GRASS LAKE COUPLE VICTIMS OF HOLDUP

Mrs. Lloyd Brown Dies, Husband Seriously Injured, As Result of Snugging By Thugs.

That the automobile accident near Grass Lake early Tuesday morning which caused the death of Mrs. Lloyd Brown was the result of an attack by thugs was revealed by the woman's husband when he regained consciousness at W. A. Foote Memorial hospital about 7 o'clock Tuesday morning.

Brown's story brought the entire law enforcement organization of Jackson county into action and up to a late hour Tuesday night posses were scouring the eastern section of the county in a search for the two men who Brown charges attacked his wife and himself after being picked up by the couple just west of Grass Lake shortly after midnight Tuesday morning.

Bloodhounds from the Michigan state prison were used in the search but no trace of the perpetrators of the atrocity has been secured so far.

Officers had been unaware of any foul play in the mishap until Mr. Brown recovered consciousness at the hospital and told his story. He stated that he and his wife had attended a party given at the home of Thomas Kostoff, about a mile east of Grass Lake, and had been the last to leave. He fixed the time of his departure from the Kostoff home at shortly before midnight.

When Mr. and Mrs. Brown were approaching the Mack Island road on their homeward trip, Brown says he was hailed by two men, one of whom was carrying a gasoline can. Brown, supposing the two to be motorists out of gas, stopped and took them into his machine.

"The men had hardly entered my car before one of them pressed a gun into my side," Brown says. "My wife screamed and the second man struck her on the head a number of times."

Thinking one of his wife, Brown looked back at the second man, who was armed with a shotgun. The car, unguided, left the pavement and crashed into a telephone pole.

Brown clung to his assailants even after the crash, until one of the thugs struck him over the head with a blunt weapon. The two bandits then fled in a northerly direction over the main line tracks of the Michigan Central railroad.

Robert Raut, purchasing agent of the Michigan state prison in Jackson, has been revealed as the first person to reach the Brown car after its crash into the telephone pole. Raut was returning from Detroit and as he neared the wrecked machine he saw Brown lying on the pavement waving a flashlight. Raut then flagged another car and the accident was reported to the officers.

Brown lapsed into unconsciousness soon after Raut arrived on the scene, and did not recover until nearly eight hours later. In the meantime, Mrs. Brown had succumbed to her injuries. Rescuers had worked for nearly an hour to extricate Mrs. Brown from the wrecked machine before she could be taken to the hospital. She died about 2 o'clock. Brown's condition late Tuesday night was said to be favorable, and it is expected he will recover.

Officers are badly handicapped in their search for Brown's assailants by the time which elapsed between the assault and Brown's recovery Tuesday morning. The officers are working day morning.

The officers are working day morning. A line on the most meager clues. A line on the most meager clues. A line on the most meager clues.

It is probable that the two bandits were somewhere injured when the car crashed into the telephone post, and this may lead to their capture.

SHEEP BREEDERS' ASS'N HOLDS ANNUAL MEETING

The annual meeting of the Black Top Sheep Breeders' Association was held at the Michigan State College at East Lansing on Wednesday of last week, and was attended by a large delegation of members of the association who reside in this vicinity. O. C. Burkhardt, who has been president of the association for several years, declined to fill the office any longer.

At the business session the following officers were chosen for the coming year: President—Geo. E. Maist, Lima; vice president, O. D. Luick, Chelsea; secretary-treasurer, Herbert Collier, Lansingburg.

CHLSEA-DEXTER HIGHWAY SHOULD BE REPAIRED

A close tally kept on automobiles passing the Chelsea Cement Plant over the Chelsea-Dexter road last Sunday between 12 o'clock noon and 5 p. m., disclosed that no less than one hundred cars traveled in an east-bound direction while west-bound traffic totaled 90 machines. This does not include the State bus which plies between Chelsea and the Cement plant carrying prison guards and employees of the Cement plant, according to a check-up of traffic by George Doody, guard in charge of the main gate. This bus makes an average of twelve trips per day and in addition there are 18 privately owned cars which travel over the Dexter road with plant officials and foremen.

According to Mr. Doody, the road is in a terrible condition and in his opinion, considering the heavy traffic, east-bound in the summer months over this stretch of roadway, the township and county authorities should get together with the State with the view to improving this road in order to eliminate the holes and bad stretches and possible secure assistance from the State Highway Department which will result in the desired and needed improvements.

It is understood that Governor Fred W. Green will soon make an official visit to the Cement plant, at which time it is expected the need for improvement of this bad stretch of road will be brought to the executive's attention by several citizens of the township and it is likely some under-ministry aid will be arrived at whereby the county, township and state highway departments, and Michigan State Cement Industry combined will effect the desired improvements to the highway.

REPORT SHOWS 288 CASES PROSECUTED

Prosecutions in Washtenaw county for the first six months of the year numbered 288 in which there were 264 convicted, 12 acquitted, 7 discharged on examination and 5 listed under "escapes, settlements, etc."

The semi-annual report of Prosecuting Attorney Carl Stubbberg reveals that there were 118 charged with felonies were prosecuted, almost as many as during the entire previous year, according to the records.

During the six months one case prosecuted for assault to do great bodily harm resulted in a conviction and the same number and result is on record for assault and battery armed.

Eleven out of 13 cases for assault and battery ended in convictions. The prosecution was successful in two out of three breaking and entering cases, one accused person being released on examination.

Of those prosecuted on drunk charges nine were convicted, the same number for drunk and disorderly. Eighteen of the 22 charged as disorderly were convicted.

For embezzlement, 9 were convicted for forgery 5 and fraudulent checks only 1 of 30 escaped conviction. All four persons charged with receiving money under false pretenses were convicted as were the 10 charged with larceny over $15. For larceny under $10, the report shows 21 of the 24 were convicted, 2 being acquitted and 1 discharged on examination.

There were 20 convictions in 21 cases for violation of game laws, 1 being acquitted. Forty-three convictions in as many prosecutions for violation of liquor law are recorded for the period. The prosecutor reports that there were 35 convictions out of 37 prosecutions on violation of motor laws.

A writer suggests 13 ways for a wife to lose her husband, but she might succeed, we suspect, without having to avail herself of all of them.

RUNAWAY FREIGHT CARS DEMOLISH BANK BUILDING

F. & M. Bank, Ann Arbor, Wrecked In Accident Friday Morning; New Building to be Erected.

Four runaway D. U. R. freight cars demolished the Farmers & Merchants Bank building at Main and Huron streets, Ann Arbor, early Friday morning after a mad dash down the mile-long Huron street grade from Washtenaw County Fair grounds.

The cars crashed into the bank structure when they left the rails on the sharp turn onto Main street. Tearing down the steep Huron street hill at a speed approximately 50 miles an hour, the four-car pilferous train lost only a fraction of its impetus as it began the climb up the grade east of the Ann Arbor railroad viaduct and struck the front of the building with the impact of a cannon shell.

Jumping for his life as the cars neared the end of their wild journey, Vern Garp of Jackson, conductor of the freight train, was severely cut and bruised when he struck the pavement. Knocked unconscious, he was removed to St. Joseph's Mercy hospital by Richard Jewett of Ann Arbor, a passerby, where physicians declared he was in no danger, his injuries including a wrenched back and a cut over the left eye.

The bank, recently remodeled, was torn to pieces. The entire front portion of the structure was caved in and the roof collapsed. The north and east walls, which adjoin other buildings, remain, as does a portion of the Huron street wall.

Fred T. Stowe, cashier of the bank, estimated that $50,000 will cover the bank's loss, the cost of replacement to be borne by the railway company, according to Mr. Stowe, who said railway officials had agreed to assume the expense. It is understood the railway is covered by liability insurance.

The four freight cars began their downhill rush when the couplings failed to hold as a section of the train was being attached at the top of the grade near the fair grounds, according to R. L. Southard, division superintendent of the railway. A faulty motor caused the crew to "split" the train at Grand View drive in order to make the grade, Supt. Southard explained.

The first section was taken up the hill and placed on Glendale siding. As the second section was being backed into the first to hook up the train for continuation of the west-bound trip, the couplings failed to hold and the impact started the cars downhill.

MOTOR SPEED LIMIT REMOVED AUGUST 14

After August 14th, there are to be a lot fewer law breakers in Michigan than before. On that day the present speed limit of thirty miles, supposed to govern the operation of motor vehicles on the public highways but as a matter of fact almost entirely ignored by every driver, will go into the discard. In its place will be the new restrictions requiring only that the driver shall "operate his car carefully, safely and prudently" providing however that if an accident shall result from high speed driving such facts and circumstances shall be held by the courts as "contributory evidence" of carelessness on the part of the driver.

Proponents of the law insist that certain cars in the hands of careful and skilled drivers and equipped with certain safety devices may be as safely driven at high speed as certain other cars not so equipped and operated by those less skilled, may be driven at low speed.

It is not believed by many that any material difference will be noted in the speed of the motorist. Few arrests are made nowadays for speed violations except now and then as some city police or rural constable goes on the rampage. Most cars are driven about as fast as they will officially travel and the penalty inflicted only as some accident brings the driver to grief.

Kaercher were appointed as a program committee and Aldine Barnard, Ralph Hines and Allyn Kaercher on the sports committee. The 1928 reunion will be held at Potter Park, Lansing, the last Sunday of July.

It Was a Woman's Idea

In aristocratic old Baltimore of nearly a quarter of a century ago, the first cabinet gas range was invented quite accidentally by a woman! Mrs. Allen S. Miller, wife of a prominent gas company official of Baltimore, thought of it one day when she saw her cook on her knees before the oven.

Acting upon inspiration, she had her husband place the burners of the stove on a kitchen table and then lift the oven up beside them. This was indeed a humble ancestor of the sparkling white enamel cabinet gas range that we have today, but upon this kitchen-table model all later improvements have been based.

This important invention was never patented, hence Mrs. Miller made no fortune from it, but she has had the satisfaction of having given this great labor-saver to the housewives of America. The debt of gratitude, which they owe to her, could never have been paid in gold.

POVERTY THEN AND NOW

Poverty is a relative condition. That is, the poor of today are more richly endowed with worldly goods than the poor of twenty years ago, although the one felt no poorer nor richer than the other. Many of this age who feel poor would be considered of better than moderate means by their corresponding class of two decades past.

Picture a boy of poor family in 1907. Home-cut hair, trousers made over from father's and then patched, patch-quilt shirt, sans shoes, stockings and underwear, happy with a penny or a marble, lucky to have darned stockings, baggy underwear and a frayed coat and cap for winter and compelled to work his way into the circus or for his infrequent ice cream soda. And the poor of twenty years ago were content with such homely fare as beef stew, potatoes and rice. Parents then boasted of wearing the same suit or dress for ten years—it was fortunate for them their clothes were durable for they could not have purchased new ones.

And then there are the poor of the year 1927 who occupy the same social position as that family of 1907 just described. The new poor have shoes all around on occasion they have the raiment to dress both decently and comfortably, they have carpets on the floor at home and good furniture, the probability is a silver or second-hand car of larger make is parked in the yard and cakes and pies are not strangers to their table.

Once the poor realized they could not quit work and still eat, now they complain because they must work to keep up the payments on the automobile, radio and mother's fur coat and have enough for next summer's tan.

A NEWSPAPER'S FAITH

There are certain critics of newspapers who apparently have little conception of the work that the newspapers are doing in the world. There was a time (say grandfathers can recall it) when there was comparatively little in the average newspaper to rouse a man from his dreams, make him look with a wide awake and seeing eye at the world around him, and THINK.

This is what the real newspaper does today. It is not greatly bothered by the persons who say that most of the news should be suppressed because it is so "awful." The newspaper which believes in mirroring life as life really is shows greater faith in human nature than the critics—that is all. When they call this or that piece of news "awful" they often mean seductive rather than awful. They wrongly fear that human nature instinctively craves rottenness and that the exposure of a vice career will prove enticing.

It is no more enticing than the picture of an insane asylum is enticing. It shows as nothing else can show how terrible a thing sin is. Every life of the picture thunders with a power denied to speech. The memory of it is burned into the soul with a quenchless fire. The reader, old or young, serious or gay, can never misunderstand, can never forget. It is a lesson that lasts. It is the truth in flesh and blood that is truth, and it is before our very eyes in real life.

FREE PUBLICITY

The Standard, like other newspapers of the world over, is repeatedly the victim of artful attacks in an effort to secure valuable space for the introduction of various schemes for private gain or the moulding of public opinion toward "putting over" some sinister plot.

Some bureau or syndicate or manufacturer or politician will hit upon a happy idea, and some clever fellow will tell him just how he can work the newspapers for all the "stuff" needed; whereupon the "expert" is engaged or the advice is taken without the aid of the expert. He makes good at getting the stuff out, but publishers are too keen to allow the grafting game to go too far.

Invariably, when the scheme is found out in time, and the matter is refused, a threat is hurled at the publishers that the "story" will be given to another paper.

The plot works, occasionally, but not always.

In the long run, the schemer usually loses out because never again can the paper be approached in the same way by the same schemer.

The fact must be considered, also, that unless citizens can be depended upon at all time to furnish their local journal with live stories they cannot expect to get away with spasmodic attempts to put over propaganda. The editor is a hard man to fool.

An executive is a man who thinks the lunch hour means an hour and forty-five minutes.

There is one difficulty about putting to death weak-minded persons. It might include too many.

In the old days, chivalry consisted in saying: "May I smoke?" Now it consists in saying: "Try one of mine."

As a remedy for divorce a Chicago judge urges men not to marry until they reach the age of reason. But that would bar too many from marriage altogether.

EXTENSION WORK BRIEFS

All 4-H club members should look over the 4-H club department in the Washtenaw county fair premium list, pages 213-233 inclusive. They will note that all entries for the club department should be sent to A. E. Hagen, County Club Agent, Court House, by August 19. Letters have gone out to all club members this week with an entry blank enclosed. If any member does not receive one they should either write or call at the Farm Bureau and Extension office, Court House, Ann Arbor, at once. The registration blank on the last page in the premium list can also be used.

Livestock members should be sure that their animals are properly registered with the breeders' association that represents their brand of livestock. They will be asked to be prepared to show their registration papers at the county fair.

4-H club members will be permitted to exhibit in the adult classes provided they make proper entries in those classes according to the rules in the fair premium list. Dairy, general livestock, poultry, corn, potatoes, canning, and clothing club members should plan to take part in the contests outlined on pages 229 to 233.

If there are any questions relative to entries or preparing exhibits call or write Mr. Hagen at the Farm Bureau and Extension office.

Jim Hayes, dairy specialist, Michigan State College, will spend Friday and Saturday, August 12 and 13, in Washtenaw county working with 4-H dairy club members. The meeting will begin at 10:30 Friday morning at the farm of Robert Keck, on the Saline-Ann Arbor road, where the boys will practice judging Ayreshires. The club members may assemble at the Farm Bureau and Extension office at 10:15, or go directly to the Robert Keck farm at 10:30. Each member will bring his or her own lunch. The afternoon meeting will begin at the farm of Frank Stewart in Lima township (the second house on the south side of the road west of Lima Center) at 1:00 p.m. At this place there will be judging of Guernseys.

Much of the new wheat being received at the local elevators is reported not to be of first grade. Much of it seems to be a little low in weight, with shriveled grains and a mixture of chaff.

A marl deposit in the northwestern corner of the county is being tested to see if it is of sufficient value to warrant its further development. A good grade of marl has about the same value as ground limestone.

Mr. Moore, poultry specialist, Michigan State College, will be in the county on the 15th and 16th to assist those desiring help in selecting birds for exhibition at the state and county fairs. A few more requests can be taken care of if they are sent in at once to the County Agent's office.

GENERAL ELECTRIC Refrigerator

The result of fifteen years of intensive research

THIS simplified General Electric Refrigerator works automatically, quietly, economically. It needs no attention—not even oiling. Inside the hermetically sealed casing there is a permanent supply of oil.

The all-in-one icing unit is merely lowered into the top of the cabinet. There is no assembling, no plumbing to be done. There are no pipes, drains, fans or belts. The unit is intact. It just has to be plugged into any electric outlet. Instantly it starts.

And quietly, economically, it gives you scientific refrigeration. Cuts down your marketing problems, your cooking tasks. It was for this that the skilled engineers of General Electric worked—over a period of fifteen years—worked to produce the simplest of all refrigerators.

You will want to know more about this new-day refrigerator. You will want to see the various models that are now on display. By all means, come in. And, meanwhile, mail the coupon below for an interesting descriptive booklet.

Within Reach of All
The negro parson was giving his customary Sunday sermon, but much to the bewilderment of the church members, he included many high-sounding phrases and long words which he had picked up at a very erudite lecture the night before. Apparently it didn't seem to be going over very well.

Noting his wasted efforts at intellectuality, he resumed the discourse in his usual simple language, whereupon a voice from the rear commented approvingly: "That's boy, parson, put the cookies on the towel shelf."—Christian Science Monitor.

Charity Needed
Every little while I discover some new terrible thing the men do to the women. The other day I heard a woman telling of the suffering wives endure from being compelled to listen to their husbands' old jokes. It is one of the real burdens of women. I made no reply, but in looking for excuses all I could think of was this: Does all I ever occur to women as men are as tiresome to men as men are to women? My general conclusion is we should be more charitable with each other, and talk less.—E. W. Howe's Monthly.

Great Ones of Earth
Not Always Imperial
I have met royalties, informally and formally, and always as a simple citizen socially inclined. They impressed me that they are rather wistful creatures whom no one would ever suspect of royalty without being told. I make one exception, an African, the king of Wallo, and he sent a telegram through me with a single flash of the eye at the instant of his complete humiliation.

A very impressive queen called on me in the wilderness somewhere southeast of Lake Eyassu in what was then German East Africa. She came at nightfall with beating drums and a bodyguard of powerful warriors armed with shields and spears. Behind her walked two handmaids and slaves, carrying pots of wild honey and ground nuts as gifts for my askaris. This lady was a genuine queen and respected and obeyed as such. But she was rather fat, and waddled as she walked, and her only garment was a single string of blue beads hanging about her creased hips. She was as coy in our interview as a playful spinster.

I have in my possession a beautiful little gold watch presented to me by an authentic princess of distinguished royalty. There is no doubt that among those who know her she is one of the most beloved bearers of title in Europe; yet at that time she was seriously considering abandoning her title, since it was an embarrassing impediment to travel. William A. Anderson, in Adventure Magazine.

Egyptian Leaders in Manufacture of Linen
That the manufacture of linen was known thousands of years ago to the Egyptians is proved by the cerecloth or wax-covered winding sheets of the most ancient mummies that have been found, since these were made of linen. Pliniod arrayed Joseph in vestures of fine linen in 1770 B. C. and that was nearly 4000 years ago. The garments of the priests of the Egyptians, as well as those of ancient Hebrews, were of the same fabric. Many varieties of flax are known and more than 25 have been cultivated, but the plant is said to rapidly exhaust the soil, and so its cultivation suffered severely except in Egypt. There the fibers of this product were manufactured in very early times and the secret was carried to Tyre in 558 B. C. From Tyre the Phoenicians carried the secret of working flax to Europe and tradition is that the Irish were among the first to get it. As one of the products of Egypt flax is referred to in the Book of Exodus. To this day Egypt cultivates large quantities of this product.—Detroit News.

Medicine's Early Days
It takes little to make history. Until the time of Bressot, a French physician of the latter part of the Fifteenth century, it was the practice for surgeons to bleed their patients on the opposite side of the body on which the soreness was felt. Bressot, however, expounded a theory of bleeding close to the seat of the hurt, and so rapid became the discussion among the learned men of the period that Bressot was banished from the empire by Charles V. But not for long, though, for upon the death of one of the emperor's relatives who had been treated according to the old theory, he recalled Bressot and his theory for some time carried weight.

Unnecessary Worry
"I have always had a presentiment," she said, "that I should die young." "Well, dearie," remarked her woman friend, "you didn't after all, did you?"

Inefficient
"I. W. writes: 'Curious how the chains of matrimony fall to prevent skidding.'—Boston Transcript.

Which's War?
The royal Italian embassy says phrase "Italy, a geographical expression," is attributed to Prince Metrich, who probably meant that Italy had not a historical unity, but only a geographical one. After the constitution of the kingdom of Italy the phrase was often recalled to demonstrate how short and wrong were the views of the famous Austrian statesman.

Mental Mustache-Cup
"What most men need," says the author of "The Philosophy of Things," a recent book, "is a mental strainer to keep out second-rate thoughts." This should lighten the man with "a mind like a sieve."—Farm and Fireside.

Meant to Please Ireland
The Order of St. Patrick is the youngest of the great British national decorations. It was instituted in 1783 by George III to make a further link of sovereignty with Ireland.

Common Mistake
One of the terrible burdens of the American people is "long speeches." Noted men particularly believe the people want to hear them for an hour or two. Really, the people only want to see them and hear them say a few words.—E. W. Howe's Monthly.

Berlin Women Workers
More than one-third of all the girls and women in Berlin are wage-earners—and there are more than 800,000 of them. War helped that along tremendously, says Capper's Weekly.

The Thoughtless Spark that Costs Millions

FIRE PREVENTION METHODS

1. Matches—Be sure your match is lit. Throw it away before you throw it away.
2. Tobacco—Be sure that pipe ashes and cigar or cigarette stubs are dead before throwing them away. Never throw them into brush, leaves or needles.
3. Making Camp—Before building a fire scrape away all inflammable material from a spot 5 feet in diameter. Dig a hole in the center and in it build your camp fire. Keep your fire small. Never build it against trees or logs or near brush.
4. Breaking Camp—Never break camp until your fire is out—dead out.
5. Brush Burning—Never burn brush or brush in windy weather while there is the slightest danger that the fire will get away.

No one would knowingly cause forest fires. Yet 725,328 acres of timberland were burned last year, in Michigan alone. Thoughtlessness caused practically all of it.

Every resident of Michigan and every visitor to Michigan enjoys and profits by Michigan's resources. And everybody loses when timber, one of the greatest of these resources, is destroyed.

Three great losses come from timber fires: (1) The timber loss itself, (2) the cost of fire suppression, (3) the loss of beauty—wooded lands are despoiled of their attractiveness, and this in turn causes partial drying up of lakes and streams.

You can help by making those facts more widely understood. Then care will replace thoughtlessness. Our forests will be used and enjoyed but not destroyed.

A Word of Warning

The Standard Oil Company [Indiana] feels in duty bound to warn its thousands of patrons in the Middle West to beware of "bootleg" gasoline.

Due to an overproduction of crude oil the market is flooded with unbranded gasoline sold at a cheap price. It is high at any price. It is neither uniform nor dependable.

When you buy gasoline you are buying transportation for yourself and your family. We suggest that you buy dependable transportation.

Red Crown Ethyl Gasoline will give you a maximum of power, flexibility and speed. It costs a few cents more per gallon but it "knocks out that knock".

Our famous economy fuel, Red Crown Gasoline will give you a maximum of power at a minimum of cost.

Both products are sold everywhere in the Middle West and everywhere the same—at a price which is fair, just and equitable, consistent with quality, uniformity and dependability.
