LOCAL LADIES NARROWLY ESCAPE SERIOUS INJURY

Two Women and Boy Knocked to Ground When Car Climbs Curb- ing on South Main Street.

While waiting to cross the street near their homes on South Main street last Saturday afternoon, Mrs. Chas. Mohrlock, Mrs. Oscar Schneider and small son were struck by an automobile being driven by George Wiseman, and knocked to the ground, seriously bruising and cutting the two ladies. The boy was unhurt except for a few minor bruises.

Mr. Wiseman is said to have been passing another car, both traveling toward town, when the second car attempted to turn into the driveway at Jones' Garage. In an effort to avoid striking the other car Mr. Wiseman crowded the curb too closely, struck and swung over it, striking the ladies and boy who were waiting to cross. Latest reports were that the ladies were on the road to recovery and no serious results were expected.

AUTO LAUNDRY OPENED AT AMERICAN SERVICE STATION

The new auto laundry which has been in the course of construction for the past several weeks, at the American Service Station has been opened to the public and already car owners are taking advantage of this modern outfit to keep their cars clean.

Included in the new building which has been erected especially for this purpose is all the latest equipment for prompt and efficient service. Earl Schanz is service man in this new department of the station.

Because of the inquiries as to when the new station would be ready for service the public is cordially invited to call and see the equipment in operation.

J. J. Barels was the contractor who erected the building.

FUNERAL FOR GRASS LAKE WOMAN HELD TUESDAY

Funeral services for Mrs. Geraldine Raymond, 80, a resident of this county for 56 years, who died Saturday at her home at Grass Lake, were held at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at the residence. Rev. Edwin Springer officiated. Interment was at Grass Lake.

Mrs. Raymond is survived by a son, Howard Monroe Raymond, president of Armour Institute of Technology at Chicago, a graduate of University of Michigan, and a granddaughter, Mrs. L. Dean Alber of Peoria, Ill.

She was born October 18, 1846, in Sharon township, and attended the schools there and at Chelsea, and Grass Lake. She had made her home in Grass Lake since 1904. She was the daughter of William S. and Marietta Spaulding Craft, pioneer residents of Washtenaw county. Mr. Raymond died in 1912.

Mrs. Raymond was the oldest member of the Methodist church at Grass Lake, both in age and service.

ANNA LIGHTHALL CHASE WILL APPEAR IN CONCERT

Music lovers of Chelsea and vicinity will be pleased to learn that on Sunday afternoon, beginning at three o'clock, Anna Lighthall Chase, contralto soloist, of Detroit, an artist who is well known here, will appear in a sacred and classical concert to be given at the Congregational church under auspices of the church choir. Assisting Mrs. Chase will be Vivian Dant, soprano, Prudence Butterfield, accompanist, and Mrs. Donald Bacon, violinist, Miss Winifred Munton, soprano, and Miss Beatrice Wade, accompanist.

Frédéric and Teddie, a team of entertainers who broadcast over station WGHF, Detroit, will also play and sing. One will do old fashioned costume work.

No admission will be charged, but a silver offering will be taken.

Mrs. Chase has a wide acquaintance here, is a native of Chelsea, and is an accomplished vocalist of high rank. It is expected a large audience will greet her appearance here Sunday.

DR. DAWBER, PHILADELPHIA, SPEAKS TO KIWANIS CLUB

Dr. Mark Dawber, of Philadelphia, superintendent of the rural department of the Methodist Episcopal church, delivered an excellent address before the local Kiwanis club on Monday evening, his subject dealing with social, economic and moral problems confronting this country in the present time. In his work of establishing missionary outposts in the mountainous and less populous districts of China, Dr. Dawber meets with some unusual experiences, some of which were related to the club Monday.

Primitive conditions and practices which are generally thought of as existing in Africa or China were cited as existing within a few hundred miles of Chelsea, particularly in the mountains of Tennessee and the Carolinas, while the negro situation in the south was pictured in a new and amazing light by the speaker. Dr. Dawber also sang for the club, playing his own accompaniment.

MRS. CHARLOTTE STRAIGHT DIED SUNDAY NIGHT

Mrs. Charlotte Straight was born in Canada, June 30, 1839, and died at the M. E. Home Sunday evening, February 9, 1927.

She came to the Home several years ago from Ypsilanti. She was twice married, in 1881 to A. Bradley, who died in 1889. She came to Michigan in 1891, and united in marriage to Matthias Straight, who died in 1899.

The funeral was held at the Home at 1 o'clock, Tuesday afternoon, Rev. F. O. Jones conducting the services. The body was taken to Ypsilanti for burial in Highland cemetery. Rev. Dunning Idle conducting the services at the grave.

DEMOCRATS TO HOLD COUNTY CONVENTION

Pursuant to a call from the Democratic State Central Committee, a Democratic county convention will be held at the court house in Ann Arbor on Saturday, February 12, at 2:30 o'clock p. m.

Among other business to be transacted, will be the election of delegates to the Democratic state convention which will be held at Lansing on Tuesday, February 22.

Members of the Washtenaw County Democratic committee are arranging for the holding of caucuses in the various townships and it is expected that there will be a Democratic candidate for every office at the spring election, according to officials of the county committee.

CELEBRATE ANNIVERSARY OF EVANGELICAL LEAGUE

St. Paul Organization Founded Twenty-Five Years Ago; Rev. A. A. Schoen Was First President.

Members of St. Paul's Lutheran church on Tuesday evening celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of the organization of St. Paul's Evangelical League in Chelsea, with a potluck supper and program at the public school auditorium, 125 persons being in attendance. Music, addresses and a playlet were features of the program. Rev. A. A. Schoen of Manchester, first president of the league, delivering the main address of the evening. There were seventeen charter members of the organization which now numbers about 50 members and is one of the liveliest church organizations in the town.

The program was given as follows: Address of Welcome—Dorothy Pielmeier, president of the League. Piano duet—Mrs. Waldo Kustert.

Mrs. J. N. Stifter. Address—Rev. A. A. Schoen, Manchester. Vocal duet—Mr. and Mrs. P. F. Niehaus.

History of the League—Lillie Wackenhut. Vocal solo—Dorothy Weinman. Lima Center Orchestra—Mrs. P. H. Grabowski, G. H. Barbour, and Paul Barbour.

"The Bug Town Band"—Playlet, given by five members of the League. Following the program games were played and a typical indoor picnic enjoyed.

MEXICAN SITUATION BROUGHT BEFORE MEN'S BROTHERHOOD

Approximately 100 men listened to an address on conditions in Mexico given by Dr. H. A. Jump, pastor of the Congregational church at Ann Arbor, before the Men's Brotherhood of the Congregational church here last Thursday evening. Dr. Jump was one of a party of twenty-two men who made a journey into Mexico for the purpose of observing existing conditions and the reason therefor. Some startling disclosures were told the men during the course of the evening.

Piano selections and readings were given by a deputation of students from Ann Arbor, and vocal selections were rendered by Misses Dorothy Powers, Katherine Fletcher and Mae Hamp of Chelsea.

TWO CANDIDATES FILE PETITIONS

Two Republicans have qualified as candidates for the office of county school commissioner which will be voted on at the primary election March 7.

They are: Miss Florence V. Essery, incumbent, and Gottlieb Jacobs, former superintendent of the Manchester high school.

Petitions for both have been filed at the county clerk's office.

Miss Essery succeeded her father in the office, being appointed in July, 1924, shortly after his death. He had been school commissioner for 17 years. Miss Essery took the position with 10 years' experience in educational work. She is a graduate of Michigan State Normal college, the University of Michigan and attended Columbia university.

Mr. Jacobs had been connected with the high school at Manchester for 12 years, resigning as superintendent last year. He served as teacher, principal and superintendent. He is a graduate of the State Normal college and of Michigan State College, East Lansing. Ann Arbor Times News.

CHELSEA GIRL RECOGNIZED BY TELEPHONE COMPANY

Mrs. Vinola Alger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Speer of this place, has come in for special mention in The Mouthpiece, official publication of the Michigan Bell Telephone company, which says:

Mrs. Vinola—T. Alger, toll operator at Ann Arbor, could tell us some interesting stories of the busy hours created for our toll force by the "Big Ten" football games. For she is one of that highly efficient force that has been handling Ann Arbor's rush of toll calls the past fall. But this story has to do with Mrs. Alger's service record, which is a good one.

Following 32 months of previous service at Fenton, Mrs. Alger came to our Company as a night operator at Chelsea. In December, 1923, she was transferred to Ann Arbor as an operator. In 1924 she was made a night toll operator.

We join in wishing Mrs. Alger many more years of happy service.

FARMERS WEEK CROWD
BREAKS OLD RECORDS

Breaking all attendance records for annual Farmers Week at Michigan State College, between 7,000 and 8,000 farmers and their families gathered on the East Lansing campus last week to attend the various meetings and conferences.

Fine weather and open roads made it possible for visitors to come by automobile from almost any section of the state, a factor which is said to have played a big part in the unusually heavy attendance.

New champions appeared at several of the shows held during the week. Large numbers of exhibits in the grain, potato, apple, egg and floral shows draw a continuous stream of visitors.

Two members of Congress sounded in their talks on the state of Congress toward relief legislation for farmers. Other national authorities who spoke at the general sessions stressed the trend of the movement toward general recognition of the importance of a prosperous agriculture to insure the continued prosperity of the country.

Thirty seven state-wide organizations held their annual meetings at M. S. C. during the week. In the gatherings of these various organizations, satisfaction was generally expressed with the accomplishments of the past year, along with a renewed determination to continue efforts in aid of agricultural progress.

VALENTINES

Valentine's day is not what it once was. One does not have to be decrepit to remember when every drug store was full of paper-lace, hearts pierced by arrows, and verses on the general theme that no matter what point of the compass might be indicated, some anonymous "you" were the beloved. It is not so nowadays. The swain who wants to send a valentine to his sweetie must either hunt long for a place which purveys such things, or roll his own.

To read Sam Pepys' diary is to discover what an important day February 14 used to be in the lives of all citizens. "Up early," wrote Mr. Pepys on February 14, 1661, "and to Sir W. Batten's, but would not go in till I asked whether they that opened the door was a man or a woman, and Mingo, who was there, answered a woman, which, with his tone, made me laugh; so up I went and took Mrs. Martha for my valentine (which I do only for complacency), and Sir W. Batten he goes in the same manner to my wife; and so we were very merry." Four days later: "In the afternoon my wife and I, and Mrs. Martha Batten, my valentine, to the Exchange and there upon a payre of embroidered and six payre of plain white gloves I laid out six shillings upon her." Valentines were an expensive treat.

And they were also as fleeting as love. In the following year "I did this day purposely shun to be seen at Sir W. Batten's, because I would not have his daughter to be my valentine, as she was the last year, there being no great friendship between us now, as formerly."

Probably the real reason for the lack of formal valentines of lace and tinsel lies in the fact that the girls nowadays demand something less symbolic and considerably more expensive. They can't eat or wear paper hearts. With the coming of the new order, another feature of the old has almost disappeared—the so-called comic valentine, by which one could with impunity insult one's foe. Thus the world has forfeited an excellent way of getting back at traffic officers, school teachers, editors and other people. And it is not because old St. Valentine himself did not approve of the custom, for the learned say that he had nothing to do with the custom that features his holiday.

TRY CHELSEA FIRST
"Try Chelsea First," should be the slogan of every citizen who wants to see a better progress.

It is the community spirit that brings the citizens closer together and eliminates the lines drawn by cliques. To accomplish anything for the good of the community a sentiment in favor of the proposed project must be created and it is easy to create this sentiment if the proper community spirit prevails.

The main object of this life should be to make the world a better place in which to live but this cannot be accomplished with a citizenship pulling in different directions. The lesser differences should be forgotten when a project is put forth whereby the entire community will prosper and be benefited. If every citizen of the community would get together and eliminate minor prejudices, work with but one object in view and that to make Chelsea the best town in the state in which to live, the things accomplished would form a monument to the present generation that would live through the ages and be an inspiration to future generations to continue the good work.

TESTING YOUR TEMPERAMENT
You have a temperament. Every body has. Old-fashioned folk would call it your disposition. But science is following a more modern style. So you might as well get in line and acknowledge that you, too, are suffering a temperament concealed somewhere about your person.

Very well, then, how about getting acquainted with your temperament? It is the child of your moods and the grandchild of your emotions. Want to test it out? If you can stand living with yourself, do this for a month.

accol at yourself in the mirror. At the end of the month say psychologists, your facial may well resemble a sector of no man's land in rainy weather.

Then start smiling at what you see in the mirror on the thirty-first day. You will perk up wonderfully. Friends will marvel at the change that's come over you. And your digestion will be better.

But don't keep up the morning smile too persistently. It may degenerate into a simper. Having let your temperament go to both extremes, take control and regulate it.

There will be less speed on the highways when there is more in the courts.

The man who doesn't mind his own business often finds that somebody else will.

Some folks are so smart they keep out of trouble, and their smartness gets others into it.

He is not a genuine dry, however, if he uses a hip flask to carry his potent medicine in.

It's a case of true love if he can remain for an hour and forget to light another cigarette.

You can continue to respect your friends if you will learn to say "no" when they need money.

Whom the gods would destroy they first equip with the notion that they could lick the world.

ANN ARBOR MAY FESTIVAL DATES ANNOUNCED

World renowned opera stars, concert singers, and instrumental soloists will appear at the Thirty Fourth Annual May Festival in Hill Auditorium, Ann Arbor, May 18, 19, 20 and 21st, according to announcements. Just made by officials of the University School of Music. Rosa Ponselle, Schumann-Heink, Sophia Brazaia, Armand Tokatyani, Lawrence Tibbett, Ernest Hutcherson, and Lea Luboshutz will head the list of stars. Other noted musicians to be heard include Betsy Lane, Shepherd, Elsie Baker, Arthur Hackett, William Simons, Lois Johnston, and James Wolfe.

The artistic accomplishments of this notable group of musicians will be supported by the University Choral Union, under the baton of Earl V. Moore, Musical Director of the Festival, the Children's Festival Chorus of 500 voices, under Joseph E. Madry, Supervisor of Music in the Ann Arbor public schools, and the Chicago Symphony Orchestra under Frederick Stock.

As usual the Festival will consist of six concerts, four evening programs beginning Wednesday, May 18, and continuing until Saturday night, with matinees on Friday and Saturday. The Wednesday and Friday evening concerts will be of a miscellaneous nature, and will be known as artist-concerts, whereas the Thursday and Saturday evening programs will be given over to the large choral works. Beethoven's "Mass in D" will be offered Thursday evening in conjunction with the University Choral Union.

removal of the centenary of that distinguished composer, whereas Firszt's monumental opera "Carmen" will be given Saturday night. Afternoon programs will provide opportunities for two instrumental programs. Friday afternoon Lea Luboshutz, noted Russian violinist, will supplement the offerings of the Children's Chorus, while Saturday afternoon Ernest Hutcherson, the distinguished American pianist, will be the star.

COUNTY'S ENABLING ACT GOES TO HOUSE

Joseph E. Warner, Washtenaw's representative in the state legislature Thursday informed L. O. Cushing, county purchasing agent, that the enabling act which the board of supervisors is seeking for the purpose of revising the method of selecting county auditors had gone to the house and would be in the senate about February 15.

The board of supervisors is scheduled to hold an adjourned meeting February 28 for the purpose of taking further action in the matter.

The board is seeking to revise the local act of 1917 under which the present board of auditors was created so that it will be possible for it to appoint one full-time auditor working on a salary basis. At the present time, the three auditors meet once a month for about three days to audit county bills.

Honey and Honeydew

"HOME OF PURE MILK"

"gas chats"

"Stepping on the Gas" has a Double Meaning

EVERYBODY knows what "stepping on the gas" means in motoring. Here the proper term is gasoline, but the expression is equally true with real gas. The same gas that cooks your food, heats your home, and performs all those other necessary home duties, also has an important part in making the car you drive.

In the building of cars gas is the fuel used in the foundry for making the castings. It is used for reating steel and tempering the springs, and only the absolute precision of gas can supply the exact degree of heat required in making special gears and ball bearings, in testing the motors and drying the paint on the bodies.

American manufacturers have long realized the importance of gas in the automobile industry, but English manufacturers of fine cars have adopted it even more widely, have really demonstrated how completely "you can do it better with gas."

MANCHESTER—Two hundred and seventy-five chickens on the farm of Wm. Mertz, east of this village were stolen from his henhouse one night of last week.

BRIGHTON—Two party tickets will be voted on at the primary election to be held Monday, Feb. 13, for the purpose of choosing candidates for village offices.

PINCKNEY—According to Postmaster Miller Pinckney is not liable to lose one of her mail routes, has been anticipated. The fact that there are some 61 lakes in this section most of which are served by the Pinckney R. F. D. routes is said to be the reason for the decision.—Dispatch.

PINCKNEY—Some farmers are complaining because the Pinckney Creamery rejects milk that has a temperature of over 60 degrees. This is a ruling of the State Board of Health as milk over that temperature sours quickly. It can now be put in the sugar condenser at Northville as it curdles, thus spoiling hundreds of gallons.—Dispatch.

DEXTER—Monday morning work was commenced at excavating the basement for the new Methodist Episcopal church which is to replace the building burned about a year and a half ago. The contract for the new edifice has been let to Glen Waggoner of Detroit and it will be pushed to completion as rapidly as possible.—Leader.

ANN ARBOR—Thirty-nine persons were admitted to citizenship at a hearing conducted before Judge Geo. W. Sample of circuit court by O. T. Moore, Detroit district director of naturalization, last week Wednesday. The class was the largest to come before the local court for naturalization. Those admitted to citizenship represented 10 different nationalities.

ANN ARBOR—The thirteenth annual conference on Highway Engineering will be held at the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, Feb. 15, to 18, 1927. The conference will be held under the direction of "The College of Engineering," in co-operation with "The Michigan State Highway Department" and "The Michigan Association of Road Commissioners and Engineers."

SOUTH LYON—Two lads around 14 years of age, seeking employment on a farm, aroused suspicions in the Arms Grocery Wednesday and they were taken before Justice D. P. Hall where they confessed to have run away from the Wayne County Manual Training School, near Plymouth. They wanted to return, after being questioned, and were accompanied to the home by Messrs. Arms and Hall.—Herald.

BROOKLYN—Zero temperatures did not keep buyers away from the Holland & Hastings auction last Thursday near Napoleon. The fine Holstein dairy herd brought an average of about $120, the best cow and calf going at $145, and all above $100. The pair of work mares brought $265 and a single horse $181. The best of the sheep brought $18 a head and two brood sows brought $50 each.—Exponent.

HOWELL—Howard Smith, 24, of Grand Ledge, the driver of the car that crashed into the auto of Earl Brooks, in August, 1925, injuring his mother, Mrs. Emma Brooks, and her sister, Mrs. Babcock, all of Howell, has recently been sentenced to 6 months to one year at Ionia. Smith failed to pay the fine of $250 imposed and also to keep the conditions of probation and the prison sentence was for contempt of court by reason of this.—Democrat.

HOWELL—A deed for the east half of the southeast quarter of section 26 of Green Oak township, was sent to the Register of Deeds, E. J. Henry, for record Tuesday. The peculiar thing was that it was dated October 24, 1836. Its lack upon the records has always been a flaw in the title. The old deed was found by the Dean family at Ann Arbor. It was given by Levi Brown of Brietung, Cataugaus County, N. Y., to Luman H. Jones of the same place. The consideration was $200.—Republican.

Buick owners enjoy the savings of leadership

In purchase price and daily use, Buick owners profit by the savings of leadership.

The price of a Buick is moderate, but it buys a car built to the very finest quality ideals—one that would cost you considerably more, if it were not for Buick volume.

For years, the savings provided by great volume have been devoted to the enrichment of Buick value.

And for years, Buick owners have had a more dependable motor car—one in which high quality lessens upkeep expense.

Buy a Buick! It is an investment in economy and satisfaction.

You Bought the House BUT IS IT YOURS?

A flaw in your deed may mean some one, some day, may contest your right of possession. You paid for the house, yes—but do you own it? There's only one way to protect the real estate you buy and that's by Title Insurance.

Title Insurance does two things: (1) It entitles you to an exhaustive search of records to verify the title, and (2) it protects you against loss in case of a flaw. This protection, furthermore, is for one hundred cents on every dollar you have put into the property!

Title Insurance is Positive Protection

It's not is normal. Its protection is absolute. If you own property, you need Title Insurance NOW. Come in soon.

Every one knows that when announced a year ago, the Pontiac Six was an extraordinary automotive development.

The General Motors Research Staff pioneered Pontiac Six basic design. The great General Motors Proving Ground provided an unparalleled opportunity to perfect that design without regard to time or cost. And General Motors combined purchasing power assured minimum costs on quality materials.

Obviously, the Pontiac Six was then beyond duplication. Obviously, it is today still farther beyond the reach of imitation.

because the Pontiac Six now carries this important additional attraction to buyers:

In a period of more than a year, it has served tens of thousands of owners in performance, reliability and economical operation, to a degree of satisfaction far beyond their fondest expectations!

FAST PLAYING FEATURES BASKETBALL GAME HERE
 Chelsea's independent team took victory from Dexter last Thursday evening in a fast game at the public gym. Roughness was considerably mixed with some pretty fast playing, despite the efforts of the referee to call 'em close. Dexter's cage team came the nearest to qualifying the speed of the locals of any team yet met by Chelsea. However, some pretty basket shooting by local forwards and close guarding held the visitors to the short end of the total score which was 30 to 20.
 The Congregationals defeated the Methodists in a preliminary game, the score 7 to 15.

MORE VICTORIES FOR ST. MARY'S TEAMS
 Wednesday night, February 2, the Saline high school girls basketball team came to Chelsea to meet the St. Mary's high girls. Saline was defeated by a score of 29-14, the game moving slowly, the counts proving nearly even at the half. The St. Mary's girls broke loose in the last half and made the victory theirs.
 Vandercook Lake girls suffered their first defeat Friday night, February 4th, when they came to St. Mary's with the intention of winning but were outdone by the locals. The score at the end of the first half was 4-2, Vandercook's favor. St. Mary's guards, K. Hindelang and E. Elsiele held Vandercooks' swift forwards and letting them make but few baskets. But the second half was a different story, the St. Mary's guards dribbling and team work, passing it on to the center, D. Liebeck and M. Hoffman, who played around Vandercook's and passing it on to the forwards, K. Wheeler and G. Conlin, was put into the basket. Vandercook girls did not catch on to St. Mary's swift dribbling, pass work and accurate shooting. One of St. Mary's best guards, G. Campbell, was not able to play, having injured her thumb. K. Hindelang substituted for her and M. Hoffman in center for K. Hindelang. St. Mary's will go to Vandercook Friday night.

SYNOPSIS

CHAPTER I.—The story opens in New York, about the middle of the century. A man, who is not named, tells the tale, in talking to Peter Murray, chief of fur traders, and then to a young man, who is named as Peter Murray, first-bonded boy, brings news that a pirate ship is "on the hook." The ship is the "Black Hawk," which has been chased by the notorious pirate Captain Rip-Rap. The elder Murray, who is a fur trader, is the father of the young man (Robert's) great-uncle, commanding the pirate ship that was chased by the "Black Hawk." The ship was captured by the "Black Hawk" and the crew was executed.

CHAPTER II.—Next day Robert and his father, who are in New York, are encountered by a young man, who is named as Peter Murray, first-bonded boy, brings news that a pirate ship is "on the hook." The ship is the "Black Hawk," which has been chased by the notorious pirate Captain Rip-Rap. The elder Murray, who is a fur trader, is the father of the young man (Robert's) great-uncle, commanding the pirate ship that was chased by the "Black Hawk." The ship was captured by the "Black Hawk" and the crew was executed.

CHAPTER III.—Murray with a force of sailors visits the Ormerod house, and announces his intention of carrying off the young man, who is named as Peter Murray, first-bonded boy, brings news that a pirate ship is "on the hook." The ship is the "Black Hawk," which has been chased by the notorious pirate Captain Rip-Rap. The elder Murray, who is a fur trader, is the father of the young man (Robert's) great-uncle, commanding the pirate ship that was chased by the "Black Hawk." The ship was captured by the "Black Hawk" and the crew was executed.

CHAPTER IV.—Robert and Peter are encountered by a young man, who is named as Peter Murray, first-bonded boy, brings news that a pirate ship is "on the hook." The ship is the "Black Hawk," which has been chased by the notorious pirate Captain Rip-Rap. The elder Murray, who is a fur trader, is the father of the young man (Robert's) great-uncle, commanding the pirate ship that was chased by the "Black Hawk." The ship was captured by the "Black Hawk" and the crew was executed.

CHAPTER V.—Robert meets a blind beggar. Few, the fellow's blindness explains. He is a Spaniard, and is consequently disliked and feared him.

CHAPTER VI.—The Royal James sails. Walrus, the latter, commanded Flint, Murray's partner in piracy, to join him. Murray offers Flint a share of the booty, and asks him to join him. He will co-operate with him. Flint tells Robert he left with him as a surgeon, and that he is now a pirate.

CHAPTER VII.—O'Donnell, Jacobite spy, is seen. He is a Spaniard, and is consequently disliked and feared him. He is on the treasure ship. He has in Murray particulars of her return. Robert and Peter agree to return with Flint.

CHAPTER VIII.—Reaching Skeletoan and in the West Indies, Flint's men, under his suggestion, begin the search for the treasure. The Royal James is made ready for the encounter.

My eyes strayed to the Spaniards' decks. Little knots of men ran about confusedly. A stolid-looking fellow, armed a pistol at me and a rather over my head left apart. Officers were driving the sailors forward to me. A man in a laced coat and perwig was shouting orders from the poop, and my pulse quickened at his shoulder was the lathen jawed face of Colonel O'Donnell—and in the rear of both a skirted duster in the midst of a huddled raven-black figures, priests and nuns. "Jump!" a quaked Peter in my ear.

We jumped together, but my great uncle was ahead of us. He leaped on the ten feet, sword in hand, alighted on the Spaniards' bulwarks, pointed with no treasure ship. Rogers and his men were not to be deceived. O'Donnell's E-FLINT continued to enable them to escape. They saved James and bide until vessel sails.

O'Donnell K.—The treasure ship is nearby. Murray makes a discovery of sealing O'Donnell's and his father, Moira, as prisoners.

The Spaniard blindly returned our as the James felt her way to and him, the thunder of the two deludes overpowering, numbing the roaring of two beasts fighting the night. I felt my great-uncle's hand on my arm; his voice was low, distinct.

We shall soon be broadside on with " he said. "The O'Donnells will on the poop. You had best get and Robert. If we board from the foremast 'twill place you perfectly to seize upon them. You Peter had best carry arms. I the Spaniards will not seek to renege betwixt you and my red self," assented Peter. "We go." In the midships we encountered Saunders, a horde of men pouring up from the ships. One wave of the pirates stormed in Murray's wake; the other followed Peter and me. They were as brave as they were vicious. I made rapid progress and went nearly at the foot of the poop ladder when Murray's whistle shrilled behind us. I realized, too, that both O'Donnell and the officer in the last coat were shouting volubly, the one in English and the other in Spanish trying to make themselves heard above the din.

"—aska parley" came in broken phrases from O'Donnell, "can understand regrettable mistake."

"Der Spaniard! wants quarter granted Peter."

Indeed, those of the Santitas

Trinidad's men who had been resting on the beach, were now being pulled in by the arms, glad of the excuse to quit the fight; but the wolves of the James crew were not schooled to show mercy, and they killed three poor fellows before Peter and I could knock up their cutlasses.

Morrice's whistle blew a second time. There was a sudden hush, punctuated by the grinding of the two vessels, the shudding of unshod feet, and more of the James' pirates dropping aboard the treasure ship, the gaggling cries of the wounded, the nasal singing of a priest pattering Latin prayers.

I seized the opportunity to look around. We were too close under the deck; fore and aft, was a pitiful spectacle—cluttered with wreckage and dead men and bits of men and wa-men wounded in every conceivable fashion, its yellow-sand carpet gemmed with carmine pools and riv-

My great-uncle, as immaculate rich clothing in startling contrast with their nakedness and frank brutality.

—end to our immediate worries," Robert," he announced cheerfully. "The action has gone perfectly. Could not have varied a move so.

We have not lost a dozen men. Final blast from our guns tore smoke-clouds to shreds, and a sudden wind-puff scattered them all. 'Twas like the drawing of a curtain again at a play. The treasure ship died helplessly, not twenty fathoms distant, her masting in tatters, her hull a split and wounded, her foc'sle foredeck and red litter, her bulwarks splintered, gunports blown in, a dense smoke of black and white acut situation.

"I believe I heard an appeal for quarter," he said quietly.

"Sir, you did," replied O'Donnell.

"I have spoken for the gentleman beside me, Senor Don Ascanio de Hurtado y Cuesta, who is captain of the vessel."

"I am honored, sir," returned the great-uncle. "And yourself?"

O'Donnell did not altogether relish the playing of his part. He bit, a lip and hesitated an instant before he answered.

"I am Colonel O'Donnell, an officer in the service of His Most Catholic Majesty."

"Ah; and what can I do for your gentlemen?"

"To the best of my knowledge,"

SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA WILL APPEAR IN ANN ARBOR
Ossip Gabrilowitch has built an unusually attractive program for his band of players to present in Hill Auditorium, Ann Arbor, Monday evening, February 21st, when they will make their second Ann Arbor appearance of the year in the Extra Concert Series. The Detroit Symphony Orchestra has speedily grown in prestige and importance during the year that Mr. Gabrilowitsch has guided its destinies, and ranks as one of America's half dozen greatest orchestral groups. Not only has it won great distinction in its home city and the State of Michigan, but on a recent tour through the east in engagement in the largest cities there where orthodoxy has been in existence for many years it made a profound impression, and artists and lovers of classical music were found in their words of greeting. New York, Boston, Philadelphia and other great cities bowed in reverence to the "loveliest of the weak."

ABRAHAM LINCOLN—whose 118th Birthday Anniversary we honor (this week)—once addressed a commanding general with these words:

"Beware of rashness, but with vigilance go forward and bring us Victory!"

Sound advice that today for every man in his battle to forge ahead financially. Go forward he should, but with caution—putting his money only in such projects as assure him of ultimate Victory and financial independence!

True Distinction

The Most Beautiful Sedan in Chevrolet History!

A masterly example of the coachmaker's art, the Chevrolet Sedan with its Body by Fisher reveals a distinction usually found only on the costliest custom-built creations. It is literally true that no four-door enclosed car, priced so low, ever exhibited such marvelous beauty of line and color.

It is finished in rich Marine Blue Duco, gold striped, and its handsome proportions are emphasized by new full-crown one-piece fenders and bullet-type lamps. In addition it offers the host of improvements which helped make the Most Beautiful Chevrolet the greatest sensation of America's greatest industry. AC air cleaner; AC oil filter, large 17-inch steering wheel, new frame-mounted tire carrier, gasoline gauge and many, many others.

Come in! You need only to see this new supremely beautiful and mechanically finer sedan to realize what amazing value it represents at its greatly reduced price.

In the Twinkling of an Eye

By MARTHA M. WILLIAMS.

(Copyright.)

MARTHA'S world changed in the twinkling of an eye. She fell asleep poor and joyful—she waked to wealth and joy. For the wealth meant loss of so much—the home she loved, the people in it she had called always father and mother, who had given her in return love and cherishing. Martha, Allison Lewis; worst of all, her sweetheart, Thomas Elton—who was by way of becoming also a Thomas, the Rhymer.

Truly a sorry miracle—yet no whit mysterious. She was born a waif, reared somehow from a burning boat. The kind, foster parents had taken her to their home and hearts, holding her heaven-sent to comfort them for the baby they had just lost. Grief for it had already put them in the mind to move—so they had gone, taking the baby to a distant new home.

If only she hadn't been such a waif at ten, she might never have known. Mother Lewis lamented. Then her picture wouldn't have been sprit-ied. When she won the cup her blood, grandmother had seen it, and had been so struck by the likeness to her dead daughter, she had set about investigating—with a result of discovering her grandchild. Her husband had been haunted all along by a ghost—hope of the baby's survival. When he died a year before, he had willed his estate and the great fortune that belonged with it, to the great-nephew legally adopted—but on condition of searching diligently for the mythical grandchild—and if found within five years, marrying her. Thus there would be more Pendleton blood in the heir of the fortune. The heir got it through his mother, but that had been remedied easily—he had taken the name along with the rest.

He insisted that Martha's foster parents must go along with the daughter they were giving up, to Pendleton, there to receive the thanks so richly deserved. Madame Pendleton was so shaken with her great new happiness, she was unequal to such a journey.

"They looked at Martha—she sprang up, flushing and going white, and said huskily: 'Go if you like. I shan't budge, unless Thomas goes with us,' then, facing Henry Edmund Pendleton, she went on steadily: 'He is—the man I am going to marry. Understand that! Now do you think it worth while to carry this any further?'"

"Very well worth while—for the sake of Madame Pendleton, if nothing else," he returned gravely.

Martha hid her face, strangling a sob. "And just then in walked her Thomas—to soothe and comfort her, and fall in a daze when he had heard the wonder news."

He went along decidedly to the amusement of Mrs. Lewis. She liked him just for company, but had never been reconciled to Martha's choice of him. She did not know indeed that was a dead secret—that Edmund Pendleton had said to him: "You can have her—if you keep her loving you best. I wouldn't marry an unwilling bride—not for twice, not for ten times all the Pendleton money. Let's make it a fair field with odds in your favor—and no grudges after, no matter who wins."

Madame Pendleton faced Martha white and tremulous, but after a long, long look, folded her tight in her arms. She could not speak for minutes—then in a whisper came: "My child—hush again." And indeed there was startling likeness between Martha and the portrait of her mother in bridal white, that had a light above it, fresh flowers below it, every hour of every day. Martha choked at sight of them—Madame patted her cheek, saying softly: "Lillas always brings my dead darling the finest freshest flowers."

That of course brought Lillas into the picture—she was slim, lithe, dark-eyed, of a clear brown pale skin, swept now and then by a poppy flush. Madame's foster-child, two years older than Martha. They took to each other so wonderfully, Thomas Elton all but whiskered over it.

Martha was finding out, with a vengeance that she loved beautiful things. Her mother's laces, jewels, family diamonds, grandma's store of shawls, furs and brocades were excellent teachers. They kept her so occupied she was conscience-stricken sometimes at thought of Thomas, the Rhymer. She wondered a bit that he stayed on and on—that is to say when she thought of him seriously.

Lillas was angelic—Martha wondered how she would have got on without her. So nice that she could stay on with Granny, when Martha had gone back home—as she insisted she must do. Nobody grieved her: "I want you to be happy," said Madame. Edmund Pendleton snarled incontinently. And then, strolling in the rose-walled garden under a May moon, Martha came upon her Thomas and Lillas clasped in each other's arms, his kisses raining down on her uplifted face. After one sharp jealous twinge Martha's heart gave a great glad leap—she slid behind them, put her hands upon their heads and said in almost Madame's own voice: "Hush you, my children. Things are as they should be. Several people, I know, are going to be happy ever after."

To which Henry Edmund Pendleton in the background voiced a hearty "Amen and Amen."
