This however does not leave the others on the side line by any means because of the per cent of finishers which was also high.

Of the 720 boys and girls enrolled in winter club work 698 finished or a total of over 96 per cent for boys and girls in the winter club work. This is the highest per cent of finishers that has been obtained in the county for winter club work and so far as known will lead in the state.

Simpler Names Wanted

Naturalists have started a movement to get simpler terminology for their branch of science. For instance they and themselves confronted with such names as "sclerodermotermes" and "neocynchotrips" which are examples of the use of prefixes with short rather well-known early genera. It is proposed to use codes which will be understood by all naturalists and shorten the prefixes greatly.

The rector of a country parish was showing one of his parishioners round his garden. He paused in front of the garden wall, into which had been built a huge boulder of granite, differing obviously from the red sandstone blocks that composed the rest of the wall. "That," he said, indicating the granite boulder, "came down in a glacier." The visitor considered the object with much attention and then said thoughtfully: "Would that be before the war?"—Manchester Guardian.

FORMER RESIDENT IS TRAVELING AROUND WORLD

A. W. Wilkinson is in receipt of a letter from O. B. Taylor, who, with his wife, is touring Africa at the time the letter was written. Mr. Taylor, a native of Chelsea, is well known by a number of older residents here. Accompanying the letter is a clipping from The Rand Daily Star, Johannesburg, South Africa, dated April 19, 1926. A photograph of Mr. and Mrs. Taylor showing them in typical garb of warm climates is contained in the article, which follows:

"It is the magnitude of this country that impresses me. You have vast open spaces and seemingly unlimited resources, and you are doing the very best possible in developing it, so far as I have seen. It is one of the finest countries in the world for the tourist."

These are the comments made to a representative of The Star by Mr. O. B. Taylor, an American millionaire, who, with his wife, has been making an extensive tour of the African continent. For 32 years prior to 1919 he was engaged in the law and banking business, at which he achieved a great name and also, incidentally, something much more material. Since his retirement in 1919 Mr. Taylor has been traveling round the world. His wife has been his constant companion, and they have seen most of the "show" places in every continent. Like so many Americans, Mr. Taylor has the horn-rimmed spectacles—but his are of the brighter type.

Mr. and Mrs. Taylor's African tour began on December 4 in Egypt, and they spent, close on three months in that country of endless sand, inspecting all the many historical treasures and also visiting the Valley of the Kings at Luxor. From Cairo they went by sea to Mombasa, and they journeyed up to the railroad at Fort Portal, in the Uganda Territory. As the guests of the British East Africa Corporation, they were royally entertained, and every facility for seeing the sights in the East African territories was willingly granted them.

"We saw the Mountains of the Moon, and they are really most impressive," said Mr. Taylor. "We also gained a glorious view of Kilimanjaro, with its snow-capped peak. Every tourist should see these sights."

Mr. and Mrs. Taylor intended to visit the Belgian Congo and the lakes in Central Africa, but unfortunately there was no suitable ship, and so they came on to Beira. Here they were lucky in catching the first train that ran after the heavy Eungwe River floods had somewhat subsided.

Mr. and Mrs. Taylor were particularly charmed, and even inspired, by their visit to the Victoria Falls.

"Our home is not very far from the Niagara Falls and we were very keen on seeing these Falls. It was awe-inspiring. We had the fortune—or misfortune—to see the Victoria Falls at a time when the Zambezi was in heavier flood than it has ever been in living memory, and in consequence we were not able to go on to the islands just above the Falls. The clinging mist of spray obscured a good deal of the view, but we saw enough to realize that this is surely one of Nature's grandest works. The Niagara Falls has a special beauty of its own, but these Falls are grand, awe-inspiring. You cannot compare the two. These Falls are twice as high and twice as long. To think of all that volume of water falling into a small narrow basin—why, it is one of the grandest things in the world."

Mr. Taylor is going down a gold mine on Thursday, and that, he says, will surely be one of the biggest experiences in his life. He has seen our Zoo and thinks it one of the prettiest places imaginable. He and Mrs. Taylor will be in Johannesburg until the end of this week, and from there they intend going to Durban, thence to Kimberley, and from there to Capetown.

"Railway traveling in this country has been most comfortable," remarked Mr. Taylor. "Of course, in America we have the Pullman system, and that gives plenty of room—but we have been very well treated here, and our journey has been thoroughly enjoyable."

Mr. Taylor had one complaint about the hotels, which, however, he remarked, were not so well fitted as American hotels.

"I am looking forward to seeing the Cape," remarked Mr. Taylor, "for one of my greatest friends went and settled there as far back as 1900 and established a salt business."

FORMER RESIDENT IS TRAVELING AROUND WORLD

A. W. Wilkinson is in receipt of a letter from O. B. Taylor, who, with his wife, is touring Africa at the time the letter was written. Mr. Taylor, a native of Chelsea, is well known by a number of older residents here. Accompanying the letter is a clipping from The Rand Daily Star, Johannesburg, South Africa, dated April 19, 1926. A photograph of Mr. and Mrs. Taylor showing them in typical garb of warm climates is contained in the article, which follows:

"It is the magnitude of this country that impresses me. You have vast open spaces and seemingly unlimited resources, and you are doing the very best possible in developing it, so far as I have seen. It is one of the finest countries in the world for the tourist."

These are the comments made to a representative of The Star by Mr. O. B. Taylor, an American millionaire, who, with his wife, has been making an extensive tour of the African continent. For 32 years prior to 1919 he was engaged in the law and banking business, at which he achieved a great name and also, incidentally, something much more material. Since his retirement in 1919 Mr. Taylor has been traveling round the world. His wife has been his constant companion, and they have seen most of the "show" places in every continent. Like so many Americans, Mr. Taylor has the horn-rimmed spectacles—but his are of the brighter type.

Mr. and Mrs. Taylor's African tour began on December 4 in Egypt, and they spent, close on three months in that country of endless sand, inspecting all the many historical treasures and also visiting the Valley of the Kings at Luxor. From Cairo they went by sea to Mombasa, and they journeyed up to the railroad at Fort Portal, in the Uganda Territory. As the guests of the British East Africa Corporation, they were royally entertained, and every facility for seeing the sights in the East African territories was willingly granted them.

"We saw the Mountains of the Moon, and they are really most impressive," said Mr. Taylor. "We also gained a glorious view of Kilimanjaro, with its snow-capped peak. Every tourist should see these sights."

Mr. and Mrs. Taylor intended to visit the Belgian Congo and the lakes in Central Africa, but unfortunately there was no suitable ship, and so they came on to Beira. Here they were lucky in catching the first train that ran after the heavy Eungwe River floods had somewhat subsided.

Mr. and Mrs. Taylor were particularly charmed, and even inspired, by their visit to the Victoria Falls.

"Our home is not very far from the Niagara Falls and we were very keen on seeing these Falls. It was awe-inspiring. We had the fortune—or misfortune—to see the Victoria Falls at a time when the Zambezi was in heavier flood than it has ever been in living memory, and in consequence we were not able to go on to the islands just above the Falls. The clinging mist of spray obscured a good deal of the view, but we saw enough to realize that this is surely one of Nature's grandest works. The Niagara Falls has a special beauty of its own, but these Falls are grand, awe-inspiring. You cannot compare the two. These Falls are twice as high and twice as long. To think of all that volume of water falling into a small narrow basin—why, it is one of the grandest things in the world."

Mr. Taylor is going down a gold mine on Thursday, and that, he says, will surely be one of the biggest experiences in his life. He has seen our Zoo and thinks it one of the prettiest places imaginable. He and Mrs. Taylor will be in Johannesburg until the end of this week, and from there they intend going to Durban, thence to Kimberley, and from there to Capetown.

"Railway traveling in this country has been most comfortable," remarked Mr. Taylor. "Of course, in America we have the Pullman system, and that gives plenty of room—but we have been very well treated here, and our journey has been thoroughly enjoyable."

Mr. Taylor had one complaint about the hotels, which, however, he remarked, were not so well fitted as American hotels.

"I am looking forward to seeing the Cape," remarked Mr. Taylor, "for one of my greatest friends went and settled there as far back as 1900 and established a salt business."

CHEVROLET TRUCK REPLACES DISABLED MOTOR COACH

Replacing a disabled railway motor coach, a Chevrolet truck is scoring a decided success daily in the difficult role of a locomotive on an Alabama railroad.

The Sumter and Choctaw Railroad, owned and operated by the Allison Lumber Company of Bellamy, Alabama, is using their Chevrolet utility express truck as a locomotive with gratifying results, according to Sidney Corbett, manager of fleet, sales and truck division, Chevrolet Motor company.

Formerly a gasoline-motor-railroad car was used by the railroad to transport passengers and freight, making a round trip 52 miles daily. During a recent breakdown of the motor in the "hoodie-bug" as railway men termed the disabled car, it was decided to attach the Chevrolet truck to the disabled car and haul it over the route on regular scheduled trips until repairs could be made to the coach. The truck had been operated for some time by the company in its ordinary capacity as a rubber-tired vehicle.

The truck was equipped with flanged wheels and attached to the coach with a steel cable. On the first trip it handled the load with ease over the entire run, and instead of the 12 gallons required by the motor coach, the Chevrolet made the round trip on four gallons of fuel. This saving led to the adoption of the truck as standard equipment on the railroad, and the old motor coach was discarded.

In addition to economy of operation, the Chevrolet truck offered another advantage. The truck body provided extra space for freight transportation, and extra passenger seats were available in the coach on removal of the motor.

So well pleased were the officials of the lumber concern with the performance of the truck in its new

ALL OUT OF SORTS!

So Was This Chelsea Woman Who Tells Her Experience.

All too often women accept their pains and aches as natural to their sex. They fail to realize that weak kidneys are often to blame for that backache, those headaches, dizzy spells and that tired, depressed feeling. Thousands have found new health and strength by helping the weakened kidneys with Doan's Pills—a stimulant diuretic. This Chelsea case is one of many.

Mrs. D. H. Adams, 532 McKinley St., says: "My back ached and pained so I could hardly get through with my housework. Dizzy spells also came over me, especially when I stooped or raised up suddenly. My kidneys acted too frequently, and caused great annoyance. After using one box of Doan's Pills, I was all over the trouble and have felt well ever since."

Clever Police Work

Credited to Italian

For a month to be convicted of murder seems incredible, but this actually happened. After giving a dinner party the Princess Caravella of Naples went to lie down in order to refresh herself for a dance, and later was found shot through the heart. Suspicion pointed to her husband, who was known to be of a jealous disposition, and he was arrested. The fact that the pistol was found lying near the dead woman seemed incongruous, but the husband would probably have been convicted but for the shrewdness of a Naples police officer.

He found a huge moth lying on the floor by the bedside. A lighted candle had stood on the bedside table where the pistol lay, and the moth had been singed in the flame. He also found dust from the moth's wings on the trigger of the pistol, which was also proved to work with exceptional ease, whilst the pistol lay in such a position that it covered the woman's heart.

It was argued in court that the moth had burned its wings and had fallen on the table, where, writhing and guttering, its wings had struck the trigger and the pistol had been fired. On this evidence the prince was acquitted.

Use of Australian Ballot

The Australian ballot was introduced into the United States in 1892. The first law providing for it was enacted in Kentucky, but it applied only to the city of Louisville. In the same year Massachusetts passed a law providing for the use of the Australian ballot in state elections, but it did not become effective until the following year.

Great Writer's Nickname

The name "Great Unknown" was given by James Ballantyne to Sir Walter Scott, the author of the Waverley novels, which, although published anonymously, attained great popularity. Speculation was long rife as to the authorship of these romances; but it was not until the failure of Scott's publishers in 1826 that the secret finally was made known. Exchange
